Another Chesterville Boy Wounded.

The information was received on Saturday by Mr. Dan Daley that his son Thomas Michael Daley had been wounded while on service "somewhere in France." Pte. Daley was in Western Canada when war broke out, where he enlisted and went overseas with the first contingent.

Dr. Morrison Hurt

A. S. Morrison, Chesterville's popular veterinary, received very serious injuries on Monday from the kick of a horse. The full force of the blow badly fractured a couple of ribs, portions of which punctured the lung and has caused him intense pain. If complications do not arise serious results are not anticipated.

From Manitoba to Join 154th.

Andrew J. Irven, an old Winchester township boy, is one of the latest recruits to enlist in Capt. Baker's company of the 154th Battalion. He is a blacksmith by trade and after residing six years in the Dauphin District in Manitoba felt it his duty to serve his King and Country and has sold his business and come east to join the home battalion. He has been considered one of the best rifle shots in Manitoba and for years belonged to the Brandon Rifle Association. At one time Mr. Irven was offered a position on the Bisley team. If he occupies a sniper's position at the front he no doubt will account for many a German.

Instructive Health Lectures.

Large and enthusiastic audiences filled the Music Hall, Monday afternoon and evening, when the Provincial officer of Health, Dr. Maloney, gave a lecture with the points well illustrated by a series of moving pictures showing what may easily and effectively be done by the individual to safeguard, not only his own health, but that of the community as well. In the afternoon particular stress was laid on the care of the teeth, for the benefit of the school children, suggesting that periodical examinations should be made by a competent dentist. The contamination of food by, the house fly was illustrated in such a manner that it is safe to say that those who saw and heard this part will think twice before proceeding to eat food which, they know has been defiled by that summer pest.

In the evening Dr. W. A. Brown in a short talk pointed out the threatened danger of a contaminated water supply and urged the necessity of steps being taken to provide a supply for Chesterville. The best and purest water, it was pointed out, is obtained from artesian wells and it is believed that this scource of supply could be obtained for this town at a cost which would make a muuicipally owned system a self-supporting if not a revenue producing proposition. As Dr. Maloney not ouly suggested but recommended that this matter be looked into and promised the assistance of expert advice from provincial officials would it not be well to take the matter in hand before we are compelled to do so on orders from the provincial health officers. Dr. Brown pointed out that there was no reason to advance why we were practically free from water laden diseases other than that the more or less use of contaminated water had built up a natural defence against the germ.

The source of danger from a badly handled milk supply was most vividl portrayed on the carvass, and while the direct benefit may not result in such a perfect system as was shown, many cannot help but have gained in their knowledge of handling milk in the cleanest and most sanitary way.

If you break a lens or the frame of your eye glasses Mr. A. E. Bolster can fix it for you—day or night every day—at W. G. Bolster's Drug Store, Chesterville.

Henry's Shorthand School
Ottawa, Ont.

On the May Civil Service Examination, this year, we passed more stenographic candidates than the other local business colleges combined.

It is a common occurrence for Henry-trained students to get 100% in Shorthand 100% in Typewriting, and 95% in Composition.

These subjects being the most difficult on this examination, our record of FIRST, SECOND and FOURTH places for the whole of Canada, is at once explained.

During the past two years, more than 235 students have come to us from other local business colleges.

Does it not prove that we have a superior school?

Our instruction being individual, you may start at any time.

154th Battalion Will Never Let the Old Flag Fall

YOUR DUTY

When you join the 154th Overseas Battalion you need not be a convert to militarism, but you are a true disciple of British Freedom and Justice. How can you lay claim to allegiance to the British Crown if you pay no heed to the call to duty ?

Your Duty To-day is to Fight the Germans, Not to Make Faces at Them.

While the 154th Battalion is now at fighting strength, a base company is now being recruited so as to be able to meet the emergency of men being found unable to go overseas which may occur from time to time.

Again we appeal to the young man, medically fit, to enroll his name in his home battalion without further delay that the corps may proceed to Barriefield Camp early next month a credit to itself and the Counties of its inception.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. Try it.

