Summer Carnival Progress Report

The Iroquois Summer Carnival-scheduled for August 20-21-22nd is advancing in plans but at a very slow pace. At the present time no one group or individual have scheduled anything on Friday August 20th-except a proposed Bon Fire for Early Arrivals to the Fly-In on Sunday August 22nd-this Bon Fire is being arranged for Friday evening at Sun Down. At the time of writing this article-there have been no one organization planned activity for Saturday August 21st.

However, on Sunday August 22nd-The Annual Fly-In Breakfast is planned and will take place on Sunday morning at the Local Air Port.

Also on Sunday morning at 11:00a. m. the local Fire Chief Murray Storey has confirmed the Iroquois Fire Brigade have planned to stage a Fire Fighting Demonstration.

The Iroquois Golf Club has indicated an interest in some form of participation of which plans are apparently being discussed at the present time. More News on the Golf Club Project to follow in a future article.

Mr. Dale Roberts, Coach of the Caldwell Linen Intermediate

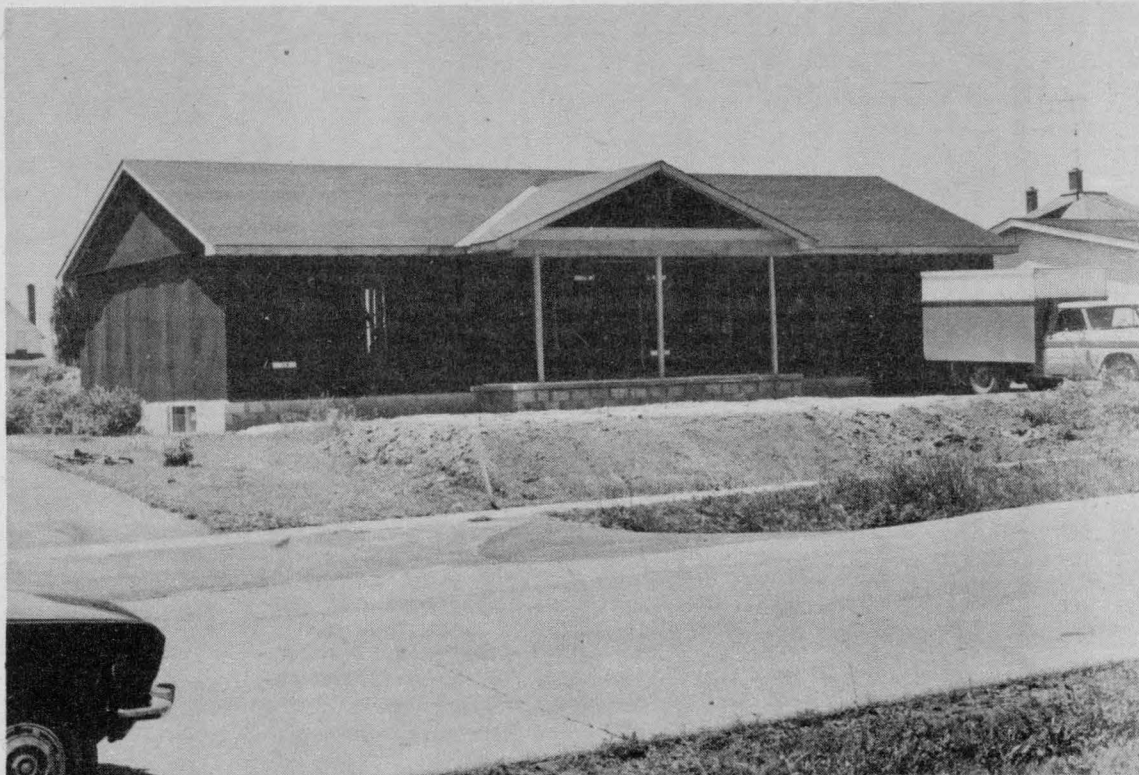

Girls Fastball Team is considering the possibility of a ball Tournament. Mr. Ken McLean Coach of the Iroquois Midgents has indicated an interest in sponsoring a Pee-Wee Boys Softball Tournament.

The Iroquois Womens Institute have also stated they may stage a Arts and Crafts Show.

