Hydro Power Cuts Have Been Revised

At a special meeting of the Municipal Council, the members of which comprise the local Hydro Commission, held on Monday evening, it was decided to revise the schedule of Hydro Power Interruptions which had been in progress here during the past week. Instead of having three power cuts each day from 8 to 9 a.m.; 12.30 to 2.00 p.m., and 7.00 to 8.30 p.m. for domestic and commercial consumers only, decision was reached to try and keep within our quota of 4125 kilowatt hours by having two daily interruptions—one from 8 to 9 a.m. for domestic and commercial consumers and one from 3 to 4 p.m. with all consumers, including indudstries, being affected. The interruptions to be effective from Mnoday to Friday inclusive. The power will not be turned off on Saturday or Sunday. The local Hydro Commission feels that these two black-outs will be sufficient to keep the village within its quota, providing that every effort is made by individual consumers to conserve electricity. If such economy is not practiced, further cuts will have to be made.

Last Friday, Mr. Young, a representative of the Ontario Hydro Commission, visited Winchester to help the local Commission work out a power-saving plan that would cause the least inconvenience to consumers and one that would derive the most satisfaction. He told the local Board that the interruption from 7 to 8.30 o'clock at night was not acceptable to the Ontario Hydro's plan for conserving power. Power cut-offs during those hours were not being made in other parts of the province, and he could not see why Winchester consumers should have to endure them. He also stated that interruptions were not necessary on Saturday and Sunday, as there was no shortage of power on those days. He also informed the local Commission that, in his opinion, domestic and commercial consumers should not be expected to make all the savnig in power. He advised that local industries be included in one of the daily interruptions. The hour he suggested was from 4 to 5 or 5.30 p.m. He felt that a cut coming at that time would be preferable to most industries, rather than one coming in the middle of the forenoon or afternoon.

It was on Mr. Young's advice that the local Commission revised the power interruptions this week.

According to advice from Hydro authorities at Toronto, the power cannot be cut at creameries, as milk is a perishable product. With the Ault Creamery, here, in operation for the full 24 hours each day, the power cut from 3 to 4 p.m. was agreed upon by the managers, as the only period they could have the power turned off without great inconvenience to their plant and danger to their products. In view of this fact, the Commission at Toronto advised the local Board to have the total interruption at that hour.

Whether these two daily interruptions will be sufficient to keep the village within its quota remains to be seen.

The dim-out on local streets will continue until such time as the power crisis is over.

In the rural area surrounding Winchester, power interruptions started on Monday with cuts being made for 15 minutes every hour.

The transfer of all local Post Office equipment will take place this weekend. During the time the office is located at the Hotel, the present Post Office Building, recently purchased by the Dominion Government, will undergo a complete transformation, and when the work is completed, it is expected Winchester will have a Post Office of the most modern type. Just how long it will take to make the alterations is not definitely known, but the job will start next week. In the meantime, local citizens are asked to remember that the Post Office will be temporarily located in the waiting room at Hotel Winchester, starting next Monday, October 25th.

Women's Institute Held Enjoyable Meeting On Tuesday

"Historical Research" was the theme for the October meeting of the local Women's Institute, held in the town hall on Tuesday evening, and the members responded to the roll call by naming a pioneer of Dundas County. The meeting, which was well-attended, was presided over by the president, Mrs. Geo. Wilson, with Mrs. Wm. Lannin as secretary.

The treasurer's report revealed that $170.29 had been collected for the National Institute for the Blind. Of this amount $16.33 was realized from the sale of tags. Several letters of appreciation were read from the recipients of overseas parcels.

It was decided to forward the sum of $690.00 to the Memorial Hospital treasurer as payment for the room the Institute agreed to furnish.

The president announced that Miss Grace E. Hamilton, of Toronto, would conduct a short course and give a lecture on Health, "Before and After 40." The date is Monday, November 15th, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and all ladies are invited to attend.

The program, which followed the business session, was convened over by Miss Emma Gardner and her committee of Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, Mrs. J. Barrett, Mrs. Geo. Beckstead, Mrs. Orvil Christie and Miss Ida Knowland. Following the singing of "O Canada," four papers in keeping with the theme, "Historical Research," were given as follows: "The First Electric Trolley Pole," by Miss Knowland; "Discovery of Marquis Wheat," by Mrs. John Barrett; "The Discovery of Insulin," by Mrs. F. Armstrong, and "The Steam Fog Horn," by Miss Emma Gardner. These were not only interesting but were highly educational.

Other items on the program included a piano duet by Mrs. Robert Woods and son, Donald; a vocal solo by Ronald Workman, accompanied by Mrs. Howard Fetterly; and a humorous reading by Mrs. Norman J. Thomas; all of which were greatly enjoyed.