Production and Thrift

"TO win the war with the decisiveness which will ensure lasting peace, the Empire will require to put forth its full collective power in men and in money. From this viewpoint it is our true policy to augment our financial strength by multiplying our productive exertions and by exercising rigid economy, which reduces to the minimum all expenditures upon luxuries and non-essentials. Only in this way shall we be able to make good the loss caused by the withdrawal of so many of our workers from industrial activities, repair the wastage of the war, and find the funds for its continuance. It cannot be too frequently or too earnestly impressed upon our people that the heaviest burdens of the conflict still lie before us, and that industry and thrift are, for those who remain at home, supreme patriotic duties upon whose faithful fulfilment our success, and consequently our national safety, may ultimately depend."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

PRODUCE MORE, SAVE MORE.

MAKE LABOUR EFFICIENT.

SAVE MATERIALS FROM WASTE.

SPEND MONEY WISELY.

LET US PRODUCE AND SAVE—

The war is now turning on a contest of all forces and resources—men, munitions, food, money. The call to all is to produce more and more. It may be necessary to work harder. The place of those who enlist must be taken by those at home, men and women, old and young. The more we produce the more we can save. Produce more on the farms and in the gardens. Save more and help to win the war.

LET US NOT WASTE OUR LABOUR—

In this war-time all labour should be directly productive or should be assisting in production. Make it as efficient as possible. If your labour is on something that can be postponed, put it off till after the war and make your labour tell now. Making war is the first business of all Canadians. Efficiency in labour is as important as efficiency in fighting.

LET US NOT WASTE MATERIALS—

Begin at home. The larger portion of salaries and wages is spent on the home—food, fuel, light, clothing. Are any of these things being wasted? $20.00 a year saved from waste in every home in Canada will more than pay the interest on a war debt of $500,000,000.

LET US SPEND OUR MONEY WISELY—

Are you spending your money to the best advantage? What do you think of extravagance in war time? Tens of thousands of Canadians are daily risking their lives for us at home. Is it not our duty to be careful and economical? Canadian dollars are an important part of the war equipment. Make them tell. Have a War Savings Account. Buy a War Bond.

THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA 3

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

JUST EGGS.

As an edible the egg is unsurpassed. Its nutritive properties in several respects are unequalled, while the uses to which it can be put in the preparation of food are innumerable and variable. Its instrument of being possesses, the advantage of cleanliness and cheapness in keeping. Every family with a backyard and outhouse, if the municipal regulations do not interfere, can maintain a hennery and every family can thus have that always desirable modicum—a fresh egg. In addition it is questionable if any better way can be found of practising the call of the day for production and thrift.

The consumption of eggs is increasing in every part of the world and increasing too at a rate that guarantees a fair and continuous return for any judicious investment. Abroad the demand is incessant, while at home the increase is well indicated by the fact that where as in 1891 the consumption in Canada per capita was only 11.8 dozen, in 1911, according to the census returns, it was 17.39. That the consumption has continued to develop in this country, has gone far ahead of the domestic supply, is proven by the statement made on the warranty of official figures that in 1914 we exported only 124-002 dozen eggs and imported the significent total of 11,274,108 dozen! Last year there was some improvement, but a vast deal remains to be done if satisfactory use is to be made of the opportunity that is offering.

Great Britain formerly imported immense quantities of eggs from Russia and from the Scandinavia countries. These sources of supply, if not entirely cut off, are seriously diminished in ability. With facitities for shipping in a fresh condition Canada has an opportunity of meeting the deficiency. To accomplish this not only must the number of poultry breeders be multiplied, but increased watchfulness be manifested in tending the flocks and in the selection of stock. The average Canadian flock produces about 50 eggs per hen. The world's record is 314 eggs laid in one year by one hen, Lady Eglantine of Delaware. Just as there are pedigreed milking cows, so there are bred to lay fowl. It will pay you to find out about them. A good breed of poultry is no more costly to keep than a poor breed, and is infinitely more profitable. Having the fowl, the next thing is to see that the eggs are kept fresh. Candling is a simple method of testing eggs. A candling apparatus and instructions for handling may be secured free from the Federal Department of Agriculture.

