An Industrious Prisoner

Mr. S. Barrie and several others in town have recently received letters from a supposedly Belgian prisoner, making a very pitious appeal for help for his wife and child. He offers to make rings and other souvenirs of the war at the rate of one shilling each. The prisoner fails to make any explanation of how he happens to be a prisoner of war in Holland from which country his letters have come.

Induction at Dunbar

On Thursday last at Dunbar the ceremony of the induction of Rev. Chas. A. Mullin B. A. into the charge of Dunbar and Chesterville Presbyterian Churches took place before a large congregation made up of the members of both places. Rev. D. A. Ferguson of Williamsburg preached the sermon assisted in the service by Rev. C. Sorenson of Dunbar and Rev. T. Meredith of Elma. Rev. K. A. Gollan of Morewood addressed the people and Rev. H. Cameron of addressed the minister. The congregations of both churches are very enthusiastic in their reception of Rev. Mr. Mullin and it is felt that under his guidance the Presbyterian Church in this district will be restored to the place of prominence which it formerly held.

Organizing Big Live Stock Show For Chesterville

At a meeting of the Driving Park Association on Friday evening last initial steps were taken for the organizing of an extensive live stock show for Chesterville, which should prove of great advantage to all stockmen within a considerable distance of this place. While the project is still in the development stages it is starting out with approval and backing of both the Ayrshire and Holstein breeders' clubs. The Ormstown show is taken as the pattern and men who know, say that every requisite is here for developing a show second to none.

The plan favored was that the Driving Park Association should become incorporated under the name of The Chesterville Live Stock Association and endeavor to sell sufficient stock throughout the section to build stabling accommodation sufficient for a year or two to allow the show to get on its feet. This stock should be good buying as the assets held by the association now represent much more value than the new stock will amount to.

The Driving Park Association is in a good position financially having a cash balance in the bank and no liability other than the mortgage on the property which has been considerably reduced.

The live stock show will bring together breeders of all the different breeds of cattle and horses and bring into touch with them others interested who are looking to improve their herds and will consequently create a high class market for the different kinds where buyers and sellers will be in close contact. This feature has proven of great value at Ormstown, instances of it being given by Mr. James Ballantyne of Montreal, owner of the Evie Stock Farm at Colquhoun, who was present at the meeting. Mr. Ballantyne thinks there could be no more suitable place than Chesterville for a successful show. Yesterday Mr. Vene Robinson with Mr. Ballantyne went to Ormstown to look over the plant there and get a good idea of the style of buildings required and all other information which would likely be of use in starting out right here.

When more information is gained it is likely that a mass meeting will be called and the whole proposition laid before the farmers and breeders for their consideration.

The Late John Taylor

There passed away after a lingering illness, one of the oldest citizens of the community on Sept. 29th when Mr. John Taylor of Grantley passed away in his 92nd year. He came from Ireland in his boyhood days and located in Quebec and spent a number of years in Valleyfield as foreman of the Paper Mills. Wishing to change his occupation he came to Ontario and located on the farm on which he died. He was a man of sterling qualities, a Liberal in politics, a Presbyterian in religion, and always ready to lend a helping hand to the needful.

The funeral was held at the home on Monday Oct. 1st and was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stewart of Finch after which the remains were taken to Pleasant Valley Cemetery and placed beside his wife who predeceased him 18 years ago.

He leaves to mourn five daughters and two sons—Mrs. James Lyle and Miss Ida of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Jane Carr at home, Mrs. Albert Bush, Massena, N. Y. Mrs. Henry Elliott of The Boyne, Alex. at home and William “some where in France.” To the family we extend our sympathy.

RED CROSS WORK

As it is hoped that the list of subscribers to Red Cross in the I.O.O.F. campaign will be published next week, all in arrears in their payment of same are requested to forward to the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Lawson, the amounts promised so that the list may be complete.

It is also requested that those who subscribed at Lieut. O'Brien's meeting last winter, and whose subscriptions remains unpaid will attend to the matter at once. Since the last acknowledgement in regard to the above fund Miss Wyda Marcellus has paid her subscription $2.00, thus completing her subscription of $5.00. Mrs. Mary Hayes paid $1.00, completing her subscription of $2.00.

Taking Time to Think It Over.

A Tragedy in Real Life

A Mutual Life insurance agent urged a certain man to sign an application for $5000 insurance protection. The man replied—“Give me Sunday to think it over.” Instead of thinking it over on Sunday, the young man went away on a motorcycle trip and, meeting with an accident, lost his life.

Leaving the signing of the application 48 hours cost his dependent relatives $5000, a sum which would have been a wonderful blessing to them.

Life is just as uncertain during the days of procrastination as later. Insure now, and do not make your family take chances for another day.

175 Canadians Have Recently

Escaped From Germany

London, Oct. 16—Five Canadians have reached London after escaping from Germany. They are: Private 27088, H. McArthur, member of a Toronto battalion; Corporal, 132527, E. Cunningham, Montreal Highlanders; Privates, 109477, W. L. Master; 109331, John Evans; 1310 J. Watts, Mounted Rifles.

Cunningham was captured in September of last year on the Somme. McArthur was taken at the second battle of Ypres. When seen by the Canadian Press Cunningham declares that Germany is on the verge of a revolution, conditions of food and clothing being terrible. He witnessed riots of soldiers and civilians in Dusseldorf when two civilians were shot. The Germans expect an armistice by Christmas and the end of the war in February. They imagine conditions in England, regarding food, are as bad as they are with them. Cunningham was captured while making a sortie with sixteen others. When ten yards from the enemy trenches an officer and eleven men were killed the remainder being taken prisoners, but all except Cunningham were killed on the way to the German rear by the British artillery. During the sortie he received a bayonet wound in the leg.