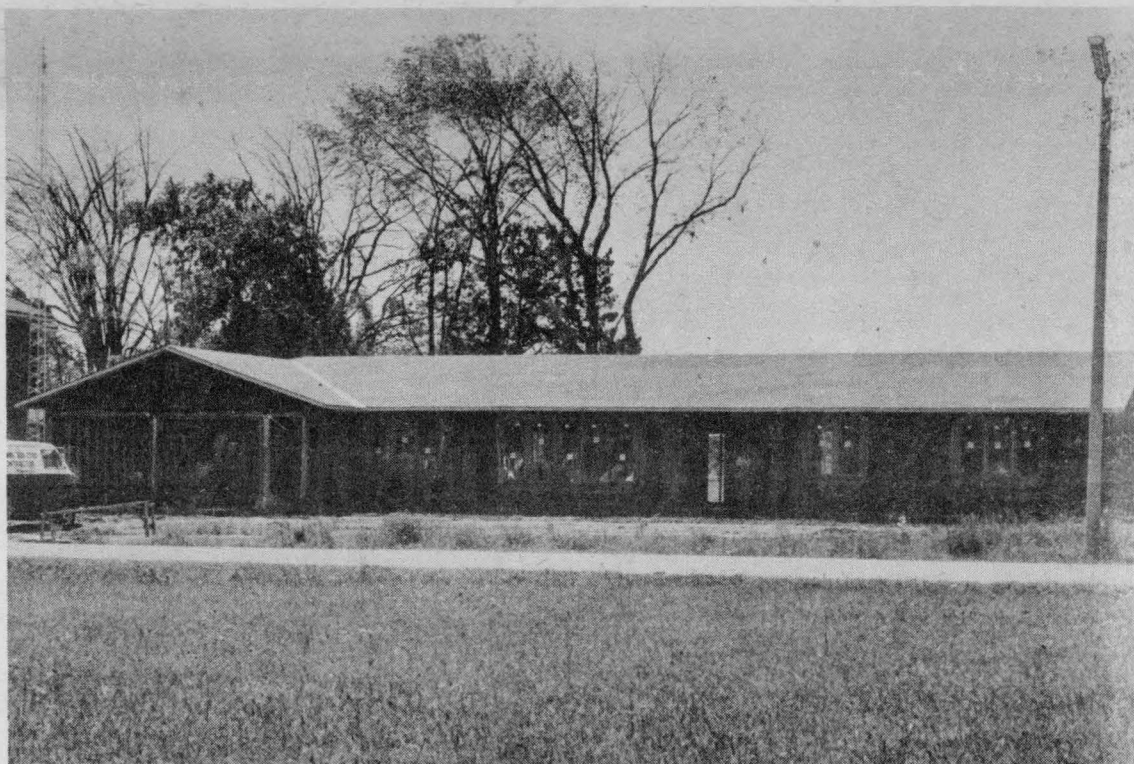

Therefore, if any organization in the village have any ideas of a project in which they may like to promote in conjunction with the First Annual Iroquois Summer Carnival to be held August 20th to 22nd-Friday to Sunday-they are kindly requested to contact the Carnival's General Chairman Mr. Leo De Bellefeuille-before the end of July-so that their project can be included in the advance publicity and advertising posters.

In conclusion remember this is your weekend to have a Fun-Filled Weekend will you do your part to make it a success?

It depends on every citizen and organization to meet this objective-so plan now to make this Summer Carnival Weekend a reality by being involved and community minded.

Three more new homes are under construction in Iroquois and as of Monday there were only eight lots left for sale in the Village's built-up area. Expansion beyond the present confines will have to be made north of No. 2 highway.

White Church Anniversary

The anniversary of the White Church congregation was held on Sunday evening July 11. It was the occasion of celebrating the birth of the White Church Congregation, nearly 90 years ago.

The people of the community at that time recognized that they had a duty to their families, the community, Canada a young developing country and also to God. In their desire to make their community a Christian community they organized a church congregation and finally built a church, which was a part of the Iroquois Pastoral Charge of the Methodist Church.

As a rural area in which all were engaged in farming the land and producing food for themselves and the people of the world; they recognized their calling to serve society with food. To achieve this goal they felt their need of divine guidance and thus the building of the White Church which had a high steeple pointing to things Divine. This structure was destroyed by fire and was replaced by the present building.

The late Rev. Thos. Knowles was our pastor at that time and assisted in the building of the present Church.

