Oleomargarine Should Be Barred

By C. Allison Graham

THE clamour for permission to make and sell oleomargarine in Canada is increasing every day. Upon investigation this stir seems to be caused by one or two large concerns who have facilities to import cheap oils and manufacture oleomargarine, thereby lowering the living standards of some 500 thousand dairy farmers in Canada.

Farm organizations everywhere are taking on the fight and doing their best to combat this latest Oleo threat. Chambers of Commerce from the smaller centres are also helping. Representatives from the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce successfully carried the matter in a resolution to the meeting of the Eastern Ontario Chambers at Ottawa recently, criticizing any action to support the move for Oleo.

The basis of the Dairy Farmers' Argument against sale of oelomargarine may be summed up in the following points:

(1) It would hold a constant threat of cheap competition over the major branch of the dairy industry. The oils used in Oleo are produced in countries which have plenty of cheap labour and in normal periods great quantities are produced. Our dairy farms cannot compete with Southern natives in labour market.

(2) A few American-controlled firms would virtually control our dairy business. They could sell also at any price they choose thereby affecting the price of butter and hence all dairy products.

(3) It would not benefit any class of Canadians to any great extent. The consumer would get a cheaper spread; the use of that spread would spell near ruin to a four hundred million dollar business. So eventually he would lose more than he gained, a good many allied industries would be adversely affected, including transportation companies, manufacturers of dairy supplies, etc.

(4) The swine industry is greatly dependent on the manufacture of butter on account of the by-products produced. A good many pigs that are marketed get their start on skim milk.

The argument is not whether oleo is a good food; it is simply a question of protecting the livelihood of some 500,000 farmers and those industries dependent upon them. When the population of Canada increases to one hundred million people then there may be market for both oleo and butter. Until then there is room for only one and the very livelihood of Canadian Agriculture demands that that one be butter.

The ever faithful agricultural representative Mr. H. W. Graham, attended every meeting and was the king pin of the association from start to finish. He had every detail carefully planned.

The banquet was not very well attended and what a Plowman's meal they really missed, a delicious turkey dinner put on by the Ladies of the Williamsburg Lutheran church.

NEW BUFFALO PASTURES

The recent extension of the boundaries of Elk Island National Park in Alberta, will ensure a continuance of adequate pasturage for the large herds of buffalo, elk and moose, which have made this park one of the most popular natural museums of wildlife in Canada. The new area has been added to the south side of the park and contains approximately 24 square miles of grasslands, sloughs, meadows and lakes. Here and there are light growths of poplar which provide shade and windbreaks for the wild animals. Two of the largest water bodies in the new section of the park are Flyingshot Lake and Walter Lake. The Edmonton-Lloydminster Provincial Highway intersects this area of the park, making it easily accessible by bus and motor car.

It was to Elk Island National Park that the original buffalo herds, purchased by the Canadian government from a Montana rancher, were brought at the beginning of the century. Later, the main herd was moved to Buffalo National Park at Wainwright, with the exception of 45 animals too wild to be captured. This small but vigorous band formed the nucleus from which the present herd of more than 1,000 buffalo has been built up. This presumably contributed in large measure, to the present fine healthy state of the animals. Recent tests conducted by Government veterinarians disclosed that the entire herd of buffalo was healthy, and in excellent condition. It is regarded as one of the finest herds of buffalo on the North American continent.

FARMERS ASKED TO GIVE CO-OPERATION WITH STATISTICS

During the last week of November thousands of Ontario farmers will receive Live Stock and Poultry forms with a request to fill in the information concerning the livestock operations on their own farms, says S. H. H. Symons, Director of the Statistics and Publications Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This Branch, in co-operation with the Agricultural Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is collecting this information. From the returns received from farmers, estimates of the number of live stcok in Ontario at December 1, 1947, will be obtained, and information will be secured regarding the disposition of live stock during the last six months, i.e., marketings, killed on farms and natural deaths. Questions are also being asked as to future intentions to market.

The success of this survey depends upon the co-operation received from farmers in filling out and returning the forms. A large number of returns is needed in order that a representative sample of the live stock industry may be obtained for the Province. From this sample it is possible to estimate the changes in numbers from the previous year. This year the Bureau is introducing a new type of form which will be easier for the farmer to complete.

