CREATE A GOOD SLEEP ENVIRONMENT
Good sleep habits and a restful sleep environment play an important role in how well you sleep. You can sleep better by creating a comfortable place to sleep.

IS YOUR BEDROOM A GOOD PLACE TO SLEEP?
Your sleep environment serves as the basis for a good night's sleep. Noise, light, an uncomfortable or worn-out mattress and foundation or a room that's too warm or too cold can set you up for poor sleep.

THE FOUR FACTORS OF THE SLEEP ENVIRONMENT
You can make your sleep environment more conducive for restful sleep by checking these factors:

MATTRESS & FOUNDATION
Be sure your mattress and foundation meet your needs for ideal support and comfort. If you sleep with a partner, your mattress should allow you both enough space to move easily during the night.

LIGHT
Light is one of our body's most powerful time cues. The rising sun can stimulate the brain into wakefulness long before the alarm goes off. A dark room is the most conducive for sleep, day or night.

NOISE
Sudden, loud noises from inside or outside the homes can disrupt sleep. Steady, low sounds like the whir of a fan or air conditioner are soothing because they help block out other noises.

TEMPERATURE
The ideal bedroom temperature is 60 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit or 16 to 18 degrees Celcius. A room that's too hot or too cold can disturb your sleep.