During these many years the congregation has been happy to be associated with the Iroquois Methodist and United Church and is grateful for their assistance and help.

At this anniversary service there were present guests from the neighbouring congregation of Dundela.

Rev. Gee spoke on the subject of Hope. As the early See Page 3

Here in 1972

Always Danger

Hot weather brings an instant desire for a cooling dip in whatever waters are available and whether it be in a river, lake or quarry there is the ever-present danger of someone getting into trouble and drowning.

In the area around Iroquois and Matilda there are a number of quarries and swimming holes that certainly are inviting on a hot afternoon or evening and one can hardly blame anyone for wanting to take a dip. It would be well, however, to have someone else with you who is a strong swimmer in case you get into difficulty. The first rule of the game is not to swim alone.

Don't dive into unfamiliar waters until you are certain there are no hidden objects lying below the surface. Stay out of the water for an hour or so after you have eaten and don't get overtired in the water.

Many other rules might be observed, but for the most part, common sense in any situation is the best bet.

Enjoy your summer but do it safely.

The Doctrine of The Trinity

The doctrine of the Trinity
Discloses partiality
In leaving out of Diety
All traces of femininity.

One of the three should be a she.

The writers of theology
Are strong on masculinity.
Their doctrine of the Trinity
Reflects their sex, not God's per se.

One of the three should be a she.

To manifest Divinity
Required a real nativity,
And that required maternity,
A woman's creativity.

One of the three should be a she.

If adding femininity
Upsets God's unanimity,
Just rest assured, two out of three
Comprise a strong majority.

One of the three should be a she.

Which one of three should be a she?
Because the Cosmos needs a hostess
We recommend this Trinity
Father, Son and Holy Ghostess.

SOME PIONEERS FOR KISSIN' COUSINS

By Bill Smiley

By doing a little mathematics, I've come to the conclusion that I must be related to half the population of Canada.

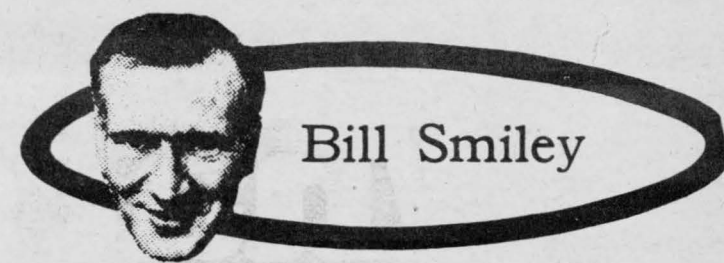

I've just received a small booklet compiled by my uncle, Ivan C. Thomson of Ottawa. It sets forth the genealogy of my maternal ancestors in Canada.

Some people find their ancestors a huge bore. Others are afraid of skeletons in the closet. I find ancestors fascinating, as I try to picture them, think of the incredibly difficult lives they led, and wonder what characteristics I and my children have received from them.

My uncle's booklet is no high-coloured romance. It deals in facts: births, deaths, names, property titles. But among the pages is the occasional laconic comment which makes me wish I could leap back into the 19th century and explore further.

My maternal great-grandparents were certainly not of the aristocracy. He was a ship's carpenter, and that's one reason he, Walter Thomson and she, Margaret Farrell, his new bride, set out from Donegal, Ireland, for St. John, New Brunswick, where there was a ship-building industry. He was 20, she 19. It was 1834.

Within a few years, with three children, they moved to Upper Canada, because Walter had heard of work to be obtained in the building of slides on the Upper Ottawa River.

These slides were built for the lumbering business which was skimming the cream from the stands of wonderful pine in the area. The purpose of the slides was to allow the cribs and rafts of square timber to bypass rapids. The timber was floated down the river, eventually to reach Quebec. Some of the great rafts were half a mile long.

In 1847, great-grandfather Thomson was appointed Slide Master of Grand Calumet Island in the Ottawa River. He held the position for more than 30 years, to be succeeded by his son William, my grandfather, who was to reign until the last raft of square timber came down the river in 1910.

That's the background. My mother's family attended a one-room school, boarded the teacher for $45 a year. My uncle Ivan had a good job. He went to the school early in fall and winter, and lit the fire. He got $3.00 a year. My grandfather got $1.00 a day for his government position as Slide Master. Pay ceased when the navigation season ended, so the Master had to farm as well. There were ten in the family, and from what I've heard, they had a happy life on the island.