The information from this survey is used extensively during the year. The world Food and Agriculture Organization depends on the Bureau to supply up-to-date figures on Canada's agricultural industry. The Bureau is also the official source of statistical information which is used by governments, farm organizations and industry to plan future operations. It is in the farmer's own interest that a true picture of farm reason his co-operation is solicited to complete and return the form as soon as possible.

The information that farmers provide is kept strictly cinfidential, Mr. Symons points out. The farmer is protected by law against misuse of his returns and his individual form is seen only by workers in the Dominion and Provincial agricultural statistical offices.

WILDLIFE ODDITIES

Wildlife oddities of unusual interest are brought to the attention of the Wildlife service of the Department of Mines and Resources in Ottawa from time to time. A bull frog in Quebec that swallowed two ducklings; a hen in Nova Scotia that returned after three week's absence, accompanied by a flock of nine sturdy wild ducks; a deer in Prince Albert National Park that chews tobacco; a bear with four playful cubs that meets trains at Jasper; and many others.

The latest report is from Waterton Lakes National Park in Alberta, where a cutthroat trout taken by an angler from North Lineham Lake during September, contained, among other items of food, a dusky mountain shrew. The shrew is a tiny, furry gray mammal, 4½ inches long, that lives chiefly on insects. The trout weighed 1 lb. 6 ozs., was 14½ inches long and was approximately 7 years old. It was quite fat and in excellent condition.

This is the first record, so far as is known, of a cutthroat trout in a national park having been found to feed on a mammal, since the usual diet of this species consists of insects, other invertebrates and small fish. It is also the first record in a national park of a shrew of this species occurring in an altitude of 7100 feet above sea level. The shrew is a terrestrial species, and how it bebecame available to the trout is not known.

Lineham Lake, one of a series of five lakes in a beautiful bowl-shaped, hanging valley, is one of the less accessible lakes in Waterton Lakes National Park. As in other lakes in the park, trout of excellent quality are present in considerable numbers, too the delight of visiting anglers.

A GOOD SPANK

In many homes today, the sound of breaking glass and the sad sight of soiled slip-covers and broken furniture are cheerfully ignored by deluded parents who have been carried away by child psychology. Junior is not going to be inhibited. It appears that enlightened parents don't say "don't" but let Junior's natural tendency to destroy be dissipated on maturity. Junior will never be mature. He will always be just what he is.

You get burnt playing with fire, and knifing your neighbor is followed swiftly by hanging, so it seems only fitting and proper that general devilment around the house, and neighborhood, should involve getting smacked, quickly, inevitably, and hard.

A flurry of queer thinking—along with a good deal of indifference and neglect—has appeared in place of discipline. Good riddance to the birch rod, but parents have hands, and even the most difficult, complex little hoodlum has a place for a good spank.

A BOOKLET TO HELP PLAN YOUR GARDEN

"Just as fashions in architecture and interior decoration have changed from one country to another and from one period to another, so styles in gardening have changed, and in Canada we are developing our own style" says R. W. Oliver, Horticultural Division Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. At the present time, the Canadian garden follows the American development very closely, but with less attention to garden ornaments and furnishings. Due to Canada's more prolonged winters and the ease with which most Canadians can get to the country in the summer, gardens have not been furnished for comfort but have been used for children's play and as an exercise for horticultural hobbies, observes Mr. Oliver.

Of recent years, however, more attention has been paid to garden design and the arrangement of gardens for comfortable living. Canadians are accustomed to space, so that simple, open arrangement of parts is more appreciated, even in formal work, than any of the more crowded European styles with their fine detail. Canadians like games, so open lawns are needed. Canadians must shovel snow, so planting is left well back from roads and paths. In the East there are quantities of good limestone, so it is preferred to the finer finish of brick and concrete for steps, walks, and walls. Because these things suit the Canadian climate and tastes, it is generally the wisest policy to use this style in gardens in which people wish to live, although "show" places are often effective when carried out according to the styles of other countries and periods.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture has issued Publication No. 795, "Planning Your Garden", written by R. W. Oliver. It is an extensive treatise, with much valuable information and ideas in it on every phase of planning, creating, and keeping a garden in Canada to suit all tastes with consideration as to space and expenditure. A copy may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The Answer Is There

THE ANSWER IS THERE
Being the Popular Report for 1947 of the British and Foreign Bible Society, by the Rev. John A. Patton, M.C., M.A.

