SECOND CLASS MAIL REGISTRATION NUMBER - 0842

A GOOD BATTLE, BUT THE PIKE LOST

Morrisburg's veteran fisherman Bruce Casselman, Fifth St., testified to his prowess over the week end when he brought home a 13 pound pike. Casting from shore with light tackle at "The Pines" just west of here on Highway No. 2. about 8 a.m. Thursday he hooked the big fellow. He was pulled one-quarter of a mile down stream and up-stream, playing the fish for almost an hour before Alfred Thurston arrived with a net and brought the catch ashore.

Mr. Casselman has been interested in fishing all his life. While wintering in Florida he enjoys deep sea fishing. Another exciting experience was in 1963 when he caught a 68 pound Amber Jack off Key West in the Gulf Stream.

Mets Lead Final Series Set Sights for Trophy

Barring a complete reversal of all the signs and portents, Morrisburg Mets should win the O'Keefe Trophy, (emblematic of Junior B lacrosse supremacy in this area) for the second straight year. They could even have accomplished this feat by the time this is read. The Mets were scheduled to go into the Water Street Arena at Cornwall on Thursday for the fifth game of a best-in-seven final series against the Ottawa Vikings, with a commanding three game toe-hold on the trophy.

They dropped the first game in Ottawa last Thursday by 17-11, but bounced back to take victories on Friday and Tuesday at Morrisburg, and on Sunday in Cornwall. All the games featured solid checking, hard-played lacrosse. Again there large crowds of cheering fans to encourage the Mets at home and also very sizeable contingents of fans for the away games. Although we did not attend the game at Ottaw. we are told that it was rather a grim affair, with the fans getting into the act, and pummelling some of the Mets who had been penalized and attacking Morrisburg fans.

In their latest effort, on Tuesday, the Mets spotted their rivals a 4-1 lead in the first period, then to the delight of the cheering fans, came from behind to chalk up an 11 to 8 victory.

Tom "Crane" Dawley led the way with three goals and an undisputed decision in a brief fistfight. He was followed by Donnie Mabo, who counted two big goals and contributed a strong 2-way effort all evening. Single goals went to Ralph Duval, Gary Hess, Glen MacDonnell, Ronnie Gillard, Brian McNairn and Jim Notman.

Counting for the Vikings were John Cundell, Bert Rupert and Cedric Wilson with two each; Mick Paquette and Greg McAlear with one each.

Sunday's game in Cornwall was a 18-8 victory for the Mets with Gary Hess putting out with a big effort to snare no less than eight goals. He was followed by Donnie Mabo with five, Tom Dawley with 3 and Brian McNairn with 2.

Big gun for the Vikings was once again their captain, John Cundell, with three counters while singles went to Andre Cornellier, Brian Copping, Mick Paquette, Vic Budge and Gil Monette.

This game the Mets played without the services of their captain, Micky Mabo, out indefinitely with an injured knee, and Jim Notman. But, as it has always this season, the netminding of Doc Jones, the Mets 15-year old prodigy left absolutely nothing to be desired, and had the Ottawa marksmen shaking their heads in frustration.

On Friday last at the Community Centre here, the Mets posteda 20-13 win over the Vikings and were solid value for their win. Personally, we thought that the officiating in this game was the best we have seen all year, with referees Bud Grant and Carman MacMillan in charge.

Gary Hess again led the Mets to this victory with six goals, while Tom Dawley and Jim Notman each had a hat trick. Mick Mabo and brother Donnie each posted a pair, while singles went to Glen MacDonnell, Ralph Duvall, Ronnie Gillard and Stan Mabo.

Goals for the losing Vikings were scored by John Cundell with five; Rick Mineault with 4, Mick Paquette with a pair, and Gil Monette and Con Mineault with singles.

Last Thursday the Vikings took their first (and only) victory of the series, when they defeated the Mets 17-11.

In this one, Rick Mineault led the Vikings with five goals. Mick Paquette scored three, John Cundell and Greg McAlear had two each, and singles went to Bob Beamish, Con Mineault, Mark McAlear Gilles Monette and Homer Pilon.

Whichever team emerges victorious from this series will meet the Western Ontario winner in a 3 of 5 game series, with the first two set for this area next week end.

