THURSDAY JANUARY 4, 1979

The Iroquois Pee Wee B's made it to the A finals of the tournament they hosted jointly with Cardinal last Thursday. Here a couple of the Iroquois players take advantage of a breakaway in the game against the Winchester team. A story appears inside this issue of the Post.

Reeve Rooney names acting reeve, committees

Veteran councillor Jim Styles has been appointed as acting reeve by Iroquois reeve Frank Rooney. The appointment came at a special meeting of council last Thursday night, planned to clear up most council business before the end of the year.

The acting reeve is named to act in the absence of the reeve and is an appointment rather than an elected deputy reeve, because Iroquois has less than 1,000 registered voters.

In making the appointment, Mr. Rooney said that traditionally the person who leads the polls is named as acting reeve, but in this case, because newcomer Joan Saver led the polls, he was making an exception. He noted that he had been thrust into the position several years ago because he led the polls and felt he was not prepared for it. Mrs. Saver responded, saying that if she had been asked, she would have declined at this point, due to her relative inexperience.

Other committee chairmen were named for the next two year term of council. Joan Saver was named as councillor in charge of recreation, with assistance from Peter Swank.

Jim Styles was asked by Mr. Rooney to again assume the responsibilities of water and sewage, due to his involvement in that area over the years. The reeve stressed that water and sewage would be particularly important this year with the impending expansion of the sewage treatment plant.

Peter Swank was named as councillor responsible for streets and parks, while John McAllister will be assuming responsibility for Industry and Tourism, housing and Wintario Grants. It was noted in passing that Mr. McAllister was taking a day of his Christmas holidays to go to Ottawa and check into the progress of the local Wintario applications since some of them have been in the system for over a year.

Mr. Rooney will be looking after grants other than Wintario by himself. Mrs. Saver was appointed to the Carman House Museum Board, while Mr. Rooney will be heading up the Library Board.

A property standards committee, composed of people from the village at large will be appointed at a later date. The finance committee will essentially be all of council with clerk-treasurer Fred Lloyd handling most of the work.

Council agreed at the all-candidates meeting before the election to the establishment of an energy committee. The mandate of this group has yet to be completely formulated but it was felt that primarily, their responsibility would be to gather and co-ordinate information for the village of Iroquois on all phases of a possible hydro plant in the area. Council would like to see the group organize public meetings at which this information could be presented.

The energy committee will be made up of 5 people, who will elect their own chairman.

Council had considered having a member of council on the committee as chairman, but decided against the idea, fearing that as chairman, a councillor might lead the committee in one direction or another. Because the group is supposed to be totally impartial, it was agreed to leave it made up only of citizens. Council will advertise for members for the committee and is hoping for impartial people with no pre-conceived ideas about a power plant.

Council re-appointed the same three representatives to the South Dundas Planning Board, all of whom have agreed to serve. They include Jack Fetterly, Roland Johnson and Allan Fisher.

Hydro site data to be revealed January 17

Ontario Hydro's Generation Working Committee will be meeting again in less than two weeks to hear the final evaluation of the four potential sites along the St. Lawrence for a new power plant. On January 17th, the committee will be meeting again at 9 a.m. at the Skyline Hotel in Brockville.

At that time hydro officials will outline the points of the four sites that have been selected and work will begin on narrowing that choice down to one recommendation. Than announcement is expected to be made in May of this year, and then public input will be invited again. The ultimate decision on a site is expected in September of this year.

Between now and May, there will be many aspects of the site selection study running concurrently. These will include the preparation of preliminary site layouts, the study of transmission lines, social and community analysis, property and land use analysis, and natural environmental analysis.

A recommendation of preferred sites will be coming later this winter and public comment will be invited at the time as well. Following this feedback, the four sites will be evaluated on the basis of the detailed inventory that will be prepared and a final site selection will be made in May.

After more public review and comment, a final site selection report will be prepared for the Board of Directors of Ontario Hydro in September and this report will be passed on to the provincial government. It is expected that acquiring the necessary approvals will take about a year and that an order in council can be obtained to begin the process of acquiring the land. The first land purchase is not expected until late 1982.

Following the January 17th presentation of the detailed data on the four sites, Ontario Hydro will host information meetings for several days in both Iroquois and Prescott. The Iroquois meeting is slated for January 30, 31 and February 1st in the civic centre.

Iroquois council winds up 1978 business

Members of Iroquois council wound up the majority of the 1978 business at a special meeting on Thursday night, dealing with a variety of topics.

Council met with Harry Norton and John DeWit, operators of the Tidy Car franchise in the area and in the Cornwall area. The men wanted clarification of whether or not they were breaking a by-law working on a customer's car in his own yard. It was noted earlier this year that they could not carry on their business out of a private residential garage in the village; council felt that if they did one car in a customer's driveway or garage, and were only there for a few hours there would be no problem.