Lunch was served by Miss Gardner and her committee at the close of the meeting, following the singing of the National Anthem.

The vote of appreciation to the committee and those who contributed to the program was voiced on behalf of the Institute by Mrs. Geo. McConnell.

Modern Movie Theatre To Be Erected Here

Winchester is soon to have a modern, high-class Moving Picture Theatre—"THE WINCHESTER." This may not be the name which will go up in bright lights on St. Lawrence Street, but it is the name which is now favoured as being apt, dignified and generally suitable.

Council gave final approval of the project at its meeting this week. The plans for the building are being drawn; a site has been selected, and chances are good that excavation for the foundation may be started before the snow flies.

One may readily appreciate the benefits which will accrue to the town. In fact, it is rather curious that Winchester should have been without such a place of entertainment for so many years. Situated in the heart of the richest agricultural part of Canada and having many prosperous villages within easy distance, Winchester is a natural social and business centre for the people of important sections of the Counties of Dundas and Carleton.

"The Winchester" Theatre project has been the subject of study for a considerable time, and Council, some weeks ago, issued a permit to Mr. W. C. MacDonald, subject to submission of more detailed particulars than were then furnished. Since that time much spade work has been done by the sponsors, leading to the definite plan now approved.

The theatre will be built on St. Lawrence Street, just south of the Golden Pheasant Lunch Room. It will be of modern type; will be fireproof and soundproof and the interior finish will be such as to provide the best acoustical properties. The building will be of block construction and stuccoed. The plans have been drawn by Mr. Cecil Burgess, of Ottawa, who was Architect for our District Memorial Hospital; and they will now go to the Provincial Inspector of Theatres for checking as to adequate fire protection and other public safety precautions.

The seating capacity planned is 400, and the patrons may be assured of the presentation of the best pictures which come to the Canadian field. Mr. MacDonald informs us that he has had advice from the foremost moving picture people in Eastern Ontario. He and his associates have visited a number of the newer theatres to study construction and layout with a view to getting the most suitable type for this district. Direct conversations have been had with suppliers of equipment and with the leading picture supply firms; and "The Winchester" will be enabled to make its selection of the best pictures which are available.

The chief sponsor of this venture is Mr. Walter C. MacDonald, well-known for his business and public activities in the district. He was a member of Council for years and served as Reeve for one term. He is Chairman of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital and is President of the 100 Club. Mr. MacDonald recently disposed of his machinery and his fuel businesses and will now devote his energies to this enterprise. Associated with him is Mr. Herbert T. Meldrum, of Ottawa, who was formerly Inspector of Divisional Offices of Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation—a war-time Crown Company, and is a familiar figure in town through frequent visits in recent years.

Mr. MacDonald informs us that he has purchased the property of Mr. George Robinson on St. Lawrence Street and will have the present dwelling house relocated on a lot further east, to make way for the theatre. Taking everything into consideration, this is about the best location in town for a theatre. We wish Messrs. MacDonald and Meldrum every success in their new venture.

Notice To All Advertisers And News Reporters

Due to the Hydro power interruptions in Winchester, the Press has been forced to seek the co-operation of advertisers and correspondents in order to get the paper out on time. Starting next week, ALL changes of advertisements must be in our hands by Monday noon, instead of Tuesday. Likewise, our country correspondents are asked to send their news budgets a day earlier. Local citizens having news items for insertion, and reporters of church meetings, etc., are requested to hand such items in at the earliest possible moment. Customers requiringg job-printing should also remember that the loss of electric power in our plant slows us up, and they should order their requirements as far ahead as possible.

When the power is cut off for one hour in a printing office, it means that the linotypes and casting machines cannot be put into operation for nearly an hour after the power is turned back on. When the power is off for any length of time, the molten metal, required to operate the typesetting machines, becomes hard, and it takes about an hour before it can be re-melted and the machine put back into operation. While other business places can resume ordinary activities as soon as the power interruptions are over, we at the Press Office are tied up for another hour. In reality, we are under a four-hour handicap each day, compared with two hours suffered by other consumers. It's no secret, we have been going around in circles trying to meet our deadlines and get the paper out on time—and maybe some week we will not be able to make it, or will have to resort to a four-page paper. We would appreciate all the co-operation our advertisers and correspondents can give us. Thanks.—Editor.

School Inspector Says Local High School Is Model For Other Schools

A few days ago, Mr. Booth, a High School Inspector, visited the High School at Campbellford, Ont., and during his remarks on the grading of schools, he mentioned that "other schools might take an example from Winchester High School," which he claimed was the finest school he had inspected. He referred to the local High School's efficiency, the courtesy of its staff and students and its general organization. The cleanliness of the school also came in for words of commendation by Mr. Booth during his remarks at Campbellford.

