Annual Meeting St. John's Guild

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of St. John the Baptist was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, December 4th, with the vice-president, Mrs. E. W. Newman in the chair.

The rector opened the meeting with a psalm and prayers, followed by the Guild Prayer said in unision.

Mrs. Newman expressed her pleasure at seeing such a good attendance. The roll call was answered by a splendid per centage of members.

In the unavoidable absence of the secretary, Mrs. E. Millard kindly consented to take the minutes.

The treasurer's report for the year, which is always of great interest, showed the guild had engaged in many activities during 1962 ending with a large harvest supper and a very successful bazaar. All outstanding accounts were paid; taxes on the rectory paid for the year and considerably more than the amount budgetted given for church expenses. Kitchen equipment including cutlery, salad bowls, cups and saucers were purchased. The healthy balance shown in the bank was the result of a very successful year's work. Mrs. Riccardi received hearty applause for her excellent report and a faithful year's work.

During the year the Guild installed a "Literature Rack" in the marvex of the church under the supervision of Mrs. K. Kuechtel, containing leaflets and booklets. The Guild is very much in debt to Mr. E. Millard for donating the rack which was so beautifully made by himself and installed. It was suggested that larger books be procured and also care taken to keep the supply alive and growing.

At the request of Mrs. McCaffery, it was moved that the Guild bear the expense of cleaning the choir cassocks for Christmas.

No further business. The Rector took the chair for the election of officers and addressed the meeting briefly congratulating the ladies on a successful year's work.

All offices were declared vacant and the proposed slate of officers was read by the Rector as follows: President, Mrs. E. W. Newman; Vice-President, Mrs. I. H. McCaffery; Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Robertson; Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Riccardi.

It was moved and seconded that all proposed officers be elected by acclamation.

Committees will be appointed next meeting.

Several notes of thanks were voted and Christmas Cards to shut-ins.

The Rector closed the meeting with prayer after which a social hour was spent in exchanging Christmas gifts.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Weegar and Mrs. McCaffery.

Truck-Car Crash Monday Sends Two To Hospital

Two men were sent to hospital Monday afternoon when a truck and a car collided at the intersection of the Carman Road and 401 Highway, during a blinding snowstorm.

Peter deJong, RR 2, Iroquois, and George Parkins, Dartmouth, N. S., were rushed to Brockville General Hospital by W. E. Fitzsimmons' ambulance, suffering internal injuries.

Mr. deJong was headed south towards Iroquois driving a half-ton truck and as he crossed the intersection, was in collision with the eastbound car driven by the N. S. man. Visibility at the time of the accident was described as being "very poor". Both vehicles were almost completely demolished in the crash.

Dr. C. R. Marcellus, Iroquois, was called to the scene and had the men taken to hospital. OPP Constable D. N. Grant, Morrisburg Detachment, is investigating.

Donate Clock

A beautiful electric wall clock was donated to the Council Chambers at the Civic Centre by Moonlight Chapter 224, O.E.S.. A letter of appreciation for the use of the hall for meetings was sent to the Village Council by the Eastern Star, along with the gift, and read at open council this week.

Council decided to rotate the business of the municipality between the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Montreal; starting with the New Year the banking business of the community will be done with the Royal Bank for 1963.

Reading the minutes of the last meeting, clerk F. T. Lloyd noted the final reading of a by-law to licence nursing homes in the Village of Iroquois and the signing of an agreement with the Old Village Nursing Home here.

Rev. D. F. Weegar, St. John's Anglican Church rector, opened the meeting with scripture and prayer.

Soil And Crop Improvement Association Annual Hears Review Of Year's Activities

An enthusiastic crowd of 80 farmers met in the Winchester Town Hall on December 5th, for the Annual Meeting of the Dundas Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

President Gerald Adams had the meeting underway at 11:15 a.m. The first item on the programme was the report on the many projects of the Association by Secretary Ed Pearson.

The projects included many demonstrations of hay and pasture mixtures and weed control. Birdsfoot Trefoil is now recognized as a useful long term legume suitable to most Dundas soils. While not so productive as alfalfa on well drained lands, it will survive and grow on soil which is not well enough drained for good alfalfa growth.

Demonstrations to control Yellow Rocket were carried out with the chemical 2,4-DB, known as Embutox. Fall applications have worked exceptionally well, but Spring applications were not satisfactory.