In these times when there is a marked scarcity of male labour, and production of foodstuffs is so much called for, there is no more advantageous and healthful manner in which women and children can be employed than in the care of poultry. A light and pleasant occupation asking only the application of intelligence and attentiveness, with sympathy it is in reality a pastime. If instruction is required, or information needed, either or both can be had on application to the provincial departments of agriculture, or to the federal department, for pamphlets and bulletins on poultry and eggs and the candling of eggs. Private culture could increase supplies thousands and thousands of dozens, thus releasing quantities for the export markets, and farmers and their families could in many instances duplicate their output several times with comparatively little additional outlay and no great amount of extra exertion.

On the one hand it is doubtful if there is any more nutritrive and wholesome food to be had for the household than eggs, while on the other it is certain that a large increase of production will benefit and enrich the country. In the hospital the use of eggs is ever on the increase and in the camp they are ever welcome guests. They can be made component parts of numerous articles of food that can be sent and supplied to the men in the trenches, and if gathered quickly they can be placed in cold storage and shipped fresh in quantities across the ocean.

War and Dividends

During 1914 the Surplus earned by the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada totalled over $1,676,000, an increase of nearly 50% over that earned in 1913.

In spite of financial depression, the Company is able to maintain its progressively increasing scale of Policy Dividends. Accordingly, Reserve Dividend Policies bearing Dividends in 1915 will receive larger Dividends than those received by similar policies in 1914.

War conditions merely emphasize the absolute security and the increasing profitableness of Policies in the Sun Life of Canada.

In Aid of The Red Cross.

A unique entertainment, "A Nicht in Scotland," was given in Trinity Methodist Church on Friday evening last. Rev. Mr. Warren occupied the chair, and all present felt the truth of his remark in opening, that "it was too bad the committee hadn't connected up with the clerk of the weather before fixing the date"--for really a more inclement evening couldn't have been chosen.

Those, however, who braved the elements felt amply repaid; for to hear the Rev. Mr. McCorkindale talk of Scotland and the Scottish people, their humor, their character, their customs, was indeed illuminating, and the music rounded out and completed the impressions of Scottish life and character.

Previous to the rendering of the last number, the Society's Secretary moved a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the programme, making the evening such a pleasure, and to the Pastor and Board of the Methodist Church for placing at the Society's disposal their beautiful church. This was ably seconded by Principal Ball of the High School staff, and carried with much enthusiasm.

Follows the programme, every number of which was very fine and was greatly enjoyed by those present.

Chairman's remarks.

RED CROSS WORK.

Chesterville.

With warmest appreciation the Secretary acknowledges the following donations:—

Mrs. J. G. Craig $5.00, Mrs. W. H. Casselman $5.00.

In the next issue of The Record we shall give receipts of last Friday evening's Red Cross effort. It already exceeds $25.00 and complete returns are not in. The amount is quite gratifying when one considers the stormy night. It will purchase relief for many a wounded soldier, perhaps be the means of saving many lives.

When we read, at this safe distance, the casualty lists from that dread place "The Front"—where the forces of civilization are pitted against the infernal power of the Huns—we surely all realize what is at stake, and that each of us is responsible for "our bit," for we cannot read of the frightful casualties without at the same time realizing the need of enormous quantities of medical supplies. To help in every possible way to keep those needed supplies up to the standard is the duty and the privilege of those of us who stay at home; men, women and children, each one doing his bit. Nay, more than that—doing the bit of the Red Cross slacker as well. For the slackers are not confined to the young men who fail to enlist.

War Relics at Cornwall.

Much attention has been attracted for the past few days in Cornwall by some war relics sent from the War Zone by Miss Catherine McLean, daughter of Hugh McLean of Maxville, who is a nursing sister with the Second Canadian Hospital in France. The belts and badges were given to Miss McLean by wounded soldiers, and the gas respirator, which is really a curiosity, was sent from the trenches by Mr. McLean's only son, William, who is a lieutenant in the Canadian Artillery, having been promoted from the ranks since leaving Canada. Mr. McLean has two other daughters at home, who wish to join their sister in her self-sacrificing work.