The author propounds the question regarding the Riddle of Life. He asks if the answer to our present chaotic condition lies in Science or one of the Isms current in our day.

Mr. Patton shows that the Word of God has become the universal Book, breaking down racial prejudice and national antagonism. In God's plan lies the answer.

Throughout these pages the shortage of Bibles is constantly emphasized. Many in war zones were so deeply indebted to the Bible for their inspiration that others are now clamouring for a copy of THE BOOK. The Chinese, despite inflation prices, are eager to purchase Bibles. The Germans have requested twenty million Bibles and New Testaments.

Although the movements toward literacy have enthused many Christians, the author shows that these have fallen far short of complete success. The work of translation, halted by war, is again moving forward and many countries with a low literacy figure have been encouraged by the visit of Dr. Frank Laubach.

One may sum up this very vital report by saying that it is the story of Relighting the Lamps of Truth in many lands that have been dark through a period of years.

SAY A WORD FOR DAD

By Dora L. King

WE sing in praise of mother,
And I grant you it's her due;
But don't you think there's someone else,
Who has it coming too?
We mothers bandaged little hurts,
And kissed away your tears;
We tucked you snugly into bed,
And soothed your childish fears.
I'm a mother and confess I love
The fuss you're makin',
But it was dad who wrestled odds,
To bring us home the bacon.
He never has expected a lot of flossy fuss,
Yet he's the one who's hustled
To make a place for us.
It would make his work seem lighter,
And the day seem somehow brighter,
If you told him you appreciated,
All the things he's done.
Let him know that you are grateful,
That you're proud to be his son.

C. E. Harkness Heads Dundas County Cheese Producers

C. E. Harkness, of Iroquois, was re-elected president of the Dundas County Cheese Producers' Association at the annual meeting held at South Mountain on Thursday.

C. N. Neath, secretary of the Ontario Association, was the speaker and dealt with topics which were aimed at the improvement of the product, under such divisions as a more rigid stable inspection, premiums on clean milk and a uniform standard for all milk which would be controlled by a milk board to assure a more orderly method of marketing.

Other speakers were: Eric Casselman, of Chesterville, president of the Dundas County Federation of Agriculture; J. L. McDonald, president of the Stormont Cheese Producers' Association, and R. J. Kelso, head of the Grenville Association.

All speakers voiced strong criticism against the action of the Dominion Government for the lifting of ceilings on coarse grains, while cheese was still being marketed on a controlled market, making it impossible to realize the cost of production.

The meeting approved a resolution that milk be paid for on a quality basis according to the sediment test, and that it be standardized to give a uniform price to all dairymen.

The following officers and directors were named for 1948: Vice-president, Byron Martin, Hallville; secretary-treasurer, Harry Williams, Mountain: directors, William Lane, Williamsburg; Oscar Beckstead, Elma; Shalei Heagle, Aultsville; Roy Fetterly, Winchester; Elburn McIntosh, Winchester Springs; John Barrett, Winchester; Arnold Gilroy, South Mountain; Cephas Smith, Iroquois, and S. Dwight Merkley, Iroquois.

A YARD OF MACARONI!

The astonishing variety of articles left behind by air travellers would indicate that they are "in the clouds" in more senses than one! Hats, a folding perambulator, children's toys, coats, a portable typewriter, books, spectacles and pipes are lying unclaimed in the British Overseas Airways Corporation's Lost Property Office at Airways Terminal, London. But the most, shall we say, unusual item is a yard of macaroni!

Be Economical

Donald and Mary decided to adopt a child, and asked at the orphanage for a little girl. One was produced, and Mary was about to close the bargain when Donald tapped her shoulder.