Following lunch served by the Mountain Ladies Auxiliary, reports were received from the County Weed Inspector, Auldon Ennis and from George Suffel, director of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

Mr. Ennis outlined the large amount of work done in spraying and cutting Buchthorn in the County. Funds aiding the control of this shrub are obtained from Counties Council and the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The Buckthorn Tree is the host plant of crown rust of oats. Mr. Suffel outlined activities of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association. He urged attendance at the Eastern Ontario Conference at Kemptville, January 2, 3, and 4. He also dealt with the possibility of A.R.D.A. developments occuring in this area. An item which invoked considerable interest was a discussion of improvements to the Nation River, community pastures, Buckthorn and Barberry control.

The Nestle Trophy to this year's top pasture man in Dundas County was presented to Mr. Harold Lannin, Winchester, by Hugh Blaine. Mr. Lannin also received a cash award from the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association for standing third in the Eastern Ontario district finals.

Doctor Ford Stinson, new head of the Division of Field Husbandry, K.A.S., was a guest at the meeting. Dr. Stinson, has until recently, farmed in Lanark County. Previous to this he had headed up tobacco research in Southern Rhodesia, Africa, as well as the Soils Department at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Concluding the meeting was a panel discussion chaired by Hugh Blaine, Mountain. Panel members were Gerald Adams, Douglas Irvine, Graham Durant and Walker Riley.

The Panel brought out some very interesting facts about pasture management, manure handling, hay and grain production.

The election of officers brought to a close what was considered to be the best meeting yet held by this Association.

Officers and Directors elected were as follows: president, Gerald Adams, Williamsburg; 1st vice-president, Douglas Irvine, Brinston; 2nd vice-president, Malcolm Graham, South Mountain; 3rd vice-president, Harold Lannin, Winchester; Sec'ty-Treasurer, E. Final Meeting Of Year Held

The President, Mrs. H. G. Clark, presided when the Ladies' Aid of Knox Presbyterian Church held the final meeting of the year on Monday afternoon. In keeping with the Christmas season the worship period centered thoughts on the true meaning of Christmas as carols were sung and the Christmas Story as told in St. Matthew's Gospel, was read by Mrs. S. W. Perry.

The President offered prayer; Mrs. J. W. Moke, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting and of a special meeting. The special meeting was called by the President on December 3rd. All minutes were approved as read.

A letter of resignation from the Treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Pollock, was received and tabled to be considered at the annual meeting in January.

Mrs. Moke turned in money received from the sale of cards and Mrs. Fenton gave the secretary a number of stamp books sent her by Miss Lola C. Wilson. It was decided to procure a table for the kitchen with these stamps.

Rev. J. Hibbs, who was present for part of the meeting, thanked the Ladies' Aid on behalf of the Board of Managers and Session for their loyal support of the church and their contribution towards its maintenance.

Grenville To Cornwall

At the December executive meeting of the Grenville-Dundas Liberal Association the executive and directors felt that the following statement would be of interest to the electors of Grenville-Dundas.

"During the past few weeks the Government tender "Simco" arrived at its Prescott dock with considerable publicity and with much fanfare they uveiled it to the public.

The Governments decision to build and then to locate this ship at Prescott is a matter of geat importance and one that can benefit the whole area.

What has not been revealed to the public is the fact that while all this was going on, the Grenville, a familiar landmark, has sailed down the river to Cornwall where it will dock in the future. The new ship with its complement of about thirty men thus replaces the old one, but, we are no better off. In fact we probably are worse off in that the departure of the Grenville probably accounts for the first step in moving the Dominion Lighthouse Depot to the city of Cornwall.

What could have been an increase in the employment potential of the area has been cancelled by the Government's decision to move the Grenville to Cornwall.

The executive of the Grenville-Dundas Liberal Association deplores this decision.

ASIAN CONTEMPLATION

Don't Chance Fire At Christmas

Communities such as ours in Ontario suffer their biggest fire loss during the winter season, Fire Chief Murray Storey said today. The reason? All heating systems are in constant use and - Christmas brings a flock of new fire hazards into every home.

The symbol of Christmas festivities, the Christmas tree, can turn from a glittering family delight to a dangerous inferno if we are careless of fire safety rules. This hazard grows with the size of the tree, the length of time it has been cut, where it is placed in the room and how long we keep it after Christmas.

