Mixed Feelings on Regional Gov't.

A statement by the new warden of the United Counties that the number of municipalities in S.D.&G. should be reduced from 20 to 6 has met with different reactions from the reeves of both Iroquois and Matilda. Lancaster Reeve Bill Cumming, the new warden of the United Counties of Stormont Dundas and Glengarry, commented after last week's council meeting that consolidation was the only way that the Counties would be eligible for increased grants from the province.

Matilda Township Reeve George Cooper is skeptical of any move towards regional government, citing increased administration costs as the main drawback. Mr. Cooper told the Post that he can foresee the amalgamation of Iroquois and Matilda governments and services, but feels that if all the municipalities in South Dundas were to be combined, it would lead to a more expensive, impersonal service.

The acting Reeve of the Village of Iroquois, Frank Rooney sees such an amalgamation of the municipalities in South Dundas as an inevitability, possibly within five years. With increasing costs he sees it as the only way to keep ahead of inflation. He pointed out that it was financially more feasible for several municipalities to pool their funds on such expensive items as garbage trucks and hydro aerial trucks. Mr. Rooney also saw an amalgamation of governments as the only way for small municipalities to afford things that are out of reach such as a recreation director or a by-law enforcement officer.

Reeve Cooper feels that the big gest drawback aside from the expense of administration would be a lack of personal contact with residents. He cited the county school board system that has been in operation since 1968 as an example of what happens when amalgamation takes place. He felt that there were both good and bad points to the present educational set-up but that administration costs have risen considerably coupled with a loss of day-to-day contact with representatives.

He did see virtue in the proposal from the standpoint of sharing trucks, libraries, etc. but pointed out that the system with the Counties, as it now operates, provides many of the benefits of regional government at a price taxpayers can afford to pay. As examples, he mentioned the co-operation that exists at present between Iroquois and Matilda Township in operation of the waste disposal site, the library, and snowplowing.

Both Mr. Cooper and Mr. Rooney felt that amalgamation of some sort was the only way to get more grant money from the government of Ontario, but Mr. Cooper was not convinced that the extra money would not be used up in administration of a bigger body. Mr. Rooney was hopeful that amalgamation would enable the local governments to offer a better salary to elected officials, thus attracting more people into office. He feels that the present system tends to discourage people from running for office because the amount of time involved precludes most people with 9 to 5 jobs. Mr. Rooney was

Council Approves New Dog License Fees

The cost of owning a dog in Iroquois is going to rise next year when the fees for dog licenses go up. Iroquois village council has approved a motion to raise the fees, effective January 1st 1977.

In addition, Council made plans to have the dog catcher visit the village more often, looking for dogs running loose. Any dog that is picked up without a dog tag will not be returned to its owner until a tag is purchased.

Council has made the move to crack down on dogs following complaints of dogs running loose and creating a disturbance by barking. The cost of owning a male or a spayed female will rise next year to $3.00 from the present rate of $2.00. Each additional male or spayed female will cost $7.00 up from $4.00. Rates for females will be $6.00 up from $4.00 and $9.00 up from $6.00 for each additional female. Dog licenses are on sale at the clerk's office at the lower 1976 prices and council urged village residents to get their tags as soon as possible.

First Steps Taken To Improve Water System

Iroquois village council wasted no time in making concrete plans for changes to the water and sewage pumping stations, following the settlement with Ontario Hydro. At a special meeting of Council last week, Mr. S. Van Ingen Schenau, a consulting engineer with the J.L. Richards firm presented several proposals to update both the water pumping capacity, and the facilities at the Ann Street sewage lift station.

The proposal for the water pumping station includes the purchase of two new electric pumps, each with a capacity of 610 thousand gallons per day, and the construction of a separate chlorine room in the pump house to bring the facility into line with Ministry of the Environment regulations. The new pumps would give the village a capacity of 1.2 million gallons of water per day, plus what could be pumped by the diesel stand-by pump. This proposal is designed to fill the requirements of Iroquois in the next decade, and possibly longer.

At present, water consumption is in the area of 400 thousand gallons per day, with a peak use of 600 thousand gallons per day. Of this, Caldwell's use approximately 350 thousand per day, and have estimated that their water consumption will increase as they shift to a five from a six day operation. The proposal will provide enough water for a village of up to 3000 people, some industry, businesses and schools. A diesel pump that is already in operation will be retained to provide back-up assistance or to run the system in case of a prolonged power failure.

Before the pumps can be installed, a heavier floor and new electrical service will have to be installed. As well there will be a minor structural change to the building to create a completely isolated chlorine room. This has become mandatory in case of a chlorine leak which could cause great damage to the pumping equipment. New metering, water level, and flow instruments will also have to be installed since the existing equipment is now 20 years old and is obsolete. Cost of the renovations is expected to be in the area of $12 thousand.

NEW SEWAGE LIFT PUMP
Mr. Van Ingen Schenau also presented plans for slight modifications to the sewage lift station at the foot of Ann Street, in the form of a portable electric submersible pump. The pump would be able to carry more water than the present diesel model and will be more reliable since council agreed with the consultant that the diesel is too old to be reliable during spring run-off. If permission can be obtained from the Ministry of the Environment, council hopes that the new pump can be installed before spring to lessen chances of any one in the west end village having a wet basement.

There was little else that could be done in the matter of updating the sewage treatment facilities since much of the plans revolve around an agreement being reached between Caldwell's and the Ministry. Caldwell's have until March 1st to bring proposals forward to the Ministry for discussion and a possible agreement.