He was taken before a German general who showed him a book containing records of the Canadian army in France, and pressed him for information, concerning reinforcements. Next morning he was taken to the German headquarters and into a dugout a hundred and fifty feet deep. Subsequently he was taken to Cambrai. He was in a hospital there for ten days. He was three days without food on his journey to the prison camp at Dulmen.

He was inoculated four times vaccinated six times, isolated for a month, and then put sinking pumps for wells. His food largely consisted of some kind of meal tasting like paraffine. Here he met McArthur, and they arranged to escape together, and with a South African soldier who spoke German, lowered themselves from the barracks.

They walked to the station and asked for three tickets to a certain place, which were issued readily. They arrived safely and walked through the village, and rested until night in a small wood. Continuing their journey, they encountered the first line countries and crossed the frontier without mishap. The British consul looked after them well. In speaking of the shortage of soap in Germany, Cunningham says he sold a small tube of shaving soap for twenty marks. He paid ten and a half marks for a hat, two and a half marks for a collar, sixty-five marks for a pair of boots of compressed paper.

A hundred and seventy-five out of two hundred recently escaped from Germany are Canadians, all being returned to Canada.

PLOUGHING A NEGLECTED ART Advantage of Taking Special Care With Fundamental Farming Operation.

The art of ploughing, if not lost, has certainly been much neglected during recent years and very few of the younger generation of farmers have really acquired it. In travelling through the country one sees repeated evidences of the lack of interest in this very important branch of tillage operations. Ploughing, as the first and heaviest operation in preparing the soil to receive the seed, should receive particular attention.

Many attribute the present-day lack of interest in ploughing to the advent of the two-furrow and machine plough. In using two-furrow or machine ploughs it is necessary first to acquaint oneself with the workings and the mechanism of the plough, to be thoroughly familiar with it when in operation; little or no difficulty will then be experienced in obtaining satisfactory results. A plough suitable to the soil should be chosen. If the soil is loamy, and requires to be turned flat, choose a plough with sufficient width of share, a board with ample turning capacity a beam high enough to permit the use of the jointer when turning under green or coarse manure and sufficient length of handles to enable the ploughman to control it with ease. If the soil is heavy and inclined to cement, use a narrow plough, one that will set the soil up, give a good harrow edge, and have sufficient press to the board to place the furrow over so that it will not fall back. In using either a single or a two-furrow plough, care should be taken to turn over the whole furrow and to leave no part unploughed. Get away from the cut-and-cover plan. Teach the boys that anything worth doing is worth doing well, especially ploughing. The old adage that more grain grows on crooked furrows than on straight ones is a poor incentive, and is not helpful in building up a reputation as a model farmer. Plough the back field as carefully as the field adjoining the road, and see that all fields are ploughed in such a way as to attract attention by their neatness. It is cheap and efficient advertising. Good ploughing pays; if a fair crop can be grown on a field which has been poorly ploughed, a better crop can be grown on a well ploughed field.

Feeding and Care For Winter Layers.

The chief aim of the poultry keeper at this time of year is the production of Winter eggs and the course followed by many in endeavoring to hit the mark is that of excessive feeding—very often without sufficient regard for other items that are of importance. One of the first requirements for success in this direction is the selection of early-hatched pullets and the second in the provision of comfortable Winter quarters, while the matter of regularity in feeding should receive as much attention as that of providing a sufficiency of feed without waste.

In planning for the wintering of the entire flock of the farm, or poultry establishment, a distinction between the layers and breeders must be made in the matter of feeding. The pullets should be fed heavily from now (October 10) in preparation for the laying season, while the old hens may be fed sparingly. Exercise is necessary to maintain the health of any bird especially of those receiving a heavy ration so, to enforce this, the grain supply should be fed in a deep litter, night and morning. A mash consisting of bran or middlings, cornmeal, and a little beef scrap may be kept before the pullets with advantage, but should only be offered at intervals to the other birds.

An account should be kept of all expenses and receipts in connection with the flock in Winter, also a record of the date at which each pullet begins to lay and if possible, a count of each bird production of eggs. By this means, if the age of a pullet is known, a proper idea so the advisability of making a special effort to secure Winter eggs may be obtained, also a notion of the age at which birds may be expected to begin to produce profitably.

WAR-TIME THRIFT

Being a Paper Read at the Last Meeting of the Chesterville Women's Institute by a prominent member.

