Tories to meet in Prescott

The annual meeting of the Grenville-Carleton Progressive Conservative Association will take place on Wednesday October 28, at 8 p.m. in St. Mark's Parish Hall, Prescott.

Aside from the usual election of officers, this meeting is scheduled to discuss the need for and the timing of a convention for the purpose of selecting a candidate to carry the Tory banner in the next federal election. The seat is now held by Liberal Gordon Blair who defeated Mrs Jean Wadds in the 1968 general election.

The featured guest speaker at the meeting will be Alvin Hamilton, former cabinet minister in the governments headed by John Diefenbaker. Mr. Hamilton is expected to make his customary provocative statements and will undoubtedly comment on the local situation in Grenville-Carleton since he is a resident of the riding at Manotick, Ontario.

While the public is welcome, we are advised by the organizers, that only members of the Progressive Conservative Party will be eligible to vote on matters brought before the meeting.

Leaders, but too few boys

A new tune is being sung this week in Minor Hockey. We have the coaches but not enough boys to form a team in the Midget division. Boys born after midnight December 31, 1953 to before midnight December 31, 1955 may play in the Midget division of Minor Hockey in Iroquois. Boys living in Matilda Township may register as well as boys from Iroquois.

The 1970-71 season of hockey for the Bantam and Midget boys will begin on Thursday, October 29, 1970. Bantam ice time at Morrisburg area is from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Midget ice time at Morrisburg area is from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. All players are to be properly dressed and meet at Iroquois rink well in advance of the stated ice time Parents, don't forget transportation is required for these boys.

This and the following Thursday, November 5th will be the last chance for the Midgets to form a team. Parents and boy if you want a Midget team organized in the Minor Hockey Association of Iroquois round-up those extra players and convince them that they are urgently needed. Remember boys, you have just two Thursdays to get the required number of boys registered.

For more information contact Leo McKee (652-4465) between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. or Earl Nesbitt (652-4948) after 3 p.m

Grade Mothers still needed--CPTA

The October Meeting of the C.P.T.A. was held in St. Mary's Separate School on the 18th of October. The members were reminded that Grade Mothers were still needed to help the classroom Teacher during special activities. People interested in attending a Diocesan Convention - remember it is April of 1971.

Mr. Patrick Beavers was a special guest, being our Chairman for the Tri-County School Board. During the month of September, he journeyed to the Eastern part of the world, visiting Japan, Hong Kong and Australia. Being very interested in education, he took special note of their system and related it to our members.

School in Japan is compulsory only to the sixth grade, but soon it is hoped Junior High and High School will also be compulsory. The school programme is content oriented, and lacks the living and learning experiences. The people are keen on education and strive for a self-disciplined and industrious population. Music and Art are cultivated daily for fifty minutes, so that their traditions carry on.

Hong Kong differs from Japan, as night is to day. There is no compulsory education, so that the children work at the age of 8 in factories. Two-tenths of the area has modern buildings with modern conveniences, while the rest is extremely poor. Four hundred thousand Christians require money for help.

Australia has separate schools, partly supported by state, but are asking for more support. The Catholics are very aware of Communism in Asia, so the Pope will be visiting Australia to strengthen the ties. Their teaching programme is basically content oriented, as Japan, and stresses discipline. There is no education property tax, so the money comes from the governments' revenues. Australia has a very strict immigration policy because they are afraid to lose control of their country due to the over populated Asian neighbors.

After Mr. Beavers impressive talk, the members enjoyed a social lunch.

Movies Can Teach Hate

Do Movies Mirror Life?

If some films finding their way into theatres reflect life - God help us.

Frank sex scenes don't make moviegoers squirm half as much as all-out sadism and violence And movies are rated for either adult or child consumption - only on the amount of sex shown - not on their violence quotient

Many people even long for the old skin-shows after two hours of the chopping, decapitating, head-splitting, eviscerating action found in so many movies recently

Most adults can bridge the gap between reality and fantasy-but what about the children? What do they take away from violent movies?

Movies can be devastating propaganda vehicles The Nazis helped push their anti-Jew campaign with films depicting the Jews as exploiting monsters Consider the patriotic British and Americans films from the Second World War Any youngster from that era can remember the satisfaction they felt in darkened theatres as the Allies hammered down bombs and shot up planes of the bad-guy Nazis. Movies can teach hate - this is a proven fact.

Censorship of the film industry won't solve anything. The industry could probably come up with something worse than the present level of violence.

Parents will have to be their own censors - attend movies to keep up with the trends, and discuss the values and ideas projected in them with their children.