Quite often when an inspector addresses the student body in the school he is visiting, he says a lot of complimentary things, which may be considered more or less flattery, but when he makes the references outlined above, it proved that his impressions of the local school were genuine and sincere.

Mr. Booth's kindly references will no doubt be appreciated by both the staff and students and also by the local High School Board, and as citizens we should be proud of the high standards being maintained by our High School.

Winners of a prize boost, sponsored by Centurian Walter Moffat, were Centurians George Elliott and Harold Lannin.

During the business period, a report on the Official Opening of the 100 Club Community Park and Peanut Day was given by the secretary, Centurian Chester Robinson. This revealed that over $500.00 had been cleared from the various events.

The Entertainment Committee was instructed to proceed with plans for a "Night of Fun" to be held at the Arena this winter.

On motion of Centurians Harold Lannin and Ken. Ault, it was decided to make a donation of $690.00 to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, at once, the amount promised by the Club for furnishing a room.

It was decided to have the annual "Ladies' Night" on the third Friday in November, and Mr. Walter J. Turnbull, Deputy Postmaster General, has been asked to be the guest speaker for the occasion.

Centurian Hart Melvin reported that he had visited the former Club-Chaplain, Centurian Rev. Wallace MacKinnon, at Moose Jaw, Sask., while enroute to the Pacific Coast, a few weeks ago. Mr. MacKinnon and his wife asked to be remembered to the people of Winchester, and Mr. Melvin conveyed greetings to the Club, sent by Mr. MacKinnon. The secretary was instructed to despatch a letter to Mr. MacKinnon, thanking him for his greetings.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Walter L. Payne, Director of the Motion Picture and Speakers' Bureau, Department of Public Relations of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Payne was introduced by Centurian W. A. Rowat, and gave an interesting address on Montreal, Canada's Metropolitan City. Several films were screened to illustrate his talk and it was immensely interesting. At the conclusion of his address, he was thanked by Centurian Earle Freeland.

MR. DREW COMPLIMENTS WEEKLIES FOR FAIRNESS

The home town weekly has a special job to do and it does it in a special way. Free from the pressure of the deadlines under which daily newspapers labor, the weekly staff can make a careful and thoughtful study of local problems and improvement possibilities. The result is a considered viewpoint stemming from deep interest in community betterment.

Recognition of the unique contribution the weekly newspaper makes to Canadian life was given recently in an address by Premier Drew of Ontario to the 29th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in Niagara Falls.

"The weekly newspapers of this country have a splendid tradition of impartial and fair reporting," he told the 300 weekly newspaper editors from all parts of Canada. "Because they are so close to the people in their own communities, they have at all times maintained the highest principles of a free press.

"While vigorous in their advocacy of what they believe will benefit their own community and the nation as a whole, their advocacy and their criticism is measured by a restraint and fairness which in itself is the thing most likely to protect a free press in the exercise of its great public service."

That's the way every editor likes to think of his paper as he tries to make it the mirror and the record of community.

He likes to feel, too, that each reader makes good use of his home town weekly in making the community better, that young people are encouraged to read about and appreciate the achievements of their own town, that citizens will write to the editor with suggestions for local improvements.

The weekly provides for its area a service no other newspaper can render. Its effectiveness often depends on its readers. In a good many cases, the interest and pride which citizens take in their home town paper is a yardstick by which to measure the spirit of the community.

SCIENCE AND THE FARMER

Probably no single group has benefited more from the march of modern science than the farmers. Science has given them a multitude of labor-saving machines. It has developed new varieties of crops capable of withstanding drought, frost and other elemental scourges. It has come forward with chemicals to feed their starving soils. It has developed a great variety of weed and insect killers which have resulted in increased yields and therefore increased profits. It has created new strains of farm stock infinitely superior to the old standbys of a fading era.

Where agricultural science is leading only tomorrow will tell. But we may be certain of one fact—that no intelligent farmer who wishes to remain in the business can ignore its significance in farm economics.

Primary step in scientific farming is education. Few Canadian farmers are graduates from an agricultural college. Education, therefore, must be done at home. The local newspapers go out of their way to print editorial material of rural nature in practically every issue. Farm magazines are replete with articles about a wide variety of subjects dealing with scientific agriculture. Radio stations offer a generous slice of their time to farm broadcasts.

Available to the farmer, without charge, is the great mass of educational literature from provincial and federal agricultural departments Industrial firms have produced great numbers of booklets which offer the latest information on scientific farming. The local agricultural representative is another good source of information.

The fact is, there is more solid factual information available to the farmer about his occupation than any other economic group enjoys. Let him use it to the best advantage of himself and his country.

HABIT OR INSTINCT?