Thrift does not mean "not spending" it means not wasting. It would be a calamity, one of the worst that could befall our country, if we stopped spending and put all our money in our stocking or in our saving-banks. If we did so we would find broad lines of idle starving people. If we want to keep the blessing of prosperity with us, we want to spend our money wisely, normally. The crime of the hour is waste. Hon. Mr. Hanna, our Dominion Food Controller, has stated 65 millions worth of food was being wasted in the garbage cans of Canada annually and that 50 millions of that might be saved by the women of the Dominion. Now this is to be as one of the women said at our meeting the other day "our personal service" or we might call it "the conscription of women" pledged to do their part in this great struggle. In Great Britain many months ago they started out to deal with the question of food conservation and inaugurated a campaign in the interests of thrift and economy. The Organization of Resources Committee formed in 1916 is non political. The Chairman is Sir John Hendrie, the Lieut.-Governor of Ontario. The Vice Chairmen are Sir Wm Hearst, Mr. N. W. Rowell. The first thing the Committee took up was the investigation of the food situation. That was the beginning of April last. They found out through the Dept. of Agricultural and through information from Mr. Herbert C. Hoover, that the food situation was in a perilous condition so far as our soldiers overseas and our Allies were concerned. From a patriotic standpoint it was necessary that the greatest efforts of the country should be put forth during the year 1917 to increase food production. We were asked to plant vacant lots, to utilize every bit of waste ground and we know how nearly every one who could responded to that call. Some ladies who had never handled anything heavier than a tennis-racket took to the hoe and made good. Our next call was to can and preserve everything perishable. It was kept before us continually. In the country south of us every red freight train that went through had the words in large letters printed on it so everyone could see "Can or Collapse" and I am sure we have all "done our bit" in that line. What this same Committee have now asked us to do is to conserve the food produced and to be as economical as we can so that our brave soldiers in the trenches may not have their rations reduced. It has been computed that 90 per cent of the food passes through the hands of the women and that this war will be won by the united efforts of the women of Canada and the United States, in the kitchens and on the dining tables as well as by the boys in the trenches. We were told at our meeting last week that if the soldiers are not to go hungry and if the people at home are not to starve, it will require 460 million bushels of wheat and the food experts find that amount of wheat available if they could draw from India, the Argentine, Australia, United States and Canada—but owing to the shortage of shipping, the distance and submarine menace, which has been growing worse from month to month, they cannot send that tonnage to distant lands for food supplies. The result is Great Britain and her Allies are depending on the United States and Canada for her supplies, but from those two countries there would be forth coming only 300 million bushels of wheat according to the estimate of the Food Controller: that would mean our soldiers at the front would be 160 million bushels short if we indulge in normal consumption on this side of the Atlantic. This is where our part comes in. If we, by being sparing in our use of wheat, bacon and beef can release these for shipment to our men at the front, we will be "doing our bit" and helping to save the situation. That is why we are asked to take this "Food Pledge". Now we would not like to be called a "Nation of Wasters" but we have always had such an abundance of everything that we do not realize what even the smallest things—say even just a slice of bread a day by each family would mean to our country. Food Administrator Hoover has had an expert at work on this very thing—the wasting of one slice of bread a day. He computes it in this way. There are 20 million homes in America. 14 million ounces of flour over 875,000 pounds or enough flour for over a million one pound loaves a day. For a full year at this rate their would be a waste of 1½ million barrels of flour, which would represent flour from over 7 million bushels of wheat, the fruit of nearly 470,000 acres of land. Now, isn't that appalling. Just let us think before throwing away a piece of bread. In the same way they have figured out the waste in meat fats and milk. Now we can see that although we have to remain at home it is largely in our hands to play a deciding part in this great war. There are some simple things we can do to save the wheat. When making bread use one-third corn-meal, oat-meal or rye flour, and use more oat meal, particularly where there are children in the family, as it is regarded as the most nutritious of the cereals. An ordinary soup-plate of cornmeal porridge with plenty of good milk contains as much nutrition as four slices of bread half an inch thick. Cornmeal can also be used as porridge and for Johnny cake and corn pone, etc. Rye meal is the greatest bread-making cereal next to wheat, but it makes a black bread. The enemy has been using it since the beginning of the war. The question might be asked—should we do without cake and pastry? When the war broke out France discontinued their use. With butter 80 cents per lb and eggs 50 cents a dozen we are not apt to transgress very far or get fed up very much on pastry. We are asked to eat less meat; in place of it when possible to substitute vegetables, salted and fresh fish, cheese, milk, eggs, poultry and game, peanuts, peanut butter, beans liver and sweets breads: not to order spring lamb or veal and to save the country's domestic animals as the supply is running short. To save fats by eating fewer fried foods, to use vegetable fats in cooking as glycerin made from fats is one of the chief substances used to make explosives. That is why the world's supply of fats is so low. For fuel, burn less coal, use wood, oil and gas whenever we can and lastly use more fruits and vegetables. Now in summing it all up it is only a matter of substitution for us, true it will require study and thoughtful planning on our part. I feel as if in this respect we are getting back to the pioneer days—the days of our grandmothers. We were getting frivolous and spent too much time in trivial things, now we have our knitting circles and I for my part enjoy them more than most social functions, for besides the social side one feels they are engaged in something helpful to the cause which we all have at heart, and when we think of the women of Great Britain and the women of France and compare the little we are asked to do with the stupendous tasks that are laid upon them—gathering the crops, working in shops and factories—in fact filling a man's place in nearly every capacity, courageously and cheerfully.

When we remember the lives that have been sacrificed and our gallant soldier boys who are daily giving up their all to protect us and our homes we surely will count it a privilege to deny ourselves whatever is required of us to help fight the submarine menace in this latest crisis of the war and render helpful service to the cause of the Allies.

Duties of Drafters Clearly Defined.

The duties of Class One eligibles under the Military Service Act, as defined by the proclamation which has been scattered broadcast over the Dominion, leave but one or two courses which each unmarried man or widower without children, between the ages of 20 and 34, must follow. He must apply for military service or for exemption, and whichever course he takes he must have a physical examination before a medical board. Further, the period within which a man must make up his mind which course he will follow is limited to twenty-five days, from October 15 to November 10, as the latter date is the last day on which exemption application forms will be available at the post offices. Any man, who, by November 10, has not put in an application for exemption, will automatically lose all right to claim exemption regardless of what merits might ordinarily accompany his claims, and such men will be put in the same class as those who declare their willingness to serve. There are to be absolutely no exceptions to this course of procedure, and the only Class One men who evade it will be those who make themselves liable to the extreme penalties of the Act for evasion of duty. Every man comes under the regulations, regardless of his whereabouts or his physical condition, whether he is absent from the country temporarily, in the hospital with a fractured leg, at home suffering from

CAN YOU FEED MORE LIVE STOCK ?

If so you will be interested in conditions under which freight charges will be paid for you on car lots.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is anxious that the splendid crops harvested this fall should be used to best advantage. In many cases this can be done by feeding a few more head of cattle or sheep for breeding purposes. The Department therefore calls attention to the announcement of the Federal Minister of Agriculture offering to pay freight charges on car lots from Eastern Stock Yards to country points.