As a child, I saw the old homestead high on a hill overlooking the mighty Ottawa, and was thrilled.

But as I said, while the facts in the book are interesting, it's the little asides that inflame the curiosity.

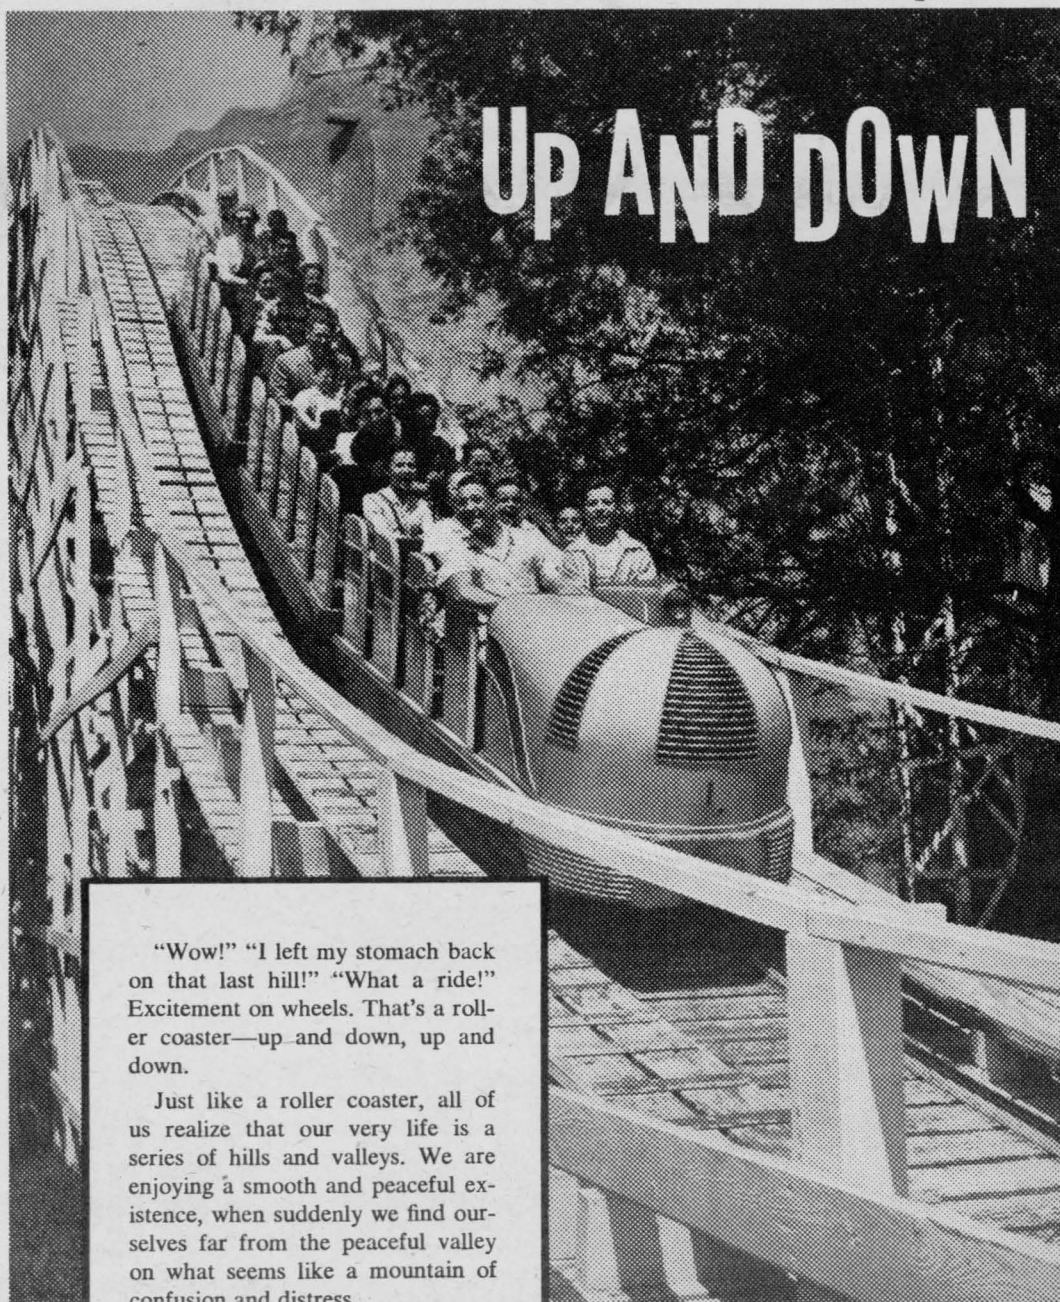

The original family of Walter Thomson was eight children. They produced, among them, exactly 60 more Thomsons. Today, eight might produce 16.

Anna married James Paul. They had four children. "She also raised Johnnie Robertson." Now there's a story in itself. Who was Johnnie? Why did she raise him? What became of him?

John (Mountain Jack) was a timber cruiser and a real bruiser in the lumberjack clashes of the times. "He had a terrible temper and was known up and down the Ottawa River as a scrapper." He died at 91, a pretty ripe age for a brawler who also sired 15 children in two marriages.

Catherine "married George Kemp who was very fond of liquor". No other comment, except naming their children, with the last

"Wow!" "I left my stomach back on that last hill!" "What a ride!" Excitement on wheels. That's a roller coaster—up and down, up and down.

Just like a roller coaster, all of us realize that our very life is a series of hills and valleys. We are enjoying a smooth and peaceful existence, when suddenly we find ourselves far from the peaceful valley on what seems like a mountain of confusion and distress.

At such crucial times we need to remember there is a nearby fortress of stability. It is that place of power that stands ever ready to provide the necessary faith and courage to face tomorrow with enthusiasm. Discover the inner peace that comes from divine love. Worship in church this Sunday.

During the past week in tournament competition local rinks placed well.

In Perth on Wednesday, July 7, a rink of ladies triples skiped by Shirley Cooper, Gwen Parmeter-Vice and Jane Graham-Lead were successful in winning all three of their games. On the same day in a men's doubles tournament on Prescott greens Ray Parmeter & Ross Jamieson, skip, were two-game high winners.