"Mary," he whispered, "let's have a boy. Hae ye forgotten the lad's cap we found in the train?"

Ken Ketzner, Waterloo Chief Speaker At Williamsburg Meeting

"When the Dominion Cabinet refused to implement the recommendations of the Department of Agriculture, which would have been satisfactory to farmers, they placed the farmers of Canada in the middle of the most serious situation since the end of the war", Ken Betzner of Waterloo told a grim faced audience of farmers at Williamsburg, who met for more than three hours Saturday night. He also stated that the one man in the cabinet who was directly to blame for the present situation was the Finance Minister, The Honorable James Abbott.

Since the removal of subsidies and the lifting of controls from all coarse grains, the prices had practically doubled, while the farmers' markets for the livestock of all kinds had remains the same because of the Government contracts with Great Britain, and the inability to sell on world markets at the higher price levels. The opening of the grain exchange was an invitation to American capital to buy futures with the expectation that the ban against export to the higher United States market would be lifted. He asked the audience whether it was true that breeding stock and young pigs were being killed, and was assured by many that there was absolute proof that young pigs were being liquidated.

It was absolutely impossible for a farmer to get the cost of production for a bacon hog at present feed prices in relation to the selling price, and meetings were being held in every county in Ontario in protest. He made the following suggestions which were later unanimously adopted as a plan of action.

Every organization under the Federation of Agriculture and their related groups are to contact their members of Parliament at two day intervals, and give him a true picture of the situation.

Every farmer in the county is asked to write a letter stating their own views, to the Prime Minister, the Minister of Agriculture, the Minister of Finance, and the Minister of Trade and Commerce, respectively.

The final step in the protest plan is the preparation by the Federation of arrangements to take an estimated delegation of 25,000 farmers to Ottawa from every Province in the Dominion.

Allison Graham, of Chesterville, suggested to the meeting that along with the letters to the Finance Minister the farmers should send their little pigs which they did not intend to feed.

William Legault, of Moose Creek, reported that the Stormont Federation had made an appointment through the Hon. Lionel Chevrier to meet the Minister of Agriculture on November 27th, and that he would welcome representatives from all of the other County Federations at the meeting in Ottawa. He was of the opinion that if the situation remained the same Canadian farmers would not be able to produce enough to supply domestic needs or to fulfil existing contracts with the British Ministry of Food. Milk production was down to an alarming degree as the result of the inability to feed grains to cows.

George Pollock, of Berwick, former warden of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry, said that he could not believe that the Cabinet at Ottawa would continue to allow the farmers of Canada to produce at a loss, when they had promised a programme of stabilization to Agriculture.

C. E. Harkness, of Iroquois, and John Barrett of Winchester, were both agreed that the farmer must curtail production, and regretted that it would be necessary to liquidate young pigs and said that the cause of all the trouble was the failure of the Government to put into effect the promised stabilizing programme.

Eric Casselman, of Chesterville, who presided, raised the question of Oleomargarine, and Ken Betzner, the Past President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, stated, "I have absolute proof that powerful United States companies are at the present time spending money in Canada to influence the people into asking that the ban against this product be lifted."

"I am sorry to say", he continued, "that Senator Euler from my own constituency will be the man to support the raising of the ban. The fight is on, and it will take all the resources of every farmer in Canada to combat it's admission, for these interests are prepared to spend millions for this market." He went on to say that this further blow to agriculture would be one which would take years to overcome. The saving of a few cents for a cheaper spread, would result in lower prices to producers and lower wages to labor. If agriculture should turn their milk which went into cheese which was sold to Britain at less than world market prices, into butter making too much would be made.

C. E. Harkness and Bud Martin sponsored another resolution against the lifting of the ban, which will also be presented to Hon. Mr. Gardiner.

Other speakers asked that the Federation insist to the Government that markets in the United States for cattle be opened on a quota basis, and that the grain exchange be closed to prevent the manipulation of speculators, which would cause feed prices to sky rocket further, and curtail the free movement of coarse grains from the West to the farmer feeder in the East. The meeting was orderly, but several farmers assured the chair, that this time they meant business, and would support the Federation.

