DEDICATION OF NEW ORGAN AT UNITED CHURCH

Next Sunday morning an event of unusual importance is to take place in the United Church, Morrisburg. The new Pipe Organ, recently installed, will be dedicated and used in a service of worship for the first time.

This organ has been purchased by the Board of Trustees, by means of a Bequest from the estate of the Late Agnes Dardis, who was a worshipper in the Church for many years. Mrs. Dardis was a daughter of the Late George Doran, who when the present Church building was erected fifty-seven years ago paid the splendid slate roof without anyone knowing the cost. A granddaughter of George Doran and a niece of Mrs. Dardis still resides in Morrisburg in the person of Miss Vaughan Doran. This Organ is a very beautiful and fitting memorial to Mrs. Dardis and a bronze memorial plate is being prepared to be placed upon it.

The organ was purchased from the C. W. Lindsay Company of Montreal and Ottawa and was built according to specifications this past summer by the Jacques Organ builders of Ste. Hyacinthe, Que. It is a two manual instrument, thoroughly modern, having electric action. The sound, however, is not electrically produced but comes from wind which is released into the many pipes. The Console is separate from the Organ and an enlarged choir loft has been made possible. Architecturally it is a beautiful addition to the church auditorium. Musically it is clear in tone and from the softest notes to the volume of the Great Organ is pleasant to the ear.

The service will commence at 10.30 o'clock standard time. The organ will not be heard until after the Dedication and Unveiling. Mr. Irwin Hilliard, a close friend of Mrs. Dardis, will unveil the organ. Immediately following the Great Organ will lead the Congregation in the singing of the Doxology. Mrs. George Gorrell is the organist. Mrs. Florence McKee of Waddington, N.Y., will sing: "Come ye Blesssed" by John Prindle Scott and Mr. C. Beckstead of Ottawa will also sing a solo. Rev. R. D. Smith will be in charge of the service and preach upon the subject—"God's Musicians."

It is unfortunate that the children of the community will be unable to be present due to the restrictions imposed on public gatherings but they will have many opportunities to enjoy their organ.

In the evening the organist will play for fifteen minutes before the regular service at 7 o'clock. Mrs. F. I. Smyth will sing—"Like as a Father" by John Prindle Scott.

MARY C. REID

There passed away at her home in Morrisburg, on Friday, Sept. 3rd, Mary Catharine Reid, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Reid, in her 82nd year.

The funeral service which was held at her late residence on Saturday, was conducted by Rev. R. D. Smith pastor of the United Church.

The chief mourners are: two sisters, Mrs. Esther Loper and Mrs. Jas. D Campbell, one brother, Charles and several nieces and nephews.

Many beautiful floral offerings were received, indicating the esteem in which the deceased was held.

TWO CORNWALL MEN SERIOUSLY INJURED

When the car in which they were travelling north on the Morrisburg-Ottawa highway overturned four times on a banked curve, two Cornwall men were seriously injured and the condition of one is described as very grave. The injured are Leonard Welsh, jewler of 108 Pitt street and John Maher, 6 Lefebvre avenue. Both are in the General Hospital, Cornwall.

The accident ocurred on a wide curve about a half a mile south of the Carleton County line about 6 p.m. Saturday. The heavy sedan travelled about 400 yards along the left hand shoulder of the road and then toppled into the ditch where it turned over four times, both passengers were thrown out, Welsh, the driver, ending up on top of the car which had been ripped off.

The accident was discovered by Mr. and Mrs Irvin Sheldrick of Winchester who were passing when they noticed a man sitting in the ditch waving a handkerchief. They stopped and found Welsh unconscious. Maher was the man who attracted their attention. They took Maher to the office of Dr. J. J. McKendry at Winchester and sent Dr. P. McLaughlin and County Constable H. Helmer back to the scene of the accident. Welsh was brought to Dr. McLaughlin's office at Winchester and then both men were taken to the Cornwall General Hospital, in Dickenson's ambulance.

At the hospital it was found that Welsh was suffering from a deep gash in the left side of his head from the ear to the jawbone and a possible fracture of the skull Maher suffered a deep cut on the top of the head and a severe cut over the right eye.

When Maher was questioned after the accident, he told of falling asleep and awakening just as the car turned over into the ditch. His first question was for the whereabouts of a valuable dog belonging to Welsh. Constable Helmer went back to the scene next morning and found the dog sitting near the wreck. He was unhurt.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Knocked down by an automobile driven by Mr. Orlin Barkley, of Morrisburg, as he walked along a street in Massena, Fred Bowen, 57, Massena, was injured fatally. Bowen, a worker in the Aluminum Company of America, was walking east along East Orvis street in Massena and Mr. Barkley was also driving east on his way to Cornwall. According to Massena police, Bowen was on his way home, and was walking along the righthand side of the street, although there is a sidewalk at that point. He was hurled to the pavement with terrific force by the collision, and lived only a few minutes after. A doctor was called but Bowen died while he was being taken to a hospital in Potsdam Death was due to a severe fracture of the skull.

An inquest was held at Massena, but the verdict was not announced. Police said they were awaiting the return of the district attorney, who was out of town, before laying a formal charge.

WOMENS MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF UNITED CHURCH

The first meeting of the fall activities of the W.M.S. was held at the home of the president, on Riverside Drive, on Thursday afternoon with a record attendance. The devotional period was in charge of the first vice-president, Mrs. F. D. Stata. The general theme was based on "In the Footsteps of Jesus." The beatitudes were read by Mrs. Timmins and the Devotional Leaflet "Jesus and Our Ideals" was given by Mrs. Merrill, which emphasized the facts that some of our ideals should be "to make the world a bit more beautiful and better because I have lived in it" and to live the command "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," and to embrace the four fold development of Christian Life, absolute honesty; absolute purity; absolute unselfiishness and absolute love.

During the business session plans were discused for the Fall Thankoffering meeting to be held in October.

The study period was in charge of Mrs. Hilliard, taking the form of a questionaire on the annual report with several taking part, was full of information and inspiration. Mrs. Smyth sang very effectively "Not A Sparrow Falleth."

All members are invited to attend the next meeting when the new study book—A new church faces a new world—will be introduced.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments and a social hour enjoyed.

BEACH FAMILY REUNION HELD OVER WEEK-END

The second "Beach" week-end reunion was held at "Beach Haven", King street east, Iroquois, owned by M. W. Beach, of Barrie, and conducted as a tourist home by Mrs. Beach during the summer. Nine of the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon F. Beach and their wives were present. Sunday morning the group attended the Iroquois United Church service, in a body, and were welcomed by the pastor, Rev. Thas. Knowles, and invited back next year. They had previously held Beach picnics, including their families but have decided to hold annual week-end reunions with only the one generation. The family consists of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Beach, Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs F. W. Beach, Winchester; Anson W. Beach, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Benson C. Beach, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon W. Beach, Barrie; Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Beach, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. G. Weston Beach, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Beach, Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Olin A. Beach, Ottawa.

All nine boys of the Beach family have taken a prominent part in the developing of many industries throughout the province.