On Thursday evening, two local rinks of ladies triples, Nelda Gilmer, Donald Banford, Nilda Brown, skip-Georgina Haldane, Irene Haldane and Gwen Parmeter skip- journey to Prescott to defend their title in the Wexford Garden Trophy-won two years ago by Iroquois. Iroquois & Perth Lawn Bowling Club won the trophy for 1971.

ON THE BALL SCENE

Highlights of this week would be the Iroquois Pee Wees winning the Pakenham Consolation prize at the Pakenham tournament. The boys dropped the first game to Arnprior 4-3 but came through on the next two, beating Pakenham Ace's and Kemptville Pee Wees. We understand that Steven got the winning hit and Tony the winning run.

Iroquois Midgets split a double leader to South Gloucester on Monday night under the competent coaching of Frank Turner and Lee Merkley.

Bantams are doing well an the schedule is well underway.

Wayne Gilmor is busy getting the 9-11 organized and we should be hearing from them soon.

Lorne Froats, Charles Wadell and Bill Lee have the Novice boys, 8 and under. Help can still be used in this division.

On Monday night Iroquois Ball Park hosted approx. 100 children playing ball, and action could have been seen in all divisions. Anyone interested in registering may still do so at Johnmv's Spot.

HUSBAND - WIFE GOLF TOURNEY

On Sunday July 11th the first husband & wife tournament was played with 11 couples out. The course is very dry so there was lots of roll for the long ball hitters. The winners were first Burns and Mary McAdam, second Lloyd & Jennie Hall, third Les & Mary Jean Craig. It was a very interesting afternoon as one couple kept

On June 24th, Gary Kavanagh had a hole in one on the 13th hole. This is a par three 120 yards an nice iron shot. Gary was playing with Bob and Pat McDonald and Dan Adams. This happened twilight nite.

Don't Curse the Nurse,
Daddy

Three year olds make wonderful nurses.

Ever Since Daddy stumbled home from the doctor's office, our little girl has ministered with unremitting zeal to his every need.

In an unfriendly gesture, a cow had lashed Daddy right across the face with its tail, cutting the pupil of his right eye.