Legion Rally Held At Prescott

F. Erle Helmer of Winchester was named Deputy Commander of Zone G-3, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., at a rally of Zone representatives held in Prescott on Sunday, of which Zone Commander A. G. Jarvis of Prescott was in charge. The post of Deputy Zone Commander was created at the recent Provincial Convention held in Windsor.

Meeting in the auditorium of the Prescott High School, the delegates heard a resume of the past season's activities from Zone Commander Jarvis, and the report of the Zone sports by J. A. Morris, Prescott, Zone Secretary and Sports Chairman. Past District Commander C. M. McDowell of Brockville addressed the Legionnaires, declaring the record of the Canadian Legion made it a duty of every ex-serviceman to become a member. Ninety per cent of the rehabilitation laws were placed on the books at the instigation, he said, of the Legion, which has done more for the ex-serviceman than any other organization in Canada.

In his report, Zone Commander Jarvis told of the formation of the Zone Executive following his election last April, and of his visits to Branches. A drumhead service is planned for the Spring, he said. He also stressed the Legion Housing recommendations, and the plan of Dominion Command to send as a wedding gift to H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten, food parcels for distribution to the needy by CARE. Dominion Command has dispatched 100 cases, and each of the smaller branches are asked to send a case. The cost is $10 per package.

Mr. Jarvis also announced a Travelling Service Bureau Officer will be appointed, and that Branches are urged to consider appointing a Branch Service Officer to look after local needs of servicemen.

Branches reported that the inclement weather had interfered with the success of poppy day sales, but as complete returns were not in it was impossible to give any figures on this year's sales.

Representatives were present from Iroquois, Cardinal, Winchester and Prescott. Officers on the stand with the Zone officials were F. B. Byers, Secretary, Cardinal Branch; Thos. Hargreaves, Past President, Iroquois Branch; S. J. Corey, President of the Winchester Branch, and J. Howard MacDonald, President of the Prescott Branch.

F. B. Byers of Cardinal was in charge of credentials. When voting for the new Deputy Commander came about, Mr. Helmer's name was left alone in the field as the other nominees, A. H. Kincaid of Prescott and F. B. Byers, Cardinal, withdrew, and Mr. Helmer was elected by acclamation.

One resolution, which urged a better turn-out of voting delegates or proxies by Branches was presented by the Prescott Branch.

Following the meeting, the Legionnaires repaired to the Prescott Armouries where refreshments were served by the local Branch.

CAN SAVE REPAIRING FARM MACHINERY

Because machinery is one of the largest and most important factors in the production of crops, it is essential that it be kept in as good repair as possible. Most of this repairing can be done on the farm during the winter months or at some other slack season.

To do much repair work the farm should have a reasonably well equipped work shop, says K. E. Bowren, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask. This means there should be a farily large building where the tools are kept and where the whole machine or a good portion of it can be taken inside to be repaired. The shop should be equipped with a stove or some other means of heat to make winter work possible. It should also be equipped with a large bench space, drawers and pegs for holding tools and spare parts, a bench vise and possibly a forge. Although the forge is not absolutely necessary for minor repair work it is necessary for straightening harder metals and can be used, with a little experience on the part of the operator, for soft iron welding.

To avoid unnecessary delays during the busy season, all machinery should be given a complete checking over at least once a year. This makes it possible to change or repair worn parts before they cause serious damage to other parts.

In checking a machine all the moving arts should be removed and thoroughly washed in gasoline to remove dirt and dust which mix with old grease to form a grinding compound. The bearings should all be removed, cleaned, and checked for wear, if worn they should be replaced. Any bent or broken parts of the machine should be taken down, straightened, repaired or replaced with new ones.

It is far cheaper to replace a bearing than to buy a new axle or other shaft, just as it is cheaper to repair a slightly used machine rather than to buy a new one at present day prices.

Quandary

At mathematics I'm no slouch,
Yet one thing has me troubled.
Figures don't lie—but I can vouch
Joy that is shared is doubled.

Quite Clear!

A young member of a psychology class touring an insane asylum, asked an inmate his name. "George Washington," was the reply.

"But," said the perplexed questioner, "the last time we were here you were Abraham Lincoln."