Belanger-Harper Vows at St. Marys

The altar of St. Mary's Church, Morrisburg, was decorated with assorted gladioli for the marriage of Edna Darlene Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harper, Williamsburg, to Gerald Ernest Belanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Belanger of R.R. 4, Winchester, on Saturday, August 23rd. Rev. Father D. W. MacDonald performed the 1 p.m. ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an empire design, full-length gown of peau de soie and chantilly lace, with an A-line skirt, and long, lilypoint- sleeves. A chapel train of chantilly lace extended from her shoulders. She wore a shoulder-length illusion veil held in place by a circlet of white roses and seed pearls, and carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink Sensation roses and white chrysanthemums.

The bride was attended by her sister. Mrs. Orval Millward, of Williamsburg, as matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ann Trickey of Williamsburg, and Mrs. Carol Armstrong of Winchester. The matron of honor was wearing an A-line style gown of figured sheer over silk taffeta in shades of peacock, with three quarter length sleeves. Her headpiece was of roses and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white shasta mums. The bridesmaids were identically attired in mint green peau de charme A-line gowns with bell sleeves, and circlets of ribbon roses and seed pearls in their hair.

Bernard Belanger was groomsman for his brother, and ushers were Leonard Belanger, brother of the groom and Donald Harper, brother of the bride.

Gifts to the bride's attendants were pearl drops, and to the best man, tie and socks.

At a reception held atthe Pioneer Hotel, Williamsburg for seventy guests, the bride's mother received in a sheath dress of lilac organza, with matching coat trimmed in white lace, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. The mother of the groom chose a cranberry crimpeline dress with black accessories and a corsage of peppermint roses.

Bobby Orr Joins GM Allstar Team

In a move aimed at broadening its association with Canadian sport General Motors of Canada Limited has added a new star tothe G.M. team.

Larry A. Hastings, Director of Sales, announced today that allstar NHL defenceman Babby Orr, has been retained in the capacity of special sports advisor.

In his new role, Bobby will assist the company on specific assignments related to the company's advertising and public relations activities.

"Bobby's outstanding talent and unlimited energy are made to order for General Motors", Mr. Hastings said.

Added to General Motors current participation in skiing through World Champion Nancy Greene, Bobby Orr's appointment brings to the continuing GM sports program, new versatility and depth.

His involvment with Oshawa-based General Motors marks a return to "where it all happened" for Bobby in his meteoric rise to hockey fame.

His outstanding performance as a junior with the Oshawa Generals made him the hottest hockey prospect in North America and, at a very young age, he was already being touted by experts and enthusiasts as a future all-time great. Shortly after his 18th birthday, he signed with Boston Bruins, parent club of the Generals.

In 1966, his first year as a pro, re lived up to all expectations by making "Rookie of the Year" and winning a berth on the second All Star team.

His second year was even better. With Orr in full stride, the Bruins moved into the Stanley Cup playoffs. He won the Norris Trophy as best defenceman of the year and was nominated to the first All-Star team.

Last year he was again instrumental in helping the Bruins in their march to the playoffs. He walked off with the Norris Trophy for the second consecutive year and as well was named to the first All-Star team. In addition he broke the all-time record for goals scored by a defenceman in one season, previously set by Flash Hollett.

VICIOUS CIRCLE. A bitter price war between wheat exporters, including Canada, appears to be a more distinct possibility now as the International Grains Arrangement members failed to reach any form of unanimity on the future of world wheat prices. Ban pollution not the bombs

Twenty-four years ago, an American B-29 bomber started the atomic age with a "perfect" drop over Hiroshima.

For about 20 years after that massive destruction and slaughter of human lives, the threat of fallout followed each test of even bigger bombs, first by the Americans, then by the Russians, French and Chinese.

But the pollution by these massive bombs is minor compared to the world-wide pollution of the water and air by every settlement in every country.

When the world population was small and the open spaces large, this pollution was not a serious matter. In fact, the main sources of this pollution, industry, never had to worry about political interference or enforcement of pollution laws.

The lumber mills that dumped life-killing waste into fresh water streams were, after all, opening up this country of ours and the taxes they paid, helped all levels of government balance their books.

The factories and steel mills that poured more pollution into the atmosphere were also considered good corporate citizens.

And the automobile manufacturers and the oil companies that benefited from their sales, could hardly be blamed because their machines dumped more filth into the air — so much so that many blamed the car for the killer smog around Los Angeles.

This attitude towards big business by all levels of government, if continued for another 20 years, would have probably resulted into the eventual destruction of the human race.

Without fresh water, without oxygen, life as we know it cannot survive.