NO NEW INDUSTRY
Acting Reeve Frank Rooney reported that he had been in touch with officials of the Ministry of the Environment to determine if they would allow an industry to establish in Iroquois now that plans are being made to improve the system. The answer was a definite "no" with the added comment that no thought could be given to allowing an industry to come into Iroquois until a contract had been signed for renovations to the sewage treatment facilities.

Still Time to Enter Carnival Sculpture and Amateur Contest

The deadline is drawing near for entries to the Iroquois Winter Carnival Snow Sculpture contest and Poster contest. The weather has played havoc with the schedule for both contests and the selection of a Carnival Prince and Princess.

Original plans called for a Prince and Princess to be chosen by last Friday in order to help publicize the carnival. Last Friday's cold weather and Monday's freezing rain forced closure of the schools both days, thus delaying selection of the two youngsters. Plans call for the selection to take place as soon as the weather co-operates with the school schedule.

Entries are coming in slowly for the snow sculpture contest and village youngsters are reminded that cash prizes will be offered for the best efforts in that contest. All that's needed is a piece of land to build on and Mother Nature will supply the materials. Hopeful winners should call either Marg Rooney or Kathy DeBellefeuille to have their sculptures judged. Deadline for entries is February 4th.

The poster drawing contest sponsored by the Catholic Womens League has also been a victim of the poor weather since area schools were to select the best poster done at each school to be shown in stores in the shopping plaza. As soon as schools are open again, this will take place and the posters will be on display with the winners being announced in the Post.

Plans for the other events for Winter Carnival are near completion. Last minute entries are being accepted for the Amateur Night to be held on February 4th. Anyone interested should call Ron Fader or John McAllister.

The Iroquois Lions Club will be showing the film "Airport" starring Dean Martin on Thursday February 5th in the Civic Centre. Friday the 6th will feature a snowmobile torch light parade through town, sponsored by the Haddo Snow-Drifters snowmobile club. That will be followed by a Scottish Troupe at the Civic Centre featuring the Seaway Dancers and a dance at Seaway District High School.

Highlights for Saturday the 7th will include the Legion Snowmobile Rally and Dance, a film showing for the children, sponsored by St. John's Ladies Guild, and an inter-council snowball competition. In the evening, the Iroquois Fire Department will host a dance in the civic centre.

Sunday will be the biggest day of the carnival with events taking place at both the Cardinal Arena and in Iroquois. A tobogganing party will be held on Iroquois Point, followed by public skating at the Cardinal Arena. At 4 p.m. the Firemen will take on the Iroquois Girls Broomball team and then hockey takes the spotlight with games for the Atoms, Pee Wees and Bantams. A bean supper will be served and at 8 p.m. the Iroquois Old Timers will play hockey against the team from Berwick.

The whole carnival kicks off on Tuesday night February 3rd with a Euchre Party at the Legion Hall hosted by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion.

It promises to be a busy and fun-filled week for residents of Iroquois and area and a good time to invite out-of-town friends for some good times.

Coldest Winter in Years: Statistics

If you have been thinking that this winter is colder than most you can congratulate yourself because you're right. Randy Thompson of S.A. Thompson & Sons has been keeping records for the 6 years he has been involved in the fuel oil business and has confirmed our worst suspicions that this winter has been the coldest by far in many years.

According to Randy, Universal Terminals in Cornwall who have been keeping records for a longer period have said that this is the coldest winter so far, in ten years. For the purposes of determining how long fuel oil will last in any home, each day earns a number of points - the colder the day, the more points. To date, this winter we have accumulated 5100 points. In contrast to this year, 3 years ago to this date we had accumulated 4300 points.

The cold weather will have a marked effect on our oil and hydro bills, and with prices for both items up from other years, the bills that we thought were too high last year will seem like a pleasant memory.

With the temperature at the end of last week dropping to minus 32 degrees Celsius or 25 below zero Fahrenheit, most people who didn't have to be outside for anything essential remained indoors. Most area school buses did not run on Friday and attendance at most schools was down considerably as parents kept youngsters at home to avoid frostbite. The wind chill factor plunged to 65 degrees below zero Fahrenheit as winds from the north at 30 miles per hour whipped the snow into drifts. By Monday, a complete reversal of the weather had closed all the schools again because of freezing rain, but the milder weather was only expected to last a day or two.

Wintario Winner

Darcy St. Pierre of R.R.#2 Iroquois was the winner of $10,000 in last week's Wintario draw. Darcy held ticket number 77366 which was drawn for $100,000 but he did not have the correct series number so the ticket was good for only $10,000.

The winning ticket has been sent off to Toronto by registered mail and Darcy and his wife Coral are planning to use the money to make a down payment on a new home.

Snoworama to Draw Large Crowd

Snowmobilers from all areas of the Seaway Valley will be taking part in the February 8th Snoworama for Timmy, which will see machines covering a 100-mile route from Iroquois to Brockville and back. The local route is only one of many which will be covered across Ontario as snowmobilers and service clubs join forces with generous residents to raise funds for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

In this area, the rally is being co-ordinated by the Iroquois Lions Club and the Haddo Snow-Drifters Snowmobile Club.

The Snoworama operates much like a walkathon, with snowmobilers taking pledges from sponsors for a given sum of money for each mile they cover. Last year Ontario snowmobilers raised nearly $130,000 for Crippled Children.

