Dairy Workers Union Donate $32 to Scouts, Cubs

A fine donation has been received from the Dairy Workers Union of Chesterville Nestlé (Canada) Ltd. to further scouting in Chesterville.

The Rotary Club have been the sponsoring and supporting body of the Scouts since the reorganization of the pack and troop 2 years ago. Annual Ladies' Night Of Rotary Very Successful

The Rev. R. C. Tait, Sherbrooke, P.Q., formerly of Trinity United Church here was the featured speaker at the annual Ladies' Night banquet of Chesterville Rotary, Wednesday evening. Over one hundred Rotarians and guests were present to enjoy the affair.

President T. D. Ross was chairman for the evening and conducted the banquet with his usual ability and pleasing efficiency.

Entertainment was provided in the form of songs by a trio made up of J. F. and A. C. Casselman and C. Glider. Mrs. Don Cross, Miss Marlene Cross and Mr. Arthur Bryan contributed with well-received numbers on the piano accordians and the piano. Mrs. P. J. Gilroy was the accompanist for the trio.

Mr. Tait used as the basis of his talk his experiences in presenting the story of Canada to American audiences on a speaking tour he made in the past year.

He stressed the friendly relations that exist and have existed between Canada and the United States. He made the point that in saying "our giant neighbour to the south" the fact was often overlooked that Canada was the largest country in the Western Hemisphere. The speaker told of outlining to American audiences the great wealth and opportunities in our Canadian natural resources. He took great pride in showing that for well over a hundred years not a shot has been fired over the borders of the two countries in anger. The best fortifications we possess on those borders are continued harmonious relations, graphically illustrated by the number of Peace gardens and bridges that link the two countries.

J. Albert Gillard expressed the thanks of the audience to the speaker for his excellent address.

Weekly Correspondent Reports on Coronation For Record

R. G. Simpkin, a weekly newspaper reporter, is on his way to the Coronation. This is the first of a series of articles he will be writing for The Chesterville Record and other members of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Assoc.—Ed.

Sailing for the Coronation

When my sailing for the Coronation was changed from Montreal to New York I decided to take an extra day in the big city and see some of the sights.

Arriving Monday morning I started in to see those places which most everyone coming here, visits, Radio City, the big stores and the 5th Avenue shops.

I watched the lights of the city come on from the observation tower of the Empire State Building. There among the clouds the streets and buildings came out in lights as the sunset gradually faded in the west. This was truly a magnificent sight.

When I came down it was with the intention of seeing a show or night club which is what most people believe is a must in New York.

As I reached Broadway the masses of people were on the street and the stores and restaurants and shows which line both sides were brilliantly lighted and throngs of people were surging along—I just walked, past one after another of those entrances with liveried attendants in front, names of places one often sees in print, down towards Times Square.

Saw a purse snatcher try his luck and fail, saw him knock over a theatre attendant who tried to stop him, and watched the crowd gather round.

Heard a blind man singing, "Isn't it a Small World" as he was slowly led along by his seeing eye dog while passers-by dropped coins in his cup.

"Broadway was our beat." I walked down one way and back on the other side.

On the end of the "flat iron" building a big electric sign advertised a Canadian brand of whiskey (which, incidentally, brings about double price) to the New York thirsty. However, the word "Canadian" felt good to walk past.

The restaurants which are everywhere seem all to be filled. One attendant handed me a pass which read "Beautiful girls as dancing partners."

In front of Rockerfeller Centre in a sunken garden surrounded with flags of all nations there has been set up a Coronation Cavalcade.

The Coronation carriage with its four teams of white horses and riders and guards are complete in life size plaster of paris. Details are most exact even to the scar on the face of one of the medalled guards. Throngs of people are continually passing to view it.

Finally, when my feet could take no more I returned to the hotel.

Tuesday morning I toured the United Nations Building. The post office there refused to take a Canadian dollar in payment for postage stamps which could be used only in that building. The clerk said Canadian money "would be hard to bank."