In Loving Memory of Dwight Beach, who departed this life at Colquhoun on April 14th, 1916.

Our dear friend has gone and left us,
We shall see his face no more,
And the house is sadly vacant,
Which was so bright before.

And our eyes with tears are blinded,
And our hearts with sorrow wrung
When we think of our dear Dwight,
Who was called away so young.

But we know he is with Jesus,
Safely sheltered in the fold,
That He sweetly. softly called him
As he called to them of old.

Suffer, suffer my dear children,
And forbid them not He said,
So we know he is in Heaven,
When we're mourning him as dead.

O, we know our loss is heavy,
But our friend is happy now,
A bright star in Heaven
With a crown upon his brow.

And this thought shall soothe our sorrow,
And shall ease the heavy pain,
For we know if we are faithful
We shall meet Dwight again.

A Sincere Friend.

Pruning the Orchard.

Generally speaking the average fruit grower does not take enough wood out of his trees. To properly prune an orchard consists of more than just removing the dead branches. We must thin out the branches so that the sunlight can get through to every part of the tree. This requires thinning around the outside branches. Do not cut all the branches out of the centre of the tree, leave some new growth that is springing from the main branches and cut it back. This will be bearing in two to three years and will give you apples growing in the centre of the tree close to the main trunks which we so often see pruned entirely free of branches. The tree will bear a load of fruit with much less danger of breaking down where the bearing wood is left distributed all along the limbs right down to the main trunk and it also will bear larger quantities of it. Thinning out the small brush on the outside of the tree is very important and much less scab on the fruit will be found where this is done than though the tree is left thick. The reason for this is that the leaves and fruit dry off much quicker after a rain and heavy dew because of the free circulation of air through the tree. This is an important feature when we are growing varieties subject to scab such as the McIntosh and Fameuse.

Come to the pruning demonstration announced in another column of this paper and see a tree pruned according to proper methods. Mr. Leslie Smith who gives the demonstration is an orchardist of wide experience.—E. P. Bradt, Morrisburg, Ont.

A city man, familiar with life in the country, uses the "woodshed test" to determine whether it is safe to lend a farmer money. If he finds a good stock of wood on hand, with plenty of it split and neatly piled, and some split very fine, so that it will kindle easily, he concludes that the man is forehanded, looks out for his wife's comfort, does not spend his rainy days at the store, and is a good risk. If the wood-shed shows shiftlessness, he refuses to lend.

DUNDAS COUNTY ROADS

On Tuesday and Wednesday, April 4th and 5th, Mr. Geo. Hogarth, Chief Engineer for the Department of Highways for Ontario delivered capable addresses to two largely attended meetings at Williamsburg and Archer, in which he clearly and comprehensively outlined the advantages of the "Country Road System." He pointed out the absolute necessity of proceeding to build roads along different lines from those which have prevailed for years and have been found inadequate to meet successfully even the wear and tear of ordinary vehicle traffic.

"We must have a start if we are going to build good roads in this country," he said. He pointed out how in the past money had been allotted to certain roads without any definite plan to work to. Through the Country Road System, he said, the county assumes certain roads which become roads for the County Council to look after. The county builds and maintains the roads which are assumed by by-law and the Province contributes 40 per cent. of the expenditure on construction and 20 per cent. of the cost of maintenance. In building a road the way in which each dollar is raised is as follows. County contributes 60c., the Province 40c.; or if the county raises $600 the Government adds $400 to it and there is a total of $1,000 which is spent on the road.

The estimated number of miles which would be allowed Williamsburg Township under the system would be about 27½ miles and the designation of same would be left practically with the people through their municipal representatives. In Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry a gravel road could be constructed for from $1,000 to $1,500 per mile, and a macadam road for from $2,000 to $3,000 per mile

The roads assumed are usually such as will create a system of main market roads. The mileage of roads assumed is usually from 1-6 to 1-8 of the total road mileage of the county

When roads are assumed by a county council under this Act, township councils cease to have control over them, nor should they make any expenditure on them. The county council is thereafter responsible for construction and maintenance. The Provincial grant is paid annually and is based on a statement of expenditure for the year submitted to the Minister of Public Works and Highways by the County Council and includes all costs of labor, material, engineering services, salary of road superintendent, machinery and bridges on the designated system of county roads.