Fortunately, these hard, cold facts HAVE resulted in political action, strong and forceful in some cases but, sad to say, slow and weak in others.

This year 1969 has seen the mighty Rhine River so badly polluted by industrial "spill" that millions of fish were killed. Thank goodness the fish were there — otherwise human beings would have consumed the water that killed the fish.

The city of Vancouver has had to post signs advising swimmers to avoid the ocean beaches — the pollution by industry, primarily the lumber concerns, is so heavy in the Fraser River and surrounding areas that even the Pacific Ocean can't cleanse the filth close to shore.

Beaches at Collingwood, Ont., on Georgian Bay were ordered closed this summer.

In Newfoundland, thousands of fish were poisoned when waste from a new plant was dumped into the ocean.

The list is endless — be it in the big city area or in the villages of what was once the wilderness.

As more and more development takes place, more and more pollution seems to follow.

The government, federal, provincial and municipal, no longer can afford to sit on the fence.

Prime Minister Trudeau told a recent meeting in Vancouver that air pollution has become a critical matter for many areas in Canada. He said it is possible that in the future those responsible for polluting the air would be charged under the criminal code.

In California, gasoline engines may be outlawed in 1975. That's the only language the car manufacturers understand.

But car pollution is only one source of trouble. Many cities, towns and villages in Canada still dump raw sewage into rivers lakes and streams. This MUST stop, if Canada is to continue to prosper.

Sewage treatment plants cost money but the price is low compared to the consequences of pollution.

And all industrial concerns need to be told that no pollution will be tolerated.

Sure, they'll cry and say they will have to go out of business. That's unlikely but even if it happens, it's better that a business dies than a whole area.

The short range thinking that protected the big industries must give way to the planners of the future. Otherwise, some future civilization will be sending spaceships to earth and what they discover will resemble the findings of this year's Moon Walkers in the Sea of Tranquility.

CLEANING UP THE ONT. HIGAWAYS IS COSTLY BUSINESS

John Q. Public was caught throw ing an empty cigarette pack out of his window. It wasn't the first time he had done this, but it was the first time he had been caught at it.

Mrs. John Q. Public tossed a couple of tissues out of the car win dow while cleaning out her purse. It wasn't the first time for her ei-ther. Junior was caught ditching a pop bottle. He was learning fast.

They are representative of some of the 353 persons fined in 1968 for littering Ontario's highways and of the hundreds of others who were stopped by the police and warned about the law against littering.

Cleaning up after Ontario's motorists is an expensive business. Last year the Department of High-ways found that it cost $970,000.

What the John Q. Public family forgets is that any way you look at it, it's their money that pays the cleaning tab.

It could be put to better use.

Attaboy Pete Palmer

Many of you must often wonder what became of people you have met during your sporting years. I know I have.

Not too many years ago I was fortunate enough to coach a fine group of early teeners. Our first years were spent playing an exhibition schedule, mostly against private schools. For two years we didn't lose.

We had an excellent football team. Even then, I felt that one or two of "the kids" would advance into college competition, and then into the professional ranks.

I can't remember all the names, but a few come to mind, mainly I guess, because they did advance into U.S. colleges on athletic scholarships. Not all of them went the football route, as a couple of them excelled in track and field. Others went to Canadian universities and played football.

Let's see . . . Frank Marlatt is at Oregon, Bob Grimm's at Western Michigan, Peter Parker plays for Otterbein, Dan Terry's at Kent State, Mike Mercer is at Utah . . . some of the others I can't remember.

One youngster I was always tremendously fond of was a fullback, Pete Palmer. If any of the youngsters was to make pro, he would be it, I often thought. This lad was determined to combine football and education, and eventually, he accepted a football scholarship at Lenoir Rhyne College in North Carolina.

It was the Ottawa Rough Riders who sent him to college.

For the past three years he has played offensive and defensive end with the Conference Championship team. I am told that this year he is being considered as a captain of the squad. This is an elected position, not appointed.

Why I'm writing about young Palmer (he's now 23) is that I've just received a clipping from the Hickory, N.C., Record.

As you read this, remember, Palmer is a Canadian at an American college on a football scholarship.

"An increased effort in student organization is underway and one of the leaders in the nation is a Lenoir Rhyne College Senior, Peter C. Palmer, who is serving as chairman for the state of North Carolina in the Southern Universities Student Government Association (SUSGA).