The question of removal of the CN railroad station came up and council reviewed the fact that the building must be moved elsewhere or demolished as CN will not permit its use that close to the tracks for any other purpose. Reeve Frank Rooney said that estimates for its removal had been well over $20,000, and council felt that it was not feasible to spend that much to save the building. "It's a shame," said Mr. Rooney, "I guess that's what you call progress."

Council noted that the building was not old enough to be classified as a heritage building, and conceded that it would likely end up being torn down.

A letter was received from John Haldane, sponsor of the local girl's broomball team asking why the village had refused to pay a bill for ice time for the team at the Cardinal arena. Mr. Haldane noted that 14 girls are involved in the league team and make use of 30 hours of ice time during the season.

He added that several years ago, the ice time was paid for by the recreation committee under the minor hockey payment. The team was dormant for a year and then again this year started to play, and received notice that the village was not paying for ice time.

Councillors generally objected to being made to appear as villains when they were not even aware of the situation. With ice time at $20. per hour the cost will be $600. for the year, a figure that council was not against paying but it was felt that the team should have gone through the proper channels and been authorized by the recreation committee.

It was noted that if the bill for broomball ice time was paid in other years by minor hockey and recreation, it must have been buried in with the bills for hockey ice time.

Council agreed to cover the expense this year, but will be asking the team to submit a budget next year and to go through the recreation committee so that the situation will not happen again.

In other business, councillor Jim Styles noted that he would like to see council place more stringent rules on their method of obtaining quotations or tenders. He added that in the recent discussion on purchase of a new mower and on prices for snow removal, he would feel better about having actual sealed tenders, with each party bidding on exactly the same specifications. It was agreed that in the future, more care should be exercised in such matters.

Joan Saver questioned the need for two garbage pick-ups a week, particularly in the winter

see Council, p.8

Iroquois Reeve Frank Rooney was presented with a plaque on behalf of the officers and men of the HMCS Iroquois last Thursday. Making the presentation was David Tucker, a native of Iroquois and now serving with the Canadian Armed Forces on the ship.

OPP report no drinking drivers New Year's eve

Drinking and driving don't appear to have mixed on New Year's Eve in this area. OPP at Morrisburg told the Post on Tuesday that only one driver was charged with an infraction of the Liquor Licensing Act on January 1st and there were no liquor related offences reported at all on New Year's Eve.

The extremely poor driving conditions were credited with keeping some people off the roads, who might otherwise have been driving. In spite of the freezing rain there were no accidents of any consequence, although a number of cars had to be towed out of the ditches.

During the past week there have been three non-reportable accidents and two reportables, with only minor damage and no serious injury.

Four charges were laid under the Liquor Licensing Act and two impaired drivers were charged. One driver was apprehended for driving while his license was under suspension.

Job watch

For information on these and other employment opportunities, contact the Canada Employment Centre in Prescott at 925-2808 and ask for Arnold Beckstead.

A gift from the 'Iroquois'

Iroquois reeve Frank Rooney and village council were presented with something a little different at a special meeting of council on Thursday night.

The reeve accepted a special plaque on behalf of the officers and men of the H.M.C.S. Iroquois. The presentation was made by A.B.R.P. David Tucker, a local native now serving with the Canadian Armed Forces and stationed on the Iroquois.

The village has had a history of association with the ship which shares its name, and according to Mr. Tucker, when the ship's captain learned that he was from the village, he suggested that a two-way communication be established between the men on the Iroquois and the village residents.

Consequently, the officers and men had the plaque prepared and are hoping to keep local residents posted, through this newspaper, on where the ship is serving and what is happening with her. A copy of the Iroquois Post is being sent to the ship to be placed in the ship's library for the benefit of the men on board.

Reeve Rooney told Mr. Tucker that on behalf of the village he was pleased to accept the plaque as a token gesture of friendship.

He recalled that when the ship was commissioned, the reeve at that time, Lloyd Davis and two councillors went to the ceremony. It had been hoped as well that the ship could come up through the Seaway and pass through the Iroquois Locks so that local people could get a look at her, but unfortunately, her superstructure is too high to allow the Iroquois to pass under the Jacques Cartier Bridge at Montreal. As a result, the ship can get no farther inland than Quebec City.

The bell from the new ship was presented to the village when it was replaced with the bell from the original Iroquois, which was built at the start of the second World War. The new ship has only been in service for a few years.

Mr. Tucker told council that the Iroquois serves primarily in the Atlantic, but that the crew is hoping for a tour of the Pacific next year. He noted that during 1978, the ship took part in a 3½ month tour of duty for NATO, an experience that is the highlight of his career thus far.

The new plaque will be on display at the civic centre for all to see.

Report
from

Eleven occurrences

Cardinal Police report that only one occurrence had occurred in the new year. Arthur's hardware, located on Lewis Street in Cardinal, was broken into but police report that two suspects are currently being held in the County Jail in Brockville in connection with the case.