The financing of a county road system requires careful consideration. Some counties levy an annual rate on the equalized assessment to meet the yearly expenditure. Others obtain the necessary funds by the issue of debentures.

During the year 1914 the twenty counties working under the Highway Improvement Act spent in round numbers $788,900 on their Highways, and of the amount $262,000 or one-third of the total expenditure was contributed by the Province.

The counties now working under the Act, said Mr. Hogarth, are satisfied with what they have accomplished, and not one county which has started the work ever gave it up.

In terminating, Mr. Hogarth urged the people of this county to give their best and most favorable consideration to the good roads movement.

WE ARE HERE TO SERVE YOU

Plant a Vegetable Garden This Spring.

A garden 60 x 100 feet should produce sufficient vegetables for a family of ten persons, and leave some surplus for storage for winter, Cultivated by hand, it will occupy most of the spare time of a city dweller. A man cannot be a motor car or baseball enthusiast and at the same time make a success of a garden of this size. However, even smaller plots, if intelligently handled. may be made to yield an astonishing quantity of good crisp vegetables, which have not lost their health-preserving value in the store window. Where the space available is small, crops should be selected that take but little space and give quick returns, potatoes, cabbage, corn, egg-plant, peppers, had better be dispensed with, and the space devoted to such things as peas, beans, spinach, lettuce, carrots, beets, tomatoes and onions. Tomatoes should be stake-trained.

The cultivation of vegetables is easy and agreeable, and in the days when meat, eggs, milk and other staple articles are tending steadily to increase in price, a wider use of vegetable foods will reduce living expenses and promote health

The best time to do garden work is early in the morning and in the evening; so that it is well to encourage the healthful habit of early retiring and early rising. If the work is done for the love of it, rather than from necessity, these hours will be the most agreeable of the day.

Vegetables are gross feeders and require a large amount of plant food to give maximum results. Well rotted manure is the ideal garden fertilizer.

In small gardens, particularly where the soil is light, if manured and dug over in the autumn, a second digging in the spring will be advisable only of such portions as are to be devoted to such crops as cabbage, tomatoes, egg-plant, lettuce. A stirring of the surface will be sufficient where beets, carrots, etc., are to be grown, and this should not take place until the time for planting and sowing arrives, as freshly worked soil is best for both operations. It is important that soil should not be worked in too wet a condition, otherwise it will dry in lumps, and much time and labour will be necessary to repair the damage.

The secret of success with early planting of such crops as peas, beets, beans, is to sow the seed at only half the depth of later sowings. This is particularly the case on heavy soils. Seeding on light soil should always be at a slightly greater depth than on heavy soil.

Remember that in dry weather cultivation should be continuous. When watering is necessary, it should be applied to the roots and not sprayed or sprinkled over the surface. A trench may be opened up with a hand or wheel hoe along each row, water poured in from a pail, and the earth thrown back. In this way two hundred feet of row may be thoroughly watered by two persons in half an hour, and cultivating and watering are performed in one operation.

Good wood ashes form an excellent general fertilizer for the garden. They should be applied in the spring when the land is not too wet. Sifted coal ashes will be of great benefit on heavy soil. They improve the texture of the soil and help set free food for the plants.

Soils that have been under cultivation for some time need lime, Crops will not grow well if the soil is acid, and lime corrects acidity and liberates plant food. It should be applied broadcast early in the spring, at the rate of, say, one pound to ten square feet.

Have a garden, if possible, not only for the fresh wholesome food that can be produced but also for the pleasure of it. Plant a few flower seeds and watch them grow.

Eighteen Months for Brockville Thief.

Brockville, April 14.—Eighteen months in the Central Prison was the sentence meted out by Judge Dowsley to Lieut. John E. Nolan, charged with the theft of jewels from the home of Mrs. Flint, of Brockville, in January last. Nolan was attached to a Kingston battery for overseas service, and while on a visit here committed the robbery, the jewelry purloined being valued at between $3,000 and $4,000. In his flight from the country the prisoner was arrested at Montreal, and all the valuables were found on him with the exception of two rings which he had disposed of.