"SUSGA exists as a link of communication between the colleges and universities in the south, Palmer noted, enabling the student leaders to exchange ideas and experiences in order to benefit one another in their role of service and leadership to their respective student bodies.

"He added that SUSGA is the second largest student government organization in the United States including 14 states and over 150 schools. But, he stated, 'Unlike any other regional or national student association, it does not attempt to serve as a political or policy-making organization, nor does it condemn or ridicule government leaders, agencies, policies or other individuals of this country. SUSGA is completely non-political in scope.'

"He continued that contrary to many of the forms of self-expression of students through demonstrations, sit-ins, underground publications, and even violence, SUSGA hopes to help resolve problems on campuses through peaceful means, thereby not bringing into being new problems.

"'Violence only increases the problems of a campus,' he stated emphatically, 'it does not solve them.'

"Palmer concluded that the purpose of the organization and its aims is best summed up in the preamble of their Constitution:

"In order to promote better student government, to provide for greater co-operation and exchange of ideas among member colleges and universities and to better resolve our common problems, we do ordain and establish this Constitution for the Southern Universities Student Government Association, which shall be a non-political association of colleges and universities in the South dedicated to the service of their respective campuses."

I'm certainly glad I kept track of Peter Palmer.

FARMERS ASKED TO TAKE DOWN ALL HOME MADE ELECTRIC FENCES

A six-year old Hamilton area girl was electroculted in mid-July when she crawled under a fence on her father's farm. The child was chasing her kitten at the time of the tragedy.

Just a few days later a 1,600-pound bull was electrocuted when it contacted an electrified fence intended to keep it from entering a neighboring property.

In the wake of these accidents Ontario Hydro has appealed to farmers across the province to immediately remove electric fence controllers of the home-made or unapproved type.

Both the child and the bull were killed by contact with fences electrified by home-made electric fence controllers.

Investigation into the death of the child revealed the unapproved fence controller consisted of a line cord, lampholder, step-up transformer (115 to 600 volts) and two wires to connect the 600-volt secondary to a ground rod and the fence.

The arrangement permitted secondary output currents in the order of 30 milliamperes (thirty 1000th of an amp) at 600 volts — 15 milliamperes is sufficient to kill an adult male.

And the primary current interrupter permitted the device to remain "on" for three seconds.

Conditions under which the bull perished were similar.

The Canadian Standards Association safety standard on electric fence controllers limits the output current to a maximum of 25 milliamperes for an "on" period of one-tenth of a second maximum:.

The "off" period must be nine-tenths of a second minimum to meet CSA standards. Failure of any internal component may not result in continuous current of more than five milliamperes on the fence.

And CSA-approved "fencers" are available — at considerably less cost than a home-made device.

ARDA PROGRAM OF ENLARGEMENT GETS ATTENTION

One of the programs receiving the most emphasis by ARDA in Ontario at the present time is that of Farm Enlargement and Consolidation.

Since the program began in 1966 over 900 farms have been purchased in Ontario. Most of these are in Eastern, Central and Northern Ontario.

Until recently farms were bought by ARDA only if they could be immediately leased to neighbouring full time farmers. Farms offered for sale and falling into this category will continue to receive priority providing an eligible applicant to lease the farm, who cannot obtain credit to purchase the farm, is available.

However, ARDA is now prepared to purchase farms under certain circumstances even though there may not be farmers in the vicinity wishing to lease them. These may be owned by young farmers who find that their farms are not large enough or productive enough to provide sufficient income and who wish to either relocate their farm operations or to take training courses and enter other occupations.

They may also include farms in isolated areas which have low agricultural value and where the owner wishes to move away.

Another group may be those farmers over 55 years of age who presently occupy uneconomic farms and wish to retire from farming. Provided these farms have been offered for sale for at least six months it may be possible for ARDA to purchase them, and hold them until eligible applicants for farm enlargement signify their desire to rent. In some cases it may be possible to give the owner a life lease on the house under reasonable rental terms.

Anyone wishing further information on this policy may contact Mr D.A. Knapp or Mr. Eber Dobson of the ARDA Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food at Box 789 Kemptville, or Mr. Russell McAlister at the Agricultural Office in Cornwall.

NEWS FROM O.F.A.

The rights, responsibilities, and continuing needs of this province's farmers were outlined this morning by the executive of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture during a regular meeting of the commodity groups. The athering in Toronto included representatives from 17 of the province's 22 commodity marketing boards.