Starting point for the Iroquois end of the Snoworama is the Matilda Township Garage, with another group starting out in both Prescott and Brockville and coming to Iroquois. For those not familiar with the Iroquois area, the Township Garage is on the third concession of Matilda, just a few yards east of County Road #1. If you come off Highway #401, head north on the Carman Road until you reach a "T" intersection, turn left and go north to the third concession. Signs will be posted the day of the rally to help snowmobilers find their way.

Registration will take place from 7:30 a.m. onward, at the garage. It is hoped that everyone will register in time to complete the run before dark. Sponsor sheets are already available in many area stores including The Clothing Barn Morrisburg, Styles & McIntosh, Beaupre Jewellers, and the Iroquois Post in Iroquois, Code's General Store in Brinston and from members of the Iroquois Lions Club and the Haddo Snow-Drifters. Plans are being made to distribute the sheets to merchants in the north end of Dundas County as well, but snowmobilers who wish to take part in the Snoworama can collect names of sponsors and fill in a pledge sheet the day of the rally if they are unable to obtain one before hand. Before the Waters

This is the second in our series of photographs of Iroquois before the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway. This handsome red brick building housed the Bank of Montreal and was located on the north side of King Street facing the St. Lawrence. Immediately to the east was Stone and Fisher's Grocery Store. The building was also home for the bank manager and his family and was one of the landmarks of King Street.

Now That's Art

This is the last week of the semester at Seaway High and art classes, like all the others, are finishing up final projects. Some of the students' handiwork is on display at the school while there is another display at Iroquois Public School. Photos show (clockwise) a metal sculpture of a pop singer, two students apply wax resist glaze to their pottery project, papier m a c h e masks and pop-art hot dog, and an imaginary many-legged insect.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

As reported in a front page story in this week's Post, Iroquois village council is heading right into the renovations to our water and sewage system. Attempts are being made to have some of the work done before the spring run-off.

It's good to see some action taking place and we commend council for getting right into the business of putting some of the Hydro settlement money to work, instead of letting it gather interest while everyone involved just talks about improvements for a couple of years.

The proposals which have been made, and which council is going along with, will provide a pumping and chlorination system that is first rate and will serve the village for years to come. It's also encouraging to see that council is thinking ahead to a larger village with more industry. Improvements to a system that will handle only the number of homes and industries that are here now would be a false economy. With costs rising the way they are, it would be another large expense to enlarge the pumping capacity again in a few years, not to mention the advantage of being able to attract developers with the guarantee of an ample water supply.

The council members seem to realize that it is going to cost a little extra now to put the village in a good position in the future. While not squandering money, they are spending enough to put in a water supply system that will be ready to handle the increased demand that we all hope will be put on it in the future.

It is unfortunate that nothing much can be done to improve the sewage treatment or pumping facilities until Caldwells reach an agreement with the Ministry of the Environment. We hope that when an agreement is made, plans for improvement to that system can be as quick in getting off the ground.

CLEAR ROADS FOR EARLY RISERS

We had occasion to drive to Ottawa last week fairly early in the morning and were surprised at the condition of the county roads. Strong winds overnight had left fairly big snowdrifts across the roads in many locations and we had trouble negotiating a few.

The winds had, by then, died down and we could not understand why there was no sign of a snowplow between Iroquois and the Ottawa-Carleton Line on County Road 1. This was at 8 o'clock in the morning, the time when most people are heading for work and need a clear road. We have noticed that in Iroquois, the plow starts out around 4 a.m. so that all roads in town are open by the time people are starting out for the day. This may or not be the case with the county plows, but they hadn't been anywhere near County Road 1 last Friday. In our opinion, it isn't too much to ask that the main artery roads be opened by 8 a.m. when there is no snow falling and the wind has dropped.

In sharp contrast to the Dundas County roads, as soon as we crossed into Ottawa-Carleton, the roads were as clear as a super highway. If that's what regional government can do, maybe it's worth looking into.

Report TO THE People

Walter Baker, M.P., Grenville-Carleton
The Great Canadian Hangover

Perhaps the kindest thing that can be said of the Prime Minister is that they are irresponsible. At best they have caused considerable confusion and uncertainty at a time when our economy and indeed our country suffers from a surplus of both.

As the year 1975 came to a close ending the worst 12 months of economic performance in this country since the Great Depression, Canadians were struggling to cope with the confusion of an ill-conceived and, so far at least, mismanaged wage and price controls system. They hardly needed the added uncertainty raised by the Prime Minister's vague and thoughtless ramblings about permanent government intervention and some kind of "new section and some kind of 'new society'."

Perhaps it is time the Prime Minister learned or at least accepted that, despite the fact he has spent so much of his life divorced from any concern for day-to-day realities, he no longer is just another academic muse, tossing out Plato-like questions and theories for debate over wine and cheese. That luxury disappears with the responsibilities of office.

Canadians assume and expect that, when they hear the Prime Minister talking, he is giving them the considered views of the government, if not its definite policy and program. It would be dangerous for them to react any other way. It's about time Mr. Trudeau faced up to this basic reality.

Beyond this elementary question of responsibility, probably the most striking aspect of the Trudeau performance is the total lack of any indication that his government has any thought-through or defined policies on the issues he himself tells us are so vital to the future of our society. He raises all kinds of questions - not only about economic policy and controls, but about labour-management relations, pollution, energy conservation, etc. - and tosses all kinds of challenges at business and union leaders over what they are prepared to do. But no where in either the CTV interview or the Canadian Club speech is there any indication that he and his government themselves have any definite policies or sense of direction on these issues.