Parents should also forbid their children from attending movies which have too much violence- and not feel guilty about it

Unrealized Capital Gains

"I'm a federal appraisor," said the man with a smile, "I must enter your house and assess for a while. Great White Paper Father expressly ordains that I tax your unrealized capital Gains."

"I'm honored," I answered, "come in, have some wine. Your public relations are simply divine; pray pardon the shortage of furniture here; I sold it to pay off the taxes last year.

The couch and the carpet and cushions are gone. We're down to three chairs, that bench and the john. But relax if you can on that old wooden seat, help yourself to cigars, and put up your feet.

We're poor and our comforts are with us no more; they went to the Winning of Poverty's War." He graciously nodded and started his list. "I'll endeavour to leave you enough to exist.

You're overly modest about your estate; it's worth a great deal at our Government Rate; for looking around here I'd say that you eke a much better living than thirty a week.

This bench that I sit on is battered and weak; such features confirm it a costly antique. A rummage sale bargain for twenty, you say? We'll list it four hundred, plus sales tax, today.

Those beautiful portraits that hang on your wall, I've been sitting here greatly admiring them all. There's Imlach and Benson and Smythe and Trudeau, to hang up one's heroes is most apropos.

But around Edgar's neck, I would like to inquire, just why in the world have you woven the wire? The vintage Victorian frames, I aver, are treasures worth listing at eighty-five per.

But there, - I have done enough work for today. This taxing is taxing, we Service Men say. I'll come back tomorrow, and each day till we're done. More sherry? I shouldn't, but thank your, just one."

"Then sample some wine that is made by my wife, you'll taste nothing like it the rest of your life." "Thash gorgeous, my goodness, you're a hosp'able feller! Remind me to list all the stock in your cellar."

"Your hat Sir? - Indeed, we agree it is gorgeous; from a formula found in the tomb of the Borgias." (Thank heaven he's made it; safe out of the drive; but I'll bet you the Bastard won't get far alive.)

OUR BACKYARD WAS THE CHURCH

By Bill Smiley

In the midst of the terror and panic induced by the F.L.Q. kidnappings, it was therapeutic, to say the least, to experience a few minutes of peace and sanity and beauty in a world that seems to be steadily steering a path toward chaos.

Sorry you weren't able to share in this pleasant interlude, but then you weren't invited to the Baha-i wedding in our backyard.

When I was in the newspaper business, I loathed writing-up weddings, with their interminable details of the bride's costume, down to the last, lousy stephanotis. Not this one.

It wasn't all smooth sailing. My wife insisted that the lawn be raked. I insisted that she was going to spoil the natural setting of golden leaves the couple wanted.

It rained all week, and I thought I was home free. But the day before the ceremony, it dried up, and my cook was goosing me to get to work. She is a better, or more persistent, insister than I.

With a herculean effort and the aid of two small boys, I got the hedge trimmed, the lawn raked, the dead weeds pulled and a pile of fresh leaves covering the old sand-box which serves as a combination compost-heap and garbage-dump. The groom came around and asked what the point was of raking the leaves.

During the night, naturally, it rained and blew, and by morning, the lawn looked exactly as it had when I'd started the day before. My only satisfaction was going around all morning muttering "I told you so."

Tension increased as the day wore on. It was pouring. The girls' dresses and new shoes would be ruined. People would be tracking mud into the house. The neighbors, who'd been looking forward to the spectacle for weeks, would be deeply disappointed should the ceremony be moved indoors.

As the Saturday morning passed, and the drizzle held, no word from the bride. We phoned, and her mother, with supreme confidence, said it was going to clear by noon. At noon, I took a little sashay out to check. The sky was like the inside of a tar barrel and the Scotch mist showed no signs of abating.

But those Baha-i's must have something special going for them. By one p.m., it had stopped raining. By two it was clear, and a number of guests had arrived. (Typically, the bride had issued invitations for two p.m., the groom for three p.m.)

By three, it was one of those beautiful, warm, autumn days, with the sun catching the highlights of the maples, the grass almost dry, and about 80 guests in a variegation of colors that made even the full glory of the fall foliage look a bit dim.

They piled out of vans and cars and moved into the yard. There was everything from blue jeans to smashing maxi dresses, buckskin jackets to white shawls, colorful headbands to cowboy boots, ultra-mod tweed jackets to gaucho hats.

The principals were not to be outdone. The bride, with long, sleek golden hair, wore a full-length hand-crocheted off white dress with matching hood. The groom was no less imposing, with beard and Afro hair style, his dark, full-length cape covering a white tunic with black hand embroidery. Only a few old squares, like the principals of the parents and us, wore "ordinary" suits and dresses.