Chief Storey urged householders to observe a few simple rules of Christmas tree fire safety. "Always select a fresh, green tree that is not dropping needles", he said, "and keep it in a cool place until you are ready to set it up. Then, cut off the trunk at an angle about an inch and a half from the bottom and place it in water. Be sure to keep the water container full at all times. Inspect your strings of lights for breaks, frays, or shorts and replace any defective strings with new ones. When purchasing new strings, be sure to look for the CSA mark of certification - your assurance that they are safe from fire and shock hazard. Choose a location in the room away from all sources of heat such as radiators, fire places and TV sets. Make sure, too, that the tree will not obstruct any exit from the room should it fall. An important point to remember is never to leave the house or go to bed and leave the tree lights burning". Christmas parties or New Year's parties increase the problem of careless smoking which started nearly 10,000 fires in Ontario last year. The fire chief advised all hosts and hostesses to keep cigarettes and matches away from the tree and to check for carelessly discarded butts after a party. Christmas decorations and wrappings are another Christmas fire hazard. Wrappings should be disposed of in a metal garbage can immediately after the gifts have been opened. Special care should be exercised where open flame candles are used for mantle or table decoration but, the chief advises, it would be safer not to use them at all.

F. M. CASS REPORTS

On The Provincial Scene

Again this year through the courtesy of your Editor I am able to bring you each week news of the Ontario Legislature and an account of the activities of Provincial Members.

This fourth session of the present Legislature opened on November 22nd last and this report will cover the first two weeks of this session which may well prove to be the last for the present Legislature. With all due ceremony, including a very colourful guard of honour, Lieutenant Governor J. Keiller Mackay opened the session. The speech from the Throne, when read, clearly indicated that the Robarts Government was prepared to give leadership. Among the many important proposals contained in this speech I am sure you must have noted those with respect to a medical Insurance program, the new Arts Council, inspection of meat, the new "buy and made in" Ontario Program, and, since the opening, another government policy of great interest and help to the farmer and small truckers has been announced, namely, the sales of truck reserves and permits on a quarterly, rather than an annual basis.

The seating arrangement on the government side of the House this session gives prominence to the recent changes in the Ontario Cabinet. The Honourable J. A. C. (Jimmie) Auld, M.P.P. for Leeds and recently appointed Minister of Transport and the Honourable John R. Simonett, M.P.P. for Frontenac-Addington,, the new Minister without Portfolio have joined the Treasury Benches and are evidence of the Prime Minister's view of the importance of Eastern Ontario. Honourable H. Les Rowntree, Q.C. new Minister of Labour and the Honourable C. S. MacNeughton new Minister of Highways have joined the front row of Ministers. And your Member new, of course, occupies the traditional seat of the Attorney General immediately to the left of the Prime Minister.

During the first two weeks a a considerable amount of legislation on almost every phase of government has been introduced, the Standing Commit tees of the House for this session have been struck and the very necessary, but often complicated and slow, processes of legislation have been put under way.

The debates on the Speach from the Throne so far has given out no surprises. The Liberal Leader who led off the debate appeared to be hard pressed to find some reasonable program to advance which would match that of the Government and which our people of Ontario could afford. It was particularly noticeable that his statement with respect to a proposal for Catholic High Schools supported by public monies was so qualified as to be almost meaningless and must have both interested sides to this question unsatisfied and suspicious of his real policy.

The present session, of course, is looked upon as a pre-election one. In fact, many constituencies have already had nominating conventions for one or more of the three Provincial Parties. As the session wears on and election fever heightens, there will undoubtedly be much of interest brought forward on all sides of the House and many lively debates as Members endeavor to locate what they hope will be for their Parties and themselves, a winning issue.

Parliament Hill Report

This was the Atlantic Provinces week in the House of Commons. Welcome were the results of the two by-elections in New Brunswick where two Conservatives were returned. One of these by-elections was caused by Gordon Fairweather moving to the Federal Political Field. He won the riding of Royal last June 18th and already in his short time in Ottawa has many new friends and has taken an active part in the debates. This is not unusual for Easterners who are always popular amongst their colleagues.

One of the most popular is former Premier of New Brunswick, the Hon. Hugh John Flemming. He has the easy-going friendly manner, the modest amiable approach of his fellow Maritimers. Underneath there is always plenty of political fire which can erupt into impassioned oratory.