Most of the articles stolen in the incident, radios, watches, a television and walkie-talkies have been recovered.

So far this year 11 occurrences have been logged by the Cardinal Police, with the last four days of 1978 having 7 incidents recorded.

Chimney fire

Cardinal volunteer firefighters were called out on Saturday afternoon to a chimney fire at the home of Jim Tzaferis at the corner of River Road west and the Shanly Road.

Smoke damage was limited to about $30. in the fire which resulted from a fireplace and overheated pipes. Flames could be seen coming from the chimney, but there was no fire damage to the house or to the fireplace itself.

Dorothy BaughA generation passes before her

Post feature by Dent Tillotson

It was just over 9 years ago that Dorothy Baugh moved to Cardinal with her family, but in the process she ended up with two families, the second having well over one hundred kids, ranging in ages from five to thirteen.

She started out as a teacher, practicing her trade for two years in the province of Quebec, near Otter Lake, until her permit expired.

From then on her life for the next twenty years would be associated with law, primarily in Montreal.

Almost nine years ago she and her family made the move to Cardinal, and it was here she was to see a whole generation of elementary children pass through Benson Public School in her role as secretary.

As any mother will testify, looking after just a couple of kids can be trying but multiplying that by well over a hundred and you will get that many more encounters of a varied nature.

Mrs. Baugh has, in her role, played substitute mother whose parents have been delayed in picking up their kids, nursing the sick ones, directing the lost, being part-time radio announcer in announcing events over the intercom and playing a co-ordinator role from her place in the office.

Since she first started at the school, she has seen students whom she first met in kindergarten travel up the grades and into high school.

When asked if she had any memorable events that occurred during her years at Benson, she responded with a positive reply.

When asked to elaborate on some of them, she said there were many and that they were really memories that couldn't be shared. They were occasional and personal with the students whom she spent part of her life with and, well, they were personal. Part of unwritten job description is to be a confidant to the students and it was a duty she took seriously. By relating them it would be breaking her trust in a sense.

Although children when they first enter the great halls of education are confused and unsure of their surroundings, they usually know that the secretary is the one person who can solve any problem they may have and throughout their years at the school, she is always there if need be.

A mother of two daughters, she and her retired-teacher husband who reside on Highway 2 west have planned to do some travelling, and of course, keep in contact with children, three grandchildren to be precise.

Friends and relatives honoured her retirement at a party at the Iroquois Golf Club presenting her with a set of luggage to make the travelling easier and a cake shaped, as what else, a typewriter.

She will be replaced by Miss Kathryn Malone of Brinston.

Kathryn Malone, left, looks over some of the reports that Dorothy Baugh, right, has been doing as part of her duties as secretary at Benson Public School for the past nine years. Mrs. Baugh is retiring at the end of this year and will be replaced by Miss Malone.

RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

During the 60's big business would wipe out thousands of acres of timber forests without replacing a single tree; or clean out their dirty oily tankers in the sea at the dead of night; or destroy fishing grounds for an immediate catch.

Big business was motivated by greed and was a living example that power corrupts. Had there not been a public outcry there would be many more Sahara deserts and California dustbowls. But the public said "ENOUGH" and as the 60's came to a close, change began to take place. Now, a decade later, big business is at least starting to behave in a more responsible way.

As we begin the last year of the 70's the public is faced with a similar challenge. But instead of big business, the culprit is big public service. Instead of reaching out to serve the public which by the way is why we have a public service in the first place, public servants are more concerned with what is happening to themselves than the people they were hired to serve in hospitals, air lines, fire departments, education, police work.

The high ideals of public service unions which called for concern for the vulnerable has been replaced by what Mr. Sydney Weighall of England recently described as "the philosophy of the pig trough."

Around the village

by Audrey Tucker

Hi Neighbours! Its a brand new year once again. Time for all those resolutions we all make year after year. I don't know about you, but I'm going to try extra hard to keep mine this year.

The stork was kept pretty busy on Christmas Day delivering some pretty precious gifts, to some of Iroquois young couples. A new daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Andre Charlebois of R.R. No. 2. Andre is the young French teacher, who graciously put up with yours truly, and many others in a ten week Conservational French class, held at Seaway during November. We are all hoping to have a second ten week course in the near future. Andre, is an exceptionally good teacher; he makes learning French fun, and all who took this class, actually looked forward to going to school each week, and hated it if we had to miss a class. So Felicitations on your new daughter.

Now back to the babies, Iroquois can once again boast of having its own set of twins. What a wonderful Christmas surprise for Darlene and Stephen Hill. We wish them all our best wishes, a boy and a girl, how wonderful.