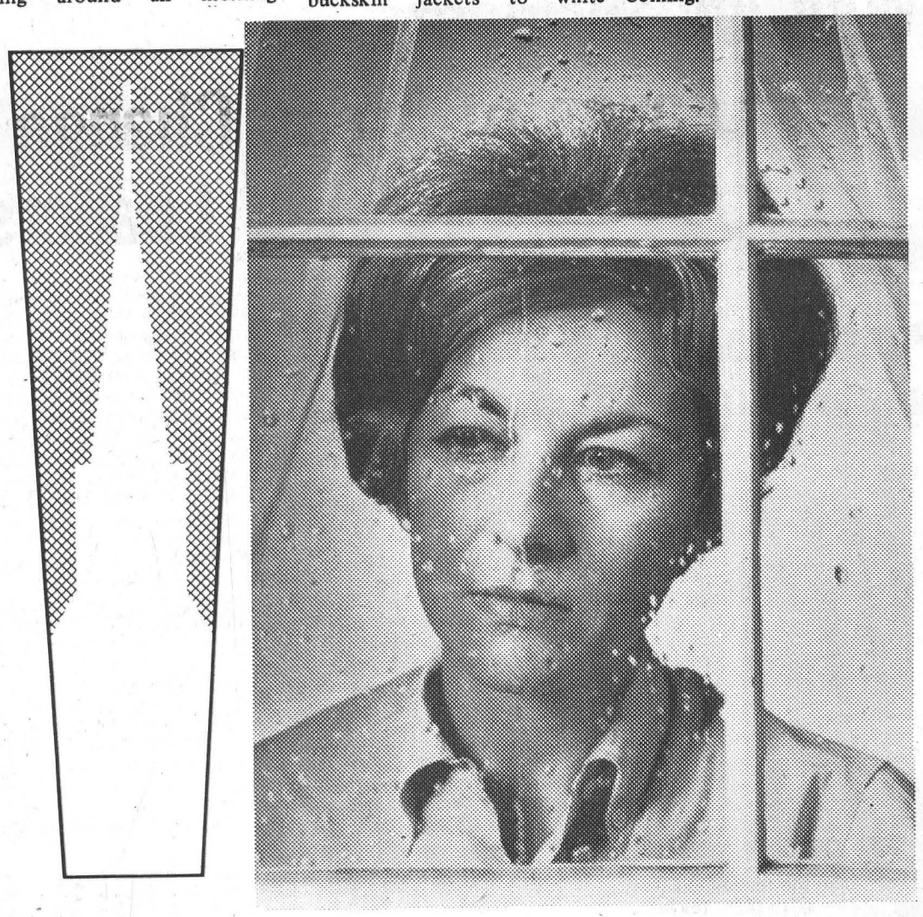
Ninety per cent of the guests were under 21, happy and excited, but mute and reverent during the ceremony.

The service itself was charming in its simplicity and sincerity. Friends and relatives read selected prayers. There was no ritual as such, no sermon. The couple was attended by a Witness, who did just that – witnessed.

The only music was a modern song, with the refrain, "See me, touch me, hold me, heal me", soft and lovely, sung by our Kim and friend Mike Hanna.

Then the bride and groom pledged themselves to each other and to God, kissed emphatically, and it was all over.

They can have a Baha-i wedding in my backyard any time. Except February. I will be barbecued before I will shovel three feet of snow out of my yard for anything except the Second Coming.



ALONE

Scriptures selected by the American Bible Society

The world never looked so empty — gray and overcast, and no one to talk to. Depressed, I stepped to the window sightlessly taking in the familiar view.

Off to the left, unremembered, was the church steeple. It thrust up out of the green trees like a white exclamation point in my mind.

Suddenly, I wanted to laugh out loud. How foolish of me to think of myself as alone! We are never alone; God has promised us that.

I thanked Him for the steeple, the visible reminder of His love, and for the whole Church which draws men together against the emptiness of the world.

Why and How the Leaves of Trees Change

Have you ever wondered if there is a purpose behind the annual colour transformation of the leaves on our hardwood trees? Are these brilliant fall colours produced just for our visual enjoyment? The main reason why the hardwood tree discards its leaves in the fall is to reduce the area of the transpiring surface during the winter months when the supply of moisture is drastically reduced. Damage to the tree would result if it kept giving off moisture during the winter but could not replace this loss because the ground water is frozen.

