These marks represent the standing of some of our students on the recent Civil Service examinations. As these subjects are the most difficult in the curriculum, the foregoing feat at once explains why our record—FIRST, SECOND and FOURTH places for the whole of Canada—has never been equalled.

We not only give a superior training but also assist our students to good positions.

Former Mail Service Will be Restored.

Announcement was made early this week that the C. P. R. when arranging their summer schedule to take effect on May 30 had been induced through the effort of Mr. Andrew Broder and others, to restore to Chesterville, Winchester and Merrickville, the mail service as it was prior to June 1st, 1914. This will be very much appreciated especially by the business people of the town concerned and also by the travellers doing business and remaining over night.

World-Wide Popularity of Tea.

"In the tea trade there is much talk of enormous increases in the drinking of tea everywhere since the war began. Russia, already a large consumer of tea, is taking more and more to the beverage, now that vodka is banned. In France, tea is beginning to threaten the supremacy of coffee. The greater demand means higher prices in our households, especially as there is said to be no corresponding increase in the supply. Dealers are naturally uneasy as to the position."—London, Eng. 'Times' 24th April.

Bid Good-bye to Mrs. Graham.

A number of the lady friends of Mrs. Caroline Graham gathered at her home on Main St., on Monday evening to bid her farewell before leaving for her new home in Athens.

A pleasant social hour was spent in talking over old times, and good wishes expressed for the future of their lifelong friend.

An address of appreciation and good fellowship, was read by Mrs. (Rev.) H. E. Warren, on behalf of her large circle of friends.

It came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Graham, but in a few feeling sentences she thanked the ladies for their kind thoughtfulness.

Dainty refreshments were then served and the good-byes said.

At the station Wednesday morning many friends of the family gathered to say adieu, and express the hope that they would soon return for a visit among the many homes that will always be open to welcome them.

Concert and Banquet at Morewood.

The people of Morewood have a reputation for putting on high class entertainments, and this reputation was added to by the concert and banquet with which the members of the Canadian Order of Foresters celebrated the 25th anniversary of the institution of their court.

The concert followed by a banquet, on Friday evening last, was held in the Presbyterian Hall which was filled to the doors with an appreciative and enthusiastic audience, showing plainly the high regard and esteem in which the order is held by the people of Morewood and vicinity.

Mr. Frank Fraser presided as chairman both for the concert and banquet. In his opening remarks he stated this was his maiden attempt in such a capacity, nevertheless he discharged the duty with tact and discretion.

Miss Amy Beattie delighted the audience with several violin solos and was repeatedly recalled. Miss Beattie is always sure of a warm welcome from those who have once had the pleasure of listening to her masterly skill with the violin.

Miss Laura Simser gave two songs which were well received.

The patriotism and loyalty that animated the people were well illustrated by the hearty and spontaneous applause given a patriotic song rendered with great vigor by Mr. Wesley Reveller.

Not the least appreciated of the numbers was a solo by the six year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaver.

Miss Hunter played the accompaniments with her usual skill.

The speakers were Mr. O. D. Casselman of Chesterville, and Mr. Van Someren of Brantford. The former gave a twenty minutes address dealing with the moral and educational values of fraternal societies and their obvious duties and responsibilities to our country and to our empire at this time. His address was much appreciated, showing as it did a complete knowledge of the matters he dealt with and which he handled in a unique and original manner.

Mr. Van Someren, who is High Chief Secretary of the Canadian Order of Foresters, followed with a graphic and enlightening word picture of the good work done by the Order, its position, its possibilities, its dangers. Mr. Van Someren is thoroughly conversant with all matters relating to the Order. He clearly demonstrated that the Society was in a splendid position financially, notwithstanding its low rates of insurance.

The Banquet.

The caterer, Mr. John Summers, excelled himself in the preparation of the feast he provided. The excellence of the repast was only excelled by the appreciation of it by the banqueters. After full justice had been done to it the following toasts were proposed and responded to :

"The King," by all uniting in "God Save the King."

"The Order," by Mr. Van Someren.

"Our Country," by Mr. O. D. Casselman.

"The Charter Members," by Mr. James Fetterly

"Sister Lodges," by Mr. R. J. Blacklock.

"The Ladies," by Mr. Allan Smirl.

"Our Visitors," by Mr. M. E. Hunter.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

CHESTERVILLE

Pastor, REV. H. E. WARREN, M. A., B. D.

Notices for Sunday, May 23rd, 1915.

It is Church Anniversary Sunday. The Rev. George W. McColl, B. A., B. D., of Montreal will preach morning and evening and address an open session of the Sunday School in the afternoon.

The church anniversary supper will be held on Monday evening,—Victoria Day.

Strangers Cordially Welcomed.

Personal

Mr. C. W. Casselman spent the week-end in Montreal.

Mrs. Jas. Beattie has been a guest of Montreal friends during the week.

Miss Bessie Durant of Winchester, has been specially engaged as soloist at the anniversary services in Trinity Methodist Church.

Rev. Fr. Fleming, who has been indisposed, suffering from bronchitis for past two weeks, left for Brockville Hospital on Monday for a few days' treatment. It is hoped the change will restore his usual health, as his illness is deeply regretted.

In the Capital City tickets sell readily for $1.00 to hear Miss Recardi sing you may hear her in your home town for 25c.

Runaway Sunday Morning.

Sunday morning as Mr. and Miss Chambers, from north of town, were coming to church their horse took fright at a passing automobile and jumping quickly to the ditch upset the buggy, throwing the occupants out and running away. Miss Chambers was unhurt but her brother who had kept hold of the reins was dragged some distance before letting go and was considerably bruised. The horse ran toward town dragging the upset buggy until caught by G. H. Baker opposite his place. Fortunately for the occupants the buggy was an open one instead of covered. The rig was of small value and the horse uninjured.

Trinity Methodist Church Anniversary.

On Sunday and Monday next the congregation of Trinity Methodist Church are celebrating the sixth anniversary of the dedication of the church. This handsome structure was erected in 1907 and 1908 at a cost of $30,000 and is one of the most commodious and beautiful church structures in this part of Ontario. The debt of nearly $5000 has been almost provided for during the past year. This week a systematic canvas is being made by the church officiary for the church Anniversary Fund, while the ladies of the congregation are making arrangements for the social gathering on Victoria Day evening. Rev. Mr. McColl of Montreal, one of the strong preachers of Canadian Methodism, is to be the anniversary preacher on Sunday, delivering a patriotic address on Monday evening. Miss Bessie Durant of Winchester, is to sing on Monday night as well as morning and evening on Sunday. Mrs. Howard, the church organist, is to supply the musical numbers, assisted by others.

Rev. H. E. Warren is completing his first year among the congregation of Trinity. The committee of management consists of the pastor, Mr Cornelius Cross, Mr. W. J. Johnston, Mrs. Ingram Cross, Mrs. Chester Casselman and Mrs. Parnham Allison.

All "rush seat" tickets (25c.) at the Public School concert Friday evening.