As you will see elsewhere in the Post, the town of Iroquois was presented with a plaque from the H.M.C.S. Iroquois, Officers and Men. They are pleased to share the same name as our town, and wish to establish a rapport between ship and town. I can't help but feel proud that the citizen from our town, and also the mate from the H.M.C.S. Iroquois, who delivered the plaque, was none other than my son "David", who arrived home in time for Christmas, much to the delight of his family. We were not alone in having our young man home from the service. Also in town were Kevin Fader, and Bruce Hubbard who travelled all the way from Germany, to be home for Christmas; also Steve Kroone and wife Gail and child, from Victoria B.C. (Gail is a sister to Bruce Hubbard) and Steve Montpetit also home. Iroquois can boast of quite a few of her young people in the services.

Also home were Earl and Eric Goodmurphy and Bert Karelse. I'm sure there were others, that I don't know about, and I'm sure many hearts were warmed by the presence of loved ones home for the holidays.

Mrs. Lena Larmour was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Kennedy of Charlton Lake for Christmas, also present was Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kennedy and daughter Terri Lynn from Addison, Ont. Jeff Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Reynolds from Brockville, Mr. and Mrs. Hartzell Larmour and son Greg of Smith Falls. Lena also visited her daughter Mildred who has been ill. We hope she is on the mend now. Lena had a most enjoyable holiday with all her family.

It's post-New Year depression.

The snow and those biting north winds brought it on when I went out to feed the horses this morning.

First of all, the waterline was frozen. The tap is enclosed in a wooden box with a couple of low-power light bulbs in it. Both bulbs—both of 'em, mind you—had blown during the night.

That meant carrying water pails through snowdrifts to the barn from the house.

The buckskin mare looked a little sickly. I led her out to the paddock and she was limping. That foolish appaloosa had kicked her and she now has a displaced tendon.

"Bathe the knee-joint twice a day until the limp disappears," said the vet. "She'll probably always have a lump."

I don't have time to bathe her twice a day but I'm the only person she will allow to touch her on the sensitive spot. It means 10 minutes less sleep each morning until she's cured.

I hate snow and high winds.

Get into the car to come to work grumbling that nobody but a darn fool would be driving on a day such as this with winds howling and snow driving against the windshield.

Slap the car into reverse. Thunk! Can't move it. A huge snowbank. The car is stuck. Call a neighbor. Ask to borrow his tractor. Can't. It's got a leaking radiator. Call a tow truck. It takes him 38 minutes to come from town. It costs $18. Yipe!

Arrive at work 43 minutes late. The boss is angry.

"Take this job and shove it!"

That's what I think. I haven't the intestinal fortitude to say it.

Spend the day thinking about friends and acquaintances who have the luck and the wherewithal to be in Florida or the Caribbean. Green with envy as I battle more snow and high winds and stupid drivers traveling the 12 miles home.

It's dark and gloomy. The house seems empty with all the decorations gone and the Christmas tree flapping forlornly in the garbage heap. A few wisps of tinsel are stuck on the branches. They seem to illustrate exactly how I feel.

The lane was blown out during the day but has already drifted in again. Park the car at the end of the lane.

It probably won't start in the morning because the electric cord won't reach that far.

I am going to run for Parliament and propose new legislation for Canada. The law will make it mandatory for the government to send everyone who hates winter to southern climes for at least a month every winter. Only those who hate snow and ice and cold winds will be allowed to participate.

Those fools who love skiing and snowmachines can stay in Ontario and freeze. I think they're all kidding themselves anyway. Underneath the enthusiasm for winter, they secretly hate it and are only trying to make the best of a bad thing.

Winter just hangs around too long, like a bad smell. It becomes stale, shabby, old and sullen. Every mile seems like two. It's cruel as death and hungry as the grave. I hate it.

Kipling said it about England. He probably never lived through a Canadian winter of eight months of winter, three months of bad skiing and one month of summer. He said: Never again will I spend another winter in this accursed bucket-shop of a refrigerator called (England) Canada.

Anybody got a couple of spare tickets to Jamaica?

Bill Smiley

Realism, not pessimism starts Smiley's year

Here we are staggering into another year, and nothing done, not a single resolution made. Ah, well, I don't believe in resolutions anyway, except for the fun of breaking them. A man does the best he can, and all the well intentioned resolutions in the world won't make him do any better.

Looking back over the last year, I find it was much like any other: ups and downs, topsies and turveys, ins and outs, sideways and backward, no real progress, but no real retreat, either.

My son managed to survive another year among the piranhas and pythons and poisonous snakes of Paraguay. He is now a graduate masseur and acupuncturist, hoping to make enough from his new trade to come home for a visit, after five years.

I can hardly wait for him to arrive. My teeth and hair are still falling out, my arthritis is giving me hell, I have a bum back, and I could use a little free massage and acupunctures.

My daughter lurched from one crises to another, as is her wont, but managed to chalk up another degree and charm or weasel her way into a job as a high school teacher, after six months of dearth.

Any year, or any decade now, she won't be expecting handouts from the old man.