As the lifelines between the leaves and the tree become blocked, the existing chlorophyll in the leaves slowly disappears. The leaves now become yellow or orange because of the presence of the pigments xanthophyll and carotin, which are no longer obscurred by the chlorophyll (green colouring pigment). The bright red colour of some leaves is due to the production of a pigment called anthocyanin Frost is not essential to make the leaves change their colours, in fact, leaves killed by frost will turn brown without undergoing the normal colour change

Evergreen trees shed their leaves gradually, retaining them through two to three growing seasons. Their needle-like form reduces transpiration losses and prevents the accumulation of large quantities of snow on the tree The needles that are no longer necessary turn brown in the fall and gradually drop off. The larch or tamarack is the only native cone bearing tree that loses all of its needles every fall Although the water lost by evergreens in the winter months is normally greatly reduced, it may be considerably increased when the trees are subjected to drying winds or are growing in warm sunny spots. Unless the water lost during this period is replaced by absorption through the roots, the needles will often turn brown and entire branches may be killed. Such damage is known as winter browning or drying and becomes quite evident in early spring. Valuable evergreen trees should be protected from drying winds.

THE FIRST TWO WEEKS OF THE 1970 HUN SEASON IN DUNDAS COUNTY.

By: E. Johnston,
Conservation Officer.

The Hungarian Partridge season started with a bang on Saturday, September 26th, two weeks prior to this report. This year's season opened one week later than in previous years The birds are more mature, better flyers and tougher targets.

Actually there were a great deal of banging and hunting parties who, with the aid of our local rural people, managed to have an enjoyable shoot with quite a few birds in the bag

On Sunday the majority of non-resident hunters started to arrive Huns were hard to locate, especially if one hunted without a guide, and when flushed, the birds headed for nearby cornfields Most parties gave up after a few days and returned to their homes Their parting remarks were that they hoped there would be more birds next year.

A party of hunters with good dogs, and possibly a guide, usually sees from twenty to fifty birds a day and might take eight or ten Parties hunting without guides have difficulty locating birds and fail to take any

The Hungarian Partridge is a hardy fellow, well able to take care of himself and unless its numbers are extremely high, near the peak of its cycle, hunters will seldom harvest too many.

ADVENTURES IN ART

Wednesday, October 21, students from the art classe of Miss Judith Ann Price eagerly anticipated their first outing of the school year.

When our group had assembled after lunch in front of the National Art Gallery, we moved to the theatre located inside. Within minutes we found ourselves enjoying an original silent movie starring Charlie Chaplin. After viewing three short films, we split into groups and toured the gallery. Our thanks go to Mrs. Van Allen for supervising part of the group.

Interesting sights and works of art were plentiful, the most unique of these being the camels found on the first floor. The contemporary art also located on this floor was favoured by most of the group. On other levels we discovered personal art collections and Canadian Indian art not to mention a touring television crew found using one of the galleries as a set for a film they were making.

This trip was only one example of the real adventures found in an art course. As of Monday, Oct. 26, a new and exciting Art Club is beginning to form. If you wish to join in a most self-satisfying pastime, feel free to contact Miss Price.

Elaine Huggard.

WEIGHT WATCHING? DON'T SKIP POTATOES

Are potatoes fattening? Not at all, say home economists of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, unless they are French Fried or covered with butter, or sour cream and crumbled bacon. One medium baked or boiled potato without butter contains 100 calories. This is the same number of calories as in half a cup of cooked white rice, and only about one-third the number of calories as in an average piece of apple pie.

As an added bonus, potatoes are an important, inexpensive source of vitamin C. A medium potato supplies nearly half our daily requirement of vitamin C, plus B vitamins and minerals, especially iron.

Youth Organizations Still Need Helpers

1st IROQUOIS Cubs and Scouts

A meeting of Group Committee members and interested citizens met in the Red Cross Room of the Iroquois Civic Center, Saturday evening, October 24, at 8 o'clock. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Ralph Van Allen. It was noted that the Cubs are already involved in weekly meetings every Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the United Church Hall.

The situation regarding Cub leadership seems to be well in hand, as several people have indicated a willingness to assist the Cubmaster.

However, Scouts are still without a leader, though some people indicated that they could offer assistance to who ever would be willing to accep the position as leader.

Cub and Scout work gradually seem to be getting under way, but it should be understood that as far as scouting is concerned, we are not in the clear as yet.

Rev. Brian Gee was named as new Secretary-Treasurer of the Group Committee.

LYNDALE GOLDEN PRINCESS 2 N, a Ton of Gold cow, bred by Martin Van Moorsel and owned by Peter Van Moorsel, Morrisburg, Ont., has just been issued a Lifetime Production certificate by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club. This cow produced 76, 915 lbs. milk and 4, 299 lbs. fat in 9 lactations.