We have always carried a small grudge in our hearts against those callous people who go around exploding popular myths and destroying our most pleasant misconceptions. We never thought the day would come when we would join their ranks. But circumstances, which, like politics, make strange bedfellows, have forced us into the enemy camp.

The myth we want to explode is the one which tells us that saving is an instinct and that, as in the case of most other instincts, the best results are to be obtained simply by letting nature take its course.

The proponents of this theory point to the squirrels which gather up nuts in the summer to eat in the long cold winter, and the bees who do much the same sort of thing with honey. But it just doesn't work with human beings. Homo sapiens will accumulate things through instinct but nine times out of ten they are the sort of things that are of practically no use to him whatever. You almost certainly remember the weird and wonderful things you used to collect when you were a small boy. Balls of string, broken jack knives, marbles, a discarded handle from the kitchen drawer, etc., etc., etc. They were prize possessions and they were acquired by instinct. But it was little Willie Jones across the street, who saved soap wrappers methodically, that appeared in public one bright Saturday afternoon with the brand new bicycle he had received for turning in two thousand of them. And you were left with your ball of string and all those other things.

Now you've probably reached the stage where you collect much more expensive things than bits of string and broken jack knives. Canadians have made a habit of collecting everything from postage stamps to the most priceless objects d'art. It's the same instinct working in a broader field and all authorities agree that such hobbies are very worth while things indeed. We would be the last to discourage them.

A few million Canadians, however, realize that along with this urge comes a tendency to spend casually, to fritter away money on impulse, to acquire things without due thought and consideration. These Canadians are going to call on that so-often neglected habit of regular saving, this month. By putting some of their money away every payday, they'll finish up the year with Canada Savings Bonds to a total value that will surprise even them. A word to the wise is supposed to be sufficient. The word in this case is not just one word, but five—Canada Savings Bonds, Series Three.

INCOME TAX A SUBVERSIVE TAX

For a country which operates under what is popularly called the free enterprise system, Canada does some of the strangest and most subversive things. The motive in the free enterprise system is profit. Men work for profit; men invest for profit; men think and plan and take risks for profit.

And the profit is not necessarily all personal. Some of it goes to the community, for enterprise creates payrolls and purchasing power, and some of it goes to the nation, for the national income is enhanced. And certainly when profit fails the community and the nation lose, for unemployment results and the national income goes down.

Profit being what it is, the motive power of industry under our system, one would think our Government would go out of its way to stimulate industry by throwing safeguards round the motive power, and by making sure that it is not depleted or destroyed.

But the government does nothing of the sort. It actually works in the opposite direction. It discourages the taking of business risks by making it less and less possible to accumulate a fund of venture capital.

There are several acts on our statute books that are particularly subversive in their operation. The most subversive of our laws, however, in its effect on industry, is the Income Tax Act. When it was young and its schedules were low, the Canadian income tax was a good tax.

During the war its weight was enormous but people endured it because of the war. Now, in the peace, they are not disposed to endure it so meekly and its evils are becoming apparent.

It is definitely discouraging industry. It makes saving difficult, and from savings comes the capital fund which keeps enterprise going. It discourages investment for profit because it takes the fruits of investment away. It induces the workman to sit down and figure whether he shall work six days a week or four.

Canada has many expenses and must, of course, have a revenue. She must have taxes, but she would do well to consider whether it is her long-term interest to continue a tax, whose defects are so obvious and so directly inimical to the nation's best interests.—Vancouver Province.

CHILDREN GETTING TALLER

Canadian children are growing taller, Dr. Douglas V. Hutton, Ottawa child health specialist, who is at present surveying Vancouver children, is authority for the statement.

The increase in average stature has been so great in recent years that private schools in Eastern Canada have had to discard beds installed 15 years ago and replace them with longer beds, Dr. Hutton says.

Even a casual survey of Pacific Coast children will corroborate Dr. Hutton's statement. It is rare to find a boy or girl in late teens who is not as tall or taller than his or her parents. Tall, healthy, good-looking children are the rule rather than the exception.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Sign in a Vanderhoof, B. C. restaurant: "Try one of our delicious stakes. Terms easily arranged." If instalments are not met when due, the question of re-possession may be a "tough" one.

Several accounts of violent crime in Ontario have recently appeared in the daily press and its association with beverage rooms in many cases, has been quite significant, so much so that there is a growing opposition to beverage rooms in general and women's beverage rooms in particular. Last week in Toronto, a woman convicted of manslaughter in a hatchet slaying, told of spending three hours in a beverage room with the victim just before the crime was committed. Not so long before was the silk stocking murder case in Toronto with a similar background. Such tragedies cannot be too lightly glossed over by citizens of this province.

There need be no depression, it is claimed—if we keep our heads. Of course, there had to be a catch in it.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

Americans are reported buying Ontario school books as reference texts for their children. We hope one of the subjects covered by the texts is history.