My grandboys got a year older, survived various fatal diseases, acquired some very colorful expressions that I cannot repeat, and elicited from one beleaguered babysitter the statement that they were the worst kids she'd ever tried to handle.

The Old Battleaxe and I battled it out for another 12 months, lost a little skin here and there, each won a number of skirmishes, but neither won a decisive battle, and the war goes on, sometimes cold, sometimes hot.

We had a great trip to Eurpoe that lasted three weeks and cost me so much that I won't be able to retire until I'm 83, at last reckoning.

Everything went up again: insurance, taxes, heating. And everything else came down: snow, ice off the roof, the Canadian Dollar, the confidence of the Liberal party, branches off my big oak tree, and the number of years left to live.

It was a year like any other: fraught with terrors and horrors and pain and misery and depression and loneliness all over the world and in our private lives. But also replete with simple joys and sudden happiness and special moments and overwhelming love and occasional peace.

Wonder what '79 will be like. Heck, I don't have to ask. I know. It'll be the same as last year, only more so.

My two rotten old rusty cars will be even rottener and rustier, and I'll have to buy a third-hand turkey to replace them.

My students will be even thicker in the thatch than this year's crop, and I'll have to reach even further into the well to try to motivate them. There's only so much water in that well. Then it turns to mud. So be it.

My wife will go on thinking that listening to her worry about her daughter, her son, her brother, her father, her grandchildren, her sister-in-law, are more important than my reading the paper.

My grandboys will go on being a source of utter delight and utter despair to me, sapping my strength at the same time as they give me new life.

My pay will go up six percent and inflation will go up 14 percent. So I'll stop eating beef, which is hard to mangle with a partial plate anyway.

I'll make about 800 decisions. Based on past performance, 738 of them will be wrong, according to my wife. She will make 400 decisions and 400 of them will be right on.

My son will wind up with a total of $24 profit from his new profession and wire for air fare home for a visit.

I'll lose a few more chunks of my corpus. This past year it was a few teeth and a piece of nose. In '79 it could be anything: gall bladder, liver, prostate, or other unmentionables. I've got lots of parts.

The ice will back up on my roof this winter, and crash through the new plaster on the living-room ceiling. I'll tell my wife it's a mercy we weren't sitting there when the roof came in.

The picture tube on my TV will expire right in the middle of the Stanley Cup final. I'll hustle over to my neighbours.

My daughter will be fired from her teaching job for making certain accurate, but colourful remarks about the ancestry of the school superintendent. I'll tell her she was absolutely right, they're all the same, and send her money to assuage the loss.

I hope you don't think this is a pessimistic column. I am never a pessimist; merely a realist. That's the way the bright new year will go.

People are scared of another big hike in the price of oil. Not me. Energy crisis? We don't have one. If all the politicians in Canada were laid end to end, they'd produce enough hot air to heat every house in the country.

See? It's simply a matter of attitude. Think of the worst things that could happen in The New Year. And they probably will. But you can cope with them. Have a Happy.

Well, as they say, the holiday season is behind us now. That's not entirely true. Some of it is in front, a fact easily proven by looking down at the old belt buckle to see how many new notches there are. We've just come through a 10 day assault on the sweet tooth and the stomach and both have survived quite nicely in spite of the extra work. It's not easy to say no to some of the treats that we had a chance to enjoy over the holidays and as a result, we didn't even try. From rum balls to trifle, and from mince pie to plum pudding, it's been quite a season. Whoever said the way to a man's heart is through his stomach must have been talking about the holiday season.

Now if we could all hibernate until about the first of April and sleep off this extra few pounds, we'd have it made. It promises to be a long cold winter with the only thing on the horizon being Easter weekend, only three and a half months away. It usually snows then anyway so there's no point getting too excited. Before we see the first crocus of spring there will be at least one gas price increase, bread and milk will be going up, and even the cost of mailing a letter will be up to 17 cents. Now who wouldn't want to hibernate through that kind of a winter.

Christmas came a few days early here at the office when one of our colleagues won a prize in the Iroquois merchants draw. The Cardinal news editor fulfilled a childhood dream by winning a set of little electric cars and 8 feet of track given by Johnny's Spot. There were hopes that he would set it up here so that we could all have a turn at racing. We had visions of the track running through the darkroom and around the press with a hairpin turn at the linotype, but he took it home and played with it himself over the holidays. Not to worry. Another friend of ours, [several years younger] received one and we had a chance to play with it. Don't know if they'll ever replace electric trains but the little cars sure move on that track. We can't help but wonder though if all those toys and games aren't designed to give up the ghost on January 1st, with dead batteries, burned out motors or broken springs.