Ideas exchanged at meet of youth for retarded

Twenty-eight young people from Ottawa, Iroquois, Morrisburg, and Cornwall gathered at the Kinsmen School for the Retarded on the week end to discuss the role of their organization, Youth Across Canada for the Mentally Retarded.

The nationwide organization of young people works with parent groups such as ATC Industries in Cornwall. ATC Industries is an adult training centre for mentally retarded persons.

Clare Ostler, Vice-President of Cornwall YACMR and Chairman of Region 10 which stretches from the Quebec border to Kingston and north to Pembroke, said this was the first conference in his region.

The members kicked off the conference Friday night with a get-acquainted dinner. Saturday morning's program consisted of a lecture given by Ralph Button of Toronto, President of the Ontario YACMR. A discussion period followed.

Mr Button explained the meaning of YACMR to the delegates and outlined the goals of the organization.

He suggested a volunteer training program be initiated in each area and that each group have a series of 12 lectures followed by a report by each member so that they fully understand the organization.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

He also said that better public relation and more advertising were needed to promote YACMR.

He reminded the delegates that there would be a four-day provincial conference at Elliott Lake during March school break.

At 2 p.m. on Saturday the members took a tour of ATC Industries.

Klaas Devries, director, told the group that the main job of staff is to keep the 40 trainees busy. Several industries have been contracted to provide work for the trainees. Two of these companies are Sovereign Seat Covers and Vanguard Gloves.

Mr. Devries explained that the trainees are taught hairdressing packaging, dressmaking, sewing, and gift making.

"Our job as a member of the Ontario Association for the Mentally Retarded is to try and prepare these handicapped people for society, said Mr. Devries.

Following Mr. Devries' talk on the history and work of ATC Industries, the delegates returned to the Kinsmen School for further discussion periods.

The conference concluded Saturday night with a dinner.

Meals and Accommodations for the conference delegates were provided by members of the adult association and by the families of Cornwall YACMR members.

Suggestions for Hallowe'en

Dear Parent or Guardian:

Each year on Hallowe'en night children are injured from accidents caused by careless and sick minded persons.

The following are rules that the JAYCEES suggest should be followed by both parents and children of all ages.

1. Accompany the small children on their rounds.
2. Dress them in bright colored costumes.
3. If using paper of flammable material, make sure it is fire retardent.
4. Use make-up instead of masks, masks are often poorly designed and hard to see out of.
5. Dress them in costumes and footwear that fit, so as not to cause them to trip.
6. Be careful of wrapped candies and treats.
7. Check apples, oranges, popcorn-balls, home-made treats etc. for glass, pins, needles, razor blades etc. before allowing a child to eat it.
8. Check the taste and smell of home made treats for agents added to cause sickness poisoning etc.
9. Keep children from committing vandalism (this amounts to thousands of dollars yearly).
10. If any irregularities are found, attempt to remember where th e treats were received and contact the police department in the area, giving ful details to them.

Perhaps some of these precautions are unnecessary, we certainly hope so, but never the less it is best to be safe than sorry.

Seaway District High School

soccer

On Thursday, October 22, Seaway had another victory. Through wet field and misty air, we were not deterred in our attempt to force play-off games: B.C.I. had not lost a game this year.

In the first half B.C.I. scored the first goal, and Seaway retaliated. In the second half our squad scored in the muddy net again, and blitzed their record.

Tony Menkhorst, our star, gets credit for both goals and our victory.

James Adam

Lend a helping hand

On Saturday, October 24, 1970. Seven girls from S.D H.S. went to their first introduction meeting of Y.A.C M.R. (Youth across Canada for the mentally Retarded) under the guidance of Miss Linda Haldane of Iroquois. Miss Donna Keyes, Alberta Lemaire, Carol Drennan, Lynn Swerdfeger, Maureen McCallum and Collen Richardson, went to the Kinsmen's School for Retarded Children on Ninth Street East, in Cornwall, Ontario. The meeting was held Friday and all day Saturday where students involved with Y.A.C.M.R. came from Kingsto Brockville, Gananoque, Ottawa, Iroquois and Cornwall. We discussed, before going to the A.T.C Building (Adult Training Center where the Mentally Retarded worke how we could help them, and again after the visit to the building.

The Seaway version of Y.A.C.M.R will have its first meeting, Wednesday October 28th, 1970 at 3:20 Everyone interested, is welcome.

Y.A.C.M.R. is already doing a wonderful job.

Alberta Lemaire.

Students reach for the sky

Interest was running high for fifty-five Geography students of Seaway District High School, last Tuesday. For many, it was the excitement of another "first" in their lives. They were off to climb a mountain.