It was at this time I suddenly found I was in the midst of 70 ladies from my own neighbourhood in Simcoe County. They were on a bus tour and had been in Washington before visiting New York.

Some of them were weekly newspaper correspondents and were delighted to know weekly newspapers had a correspondent going to the Coronation.

They hoped to be at the dock to see me off, all 70 of them. (They also wanted to see the Queen Elizabeth which would be docking as I was embarking..

After a bus ride to the suburbs where the native New Yorkers live in apartment houses I took the underground back to the hotel before leaving.

Am away now aboard the Georgic and the next letter will come from overseas.

Weekly Farm Report For Dundas County

Continued wet weather has delayed normal spring farm operations in practically all of the county. About 30% of the seeding has been completed in Winchester and the north half of tions of the county are still very wet with many farmers having no work done on the land. Due to the lateness of the season, some farmers are considering the possibility of sowing grain corn in place of their oat crop. Others are sowing more barley.

Livestock for the most part have been turned out to pasture and milk flow is at its peak. Cheese men are a bit perplexed and concerned over the prices being paid for cheese, with one factory this past week paying only $1.75 for 3.2 milk. Swine men present the happiest picture of all with pork prices reaching $35 per cwt. on all markets. The recent outbreak of hog cholera had no effect on pork prices in this area. However, all farmers should be on the alert for this disease and any farmer with sick pigs should be well advised to get in touch with the local representative of the Health of Animals Branch, either in Cornwall or Brockville.

THE GARDEN GOOSE

(Boston Post)

Farm notes from a cotton patch in New Mexico bring the disquieting news that a cotton farmer has discovered that geese are the best weed-control agents—they eat the weeds and grass and leave the cotton plants untouched.

Our memories of geese, although confined to a lone disgruntled goose, do not conform to the experience of the New Mexico farmer. This goose would eat anything, including the leg off the hired man's overalls. It tore into the truck garden as if it hated all vegetables. It came to an ultimate end through a surfeit of unripe greengage plums.

There is an ingrown streak of cussedness in a goose, which can only be cured by a sharp hatchet. A goose and a goat teamed up can denude a garden of all vegetation except weeds in a trice, which is faster than you can sprint from a back door to a vegetable patch to shoo them out.

Those who are inclined to be sentimental about the goose should just look one of the wretches in the eye and note the diabolical cunning gleaming there. It would also help if they were bitten by one, too.

Weed of the Week—

Sow Thistle Control Means Hard Work

Like many of our noxious weeds, sow thistle is another immigrant from Europe that is doing well for itself in Canada in spite of efforts to control it. Another appropriate name for this hardy creeping rooted perennial is creeping sow thistle. Roots spread in every direction sending up new plants at every joint. Wind borne seeds also do much to spread the weed over wide areas. Seeds have even been collected on windows of aircraft flying high above the earth.

The yellow scourge is persistent after it gets a foothold. Its presence is marked by showy yellow flowers two inches across. These appear in grain and cultivated crops, roadsides and other moist waste places at any time from June through September.

Grasshoppers are fond of the plant but their efforts at eradication in this part of the country is meagre. Usually hard work and sweat and careful cultivation are required to control it.

Persistent cultivation or black summerfallow are effective in reducing the infestations. The disc should not be used, however, as it cuts the roots into small sections, each of which may send up a new plant. Cultivators and spring toothed harrows help in bringing the roots to the surface to dry out.

Chemicals are effective in controlling top growth and seed ripening. One application of 2,4-D at 8 ounces actual acid per acre will usually accomplish this but several applications at 16 ounces acid per acre will be required to kill the roots. Small areas can be cleaned with sodium chlorate but this method is expensive and also has the effect of sterilizing the soil for some time afterwards.

FOR SUMMER: SOUVENIRS

The good looking gal pictured above is Pat Patterson, your genial hostess on "Souvenir of Sometime" heard on the CBC's Dominion network every Sunday. She paints pleasant word pictures of experiences shared by most Canadians during the summer months. Holidays, travel, gardening and the like are brought to mind. These souvenirs set a leisurely pace for the songs of Joyce Sullivan and the instrumental stylings of Jack Groob and his orchestra. Folk-songs, light classics and Latin-American music blend into a sunset of sound—an appropriate setting for summer relaxation.