With a well-phrased, clear, impressive speech, the Hon. Hugh John Flemming, now carrying the two Federal portfolios of National Revenue and Forestry, introduced legislation to set up an Atlantic Development Board. He called it the most forward step ever taken in his lifetime to benefit the Atlantic Provinces, and said that it should increase the level of income and ultimately contribute to greatly increased employment in the Atlantic Provinces.

Another excellent speech on this Bill came from Lloyd Crouse of Lunenburg. He started his political career by defeating the supposedly invincible former Liberal Cabinet Minister, Bob Winters.

Hearing Lloyd Crouse speak, or watching him look over his big fishing trawlers in Lunenburg, one can see why he has the natural authority of a realistic young man who knows what he is talking about.

He pointed out that little had been done for the Atlantic Provinces by the former Government, proven by the facts that in 1926 the average income per capita there had been 38% below the average of the other provinces. In 1955 the average income in the Maritimes was still 37% below the national average.

One of the first acts of the present Government had been to approve the Atlantic Provinces adjustment grants. These grants could well be considered the forerunner of the Atlantic Development Board and they enabled the Provincial Governments in the Maritimes to establish and promote much needed Industries and to expand their fishermen's Loan Boards.

Under the Roads to Resources Program new highways have been built for faster delivery of fish to the United States market. These have astronomically increased the number of tourists. Mr. Crouse continued through an impressive resume of activity in his part of Canada - increase of vocational training and technical schools, assistance to the housing industry, assistance to fishermen in construction of new draggers, expanding industries with 5% more factory shipments in this year in Nova Scotia.

The large majority of Government Members returned from the Maritimes and more speeches like these should surely disapprove the criticism that the present Federal Government has done nothing. It has carried out many of its plans. The Opposition is endlessly repetitious and spends hours in seeking out the most ambigious and obscure promises that should be attended to. In this respect they must find one of their own members somewhat of an embarrassment. He promised his riding that he would not let anything interfere with his duty in the House of Commons.

Although obviously not a very conscientious politician. "Red" Kelly is at least a good organizer. This week the daily papers pointed out that he had played 19 games of hockey, but only appeared once in the House of Commons last month. He promptly reappeared in Ottawa, but still did not contribute, only had pictures and television shots taken with his leader.

Sugar and Spice

By Bill Smiley

Jangled nerves,
Jangled nerves,
Jangled all the way,
Through the muddled madness
Preceding Christmas Day.

If people tried to go at the same clip during the rest of the year as they do in the few weeks before Christmas, the world would soon be populated by a race of wild-eyed, twitching maniacs. Even mental constitutions attuned to an era of guided missiles in the hands of misguided mortals couldn't stand that pace much longer.

Never mind chaps, we're in the home stretch. Only another few days of Christmas cards, concerts, carols and cranberries, Christmas pageants, puddings and parties, Christmas trees, turkey and tinsel, and we can go back to being realistic, selfish slobs we are the rest of the year.

For kids, the pre-Christmas wing-ding is just dandy. There are letters to be written to S. Claus. There are Christmas concerts at which to be miraculously and temporarily changed from small devils to small angels. There are glass balls to be shattered while decorating the tree. There are packages, rustling mysteriously, to be ripped open in drawer and closet.

For the elderly, too the Christmas season brings excitement. There is the sound of carols, to bring back memories of rich, good times in the past. There are lights and decorations to put a splash of colour into the drab grey of the endless days. And there is a little extra warmth and humanity abroad, to make people pay attention to the old folk for a change.

But for everybody in the so-called prime of life, it seems that Christmas, or at least the couple of weeks before the big day, has become an orgy of shopping, mailing, cleaning, scrambling and worrying that produces little but tension, tiredness and tears. Especially among the women. Pity, isn't it?

Like most men, I'm about 50-50 on Christmas. At times I'm strongly in favour of the whole business, at others violently opposed. Knowing that it puts me in debt, every year, until about the following June, I'm pretty belingerent about it all around the first of December. I put my foot down. I state flatly that we are going to cut down on everything: cards, gifts, and especially stuff for the kids.

But by the week before Christmas I'm running around like the rest of the lunatics: grabbing scraggly trees snatching tough turkeys, planning impossible parties, holding whispered conversations with the Old Girl and throwing money around like one of the newly elected presidents of a new African state.