SHIRT PRICES

With prices of shirts twice the pre-war level and additional rocketing to come, the number of good fellows who would "give you the shirt off their back" is sharply dwindling.

(Ottawa Journal)

Trucking companies raise their rates, and nobody has a word to say. But when the railroads try to do the same thing, to meet the same need, there's a terrific clamor.

EMERGENCY PROLONGED

(Brockville Recorder & Times)

When Ottawa tells us that Canadians have contributed about $8,000,000,000 in income tax during the last 20 years, it forgets to add that when this tax was imposed in 1917, it was to be purely an emergency impost for the period of the Great War.

(Almonte Gazette)

Some people who have a cynical way of looking at things believe that the power shortage in the Province could be relieved if the water that the Ontario Government is using to adulterate its whisky could be removed and poured into the rivers and lakes.

CALENDAR IS KING

(Chicago Daily News)

Wholesale food prices have begun to drop as the big harvests come in. It takes over a year, however, for corn to become beefsteak. The calendar is king in the kitchen. No politician or bureaucrat can turn a calf into a cow or speed up the solar system before election day, or after.

FIGHTING LIQUOR

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The churches have a big problem fighting the liquor traffic and endeavouring to keep it within bounds and, generally speaking, they are doing splendid work, but we don't think the Royal Commission route will get them anywhere. Better for them to keep on hammering away at the evils of the liquor trade as they have been doing and to intensify their campaigns of temperance education, especially among the young and their parents.

Our Column

The less a woman has to tell the more she wants to tell it.

You can lead a man to freedom but that doesn't make him free.

Never judge what a man has spent by the size of the load he is carrying. It may have been a donation.

Some men have a thousand reasons why they can't do something, when all they need is one reason why they can.

We have a model husband neighbor who all summer oiled the lawnmower for his wife before going to the ball game.

Importation of Danish butter is one admission by the agriculturists that they cannot supply our needs and another argument for legislation to permit manufacture of margarine.

THE NEW HIRED MAN

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

The new style hired man also is coming into prominence. No longer is the man with a strong back and a weak mind wanted for farm work. EASTERN SECTIONAL RALLY

The Eastern Sectional Rally of the Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial Woman's Missionary Society, of the United Church of Canada, was held at Colquhoun on Thursday, October 14th, with morning and afternoon sessions. The theme was Christian Friendliness.

The Sectional Vice President, Mrs. Cecil McIntosh, Winchester Springs, presided, and the morning worship service was taken by Mrs. Steinburg and Mrs. Weager, of Morewood Auxiliary. A very warm welcome was extended to delegates and visitors by Mrs. Colquhoun.

Mrs. Herbert VanAllen, of Iroquois, gave a brief review of the books on the Reading Course, and these books were on display in the church. Slides on our Mission Work will be available in this section during the next few months.

Highlights from the School for Leaders, held at Edgehill, in September, were given by Miss Muflin, of Morrisburg, and Mrs. Copsey, of Morewood.

In her report of the Dominion Board Meeting, Mrs. W. S. L. Merrill emphasized the fact that doors of opportunity for service are open on every hand and if the Christian Church does not accept the challenge of these open doors, they will be entered by subversive elements. New days are here and now is the hour for every woman in the church to dedicate her time, talents and activities to the task of building a Highway that will serve the needs of Tomorrow.

The offering was received by Mrs. Geo. Cinnamon and Mrs. Roy Docksteader, of Harmony, and dedicated by Mrs. McIntosh. Rev. Mr. Fee, of Williamsburg, pronounced the Benediction.

A very delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of Colquhoun Auxiliary in the Community Hall.

Afternoon Service

At the afternoon service, the Worship Service was conducted by Mrs. Fee and Mrs. Baker, of Williamsburg Auxiliary.

The invitation for the 1949 meeting was given by Elma Auxiliary. The roll was called by the secretary, Mrs. Eldon Fennell, of Winchester. There were about seventy delegates and visitors present.

An address on our Community Missions was given by Miss Maimie Gallan, of Toronto. This was a very illuminating word picture of the work done in the Church of All Nations, since it was opened in 1928.

A solo was contributed by Mrs. Dalton Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Byron Steele, from the Winchester Springs Auxiliary.

Mrs. W. E. Wright, of Chesterville, spoke encouragingly of our financial report of 1947 and in strong, well-chosen words she gave a clear, concise picture of the objectives before our Missionary Society during the next few years. Now is the hour for each member to dedicate herself to sacrificial giving, that these objectives may be reached, and Christian Friendliness demonstrated in a very practical and helpful way.

A strong plea was made for every member to secure and read the Missionary Monthly as this little magazine is second to none for its informative and up-to-date reading material.