Warm Weatner for Remainder of April

Washington, D. C. April 25.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbances to cross continent April 13 to 17: and 18 to 22; warm waves 12 to 16 and 17 to 21: cool waves 15 to 19 and 20 to 24. These will cover a period warmer than usual, making fine cropweather for planting, sowing and growing. Temperatures were expected to go up from about April 22 to 27.

This splendid cropweather will develop the damages to winter wheat during the past winter and is expected to demonstrate a large amount of damage. The big speculators have complete control of crop news and are almost universally in error. That is their method of manipulating prices. We have privately advised all farmers who asked our advice not to to sell grain at the prices that prevailed during March. Farmers can hold grain but it is difficult for option dealers to do so. The great evil in grain and cotton markets lies in the false crop reports that are sent out. The government reports might be made in a way that would remedy this evil.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about April 24; cross Pacific slope by close of 25; central valleys, 26 to 28: eastern sections 29; cool wave will cross Pacific slope about April 27, central valleys 29; eastern sections May 1.

No dangerous storms are expected during last half of April. The most severe storms are expected not far from April 15. Rains will not be excessive during last half of April. A great fall in temperatures is expected from April 27 to May 2. Usually a fall in temperatures brings increased rainfall, but no heavy rains are expected during this drop. Drouth is not expected during April except in a few small sections.

May is expected to be cooler than usual and to have more than usual rainfall. Southeastern states will get most rain and the middle northwest least rain, But most of the middle northwest-Canada and the States, east of Rockies will get sufficient rain. Storms in May, will be more numerous than those in April. Storm periods will occur during the weeks centering on May 10, 17 and 30. Warmest week will centre on May 9: coolest week on May 26; greatest storms on the week centering on May 10.

In answer to a question it may be stated that everybody in khaki in these counties is amenable to the civil law. A change would come only with the proclamation of martial law.

The 154th will have lacrosse, baseball, football, soccer and track teams. Six of the best players of the Scottish soccer team of the Ottawa City League are members of the 154th.

It is the intention of the military authorities to press to the utmost any future offences of civilians supplying bottled liquor to soldiers. We understand that in Belleville several cases were dealt with recently and the maximum penalty was imposed. This is $300 00 ffne or three months at hard labor, but the Magistrate at Belleville gave the imprisonment without the option of a fine.

GALLANTRY OF THE CANADIANS

Ottawa, April 16.—The Canadian eye-witness at the front, in his official report of the fighting at St. Eloi from April 4 to 11, gives the following details of gallant deeds performed by the Canadians;—

In the confusion of the fighting for the craters many deeds of high courage and devotion were performed by our men. Some of them will never be fully recorded, for none are left to tell the tale. Others in due course may be garnered when the passage of time has thrown them into relief in the recollection of those men who witnessed them. Only bare details of a few of them can as yet be secured.

Lieut. J. F. Arbuckle, with Corporal Woods and Private Batson of our 31st Battalion Calgary, undertook a reconnaissance and penetrated several hundred yards into the German territory. Separated from his men in the darkness and wounded in the face by the explosion of a shell Lieut Arbuckle, managed to regain our trenches, bringing in valuable information as to the German defences. Private Batson was hit in the ankle: Corporal Woods stayed with him and bandaged the wound, but a little later was killed by a shell. All through the following day Private Batson lay in concealment within the German area and after dark crawled back to our lines.

Pte. A. B Davis and L. R. Seymour, 31st Battalion, moved to and fro between the craters occupied by our men and the trenches held by their company. They carried in several wounded men. In our dugout two brothers were buried by the explosion of a shell. Davis and Seymour tried to dig them out, but another shell struck the same place, killing both brothers and wounding Seymour. Davis lifted Seymour on his back and working his way through mud which reached over the hips carried him to shelter one hundred and twenty yards away.