CHARLIE FORWARD WRITES OF GREAT BATTLE IN BELGIUM

Came through safely without a scratch

The following graphic narrative was received this week by Mrs. Thos. Forward from her son Charles, who is fighting with the Canadians at present in Belgium.

The reference to flowers sent to Westmount are of some picked after the battle and sent to a friend there.

Belguim, April 28.

"No doubt you know long before this that we have been in action in earnest—also that we made good. I am very thankful to be able to write you regarding same, for our ranks have been sadly diminished and he is a lucky boy who came through it at all.

"On the 22nd, about 2.30 p.m., after a terrible bombardment by the enemy, the French lines on our left broke and allowed the Germans to get through. We had just arrived in billet the day before and were ordered out again and intrenched along the canal bank awaiting orders.

"About 9 p.m. we received orders to advance and retake some trenches and a battery of artillery, and by so doing check their advance.

"At 11 p.m. we were lined up in form of attack a few hundred yards ahead of the enemy. Here we waited, lying on the ground, stripped off all extra equipment, with bayonets fixed and only waiting for the word to advance.

"It came at last.

"We were formed up in eight lines of attack and on the word moved steadily forward. At about 350 yards the enemy opened a withering fire with machine guns and maxims.

"Still we moved steadily but quickly.

"At 150 yards' distant the order 'Charge!' rang out with the call from our colonel and majors in front of 'Conteo', the Sixteenth! Come on, the Canadians! Come on, the Canadian Scottish! Give them hell!'

"And we did."

"In a few moments we had both the trenches in front of the woods.

"Our officers were grand and not a man wavered or held back, except those stopped with lead.

"One captain went down, shot through legs and body, but continued with his last breath, crawling on his hands and knees through the enemy's lines, and calling to his men to go on.

"Our good old colonel and his brother, our senior major, led the charge, each with a rifle and bayonet in their hands and were amongst the first to cross over the trenches. Both, thank God, were never hurt and are still with us, as proud of us as we are of them.

"But our losses were very heavy and you could not recognize the Canadian Scottish as the same battalion which paraded earlier in the afternoon. Of forty-eight men in the battery, we could only count eighteen when we returned to camp, but we were on the extreme left and subjected to an enfilade fire which cut us up. I never again want to go up against such a hail of lead as that.

"They had six machine guns in three hundred yards playing on us, besides thousands of rifles. How any man got through without being hit is only a miracle, and I for one am very thankful, indeed.

"For forty-eight hours after the charge we fought steadily, falling back from position to position, but holding the enemy, who were in great numbers, in check until reinforcements in both infantry and artillery could reach us.

"Finally they came, and we moved back to the reserve trenches As brigade after brigade arrived they proceeded to punish the Germans terribly. Their losses have been enormous.

"The Canadian division, although badly cut up, have had the honor of being thrown into the breach at a moment's notice, and at great cost checked and held a big German movement against many times our own numbers, and saved another retreat such as the one from Mons.

"The Montreal battalions did splendid work and we are proud to have them in our brigade.

"I must close now, and get some rest, for I have had very little lately. We have been in the trenches ever since the 22nd."

In a postscript, Private Forward writes: "Enclosed find a couple of primroses picked on part of the battlefield."

The primroses, with two or three violets, arrived in Westmount without being crushed, and considering they grew on a new historic field, have been fitly mounted.

PROOF OF CANADIANS CRUCIFIED.

Northern France, May 14.--There is good reason to believe that the story of the crucifixion of a Canadian officer is in substance true. I have reason to believe that written depositions testifying to the fact of the discovery of the body are in the possession of the British headquarters staff. The unfortunate victim was a sergeant. As the story was told to me he was found transfixed to a wooden fence of farm buildings. Bayonets were thrust through the palms of his hands and feet, pinning him to the fence. He had been repeatedly stabbed with bayonets, and there were many punctures and wounds in his body.

CORNWALL "BOY'S" APPOINTMENT.

Cornwall, Ont., May 14.—Captain A. A. Smith, L. D. S., of Cornwall, was notified today of his appointment to the Canadian Army Dental Corps, "overseas service," with rank of captain, to report at headquarters at Ottawa on June 7th. Captain Smith has appointed as his orderly John Weaver, who will have the rank of sergeant.

Captain Smith is an old lacrosse player, and was one of the members of the Cornwall lacrosse team, champion of the world. He was also a crack rifle shot and was at Bisley, England, several times with the Canadian Bisley team. He was senior captain in the 59th Regiment at the time of his retirement a few years ago.

Heavy Rains Fell Over Wheat Areas.

Winnipeg, May 17.—The Free Press tonight queried by telephone fifteen points in Manitoba that on the 11th reported immediate need of rain, and all but one have had heavy rains within the past 36 hours, and crops are now in fine shape. A number of Saskatchewan points previously in need of rain report rains of from 24 to 48 hours duration. Points heard from in Manitoba were as follows:

Morden, heavy rain Saturday, just what was needed to perfect conditions. Neepawa, light rain Saturday, will do good, but more needed. Oak River started Friday night, and rained 24 hours, great lor the crops. Milita, rained all day Saturday. Edrans, heavy rain for a couple of hours Saturday, will help, but want more. Deloraine, rain started Friday night and poured for 24 hours, plenty of moisture for present needs. Pipestone, rained nearly all day Saturday, ground has a good soaking. Hartney, started Friday night and rained 22 hours, a good steady rain will do enormous good. Birtle, rained all Friday night and all day Saturday, moisture enough to last quite a while. Eldhorn, started Friday and rained for 24 hours, enough moisture for all present needs. Baldur, rained 24 hours, enough rain for two weeks. Belmount, have had 24 hours' rain, will do much good. Carberry, rained all day Saturday, with rather heavy wind, but ground is wet. Pendennis, rained Saturday enough to last quite a while. Grandview, rained Thursday night and again Saturday, will help a lot. Harding, rained all Friday night, and Saturday, will do much good.

A glance at the map shows that these points cover the province north, south, west and centre.

Saskatchewan; Tribune, have had 24 hours steady downpour. Qu'Appelle, rain fell continuously for 56 hours, ground is thoroughly soaked, and considerable water in sloughs. Bethune, two days' steady rain and still raining. Eyebrow, 48 hours of steady rain. Will help wheat enormously and insures full germination of coarse grains. Hanley, heavy rain for 24 hours, ground well soaked.

American Settlers Flocking to Canada.

Ottawa, May 19.—During the nine months since the outbreak of the war no less than 30,000 American settlers have come to Canada. Immigrants from Great Britain numbered only 12,000 and from Continental Europe 2,700. The immigration from the United States consisted mostly of farmers and is encouraged by the Dominion Government on that account. It is felt that the greater the number engaged in farming operations the better we are able to provide the food supply required in these times of stress by the Empire and our allies.

American railway companies and American real estate men have attempted to prevent settlers and tourists from coming to Canada, and they have used arguments for which there was no foundation. It can be authoratively stated that settlers coming to Canada are not subjected to burdensome war taxes, as alleged, and the greatest care has been taken to prevent unnecessary barriers being placed in the way of intercourse between the two countries.