The thanks and appreciation of the guests were expressed by the convener of the Courtesy Committee, Mrs. Hyndman McMillan.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Beating Eggs

When egg whites are hard to beat, try adding two or three drops of lemon juice.

Sifting Flour

Try sifting the flour on a paper plate. This plate can then be curved into convenient form for pouring again into the sifter or the mixing bowl.

Falling Hair

A preventive of falling hair is an occasionally rubbing of salt into the scalp.

Cracks In Furniture

An unsightly crack in some article of furniture can be filled with beeswax, then stained and varnished.

Porcelain Drainboard

A rubber stair tread on the porcelain drainboard is a preventive against both chipping and slipping dishes.

Sweeping Cellar

When sweeping the cellar floor, try using a damp sweeping compound which will get the floor cleaner and prevent flying dust. Save all your old coffee grounds and tea leaves, soak them with water, sprinkle on the floor, and then make a clean sweep.

White Silks

White silks will retain their good color if two or three drops of vinegar are added to the last rinsing water.

Stringing Beads

When stringing beads, try dipping the needle in water frequently. The beads will slip on more easily and will also cling together.

Pea Soup

Try putting a slice of bread in the pea soup while cooking, and it will prevent the peas from sinking to the bottom of the vessel and burning.

Linoleum

Before mopping the linoleum on washday, try adding the leftover starch to the water, and see what a brilliant gloss it gives to the linoleum.

Clothes Hanger

To make an emergency clothes hanger, roll a newspaper and tie a string in the centre to hang it by. It will serve very satisfactorily.

Buying Shoes

It is better to buy shoes in the afternoon, as by that time the feet will have spread from being on them, and the shoes will always be comfortable.

Thumb Tacks

Do not stand dishes on edge at the back of shelves without using thumb tacks to prevent them from slipping. This precaution will save many broken dishes.

Ironing Pleats

Always iron pleats down from the bard that holds them, folding in line with the wave of the goods. They will hang in straight lines and will not require so much pressing.

The Brick Sidewalk

Grass and weeds will not grow between the bricks of the sidewalk if crankcase oil is poured between the bricks two or three times during the season. The oil will soon evaporate.

Parchment

The parchment shades can be cleaned beautifully by using a clean cloth dipped in olive oil. This will not only remove the soil, but will give the surface an attractive antique luster.

Dusting Radiator

Before beginning to dust the inside of a radiator with a brush, lay a wet cloth on top of the radiator. the loose dust will rise and cling to the cloth, rather than travel about the room.

Steel Knives

To remove the rust from steel knives that have been stored away, soak the blades in sweet oil for an hour, then thrust them in garden soil a few times. The blades will look like new if polished with fine emery powder.

Printed Address

If you have no typewriter in your home, save all the printed envelopes that come to you, bearing your name and address, to paste on order forms, etc., when sending for something where it asks that "name and address be printed plainly."

Pickling Meat

If in doubt as to the correct amount of salt to use when pickling meats, place the meat and water in a pot, then put in a medium-sized potato. Now keep adding salt until the potato rises to the top of the water and the brine will be just right.

Temporary Repair

Tiny leaks in fuel oil tanks and water boilers can be plugged temporarily with a tiny "self-threading" metal screw. Put it halfway through the leak with a screw-driver; then seal this by rubbing paraffin or candle wax under the head of the screw.

LATE MRS. ALLEN HESS

Mrs. Allen Hess, for many years a highly respected resident of Winchester Springs, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer McMillan, at Dunbar, on Friday, October 8th, following a short illness of three weeks. She was in her 85th year, and was the former Miss Euretta Fetterly, daughter of the late Henry Fetterly and Eliza Beckstead, of Grantley. She married Allen Hess November 3rd, 1885, who predeceased her 22 years ago.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, with service at the Presbyterian Church, Winchester Springs, of which she was a member. Rev. Mr. MacIver conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Mr. Huestin. Interment was made at Maple Ridge Cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Blake McMillan, John Bolton, Frank Nesbitt, Otis McMillan, John Morrow and Irwin Casselman.

The late Mrs. Hess leaves two sons and two daughters, Mrs. John Coons (Mary), of Winchester Springs; Mrs. Elmer McMillan (Wilda), of Dunbar; Ross, of Natural Bridge, N. Y., and Harold, at home. There are 20 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

The floral tributes were as follows: Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McMillan and family, Mr. Ross Hess, The Coons Grandchildren; Sprays—Congregation of Winchester Springs Presbyterian Church; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fetterly, Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. John Coons.

And in Canadian homes, schools and churches, we will re-dedicate ourselves to the cause of a lasting peace . . . the cause of the United Nations.