The doctor ordered complete rest in a darkened room--No T. V., no reading--not even with his good eye. The doctor thought it would be better in a week.

Thanks to our little Red Cross worker, Daddy was able to go back to work in just two days!

She combed his hair for him, with the little pink comb from her dolly's beauty set. Not only the hair on his head--but she rubbed floor wax on the hairs of his chest and made sure that they were completely tangle free. Daddy told Mummy it was amazing how quickly a child could become expert at pulling out unruly hairs.

She didn't flinch at the sight of blood, either; she'd whip the coverings from band-aids and slap them onto Daddy's chest quick as a wink.

Daddy slept a lot, of course, and he liked a cup of tea when he wakened up.

She likes her tea, too, and when they had finished slumping together in the sheets her little voice would call through to the kitchen, MORE tea, MORE milk, MORE sugar, MORE spoon for Daddy, and then just as Mummy came into the bedroom with it, she'd add, "MORE tea, MORE milk, MORE sugar, MORE spoon for Daddy's nurse." You can tell, can't you, how cute she was.

It shows she has that well-ordered mind that leaves nothing to chance, and I noticed that after just one day of nursing that she was having quite an influence on Daddy. Groping ineffectually around his bedside table I heard him ask her for "MORE cigarettes, MORE lighter, MORE ashtray."

She had dozens of ideas up her small sleeve to keep him amused.

She played "This Little Pig" with his toes, and then practised bandaging both big toes together with her green hair ribbon. It looked quite colorful when the toes turned purple.

To keep him from being bored she brought her building blocks into the bedroom and described--block by block--how high a tower she was making. Daddy had fun guessing when it would crash.

Once he dropped a piece of toast and marmalade stick side down on his bare tummy. Without being asked, she got a cold wet facecloth from the bathroom and cleaned Daddy up. She learned some new words too.

She loves to collect noise boxes. There's a box with three pennies in it, a box with dry rice in it, another with stones in it, a box with old teaspoons in it, a box with egg shells in it, a box with watermelon seeds in it, and a box with chicken bones in it.

Daddy had to guess which box she was rattling at his ear, and after two days he was very quick at telling her which one was which.

Between taking his temperature with the leg of a toy duck, and playing tunes on her little xylophone for him to sing and be happy with, she really has done a fantastic job, both as a nurse and occupational therapist.

Daddy asked her yesterday if she could pretend to be a birdie and fly, fly away while he snatched another little sleepy-time to make his poor eye all better.

She did, and he did, but when he woke up something was squirming on his well-combed chest. Leaping out of bed with his good eye wildly rolling, he raved that he felt fine, just fine, and he was going back to work that very minute.

The birdie put the worms in another box, but they didn't rattle, so Mummy returned them to the garden.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Toronto Telegram Syndicate

This young lad with the winning smile is David, who will be four in the late summer. Lovely dark eyes suggest his Indian background, but otherwise his coloring is fair with light-brown hair and fair skin.

He is a healthy, lively child, the kind usually described as "all boy." These days, he is busy trying to graduate from his three-wheeled bike to a small two-wheeler. David's foster family live near a lake and they have a swimming pool. Since he loves the water and is an adventurous type anyway, somebody has to keep an alert eye on him most of the time.

When David first came into the care of the Children's Aid Society, he was an unruly, noisy youngster, yet he clung to his foster mother, upset if she was out of sight. Now, after a term at nursery school, he is much less dependent. He is a favorite with the teachers and has many friends. His behavior has improved, too. Though still very active, he is more amenable.

This handsome young fellow will be the ideal son for young, energetic, loving parents. To inquire about adopting David, please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

OFF THE CUFF

By Charles Edwards

Last weekend we accompanied some friends to a farm auction sale. They had gone in search of some antiques and on arriving there found themselves in the company of many antique hunters from the city. There was also a fair number of other farmers who had come hoping to get a good buy on some of the equipment and took delight in seeing the city folks get excited over old quart sealers and other objects they considered junk.

The proprietors of the sale were an old farm couple who were retiring to town. The spectator could not help but be slightly moved by the whole scene. Here, under the auctioneer's hammer was a life time of memories, dreams, hardships, and triumph. Before the sale a period was set aside for everyone to wander through the house and barns checking on items they hoped to bid on.

There seemed to be something cold and impersonal about searching through someone's furniture with an eye for only how little we could pay for it or whether it could be refinished to look like an original and could we put an Arborite top on it.