Please Note These Facts

Individually or in co-operation with your neighbors you can purchase a carload of heifers or ewes or both combined and have them shipped from any eastern Stock Yard to your station without any cost for freight charges. You will be required to make a declaration that the stock is for feeding purposes only.

Any farmer or drover can purchase a carload of cattle for feeding purposes on the Winnipeg market and have them shipped to any country point in Ontario upon payment of only one half the usual freight charges.

Feeding at the Toronto Yards available at Reduced Rates and expert assistance is at disposal of farmers.

"Every effort should be made to bring the surplus stock of some sections to the surplus feed of others. All indications point to a steady demand for meat supplies of this country for some time to come."—Sir William Hearst, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

disease or is a chronic invalid. In cases such as the above, it will be the place of the employer or some near relative to see that the facts are promptly placed before the proper officials.

The necessary application forms are available at the post-offices all over the Dominion and while the proper course for men in the cities will be for them to get their medical examination over first, this does not apply in rural districts. As a matter of fact, the regulations have been drafted mainly for the benefit of rural communities where the medical boards are necessarily widely scattered, and where there may be some doubt as to just where the man should go to be examined. Each applicant when he goes to his postmaster, will tell him whether he wishes to serve or to apply for exemption. The postmaster will then give him the necessary papers to fill out, the papers are left with the postmaster, who in his turn, forwards them to the Central Registrar for the province, and the applicant does not need to pay any more attention to the matter until he receives some notice from the Registrar telling him where and when to apply for medical examination, or where and when to appear for his exemption hearing. This greatly simplifies matters for all men who will have to travel some distance to their medical boards, and who could not be sure of being examined when they did apply. Even if a man lives at some distance from a medical board and wishes to get his examination over first in order to help him determine his attitude towards applying for exemption, it will be quite proper for him to apply personally for such physical examination, and even if he does happen to make a mistake and not get to the nearest board he will not have to be examined again, as the decision of one board holds good.

"I know something I won't tell," sang a little girl, as little girls do. "Never mind, child," said the Savage Bachelor: "You'll get over that habit when you are a little older."

A rather raw servant girl was told to order the family vegetables at the green-grocer's. After booking what was asked for, the tradesman quired: "Will your mistress want any horse-radish to-day? Some 'just in, nice and fresh.'" Tossing her head, Mary Jane said: "No, indeed; we want no such thing. I know. My master keeps a motor car."

A Matter of Choice

If you are a lover of six-cylinder performance, or if your choice is a car equipped with a tried and true four-cylinder engine, you will do well to look into the merits of the Overland Model Eighty-Five.

This is the popular model that is built in both motor designs—either a Four or a Six.

Both are big, comfortable cars. The Four has a wheelbase of 112 inches—the Six 116 inches.

Both are beauties in appearance and in action. Cantilever rear springs and big, roomy seats afford solid riding comfort for five people.

If you have decided to invest in a moderately priced, real family car—one that will stand up under steady service—drop in and ask for a demonstration of this Model Eighty-Five.

Sweater Coats

The season has certainly got around again to Sweater Coat time, even if an odd day is pretty warm. They are fine for mornings and evenings, before you get into the swing of the day's work or when it's over. Boys at school will wear them when they would pitch a coat aside—and catch cold. We have all sizes and many different prices.

Underwear

Fleece Lined Underwear is the best to wear until about the New Year. It is fine and comfortable but has not that clinging feeling like all-wool before the real cold. A couple suits of Fleece Lined and your old woolens would put you pretty near over the winter. We have many other lines to interest you.

The stamps will be used in connection with a plan to interest those who are able to save only in small amounts in the purchase of war savings certificates. The stamps will be in the denomination of 25 cents and the cards will contain spaces for thirty-four of them and one 10-cent postage stamp, making altogether $8.60 and when filled will be exchanged for a certificate entitling the holder to $10 at the end of three years.

For British Red Cross

The congregation of Trinity Methodist Church will be given an opportunity at both services next Sunday to contribute through special envelopes to the British Red Cross. At the evening service the pastor Rev. H. E. Warren in view of the uncertainty in the minds of many young men called to report by the Military Service Act as to their duty in the present crisis, and the course of procedure required by the authorities, will speak upon the present military situation in Canada. Those who are facing these problems, not worshipping elsewhere, are invited to the service.

Storms For End of Month

Washington, Oct. 13.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent Oct. 15 to 19, warm wave 14 to 18, cool wave 17 to 21. This will be a second rate storm. This is a severe, but not a great storm. Its warm wave, to reach meridian 90 near Oct. 13, was expected to go higher degrees than usual and be followed by a great fall in temperatures that will finish killing the late corn and carry frosts into northern parts of the cotton states.
In bulletin dated Sept. 8, mailed to newspapers Sept. 1, we said; "There are some indications that a hurricane will organize east of Porto Rico near Sept. 16 and come into sight of the U. S. Weather Bureau stations four days later." This is another evidence that independent science must fight its way through the opposition of official science and that the latter seldom makes progress. The report issued by the Weather Bureau on Sept. 22 states that the hurricane was then just off the Leward Islands and moving northwest. They sighted it about the 20th as we predicted.
Next warm wave will reach Vancouver about Oct. 20 and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. It will cross crest of Rockies by close of Oct. 21, plains sections 22, meridian 90, great lakes and Ohio valleys Oct. 23, eastern sections 24, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland about Oct. 25. Storm wave will follow about one day behind warm wave and cool wave about one day behind storm wave.
Very cool weather will precede this storm and very warm weather follow it. The forces of this storm will not be great and precipitation will be light. No severe storms are expected till after Oct. 27. From Oct. 22 to 28 will be a good time to sow winter wheat where it is usually sown in the early fall. In the southern states the sowing usually comes later.