Lance-Corp. Everett, 29th Battalion, Vancouver, was out on patrol on the morning of April 8 when the attack started. He was badly wounded, but after lying out all day regained our trenches on the night of April 7, using two shovels as crutches. Sergt. James Harvey, 29th Battalion, made fifteen trips under heavy fire from our support lines to the craters; each time he took fresh men with them, and each time brought in a number of wounded.

Capt. Carr, Medical Officer, 27th Battalion, Winnipeg, established an advanced dressing station in the front trenches, and under a heavy cross fire went out in front of our lines to bring in wounded men.

Capt. J. A. Cullum, Medical Officer, 28th Battalion, Winnipeg, took out parties of stretcher-bearers and brought in wounded men. Under heavy fire Captain Cullum, assisted by Sergt. George Lock, carried in one man for whom no stretcher could be secured.

Stretcher-bearers J. MacGillivray, 28th Battalion, and J. Wilkinson, 31st Battalion, continued to tend the wounded long after they themselves were hit.

Sergt. John McRae, 27th Battalion, after being wounded, remained at his post under a severe fire. On several occasions he acted as guide in reconnaissances towards the craters and stayed with his command until incapacited by further wounds.

Machine Gun Sergt. F. W. Haines, 27th Battalion, had his gun buried three times by shell explosions, but each time succeeded in bringing it again into action with very little delay. Finally the gun was hit while being fired from the parapet and Sergt. Haines was wounded. In spite of this he went out to the assistance of Grenade Sergt. Fritz, who was lying wounded 200 yardsaway. It was broad daylight and the enemy's fire was intense, but Sergt. Haines succeeded in carrying Sergt. Fritz back to safety.

Mob Attacks Man Who Wrote To Choquette

Toronto, April 16.—An angry mob, a few soldiers and several hundred civilians and women and children, composed of persons residing in Todmorden, assailed on Saturday night the home of Robert Hazelton, whose letter to Senator Choquette cast reflections upon the character of the men enlisting in Toronto battalions, and which was read in the Senate by its recipient, who described the writer as a Toronto Tory of some repute.

Hazelton's house was stoned, doors broken and windows shattered, and Hazelton, who appeared after the assault had commenced, was dragged out and thrown into an improvised coffin. He sprang out and with his back to the wall defied the mob. A county constable with drawn revolver arrived on the scene and marched Hazelton toward the city. In the meantime city police had been summoned, but before they arrived Hazelton was dragged from the custody of the county constable and thrown into a pool of muddy water. The constable dragged him out, and before the crowd could repeat the attack a squad of five city police arrived, and interposed between the mob and their victim, being aided by fifteen soldiers who were spectators. Hazelton was then placed in the patrol waggon and taken to the Pape Avenue police station, where he spent the night. Today he was returned to his home under police escort with blackened eyes and severely bruised.

Serious Fire At Newington.

Newington suffered from another bad fire when the house and bakeshop of George Green was totally destroyed. Mr. Green has lately bought the place and had baked only two batches of bread. His wife was wakened up on Saturday, 15th, about 3.30 a.m., by the smell of smoke and roused the inmates. The alarm was given and the whole village aroused for the premises was literally surrounded by frame buildings. Some of the articles were taken out from the lower story, but everything upstairs, including the piano, was destroyed. Everybody—men and women alike—worked manfully to save the adjoining buildings. S. Weaver's house, only about 50 feet away on the north side, caught twice but the blaze was extinguished. Isaiah Rombough's house on the south had also a narrow escape. S. Z. Wert did excellent work with his team of horses, pulling down buildings which adjoined the bakeshop and preventing the fire from spreading. The insurance companies which have risks on the property as far west as the Methodist Church, should certainly give the fire-fighters a sum of money for their exertions saved them thousands of dollars. Mr. Green had a small insurance or the building but none on the contents, so a meeting was held in the public library building in the evening, when a considerable sum in cash was subscribed and a committee consisting of D. Park, Oliver Neville, John Rupert, Geo. Fyke, W. J. Duvall and George Barkley appointed to collect money, clothes and provisions, to help Mr. Green out in his trouble, Everybody has subscribed liberally for this worthy object. James Martin is secretary of the committee and W. E. Thompson treasurer. A meeting of the ladies of the village was held on Monday night in the library, when Mrs. R. S. Silmser was appointed secretary and Misses Lizzie Thompson and Minnie Jardine were asked to canvass the village. $9.50 was subscribed at the meeting.