PERCY R. BARNARD, LIBERAL CHOICE

Percy R. Barnard of Spencerville was the unanimous choice of Grenville-Dundas Liberals last Friday night to represent them in the forthcoming provincial election campaign. Seven others were proposed but all withdrew in favor of Mr. Barnard. They were: Dr. W. J. Taugher of Prescott; S. G. Anderson, Kemptville; Charles MacInnis, Iroquois; Charles Marsellis, Winchester; Preston Elliott, Chesterville; Ray Coligan, Morrisburg and Arthur Flynn, Morrisburg.

Mr. Barnard is no stranger in the Liberal ranks of Grenville-Dundas. For the last five years he has been president of the counties association. In 1931 he represented the party in the old Grenville county riding in a by-election A native of St. Thomas, Ont., he is, incidentally, an old schoolmate of Premier Hepburn.

The convention, which took place in the Spencerville town hall, was one of the largest of such gatherings in several years. Hon. Harry Nixon was guest speaker.

FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Arrive from West

Six families from Southern Saskatchewan arrived at Brighton in Northumberland County recently, with 11 carloads, 40 horses, furniture, implements, tractors, etc.These families are being placed on Ontario Farm Loan Board farms and are being cared for by the Saskatchewan Government until they can become self-supporting.

Fruit Production

Fruit production estimates for the province are as follows: Strawberries 8,633,900 quarts or 40 per cent. more than last year; raspberries 2,641,800 quarts, an increase of 46.8 per cent; peaches 503,000 quarts, an increase of 25 per cent.; plums 58,900 bushels, an increase of 43 per cent pears 147,600 bushels, a drop of 25 per cent; cherries 89,000 bushels, a drop of 28.7 per cent.; apples 731,500 barrels, an increase of 4 per cent. The average prices received by growers, including cost of containers, for the 1937 season were as follows: Toronto west, sweet cherries, 6-qt. basket 58c; sour cherries 43c; early apples 20c. Toronto east, 61qt. basket sour cherries 45c; early apples 25c.

Combating Weeds

Use o fhigh-powered spraying machines by counties and townships in Ontario for weed eradication has tripled this season compared with last.

J. D. Smith, director of the crops, seeds and weeds branch, Ontario Agriculture Department, states that 15 counties and 150 townships purchased or rented machines, now in full operation. Last year only 50 machines were in use.

Middlesex County is the latest municipality to purchase an outfit and will start operating Monday. Haldimand County is spraying 150 miles of road on one side this year. Bruce County has a 1,000-gallon machine operating.

"With up-to-date equipment at their disposal, municipalities are making wonderful strides in weed eradication," said Mr. Smith "We are more than pleased with the results obtained. Worst weeds at present time are ragweed, chicory, wild corrot and bindweed."

Counties in the anti-weed campaign include Bruce, Dufferin, Wellington, Frontenac, Peel, Halton, Haldimand, Norfolk, Prince Edward, Lincoln, Middlesex, Kent, Essex, Brant and Oxford.

Cattle Quota Filled
Higher Duty Imposed.

Under the Canada-United States Trade Agreement, which came into effect on January 1, 1936, Canada with Mexico was granted a quota of 155,799 head of cattle of 700 lb. weight or more each in any one year at 2 cents per pound duty instead of the usual three cents per pound. As a result of the quota now being filled, the three cents rate became effective on all cattle exported from Canada to the United States weighing 700 lb. or more each during the remainder of this year under an order issued by the United States Commissioner of Customs dated August 12, 1937. As at August 19, Canada had exported 139,690 head of cattle out of the 155,799 allowed, Mexico, having presumably sent the remainder. Refund of the extra one cent duty imposed will be made to shippers whose cattle entered the United States prior to the filling of the allotment.

Core of Poultry

Too frequently, the results of good care during the early life of the chicks are neutralized or lost, due to neglect after they have passed the so-called danger point in their development. There is no such thing as passing the danger point in raising poultry, but the wise poultryman will be on the alert to anticipate and avoid trouble, rather than to pay the penalty which follows negligence.

In many cases the farmer fails to provide adequate rations, usually by depending upon insect life at a source of animal food instead of including adequate supplies of dried milk or meat scraps in the growing mash. Then, again, he may not provide sufficient amounts. An abundance of feed hoppers kept filled with grain and growing mash, and placed in shady places, will assist in keeping the chicks growing during hot weather. When the range dries up so that green feed is lacking, alfalfa leaf meal can be included in the growing mash to advantage.

The Vegetable Crop

Vegetables are in average to above average condition throughout the Province with the exception of onions and canning tomatoes, which are somewhat below average in Western Ontario and late cauliflower and lettuce, which are slightly below normal in Eastern Ontario. Temperature and precipitation have been generally favorable during the past month for most vegetable crops although more rainfall would have been beneficial in the counties of Dundas, Northumberland, Peterborough and Hastings. In Eastern Ontario insects and disease losses are about normal, but in Western Ontario local wet and other adverse conditions have partiicularly affected tomatoes (splitting and breakdown); lettuce (tip-burn); onions (skin rot and poor development owing to excessive moisture); and to a lesser extent celery (blight. Usual insect pests are fairly well under control in Western Ontario. Rains during the past month have improved all vegetable crops in Northern Ontario

Plan to Improve Wheat

A fall wheat improvement program for Simcoe County is being put into cperation by the Department in co-operation with the agricultural societies of the county, the agricultural committee of the county council, the junior farmers and leading wheat producers. Its purpose is to bring about the production of a higher quality wheat so as to meet the demand of milling companies for pure white winter wheat. Six agricultural soiceties, including Cookstown, Alliston, Nottawasaga, Oro, Elmvale and Barrie have agreed to co-operate by conducting field crop competitions. These are supported by grants from the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, $75 divided into 12 prizes being available for each of teh contests. Where passible, a Boys' Wheat Club will be organized and these along with the senior contests will link up with fall fairs held in 1938. Contestants will be required to sow at least three acres with registered Dawson's Golden Chaff Wheat (O.A.C. No. 16), the seed to be purchased through an agricultural society. Contestants will be required to make an exhibit of wheat at the Fall Fair in 1938. Both field and wheat exhibit will be taken into consideration when making the final awards.

The Ontario Department of Health

Presents a Statement by

The Academy of Medicine, Toronto, on

"INFANTILE PARALYSIS"

(POLIOMYELITIS)

Realizing the anxiety which exists in the public mind today with respect to the increased prevalence of Poliomyelitis ("Infantile Paralysis") in Toronto and other parts of the province, the Academy of Medicine of Toronto, which represents more than one thousand physicians, called a special meeting of its Council, September 1st, to review the whole situation. To this meeting were invited representatives from all departments of medicine interested in this subject.

At the conclusion of the conference, during which time all of the pertinent facts of the present situation were presented and discussed, it was felt that, in fairness to the public, an official statement should be made to set forth the facts exactly as they exist. To this end, a committee was appointed to prepare and issue an official statement, which follows:

Poliomyelitis ("Infantile Paralysis") is a communicable disease. It is definitely known that it is caused by the entrance into the body of a minute form of life known as a virus. It is known also that this virus enters commonly through the upper part of the nasal tract. There is no evidence that the disease is conveyed by flies or domestic animals.