ANCIENT SKELETON FOUND IN IRELAND

The complete skeleton of a Stone Age man has been found at the bottom of an Irish lake where archaeologists are working to lay bare secrets of life 5,000 years ago.

The ancient settlements were discovered last fall when a prolonged drought lowered the level of Lough Gara near the town of Boyle in central Ireland, 100 miles northwest of Dublin.

Archaeologists announced that the discoverey was a treasure house of the Stone and Bronze ages—but with the winter rains, the settlements again disappeared beneath the lake's surface.

Now, however, the lake is being drained. Investigators have discovered that the lake dwellers lived a close community life, were skilled in engineering and boat-building, practiced agriculture and had grasped the principle of specialization.

Findings include, in addition to the Stone Age skeleton, two pattern brooches, an iron axe, a bone needle, a canoe and bronze spearheads.

Wasn't Missed

A young man, after eight years' absence abroad, alighted at his home railroad station and despite his expectations no one was there to meet him.

He then caught sight of the stationmaster, a friend since boyhood, and he was about to extend a hearty greeting, when the other spoke first.

"Hello, George!" he said. "Going away?"

For bearing protection

To deliver the power and performance expected and demanded of them, combines, tractors and power machines are precision manufactured from high quality materials.

But this carefully made machinery must work in heat, in cold, in dry conditions, in wet conditions, in gritty dust and clinging mud. On the Massey-Harris Test Track these trying conditions are provided so that engineers may test Massey-Harris machines to check their ability to meet present-day requirements in field operation.

In engineering design and construction, Massey-Harris machines offer features and advantages, developed to help get work done easier, quicker and at less cost.