That's not to suggest that all the responsibility for meeting these genuine problems rests with government. Of course it doesn't. The private sector very much shares that responsibility and it is both fair and reasonable to seek and expect its co-operation in dealing with these problems. But surely government does have some responsibility. Above all, surely it has the responsibility to provide an overall sense of direction in order to achieve the agreed goals. The Prime Minister talks as if he is a spectator in this problem-solving exercise -- or at the most the professor who will sit in ultimate judgment on how well his errand students answered his questions.

If he shows that kind of once-removed attitude about future solutions to problems, he sure as hell can't find much by way of personal association with the causes of those problems. Indeed to hear the Prime Minister tell it, everybody but government is to blame for the economic difficulties now facing the country. To suggestions (from just about every reputable economist) that overly expansionary fiscal and monetary policies have been a major contributing factor, Mr. Trudeau offers a back of the hand and dismissal as a "phony issue."

into the Post as we could up the process had to be speeded up a bit and when the copy was laid down on each page some of it got shuffled around. It's all there - just takes a bit of sorting.

We sat down at coffee break, as we usually do the day the paper comes out, and had a look at the finished product. By the time we had gone through the whole thing there was none of us who hadn't had the finger pointed at him, with the exception of a big grey dog who just stands there, totally disinterested in the printed words, (unless that word is printed on a package of doughnuts.)

We can only hope and try for an improvement this week.

The weather has not been co-operating with Winter Carnival preparations. If it's not too cold it's too icy or too wet. Once we finish with all these extremes of temperature maybe we can get down to doing some snow sculpture and pick a Carnival Prince and Princess. The schools have been closed so much in the last few days that it has been impossible to get enough students

At the same time, however, the Prime Minister says flatly (in his Canadian Club speech): "Every reasonable person now recognized the duty of the federal government to manage the country's economy in the interests of all its people and all its regions." Given that we have an economy with no growth, double digit inflation and rising unemployment, one might be forgiven for concluding that the Trudeau government has either failed in its duty or badly mismanaged. Not so, says the Prime Minister. Perhaps for him, the operative word in his statement is "now", that is, this is a new duty, operative, say, from Thanksgiving Day.

Equally disconcerting, to put it mildly, is the Prime Minister's assertion that we are all going to have to adjust to new values, whether we agree with them or not. Quote from Canadian Club speech: "The choice is there. Either the people do it, change their attitudes, or the government comes in with new regulations."

Whose new values is he talking about? If the people don't fall into line, one assumes it probably will be because they don't fall into line, one assumes it probably will be because they don't accept his version of what the new values should be. In the Trudeau "new society", does that mean that mean these values will be imposed by further government intervention and regulation? A strange concept of democracy and government "of the people" to say the least.

Perhaps when all is said and done, what the Prime Minister had done, above all else, is to provide graphic justification for our Party's refusal to support Bill C-73 with its carte blanche transfer of power for more than three years and its open-ended provisions beyond that. In arguing against the duration of the government program, Mr.

Stanfield and other spokesmen stressed time and again that, if a controls regimen was put into place for that length of time, it would be far too easy for the government to slide into a permanent system of highly centralized economic decision-making, something our Party could not and would not support.

Mr. Trudeau's performance, be it thoughtless, musing or cleverly contrived direction-setting, is further reason to limit the anti-inflation program to the minimum time required to break inflationary expectations and correct the more basic problems of fiscal and monetary policy.

At worst, the Prime Minister is indicating a desire for the kind of long-term centralized control that most Canadians oppose. At best he and his government are exhibiting an incompetence which demands that even short-term powers be held to a minimum.

A.R.D.A. Project Extended

The ARDA project to provide winter employment for rural Ontarians on forest stand improvement of Crown lands is to be extended for the third consecutive year, according to a recent announcement made jointly by Ontario's Minister of Agriculture and Food, the Hon. William G. Newman, and Canada's Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, the Hon. Marcel Lessard.

The purpose of the program is to employ rural people in the development of Crown lands for forestry and wildlife purposes in Southeastern, Central and Northern Ontario. During the last two winters the program provided 5,000 jobs for people living in these areas who otherwise would have been unemployed. This year some 2,000 people will be hired for work in tree planting and forest stand improvements.

A $1,300,000 ARDA grant, to be provided on a 50-50 cost-sharing basis by both senior governments under the terms of the Federal-Provincial Rural Development Agreement, will cover the wages and travel expenses of the workers, and on-the-job maintenance and supervision by field staff of the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources.

The project, which was strongly recommended by the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Rural Development Branch of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food, is expected to provide subsequent long-term employment opportunities through the general development of forestry areas and recreation facilities on these lands.

into one place at one time to select a Prince.

And speaking of the Winter Carnival, John McAllister and Ron Fader are still on the hunt for entertainers of all kinds for the Amateur Night next Wednesday. It's not too late to make a bid for fame and fortune on the stage. (Well, at least fame if nothing else.)

Last week's cold weather combined with the 30 mile per hour wind to make a wind chill factor of nearly 60 below zero, so you can understand how we might have wondered when we saw a couple of comfortable lawn chairs outside the door of each unit of Norm Grace's Iroquois Motel. The motel does have a nice view of the shopping centre and it might be interesting to sit and watch the world go by, but in this weather no view is that good, even if the motel does have a southern exposure. We're waiting to see Norm outside chipping through the ice on the pool so he can go for a swim. Then we'll know for sure that he's ready for a vacation

Random thoughts

By BILL SMILEY
SOME random observations this week on a variety of topics, none of them world-shaking. If you are short of either time or patience, turn to the classified ads for some real entertainment.