CLERGYMEN'S DAUGHTERS.

Many Have Become Famous as Novelists and Hymn-Writers.

Reviewing the ranks of famous women, particularly in the world of literature, one is surprised to find how many of them were daughters of clergymen of whom the world would probably have heard nothing had it not been for the brilliant achievements of their children.

Jane Austen first saw the light in the Vicarage of Steventon, in Hampshire, in 1775; Mrs. Gaskell, who is famous as the author of "Cranford," was the daughter of William Stevenson, who preached at Dobiane, and her intimate friend, Charlotte Bronte, who, with her sisters, Emily and Anne, took the world by storm, were the daughters of Patrick Bronte, whose church and rectory at Haworth are yearly the Mecca of thousands of admirers of these immortal women.

Mrs. Lynn Linton, the Victorian novelist; John Strange Winter, the creator of "Bootle's Baby" and many another tale of the army; and Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, who, with "Uncle Tom's Cabin's," struck the death-blow of the slave trade, were all daughters of preachers.

Among the more modern brilliant women are Olive Schreiner, who was the daughter of a missionary and born in Basutoland, where her father worked, and Mrs. Florence Barclay, who, as it were, sprang into fame in a night with "The Rosary," and who is the daughter of the Rev. Samuel Charlesworth, rector of Limpsfield, Surrey, and later of Limehouse. Mrs. Barclay had written simply for "the joy of the job," says The Woman at Home, and it was her sister, Mrs. Ballington Booth, who induced her to send her "stuff" to a publisher.

Jane and Mary Findlater, whose individual and collaborated novels, "The Green Graves of Balgowrie," "The Rose of Joy," etc., have brought them wealth and fame, are the daughters of the late Rev. Eric Findlater, Lochearnhead, and their life-long friend, Mrs. Nigel Robertson, the author of "The Gallant Quaker," is the daughter of the late Rev. Thomas Hill, Dundee; while Mrs. Billington, the president of the Women Journalists' Society, is the daughter of a Devonshire clergyman, by whom she was educated.

It is scarcely surprising, perhaps, that many of our famous hymns were written by daughters of the vicarage. The best-known wedding hymn, "O Perfect Love," owes its origin to Mrs. Gerald Gurney, daughter of Dr. Blomfield, Bishop of London, who penned it in a very short time at the laughing request of her sister, who asked her what was the good of having a poet for a sister if she could not write a special hymn for her wedding. The hymn was set to music by Sir Joseph Barnby, and sung for the first time publicly at the marriage of Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll. Frances Ridley Havergal, too, the famous hymn-writer, was the daughter of a clergyman.

No Time For Art.

"Real high art," said a comedian, "seldom strikes home. I played in a melodrama in my youth where the leading characters were grand artists, but their best scenes were only scoffed at. Our villain had a death scene in the sixth act. He reveled in that scene. He writhed all over the stage. It was real high art! In a small town one night the scene shifter started to lower the slow curtain on his death much too soon. The dying villain, as he kicked about, whispered hoarsely:

"'Time there, young fellow. I ain't dead yet.'

"'Dead or not dead,' said the shifter, 'me hot supper's waitin' fur me.'"

Gone Too Long.

"Did you ever chase a rainbow, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"Oh, yes, ma'am!" replied the boy.

"And did you catch it?"

"Sure. I caught it from mother when I got home."—Yonkers Statesman.

"It's a great thing to have a wife you can depend upon."

"Do you mean yours?"

"Sure. I can depend upon her to exceed her allowance for next month."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Most of Us Lie Then.

"Is he a truthful man?"

"With one exception he is."

"What's the exception?"

"I have never known him to tell an untruth except about himself."—Detroit Free Press.

Too Busy.

"Well, you would marry her. Now you can repent at leisure."

"If I could do that I wouldn't be kicking, but she is so doggone extravagant that I don't have any leisure."—Houston Post.

Soil Compared To Man.

For the better part of a generation, Americans have been hearing of the exhaustion of the soil in this country. Abandoned farms in New England had to be given up because they returned such poor crops that their future cultivation was not worth while. Important elements for plant life and growth were said to have been ruthlessly taken from them by wasteful farming and never restored, and it was prophesied that the same thing would happen to the great farming lands in the Middle and Far West.

The popular impression existed that the earth was "an inanimate mixing bowl out of which plants ate, as cattle feed from the trough. What was not put in could obviously not be taken out, and since chemical analysis proved that plants do absorb mineral plant food elements the bowl must quite as obviously run empty unless we poured back as much as the crops took out."

When the United States Bureau of Soils undertook an investigation, however, it found no basis for the general deterioration of the soil thus suggested. It did find that properly cultivated soil increased in fertility in the course of time, but that certain changes in the soil, which might well be called "diseases" were responsible for the lessening of the crops; further, these dsseases could be treated rather readily once they were recognized.

"The whole story has many analogies with certain theories of human diseases, and with many medical problems," says the Journal of the American Medical Association. "Out of this investigation has come the interesting conclusion that the soil is not a dead set of minerals in a mixing bowl, but an organism having hitherto unperceived likenesses to the body of man. Cultivation seems to be to the crop-bearing earth what exercise and air are to human beings, and there are probably laws of hygiene and sanitation quite as applicable to the control of the soil's health as to that of mankind.

Hen That Lays News In Eggs.

Mrs. J. A. Jared, wife of Rev. J. A. Jared, a Methodist minister, at Sedalia, M. O., while cooking eggs for breakfast broke an egg and seeing some foreign substance ih the shell, removed it to find that it was a scrap from a newspaper, the printing being clearly visible.

The unique find is attracting a great deal of attention. No one has been able to explain how it got inside of the egg shell

More than half of the interior of the shell was lined with the paper.

Renfrew Library May Cost $15,000.

Renfrew, May 16.—Renfrew ratepayers adopted by a substantial majority a bylaw making the public library public within the meaning of provincial law. The Carnegie trust will now be asked for funds to erect a public library building. Something to cost about $15,000 is the aim.

Youthful Patriotism.

Five hundred and fifty school children in four townships of Dundas and Stormont Counties under the direction of the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture, Morrisburg, are growing a plot of potatoes to contribute to some patriotic fund. Each of these pupils have been supplied with ten pounds of potatoes which is sufficient to plant a plot one rod square. In an average season, with care, these should produce from one bushel to one bushel and a half of potatoes which would mean over a car load of potatoes to send to market, the proceeds from which will represent the efforts of these youthful patriots towards assisting in fighting the Empires' battles.

These potatoes will be brought in to the school fair in the fall and will be exhibited on that day. From there they will be sent to some central place, probably Ottawa, and marketed to the best advantage.

The enthusiasm shown by the pupils in taking up this work is well shown by the spirit in which one little girl took up the work. She asked her father if she grew this War Plot if it would be helping to defeat the Germans. He stated that it would and she immediately said "I am going to take potatoes for that War Plot and give them just as good care as I can, so that I will have a lot of potatoes to give to help whip the Germans."