When an outbreak of the disease occurs, healthy persons as well as those ill with the disease are found to harbour the virus in the secretions of the nose and throat. The disease is, therefore, spread through the contact of persons one with another.

Usually the virus occasions only a mild illness but sometimes the virus enters the central nervous system, which may result in paralysis. The majority of adults are not susceptible to the disease.

Present Situation

While the number of cases reported in Toronto is greater than in any previous outbreak of this disease, and there is no reason to presume that the incidence rate is likely to decline within the next two or three weeks, it must be borne in mind that not 25% of these cases show any evidence whatever of paralysis. Furthermore, among those developing paralysis, the majority eventually will recover complete use of their paralysed limbs. It would appear, therefore, that while there is every reason for the public to view the present situation with concern, there is no justification for undue alarm or hysterical behaviour.

According to figures computed by the Department of Health, Ontario, to date, there are estimated to be 750 cases in Ontario, of which 285 have occurred in the City of Toronto. Of this number, 212 cases have been admitted to the Riverdale Isolation Hospital, only 54 of whom developed some degree of paralysis. There were 11 deaths in this group. Statistics of a similar nature apply to the Hospital for Sick Children, which has received its cases not only from Toronto but from other parts of the province.

Control Measures

These include the strict isolation of all persons ill with the disease and the quarantine of those who have been in immediate contact.

In as much as it is not known who are or are not carriers of this disease, it is advisable to reduce to a minimum, contact with other people. In other words, keep out of crowds. As children are particularly susceptible, it is most important that they be kept as far as possible from mingling with other persons. For this reason, the opening of the schools of Toronto has been deferred and the Department of Health of the Province of Ontario has recommended to parents that they see to it that their children avoid attendance at theatres, playgrounds, bathing pools and beaches and other places of amusement where children congregate. The Academy agrees with the provincial and municipal health authorities that the responsibility for the control of the activities of children is primarily the duty of the parents.

The Department of Health of Ontario has completed within its own organization plans whereby serum for the treatment of this disease is available in any part of the province upon the request of the attending physician.

Nasal Spray

Experimental work with animals indicates that Poliomyelitis can be prevented by spraying the extreme upper part of the inside of the nose with a harmless solution of zinc sulphate. This was discovered during the past year. To date, its value in the prevention of Poliomyelitis in humans is not known. To be in any degree effective, the spray must be applied high up inside the nose. This can only be done with a specially constructed atomizer and by a physician thoroughly familiar with this type of work. The application of this or any other spray by an ordinary atomizer or to the lower part of the nose is quite useless. The possible value of the nasal spray properly administered is being determined at the present time in Toronto.

The Council of the Academy of Medicine of Toronto endorses the attitude adopted by the provincial Department of Health and the local Board of Health in respect to measures designed to control the present situation. We would respectfully suggest that the general public will best serve its own interests by endeavoring to follow the advice which is being given by these health authorities.

WINCHESTER TAKES ACTION LESSEN HOSPITAL EXPENSES

Winchester township council met Tuesday with Reeve W. J. McConnell of Morewood presiding and the following members present: Deputy Reeve Thomas J. Ralph; Councillors James C. McGregor, William McCloskey and E B. McMillan; Tax Collector F. Erie Helmer, and the clerk, Jacob Steen.

Meeting as a court of revision in the forenoon, the council dealt with two appeals in connection with the assessment on the west branch of the Kittle Creek drain. Adjustment was made in the case of Angus Smith, while the appeal of Samuel Hummell was dismissed. No appeals were filed on the Hamilton drain. F. M. Eagleson, the township engineer, was present.

The passing of $1,502.69, the amount spent for the maintenance of township roads during the month of August, brought the total sum expended for this purpose over $1,000 higher than for the same period last year. Accounts totalling $420.15 for the hospitalization of indigent patients were also greatly increased over the previous year. In this connection council decided that residents in the township who owned a farm and chattels could not be classed as indigents, and action would be taken to collect for hospital expenses, which had been charged against the township.

A letter from Cass & Cass, barristers, of Winchester, on behalf of ratepayers in the 12th concession, advised the council that, unless immediate action be taken towards the building of a bridge on the Nine Mile road, concessions 11 and 12, known as the Lavictoire Bridge, a writ for the enforcing of its erection would be applied for by the ratepayers concerned. Council deferred action in the matter until they had inspected the site and received information from the township solicitors, Lawson and Lawson of Chesterville.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders for the excavation of the Hamilton drain and the west branch of the Kittle Creek, also for the Irving-Quart drain. Tenders are to be opened at a meeting of the council to be held at Winchester on Friday, September 17, at 8.30 p.m Members of Mountain township council will also be present at this meeting, as the cost of the Hamilton drain will be partly borne by that municipality.

Tenders for the excavation of the the Kittle Creek improvement were opened and the contract awarded to William Steen at the following prices: Earth 25c; hardpan, 75c; rock $1.50 per cubic yard.

Dr. P. McLaughlin, the medical health officer for the township, informed the council that at present there were only two mild cases of infantile paralysis in the township and that he could see no cause for alarm. However, if the trustees of any school section desired to close their school as a preventative measure, he had no objection, he stated.

Council decided to meet the Williamsburg council at Chesterville on Thursday evening to discuss work on boundary roads between the two townships.

"Of course they mean it"

Overheard between innings

First fan: . . . what? Oh, yes . . . I've been reading them. It was a good solid point they made in that last advertisement.

Second fan: I'll admit that . . . but I was just wondering if even now the whole story is being told?

First fan: You mean, are the Brewers just being selfish? Well I'd say of course they are. But I also think that this is a case where private interests and the public good are one and the same thing.

Second fan: How can you figure that?

First fan: This way: it's to the public good to promote moderation, to foster true temperance, to keep a few agitators from trying to block an adequate trial of a soundly written law.

Second fan: Of course, but . . .

First fan: And at the same time, even on the most selfish basis the Brewing Industry must support temperance education . . . because the drunkard and the bootlegger are their most dangerous enemies!

Second fan: But aren't there regular temperance organizations?

First fan: Yes, but the worst of it is that instead of teaching true temperance, which is self-control . . . instead of realizing that properly supervised beverage rooms are the best defence against the excesses everybody wants to avoid . . . the prohibition extremists clamour for changing the rules to force people to be "good". Which is not only un-British and undemocratic . . . but it won't work!

Second fan: At least it seems like a good thing that both sides of the story should be told.

● This advertisement is inserted by the Brewing Industry in the interest of a better public understanding of certain aspects of the problems of temperance and local option.

"INFANTILE PARALYSIS"

(POLIOMYELITIS)

The Department of Health has a sufficient supply of Convalescent Serum for present demands. This serum is obtained from persons who have previously suffered from an attack of "infantile paralysis".

In anticipation of further requirements the Department now requests that persons who are willing to provide blood for this purpose (donors) register with the medical officer of health in their district.

The Department remunerates donors on the basis of Ten Dollars for 100 cubic centimeters; the usual amount withdrawn from one donor is 200 cubic centimeters. This can be readily obtained without discomfort or ill effects to the donor.