The kitchen was one of those wonderful huge farm kitchens with the old wood stove sitting beside a gleaming chrome and porcelain range. Near the wood stove was a row of hooks presumably for hanging wet winter clothes and towels. How many different snowsuits and overalls had hung there to dry and how many Christmas dinners had been cooked on the wood burning stove? It seemed strangely unfitting that a stove which had served two or three generations, heating them and cooking their meals should be put on public auction only to bring ten dollars with luck.

In the living room the furniture had been pushed to the centre of the floor to make space for the crowds.

This was the room that, fifty years ago was called the front room or the parlour. It was used strictly for entertaining the most respected guests and was the showplace for the house. You didn't go in there wearing old clothes and boots and you certainly didn't run or yell.

It was there that mother played hostess to the local ladies group or had the minister and his wife to tea. Now it was a hodge-podge of new and old furniture sitting on traffic-worn, faded linoleum.

July Meeting Pittston W.M.S.

The Presbyterian W.M.S. held their July meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Muilwyk. Meeting opened with Mrs. Muilwyk reading a poem "No Other Way But The Cross" and she also led in the Devotions reading a few verses from John Chapter 12 and the Meditation "Save Me From This Hour" closing with prayer. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Friendship and Service report was received. After Mrs. George Forrester spoke briefly Mrs. Muilwyk presented Mrs. Carl Harrington with a W. M. S. Life Membership Certificate for which she expressed her thanks. Hymn "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was sung. The Bible Study "The Community of Communicators" was presented by Mrs. Roy Holmes with the members taking part in the discussion. Meeting closed with repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A social hour followed. The United Church women held their July Meeting in the church on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Willis Montgomery opened meeting with a reading "Nations Strength" and also was in charge of the Devotions. Psalm 744 was read responsively and Mrs. Montgomery read the Meditation "Our Dual Citizenship" Hymns 511 and 510 were sung with Mrs. Roy Leizert, Organist and devotions closed with Prayer. Offering was dedicated by Mrs. Fred Taylor. Minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Edwin Cooper and approved. Roll call was answered with a scripture verse containing the word "Hide". Mrs. Garnet Sloan gave Treasurer's Report Some Money was handed in from the Make-believe-Tea and those whose birthdays are in July handed in a donation. Mrs. Herbert Leizert presented the Study on "MAN" basing her remarks on Religion and maintained almost as they had been when the sons and daughters left home to make a new life in the city. We had the feeling that we were almost snooping through the last part of the nineteenth century and rummaging through someone's life. A leaking roof had taken its toll on the plaster and only naked light bulbs brightened the gloom. It was obvious that the house had been built long before electricity came into use. Electric cable with a dozen coats of paint crept up the walls and across the ceiling. There were a couple of old four poster beds and several old bureaus and chests. These were sure to bring a high price from the antique hunters because all were in good condition and could be used in any home.

Even the barn had its share of memories. This was where calves had been born on rainy nights, where a sick horse had been nursed back to health, where harvests had been stored, and where maybe even a first cigarette was smoked.

Later in the day the furniture was moved out on the lawn for bidding. Several members of the family were visible in the crowd and it was hard not to wonder what was going through their minds. The sale was to be their last link with the old farm and with their past. It must have been a hard decision to make, and while they were no doubt filled with anticipation of the future, it would be impossible to feel no regrets for the past.

Military Pageant At Fort

The old St. Lawrence River fort town of Prescott, Ontario, will rumble to the roar of ancient cannons and volleys from 300 year old muskets on Saturday, July 17th, when the third annual Historic Military Pageant is staged at Fort Wellington.

Located on the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence River, directly opposite Ogdensburg, Fort Wellington was constructed by the British in 1812 to defend the Canadian border. The six-acre site has been restored to the 1840 period in recent years as a national historic site by the federal government.

The military pageant is a salute to Canada's military history and several of the ancient regiments that served in what was once New France and British North America, will be taking part in the pageant.

For the first time in the United States colonial era unit will take part in the colorful program. The "First Maryland Revolutionary War Regiment" from Baltimore, Maryland will demonstrate drill and battle tactics. This 60 man unit dressed in authentic uniforms and using weapons of the period will actually setup an encampment on the plains at Fort Wellington. The encampment will show how colonial troops "camped out" as well as demonstrating period crafts such as bullet making and weapon repair.