In several schools in this district practically every pupil is growing a plot and have expressed the thought that they intend to grow as many as possible from their plot in order that they may have a good shipment to make from their school section.

We sometimes feel that the children of our country do not get instilled in them the patriotism that perhaps the children of some other Countries do, but the spirit in which these children have entered into the growing of a War Plot of potatoes, indicates that the love of Country is not lacking even in the youth of our land. There is an object lesson in their endeavors to the adult population. They have enthusiastically and willingly done their "little bit" in assisting the Empire in the fight for freedom and liberty.

Red Cross Work.

It is a pleasure to give public expression to the gratitude of the officers of the Red Cross Society toward the community which has so liberally supported their efforts in carrying on this noble work, for by their generous support the secretary has been able to send to the Women's committee at Ottawa, $200.00, for the endowment of four beds at the Canadian Hospital at Cliveden, England.

The above amount was made up of:—

Donation from the young people $50.00. This bed to bear the legend "From the young people of Chesterville."

Donation from Maple Ridge $50.00. Mrs. S. Fulton and Mrs. George Smith canvassed their neighborhood, with the above gratifying result. This bed to be labelled "From Maple Ridge."

The remaining two beds were provided by our townspeople, together with an amount contributed for Red Cross purposes, and previously acknowledged in The Record.

These two beds are to be known as the "Chesterville, Ontario, No. 2," and "The Chesterville, Ontario, No. 3, one bed having been previously endowed in the month of April.

Complete lists of contributors will follow, as space in the paper permits.

Received Too Late for Insertion.

We regret that on account of it coming to hand too late we have to hold over the Nation Valley news as well as a very interesting letter from Grant Servage telling of the fighting in Belgium.

Minutes of Special Meeting Factory No. 3.

Special meeting called 21st April 1915, in Mr. Geo. McLean's Factory No. 3, for the purpose of discussing the making of the cheese from 1½c to 1⅝c.

Moved by H. Hummel, seconded by George Baker, that Thos. Hamilton act as chairman.

Moved by George Beattie seconded by David McLaughlin, that Robt. McEwen act as secretary.

After quite a discussion Mr. McLean agreed to manufacture the cheese for 1⅝c.

Moved by Stanley Fetterly, seconded by George Edgerton, that Mr. McLean manufacture cheese at 1⅝c to regular patrons and 1½c to shippers.

Moved by George Beattie, seconded by George Edgerton, that Mr. McLean is to stand all cuts.

Morewood Women's Institute.

The annual meeting of the Morewood Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. C. Cheney. The election of officers for 1915-16 took place and resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. J. W. Bogart.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs H. Myers.
2nd Vice-Pres.- Mrs. Wm. Bouck
Sec'y—Mrs. Arthur Swerdfeger.
Directors—Mrs. R. Rainey, Mrs. E. Faulkner, Mrs. M. Casselman, Mrs. T. Hepburn.
District director—Mrs. J. H. Loughridge.

A good deal of discussion took place regarding the work of this branch for the Red Cross Society.

The following list of articles have been made and sent to the Red Cross headquarters in Toronto:

4 dozen handkerchiefs, 12 covers for hot water bottles, 8 mending kits (complete), 25 pillows (8 of these rubber covered), 9 night shirts, 59 pillow slips, 66 pairs of socks, 26 grey flannel shirts, 6 cholera belts, 2 pairs mitts and 1 pair gloves, 2 helmets. 7 mufflers, 16 pairs wristlets, 18 rolls of bandage, 4 pairs of bed socks, 5 pairs of slippers

The Institute donated fifty dollars to buy material and make up and the Methodist and Presbyterian Ladies' Aid societies each donated $15.

We hope to be able to continue this work as long as the need for it lasts.

A committee was appointed by the women's Institute to discuss the question of organizing a Red Cross Society.

Red Cross Assembly.

The enthusiastic committee of young ladies who arranged for and managed the very pleasant evening on Friday last when a dance was given in Hamilton's Hall, are to be warmly congratulated on the success of the undertaking. Our own young people furnished the music, and, judging by the vigorous encores they received their efforts are fully appreciated.

The committee handed over the proceeds of the evening to the secretary of the Red Cross Society, to be applied in endowing a bed at the Canadian Hospital at Cliveden, England.

As the only expense to the committee was the merely nominal sum for which Mr. Hamilton was good enough to allow them the use of his fine hall (on account of the direction of the funds) the Red Cross Society are the better off by $51.75.

There was a small party in the commercial room of the Red Lion discussing the merits of several public men. "I tell ye," said Mr. Sandy McNab, "all great men are Scots. It has always been so, and ever will be—there!" A little man in the corner suggested that Shakespeare wasn't a Scotsman. Mr. McNab glowered at him. "It's all very weel, my man, saying that Shakespeare was no Scot, but judging from his great abilities I should say there is strong suspicion he came from Scottish ancestors."

Death of H. L. Woodcock.

Richville, May 10.—The death of Mr. Woodcock, which occurred at the Ogdensburg City hospital Monday evening, May 3rd, was a great shock to the whole community While Mr. Woodcock was doing repair work on the Congregational parsonage the ladder on which he stood broke, precipitating him to the ground, a distance of about ten feet. He was picked up unconscious. A doctor was hurriedly called and on examination found the skull to be fractured in two places. He was taken immediately to the hospital in care of Dr. Allen and everything that medical skill could do was done for him but to no avail. He passed away without regaining consciousness at the time stated.

Mr. Woodcock came to Richville about ten years ago from Fullerville and had resided here with the exception of one year at Oswegatchie. Since coming here he followed the tinsmith trade, working for his brother-in-law, F. S. Walker.

Mr. Woodcock was one of the most popular young men of the village, well liked and respected by all and his untimely death caused great sorrow in the community. Mr. Woodcock was born December 2, 1879, at Fullerville. His parents were the late Hiram and Celia Woodcock. Sixteen years ago he married Miss Marcella Atkins, who survives him with three children, Celia, Don and Marjorie; also his aged mother, two half-brothers. Bert Balmat of Fernwood and Frank of Hermon; two sisters, Mrs. Fuller of Gouverneur and Mrs. F. S. Walker of Richville.

Mr. Woodcock was a member of Richville Lodge, F. and A. M., No. 633, and also of the newly organized fire department.

His funeral was largely attended from his late home Thursday, May 6th, on the Welsh road. The service was conducted by D. L. Williams, pastor of the Congregational church. The singing was by a male quartette composed of J. C. Spooner Frank Buck, Carlton and Van Spooner. The services at the grave were in charge of the lodge and were conducted by Right Worshipful Past District Deputies J. H. Lalone and F. A. Rich, assisted by the chaplain of the lodge, R. L. Williams. During the ceremonies at the grave the quartette sang, "Solemn Strikes Our Funeral Chimes" very effectually. The bearers were F. S. Walker, Bert Balmat, Frank Balmat, Ivan Scruton, Orlie McCollum and Thomas Scruton. The casket was completely covered with beautiful flowers from sympathizing friends and societies. As a mark of respect the Union school was closed during the afternoon. The remains were laid to rest in the Wayside cemetery. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the community.