Children under fourteen years of age are not eligible. Persons who have suffered an attack of the disease during the present year are also not eligible. Those persons fourteen years of age and over who have suffered an attack within the past twenty-five years and who show some definite evidence of resulting paralysis, are requested to provide the medical officer of health with their name and address.

Those who have already acted as donors need not register again.

When a clinic is to be held, donors will be notified through their medical officer of health.

WOMENS INSTITUTE, WILLIAMSBURG

The regular monthly meeting of the Williamsburg branch of the Womens Institute was held on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. Lyle O'Shaughnessy with about twenty-five members being present The president, Mrs. (Dr.) M. W. Locke, occupied the chair. With Mrs. Strader McIntosh presiding at the piano, the meeting opened with the Institute Ode. The secretary, Mrs. C. Macdonald gave the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved as read and called the roll—"Recipe for Relish or Pickle" which was well responded to. Correspondence consisted mostly of letters of appreciation for kindness shown during illness and cards of sympathy.

During the business session discussions arose in connection with the upkeep of the local cemetery. Plans were made for a food sale to be held on Friday, Sept. 17th in H. R. Wallace's furniture store. Arrangements for the sale were to be in the hands of a committee consisting of Mrs Ed. Casselman, Mrs. Claude Casselman, Mrs. Strader McIntosh, and Mrs. E. Axworthy. The possibility of forming a choral society was discussed and a discussion on having cook books printed for sale took place.

A very enjoyable program under the convenership of Miss Mae Merkley and Mrs. Claude Casselman was presented and included a pleasing vocal solo "Silver Moon" by Miss Rose Hill, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Strader McIntosh. Miss Almeda Whitteker gave an excellent paper on the topic "Well balanced meals and how to prepare them," and Mrs. E. Axworthy rendered a delightful piano selection.

Misses Ethel Deeks and Rose Hill were appointed to make arrangements for the programme for the October meeting. Mrs. George Hill, Miss Mae Merkley, Mrs. C. Macdonald and Miss Almeda Whittaker were appointed hostesses for the October meeting. With a membership of forty-five members the attendance contest is becoming more exciting as each monthly meeting passes on.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which refreshments were served by the committee appointed, consisting of Mrs. Jas. D. Becksted, Mrs. L. C. Barkley, Mrs. M D. Trickey and Mrs. E. Axworthy, assisted by Mrs. Lyle O'Shaughnessy, Mrs. Ross Wingard and Miss Rose Hill.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Edgar McIntosh and seconded by Mrs. Geo. Hill, to Mrs. O'Shaughnessy for her kind hospitality and to all who had contributed to the excellent program

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Axworthy, the roll call "Something for which to be Thankful." The topic "A Talk on Thanksgiving" will be given by Mr. Roy Casselman. The ladies of the Committee are invited to attend the Institute meetings which are held on the first Thursday of each month.

DUNN—TUTTLE

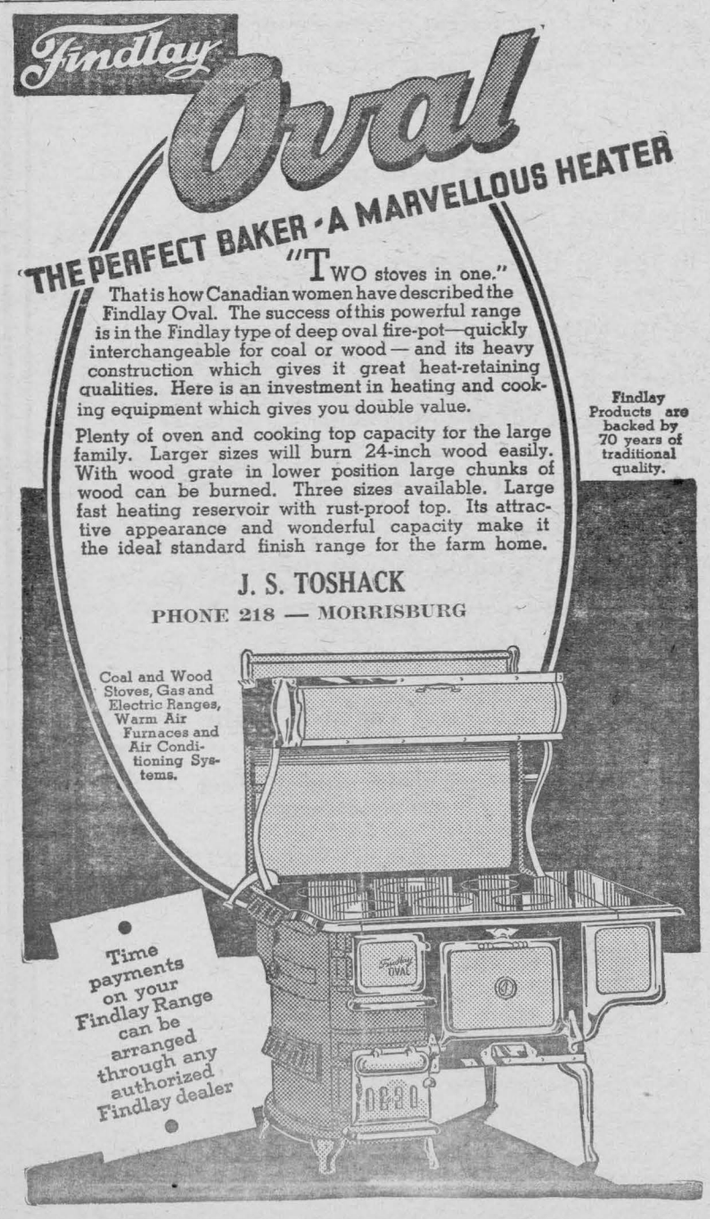

The marriage of Miss Frances Louisa Tuttle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jed Tuttle, River Road East, Iroquois, and John H. Dunn, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Dunn, Windsor, was solemnized at the parsonage of the United Church, Kitchener, Saturday. Rev. Clark Logan officiated

The bride wore a plain tailored suit of navy with light Blue blouse and matching hat. They were unattended. The couple will reside at Springbank Farm, near Kitchener.

ADAMS—PAYNE

A weddig of much interest in the community was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Herb Fader, sister of the groom, when Mr. John Adams of Brinston was united in marriage to Mrs. Elizabeth Payne, formerly of Brinston, but now residing with her son, W. D. Payne of Kemptville, Rev E. C. Lacy officiated. Only a few intimate friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

After the wedding the couple left for a motor trip to Montreal, touring Quebec province and visiting Quebec city. Mr. Adams has conducted a hardware business in Brinston for a number of years. Upon their return they will reside at Brinston.

PRETTY AUTUMN WEDDING AT WINCHESTER SPRINGS

The nome of Mr. and Mrs. Aden Casselman, of Winchester Springs, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon when their eldest daughter, Edna Rebecca Louisa, became the bride of Victor Harold Riddell, son of the late W. J. Riddell and Mrs. Herbert Hanson, of Dundela.

The house was adorned with gladiola, iris and phlox, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert S. Smith, pastor of the Winchester Springs United church. The wedding music was played by Miss Uena Whittaker, cousin of the bride, and during the signing of the register, a solo was sung by Mr. R. S. Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess model of shell pink triple sheer crepe over taffeta, with a high draped neckline extending to form a cape. The skirt was of floor length, and her veil extending beyond the skirt was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Georgina G. Casselman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a yellow organza dress, with a frilled neckline and long swing skirt. Her accessories were in blending tones of the same color and she carried yellow gladioli.