New Year's eve presented quite a challenge to anyone who wanted to venture outside. For those of our readers who are now comfortably settled in a warmer climate, freezing rain fell all evening, leaving us to welcome the new year either on skates or on our tails on the ice. We ended up driving along a road in Matilda Township which proved to be a little more slippery than we had anticipated. We wondered whether we'd end up in the left or right side ditch, but fortunately no one else was crazy enough to be out so we didn't have to pass another car and the Pinto made it through. It would have been a pretty soft landing if we had gone for the ditch because we never got up enough speed to get the car out of second gear all the way home. Regardless, we slid our way into 1979 and there's no turning back.

Think small

by Jim Smith

Back to the Stone Age

Inasmuch as Canada and the United States sleep together (geographically speaking) it should come as no surprise to learn that the two national governments are not dissimilar. Certainly they share many of the same problems — including communications.

Civil servants suffer from a horrible disadvantage when they must communicate with the rest of the world. The disadvantage arises because the civil servants do not speak English. Instead, they speak a dialect, best described as "bureaucratese", which is all but incomprehensible to the uninitiated. The basic distinction between the two languages lies in the number and length of the words; English uses roughly one-third as many phrases (all of them involving fewer letters) as bureaucratese to make the same point.

Linguists recognize that complexity in language is a sign of primitiveness. That is, the most advanced languages are the least complex. On that basis, bureaucratese belongs somewhere around the Stone Age.

Bureaucratese, no matter how backward, does serve one very useful function: it obscures the fact that the user does not possess the faintest idea of what he is trying to say. Since bureaucrats often find themselves in the unenviable position of attempting to justify policies, formulated by superiors, which they find utterly incomprehensible, the value of bureaucratese is obvious. Unfortunately, however, the dialect surfaces — undoubtedly through force of habit — even when the speaker does have a clear grasp of the subject. Consequently, the public almost never has the faintest idea of what government means.

The American Department of Energy recently ran head-on into a bureaucratese-created fiasco. Having mailed a civil service-designed questionnaire to the nation's retail gasoline stations last spring, the Energy Department was agast to find that fewer than 50% of the forms were completed and returned. Worse yet, the recipients of those forms were so annoyed about the complexity and fuzzy wording that they barraged Washington with complaints.

In the depths of their despair, the Energy officials were struck by genius. They decided to turn the job of re-writing the questionnaire over to a junior high school class.

The students possessed a gift for recognizing the obvious. In place of a complex set of instructions for calculating the average monthly gas price, the students instructed the station managers to simply write down the price shown on the pump.

The revised questionnaire went out this fall. The response has exceeded 80%. And everyone is happy.

Now think of how pleased we all would be if our own government fired all the lawyers that currently draft our incomprehensible regulations and replaced them with high school students. Remember: complexity of expression is the mark of a primitive mind.

"Think small" is an editorial message from the Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

Brockville Braves defeat Lumber Kings

by Edgar Bell

The smallest crowd of the season witnessed perhaps the most exciting game of the season as the Brockville Braves defeated the Pembroke Lumber Kings 8-6 on Friday night.

The come from behind victory was indicative of the rejuvenated spirit the Braves have exhibited over the past five games. The addition of "small" Paul Marshall has boosted team morale with his play.

Marshall lit a fire under his team-mates Friday night when he was ejected from the game in the second period. He picked on Pembroke's biggest defence-man Rob McGonigal, lifting him up, then slamming him down to the ice. Marshall was reacting to a hook in the stomach from McGonigal. Marshall connected with several punches before getting the heave.

The Braves were trailing 4-2 at the time, but shortly after the fight Barry McKenny and Mark Bonneau scored within a minute to knot the score at 4-4.

Pembroke took control late in the period and held at 6-4 lead after the second.

The Braves came out hitting in the third and played one of their finest periods of hockey.

Barry McKenny scored at 5:46 and Bob Brayton evened the score at 14:46. Danny O'Reilly beat Jim Bonifero 26 seconds later for the winner and Mark Bonneau added the insurance goal 1 minute later.

Brave scorers were Brayton, McKenny and Bonneau, each with two, and O'Reilly and Hogan.

It was an impressive team effort, but especially noticeable were the efforts of Bob Brayton, Paul Marshall, and goalie Chris Nichol who made his first start in goal since joining the Braves, and who was playing his first game in over a month.

The Braves play the Nepean Raiders this Friday night in Cardinal at 8:30. The Braves defeated the Raiders 7-5 in their last encounter for their 1st road victory.

SPORTS

Broncos edged by Lions

The Cardinal Broncos started off in a big way on Friday night in a game against the Morrisburg Lions, leading 3 to 1 at the end of the first period; but by the end of the game they had slipped behind the Lions to lose the game 7 to 6.

Tony Hall was in the nets for the Broncos and Caleb Robson held the same position for the Lions, with both playing an excellent game.

In the first period, Garry

Moore scored three goals, along with one from Martin Hamilton of Iroquois. Assists went to Randy Stitt and Martin Hamilton (2). Morrisburg's only first period goal was scored by Jim Whelan.