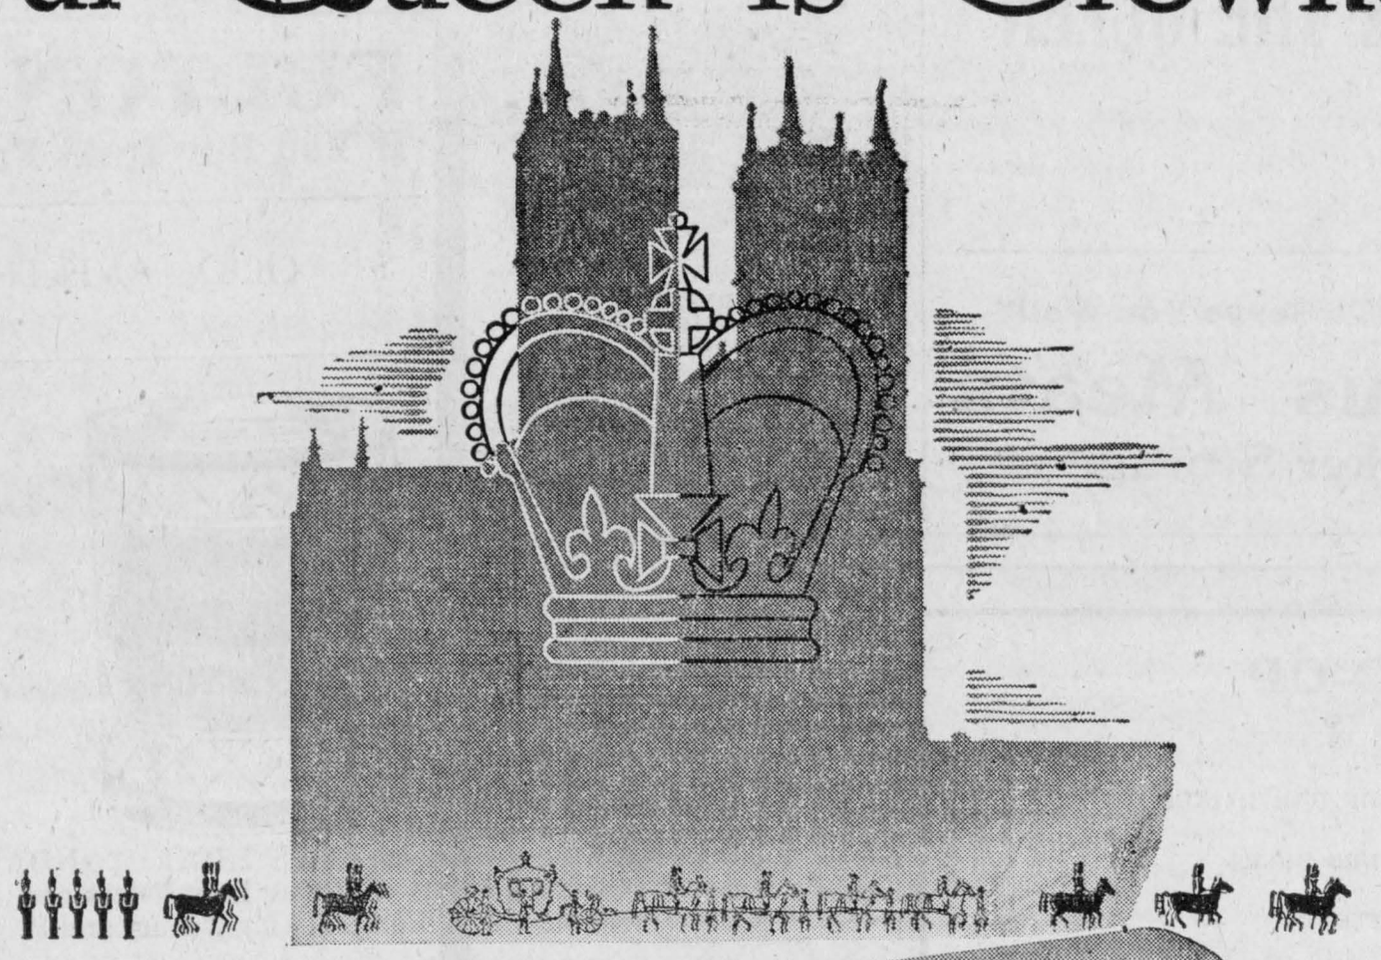
Our Queen is Crowned



ONTARIO

OFFICE OF

THE PRIME MINISTER & PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL

The day on which our beloved Queen Elizabeth II is to be crowned should be one of great rejoicing for all her loyal subjects.

On this June 2nd, 1953, we should feel particularly proud of the privilege of living under such a gracious Sovereign and of belonging to this great and unique family of nations, The British Commonwealth.

Thanks to the inventions of modern technology, we shall be able to associate to a great extent with the population of London in viewing the ancient and traditional pageantry. All over the world, people of democratic countries will be following with interest and sympathy the ceremonies of the Coronation.

Let us on this day pledge anew our allegiance to the Crown and re-affirm our faith in the great principles upon which the British Commonwealth was founded and endures.

Let us hope that none will show more fervour in this re-dedication than the people of a province that prides itself upon its motto, "Loyal she began, loyal she will remain".

DISTRICT FARMER GETS 15 MONTHS IN CATTLE CASE

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

Sherman Ball, 49-year-old Winchester Township farmer and drover was sentenced Wednesday morning to 15 months defininite and 12 months indeterminate in an Ontario reformatory for retaining stolen cattle.

Judge G. E. Brennan acquitted Ball of two other charges of stealing and receiving two heifers from Emmett Shane, of Winchester Township, in November, 1952.

Defence Counsel J. C. Horwitz, QC, of Cornwall and Ottawa, said after the trial that an appeal will be launched.

Bismark Froats, a neighbour of Shane, who also faces charges of theft, receiving and retaining in the same case, comes to trial in Cornwall this morning before Judge Lewis, of Brockville.

Following Ball's conviction, Mr. Horowitz called four witnesses who testified that Ball has a good reputation in the community and had never been in trouble before.