The out of town friends who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Balmat of Hermon, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Balmat of Fernwood, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Fuller Mr. and Mrs. Scruton and the Misses Hazel and Ida Brown and Mr. Irvin of Oswegatchie, Mr. and Mrs. Orla McCollum and son of Hermon and Mrs. Ward Pitcher of Chesterville, Ont.

Says Shareholders Are Delaying Work on M. and O. Line.

Nearly every day the Morrisburg and Ottawa Railway Company issues a few writs against shareholders who have not paid up their shares. Thirty or more have been issued since the company was given judgment in the eleven actions that were first brought to court. Monday writs were served on Mrs. H. S. Buckel for $873, Mrs. W. Cochrane for $292, Miss Annie McDonald for $292.65, and Thomas Blyth for $487.

Ten of the eleven against whom judgment was given by Judge Reilly has served notice of appeal. Only R. McGill has accepted the judgment of the court without further action. The appeals are to be heard in the appellate division of the supreme court, Toronto, next month.

There is to be another meeting of the dissatisfied shareholders next Saturday. They will decide then on a policy for the future. The company's officers say that nothing but the agitation of the dissatisfied shareholders is preventing the continuance of work on the road. The contractors. it is understood, have declined to start work until the differences between the company and the shareholders are settled.

The Cultivation of Corn.

The Agricultural Gazette in a recent number contained much important matter relating to the cultivation of corn. "By the aid of science," the Gazette says, "great progress has been made in extending and improving the corn crop in Canada." In thirty years the yield has increased from a little over nine million bushels to nearly seventeen million. In 1893 the yield of fodder corn was 1,049,524 tons. Twenty years later, or in 1913, it was 2,616,300 tons. Increase and improvement were noticeable in almost every province. Relative to the argument sometimes advanced that Canada is situated too far north for the production of corn. Dr. M. O. Malte, Dominion Agrostologist, says that while there are districts in Canada where Indian corn could and should be grown to the greatest advantage, there are also thousands of square miles where profitable growing would be very difficult. After stating that the quality of the ensilage produced by a certain variety of corn would be the factor which should guide the farmer in his choice of seed, Dr. Malte says that the experience gained by the Experimental Farms demonstrates the wisdom of increasing the acreage of early varieties rather than of depending on large yielding late sorts for the desired tonnage.

The Canadian Seed Growers' Association has given special attention to the corn crop, particularly to that grown for ensilage. All experiments and research indicate that the great need of ensilage growers is a supply of seed corn of strong vitality and of a variety and strain suited to the conditions under which it is to be grown. For Ontario the following seven varieties are best adapted:

Dents—Wisconsin No. 7, Golden Glow, Whitecap Yellow Dent, Bailey.

Flints—Longfollow, Compton's Early, Salzer's North Dakota.

As for sweet corn, Deputy Minister Roadhouse states that the Golden Bantam has proved the best early variety and Stowell's Evergreen the best late variety.

Manitoba is not much given to corn growing, but the fodder favorites are the Longfellow, North-Western Dent and North Dakota Flint. Of the husking varieties the choices are Native or Squaw corn, Gehu Yellow Flint, Free Press and Quebec or Canada Yellow, the last mentioned being a little later than the others. In Saskatchewan and Alberta the varieties favored are about the same as in Manitoba. In British Columbia the progress in corn-growing has been marked, Minnesota No. 13, North Western Dent and Quebec No. 28 having so far given the best results. In New Brunswick and the Maritime Provinces generally New Brunswick Yellow, Canada Yellow and Squaw corn have proved the most valuable varieties.

NURSING THE WOUNDED.

Lady Sarah Wilson Is at Her Old Task.

At the Hotel Christol, Boulogne has been established a hospital, with accommodation for 200 beds, which was really founded by one of the most remarkable and venturesome women of to-day—Lady Sarah Wilson. One might search for a long time in "Who's Who" for a more interesting life-story than that of this lady who, although wealthy, an intimate friend of royalty, and a leading hostess in society, has preferred a life of adventure and excitement to one of leisured ease.

As a child Lady Sarah lived in the semi-regal state of Dublin Castle during the viceroyalty of her father, the seventh Duke of Marlborough. A woman of striking originality, she was not long out of her teens before she made a special position for herself by her brilliant and facile pen, and a certain capable directness of character.

Called after Sarah Jennings, wife of the first Duke of Marlborough, Lady Sarah Wilson seems to have inherited some of that ancestress's lack of conventionality and love of adventure. In years gone by she has startled her friends by suddenly disappearing from the haunts of society and hiding herself in remote regions, where she has gratified her fondness for big-game shooting, exploration, and yachting. And when it is mentioned that during the South African war she did invaluable work as a nurse, holding the Royal Red Cross, and is, moreover, a Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, it will be readily understood why her proposal to establish a hospital at Boulogne was welcomed by the authorities.

It was the Boer war which brought Lady Sarah into the greatest prominence. She went out to the front as correspondent for a daily newspaper. A message was sent her by carrier pigeon, but the bird flew into the Boer camp, where the message was read, and an escort was sest out to capture her, as it was thought she was a spy. She was taken prisoner, and eventually exchanged for Viljoen.

Lady Sarah then went to Mafeking, where she was shut up during the siege. Of that campaign Lady Sarah has published her reminiscences, while a burlesque account of her adventures is to be found in "The Lop Doctor."

In 1891 Lady Sarah married Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon Wilson, of the "Blues," who inherited a large fortune from his father, Sir Samuel Wilson, an Australian millionaire squatter, King-Edward, then Prince of Wales, attending the ceremony. Lady Sarah was a special favorite with both King Edward and Queen Alexandra.

Fireproof Clothes.

Dr. William H. Perkin, the English chemist, has found a method of making cloth absolutely fireproof, so that it will not burn even when held in a gas-flame. One fireproof garment was unharmed by twenty washings, and another which had been worn for two years and washed every week. Neither could be burned, though the latter was worn almost to rags. This fireproof cloth costs about a penny a yard more than untreated cloth.

Not only will this fireproofed material be found suitable for the manufacture of clothes for firemen, but it may also be used by women for the finest party dresses, the most delcately-colored fabrics being unharmed by the process and even given a softer appearance. For children's clothes it should be particularly desirable, since it is likely to prevent many accidents.

Uniforms at 15 a Minute.

Army uniforms are being turned out by the manufacturers of Leeds, England, at the rate of fifteen a minute, or 7,200 for a day of eight hours or 42,200 a week.

In a model factory the piece of khaki cloth, measuring from fifty-five yards to sixty-five yards in length and weighing twenty-one to twenty-two ounces to the yard, enters the cutting room and after passing through only four other departments is presented to the Government as pressed and completed uniforms. They are made in eighteen sizes.