The field-trip was to make an ascent on Debar mountain South of Malone in the High Peak Region of the Adirondack Mountains in New York State.

The climb was rough and steep and the first group to make the 3300' summit panted up in one hour and ten minutes, much to the surprise of the forest range sitting in the mountain fire-tower. The rangers were very pleased to explain their functions to the keen students who gave them "an impromptu visit".

Here students were brough face to face with soil erosion, rushing mountain streams, flora and fauna, and perhaps most important - that wonderful feeling of achieving the goa at the end of an exhausting drive.

Mrs. James Martin from the Geography department led the explorers, assisted by a personal friend, Mrs. Richard Kalil, of Cornwall. Nobody got lost according to the final roll-call, and after the familiar stop for hambrugers all arrived back in Iroquois at 6:30 p.m. excited and experienced.

Sylvia Martin.

Preparing for winter

Trees, like any other living things, need food and care. All too often we tend to overlook this fact. With fall here and winter well on the way, this is a good time to fertiliz that favourite shade tree, or the one that appeared to have had a thin or sick looking foliage this past summer.

Trees can be fertilized in either late fall or early spring If fall is chosen it should be postponed until all possibility of top growth is past.

Most agree that a well balanced fertilizer or one having a complete mix containing the three critical elements, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium be used. Fertilizer should be placed into the soil where the tree's roots can use it and reach it, the reason being that fertilizers do not move readily through the soil, therefore, the closer to the smaller hair roots the better. Also no dry commercial fertilizer should be applied within one or two feet of the trunk of the tree, since injury to the root collar or trunk base might develop.

A good method of applying the fertilizer is with an iron bar or crowbar. With this bar, holes 18" in depth can be made in the ground in a circle around the base of a tree. The holes should be placed approximately 1½ feet apart and slope slightly inward. If the person starts the holes in a circle just under the outermost branches and works intoward the trunk chances of the fertilizer reaching the roots that can use it are greatly increased.

Two or four pounds of fertilizer for each inch in diameter of trunk at breast height should be used. This amount can be divided up and placed in each hole and then covered with a small amount of peat moss Trees under 6" in diameter should receive half this dose.

GANANOQUE PROV. HUNTING AREA 1970

By: John Miller,
Conservation Officer.

The Gananoque Provincial Hunting Area located northwest of Gananoque, in operation since 1963, has again this year proved popular to a large number of hunters.

The area is being utilized in increasing numbers on wee days as hunting pressure is less and a more relaxed atmosphere is evident.

Pheasants are now released on a daily basis and woodcock are plentiful in the area this year. Ruffed grouse are down somewhat as compared to previous years but a good population of pond ducks was evident at the beginning of the season. Cottontail rabbit are occurring more frequently in the bag now that cover is breaking down.

Hunter success has been good so far this season. Mos successful hunters in the area are hunting behind dogs. All breeds are evident but the flushing breeds have proved most popular. Labradors and Springer Spaniels are most often used along with many of the pointing breeds.

For many, spending a day in the field with their dog working successfully on game in front of them, is as important as the bag itself.

The area we feel, has successfully filled a void by providing quality hunting on a diversified, interesting terrain for the ever increasing numbers of upland game hunters.

A daily fee of $3 00 per hunter is in effect until approsimately the second week of November. Hunting hours are 9:00 a. m. to 5:p. m. Monday through Saturday.

MIGRANT GEESE

By: H. McLeod,
Wildlife Biologist.

Looking for a place to go for a drive on Sunday? Why not plan to drop in at the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary in the St. Lawrence Parks, 9 miles east of Morrisburg. About 2, 700 geese were present October 15th and the number is expected to build up rapidly in the days ahead as more stop in on their way to their wintering grounds at Chesapeake and Delaware Bays on the Atlantic Coast.
Feeding time is at 2:30 p. m. daily.

DEER HUNTING _SHOTGUN AREA.

By: R Belanger
Senior Conservation Officer

We would like to bring to your attention that an omission was made under part of schedule 12 of the Summary of Regulations which deals with hunting deer by means of shotguns in certain areas.

Although this information appeared in our news release dated September 29, we are printing it again to avoid misinterpretation of the Summary of Regulations.

ONLY shotguns are permitte in the Counties of Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell, Stormont and the Regional Municipality of Ottawa - Carleton east of the Rideau River.

The above was made by Section 3 of Ontario Reg. 324/70 as an amendment to Ontario Reg. 405/ 69.

F. M. Cass--the Legislature

Province names two county development roads

The fall meeting of the Ontario Legislature to complete the work of the Third Session opened on October 6th with estimates of a dozen departments and some backlog of legislation yet awaiting consideration by the members. Your Member, at the time the House reopened was attending the 16th Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference in Canberra, Australia, as the Ontario Delegate. Mrs Cass accompanied him As a result, these reports are only now re-commencing.