A trip upstairs alone at night was a fearful mission for little four-year-old Tommy. "Don't be afraid," his mother comforted him "God will be with you." As he crept up the stairway and reached the top he was overheard to pray, "Oh, God, if you're up here, please don't move or you'll scare me to death!"

Patient: "But, doctor, I don't expect to retire for another 20 years."

Hon. J. C. Gardiner Explores Cheese Problems At Finch on Monday

Hornet-mad cheese milk producers, 1,000 strong, stormed into Finch Monday evening to hear all sides of the controversial cheese market question.

On hand to answer their questions were: Agriculture Minister Gardiner; Minister of Transport Chevrier, in whose home constituency Finch is located; W. J. Major, MP for Glengarry; Omer Gour, MP for Russell; Orme Coon, president of the Ontario Cheese Producer's Association. Queen's Park was represented by Peter Manley, MLA for Stormont, and as lone representative of the Ontario government, Ossie Villeneuve, MLA for Glengarry.

Feelings simmered down as the meeting progressed and it took on the aspects of a typical political hustings, with charges and counter-charges hurled over the responsibility for the cheese situation.

Mr. Gardiner, who took time out from last-minute preparations for his flight to the Coronation, explained the stand the Federal Government has taken and assured the meeting that theGovernment was prepared to assist cheese farmers under the Agricultural Co-operative Marketing Act.

To accomplish this it would be necessary, he said, for the provincial government to direct all cheese into the hands of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association. The association would then be able to make an interim payment of the 24 cents, backed by the Federal Government. It could then set its own price on the cheese sold on the domestic market. When all the cheese possible was sold, final payment to the producers could be made. Any cheese not taken by the trade would then be taken by the Government at 24 cents and they would accept responsibility for its sale.

This, he claimed, was the only way the Government could support the cheese producer under present legislation. It could also support cheese under the Agricultural Support Act as it is now doing with butter, but in this case the floor price had in most cases also been the ceiling price and under present legislation this would work out to 24 cents. This was not being fair to the farmer since his product was worth more on the domestic market.

"If cheese was worth 36 cents a pound on the domestic market in 1951, it is still worth that today. But farmers must organize and stand behind their organization if they are to help themselves out of their present troubles."

Taking a dig at the cheese trade, Mr. Gardiner remarked that all the cheese salesmen were not in Montreal and Toronto. He told of offering the Government's holding of 25,000,000 pounds of cheese to the trade two years ago, and claimed he had no takers. Yet, when he threatened to place it in the hands of the wholesalers in the West, the trade bought the entire amount in one week.

Supporting the provincial government stand on the cheese situation, Ossie Villeneuve, MLA for Glengarry, pointed out that the provincial authorities could not take what amounted to a second mortgage on cheese. (He was referring to the six-cent additional guarantee the provincial government underwrote last year. Under this the government stood to lose close to a quarter of a million dollars.)

With production up this year, provincial authorities felt unable to continue this form of support. He chided the Minister of Agriculture for picturing the Canadian farmer better off than ever before.

"When farms are selling for less than they were 40 years ago in this area, it shows how serious the position of the farmer has become in Eastern Ontario."

Through the efforts of the chairman, Cameron Kennedy, clerk-treasurer of the three United Counties, the political flavour of the meeting was toned down to some extent and the representatives of both governments agreed to meet with the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board to attempt an early solution of the problem.

The meeting was sponsored by the Stormont Federation of Agriculture.

Taking No Chances

A man, looking for work, was offered a job in the circus.

"All you have to do," said the proprietor, "is to walk into the lion's cage, offer it a lump of sugar and come out again. The whole secret is to make the lion believe you're not afraid of him."

"I refuse the job," said the man, his knees quaking at the thought, "I couldn't be so deceitful."

families. To be around the radio or be a solemnly joyful event. While decorations, and parades create a never-to-be-forgotten spectacle, every Canadian will repeat this hopeful prayer with sincere reverence: May the reign of Her Majesty Elizabeth II be prosperous, long and tranquil.