One aspect of Christmas that I thoroughly enjoy is the sending and receiving of cards. It's the one time of year when I pay any heed to old friends and relations. I dig up the addresses of old, bent pilots in Australia, India and South Africa and send them cards in which I triple my income, the accomplishments of my kids, and my state of health. They do the same, the liars.

And when the cards come in, I read every one. For one thing, it's the only way I found out that my two brothers are alive, where they are, and how many children they have. Last I heard, one was in Europe, the other in the West Indies. Their wives send cards.

Our first card this year was a puzzler. It was postmarked Belfast, Ireland, and addressed Mr. and Mrs. Smylie, 790 Bay St., Ontario, Canada. There ain't no such place, but it arrived here. Inside, it read, "To Greta, Alex and family, from Kay and David." We didn't know a soul on either end of the greeting, but it was a nice card. The address was there, so my wife will probably send them one next year, and we'll keep exchanging for years.

To balance out my pleasure in the cards is my homicidal hatred of the erection of the tree. This is one time of the year when the family sees the head of the house in his true colours. Or hears him, rather, if you can hear blue, because I insist that the living room be cleared of women and children before I start. The axe is too handy. Then it is that there come back to me those fine, rolling, mouth-filling, satisfying Celtic oaths my Dad used to use when he was down cellar fixing the furnace and thought my mother couldn't hear him.

The BIBLE Today

Requests have come from women in more than 55 denominations in the United States for a way in which they could be more actively related to the world-wide work of the Bible Society. In line with these requests Mrs. Inez Mosher will co-ordinate the efforts of women's groups to further the objects of the work of the Society.

In the United Kingdom there are ten lady Secretaries for Women's Work in the British and Foreign Bible Society. India encourages the organizations of Women's Auxiliaries related to Bible Society work there.

In Toronto a Women's Auxiliary is active for the Bible Society. Mrs. J. Keiller MacKay, the wife of the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Ontario, is the Honorary President.

CHRISTMAS COOKIES

Ingredients:

1 cup soft butter; ¾ cup brown sugar; ½ teaspoon vanilla; ⅛ tsp. salt; 2½ cups flour; 1 cup almonds sliced lengthwise; ½ cup red and green cherries (whole).

Method:

Cream butter, add sugar and then add vanilla, salt and flour. Finally add nuts and cherries and form into rolls. Leave overnight in the ice box or other cool place Slice thinly with a sharp knife bake on greased baking sheet in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for about 10 min. or till very lightly browned.

These are also very nice to have around at Christmas time, besides beig very tasty their red and green color from the cherries add Christmas colour to the occasion.

These may be made at least a week ahead of time and keep very well, an extra bunch is always handy if packed in plastic bags and stored in the freezer Just remove from the freezer about an hour before you want to use them.

Letter To The Editor

The Iroquois Post,
Iroquois, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Editor

We, members of the Williamsburg Ministerial, hereby record our disapproval of the practice of raising funds by means of gambling even for charity.

This objection refers to such practices as bingo, lotteries, raffles and any means of raising money by which people are encouraged to spend a small amount in the hope of winning a relatively large return.

These means obscure the true art of giving and have a corrosive effect upon individual, community and national character.

We call upon you, the people, to awaken to the moral dangers of these practices.

Signed by:
Rev. W. A. Adam,
Rev. A. C. Blackwell,
Rev. R. Crookson,
Rev. E. R. Hawkes,
Rev. H. VanderPlaat.

When little Susy came home after a visit at her grandmother's, she found that triplets had been added to the family.

"How silly of you, Mommy," she said. "You should have done the ordering — you know how Daddy stutters."

FISH HUSBANDRY

By J. D. McNee, Hatchery Mgr.

A great deal of progress has been achieved in the efficiency of all forms of animal husbandry in recent years. Increased knowledge of genetics, physiology, nutrition, disease, etc., has been applied to the point where most common forms of husbandry are now quite an exact science. It has been said that our knowledge of nutritional requirements of some animals such as chickens and turkeys may be more advanced than our knowledge of human nutrition.

The rearing of fish was carried on for many centuries, more or less as an art, with little science involved. Fish husbandry may now be rightly classed as a science, even though it may yet be less effisient than some of our more highly developed animal husbandries. Scientific studies of the various phases of fish husbandry meet with special problems many of which are not encountered in the usual forms of animal husbandry, and it may be of interest to consider the most obvious.