During these three weeks of work, the Legislature has disposed of several departmental estimates, completed consideration of, and passed, several bills and made great progress towards ending the current Session. Indeed, unless a considerable amount of new legislation is introduced, this Third Session of the 28th Parliament of Ontario will undoubtedly be prorogued in November.

Among the twenty-two young lads now serving as Legislative Pages are two Dundas boys Mark Stevens from Morrisburg Public School and Scott Payne from Iroquois Public School. As is customary, these lads are living with their Member in Mr. Speaker's Chambers and seem well on the way to maintaining the excellent reputation of Grenville-Dundas Pages.

The Ontario Development Corporation recently announced a loan of some $120,000.00 to Simplex Textiles Limited of Prescott. Also, the Minister of Highways announced designation of two county roads in Dundas as development roads, namely county road #2 from Stampville north to Dixon's Corners and county road #8 south from the Chesterville district.

The paucity of new legislation being now fed by the government into the legislative mill would seem to indicate an intention to have an early opening of Parliament in 1971, and that such probably being the pre-election Session much legislation of a beneficial character will appear.

The newly elected Ontario N.D.P. Leader has taken over somewhat tight control of his party Caucus and has himself been exhibiting at times a "middle-of-the-road" Philosophy much at variance with many of his formerly expressed views. Such, of course, presumably, is directed towards the great block of uncommitted voters in our Province.

Corn Harvesting Held Back by Mud

Most farmers are plagued with too much rain this fall, and this corn harvesting crew north of Hulbert is no exception. Most low lying areas are very wet and muddy and as well there have been no drying days of late.

ince.

Amidst all the verbiage and activity of the Ontario Legislature there runs now, as I would suspect throughout our whole nation, a distinct uneasiness over our national future and recent events in our adjoining Province of Quebec. The self-evident and critical problem of maintaining order in the nation and rooting out the terrorists, while at the same time preserving the essential freedoms of our democratic society, is one which is presently taxing the resources of our governments and the patience of our people. None of us, I am sure, will willingly relinquish the freedoms and good life which we have inherited from those who before us spoke and lived and died for them our responsibility, of course, is to ensure that they are delivered untarnished and unimpaired to those who come after us. This is today a fearsome responsibility - may we be equal to it.

You already know how well built Moto-Skis are.
Well, the Moto-Ski Grand Prix is just a little more precise. A little more refined.
On top of all the great features it shares with other Moto-Skis, the Grand Prix gives you a choice of three specially built engines, a wider track of rubberized steel cleats, with a one year warranty a speedometer, a tachometer, a gold metal flake finish, and more safety features than ever before.
We think you'll appreciate the precision you get in the Grand Prix.
It's just a little more precise than our other machines.
And they're still way ahead of everyone else's.

Iroquois Area Group 'Adopt' Manilla Youngster

An interdenominational group of 15 people,

Mrs. Eden Avery, Mrs. Reta Bray, Mrs. Anne Casentree, Mrs Gwen Casselmar Miss Beverly Disher, Mrs. Mary Falshaw, Mrs. Marjory Fowler, Mrs. Viola Fisher, Mrs Dorothy Greaves, Mrs. Roswitha Knoefel, Mrs. Lydia Mustard, The Rev. Allan Rogers, Mrs. Lillian Scott, Mrs. Mary Townsend, Mrs. Rosemary Valcour, Iroquois, has financially "adopted" a 12-year old girl, Luisa Biasuria, who lives with her family in Manila, the Philippines. The adoption was arranged througl Foster Parents Plan, 153 St. Clair Ave. West, Toronto.

Here is Luisa, looking quite lovely and charming in a new outfit, right down to her pumps with shiny buckles, given her by Plan especially for this special occasion of having her picture taken. She is certain to find favor in the eyes of her Foster Parent. Luisa is one of 5 children living witl their parents in the community of Tondo, the most densely-populated district of Manila, a real slum. The father is physically disabled, hit by shrapnel during the war and his right leg is badly crippled, so much so that he has been turned down time after time when applying for work. He finally became a scavenger and his earnings counted in pennies a day. His wife then had to support the family and she became a laundress, on her best days, paid 60¢.

The Parents wanted each child in turn to go to school but many difficulties were encountered. Decent clothing was not to be had, meals were often missed and school needs were lacking. There were no relatives to offer the least bit of help. When Plan learned of their situation, aid was sent through the goodnes of a Foster Parent who now is no longer able to sponsor Luisa. Further assistance is still vital and your generous and gracious acceptance of Luisa makes it possible. Of the other youngsters, Pepito (10) is in 3rd grade, Pacita (6) is a 1st-grader, Myrna (4) and Letidia remain at home.