For about 10 days over the holidays I had my grandson. Or rather, he had me. At his beck and call. For about 12 hours a day. He's at that very interesting stage where he's learning to talk, fast. You know, putting phrases together, repeating everything he hears, understanding most of what you say, but not yet quite ready to carry on a conversation.

Two phrases, however, he has down pat. The first is: "Come on!" delivered in a peremptory tone and accompanied by a firm grasp of a chubby fist on my index finger. This comes immediately after I have settled down with my paper and a beer and lighted a cigarette. It means he wants assistance in building a pyramid or getting his glass of "dooce" (anything from milk to orange juice) or letting the "ky-cat" in for another session of torture.

What it really means, of course, is that he has a distinct aversion to Granddad retiring from the action.

The second phrase, delivered in a piteous tone, is "Help me" accompanied by a forlorn look and a tug at any portion of my anatomy available. This means he wants me to plug in the tree lights, or hold him up so he can watch the record twirling on the turntable or reach something he can't and wants to break.

WHY DON'T the Conservatives make their leadership race just that? Put the entire 18 or 36 or whatever of them on a track at the summer Olympics, send them off, and the last man to fall flat on his face becomes their leader. It would make just as much sense as choosing them by ballot, which is also a process of finding the guy or gal with the best wind.

Personally, I'd like to see Flora MacDonald have a shot at it. The result might be worse than the massacre of Glencoe, but if 50 per cent of the voters are women, it would give them a chance to stand up and be counted. And I think it would terrify Pierre.

One guy I would hate to see win the leadership would be Paul Hellyer. If he won it, the Tories could kiss their hopes goodbye for another decade. Here's his record. Liberal cabinet minister; ran for Liberal leadership, lost, sulked, resigned as minister; formed his own rightist Action Canada party, a total flop; joined Conservative party; undistinguished Tory MP; lost his seat in 1974. If the Tories chose him as leader, it would illustrate nothing more than their unquenchable belief in the infallible powers of snake oil as a remedy.

Still on politics, I was sorry to see Dave Barrett lose in B.C. He has one of those qualities so carefully hidden by most politicians — a sense of humor. Maybe he went too far too fast, but he added a lot of zest to the national political scene.

And speaking of the Olympics, I learn without horror and, sadly, without surprise, that the Quebec government has diverted some 400 million dollars from the James Bay project to bail out the 1976 Olympics. How does that grab you? And that's only a drop in the big bucket with the bigger hole in the bottom.

SOMETHING that rather shook me was the widespread hatred of teachers that emerged when Toronto high school teachers went on strike. I don't think the word is too strong.

At a time when doctors were noisily demanding more money, teachers were accused, virulently, violently, and viciously, of being "unprofessional" in going on strike. The strike was perfectly legal, yet the teachers were called everything but child-molesters.

Letters to the editor ran about 90 per cent against teachers. Columnists and editorial writers made no attempt to be objective, and used warped figures, arrant sentimentality, personal vindictiveness and appeals to the emotions to turn the public against teachers. Strange.

I can understand some of it as pure resentment. I pity the mother whose entire social life is disrupted by a couple of hulking teenagers hanging around the house when they should be in school.

students, heading for higher education, who lost a couple of months. And for the working parents who have to go out and leave the house at the mercy of that 16-year-old lump lying in bed.

But I can't quite understand the sheer, naked hatred that emerged. I went through school, and I didn't then, and don't now, hate any of my teachers.

I felt sorry for some of them. We could make Miss Graydon, our French teacher, cry at the drop of a chapeau. Poor Dr. Wheatly, with a Ph.D. in science, couldn't keep order. But I admired some of them, like Old Flem, with whom I still communicate, and who has challenged me to a ski cross-country race. And I almost loved some. Old Mary Walker, who used to strap me three times a week. Laura Walker, my first-grade teacher, gentle, kind, bright, Katie Johnston, who instilled in me a love of literature.

Not a sadist or a bully or a sneak among the lot of them. Strange, that hatred.

OBITUARY

Tousaw

Norma Reta Tousaw, of 18 St. Lawrence Street, wife of the late Ivan McKensy Casselman died at Winchester Hospital on Thursday January 15th 1976. She was born in Matilda Township on November 24, 1909, the daughter of Ansel and Martha Tousaw. She attended public school at Haddo and high school at Iroquois. She went on to Normal school at Ottawa and taught school for four years following her graduation.

She has resided in Morrisburg since 1949 and was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in that village.

She married Ivan McKensy Casselman on Dec. 3, 1933 and the couple had two sons, Richard Brent, of Oakville and Brian Ivan at home. She is also survived by three brothers, Roy Tousaw of Iroquois and Clayton and Earl Tousaw, both of Brockville, and a granddaughter, Erynn Lynn Casselman of Oakville. She was predeceased by another brother, Ralph Tousaw in January 1975.

Funeral services were conducted at Fitzsimmons Funeral Home

McIntosh

Walter Keith McIntosh passed away at Winchester District Memorial Hospital in his 66th year. His father Frank Bruce, his mother Sarah Ann Loughridge and one brother Hartly also predeceased him. He is survived by one sister, Grace Strader at home. This farm has been in the McIntosh name one hundred and fifty seven years.

The funeral service was held at Fairbairns Funeral Home, Morrisburg and from there to the vault at Dixons Corners.

Burial will be in the spring at Dundela Cemetery.

Committee Discusses Cafeteria Policy

The issue of so-called 'junk' food in the cafeteria at Seaway District

High School was one of the subjects discussed at last week's meeting of the School Committee. Charlie Arthurs, a representative of CAMCO, operators of the school cafeteria was present at the meeting to explain the company's position in regard to operation of the food outlet.

He explained that the Seaway cafeteria was not financially viable without the revenue derived from the 'junk' vending machines. Junk food includes such items as candy bars, potato chips, soft drinks and gum. Mr. Arthurs went on to explain that little could be done to change the situation.

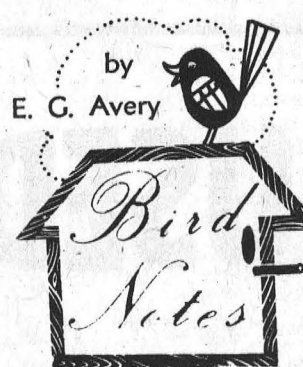

Discussion took place on the topic of special events at Seaway where food is involved and Mr. Arthurs explained that the company was willing to be flexible and make compromises. He felt that on special occasions, food could be brought in privately with prior notification.

School Committee members were also concerned that Seaway is one of the only high schools in S.D.&G. that does not receive a 'kickback' in the form of a bursary from CAMCO. These are usually awarded in proportion to the amount of food sold in that school. Principal C.C. Hart felt that in order to be fair, all schools in the board should be treated equally by CAMCO in regard to bursaries. Trustees Findlay and Mellan, however stated that they personally were not in favour of this concept, and that this was a concern to the board.

Two recommendations came out of the meeting - 1) that cheese fruit and juice be sold inside the main cafeteria so as to encourage use of these foods. 2) That the Board clarify its position vis-a-vis bursaries as a few schools are being shortchanged and treated inequally.

Lorne Mellan, a trustee for the S.D.&G. Board informed the committee that the Independent Order of Odd Fellows were willing to sponsor one Seaway student on a Youth Pilgrimage to the United Nations in July. Students who are interested are to be chosen at a competition in the near future.

The public is urged to attend the next meeting of the School Committee on February 26th at 7:30 as Mr. Labelle will be presenting a brief 'hands on' metric workshop. The meeting will be held in the school library.

The end of January is in sight, and a brief resume of the month could be given in one word: cold! Activity at the feeders during those extremely cold days was limited, as most birds seem to summer greatly with cold feet. They stayed for a few minutes to eat, trying to keep their toes warm by drawing them up into the feathers, one foot at a time, then away they would go to the nearest evergreen tree for shelter.

The Starlings seem to be the only ones to do anything practical in the way of solving this problem; they form a 'hot-stove-league' on the brick chimneys. However, it is worth noting that of all the birds which choose to spend the winter this far north the Starlings appear to be the most miserable. Chickadees and Tree Sparrows seem to be the least affected by chilly temperatures, high winds, or any other of winter's bag of tricks.

Perhaps it is wishful thinking to mention signs of Spring, but on all-day rain, and a Starling with a yellow bill somehow give one the assurance that winter is not forever.

We can tolerate blizzards, and mountainous snow banks as part of the game, but sub zero readings, whether C. or F., are strictly for the Penguins!

Groups Donate to Senior Citizens

Plans are shaping up for the official opening of the senior citizens apartments in Iroquois on February 13th. Dignitaries from all branches of government will be on hand for the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Several organizations in and around Iroquois have already contributed gifts to the senior citizens for the common areas of their residence, and more are making plans to do so. Fitzsimmons Fader Furniture has donated a walnut finished wooden deacon's bench for use in the front foyer of the building and the Helping Hands senior citizens group

Phone Service Disrupted

Telephone service to approximately 60 homes in Iroquois was disrupted last Thursday night and was not restored until around 10:00 a.m. on Friday. Barry Mason, Manager for the Brockville and Smiths Falls areas told the Post that the problem occurred when a switch failed in the equipment installed in the switching centre on Davis Drive in Iroquois.

The problem could have been corrected earlier according to Mr. Mason since it was relatively simple, but no one reported their loss of service until Friday morning.

Hydro to Cut Costs

Some facilities that have been made available by Ontario Hydro will no longer apply as of March 1. These include the rental of automatically operated security lights for farm, commercial and residential rural properties. Service will, however, be continued to existing customers. In future, customers will be required to purchase security lights from private contractors.

In addition, Ontario Hydro will no longer sell or rent Cascade water heaters for new installations. Customers wishing to obtain these will be required to purchase them privately. Customers presently renting water heaters can continue to do so with full service maintained until satisfactory alternative arrangements can be made.

These policy changes apply only to the 720,000 customers served directly by Ontario Hydro in its rural and local systems and do not apply to the approximately 2 million customers served by municipal utilities.

The estimated capital reduction by the withdrawal of the facilities is expected to exceed $5 million annually, and is part of Ontario Hydro's program to cut costs in support of the current anti-inflation campaign.

Manure Best Fertilizer for Grass and Corn

by Bill Curnoe
Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology

Of the common crops in Ontario corn and pure grass stands respond best to manure because of their high nitrogen requirements. Small grains have a low nitrogen requirement while legumes manufacture their own supply.

Best results are obtained by applying manure during the spring on corn land, followed by spring plowing. In the fall, it should be plowed down when possible to save nutrient value for next year and to encourage a more rapid decomposition. This is especially advantageous for corn, but may cause a lodging problem when amounts of manure are excessive.

Storage limitations may require winter spreading which is the least favourable time. Put it on grass meadows; keep it on level areas to reduce the usually large nutrient runoff in the spring.

Legumes do not utilize the nitrogen in manure well, since they draw most of their nitrogen from the air. In addition, manure tends to smother legume seedlings when applied at rates high enough to meet phosphorus and potassium needs of the crop. Manure also promotes grass and weed growth which lowers the quality of the forage.

Remember, the results of manure spreading are long term. Manure was the first slow release fertilizer.

RENT REVIEW

IMPORTANT DATE CHANGES

Key rent review deadlines for LANDLORDS and TEN-ANTS have been extended as of January 16, 1976. Here are the new dates:

- For tenancy agreements taking effect on or after July 30, 1975 and up to and including December 31, 1975. TEN-ANTS wishing to dispute increases up to eight per cent for that period must make application on the appropriate form by February 29, 1976.
- For tenancy agreements taking effect on or after July 30, 1975 and up to and including December 31, 1975. LAND-LORDS wishing to charge more than eight per cent over the rent charged during the last full month prior to August 1, 1975, for the above period, must make application on the appropriate form by February 29, 1976.
- If the LANDLORD and TENANT do not agree on a rent increase above the eight per cent guideline, and do not apply to have the rent for that period reviewed, the TENANT is entitled to a rebate of any rent paid in excess of eight per cent by February 29, 1976.
- The maximum rent LANDLORDS may charge tenants after January 1, 1976 for all tenancy agreements which became effective on or after July 30, 1975 is eight per cent more than the rent charged during the last full month prior to August 1, 1975. A landlord collecting more than this contravenes the rent review legislation and may, on summary conviction, be fined up to $2,000.

- In respect to tenancy agreements taking effect on or after July 30, 1975 and up to and including April 30, 1976, LANDLORDS wishing to charge more than eight per cent for any period after January 1, 1976 must make application on the appropriate form by February 29, 1976.
- For tenancy agreements taking effect on or after January 1, 1976, TENANTS wishing to dispute any increase must make application on the appropriate form by February 29, 1976, or 60 days after receiving a notice of increase, whichever comes last.

RENT REVIEW FORMS

- Until the rent review offices are in operation, TENANTS and LANDLORDS may obtain forms from offices of the Ministry of Housing, Ministry of Natural Resources (northern affairs branch offices only), Ministry of Revenue assessment offices, Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations and Ontario Housing Corporation branch offices in Sudbury, Thunder Bay, Ottawa, Cambridge, Hamilton and London. Check your telephone directory for the local address.

- Mail the COMPLETED forms to Rent Review at the postal box designated for the municipality in which your accommodation is located.

by Ross Mutton

Last Thursday night, I sat down to watch the debut of The Diane Stapley Show with the feeling of, well, here goes another CBC attempt at a variety show. We've all seen those CBC Toronto song and dance routines that just never seem to work. Well, I was in for a surprise. I found Diane Stapley an entertaining singer who certainly deserves national exposure. I didn't recognize her guest by her name, Julie Amatoe. But when I saw her, I immediately knew her from her various commercials. As it turns out, her delightful voice, that sounds like laughing sandpaper, is quite capable of song.

The only unfortunate aspect was the inclusion of the old CBC standard of three dancing singers cavorting around the studio. At least their participation was kept to a minimum. On the whole, it is a well-produced half hour from CBC Winnipeg. They could well prove that Toronto doesn't have to produce every program. At the recent CRTC hearings in Toronto, a free-lance television producer, David Ruskin, presented plans for an all-news FM network of radio stations across Canada. The first phase would involve setting up stations in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, London and Winnipeg, followed by stations in Saint John N.B., Halifax and St. John's Nfld. Much of radio news currently emanates from the facilities of Canadian Press.

The all news network would have their own reporters across the country, offering an alternative to the news. The news centre would be in Ottawa. Through the addition of more transmitters, it is planned to cover 85 percent of the Canadian audience within 5 years.

WHAT'S COMING
Wednesday at 8 p.m. on This Land John and Janet Foster take us on a canoe trip through Rocky Mountain National Park. They also comment on the encroachment of the increasing human population on the park's resources. That's on Ch. 4. At 9 p.m., Global opens a 15 week series, "Invitational Golf." This series, shot at Novleton Lakes Golf Course presents teams of an Ontario pro golfer, a celebrity and two amateur golfers. And at 9:30, James Coco and Geraldine Brooks debut in a new situation comedy series, Dimples. That's also on Global as well as Ch. 5.

On Thursday night, Keith Hampshire joins Diane Stapley on Ch.

4 at 7:30. At 9 p.m., Danny Thomas returns with a new comedy series, Practice. It's about a West-Side Manhattan physician whose lower class practice is scorned by his Park Avenue son. At 10 p.m., Ch. 18 presents Hometown Saturday Night, a band concert that features turn of the century ragtime music.

On Friday at 8 p.m. Ch. 7 continues its circus series with Jack Klugman hosting Circus of Lions from Manchester, England. At 8:30 Ch. 18 presents Live From Lincoln Centre. The music of of Berlioz, Richard Strauss and Grieg is performed by Andre Previn and the New York Philharmonic with Van Cliburn at the piano. At 9 p.m., the '69 movie Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice is shown on Ch. 7. It stars Natalie Wood, Robert Culp, Elliot Gould and Dyan Cannon. And Midnight Special at 1 a.m. features the Fifth Dimension, Janis Ian and Tom T. Hall on Ch. 5.

CTV's Saturday Night Movie is Kluge, starring Jane Fonda and Donald Sutherland. It's on at 8:00 on Ch. 13. CJOH's Midnight Movie is the Glenn Miller Story, starring James Stewart and June Allyson. This 1954 film traces the life of the American band leader of the '30's and '40's.

On Sunday afternoon, CTV presents the Midget Hockey Tournament at 3 p.m. At 5 p.m., Science Magazine with David Suzuki returns on Ch. 4. This week's program looks at the influence of the environment on learning and brain development. At 8:00, Sonny reunites with Cher as once again we have the Sonny and Cher on Ch. 13. At 11:40, Platform examines the UFO question with a group of people who have made UFO sightings. That's on Ch. 4.

On Monday night, The Rich Little Show debuts on Ch. 13 at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday night, City of Angels debuts at 10 p.m. on Ch. 4. Wayne Rogers (formerly of MASH) stars as a private eye in Los Angeles during the 1930's.

And finally, for Avenger's fans, Diana Rigg and Patrick Macnee have reunited for a new version of the series that has gone into production in London.

Former Rector Inducted

Rev. Allan Rogers, the former rector at St. John's Anglican Church in Iroquois was inducted last Sunday as Rector of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Overbrook in Ottawa. Mr. Rogers is also Ottawa's Chaplain to the Aging and will be remembered by readers as a man who gave so much to the senior citizens from all denominations in Iroquois and area.

Following the Induction service a supper reception was held in the church hall. The Post joins with Mr. Rogers many friends in wishing him continued success at his new parish.

Snoworama

clubs all along the route to Brockville will be taking part as well, by manning check-points, road crossings, and food booths. As well amateur radio club members in Prescott will be providing a communications facility to keep track of snowmobiles as they travel from one check point to another.

Apart from raising much needed funds to develop local and provincial rehabilitation services for physically handicapped children, Snoworama is designed to show that in careful hands, snowmobiles provide safe, enjoyable winter recreation without causing harm to the environment.

O.P.P. Report

Ontario Provincial Police have laid charges against four people in the last week for violations of the liquor act. All four were charged with having liquor in a motor vehicle. In addition, one person was charged with impaired driving. Police remind all motorists that they will not overlook such infractions and that is an offence to have liquor in a motor vehicle.

A Toronto truck driver received minor cuts and bruises on Friday when he lost control of the truck he was driving and went into the median on Highway 401, several miles west of the Dundas County Line.

Phillip Robb passed a vehicle on the highway and pulled back into the driving lane too quickly, losing control of his vehicle and causing it to end up in the median. The truck suffered damage estimated at $6,000. The load of steel he was carrying stayed in the median for several days and was removed early this week.

Area Men on County Council

Several area politicians have been named to boards or groups on which the United Counties Council has representation. Matilda Reeve George Cooper was appointed for a one-year term to the Advisory Roads Committee, while Deputy Reeve Harry Small was appointed to the board of the Children's Aid Society.

Williamsburg Township Reeve J.C. Whitteker was named to the board of the St. Lawrence Sanatorium; Edward Hanson also of Williamsburg Township council was named as a representative to the Social Services Advisory Committee and the Seaway Valley District Hospital Planning Board. Winchester Reeve, Walter Shad-bolt was named to the Board of Health.

We wish to bid farewell to all our friends in Iroquois and area. We have thoroughly enjoyed our years spent here and are looking forward to living in Brockville. Please feel free to visit us at 784 Comstock Crescent, Brockville.

Sincerely, Claudia, Ron and Todd Newman.

Paul Cordes moves out of his net to thwart two hungry Ottawa Old Pros.

Delage Chalks Up 4 Goals

Old Timers Hold Their Own

The Ottawa Pros were heavy favourites last Friday evening when they faced-off against the Morrisburg Old Timers in one of the highlights of the Morrisburg Lions Winter Carnival.

Ottawa managed to maintain an illusion of superiority for a full five minutes into the first period peppering Morrisburg goalie Joe Billings with shots and opening the scoring at 6:31 of the first period. Billings' excellent display of goal tending allowed his team to regain their composure and tie the game at 13:28 with a picture goal by Jim Notman assisted by Orval Delage and Larry Gardner.

Both teams played an exciting brand of hockey for the remainder of the game with the lead changing hands several times. Ottawa held a 2-1 lead at the end of the first and increased it to 3-1 early in the second. The home team responded in an aggressive style which produced four unanswered goals in the second to give them a 5-3 lead. Guy Hart slid one past Ottawa's Coxen at 5:05 with Orval Delage chalking up his second, third and fourth of the night in quick succession.

Paul Cordes took over Morrisburg's net minding chore half way through the second and held Ottawa at bay until 16:16 when Derek Holmes tallied, followed by Gray with only 25 seconds to go in the period.

The teams skated onto the ice for the third period with a 5-5 tie.

The partisan crowd voiced their approval as playing coach Jim Notman put his Morrisburg team in the lead early in the third.

Ottawa's Watter's tied the score a minute later setting the stage for an exciting final, five minutes as each team pressed for an advantage.

Thibadau banged home the winning goal for Ottawa with five minutes to go and superb goal tending at both ends of the ice left Ottawa with the victory.

Book Club Meets

The Group of Seven Book Club met at the home of Sylvia Fryer, January 7, for the regular monthly meeting. The meeting was chaired by Mrs. M. Lewis.

Dorothy Birchmore, the reader for the month, reviewed the book "Hidden for a Thousand Days" by Sarah Vetter as told to Ray Sonin. This was the story of a Jewish family in Holland during the last war. They waged their own smaller battle to keep together and to survive until friends gathered and to survive until freedom was attained. This they did and are now enjoying a new life in Toronto.

Action was fast paced around the Morrisburg net in the second period as Ottawa tried to rally and overcome a 5-3 deficit