Fish are "cold-blooded" animals and live completely within an aquatic environment. Normal body temperature of a fish is the same as the temperature of the water in which it lives. This may vary sharply from day to day and from a low of 32 degrees in winter to a high of 80 degrees in the summer. It has been suggested that the rate of metabolism in an animal may increase by ten per cent for each one degree (centigrade) rise in body temperature. Thus temperature becomes a prime consideration in determining the rate of metabolism in fish. We find that trout require more than twice as much food per day at 52 degrees than they require at 36 degrees. While most fish will tolerate a wide range, which varies with species, where they feel most comfortable and will grow most efficiently.

Our knowledge of water quality to create an ideal environment for fish is incomplete, and it is often difficult to maintain even the known tolerable quality under conditions of high production. We do know that dissolved oxygen must be maintained within certain limits at all times, that carbondioxide must be kept at a low levl, that excess dissolved gases such as nitrogen, ammonia, hydrogen sulphide, can be disastrous, that dissolved minerals such as calcium phosphorous, cobalt, iron are of considerable importance that pH should be within certain limits, that temperature is often critical for the species concerned, that many quality requirements vary a great deal with the species concerned. Toxic metabolic wastes that are eliminated from the body of the fish are immediately dissolved in the water and these, if allowed to accumulate under productions conditions, quickly pollute the water beyond the point where fish can survive.

An aquatic environment is by no menas free of bacteria, vino means free of bacteria, vicause disease, and is in fact, often ideal for the spread of these disease organisms. Treatmnt for the control of these Pathogens is often difficult and hazardous in the aquatic environment.

Many of the difficulties encountered in determining exact nutritional requirements of fish are quite obvious when we keep in mind the aquatic environment and the wide variation in "normal" metabolism. Our knowledge of vitamin requirements of trout is nearly complete. Research is underway using radio-active isotopes to study the mineral requirements of trout, both in the diet and in their water environment. Progress has been made in the development of cheaper and more efficient diets, but the fact that trout are normally diatbetic (in terms of humans) limits the use of carbohydrates in the diet. Fat content of diets must also be kept at a low level, and the resulting high protein diet is comparatively expensive.

Another important fact distinguishes fish husbandry as carried on in Ontario Hatcheries, from most other forms of animal husbandry. We rear fish under domesticated conditions for the purpose of restocking must become domesticated to the point where they may be unable to fend for hemselves in the wild.

WEEDS

By W. A. G., Thurston, R. P. F., District Forester

Yes, woodlots can have weeds. They may not be the type of weds which are found throughout the countryside, roadsides, or in some farm fields, nor are they the dangerous type of weeds which are controlled by various laws which force their eradication. Rather, woodlot weeds are species of trees which may have a low conomic value or may not grow to a merchantable or usable product. Such trees are called weeds because they are occupying valuable ground space and producing no merchantable product. Such weeds should be removed as the opportunity presents itself in any woodlot improvement project.

Speaking in general terms, foresters usually refer to ironwood, blue beech, hawthorn, willow and similar species as weed trees. However, this terminology is closely tied up with markets and industrial requirements in the area. For example, some farmers at times have found very good markets for ironwood and blue beech for highly specialized purposes. To these farmers, these are not weed trees but are valuable species, almost as valuable as the other species in their woodlot.

Closely allied to weed trees are trees referred to as "wolf" trees. These are generally described as large trees, with very wide spreading branches, occupying a space which is normally much greater than their natural requirements. These may be the remnants of a former stand of timber which, because of past history, had the opportunity of growing in the open without competition from other trees. This lack of competition allowed the tree to develop large wide-sprading branches which now take up far too much valuable room and ground space. Such "wolf" trees should also be removed where possible to make better use of the ground area in a woodlot. Frequently "wolf" trees may be a source of seed, and, therefore, their removal will have to be planned so that adequate regeneration for the area may be secured at the time of, or before, cutting. Such planning, therefore, assures the future of this particular stand of timber so that continuous production may be achieved over a long period of time.

Weed and "wolf" trees are a hindrance in a production forest. In such a forest these harmful classes of trees should be removed so that the highest possible production may be achieved off every acre of forest land.