The best man was Bernice Sargent, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., cousin of the bride, of Queen's University.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by Misses Leila Casselman, Clova Barkley and Grace Myers, of Winchester Springs; Bertha Sargent of Dunbar; and Florence Revier, Rochester, N.Y.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Riddell left by motor for Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a knitted woollen suit of deep brown, with hat, shoes and accessories in blending tones. Upon their return they will reside at Dundela.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harper, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. William Dillabough, Mr. Henry Sargent, Dunbar; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barkley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whittaker, Williamsburg

FAREWELL TO MR. EDWARDS

An enjoyable garden party was held at Maple Ridge school, on the afternoon of August 24th, the occasion being a farewell to the inspector, Mr. Edwards. The many beautiful flowers made a perfect setting for the event.

The first part of the afternoon was spent in viewing the school grounds and in social intercourse. At four o'clock a delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the section. The table was tastily decorated with cut flowers. Mrs. S. Fiske and Mrs. J A. MacGregor poured tea.

Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and little daughter Ruth were called to the front and an address was read by Vivian McWhinnie, while Mr. Edwards was presented with a purse by Earle Sandilands, Mrs. Edwards a bouquet of roses by Betty McNaughton, and Ruth a box of candy by Blanche Beaupre. Mr. Edwards was much touched and replied in a fitting manner expressing his thanks and stating it had been a pleasure to visit the school. He commended the teacher, Miss Jessie MacGregor, and people of the section on the spirit of co-operation and on their keen interest in advancing the well-being of the school.

Short addresses followed by Father Macdonald and Rev. G. W. Irvine, expressing the regret felt at the departure of Mr. Edwards.

During the afternoon many interesting snapshots were taken of various groups to serve as a remembrance of the occasion

In the address to Mr. Edwards, regret of all in S.S. No. 14 was expressed at his departure. He was referred to as a "true friend and wise counsellor," his interest in the school and its activities being an inspiration to the older people as well as the children of the section. In leaving, he and his family carried with them the best wishes of all to their new home.

Much credit is due the teacher, Miss Jessie MacGregor, for the success of the event.

MR. AND MRS. L. LOGAN HONORED AT KEMPTVILLE

A pleasant event took place at the Hallville Consolidated school on Tuesday evening when some 300 members of the community gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Logan (nee Louise Cumy) who were recently married. The evening which was arranged by Rev. Donald Morrison of the United church, was spent in games followed by a very appropriate program in which the following took part, Miss Carrie B. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hyndman, Manning Wright, Lillian Fetterly, Corrine Hyndman and Shirley Christie, Margaret and Melvin Christie, Lyle Hutt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friend. At the close of the program Mr. E. E Smith read an address on behalf of the United church members and community, and Messrs. H. Doran J. Christie, Geo. Martin and Joseph Laughlin made the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Logan of a beautiful studio couch. Mr. and Mrs. Logan both thanked all for the gift. On behalf of the ex-students of the school, of which Mrs. Logan had been a teacher. Corrine Hyndman read an address and Shirley Christie made the presentation of a bouquet of flowers. Short addresses were given by Rev. H. L. Morrison, Gordon Young, I P.S., Grenville, and Mr. J. Stewart, I.P.S., Winchester. Rev. Donad Morrison of Hallville was the chairman. A lunch was served at the close and a social hour spent.

VAN CAMP—KIRKER

A very pretty house wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs Marjory Boyd, Chesterville, when her granddaughter Miss Muriel N. Kirker of Iroquois, daughter of John and the late Mrs. Kirker of Brinston, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred J. Van Camp of Cardinal, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Van Camp, Rev. Edward Lacey of Brinston performed the ceremony under an arch of evergreens entwined with pink flowers and streamers and centered with a white bell.

The wedding march was played by Miss Lois Boyd of Chesterville. The bride was attended by Miss Stella Irvine of Hainsville, and Mr. Dalton Kirker, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in a gown of navy blue triple sheer with accessories to match, and carried an arm bouquet of snapdragon and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, luncheon was served with Mrs Arnold Fader and Misses Evelyn and Lois Boyd of Chesterville assisting in the dining room.

Out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. E. Lacey of Brinston, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Van Camp and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Van Camp and son, Carl, of Cardinal, and Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Boyd and family of Chesterville.

The bride and groom later left on a motor trip for Cornwall and Montreal, the bride travelling in a tweed suit with navy blouse and accessories. They will take up residence in Cardinal, Ont , on their return.

YOU WANT YOUR CHILD

to be clever, to get an education, to make a mark in the world; and yet if you allow defective eyes to go uncorrected, you are hindering your child in obtaining that education, for which you pay out good money.
Can you afford this?
Can you afford to send your child out into the world with the handicap of defective eyes?

J. MILES WHITTEKER
Optometrist,

Before the advent of the motor car and Hydro in Ontario, the farmer was truly "the forgotten man". The days were long—the nights longer and lonelier . . . farm labor was arduous . . . the housework drudgery . . . the young people waited their chance to get to the city.

Few realize how much Hydro has changed rural life in Ontario. Its coming brought every advantage enjoyed by city homes. Hydro lights the home and barn—pumps the water—washes the clothes—cooks the food—brings the world's best entertainment into the parlor. Today, the farmer has within his grasp the opportunity to make his home equal to the most modern city home—to operate his farm with the most modern labor-saving equipment.

Fully realizing that the greatest single contribution it could make to a better, more enjoyable life, and a more permanent prosperity to Ontario, would be to electrify every rural home in the Province, the present Hydro has left no stone unturned to extend the benefits of low cost power to Rural Ontario.

During the present fiscal year, Hydro will spend approximately four million dollars building over 2,000 miles of new line to serve approximately 10,000 new rural customers. At August 15th, 1937, over 1,500 miles had been built, and more than 7,500 new customers added.

Service charges have always retarded Hydro growth. Realizing this, the present Commission cut these rates in half in November 1936. Hundreds of rural users immediately applied this saving on new appliances for the home or for labor saving and profit making electrical equipment on the farm.

In addition to this reduction in the service charge, the basic cost of power was reduced in some systems by $2.50 per h. p. On August 1st, a further reduction was made of $3.00 per h. p. in Eastern Ontario, and $2.00 per h. p. in the Niagara System. The effect of these reductions will ultimately be felt in reduced consumption charges all over the Province.

Certainly Rural Ontario has gained as much, if not more, than any other section of the Province by the success of the present Hydro in cutting power costs and extending the benefits of low-cost power. There is no "forgotten man" in the Hydro policy of today.

Same Couple Thrice Married and Divorced

WORCESTER, Mass.—There was quite a bit of "maybe" about Mrs. Mae M. Hall. She divorced and married the same man three times within 10 years.

Her first divorce was granted eight years ago. She remarried her former husband.

In 1931 she was divorced, and two years later Hall again "popped" the question.

Mrs. Hall says that the last time he married her for "spite" and she divorced him again.