The family pays $3.00 monthly rent for a small shack where light after sundown comes from a homemade kerosene lamp, water is carried in from a public faucet and sanitary facility is primitive. Furnishings are bare essentials and the only comforts are those provided by Plan, personal and household items. The mother is continuing as a laundress and her husband tries to help as much as his disability allows and accepts odd jobs.

Luisa began in school a full year behind and is now in 4th grade in one of the government schools in Manila. She is very diligent in all studies, never missing the home-work and preparing for recitation the next day. She is always neatly dressed and happy about having becoming dresses.

Under Plan, Luisa is assured a monthly cash grant, clothes some school and household supplies, and for the entire family Plan provides medical and dental care at our Clinics The material advantages, desperately needed, are shared with siblings. These benefits to these devoted, hard-pressed parents and their lovely daughter, mean life itself and you will find them to be most grateful and appreciative of your friendship, considering this to be a "special gift" to be treasured for all time.

OPP will be out this weekend

Barn razed by fire. Barricades on road causes serious accident.

Every year we are confronted with these headlines the day after Hallowe'en. For some reason children are not satisfied with trick or treating door to door. It seems that some of them have to pull some stupid stunt which could possibly endanger the safety and even the lives of other people In the last two years steel tile, rolls of wire, and wooden logs have been placed on our roads as road blocks This dangerous practice has resulted in a few accidents as unsuspecting motorists are forced to either hit the barricade or take the ditch, resulting in property damage and injuries.

Possibly the most dangerous practice is removing road signs. The signs removed are usually those at intersections. A motorist, unfamiliar with the area, will pull out on to a road, believing he has the right of way, only to be involved in a serious accident. These few minutes of so called fun for some has led to a life time of sorrow for others.

The Ontario Provincial Police will again be out in full force in Dundas County on Hallowe'en and will be watching for any acts of vandalism and property damage. Any one caught destroying or damaging property or doing any other acts which may endanger the safety of others will be prosecuted.

Parents, if you have young children going out door to door, take them yourself or entrust their safety to an older brother or sister who will look after them. Make sure your children wear some white clothing to enable motorists to see them If there are no side walks in your area, remind your children to walk on the left side of the road facing traffic Advise them to be careful when crossing streets. If there are no street lights in your area, have your children carry flashlights. One last point parents, check your children's treats over when they come home - one can never tell !.

Ontario Provincial Police in Dundas County patrolled 10,213 miles while working 1434 hours. During this time, officers laid 46 charges and issued 43 warnings under the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

Officers from Morrisburg Detachment investigated 1 disturbance and 21 miscellaneous complaints. One person was charged with obstructions while one other person was charged with impaired driving. Nine persons were charged under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario.

Area highways were busy with officers investigating 3 property damage accidents, 1 fatal accident and personal injury accident in which 4 persons received minor injuries.

Provincial Court was quiet with officers spending 8 hours in court while registering 17 convictions

Local hospital represented convention

The handling of drug patients, electronic hazards in hospitals, the regionalization of health services and the problems of pollution are typical of the wide range of topics due for examination at the forty-sixth annual convention of the Ontario Hospital Association at Toronto's Royal York Hotel, October 26, 27, 28. Among the many thousands of hospital delagates who will be attending from all parts of Ontario, will be a representative group from the Winchester District Memorial Hospital. They will include Mr. S. A. Hicks Chairman of the Board, Mr. J.C. Hatcher, Treasurer, Mr. H.P. Stel, Administrator Mr. J. O'Corman, Business Manager, Miss B. Lagris, Director of Nursing, Mr. A. R. Larocque, Purchasing Agent and Mr. D. Levere, Chief Engineer.

While hospital trustees and administrators concentrate attention at the daily general sessions on matters affecting hospital management, numerous other meetings will be running simultaneously for specialized health personnel who belong to the 20 affiliated sections of the hospital association. These OHA sections range from nursing administration, lab technologists and pharmacists to engineers, housekeepers, accountants and the two newest groups - directors of volunteer services and hospital chaplains. Both these new sections have invited top name speakers to address their meetings. Dr. Reva Gerstein, the well-known Toronto psychologist and chairman of Project '70, will be talking to the directors of volunteer services on the subject of 'Serving Humanity 1970 Style'. The chaplains, who represent all religious faiths ministering in hospitals, will have Dr. Robert McClure., as their leadoff speaker.