Never in all its history has Leeds turned out so many boots as in the past few months. War Office inspectors insist on the best and examine all material. The boots cost the Government $5 a pair.

"Tommy's" Welsh Letters.

The father of four Welsh soldiers complains strongly, says The South Wales Daily News, of the War Office restrictions against letters written in Welsh. "There are thousands of mothers who cannot write in English," he says. "My wife used to write Welsh letters to her boys, but they never reached them, and one of my boys writes to say he has been warned not to write in Welsh. If Welsh blood is good enough to be spilt on the plains of Flanders the Welsh language is good enough to be written."

WOMAN'S BEST MEDICINE

Mrs. Kelly Advises all Women to Take "Fruit-a-Tives"

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th. 1913.

"I can highly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" because they did me an awful lot of good and I cannot speak too highly about them. About four years ago, I commenced taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a general break-down and they did me a world of good. We bought a good many dollar's worth, but it was money well spent because they did all that you claim for them. Their action is so pleasant, compared with other laxatives, that I found only pleasure, as well as health, in taking them. They seemed to me to be particularly suited to women, on account of their mild and gentle action, and I trust that some other women may start taking "Fruit-a-tives" after reading my letter, and if they do, I am satisfied the results will be the same as in my own case".

MRS. W. N. KELLY

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A Story of the Wayside.

Once 'pon a time a Traveler woke up in a valley an' seen a bright face Young Man stanin' nigh, an' de Traveler axed him ter please show him whar Mr. Happiness lived at, an' de Young Man said:

"You on de spot right now. It's whar you done had dat good rest last night. Mr. Happiness lives in de ground at yo' feet, an' w'en he hears de sound of yo' plow an' yo' pickax an' yo' hoe he'll come up an' almos' shake yo' two hands off—he'll be so glad ter see you!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Numbered Teaspoons.

Tea table etiquette was somewhat complicated in the days of that "hardened and shameless tea drinker," Dr. Johnson, when many people thought nothing of drinking ten or twelve cups at a sitting. It was considered proper for the cups and saucers of a party of tea drinkers to be all passed up to the hostess in one batch when replenishment was considered necessary, and in order that each person might be sure of getting back the right cup the teaspoons were numbered. When the cups were passed up those who did not require any more tea were supposed to place the spoon in the cup.—London Saturday Review.

Brilliant Mme. de Stael.

Mme. de Stael was about thirty-two years old when Bouilly wrote that she was neither imposing nor pleasing, but had "an eager, almost ravenous expression in the eyes and something masculine and assured in her countenance. Her lips were dry and arid, her movements and gestures imperious; her voice was sonorous and her utterance rapid and energetic." She gave him the idea, he adds, "of creative genius taking the form of a woman destitute of beauty." It is said that she loved nothing better than to place herself beside Mme. Recamier, thinking that this beauty made the best foil to her own brilliant wit and expressive countenance.

Taking After Father.

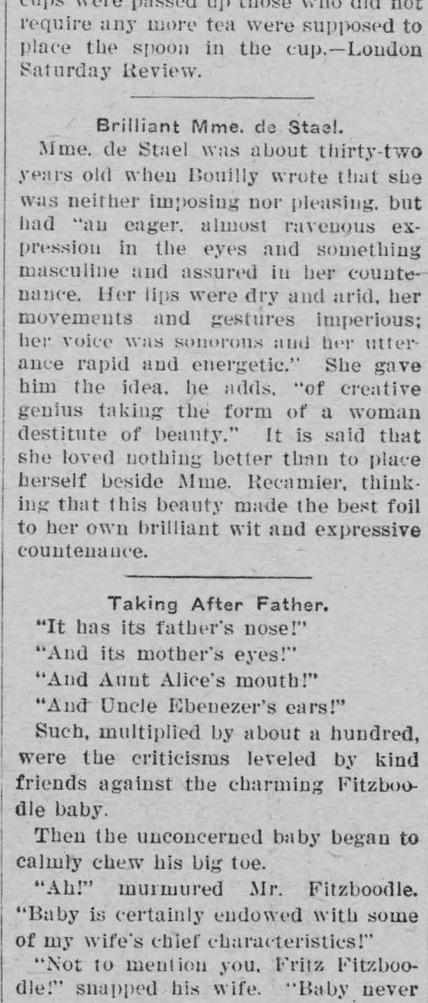
"It has its father's nose!"
"And its mother's eyes!"
"And Aunt Alice's mouth!"
"And Uncle Ebenezer's ears!"

Such, multiplied by about a hundred, were the criticisms leveled by kind friends against the charming Fitzboodle baby.

Then the unconcerned baby began to calmly chew his big toe.

"Ah!" murmured Mr. Fitzboodle. "Baby is certainly endowed with some of my wife's chief characteristics!"

"Not to mention you, Fritz Fitzboodle!" snapped his wife. "Baby never opens his mouth without putting his foot in it!"



DECLINE SUBSTITUTES

MOISTURE AND DUST.

Why This Rain Combination In the Air Shows a Red Sun

An old weather proverb runs, "A red sun has water in his eye," and the condition which gave rise to it is explained by Professor W. J. Humphreys of the United States weather bureau in a discussion of some useful weather proverbs.

The condition that most favors a red sun is a great quantity of dust—especially smoke particles—in a damp atmosphere. Smoke alone in sufficient quantity will produce this effect, but it is intensified by the presence of moisture.

The blue and other short wave length colors of sunlight are both scattered and absorbed to a greater extent by a given amount of dust or other substance, such as water vapor, than is the red, and this effect becomes more pronounced as the particles coalesce.

Hence when the atmosphere is heavily charged with dust particles that have become moisture laden we see the sun as a fiery ball.

It has been known that this dust has much to do with rainfall, since it was proved by the physicist Aitken years ago that cloud particles, and therefore rain, will not under ordinary conditions form in a perfectly dust free atmosphere, but will readily form about dust motes of any kind in an atmosphere that is sufficiently damp. A red sun, therefore, commonly indicates the presence of both of the essential rain elements—that is, dust and moisture.—Rocky Mountain News.

COURT TRIALS IN FRANCE.

Three Judges and Two Sets of Jurors In Each Criminal Case.

Most interesting indeed is it to watch the trial of a criminal in Paris, especially when defended by a woman. French procedure is quite different from ours.

There are two sets of jurors, who must sit throughout the trial, so that any mishap to any juror in the group selected to determine the facts is prevented from retarding the trial by the immediate substitution of one of the jurors from the second group. Three judges always sit in all the assizes at every trial.

The prosecuting attorney, beginning with the words "I accuse," reads the indictment to the prisoner and does not speak again. The presiding justice does all the questioning, and there seem to be no rules of evidence to restrict his questions. The defending attorney at the close of the trial addresses the jury. He has the last word before the judge's charge.

A word here about the criminals of France. I have never seen a worse looking lot than those "Apaches." I was told that they are the descendants of criminals, and they looked it. Comparing them with our criminals, I was led to state that the United States had no criminal class, and it will be our own fault if we permit a criminal class to exist.—Mary M. Lilly in Case and Comment.