"That," said the inmate sadly, "was by my first wife!"

The Case of the Married Woman

By R. J. DEACHMAN

Sometime ago I wrote an article: "Should Married Women Work?". There is a sharp division of opinion on this question. I had many replies. The first came from a bachelor, a good fellow, but a bachelor! He never liked married women, bachelors seldom do—maybe that is the reason why he is still a bachelor. He is quite forceful in the way he puts the case but I, not being a bachelor, see things differently—read first what my good friend says:

"I became definitely opposed to having married women on my staff because married women whose husbands are employed are too darned independent and unreliable? Just when you think Mrs. Steno is becoming valuable she blows up and quits, or has a row with her husband and goes home to continue it. The single girl, on the other hand, still has her dreams of Prince Charming. She puts zing and zip into the way she trips in of a morning and in the way she bangs hell out of the old machine."

From Toronto the Good

Two men in the City of Toronto reached a similar conclusion but by a different road. This is the way one man stated it:

"If married women generally are to hold positions, who will look after the homes and raise the families?"

The other writes:

"I believe that the home is the place for a married woman if her husband holds a job, even if she is unable to buy all the accessories she has become accustomed to these last few years. The home is the Nation's basic unit which should be maintained, and with a woman in it—not away at another job."

These are interesting points of view. They were sound in the past but today the foundations are slipping we must build new ones, the old are not heavy enough for the traffic. I think the next few paragraphs raise a problem—how are these people, under present conditions to raise a family unless both work? I can't see my way through this one!

From the United States

This item is from the "Miami Herald". It examines the questions from quite a different angle, the facts will be surprising to many, they surprised me:

"Both husband and wife are working in almost 18 percent of all normal families in the United States.

"This report, from the Federal Bureau of the Census, helps to explain the increased demand for small houses and apartments where working couples can make a home with a minimum of housekeeping.

"The 5,070,000 families in which both husband and wife hold jobs also constitute a large market for easy-to-prepare foods, pressure cookers, automatic dishwashers and other devices for simplifying housework."

Here is a nub, perhaps the real nub of the whole question:

What happens in these 5,000,000 homes in which there are 10,000,000 workers, if the number is cut to 5,000,000?

Ah, yes, but wouldn't others take their places?

There is practically no unemployment in the United States right now, very positively not 5,000,000. The result must be a reduction in the national income if these married women quit. That would be costly, it would put others out of work and what would happen to the standard of living in these 5,000,000 homes?

A Politician Speaks

Here is a neutral point of view. It comes from Helen Gahagan Douglas, member, from California of the American House of Representatives. It appeared in "The American Magazine".

"Basically the making of a home is a partnership, and neither partner need be disqualified for outside activities which are rewarding and satisfying. I know women who function better, both as wives and as mothers, because they are leading active, stimulating lives in the business or professional world. Their husbands, oddly enough, find them more interesting companions than they would wives who did nothing but play bridge and go to beauty parlors."

From an ex-Civil Servant of Ottawa:

"I am a married woman myself and working. If the reedom of one sex is restricted for the benefit of the other, the reasons should be clear, definite, explicit. What are they?

"Couldn't women be left to act upon their own judgment, in consultation with their husbands of course, in a matter such as this where they are both vitally interested?

"I started to work during the war when we were urged to work, I have a competent housekeeper who looks after my children and family, they are certainly not neglected. Taxes have risen so has the cost of living. I have to consider the education of my children.

"If our government cannot provide for the husband a level of earnings sufficient to raise a family on the basis of decent earnings and a modern standard of living then why should it object to my attempts to do so?"

My On Conclusions

Here is my personal point of view. The cost of living has gone up, the world is hungry for commodities of every kind. So long as this condition continues men and women will go their own way, get married, even if both have to work afterwards.

In this, as in other things, the decision will be made by the great silent economic factors which fashion the lives of men and women. Perhaps, in the end, it is better that it should happen this way. Besides I cannot help believing that the more real workers there are in the world the sooner it will become a better world.

Comedians

"I think it's disgusting that some comedians shou'd earn twice as much as members of the Cabinet."