No man is so ignorant that he doesn't know what he would do if he were in your place.

Friend—"See that fellow giving imitations over there? What does he always remind you of?"

Man—"The $10 I owe him."

A free country is one that doesn't let any political or social group have things entirely its own way.

Harris—"When the house-wreckers tore down Brown's house they found a collar button he had lost twelve years ago."

Kramer—"I'd think it would have been cheaper for him to have bought another collar button.

Visitor—"That's not the way to push that thing. You've got it upside down."

Lunatic—"Oh, have I? I used to push it the other way, and they put bricks in it."

There are people in every community that would get a monopoly on air if they could.

Mrs. A.—"Jimmie has been in the third grade for two years. I wonder how he will ever get ahead?"

Mr. A.—"Don't know. If he wasn't born with one, he never will."

We'd rather listen to the story of a public hanging than hear the details of an unsuccessful speculation in real estate.

A Prayer!

"May every soul that touches mine,
Be it the slightest contact,
Get therefrom some good,
Some little grace, one kindly thought,
One aspiration yet unfelt, one bit of courage
For the darkening sky, one gleam of faith
To brace the thickening ills of life,
One glimpse of brighter sky beyond the gathering mist,
To make this life worth while,
And heaven a heritage."

Mrs. Robert Katz telephoned her husband that she would call for him at the office. Not finding him there, she looked in at the barber's shop on the floor beneath.

"Bob Katz here?" she asked.

Read It Or Not—Absolutely pure gold is 24 carats fine.

It is because there are so many fools in the world that the wise man gets an occasional break.

Mr. Wise was evidently not feeling in the jolliest of moods. "Just look at that notice," he said, indicating the words "Post No Bills" on a blank wall, near the business section of his good city. "What is the use of sticking that up there?" he continued. "Why don't they put these things in the right place?"

"Where would you put it?" asked his friend.

"Over every letter box in the country," was the candid reply.

New Rail Route In Selkirk Range

Shortly to be Opened—Will Put An End to Loss of Lives on Dangerous Stretch of Track.

DOWNIE, B.C.—As an aim to greater safety two and a half miles of railway line near this station high in the Selkirk Range of the Rocky Mountains is going to be abandoned this fall.

Before the snow begins to fly trains will be travelling over a new route which is now nearing completion. This new route is expected to cost the Canadian Pacific Railway more than $250,000—but they think it will be well worth it.

For over that 2½ mile stretch at least 22 lives have been lost in recent years and thousands of dollars have been spent in clearing away rock and snow slides and in repairing trackage damaged by them.

The new track commences half a mile from Alberta Canyon Gorge, about 25 miles east of Revelstoke. At the gorge trains regularly stop to give passengers a chance to view the magnificent scenery and the 200-foot decline to the course of the small mountain stream.

Where 17 Were Killed

It was on the doomed stretch that 17 men were killed a year and a half ago while they were clearing a snow cut. The tender of a railway engine broke away, hurtled into the cut, and smashed them like flies against the towering banks of snow. Single and double accidents have added the others to the toll.

But now, the rumble of trucks — the first heard in these mountain fastnesses—is paving the way for the new route, moving material for a huge "fill" at the west end. It is a far cry from the equipment used when the original route was built.

Spurring the workmen to their tasks is Mervin "Red" Dutton, the famous hockey player who now manages New York Americans of the National League. Dutton is one of the partners in the Winnipeg contracting firm (Dutton and Company) which has charge of the work.

Problem Child

"Red," whose hockey club last year became the N.H.L.'s "problem child," has found plenty of difficulties to overcome—but he has proved a match for them. He has had to pitch his tenacity against the determination of the roaring Illecillewaet river, battle with the crumbling shale and tussle with the smaller mountain freshets that nibbled at his big fill.

The huge expenditure is the second taken by the railway in a diversion to eliminate slide conditions. The first was the construction of the lengthy Connaught tunnel, a step that allowed the railway to skip the hazardous Rogers Pass route. On that stretch 67 men lost their lives on March 4, 1910.

Primitive Diet Urged For Moderns

NEW YORK— Dr. Weston E. Price, Cleveland diet specialist, returning this week from two months' studying of Indians in Peru said modern civilization is slipping largely because people don't eat the right foods.

The specialist analyzed foods eaten by pure-blooded and half-breed Indians and said those who have retained their primitive manners of diet are splendid physical specimens while those who have gained the habits of Europeans have deteriorated physically and mentally.

Poem Warns Long Speakers

Used as Prank on Mayor of Wallaceburg Who Takes Hint

Maybe the following little four-line song, introduced last evening at Wallaceburg at the testimonial banquet tendered to Donald Lamont, Canada's oldest active employee of the glass industry, is appropriate at election time:

"Give us a speech, make it peach;
Let it be brief brother, let it be bright.
But be a sport, and cut it short;
Tomorrow we work, we must sleep tonight."

Set to the tune of "Here Comes the Bride," this little songlet was first used just prior to calling on Mayor E. U. Dickerson, who appreciated the joke on himself. The song is a composition of Song-Leader Harold Frost, and so well was it received that subsequent speakers of the evening will be greeted by it, and guided by it.—Windsor Daily Star.

Modern Bagpipe Music

The initiative is being taken by a well-known London Highlander and exponent of the bagpipes to interest enthusiasts for the pipes in the publication of modern bagpipe compositions. Many new piping tunes are composed by pipers in all parts of England as well as Scotland, but they are not published or collected and made available to exponents of the pipes generally. The Scottish Piping Society of London has many members who compose original tunes, and they exchange them among members of their own society. It has not yet reached the stage when it can afford the funds to print new pipe music, a list of the compositions set in the last few years in this country would make up many volumes. Many of the marches and other tunes are dedicated to individuals, and are only heard at the Scottish Society gatherings from the composer himself. It is felt that modern music ought to be given in competitions at Highland gatherings in preference to the older tunes. — Edinburgh Scotsman.

Postcard Delivery Took 26 Years

BRANTFORD, Ont.— A postcard mailed here 26 years ago was delivered in Cleveland two weeks ago, according to Mrs. Charles Norris, of Brantford. There was no indication on the card why it was delayed so long.

The card was addressed to Mrs. W. C. Penfold, Cleveland, who died four years ago. An alert postman recalled the dead woman had a daughter residing in the city. The card finally was delivered to Mrs. Julius Eastman.

"No Matter How Thin You Slice It — It's Still Boloney"

What seems to be the crying need in sports circles at the moment would seem to be some sort of a school or educational course for boxfight judges and referees so that there could be a little more close harmony in their decisions.

* * *

When, in an important tangle like the Farr-Louis affair you find the referee scoring only two rounds for the Welshman, while other alleged experts gave him as many as six or seven, it would certainly seem as if they hadn't all learned out of the same book.

* * *

We don't think that Farr won the fight—his own manager's admission that Louis had been the better being pretty conclusive; but if Clem McCarthy's vision doesn't need plenty of sharpening, it certainly was a whole lot closer than any thirteen to two.

* * *

However, Mr. Farr did real well for himself—much better than was expected by anybody excepting, possibly, himself. He is in a similar position to the lucky gent who fell down the sewer and came up with a gold watch and chain; and if he only watches his step does not need to worry about ever having to go back to the mines or the tent shows either.