In the second period, the score moved 5 to 4 for Morrisburg. Two goals were scored by Jarvis for Morrisburg, along with one by Payment, and one by Myers. Fred Osler of Iroquois scored one for Cardinal and got his second goal of the evening during the third period. The other Cardinal goal was by Dave Berry, assisted by Rob Robinson and Scott Burwell.

Morrisburg goals were scored by Cassell and Lafortune with assists going to Rob Reynolds. Each side was assessed 8 penalties throughout the game.

On Saturday night, the Broncos hosted the Metcalfe Jets and ended the evening with a 3-all tie. At the end of the first period, Cardinal led 2 to 0 off goals by Garry Moore and Steve Moffat. Assists went to Stitt, Patrick and Allard.

In the second period, the score moved to 2 to 1, with hyland scoring for Metcalfe with the assist going to Franey.

The third period saw the score evened up by Moore, scoring for Cardinal with an assist from Stitt and Hamilton. For Metcalfe, Holmes scored from Hill and Mike Byron scored unassisted. Each team was assessed 12 penalties.

Cardinal Broncos are now one point ahead of the Metcalfe Jets.

Pee Wee A team takes tournament

The Iroquois Pee Wee A minor hockey team took the A trophy at a tournament hosted by Morrisburg last Thursday. The local team defeated Kemptville in their 3rd and final game, winning by a score of 2 to 1 in a close checking contest.

Kevin Ault was named as the Most Valuable Player in the game which saw the Iroquois and district team come home with a trophy and crests.

In their first game, the boys took on the Cardinal team, winning 1 to 0 on a goal by Timmy Toupin, assisted by Mike Veltkamp and Will Trayner.

The second game saw Iroquois defeat the host Morrisburg team 4 to 2 with goals scored by Reggie Francis (2), Mike Veltkamp and Andy Lee. Assists went to Chris McDermid, Gary McInnis, Will Trayner, and Tony Picotte.

Goals in the final game against Kemptville were scored by Andy Lee and Mike Veltkamp, with assists by Tony Picotte and Timmy Toupin.

Iroquois midgets tops

The Iroquois Midgets Hockey team came out on top in a tournament sponsored last week by Cardinal. In their first game, the local team beat Cardinal 8 to 0, then came back to beat Edwardsburg 3 to 2.

The same score held true for their third game, against Athens, putting them into the winner's circle. Good goaltending from Neil Cherry, along with hard work from the forwards and defence men were attributed by the coaches with helping the team take first place.

Scouters work on plans for Klondike Day

More than a score of leaders of Boy Scout troops, Wolf Cub packs, Venture companies and Beaver colonies met with member of St. Lawrence Council, Scouts Canada, last Wednesday evening, at the United Church hall in Iroquois.

Council President William Sheldrick of Morrisburg chaired the meeting, which was opened by prayer offered by the Reverend E. Earle Eaton of Chesterville, chaplain and public relations officer. Assistant District Commissioners Ron MacLean of Morrisburg and John McAulay of Prescott chaired Scouting and Cubbing sections, respectively.

George Fowler of Iroquois reported on international exchanges. Clair Tucker of Iroquois, treasurer, gave the financial report. Mrs. Tina Serviss of Morrisburg, badge secretary, was busy with badges and insignia.

Matters for discussion included advancement, camping, winter sports days bowlarama, Kub Kar Rally, Klondike and mini-Klondike, promotion and programming, observance of annual Scout week and Baden-Powell anniversary, calendar sales, training conferences. Events from the present to summer were discussed and planned.

Refreshments were served by a hospitality committee from Winchester, headed by Ray Van Noy and Percy Cullen.

Lions hold top slot

The Morrisburg Lions have retained their lead over the holiday season on the league standings in the St. Lawrence division of the Ottawa District Junior B hockey league. The Lions have 24 points, four ahead of their nearest rivals, the Winchester Hawks.

Metcalfe and Cardinal are tied with 14 points apiece and Prescott Saints are in the cellar with 8 points.

In the Rideau-St. Lawrence division, the Smiths Falls Settlers are in the lead with 27 points, followed with the Brockville Tikis with 24. Spencerville, Athens and Kemptville are next with 21, 19 and 11 points each respectively.

Ottawa west won the 5th annual Ottawa District Junior B Hockey tournament held on Boxing Day in Richmond, with a 5 to 3 win over the Brockville Tikis.

Ottawa West defeated Rockland to meet Vanier who had defeated the host Richmond team. Morrisburg eliminated Smiths Falls 6 to 4 and Brockville won 7 to 2 over Metcalfe.

In the second round, Ottawa West defeated Vanier to enter the final game and Brockville defeated Morrisburg 4 to 2 to enter the final.

Most people use guns responsibly... a few don't.

Gun Control In Canada

Canada's gun laws require that anyone wishing to purchase, borrow or exchange a firearm obtain a Firearms Acquisition Certificate from police.