"Oh, I don't know. After all, taking them as a whole, they are funnier."

Presbyterian Peace Memorial Camp

During the period November 16th to 30th a campaign for $20,000.00 will be held throughout the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa in support of the Presbyterian Peace Memorial Camp on Lake St. Francis near Lancaster, Ontario. This site was purchased by the Synod in 1944. Last summer two large well-equipped buildings were erected on the property at considerable cost, but with good value for the cost. The Camp Committee is now in need of money to meet its obligations in connection with this building programme, and to complete the development of the camp project, drilling a well for a good supply of pure water, levelling off the grounds around the building, etc. The $20,000.00 for which the appeal is being made will meet the needs of the camp for years to come; so this is the final appeal.

The buildings which were erected this year will accommodate eighty campers, affording such facilities, as, dormitory, dining hall, recreation hall, offices, leaders' rooms, hospital, and a well-equipped kitchen. One need not hesitate to say that this is the best equipped Church camp of its kind in Canada. The successful operation of the camp will strengthen considerably the work of the Presbyterian Church, by providing a place of Christian fellowship for our boys and girls, training leaders for places of responsibility in the Church, and giving spiritual inspiration to the men and women who are already leaders in the Church's work.

Last summer boys and girls, and young people, came to Lake St. Francis to camp from Carleton Place, Richmond, Ottawa, Vernon, Winchester, Prescott, Iroquois, Avonmore, Maxville and Cornwall. In the summer of 1948, there will be camps for boys and girls, young people ministers and lay people, during the period July 1st to August 31st. You may have the opportunity to spend a week at Lake St. Francis next summer. If you should go, you will enjoy a spiritual retreat in the quiet atmosphere of this picturesque spot on beautiful Lake St. Francis.

Our Presbyterian people are asked to give generously in support of this worthy project of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa. If no one approaches you for a donation and you would like to contribute, send your contribution to the Rev. Wallace MacKinnon, Winchester, Ontario, Campaign Director for the Presbytery of Brockville. Make cheques payable to Hugh M. Lloyd, Treasurer, Presbyterian Peace Memorial Camp.

100 Become Ill After Church Supper

All but four or five of 100 persons who became ill after eating a supper at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Avonmore, Tuesday evening of last week, have fully recovered, it was learned at the week-end.

While several became violently ill within two or three hours after the meal, none was considered serious enough by local doctors to be taken to hospital.

There were 270 guests at the supper but 170 were not affected by the food poisoning believed to have been caused from a portion of the meal served.

The four or five not recovering were among those most seriously affected by the poisoned food which caused some to collapse and other to become violently ill while many others suffered only slight headache.

Dr. G. M. Pollock of Avonmore and Dr. J. G. MacLeod of Finch as well as other doctors in the area spent a hectic night and day rushing to the homes of those who required attention. Dr. Pollock himself was among those affected but he was able to carry on with his duties.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Honourable mention should be made of the genius of home aids. Ever since we toured the Christmas merchandise mart, we have been excited about the many new time-saving gadgets. Here are some worthwhile gifts for the homemaker:

A wonder clothesline: No clothespins and no clothesline prop are needed with this new galvanized wire, on a pully arrangement, has a spreader which separates the wires. The clothes can be fitted into grooves as you move the wire outward and the spreader holds them thus until it is pulled in again to a "tripper" starting point.

Handy chopping board: A wide board for cutting is important but one with a hole at one end is handy. As you place the board of chopped food over a salad bowl, the hole acts as a funnel.

Improved paper dishcloths: Easy to wring out and use again are parchment cloths. The paper is perforated which helps to pick up the little pieces.

Hanger for kitchen tools: A wall near the range is helpful and the new ones are very attractive. When in rack which can be put on the wall position, the rack forms a curve allowing the tools to hang freely without marring the wall. It comes complete with a set of tools including an egg turner, fork, spoon, masher, ladle and spatula.

Useful beater: Remember the old fashioned piano wire whip Well, it's on the market in an improved style. We like it because you can beat eggs with one hand as you gradually add sugar or milk.