C. P. A. TO FLY PACIFIC

Canadian Pacific Air Lines has been granted permission for regular passenger and cargo flights on the two trans-Pacific routes shown in the above map, adding a total of 14,420 route miles to Canada's international air services. Now on order for the routes are pressurized four-engined Canadair planes, with a capacity of 40 passengers and three tons of cargo, mail or express. They will be manned by experienced trans-ocean C. P. A. pilots—Canadian Pacific inaugurated wartime transatlantic bomber delivery flights in 1940 and many of its pilots later flew four years with the Ferry Command and have since returned to the company. Operational and servicing headquarters will be at Vancouver, with the C. P. A.'s domestic overhaul work, now being carried out there, being transferred to Edmonton. Canadian Pacific, experienced in trans-Pacific travel since 1886, already has an extensive traffic organization in the countries the new flights will serve, which places it in a position to start operations with a minimum of delay and with no wasteful expenditure of Canadian dollars abroad. Regular flights will probably start by next summer; it s felt that an early start is essential if the Dominion's position in the field of Oriental trade, as well as international air transport, is to be developed and maintained. From Vancouver to Sydney, by way of Honolulu, Canton Island and Fiji is 7,865 miles, and the Great Circle route Vancouver-Kodiak, Shemya Island, Tokyo, Shanghai-Honk Kong is 6,555 miles. New Zealand will be served with a branch service joining the through Vancouver-Sydney route at Fiji.

CANADA'S health

HIT THE TRAIL

In October, the sportsmen hunters of Canada oil up their "shootin' irons" and prepare for their annual expedition to the woods. To ensure pleasant, comfortable hunting conditions, sportsmen should take with them proper clothing, cooking and camping equipment and should make sure their provisions are healthful and nutritious.

DEFEATS DECAY

Dental experts have found that by treating the teeth of children between three and thirteen years of age with a solution of sodium fluoride, decay can be reduced from 40 to 60 per cent. The treatments are safe and effective when properly administered by a dentist. Sodium fluoride is not recommended for home use.

ON THE COB

Corn on the cob provides not only color and flavor in a meal but also calories, roughage and vitamin A, the vitamin for healthy skin. It helps exercise the gums, too, which is necessary for strong teeth. Your family will look forward to corn on the cob. Don't disappoint them.

HAMPERED BY RICKETS

Many Canadians are forced to go through life hampered by curved legs, twisted ribs and other misshapen bones because during their childhood they did not have a sufficient supply of vitamin D to ward off rickets. Vitamin D must be given to a child in addition to his regular diet. It is essential to his proper growth and development.

It is probably at this time you appreciate most the small but effective housekeeping pointers which make for efficiency and help you get results with minimum effort. So today we offer tips worth clipping for reminders at any time.

Take A Tip

To freshen your upholstered furniture, wipe with clean cloth moistened with cleaning fluid. Then, at once, rub briskly with dry clean cloth.

2. Painted floors and other painted surfaces will wear longer if you wax them lightly as soon as the paint is dry. One note of warning, however, before repainting wood, remove every trace of wax. Use paint cleaner or turpentine.

3. If you have a new stove or refrigerator,, keep the enamel surface new looking and sparkling by washing only with soap and water. Never use a cleaning powder or any abrasive. The soap and water treatment given frequently will prevent the surface from becoming scratched.

4. Dust your furniture with a moistened chamois, then rub with soft cheesecloth. Have chamois wrung out tightly so it will be just moist. Polish with dry cloth and there will be less frequent dusting.

5. In gluing together parts of a piece of furniture, remove all the old glue first by scrubbing with hot water. Dry thoroughly. Heat the glue in a tin can set in a saucepan of water. Apply evenly and clamp or tie the broken part in place and allow to dry for at least 48 hours.

6. Wrought iron lighting fixtures and stair rails should be given a protective coat of liquid wax. (Do not use wax on fireplace accessories, as it is inflammable). Rust stains can be removed before waxing by rubbing with kerosene, then scouring with steel wool.

7. If lacquered brass finish dulls, remove it with denatured alcohol (poison) and apply fresh coat of water-white transparent metal lacquer with a paint brush.

8. Hammered aluminum will be bright and shining if washed in mild soapy hot water. If stained, use a fine steel wool pad (impregnated with special soap) over a cotton cloth and then rinse. Never use strong soap or alkaline scouring powders because they darken and discolor aluminum.

9. Plastic screens must be taken down and washed with garden hose or a brush and soapsuds. Dry thoroughly in a breeze before storing away.

10. The care of pressed wood walls which have a synthetic resin finish is quite simple. Regular dusting and occasional wiping with a damp chamois are all that is required.

11. Cement (concrete) floors in the basement are often damp. It makes it easier to care for them if you use a special paint or a wear resistant surfacing. Mix 1 gallon of sodium silicate (water-glass) with 4 gallons of water. This makes enough solution to coat 1,000 square feet once. The floor should be clean and thoroughly dry. Apply solution with mop and let dry 24 hours. Scrub with clear water and let dry. Apply a second coat as above.