* * *

If Tommy only packed a wallop in keeping with his moxie and fighting spirit he would be champion of the world right now and they would probably be trying to prove that he was really an Irisher, as seems to be the custom when a new champion is crowned; although, as far as we know, nobody has yet tried to claim that Joe Louis has any Harp blood for some reason or other.

* * *

But Farr seems to lack that old lethal larrup wth either fist, which seems a pity, although it is perhaps too much to expect real perfection from any mortal.

* * *

Like the ancient one about the two street sweepers who were standing talking about one of their former confreres who had recently passed on to his reward.

* * *

* * *

"He did that," replied the other. "And yet, do you know, I sometimes thought that Mike's technique was just a bit faulty around he lamp-posts."

* * *

As far as the great election brawl is concerned—well, the general feeling seems to be to echo the one President Roosevelt borrowed from the Immortal William—"a plague on both your houses."

* * *

It's too hot and there are too many other things to worry about for most people to bother their heads over an election which nobody can see any real reason for holding; and the electors appear to be taking the atttude of strict impartiality shown by the dame who was watching her husband fighting a bead. "Go it husband—go it b'ar."

* * *

But from the financial statistics being published and broadcast by both sides it would seem as if there was still a lot of truth in the old saying, "Figures don't lie—but some liars certainly do figure."

CHAPTER I

"Oh, Janet!" Gregory Gason beckoned to Janet Duane as she lingered at the top of the yacht's ladder, bidding farewell to her guests embarking for shore in the sleek motor launch. Gregory was older than Janet and her set and, in her eyes, was "thrillingly sophisticated."

"Come on, or we'll be stranded on board," she told him gaily.

"Why not?" He took Janet's arm and smiled down into her eager face. "I've made certain arrangements . . ." The tips of his fingers caressed her arm and set Janet's pulse beating a little faster.

"Arrangements?" she questioned.

"Exactly."

He knew precisely the right moment to release her arm and light a cigarette nonchalantly. They were alone now upon the deck of the Fleetwing, her father's palatial yacht. A silver moon rode overhead, and the smooth waters of Biscayne Bay glimmered softly.

Janet shivered a little as Gregory's gray eyes met hers. She felt poised upon the horizon of adventure. It was a night of enchantment.

The spell was suddenly broken by a swift roar from the motor of the launch. Janet ran to the rail with a little startled cry. Gregory followed her slowly, smiling with satisfaction.

"They've gone off and left us!" Janet cried.

"Isn't that too bad!" Gregory said calmly.

"It's not funny!" she stormed at him. "I told you we shouldn't linger here. They've all drunk so much champagne that they don't realize they've left us behind. We can't swim ashore!"

He shrugged. "I've been trying to arrange a moment alone with you for the last two weeks. But you're always surrounded by that crowd, who never seem to stop for breath."

"But we're absolutely marooned!" she wailed. "And there's no one else aboard except the crippled watchman."

"Quite true." Gregory flipped his cigarette into the water and turned to her with a faint smile. "I mentioned certain arrangements."

She stared at him. "You mean . . . you planned this?"

"Exactly," he told her urbanely. "The launch man was quite amenable to reason . . . in the form of a cash consideration. You've been avoiding me," he complained. "So I decided to take matters into my own hands."

Janet faced him in angry indecision. She was frightened—and yet, she was thrilled. Perhaps she had avoided being alone with him. Why? She knew the answer in her heart. He was different from the gilded youths with whom she had danced and played in New York and Miami. Much older, and with an air of mystery which youth always finds intriguing. She knew she had avoided him because she feared him.

"Most interesting," she said icily. "Is it your idea of good form to kidnap the hostess?"

"Oh, come," he murmured. "Kidnapping is hardly the word. You're aboard your father's yacht, you know. I assure you my intentions are strictly honorable. You forced me to this course as the only possible way of arranging a tete-a-tete."

"Tete-a-tete is a mild way of expressing it!" she retorted.

"I'm sorry," he said gently. "I've been a brute to tease you like this. As a matter of fact," he lied swiftly, "the launch will return for us as soon as the others are put ashore. Everyone will think we were simply carelessly left behind. And in the meantime . . . we'll have an opportunity for a little chat in the lounge." He smiled convincingly.

"Oh!" Janet breathed in quick relief. "The launch will really come back?"

"Of course," he reassured her.

Time enough, he thought, for her to worry when the launch, following his instructions, did not return. He took her arm, leading her toward the lounge.

He opened the door with a flourish and motioned for her to enter. Glancing back, Janet saw the shrunken form of the watchman on deck as he went about the task of turning out all illumination excepting the riding lights fore and aft.

Then, Gregory softly closed the door, and they were alone in the snug lounge.

The Fleetwing was Cyrus Duane's pride and joy. Equipped with powerful engines, she was fast as a racing craft; and, designed by a famous firm of shipbuilders, she was a veritable floating mansion.

A curious strain of circumstances had served to anchor her in Biscayne Bay, unmanned, at the beginning of the winter season. Cyrus Duane was a hard man. Captain Coleman, master of the Fleetwing since the day she was launched, had discovered in his employer a man more stubborn than himself. There had been friction between master and owner on several occasions. A few weeks previously, this friction had developed into a bitter quarrel, and Captain Coleman had departed from the yacht, swearing he would never set foot on her deck again. The crew, loyal to their chief, had followed the captain ashore en masse. Cyrus Duane, in New York, had cursed roundly at the telegraphed news, but had delayed seeking a new master and crew until he could come to Miami and [illegible] the matter personally.

Janet, visiting [illegible] in Miami, had commandeered the yacht for this night's party, employing a local firm of caterers to arrange all details of refreshments, music, and so forth.

Now, she sank into a deeply cushioned chair and breathed a tired little sigh. The party had been a grand success, but she was glad it was over. This was her first season, and already she was beginning to feel apathetic about parties. Life had proved desperately disappointing up to now. The endless round of social gaiety seemed unimportant somehow.

She wanted to live vividly. There must be much more to living, she thought, than she had discovered thus far. Sometimes she lay awake at night and longed for an opportunity to do something reckless; dreaming chaotic dreams of one day emerging into a world where she might live dangerously—love daringly.

She gazed at Gregory Gason speculatively. Her sense of inner excitement grew stronger. He sank into a chair before her. A little silence fell between them.

Gregory lit a cigarette. He must be very cautious—very careful not to frighten her. So much depended upon lulling her into a sense of false security, so that she would not immediately note the swift passage of time.

When she realized that the launch would not return, he hoped it would be too late for her to upset his carefully laid plans. He was a patient man. He had planned this coup patiently. Biding his time until circumstances conspired to aid his ends.

He congratulated himself, now, as he swiftly reviewed the perfection of his plot. It would be several hours, at least, before Janet would be missed. Morning, probably, before anyone would think to come to the yacht in search of her. And that would be too late. Who would believe her story? The launch tender was prepared to swear it was Janet who ordered him not to return.