The second of June will begin early and end late in the evening for most families. To be around the radoi or at the community celebrations plan to serve "easy to serve" meals. Since the first broadcast begins at 5 a.m. E.D.T., and continues until noon, breakfast should be an easy-to-serve meal. On the previous evening, you can place a large can of fruit juice in the refrigerator. Beat eggs and a little milk ready for scrambled eggs. Also, butter a coffee ring and wrap in aluminum foil and finally set out paper serviettes, a tray of glasses for fruit juice and a tray of cups and saucers. Next morning delegate one person to serve juice, another to cook eggs in double boiler and serve in weiner rolls, someone else to serve the sweet cake and coffee.

For lunch heat canned soup — a combination of creamed celery and chicken. Have ready, double decker sandwiches of peanut butter and jam and some buttered bread or crackers on which the folks may spread a choice of cheese filling, meat paste or sardines. An easy dessert may be tarts or bananas or orange sections —something that can be eaten out of the hand so there's fewer dishes.

Dinner hour will be broadcast time again so plan on a casserole dish (tomato soup poured over previously cooked meat balls), hot minute rice and peas warmed in the oven with the meat. A regal looking dessert of flavoured gelatine topped with whipped cream—or ice cream sundaes in the dixie cups—previously purchased and kept in the refrigerator for this meal.

TAKE A TIP

1. Remember to order supplies ahead of time and give as many fellow workers the opportunity to listen to the radio as possible. Here is the tentative radio schedule of the coronation.

5 a.m. to 1 p.m. E.DT.—Coronation.
2.30 to 3 p.m.—Church service from Christ Church, Niagara Falls, Ontario.
3 to 4—B.B.C. Commonwealth hook-up, featuring addresses by Prime Ministers concluded with a message from Prime Minister Churchill.
4 to4.15—Post-Coronation address by the Queen.
4.15 to 5.30—A sound-picture of world reaction of Coronation Day from the crowds outside Buckingham Palace to many points throughout the world.
5.30 to 6.30—The national ceremony at Ottawa.
6.45 to 7.00—Address of Governor General.
7.00 to 8.00—Canadian Coronation Music.
8.00 to 10.00—Revised broadcast of Coronation and Queen's address.
10.00 to 12.00—Coronation concert.

Crown Cakes

2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 tsp. salt
2-3 cup shortening
1 2-3 cups white sugar
¾ cup milk
4½ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. lemon
½ cup milk
5 egg whites

Into a large mixing bowl, sift first 3 ingredients. Drop in shortening; pour in ¾ cup milk. Beat with whirl beater 4 minutes; scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in baking powder, vanillan and egg whites. Beat 2 mins. longer. Stir in 1 tbsp. orange rind and a few drops yellow food colouring.

Place zinc jar rings on cookie sheet and insert baking cups in each. Half fill with batter. Bake in preheated oven of 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool on cake rack.

Frosting: Combine ½ cup granulated sugar, 1½ tsps. white corn syrup and ¼ cup water in a saucepan. Boil until syrup dropped from spoon forms fine thread. With electric mixer at high speed beat egg white until it forms peaks then pour the syrup over whites slowly beating until frosting forms peaks when beater is lifted.

Jewel Macaroons

½ cup sweetened condensed milk
2 cups various coloured cocanut
½ cup candied cherries

FINCH CADETS COMPLIMENTED AT INSPECTION

Captain F. Evans, cadet training officer for Eastern Ontario, was well pleased with the display put on by Finch High School cadet corps at the annual inspection on the school grounds Tuesday afternoon.

Captain Evans said he felt there was considerable improvement shown by the corps over the last year. He had special words of praise for the girls.

The opinion of the inspecting officer was echoed by Captain J. R. Owen, of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Cornwall.

The customary training demonstrations highlighted the inspection. These included displays of map using, first aid, signals, marching, etc. In all phases, the corps of boy and girl cadets showed the results of good instruction.