12. Windows may require putty to make them secure. If the glass is smeared while doing the job, take the putty marks off with household ammonia.

HULBERT W. M. S.

The monthly meeting of the Hulbert W. M. S. was held in the church on October 6th at 2 p.m., with the president opening the meeting by reading the theme. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. A paper on Christian Stewardship was given by Mrs. Donald Sullivan, and a reading on Temperance was given by Mrs. Adam Keyes. Following the minutes roll call, and business, Bible readings were given by Miss Florence Roode, Mrs. Percy Ellis and Mrs. Herbert McQuaig. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Hello Homemakers! Every business has its busy season, and homemaking is no exception. Many women find early fall a period in which a hundred and one duties require their attention. Canning is in full swing, the children are off to school again, which means renovating and renewing their wardrobes; the house requires freshening up or decorating and throughout the household it is a time for stock-taking. Club meetings and social activities begin to absorb the all too few "off-duty" hours. And there you are—at your busiest.

W. I. Meeting

The October meeting of Elma Women's Institute was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Burton Beckstead, at Beckstead. Twenty-four members and eight visitors were present. Two new members joined.

The president, Mrs. Burrill Beckstead, opened the meeting with the Ode and the Creed. Communications included a letter of thanks from Mr. C. R. Robinson, Secretary of Winchester District Memorial Hospital Board, for the donation sent.

It was decided by motion that Mrs. Hyndman McMillan be the delegate to the annual convention at Ottawa, with Mrs. Melvin Dillabough as alternate, also that Mrs. Oscar Beckstead and Mrs. Wilfred Carruthers be a reception committee at the next meeting.

Mrs. Burton Beckstead, Home Economics Convener, had charge of the programme. Mrs. Stanley Shay, of Chesterville, accompanied by Mrs. Wilfred Carruthers, sang "Just A Prayer Away," which was much enjoyed by her former associates here. Mrs. L. H. Doering, of Chesterville, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Foods and Food Poisoning." Among the minor poisons mentioned were the natural poison of certain plants, and food to which some persons are sensitive. Major poisons include staphyloccus, salmonella, antimony and botolism, all of which may be avoided if sufficient care is used. Mrs. Shay then rendered another solo, "My Happiness."

The guest speaker and soloist were introduced by Mrs. Burton Beckstead and thanked by Mrs. Donald Dillabough.

Several members joined the hospital auxiliary, with work and donations to be given through the W. I. The meeting closed with "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE HEARD AT OTTAWA

Following is a brief summary of a Christian Science Lecture, "The Religion of Prayer," given by Mr. Oscar Peeke, of Kansas City, Missouri, at Ottawa last Thursday evening:

"Christian Science shows the futility of praying to God as though He were a human person acquainted with the frailties of mankind; it also shows that silent prayer is more effective than audible praying. Audible prayer, if it tends toward emotionalism, is the product of the material senses, and therefore is of little avail. But the silent, selfless, and fervent desire for increased spiritual understanding whereby to accept and utilize the spiritual blessings which God is continually and impartially bestowing on all of His children is "effectua fervent prayer" which, as the Apostle James says, "availeth much."

"It is not true prayer merely to ask God to love and bless us. Rather is it learning to love as He loves. In her book entitled "No and Yes" (page 39), Mrs. Eddy makes this enlightening statement: "True prayer is not asking God for love; it is learning to love, and to include all mankind in one affection"; and she adds these significant words: "Prayer is the utilization of the love wherewith He loves us." The implication from this is that because God is Love, and is ceaselessly loving us, we should ceaselessly strive to be worthy of His love and to demonstrate His beneficient power.

"Every statement about God in Christian Science is self-evident truth, and is seen to be so through spiritual understanding and demonstration; also each demonstration incites the earnest student to a greater endeavor to obey the Apostle Paul's practical admonition, "Pray without ceasing."

"The habitual struggle to be always good is unceasing prayer," writes Mrs. Eddy in Science and Health (p. 4). This indicates that in our daily living we should so keep guard over our thinking that we will increasingly realize the ever-presence of God, good, and follow as closely as possible the loving admonition of Christ Jesus, given in his Sermon on the Mount.

"Christian Science gives positive assurance that no matter how difficult or dangerous a situation may appear to be, it is one's God-bestowed privilege to utilize his understanding of prayer to master fear and realize peace and security. There is essential practicality in the Psalmist's statement, "Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear . . . for in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion." God's pavilion is the true mental home of each of us—it is the kingdom of heaven, a state of spiritual consciousness to be entered by prayer. No weapon of mortal mind can reach us there."