One of 'Em There.

There is a certain public man in Glasgow who is noted for two things—his quick wit and pride in his Celtic origin.

He was walking down Sauchiehall street one fine evening with an Englishman, when the latter looking at the sky, remarked. "How bright Orion is tonight!"

"A-r-rh!" replied the Glaswegian, "so that is O'Ryan. is it? Well, thank the Lord there's one Irishman in heaven, anyhow?"

The boys of the 154th want to get down to business right away Sections and Platoons have to be formed and a certain amount of preliminary drill performed before proceeding to camp. Are YOU holding them back?

THE FARMER'S LIFE INSURANCE

FARMERS are profound believers in fire insurance, and well they might be, removed, as most of them are, far from fighting facilities.

The farmer is careful to insure his barn, his house, his grain and his livestock. Yet, the most valuable thing of all, his own life, he often leaves uninsured.

A farmer aged 40, in good health, and able to produce only $1000 annually from his farm is worth at least $16,000 to his family if money earns 3½ per cent.

In the event of the farmer's death his thought and labour must be replaced by hired help. This would require money. Insurance would provide the money.

Perhaps a mortgage burdens the minds of the farmer and his wife. If so, a policy should be taken for the amount of the debt. If the husband dies, the policy would prevent foreclosure.

Every farmer should have a policy with

Dwight Beach Passes Away.

A gloom was cast over the community, when, on Friday it was learned that Dwight Beach, youngest son of Mr. Edwin Beach, of Osnabruck, had passed away during the early morning, at the age of twelve years.

The funeral was held on Saturday, April 15th, at the Elma church the Rev. Keough of Winchester officiating. Interment was made in the Maple Ridge cemetery.

Many kind friends and neighbors came to comfort the bereaved in their sorrow at the death of a dear son and brother. We extend our sympathy to them and hope they will take comfort in the thought that he has only gone to a happier home where he will reap a just reward.

The deceased is survived by his father and mother, three sisters and one brother, viz:—Mrs. John McNairn of Gallingertown, Edith, Jean and Hector at home.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Clarence and Milton Countryman, Arthur Brownell and Samuel Kyle, Jr.

"The Brownies' Whispers" is a unique operetta in which many of the characters represent well known flowers and their costumes are designed along those lines, making an especially pleasing stage picture. Don't miss it Monday night in the Music Hall.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian Church have had placed in the town Hall, for the use of the members of the 154th Battalion in training here, the church organ which was formerly used in the Church here. The men will get much benefit from it, as among their number is Pte. Fred Beckstedt who is an accomplished musician.

Only four countries in the world have more cars than the province of Ontario—the United States, the British Isles, France and Germany. This interesting fact is shown by the registration figures of the Provincial Secretary at Toronto. Close to 40,000 cars are now registered in Ontario. In all, there are 47 different makes of cars. There are over 80,000 cars owned in Canada.

Mr. W. J. McCurlie occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning and probably preached for the last time to a congregation here for some time to come. During the past year Mr. McCurlie has very acceptably worked at Colquhoun where the people are sorry to part with him but congratulate him on his appointment to one of the most important Missionary fields in the vicinity of Calgary, for which place he left the first of the week.

The Westport Mirror says.—"There was an amusing incident last week. One of our boys went home to his billet. He had been to a celebration and had indulged a little. Upon his arrival home he started to prepare for bed. He carefully took off one puttee and then quit, and after a while he couldn't tell for the life of him whether he was going to bed or getting up. He started to dress again, but looking at the clock he saw his mistake and went to bed. In the morning he had a great hunt for one puttee and after a long search he discovered it. He had put it on the wrong leg—the leg of the table."

The largest advance sale for a long time for an entertainment in Chesterville is that for "The Brownies' Whispers" on Monday night. Apparently everyone is making sure of a seat as yesterday it was necessary to have more tickets printed.