Two other famous British regiments, the Fort Henry Guard, recreated to the 1867 period, and the First Canadian Guards from Ottawa, will be on parade.

The afternoon program starts at 2 p.m. and will feature these units in various ceremonial and battle formations, complete with the firing of the ancient cannons and muskets. This is a two-hour show and admission is free.

From 4:30 until 7:30 there will be highland dancing and a band concert inside the ramparts of Fort Wellington while a chicken barbecue supper is served.

Probably the most impressive part of the day-long pageant will be the colorful "retreat" ceremony which starts at 7:30. All participating units will be formed up on the ramparts of the fort for this traditional flag lowering ceremony which includes music and musket and cannon volleys.

The evening band concert which precedes the retreat ceremony will feature the internationally famous military concert band.

There is no admission charge for any of the July 17th events (Sunday July 18 in event of rain) which are sponsored by the Prescott Chamber of Commerce. There is adequate parking for several thousands cars and persons planning to take in the show should bring lawn chairs or blankets.

Fort Wellington is a five minute drive on Queens Highway #2 after crossing the Ogdensburg-Prescott International Bridge. A visit to the Frederick Remington Museum in Ogdensburg featuring the largest collection of paintings, bonzes and sketches by the "Artist of the old West" will complete a most enjoyable day along the St. Lawrence River.

Landslide of Bills

With the hot weather which came last week to Toronto, also came a landslide of government bills onto the Assembly's Order Paper. Indeed, now the Order Paper for the House is in about the same position as is usually found in the early stages of a Session with over fifty items awaiting action. This bustle of activity on the part of the Government during the supposed last days of a Session and in the hot Toronto weather has not only made the prospect of an early summer adjournment fade, but has confused Members of all parties. The announcement by the House leader that the House would sit morning, afternoons and evenings next week in an effort to conclude current business was received with something less than enthusiasm by hot and weary Members. During the past week not only has the Standing Committee on Supply been sitting concurrently with the House, but also always one other Committee. This has posed a real problem for Members interested in matters being considered in these three separate forums and has produced heated opposition from both Liberal and N. D. P. members.

During the week it was learned that on Sunday, August 9th next, an historic plaque will be unveiled at Will-

The anniversary occasion was happy to have the Adams family of Williamsburg who are descendants of the late John Adams, to furnish the music. Mr. Gerald Adams, his daughter, son and two grand children, assisted at the organ by Mrs. Mayford Merkley of Williamsburg presented solos, and duets which were appreciated by all.

iamsburg to commemorate the person and work of one of Dundas' most illustrious citizens--Dr. M. W. Locke.

While the new legislation new flooding into the House is mostly of the "house-keeping type", that is to say, minor amendments to make existing laws work better, there have been some notable new laws introduced, among which I would only mention--that to enable Ontario to participate in a national agricultural products marketing plan should the federal parliament pass enabling legislation; that to supply more financial aid from the provincial coffers to the new regional municipalities; that to provide for a new form of internal overnment for our provincial University of Toronto; and that to enable provincial payment of non-resident student charges for Children's Aid Society wards.

Indeed the Order Paper for the Ontario Legislature now is beginning to appear as a real pre-election programme.

Thank You

I would like to thank all my friends, neighbours, and relatives for their visits, cards and phone calls while I was a patient in Brockville General Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Marcellus, Dr. Deegan, nurses and staff on the second floor. These kind acts were much appreciated.

finished third, half a lap behind the winner, after starting out in 17th position.

Pennock streaked into 3rd lap 15, passing Kingston's Jim Marlowe and Babe Miller of Peru, N. Y. on the front straightaway.

Points leader Howard Shaw had engine problems all night and with two laps to go in the feature lost a rear wheel, forcing him into the pits.

Shaw still leads the points race. He's four in front of Pennock and seven ahead of Tony Blake. The trio is from Kingston.

A nine-car pileup on the first corner caused the first red flag.

George Herbison, Brockville, Ron White, Ogdensburg, Vic Smith, Kingston were the heat winners.

Smith and White also won the semi-finals with Herbison taking the consolation. Beyore won the five-lap trophy dash.

Racing is held every Sunday night at eight o'clock.