Fabric Gifts: Print or chintz aprons; bags for household purposes such as garments, laundry, shoes and dusters are smart. From a yd. of cotton material you can make unusual toys for wee folk.

Christmas goodies as gifts need not be too expensive and are always welcome. You can use economical substitutes to advantage if you consider such ingredients as mincemeat, whole bran, oatmeal, chocolate or brown sugar.

REFRIGERATOR MINCEMEAT COOKIES

1 cup butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup corn syrup, 2 eggs, 2 1|3 cups flour, 1¼ tsp. cream of tartar, ½tsp. soda, 1¼ cups mincemeat, ¼ cup nuts, 1 tsp. salt.

Cream butter; add brown sugar and eggs (slightly beaten). Stir in flour that has been sifted with soda, salt and cream of tartar. Add mincemeat and nuts and more flour if necessary.

Shape into rolls and wrap in waxed paper. Allow to stand overnight in refrigerator. Slice with a sharp knife and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in electric oven at 375 degrees for 8-10 minutes.

BRAN BROWNIES

1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 oz. unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup whole bran, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1|3 cup flour, ½ tsp. salt and 1 tsp. vanilla.

Cream butter, sugar and eggs. Add melted chocolate and rest of ingredients. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake in a greased pan 8" x 8" at 350 degrees in electric oven for 45 minutes. Cut in squares.

SHORTBREAD COOKIES

½ lb. butter, 2 cups sifted rice flour, 2|3 cup lightly packed brown sugar, or ½ cup fruit sugar.

Cream butter and gradually blend in your choice of sugar; cream very well. Add the flour, a third at a time, and combine thoroughly after each addition—if flour becomes difficult to work it with a spoon, use the hands. Turn dough onto a lightly-floured baking board and kneed in additional flour until cracks appear on the surface of the dough—avoid working in any more flour than will bring the dough to the cracking point. Pat and roll to about 1|3-inch thickness; using a floured knife, cut dough, using a small cookie cutter. Cookies may be decorated with a piece of cherry or nutmeat, before baking; or simply prick the tops with the tines of a fork. Bake in an electric oven, 275 degrees, about 40 minutes—until cookies are set.

ROCK COOKIES

1 cup brown sugar, 2|3 cup melted butter or shortening, ½ tsp. soda dissolved in 1 tbsp. hot water, 2 eggs, 2 cups general purpose flour, 1½ cups each, raisins, dates and nuts, ½ tsp. nutmeg, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Beat the eggs, add the sugar and continue beating. Add the vanilla. Add sifted dry ingedients and the soda dissolved in the hot water| Add the melted shortening and the floured fruit and nuts. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet and bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree electric oven. Yield approximately 60 cookies.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

Mrs. B. F. says: 1. When storing summer cottons, pack them unstarched and unironed. They pack more readily when rough dry. In addition they will be fresh and neat next summer if starched and ironed just before using.

2. After woollen sweaters have been thoroughly washed and rinsed twice in clear water, dip them in a very weak soap solution before dyring. The small amount of soap water replaces the oil removed from the wool in washing. The effect is soft, fluffy sweaters.

Main Reason

Visitor—Yes, I liked the service in your church very much. But one thing puzzled me; why does the congregation hurry out so quickly after the benediction.

Native—Well, sir, the sexton makes them leave their umbrellas in the vestibule, and those who get out late haven't much of a choice.

Something to Match

"Now," began the architect, "if you'll give me a general idea of the kind of house you need—"

"I want something," replied the husband, "to go with a door-knocker my wife brought home from Java."

* * * *

How?

"You can ask one more question," said the almost exasperated father, "but make it short."

"Well," replied his small son, "when a doctor gets sick and another doctor doctors him, does the doctor doing the doctoring have to doctor the doctor the way the doctor being doctored wants to be doctored or does the doctor doing the doctoring of the doctor doctor in his own way?"

One-Track Mind

Teacher (after writing LXXX on the blackboard)—Tell me, what does that mean?

Sweet Young Thing—Love and kisses.

Window Dressing

"Could I try on that red dress in the window?" asked the bright young thing.

"There's no need to do that," the elderly saleslady answered, coldly; "we have several fitting-rooms."