Charles G. Munro of Embro, OFA President, stressed that the board's members are farmers "who have certain concerns beyond what they produce." Earlier in the meeting the OFA executive reviewed again a proposal for immediate changes in the Federation which was presented to a members' meeting of the organization last week.

The executive emphasized to the board representatives that the Federation "should become less dependent on commodity boards for support." But they also point out that the continued board support "can be justified on the basis of the work done for the commodity section of the OFA".

The 13-page document outlined how much money and labour is required to serve the special interest group of the Federation. The work done for the boards by the OFA executive and staff over the past 11 months covers almost 10 pages of the report.

The tasks outlined included presentations to various governments, stands concerning employment standards, regional government, retraining, availability of imported herbicides, and assessment and taxation review, just to name a few. Since last November the OFA has had no less than 22 meetings with eight provincial departments and their respective ministers.

MILK MARKETING BOARD TO ELECT NEW MEMBERS

Milk producers in four of the 12 Regions in Ontario will have an opportunity to elect members to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board in elections to be held in October and November. This information was made known today by the Ontario Milk Commission. This is consistent with the policy of electing members to the Board on a rotational basis, as well as the filling of such positions as become vacant through the retirement, ineligibility or death of a Board member.

The Ontario Milk Commission announcement notes that elections will take place in the following regions:

Region No. 1 — comprising the counties of Dundas, Frontenac, Grenville and Leeds.

Region No. 6 — comprising the counties of Dufferin, Halton, Peel, Simcoe and York.

Region No. 7 — comprising the counties of Brant, Haldimand, Lincoln, Welland and Wentworth.

Region No. 10 — compising the counties of Perth, Waterloo and Wellington.

In each of the four Regions named above, producers will elect from among their number representatives to Regional Election Committees, whose sole function shall be to elect a member to the Ontario Milk Marketing Board to represent the producers in that region.

Nominations to these Regional Election Committees must be made in writing to the Secretary of the Ontario Milk Commission, the period of nomination opening on September 15 and closing September 30. 1969. Nomination forms may be obtained from the Ontario Milk Marketing Board Fieldman, Milk Commission Fieldman, Agricultural Representatives, Secretaries of County Milk Committees and from the office of the Ontario Milk Commission, Queen's Park, Toronto. Nominees and nominators must be licensed milk producers.

The nominations having been completed, the Ontario Milk Commission will then prepare a ballot with the names of each nominee for the respective county. The ballots will be mailed to each licensed milk producer in the affected counties, not later than October 15, and these marked ballots are to be returned to the Ontario Milk Commission for couning not later than October 30, 1969. The nominees receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected on the basis of one Committeeman for each one hundred licensed producers or part thereof in a county. The total number of nominees elected shall constitute the Regional Election Committee for that Region.

The Ontario Milk Commission shall then call a meeting of the members of each of the Regional Election Committees not later than November 30, for the purpose of electing by secret ballot a Member of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

The conduct of these elections shall be the responsibility of the Ontario Milk Commission and copies of the Regulations governing the elections are now available through County Milk Committees and at offices of County Agricultural Representatives for the information of interested producers.

The commodity section of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture reviewed programs yesterday which are continually carried out on behalf of farmers by their marketing board and the OFA.

The review during the special Toronto meeting centered on a document which illustrated the ongoing work of the Federation as it concerns the commodity section of the organization. The meeting was attended by representatives of 17 of the province's commodity marketing boards.

The executive report showed in detail all work done by the OFA executive and staff on behalf of the boards and their producer members since last November. The relative costs were also presented.

Charles G. Munro, OFA President stressed that all work completed in the past 10 months on behalf of the boards was, in reality accomplished within one body, not between two separate groups.

requested the Federation to prepare a detailed study showing membership and service costs to the boards under the proposed changes in the OFA. Numerous changes for the future were presented last week at a members' meeting and reviewed yesterday.

Clare Curtin, chairman of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board, stated that he thought his and other boards would continue supporting the Federation if they knew how much it would cost the boards and how the money would be spent. He then requested that the study be prepared.

Work is continuing for the first service membership drive in the history of the Federation.

Canadaian Standard Sizes

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Ron Basford announced today the launching of a nationwide program to promote the use of the Canada Standard Size (CSS) label on children's clothing. A Canada Standard Size label on a garment means that it is sized according to body measurement rather than the age of the child.