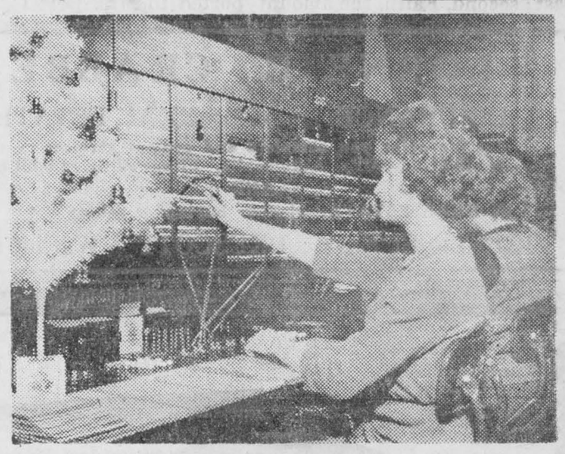
BELL LINES

By J. W. K. Blair
your telephone manager



MISS BARBARA STEENBURGH is one of the newer operators in Brockville who will be working at this switchboard on Christmas Day to enable you to complete your Long Distance Calls.

OUR CHRISTMAS TRIBUTE

At this time of the year we like to think in human terms—the love of man for his fellow men . . . the rebirth of hope and the renewal of man's faith in himself. We have seen the machine age grow and develop to the point where some have suggested that machines have become our masters . . . that nowadays machines can serve mankind better than man himself. Indeed, the age of science has advanced so far and so fast that one can scarcely keep abreast of it. We in the telephone company are very much aware of this. We have made tremendous strides in perfecting what we like to call the telephone art. But, in spite of all our up-to-date technology we cannot escape the happy fact that the friendly helpful operator is as indispensible as ever. There are many times when only human understanding and sympathy can provide the service you urgently need. A sudden emergency, the need for a doctor in the night, swift help from the police or fire dpartment, locating a friend in a distant city—these are the times when an unknown, but friendly voice can help you most. No matter how many complex devices the years may bring to improve telephone service there will always be operators to give the one service that no machine can provide—human understanding.

Speaking of Christmas, we would like to take this opportunity to remind everybody about careful driving during the festive season. We at the Bell have a sort of philosophy of the road that we try to encourage our drivers to follow. We call it defensive driving. A defensive driver avoids driving errors himself, is always alert to the behaviour of the cars around him and carefully compensates for road and weather conditions in order to stay alive. At this time of the year, when driving conditions can be hazardous, we think this is a worthwhile philosophy to have.

In the meantime, on behalf of everyone here at the Bell, I would like to extend you a very Merry Christmas and the best in health and happiness for the coming year

MINOR HOCKEY PLAN FOR MOUNTAIN TOWNSHIP

Plans are well underway for another season of Minor Hockey in Mountain Township. The Minor Hockey Association expects to sponsor teams in Peanut, PeeWee, Bantam, Midget and Juvenile divisions. If the personnel and coaches are available, it is expected that the PeeWee, Bantam, Midget and Juveniles will participate in the league formed by the Tri-County Minor Hockey Association.

Registration forms are now available for all youngsters who wish to play minor hockey, and all players registered with the Tri-County Association will be required to pay a $1.00 registration fee which will provide the players with compulsary insurance and their hockey cards from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Each player with a C.A.H.A. playing card will automatically receive a complimentary subscription to a Canadian Hockey Magazine. In addition, each player must have a birth certificate before January 1st. if they are to play Minor Hockey.

An urgent appeal is going out to those who are interested in providing Minor Hockey for the youngsters in the area. Lorne Newman, Greig Fowler, and Carman Crowder will work with the Juvenile, Bantam and Peanut Teams and those willing to work with either the Midgets and Peanut teams or help with the other teams, are asked to contact Carman Crowder, telephone 55, right away.

IN MEMORIAM

SUMMERS—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Glenn Robert Summers, who passed away Dec. 15, 1958.
Many a day his name is spoken,
And many a hour, he is in our thoughts
A link in our family chain is broken
He has gone from our home, but not from our hearts.
Mother, Father, Sisters and Brothers

BARKLEY—In memory of of Mrs. Silas Barkley.
We watched you suffer, we heard you sigh,
But all we could do was just stand by,
For when the time came we suffered too
For you never deserved what you went through.
God took our hand and we had to part,
He eased our pain but broke our hearts,
Although we smile and seem care free
No one misses you more than we.
Sadly missed by husband and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to extend grateful thanks to all who visited me, sent cards, also the neighbours and friends who helped me during the time I was laid up with a broken arm. These kindnesses were greatly appreciated.
Mrs. Arthur McInnis