The Blushing Tree.

The blushing tree gets its name from the change of hue it assumes when the rain falls on it. As the drops drench the leaves, gradually but unmistakably the green tint gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath broad branches and on its trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more. Certain tiny insects, and not the tree itself, change color. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of chameleons. In the warm sunshine they are greener than the tree on which they live, but when the chilly rain falls upon them they contract their tiny backs and become a pretty pink in tint. Millions of these change the entire appearance of the tree and make it seem to be blushing.

Anti-suffragistic.

Southerners are notoriously fond of hot rolls, but they have a confection called Sally Lunn which is even more highly prized among them. It is not the sort of thing one has every day. It is for special occasions.

"Uncle William," said the housewife to the much spoiled old family servant who presided over most of the domestic arrangements—"Unc' William, don't you think it is about time for us to have some Sally Lunn?"

"Naw'm, Miss Ma'y, naw'm. Don't let's have none er dat. I ain't never had no fancy for dat female bread!"—New York Post.

To Repel Submarines.

Large numbers of baby torpedo boats are being constructed in England for the purpose of destroying German submarines. Within a few weeks it is expected that the waters around the British Isles will swarm with these speedy little craft. It takes a submarine fifteen minutes to sink out of sight under the water. This is too long—for the submarine—or is expected to be after the baby destroyers get into action.

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body.

In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. Free from harmful drugs.

Seed Growing In Canada.

In 1913-14, according to information gathered and supplied by Mr. George H. Clark, the Dominion Seed Commissioner, Canada, imported from France and Germany no less than 900,743 pounds of beet and mangel seed; from Holland and France, 350,849 pounds of turnip seed, and from France alone 32,986 pounds of carrot seed, radish, cabbage, cauliflower, celery and parsnip seed were also imported in large quantities, mainly from France. While it is thought there was nearly sufficient of these seeds on hand to meet the requirements for this year, these channels being closed, for 1916 there will plainly be a dearth.

The foregoing important facts are duly set down in Bulletin No. 22, of the Second Series of the Central Experimental Farm, of which M. O. Malte, Ph. D., Dominion Agrostologist, and W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, are the authors. "Canada," the Bulletin very emphatically says, "should make herself independent of foreign markets, and produce at home what now has to be bought abroad. Canadian farmers should not only try to meet the emergency demand for field root seed in the immediate future, but should also try so establish a permanent seed-growing industry which would make them independent of any other countries." There will assuredly not be a dissenting voice to this doctrine as a general principle and the Bulletin, which is being gratuitously distributed and can be had on application to the Publications Branch Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, tells in detail how this desirable state of affairs can be brought about. Cases are given where successful effort has already been made, but the data regarding the matter, it would seem, is not quite as available as could be wished. What is definitely known is that quantities of seed are brought in from abroad, much of which it is believed could, with the requisite care, be produced in Canada and of a character equally as good and high.

General principles for successful seed-growing, of selection, etc., are laid down in the Bulletin, which also details methods that could profitably be adopted for planting, threshing and cleaning of many species of field roots. A list that is given of the best varieties of vegetables for stock seed is of good practical value. Farmers and gardeners are also reminded that as an inducement to the growing of field roots and garden seeds in Canada the Dominion Government is willing to aid seed-growers by cash subventions, particulars of which can be obtained from the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It should be added that as the purpose is to encourage the growing of selected seed, only bona fide growers of such seed are eligible to receive the subventions.

Heligoland.

Living in South America is an old British coastguardsman, Mr. T. Rowett, who served in Heligoland for some years from 1871, when the island was British. He has recently given some reminiscences of the place to the Adelaide "Register," and he recalls that in his day the population of 2,300 was mainly German, and in the summer the island was filled with fashionable German holiday-makers, almost every house being a boarding establishment.

"The island," said Mr. Rowett, "was perfectly flat on top, which consisted of a kind of red clay, and provided no shelter for man or beast. Heavy ordnance could not be placed on top. The lower portion of the island consisted of rock, and was absolutely rotten, the heavy winter frosts bringing down hundreds of tons of soil at a trifle. Whenever we used the guns in practice the concussion brought down tons of earth. I don't think it is any wonder that the Germans have made it a cement island. British Dreadnoughts could lie off Heligoland and level the lot in half an hour.

"A few miles from Heligoland there was a small island called Sandy Island, at the back of which the French Fleet lay during the Franco-Prussian War. Shortly after the Germans had defeated the French a German noble said to me, 'Some day the German fleet will lie at the back of Sandy Island, Heligoland will be a German possession, and the next thing we will do will be to have England.' You will see what they had in their minds even at that time. Dreadnoughts could not approach within five miles of Heligoland on the eastern side. On the other sides, however, the water was deeper, the larger boats could lie close in. A fact which serves to illustrate the exceedingly rotten condition of the island geologically is that about 60 yards from the mainland there stands a pinnacle two hundred feet high, which was undoubtedly at one time a part of Heligoland."

RADIUM IN SCOTLAND.

Important New Industry For Loch Lomand.

On the banks of Loch Lomond, at Dalvait, a new radium industry is being established. An old sawmill has been adapted for use as a factory for the extraction of radium and other rare metals from their ores, and within the next few weeks a start will be made. The promoter of the scheme is Mr. John S. MacArthur, a Scottish metallurgical chemist, whose attention was directed to the problem of radium extraction about two years ago, when he began to make industrial experiments, working with ores from which the uranium and vanadium had already been extracted. He was soon successful, and before long established a small factory at Runcorn, where he ultimately employed about two dozen assistants, the majority of whom are now expert in laboratory experiments. The difficulties at the outset were very great. He had to do practically all the work with his own hands while training his assistants. Though Runcorn was perfectly suitable for most of the earlier processes through which the ore passes, for the finer and more delicate processes a purer air and water supply was necessary, and it was this which influenced Mr. MacArthur in his decision to transfer his factory to Loch Lomond. Already Mr. MacArthur has placed upon the market about 1,500 milligrammes of radium, part of which was purchased, for use by the medical profession in the district, by the Glasgow and West of Scotland Radium Committee. In the new establishment at Dalvait he expects to be able to extract about five or six grammes a year. In addition to the radium he will be able to extract uranium and vanadium, while there will be other bye-products, chief among which is a radium fertilizer. The factory will be the first of the kind in Scotland. So far as is known the only similar enterprise in the old country is being worked by a London concern which depends for its supplies upon Cornwall.

Iodine In War.

Every soldier in the allied armies, as well as in those of Germany and Austria, now carries some kind of field dressing in his pack. It was at one time said laughingly that each French infantryman had in his knapsack a triangular bandage and a field marshal's baton. Until the beginning of this war his medical equipment was limited to the bandage, but then every man was supplied with a little glass flask of one of the most powerful antiseptics known—namely, tincture of iodine. The British were not. The value of immediate application of some such solution has been so apparent that Sir Frederick Treves, and other surgeons have expressed a desire that wounded British soldiers should also have the benefit of it.