Certificates cost $10.00 and are valid anywhere in Canada for five years, allowing the purchase of any number of guns with a single certificate during the five year period.

The purpose of the new law is to ensure that guns are not made readily available to those with a history of violent behavior, mental disorders or a criminal record involving violence.

YOU DO NOT NEED A FIREARMS ACQUISITION CERTIFICATE FOR GUNS YOU ALREADY OWN, OR TO PURCHASE AMMUNITION.

Youth grants available

Application forms for the Young Canada Works Program are now available at the Canada Employment Centres in Prescott and Kemptonville. This year the deadline date for applications is February 2nd, 1979.

The Young Canada Works Program is designed to reduce student summer employment by developing employment generating projects. The jobs must develop employees' skills and work habits thereby facilitating their future access to the labour market and must relate to their career and educational aspirations.

Proposals must demonstrate that their operation will contribute to the economic and social well being of the community either through the provision of worthwhile services or facilities, the improvement of the physical, social or cultural environment or the generation of ongoing employment opportunities.

Application forms, project guides and further information can be obtained by calling the Canada Employment Centre in Prescott at 925-2808, or in Kemptonville at 258-3291 (Thursdays and Fridays only.)

months, saying that one would likely be enough, and that some money might be saved. It was agreed to seek the advice of village works superintendent, Ray Delegrande who could provide information on the potential cost saving as well.

In response to a request from the Iroquois Public School that the village flood a rink on the school property, council declined. It was felt that the students at St. Cecilia's Separate School undertake this project themselves and that the same treatment must be given to all. As well, council noted, if the water was taken from a fire hydrant, it would not go through the meter, as is the case at St. Cecilia's.

A letter was received from the Ontario Housing Authority, informing council that information should be coming in January on the availability of the land behind the senior citizens apartments. Council wants the land put on the open market since it will never be used by OHC for construction of more senior citizens' apartments.

Council decided to seek the co-operation of the Public School in asking youngsters to leave the school by the west crossing where the guard is on duty rather than by going out the east door of the school and walking west along Lakeview and crossing at the unguarded intersection. Councillors have seen the situation and are afraid that someone will be hurt.

Council also instructed clerk-

Third impaired charge will cost driver's license

In an effort to cut down tailgating by commercial vehicles, trucks travelling over 60 kilometres an hour on Ontario roads will be forbidden to follow any vehicle closer than 60 metres or approximately 200 feet.

And any drivers convicted of a third, or more, drinking and driving charge will lose their licences for a minimum of three years.

These new amendments to The Highway Traffic Act were included in Bill 150 which received third and final reading last week, said Minister of Transportation and Communications James Snow today.

"For example, in response to the Government's major campaign against drinking and driving, we have set a mandatory three year driving licence suspension for anyone convicted of a third, or more drinking and driving charge under the Criminal Code of Canada."

"And it is now a specific offence to drive a motor vehicle in contravention of conditions contained in the licence or imposed by the regulations," Snow pointed out, adding, "this affects a person who is driving without glasses when his licence requires that he do so."

Snow went on to describe an important clarification of overtaking and passing at a pedestrian crossover.

NATIONVIEW PUBLIC SCHOOL PLANNING COMMITTEE

As a result of the recent fire at Nationview Public School, it has become necessary to rebuild a portion of the school.

In order to expedite the rebuilding program the Board has appointed the Nationview Planning Committee. This committee, under the chairmanship of Trustee Mahlon Zeron, consisting of trustee, school and parent representatives, is directed to report to the Board at a special meeting tentatively scheduled for January 30, 1979.

TO FACILITATE THE WORK OF THE COMMITTEE, WRITTEN BRIEFS ARE INVITED FROM SCHOOL COMMITTEES, SCHOOL STAFFS, PARENTS AND ANY OTHER INTERESTED PERSONS REGARDING THE PROPOSED ORGANIZATION FOR THE REBUILT NATIONVIEW PUBLIC SCHOOL.

ALL BRIEFS MUST BE IN THE HANDS OF MR. A. E. KELLEY, SECRETARY TO THE COMMITTEE BY MONDAY, JANUARY 15, 1979.

A PUBLIC HEARING HAS BEEN SCHEDULED IN THE GYMNASIUM AT NATIONVIEW PUBLIC SCHOOL FOR THURSDAY EVENING, JANUARY 18 AT 7:30 P.M. FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROVIDING AN OPPORTUNITY TO ALL THOSE WHO HAVE SUBMITTED BRIEFS TO ANSWER QUESTIONS, CLARIFY OR COMMENT UPON ITEMS AS MAY BE SUBMITTED.

Following the public hearings, the Nationview Planning Committee will review the briefs received and formulate a recommendation for presentation to the Board.

The committee is concerned that the time line is limited. However, if Nationview Public School is to be rebuilt for school opening for September 1979, the co-operation of all parties is essential.