Soldiers Who Learn to Perform Daily Duties by the Clock Never Forget Them.

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—One of the strongest recommendations for military life, in the opinion of men back from the front, is that it tends to give one settled habits of living. The soldier has a regular round of daily duties, including lengthy periods for recreation while in training, and he grows used to this method of ordering his existence quickly.

It is a tradition of the race that the easiest way to go through life enjoying oneself is to form good habits, such as regularity in rising, going to bed, eating, shaving and the like. All these are learned by men in the army. Their duties are so ordered that they may perform the day's tasks with the least possible delay and without confusion.

Furthermore, the discipline maintained in the citizen armies which are fighting in the present war is by no means like that of former times, when harshness and severity were considered essential. It has been found out by those who did not realize it at once that the men of the present Allied armies work and fight better when treated as self respecting individuals, each one possessed of his freedom if willing to observe discipline for the good of the whole.

The Approaching General Election

From the Toronto Star Liberal.—In reply to enquiries received it seems necessary to state that the forming of a union Government, including representative men of both political parties throughout Canada does not obviate the necessity for holding a general election at as early a date as possible.

The country will now be without a Parliament until a new one has already been extended for one year, but the proposal for a second extension was dropped when a considerable opposition to it developed.

There will necessarily be a general election, but the difference in the situation will be that the Government that will now appeal to the country for support will be a united Administration composed of representative men of both parties asking approval of their action in forming a non-partisan Ministry for the period of the war.

There is here such a union of leading men of both parties in Canada, sinking their differences while the war lasts, that a general election need not now provoke the violent disturbance that was threatened when a partizan fight seemed inescapable.

The war is the main thing. The forming of the Union Government for war purposes during the war period affords the whole people the opportunity to shove party politics aside and centre attention on the greater affairs of these times.

Not Far Wrong.

Teacher—Now children, what is the purpose of the calendar?

A school teacher, who had often punished a little fellow for talking during lessons, as a last resort decided to inform his father of his son's failing. So, below the conduct mark on his next report were the words: "Tommy talks a great deal."

In due time the report was returned with the father's signature, and under it was written: "He takes after his mother!"

COMMENTS ON NEW UNION GOVERNMENT

From Toronto Globe

"In this time of national crisis, as in the period surrounding confederation, patriotism has broken down the bonds of party. Canada today will have a Union Government. The composition of the Ministry, which is to be sworn in at noon, is not officially announced. If it includes the men whose names are forecasted in today's despatches, it may be taken as an earnest of the intense desire of the political leaders to make Canada's part in the war the supreme issue.

There are many difficulties yet to be faced, but the same spirit which has overcome the obstacles to union ought to triumph in the administration which is to follow. The later official statements today may show that this is a ministry of hope for Canada. The people will await with eager anticipation a declaration by the new Government of its policy. Meanwhile the formation of a strong Union Government, approves of the action of the Liberals—Premier Sifton, Premier Murray and Messrs. Calder, Crerar, Rowell and Carvell—who are reported to have entered it: reserving the right to pass judgment upon its pending announcement of policy and its subsequent measures."

From The Winnipeg Telegram

"The Telegram, in common with every good Canadian, every loyal British subject, sincerely hopes that the new Government may prove to be as loyal, as patriotic, as enterprising and as energetic and efficient in the discharge of its vital duties as its predecessor.

"There are elements in the new Government in which the Telegram has no confidence. This does not prevent the Telegram from honestly hoping that Sir Robert Borden's judgment may yet prove to be correct in all particulars: that those of his new colleagues, whom this paper now distrusts because of their records up to the present, may cease to play the bitter party game, and will give him that loyal, unwavering and energetic support to which he is entitled, and which he received from his former associates and which is essential to his continued success as the leader of Canada's war administration."

From Ottawa Journal-Press

A strong union government has been accomplished in Canada, embracing the full strength of the Conservative party, and so great a proportion of the leaders of the Liberal party that no doubt is left as to the overwhelming feeling in Canada for the most resolute possible prosecution of the war. This must give a deep satisfaction to all patriotic Canadians to whom pride in our British birthright and in our national honor is of greater moment than considerations of party or race. The effort of Canada to help in the vindication of right and justice in the world must now flow on in a tide of fulness overwhelming of all obstacles.

The gratitude of the people of Canada is due to all who have actively contributed to this consummation. Let us all endeavor now to get behind the unionist government generously, forgetting party bitterness and party selfishness until the end of victory in the war is won—and if possible, beyond that.

From Montreal Gazette.

"The formation of a national government by Sir Robert Borden is the achievement of a purpose toward which he has long striven. It was not accomplished easily. Great difficulties were in the way which at times seemed to be insuperable. The nature of those difficulties is obvious to anyone who is at all familiar with Canadian political history of the last ten years. It is credible to all concerned that the obstacles which seemed to render the formation of a union ministry impossible have at last been thrown aside. Too much credit cannot be given to the Prime Minister to whose unwearied persistence and unchanging determination the result of to-day is chiefly due. Few men would have so persisted. His tenacity is the more striking when the incidents which marked the long course of his negotiations are recalled, incidents which might well have excused an abandonment of the whole project. If Sir Robert Borden continued his efforts, it was because of his fixed belief that the formation of a national government would strengthen the arm of Canada for carrying on the war. That was and is his only consideration, and he has unhesitatingly subordinated every other to it. In giving to the Prime Minister the measure of credit which is justly his due, the part by those Liberals who have placed their country before their party is in no sense minimized. These men have, for a period at least separated themselves from official Liberalism in order that they may the better serve their country. They have done this on the eve of a general election, when the demands of party allegiance might be expected to exert their strongest appeal. To them, in these circumstances, will be accorded by most Canadians the credit of obedience to a patriotic motive. Nor has a small part been played by those members of the original Borden Ministry who have withdrawn to make way for men who have been their political opponents.

"The reorganization on so broad a basis of union will undoubtedly have its effect upon the approaching election campaign and to a lesser extent upon the election itself. It is bound to improve the tone of the campaign by materially softening what otherwise threatened to be a partisan struggle of unusual bitterness. The prospect of such a struggle has not been wholly eliminated in as much as there continues to be an official opposition which, under determined and resourceful leadership, will seek to divide the electorate upon the war issue, but the field for their endeavors has been greatly restricted.

It now remains for the reconstructed Government to get to the business for which it is there the aggressive prosecution of the war. Under Sir Robert Borden's leadership the new ministry ought to confer upon Canada all the benefits that have been anticipated from the work of a national government."

Hay Barn Fires.

Perhaps many farmers know that barn fires are frequently caused by spontaneous combustion in sweating hay, and perhaps many of them do not. At any rate, the idea seems to be sufficiently novel to attract the attention of the "New York Journal of Commerce" which devotes considerable attention to fires and insurance matters. And it is also said that sweating hay, when it doesn't cause spontaneous combustion fires, is likely to attract lightning when there is lightning around. This idea is put out in a statement by State Fire Marshal B. B. Buckley of Ohio. He says that the cells in the hay continue to live and breathe for some time after the hay is cut and that, in close, unventilated mows, they heat the hay to a temperature of 132 degrees. Added to this is the heat from the microscopic spores of fungi which grow in the blades and the heat created by the development of the hay seeds. He is quoted by the Journal of Commerce as saying:

"Those three causes acting together may heat hay that is well packed in a close mow where there is no circulation of air to carry off the heat, to a temperature of 212 degrees F., at which water boils. Then the hay begins to char; the charcoal so formed absorbs oxygen and the mass grows still hotter. The heat perhaps reaches 235 degrees F., and the mass blazes. Bran, grain, silage also may ignite spontaneously if placed under similar conditions. Many such barn fires are thus reported: 'Cause unknown; whole barn seemed ablaze at once.'"

The moral is: Keep the hay mows ventilated.

"Before I take the case," said the lawyer, "there is one thing to be looked into."

"I presume," said the client, "you refer to my pocketbook."

504 CHAMPLAIN ST., MONTREAL.
"For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I had frequent Dizzy Spells, and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints, and my hands swollen. A friend advised 'Fruit-a-tives' and from the outset, they did me good. After the first box, I felt I was getting well and I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine that helped me". LOUIS LABRIE.

A Political Ode to Men of Honor

Come all ye loyal Canadian men,
Who love our virgin land;
And join at once with out delay
Our Politician Band.

Now is the time to claim your vote,
And see that you are right
And when at last the day draws near You'll help us in the fight.

Can any man with honest heart;
Hang back from duty's call
Who will not in the battle strive,
To help, the good of all.

Come forward then and see your name
Placed on the voters' roll
That we may gain the victory,
A great and glorious poll.

Remember join A's signal still Appeals to every man
To guard our land from enemies,
With all the might we can.

Come forward then with one accord,
Do not stand there and prate,
To be ashamed of bye and bye—
Our cry should be too late.

Our subtle friends are striving hard,
With promises and lies,
To lead astray the ignorant
Or take them by surprise.

So we must therefore be prepared,
With such a grand array;
That unity and strength and right
Again may win the day.

Ninety-Six Out of Every Hundred Come Back From the War

With the coming of mobilization, many families are unnecessarily distressed by exaggerated reports of the danger of service in modern war. The Star had occasion a few weeks ago to recite the actual mortality figures on the western front. They are not nearly so bad as most persons suppose.

There are cities in the United States where half as many persons per thousand of population die each year as are killed in the fighting in Europe. There is one large Southern city where the death rate is two-thirds that on the battlefield.

These comparisons are not fair, since the population in a city includes babies and old persons, while the fighting men are of an age with a lower death-rate. But they indicate that the mortality is nothing like the conception of our imaginations.

Miles M. Dawson, a leading actuary, reports in the Economic World that the Prudential Company of London has encountered a death rate of 30 to the 1,000 among two million soldiers insured. The French rate is about the same. The normal death rate among men of draft age in the United States is about eight to the 1,000 each year. Instead of one man in one hundred dying, the rate in the army when actively engaged should prove between three and four in one hundred.

Out of every hundred men sent to France, ninety-six or ninety-seven should come back. The man who goes to war does engage in a hazardous occupation. But he is far from committing suicide.

"What Monday?"

The Air as a Career

To many a worried father and mother faced with the problem, "What shall I do with my boy?" the air offers a very satisfactory solution. For by the air thousands of lads today in their teens will gain not only comfortable livelihoods, but really big incomes in the years to come after the war.

Aeroplanes in 1925 are going to be very much what motor cars were in 1900—the rich man's hobby; and the aeroplane industry in its many branches offers splendid opportunities for the right sort of boy who is given the training now to fit him for the keen and expert business life, of say, ten years hence.

Few people to-day fully realize the enormous advance that has been made in aeronautics in the past three years. Air transport is at the moment a real commercial possibility, only denied existence as a commercial fact because every resource and every effort in the aeroplane world is now directed to improving war, instead of peace machines. No one with any knowledge of present day aeronautics would deny that a score of types of slow, safe, heavy weight carrying aeroplanes could be produced in three months' time were the demands of war to cease.

But even before the aeroplane transport—the motor-lorry or van of the air—arrives the sporting aeroplane will be here. Just as the racing motor-car was the rich man's sport in 1914, so the sporting aeroplane will be his sport within eighteen months of the end of the war; and the pioneers of this fad of the future will make even bigger profits than were ever made by the pioneers of the motor-car industry, says the London Daily Mail.

The careful father need not fear that by encouraging in his boy an interest in aeronautics he is leading him on to an early grave. Flying in war-time is fraught with danger because machines are flown that are designed for speed, mobility, and swift manoeuvre, the essentials of a fighting machine. But even to day there are aeroplanes in use for training pilots for the army and navy which are all but "fool-proof"—machines which nothing but sheer accident will cause to "crash."

Accidents will happen to every vehicle. A burst tire on a swiftly moving motor-car, a broken axle on an express train, a faulty frame in a "push" bicycle even, will lead to fatal accidents; there must always be risks, and the risks of the air will not be disproportionate when once science and craft set themselves to the task of making safe flying machines.

And just as every man in the motor-car industry is not a racing driver, so every man in the aeroplane industry will not be a pilot; for each man who flies there must be scores who will work on the ground to prepare his machine for him. The men who work on the ground will be the men who make the money, the men who fly mostly those who spend it.

Aeroplane manufacture entails a vast variety of knowledge, and before the higher grades of the industry—the theory of flight, design, and the many complicated scientific and chemical problems to be solved—are begun, a thorough groundwork of simpler knowledge is essential to the youth who would succeed in the industry of to-morrow.

A good knowledge of woods and metals must be gained, and also a thorough grounding in the theory and practice of the petrol engine—particularly the aero-engine—and a training in draughtsmanship is desirable. Instruction in all these subjects is to be obtained in almost any town or city.

Let the boy begin his career at once; there will be little time to waste when peace does come, and the demand for suitable men to carry on in peace the big aerial industries born in war will be great.

Too Many Encores.

"Dar ain much encouragement," said Uncle Eben, "in forgiving" an enemy who starts sumpin' else every time you forgive 'im."

What Men Like Best in Women.

It is comparatively easy to attract a man, but to hold him and win his respect is another thing. For example, a pretty face and pleasant manner attracts a man, but it is brightness of brain and intellect that hold him. A woman's smile attracts a man, an even temper retains him. An appreciation of the folly of frivolity wins his respect, while a knowledge of how, when and where to be somewhat stately attracts him. Irreverence in woman a man hates; a respect for the religious belief of every human being attracts him.

A continuous consideration for his comfort makes a man your humble slave.

A pretty gown may attract a man. The knowledge that you made it yourself wins his unbounded admiration.

CANADA

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come, or whom the same may in anywise concern—GREETING:

A Proclamation calling out the men comprised in Class 1 as described by the Military Service Act, 1917.

E. J. Newcombe
The Deputy Minister of Justice,
Canada

yond Canada for the defence thereof, at any time when it appears advisable so to do by reason of emergency;

And Whereas that part of our militia of Canada known as the Canadian Expeditionary Force is now engaged in active service overseas for the defence and security of Canada, the preservation of our Empire and of human liberty; and it is necessary owing to the emergencies of the war to provide reinforcements for our said Expeditionary Force in addition to those whose inclination or circumstances have permitted them to volunteer;

And Whereas by reason of the large number of men who have already left agricultural and industrial pursuits in our Dominion of Canada in order to join our Expeditionary Force as volunteers, and by reason of the necessity of maintaining under these conditions the productiveness or output of agriculture and industry in our said Dominion, we have determined by and with the advice and consent of our Senate and House of Commons of Canada that it is expedient to secure the men so required, not by ballot as provided by our said Militia Act, but by selective draft; such re-enforcement, under the provisions of the Military Service Act, 1917, hereinafter referred to, not to exceed one hundred thousand men;

And Whereas it is accordingly enacted in and by the provisions of an Act of our Parliament of Canada, holden in the 7th and 8th years of our reign, and known as the Military Service Act, 1917, that every one of our male subjects who comes within one of the classes described and intended by the said Act shall be liable to be called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada, either within or beyond Canada; and that his service shall be for the duration of the present war and demobilization after the conclusion of the war;

And Whereas the men who are, under the provisions of the said last mentioned Act, liable to be called out, are comprised in six classes of which Class 1 is, by the provisions of the said Act, defined to consist of all our male subjects, ordinarily, or at any time since the 4th day of August, 1914, resident in Canada, who have attained the age of twenty years, who were born not earlier than the year 1883, and were on the 6th day of July, 1917, unmarried, or are widowers but have no child, and who are not within any of the following enumerated

EXCEPTIONS:—

- Members of our regular, or reserve, or auxiliary forces, as defined by our Army Act.
- Members of our military forces raised by the Governments of any of our other dominions or by our Government of India.
- Men serving in our Royal Navy, or in our Royal Marines, or in our Naval Service of Canada, and members of our Canadian Expeditionary Force.
- Men who have since August 4th, 1914, served in our Military or Naval Forces, or in those of our allies, in any theatre of actual war, and have been honourably discharged therefrom.
- Clergy, including members of any recognized order of an exclusively religious character, and ministers of all religious denominations existing in Canada at the date of the passing of our said Military Service Act.
- Those persons exempted from military service by Order in Council of August 13th, 1873, and by Order in Council of December 6th, 1898;

And Whereas it is moreover provided by our said Military Service Act that our Governor-General of Canada in Council may from time to time by proclamation call out on active service as aforesaid any class of men in the said Act described, and that all men within the class so called out shall, from the date of such proclamation, be deemed to be soldiers enlisted in the military service of Canada and subject to military law, save as in the said Act otherwise provided; and that the men so called out shall report and shall be placed on active service in the Canadian Expeditionary Force as may be set out in such proclamation or in regulations; but that they shall, until so placed on active service, be deemed to be on leave of absence without pay;

And Whereas it is also provided by the said Act that at any time before a date to be fixed by proclamation an application may be made, by or in respect of any man in the class to be called out, to one of our local tribunals, established in the manner provided by the said Act in the province in which such man ordinarily resides, for a certificate of exemption from service upon any of the following

GROUND OF EXEMPTION:—

- That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should, instead of being employed in military service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged;
- That it is expedient in the national interest that the man should, instead of being employed in military service, be engaged in other work in which he wishes to be engaged and for which he has special qualifications;
- That it is expedient in the national interest that, instead of being employed in military service, he should continue to be educated or trained for any work for which he is then being educated or trained;
- That serious hardship would ensue, if the man were placed on active service, owing to his exceptional financial or business obligations or domestic position;
- Ill health or infirmity;
- That he conscientiously objects to the undertaking of combatant service, and is prohibited from so doing by the tenets and articles of faith in effect on the sixth day of July, 1917, of any organized religious denomination existing and well recognized in Canada at such date, and to which he in good faith belongs;

And that if any of the grounds of such application be established, a certificate of exemption shall be granted to such man.

And Whereas moreover it is enacted in and by the provisions of an Act of our Parliament of Canada holden in the 7th and 8th years of our reign and known as the War Time Elections Act that certain persons thereby disqualified from voting with such of their sons as on polling day are not of legal age, shall be exempt from combatant military and naval service;

And Whereas it is further provided by our said Military Service Act that applications for exemption from service shall be determined by our said local tribunals, subject to appeal as in the said Act provided, and that any man, by or in respect of whom an application for exemption from service is made, shall, so long as such application or any appeal in connection therewith is pending, and during the currency of any exemption granted him, be deemed to be on leave of absence without pay;

And Whereas our Governor-General of Canada in Council has determined to call out upon active service as aforesaid the men included in Class 1, as in the said Act and hereinbefore defined or described;

Now Therefore Know Ye that we do hereby call out the said Class 1, comprising the men in our said Military Service Act, 1917, and hereinbefore defined or described as to the said class belonging, on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada, either within or beyond Canada, as we may, in the command or direction of our Military Forces, hereafter order or direct.

And we do hereby strictly command, require and enjoin that each man who is a member of the said class shall, on or before the 10th day of November, 1917, in the prescribed form and manner, report himself for military service, unless application for his exemption shall then have been made by him or by another person entitled to apply on his behalf; wherein our loving subjects, members of the said class, are especially charged not to fail since not only do their loyalty and allegiance require and impose the obligation of careful and implicit obedience to these our strict commands and injunctions, but moreover, lest our loving subjects should be ignorant of the consequences which will ensue if they fail to report within the time limited as aforesaid, we do hereby forewarn and admonish them that any one who is hereby called out, and who without reasonable excuse fails to report as aforesaid, shall thereby commit an offence, for which he shall be liable on summary conviction to imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years with hard labour, and he shall nevertheless, if we so require, be compelled to serve immediately in our said Expeditionary Force.

And we do hereby proclaim and announce that for the greater convenience of our subjects, we have directed that prescribed forms, for reporting for service, and for application for exemption from service, may, at any time on or before the said 10th day of November, 1917, be obtained at any post office in our Dominion of Canada; and that reports for service and applications for exemption from service, if obtained at any of our said post offices and properly executed, shall be forwarded by our postmaster at the post office from which the same are obtained to their proper destinations as by our regulations prescribed, free of postage or any other charge.

And we do further inform and notify our loving subjects that local tribunals have been established in convenient localities throughout our Dominion of Canada for the hearing of applications for exemption from service upon any of the statutory grounds, as hereinbefore set out; that these our local tribunals so established will begin to sit in the discharge of their duties on the 8th day of November, 1917, and that they will continue to sit from day to day thereafter, as may be necessary or convenient, at such times and places as shall be duly notified, until all applications for exemption from service shall have been heard and disposed of; also that men belonging to the class hereby called out who have not previously to the said 8th day of November, 1917, reported for service, or forwarded applications for exemption through any of our post offices as aforesaid, may make applications in person for exemption from service to any of our said tribunals on the 8th, 9th or 10th day of November, 1917.

And we do hereby moreover notify and inform our loving subjects who are within the class hereby called out, that if, on or before the 10th day of November, 1917, they report themselves for military service, or if, on or before that day, application for exemption from service be made by them or on their behalf, they will not be required to report for duty, or be placed upon active service as aforesaid, until a day, not earlier than the 10th day of December, 1917, which will, by our registrar for the province in which they reported or applied, be notified to them in writing by registered post at their respective addresses as given in their reports for service, or applications for exemption from service, or at such substituted addresses as they may have respectively signified to our said registrar; and we do hereby inform, forewarn and admonish the men belonging to the class hereby called out that if any of them shall, without just and sufficient cause, fail to report for duty at the time and place required by notice in writing so posted, or shall fail to report for duty as otherwise by law required, he shall be subject to the procedure, pains and penalties by law prescribed as against military deserters.

Of all of which our loving subjects, and all others whom these presents may concern, are hereby required to take notice, rendering strict obedience to and compliance with all these our commands, directions and requirements, and governing themselves accordingly.

In Testimony Whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this TWELFTH day of OCTOBER, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and in the eighth year of Our Reign.

By Command,

Thomas Mulvey

Under-Secretary of State.

In the matter of saving flour and making effective the food pledge recently given by so many families it has been somewhat puzzling to know what should be the least amount saved to live up to the pledge to save. Every week one pound of some other cereal should be substituted for wheat flour for each one in the family. If your family numbers six persons you are expected to use six pounds less of wheat flour than you used formerly.

Many times lately, a week or so after publication, we have been asked for several copies of The Record. As a rule we do not print many extra copies each week, but when it is known that obituaries or other items will appear and extra copies will be wanted by anyone they can be arranged for if we are advised before nine o'clock on Thursday of publication. If this is not done it is uncertain whether there will be any on hand after a day or two.