Quite damaging enough evidence, Gregory reflected, to force a very handsome cash settlement from the millionaire, Cyrus Duane, to keep the matter quiet. Blackmail? Perhaps. But he was fully prepared to marry Janet, he reminded himself, should Cyrus feel his daughter's honor demanded such reparation. Of course he would marry her! Why not? She was the heiress to many millions, and undeniably attractive, besides.

Police May Adopt Homespun Dress

QUEBEC—Snappy homespun uniforms may replace the traditional blue serge which has garbed Quebec City policemen for generations, if a suggestion made by Quebec Mayor, J. E. Gregoire, is acted upon.

His Worship feels that the grey homespun uniforms would not only provide a decided contrast to the ordinary order of things, but would also encourage French-Canadian industry. There is a possibility of the law also being adorned with colorful woollen belts, such as those worn by snowshoers and "Coureurs des Bois" centuries ago. This is suggested as a tourist attraction.

Single Hair Often Sends Murderers To Gallows

Evidence of Sir Bernard Salisbury, Famous Pathologist, Feared; Makes No Mistakes.

LONDON.—Drop in at the Old Bailey, most dreary and historic of all London's famous courts, and they will whisper to you that the person in the witness box giving evidence on behalf of the prosecution in a sensational murder trial can hang you with a single hair.

They will also tell you that, next to the gallows, murderers fear him more than anything on earth for it is a matter of record that at least a score of notorious murderers have paid the extreme penalty as a direct result of his evidence.

You can see for yourself that despite his 58 years he well deserves the reputation of being one of England's handsomest men. Furthermore, he is one of England's busiest men because they still murder people in this country; have very gruesome murders in fact, even though they have no gangster warfare as in the United States. Instead of shooting his victim down in broad daylight, the English murderer inclines towards more stealth and usually endeavors to conceal his crime.

An Exact Science

This is where the man in the witness box comes into the picture. He is Sir Bernard Spilsbury, government pathologist, who has made detection of crime an exact science. When he tells the judge and jury that a certain individual was murdered in a certain particular manner there are not "ifs" attached because, in his own estimation, Sir Bernard is always right.

Uncanny Accuracy

It is for this very reason that Sir Bernard is not exactly popular with barristers whose business it is to defend accused persons. Let Sir Bernard tell a jury how a crime was committed and if his evidence is against the accused the unfortunate person is as good as hanged. Only a few days ago an eminent lawyer protested that Sir Bernard is "almost a god in these courts, because no one is ever allowed to disbelieve what he says."

But Sir Bernard has an easy conscience for he has yet to be found in a mistake and has again and again demonstrated the uncanny accuracy of his work, as in the case of a young woman by the name of Molly Phillips who was found dead in Exmoor in 1931.

There was some doubt as to how she died, the body being found in a marsh with one arm missing, and nearby a hair was picked up. Sir Bernard concluded that the hair belonged to Mollie Phillips because it matched hair found on a brush she used the day before her disappearance.

But there were no roots attached to this particular hair, so Bernard concluded that it had been bitten off by an animal and similarly accounted for the missing arm, and established that she had fallen over a boulder face downward and been smothered. In this case, with a single hair he cleared everybody of suspicion; but there are cases in which he has figured where hair has identified the murderer.

Sealed Doom of Fox

It was Sir Bernard's evidence which sealed the doom of Sidney Albert Fox, who was hanged for murder of his 63-year-old mother in a Margate hotel bedroom after he had insured her life for £1,000. Sir Bernard exploded something of a bombshell when he told the court that the woman had died from strangulation, even though no outward evidence was available.

Fox had taken great pains to cover up his nefarious deed. He had set fire to the room and the defence was confident of an acquittal because there was no external marks of violence.

But they had not reckoned on Sir Bernard. First, his investigation revealed no trace of soot in the dead woman's windpipe, nor was there any carbon monoxide in her blood, proof positive that she had died before the fire started. Then, he discovered tiny bruises inside, the grim tale of how pressure had been applied until life was extinct.

YOUR FAVORITE DESSERT — ICE CREAM — EASILY MADE

Ask any Canadian what his favorite dessert is and the answer will be "ice cream." Some may say ice cream and cake, others ice cream and apple pie, but ice cream is the favorite throughout the country.

You all remember the old methods of making ice cream. You cooked the custard foundation, boiled the sugar, melted marshmallows and did a whole lot of tedious tasks to get a quart of the family's favorite dish. In fact, we know of one "horse and buggy" era recipe which required 14 different steps. But that is all over and hundreds of housewives are getting a big thrill out of the ice cream powder which can be purchased so cheaply and easily now. There are all kinds of flavors and even one unflavored powder which gives you the chance of adding your own favorite flavor. From ice cream powder you can now make delicious desserts in a few easy steps.

When serving ice cream let your imagination do the decorating. There are many tricks that add novelty and finer flavor to this old favorite. Sauces, for instance, are particularly good to pep up ice cream and either chocolate or butterscotch is always popular. Maple syrup, nuts, coconut and whipped cream will enable you to make very professional looking sundaes right at home.

Here are a few recipes using the new ice cream powder and we'll guarantee that you and your family will be more than pleased with the results.

COFFEE CARAMEL ICE CREAM

4 tablespoons sugar
½ cup strong coffee
½ cup milk
½ package (scant 1-3 cup) unflavored ice cream powder.
1 cup cream whipped.

Caramelize sugar until golden brown. Add coffee gradually and stir until dissolved. Add milk very gradually to ice cream powder, stirring until dissolved, then add coffee-caramel mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible. Stir when frozen ¼ inch thick on sides and twice more at 20-minute intervals. Freezing time: about 3 hours. Makes ¾ quart.

For 1½ quarts, double the recipe above, using full contents of package. Freeze in one or two trays 3 to 6 hours.

RASPBERRY SHERBET

2 cups crushed red raspberries
1 cup sugar
6 tablespoons lemon juice
1 package strawberry flavored ice cream powder.

Force berries through sieve; add sugar and lemon juice. Measure and add enough water to make 5 cups. Add this mixture very gradually to ice cream powder, stirring until dissolved. Freeze in freezer. Makes 2 quarts sherbet.

Baked Alaska is the last word in fancy ice cream deiserts, but you can get the same effect with a lot less effort by placing small squares of cake on a board, top with ice cream and mask with meringue. Place the board in hottest oven to brown the meringue quickly and serve at once. This dessert will call forth cheers from the family and because it is so quickly and easily made, it can be served often.

Providing there is no great increase in the number of infantile paralysis patients in Cornwall by next Monday, Dr. C. J. Hamilton, medical officer of health, announced that he would permit the opening of Cornwall public and separate schools as well as Cornwall Collegiate Institute. Since the outbreak in Cornwal a couple of weeks ago, four Cornwall children have taken the illness and another child from Lancaster, 16 miles east of Cornwall, is being treated. None of the cases are considered serious.

* * *

Three cases of infantile paralysis are reported in Morrisburg and vicinity. Two new cases were reported Thursday, and under these conditions it is not likely the schools will re-open on Monday next. While there has been no official statement by the local Medical Officer of Health, that we know of, the citizens are wisely keeping the children from congregating on streets, churches and places of amusement. The Ministers have cancelled their Sunday School for Sunday next, and it is hoped that parents will cooperate with authorities in checking the spread of the disease.