Iodine is not one of the drugs for which England is dependent on Germany. It is primarily a gift of the sea. It was first found in sea water and later—in much greater concentration—in the ashes of seaweed, so Britain can command an unlimited supply; but the manufacture and purification are by no means cheap; the making up of accurate solutions and storage in hundreds of thousands of ampullae need time and money.

Iodine is easy to carry, the "cartridges" are neat and a wounded man can instantly apply the fluid to his wound or his neighbor can do it for him. Then he will be safe for a while at least, from the gangrene and the other horrors that kill men whose flesh is torn.

The Suez Canal.

Since 1896 $10,000,000 have been expended upon the widening and improvement of the Suez Canal. When first opened the channel had a uniform depth of 25 feet. It is now 31 feet deep, 108 feet wide at the bottom and 420 feet at the water level. It is still being deepened and widened.

Quite apart from this work, a whole fleet of dredgers are continually engaged on merely keeping the channel free from sand. We get some idea of the magnitude of this task when it is stated that last year over 2,000,000 cubic yards of material were taken out of the canal by these dredgers.

Despite the heavy cost entailed in running the waterway and keeping it open for traffic, the scheme has almost from the first been a financial success and Suez Canal shares are always much sought after. By the purchase in 1875 for $19,882,910 of the 176,602 $100 original shares held by the Khedive, the British Government obtained joint control over the canal with France.

What, Indeed?

"Who goes there?" the sentry challenged.

"Lord Roberts," answered the tipsy recruit.

Again the sentry put the question and received a like answer, whereupon he knocked the offender down. When the latter came to the sergeant was bending over him. "See here!" said the sergeant, "why didn't you answer right when the sentry challenged you?"

"Holy St. Patrick!" replied the recruit; "if he'd do that to Lord Roberts, what would he do to plain Mike Flanagan?"

Women To Be Railroad Porters.

The Great Central Railway Co. in England has begun experiments to see how far women can be employed as railway porters, to set free men of military age. Other lines will follow the Great Central's example, it is expected, if the women prove equal to the work.

Aiming at Air-Craft.

In shooting at an aeroplane the rifle is aimed not at the machine, but at a point about six lengths ahead of it. To hit the centre of a Zeppelin the rifleman aims at its nose.

On Good Authority.

When Walter Scott was a boy his teacher asked him to give the part of speech of the word "with."

"It's a noun," said young Scott.

"You are very stupid," said the teacher. "How came you to say such a thing?"

"I got it from the Bible, sir, said the future novelist, stoutly. "There's a verse that says 'they bound Samson with withs.'"

What's the Answer?

Why does a red cow, who eats green grass, give white milk that yields yellow butter.

MORE STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

Mrs. Hutchison—Eighty-One Years Old—Uses No Other Tonic but Vinol and Recommends It to Friends.

Greenville, S.C.—"It is with pleasure I tell others of the great benefit I have derived from Vinol, for the past several years. I am 81 years old and I find Vinol gives me strength, a healthy appetite and overcomes nervous disorders. Vinol is the only tonic reconstructor I have used for several years. I have recommended it to a great many of my friends and it has always proved satisfactory." — Mrs. M. A. HUTCHISON, Greenville, S. C.

Such cases as the above are constantly coming to our attention. If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

It is the tissue building, curative elements of the cod's livers, aided by the blood making strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol, that makes it so successful in building up strength for old people, delicate children and for all run-down conditions. Vinol is also a most successful remedy for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. If it fails to benefit any one who tries it we return your money.

First Game A Tie.

The local baseball team went to Russell Saturday afternoon and met the club of that place in a game which at the end of the full nine innings resulted in 14 all. The game was considerable of a see-saw affair. At the end of the third innings Russell led by 9 to 3 but Jamieson then taking up the pitching held the Russell heavy hitters at his mercy until the last innings. Chesterville had been gaining each innings and when Russell went in for their last they needed five runs to tie up the score and these they made before being retired and they were very willing to let it stay that way. Mr. T. T. Shaw Banqueted.

Last Thursday evening Mr. T. T. Shaw, late proprietor of The Record, was tendered a banquet at Flynn's Hotel, when his friends to the number of between fifty and sixty gathered to express regret at his departure from Chesterville, and presented him with an address and ring.

After the sumptuous repast provided by Mr. Flynn in his usual bountiful and artistic manner had been done ample justice to Mr. Hamilton, as toastmaster, announced the purpose of the gathering and in doing so voiced his regret at the cause of it. The following toasts were then preposed.

"The King," honored by all rising.

"The British Empire," by Mr. Jas. Clements and responded to by Mr. C. B. Rae.

"Municipal Institutions," by Mr. Patrick Kirby and responded to by Mr. Geo. Elliot.

"Banking Institutions," by Mr. J. G. Craig and responded to by Mr. G M. Whitney.

"The Press," by G. C. Lacey and responded to by Mr. R. Harrop.

"Our Guest" by Mr. Thos. Ellis and Mr. C. L. Simser to which Mr. Shaw responded.

"Agriculture" by Mr. Roy P. Kendrick and responded to by Mr. W. A. Durant.

"The Ladies," by Mr. L. Jordan and responded to by Mr. J. T. Kearns.

"Our Host," by Mr. Thos Houlehan and responded to by Mr. F. McCloskey.

The following address was read by Dr. Ellis, when Mr. Shaw was presented with a ring.

MR. SHAW:

We, your fellow citizens and friends, take this opportunity before your final departure from our midst to gather here this evening and thus express our well wishes for you and your family, and the high esteem you are held in this community.

Through the medium of the press you have been a leader and educator and a representative of the people and have always labored in the interests of the community.

We know that you, in common with any other man in public life, have often been criticised, sometimes deservedly, sometimes not, but you have we believe on all occasions, both privately and through the press, denounced wrong and injustice and upheld truth and honesty.

In your newspaper business you have been independent in your views which is the only kind of a press that can endure among a free people.

You have spoken frankly and boldly what you thought and believed to be right and you have been respected for it. The freedom of the press is a natural right and is as sacred as the freedom of the individual. Liberty of speech and liberty of action go together; destroy one and you destroy the other.

As a citizen you have always given a helping hand to anything that in your good judgment appeared to tend towards the betterment of our village morally and materially.

You have at different times filled positions on the Village Council and School Board with much satisfaction to all concerned, accepting with reluctance the usual fat emoluments that accompany any of those offices.

In conclusion, we have always greatly admired what we could see of your home life. Your relations to your family have been of a most cordial and agreeable character and you are a model in this respect that would be difficult for many parents to live up to.

On behalf of those assembled here, I take much pleasure in presenting you this gold ring as a small token of our esteem for you. As you wear it, it will serve to keep green in your memory your friends and associates of Chesterville.

Signed by the committee.

WESLEY HAMILTON
THOMAS ELLIS
CHAS. CHAMBERS
GEORGE H. ELLIS

After a brief reply by Mr. Shaw the gathering dispersed after singing "God Save the King."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