At a press conference where young models demonstrated the size differences within one age group, Mr. Basford said: "Many parents have complained to us about the trouble they have buying children's clothes which fit properly. Obviously all eight-year-olds are not the same size and the consumer should be able to buy by measurement rather than age. Today we are launching a program to encourage manufacturers to produce children's clothes in Canada Standard sizes, and we are urging mothers to buy only those items carrying the CSS label."

The CSS program is a voluntary one but manufacturers wishing to use the standard label must obtain a licence from the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and conform to the regulations. Abuse of a licence could lead to its suspension or prosecution with a maximum penalty of $5,000.

Mr. Basford said that the major retailers and manufacturers have welcomed the new program and are assisting in its promotion because a better fit for children's clothes will mean fewer returns of merchandise. The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs is publicizing the CSS label in its Consumer Communique, in retail outlets across the country and in the press, radio and television.

Mr. Basford said: "There is a good deal of economic waste and inconvenience to the public because of lack of acceptable standards in many lines of consumer goods. The Consumers' Association of Canada and other interested goups have long advocated the action we are taking today, and the establishment of standards in other commodities is receiving our closest attention".

1970 CHEVROLET MONTE CARLO

The 1970 model Chevroltes will include an entirely new personal luxury car, the Monte Carlo, General Motors of Canada announced this week.

The Monte Carlo will be available as a two-door sport coupe, offering a choice of engines ranging from a 250 horsepower "Turbo-Fire". 350 cubic inch V-8, to a 360 horsepower, 454 cubic inch V8. All engines feature transmission - controlled spark advance for improved exhaust emission control.

The Monte Carlo is the most dramatically new of 29 Chevrolet models for 1970. It combines the longest Chevrolet hood ever with a shortened rear deck, and features single front headlights, unique in its field.

Overall length of the Monte Carlo will be 205.8 inches.

Standard equipment on the Monte Carlo will include.. full. wheel covers; a black accented lower body, fender and rear deck moulding; power front disc brakes and full coil suspension.

A hidden antenna, embedded in the winshield glass will be standard with all factory-installed radios on the Monte Carlo. The Monte Carlo, in common with all 1970 Chevrolets, will provide fibre-glass-belted tires as standard equipment.

Contempra Phone Makes It's Debut

A unique, Canadian designed and developed telephone will be available to all Bell Canada subscribers in the area on August 25.

The CONTEMPRA phone is the first telephone ever available in Canada which places the dial or push-buttons in the handset instead of in the base.

"CONTEMPRA was introduced to our customers in Montreal and Quebec City earlier this spring," says L.M. Holtby, Bell's local manager. "The response was tremendous. It fact, the demand there has been so high that we've had to step up production to satisfy it."

CONTEMPRA is a brain child of Northern Electric Laboratories in Ottawa. It incorporates convenience features such as an extra long cord and a special recall button in the handset which enables the caller to disconnect and place another call without hanging up.

Pleasure is one of the chief factors in the CONTEMPRA design. It is available in nine beautiful colors, fits in with the interior decor of almost any home and is a stimulating conversation piece. In fact a surprisingly high number of the sets have been installed in the living rooms of residences in Montreal and Quebec City.

Bell is encouraging its customers to place their orders as soon as possible.

FACTS ABOUT CONTEMPRA

- CONTEMPRA is available in 9 colours — Warm-White, Ivory, Beige, Soft-Yellow, Green, Dark Turquoise, Bright Red and Mauve.
- A caller can hold the handset and dial with the same hand while lying down — thus making CONTEMPRA useful to bed ridden people or hospital patients.
- CONTEMPRA is designed to harmonize with its surroundings, not to call attention to itself.
- CONTEMPRA is an all Canadian telephone. Designed and developed at the Northern Electric Laboratories in Ottawa under the direction of John Tyson it is manufactured at a Northern Electric plant in London, Ontario.
- The monthly charge for CONTEMPRA is $1.75 per set.
- CONTEMPRA fills a dual purpose — the same set can be placed on a desk or hung on a wall.

PLAN AHEAD!

The driver who has to slam on the brakes to prevent an accident is probably not a good driver. Experienced drivers seldom have to take such drastic action. They not only drive with care, they keep a careful on other drivers.

By watching the road ahead, you can recognize potential dangers, and eliminate the need for crash action. Planning ahead is the best way to buy insurance, too. For details about CIAG automobile coverage, call:
