Stop check

Officers of the Winchester OPP detachment will be conducting a stop check in connection with its RIDE (Reduce Impaired Drivers Everywhere) program during the week of Sept. 18 to 24 in the townships of Mountain and Winchester. Drivers are asked to consider the consequences of drinking and driving and to seek alternative methods of transportation.

Barrie developer buys Morewood Industries

MOREWOOD — David McKee is the new owner of Morewood Industries.

McKee, along with four partners, purchased the modular home, kitchen and window factory two weeks ago from Peter Lightfoot and Steven Rosenberg for an undisclosed amount.

Originally from Petawawa, McKee owns and operates a recreational vehicle dealership in Barrie and is developing a residential community project on the outskirts of the city. He is the majority owner of Morewood Industries with 50 per cent of the shares and the remainder divided among the partners.

"We have been looking at Morewood Industries for some time," said McKee. "It's a really nice company."

Although he admits the company is not a large one at present, he says expansion is definitely a top priority.

"We think the potential for modular homes in the building business in the future will be very good," said McKee. "Our intention is to open up a very strong foundation in Ontario for sales."

McKee said the products manufactured by Morewood Industries are excellent but the company hasn't experienced any significant growth over the last five years. By expanding their markets, he said jobs for the company's approximately 230 employees will be guaranteed.

Part of his plan for the company is to introduce computer- assisted design which allows builders some flexibility when creating a new home.

"We will try to give consumers service a little more rapidly with a little better product," he said.

One of his goals for the company is to become more innovative in home design, appealing to a wider range of people.

Despite rumors to the contrary, McKee said Morewood Industries was not the victim of an unfriendly takeover.

"It was a private company and you can't take over a private company in an unfriendly fashion," he said. "We paid a reasonable price for it. We're happy with the bargain we got and we think the people here are really good people. My partners and I will be able to inject the necessary funds enabling us to do a proper job.

"We will try to be good corporate citizens and do a good job for ourselves."

Although he lives in Barrie, McKee plans to build a home near Winchester where he will live three or four days a week.

McKee's first order of business, however, is to make Morewood Industries a winning company. To that end he has decentralized some of the operation, making each division accountable to itself.

"I took a good hard look at the operation but I want to see what the people here can do," he said. "Then I will look at expansion plans. People in different divisions will tell me what they can do."

For now, however, it's business as usual for Morewood Industries. And in the future McKee says there won't be any question of layoffs. "Rather it's a question of we will need good skilled people," he said.

"If we provide great service we will be rewarded."

The dancing reeve

Winchester reeve Larry Gray was one of hundreds who turned out to witness the live Wintario draw at the community centre Thursday. Not everyone, however, had a chance to dance in front of the crowd with one of the members from Joey Whittaker's School of Dance, one of three acts who entertained prior to the draw. Ambitious recycling plan needs Osgoode's approval

METCALFE — The joint committee on recycling will ask the Ministry of the Environment for a grant of over $100,000 to start up an ambitious five-year recycling project for Winchester, Russell and Osgoode.

But the committee, comprised of members from the municipalities involved, is awaiting a firm commitment to the program from Osgoode Township before seeking the grant.

According to committee member Gerry Belisle, Osgoode has not yet made a commitment. "We want a tripartite written commitment from Russell, Osgoode and Winchester before we apply for the grant," he said.

Belisle, the treasurer for Russell Township, says Osgoode will likely decide on whether to commit to the project by the end of this week.

The recycling program calls for a weekly collection of materials such as paper, glass, cans and other recyclables. The so-called blue box program would be similar to programs currently running in Kanata and Gloucester.

Belisle says the ministry will provide 50 per cent of the funding for the first year, 40 per cent for the second year and 10 per cent for the third year if the grant is awarded.

The first-year costs to the municipalities would see Osgoode paying $43,000, Winchester paying $26,000 and Russell paying $35,000. The ministry's share of first-year costs would be $103,000, said Belisle.

"The total capital cost of the project is $131,000," said Belisle. "The blue boxes and a truck have to be purchased."

Should the project go forward, the second-year costs would drop, with Osgoode paying $15,000, Russell paying $11,000, Winchester paying $9,000 and the ministry contributing $40,000.

The committee is also taking steps to ensure that there is a market for the recyclables collected under the program.

According to Belisle, Russell has taken the lead in pushing for the recycling program in response to the Regional Municipality of Ottawa-Carleton's decision to put a landfill site in the township. "We had to do something on our own," said Belisle.

Belisle also said that steps are being made to include the rural portion of Winchester Township in the program.

"The village of Winchester is behind the program all the way," he said.

Hydro negotiates to neutralize PCBs

WINCHESTER — PCBs stored at the Winchester area hydro office are not a threat to residents of the village.

Slightly more than 2,500 gallons of PCBs are stored at the local office but manager Boyd Hamilton said the storage tanks and procedures set out by the Ministry of Environment are strictly followed.

The latest inspection of the storage site was conducted on Monday by the consulting firm of M.M. Dillon, acting as an agent of MOE and "everything was found to be in tip-top shape," said Hamilton.

"The only thing they recommended to us was to install a sign on our gate informing people PCBs are stored here," he said. "The sign has been ordered and we'll put it up as soon as we get it."

Inspections are performed by MOE on a quarterly basis. Area office supervisor Glenn Vasey doubles as the PCB co-ordinator for the Winchester office and keeps track of the PCBs on a daily basis.

"People shouldn't have any concerns," said Hamilton. "All fire departments that serve the Winchester area are advised we have PCBs here and we have a spills' bill, which is an emergency plan."

Since August 1986 Hamilton said there have been 32 oil spills in the Winchester area. Four spills exceeded the ministry's 50 parts per million safety guideline.

"We have a designated group to clean up any oil or PCB spills in the area," he said.

The federal ministry of environment has unveiled a plan to eliminate all PCBs over the next five years. Hamilton said the Winchester area hydro office is currently negotiating with a contractor to neutralize their PCBs through a chemical process.

Hamilton hopes the neutralizing process will be completed in time for hydro's move to another office on St. Lawrence Street. Construction on the new site should begin in December.

The PCBs stored at the Winchester office come from Ontario Hydro only. Hamilton said hydro is not interested in storing PCBs which originate from another source.

"We do a detailed inspection of our PCB containers on a weekly basis," said Hamilton. "We keep close track of what's going on."

Greely lawyer to represent Heritage party

GLOUCESTER — A Greely lawyer says she is set to take the Carleton-Gloucester riding in the upcoming federal election.

Terese Ferri, 33, is optimistic voters will choose her leadership under the Christian Heritage Party (CHP).

Ferri said the CHP offers the "authentic, moral leadership needed" in this country.

She was attracted to the party, which was formed in 1986, because it stands for unity of family, accountability of government and fundamental issues.

Although calling abortion a significant, absolutely critical and fundamental issue, Ferri is quick to point out the CHP is not a one-issue party.

Sharing the CHP's strong anti-abortion stand, Ferri says she offers voters an alternative to Maureen McTeer, the staunch pro-choice supporter running as the Progressive Conservative candidate for this newly-formed riding, comprised of portions from the Nepean-Carleton and Ottawa-Carleton ridings.

Ferri describes McTeer as a "strong disappointment" for Tory supporters.

"She is not conservative. Her views are radical. She is more NDP than the NDP," said Ferri.

Ferri said the CHP will not govern by the Gallup polls, resort to patronage and conflict of interest like other parties in power have in the past.

Dispelling any suggestion her party is running a token campaign simply to put its views into the voters' mind, Ferri claims the CHP will have a major impact during the election expected this fall.

Another feather in cap for Ault's cheesemaker

WINCHESTER — Ault Foods Limited has won top awards at the 1988 Canadian National Exhibition and Winchester cheesemaker Rejean Galipeau was judged by a team of cheese graders as having the highest aggregate score in all chedder categories.

Since entering the competition 10 years ago, Galipeau has taken first-place honors six times. Colored and white cheese made by Galipeau in June won first place ribbons, and white cheese made in July was judged second best overall. The old cheese category, cured for one year, was won by Norm Matte of Ault Foods. Galipeau placed second.

Galipeau was declared grand champion for achieving the highest score in the six cheese categories.

Competition at the CNE was tough, with over 200 entries.

"We don't do anything special for the competition in Toronto," said Galipeau. "It's just ordinary cheese we try to make every day."

Galipeau began his career in cheesemaking several years ago first by observation. He attended dairy school in Kemptville and said he learned much from his more experienced co-workers.

Ault Foods also won awards for cultured butter for the second consecutive year. Ault's industrial plants located in Mitchell, Ontario and Victoriaville, Quebec won first and second prizes under its Lactantia brand.

"The CNE is one of the largest and most prestigious events in Canada," said Pamela Kempthorne, Director of Marketing Services for Ault's industrial division.

Schools ready to fight drug abuse by students

CORNWALL — Drugs are "the worst thing we have on the streets today," said Joe Gunn.

Gunn, the chairman of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education, said it is now up to the schools to deter children from taking drugs.

He was commenting on Education Minister Chris Ward's announcement earlier this month that drug education will be mandatory in Ontario schools starting in the 1989/90 school year.

"Obviously the government programs are not working. Parents are not doing the job. It always comes back to the school," said Gunn, who added it is now up to the teachers to drive home the anti-drug message.

"Our teachers are role models," he said.

The administration will be studying how to implement a program in the next school year, Gunn said.

Guidelines developed during the past two years will make a number of drug education

Awarded grant

WINCHESTER — The village of Winchester has been awarded a $65,000 needs study grant to study its sewage collection and water distribution system.

The grant from the Ministry of Environment represents 76 per cent of the total cost of the study.

Legion robbed

CHESTERVILLE — One person has been arrested in connection with a break and enter at the Chesterville Legion on Sept. 2.

The identity of the youth, who is under 18 years of age, cannot be revealed. The accused was also charged with breach of probation.

Three cases of beer, a quantity of money, a small quantity of change and two barbecue chickens were stolen from the Legion. Winchester OPP recovered some empty beer bottles.

The youth, who is a resident of Chesterville, will appear in provincial court in Morrisburg on Sept. 27. Police are continuing their investigation into a series of similar occurrences.

Five registered for elections

KEMPTVILLE — Five candidates have officially registered for the position of mayor, reeve and deputy reeve of Kemptville for the Nov. 14 elections.

Incumbent mayor Ralph Raina is being challenged by Allan Burn a former councillor who lost his bid for mayor in 1985. Deputy-reeve Howard Wilson and former councilman Ron Carter will challenge for the reeve's post. Incumbent reeve Pat Maloney is retiring after 20 years in politics.

Ken Finnerty, a councillor since 1985, will be running for deputy-reeve.

Ducks Unlimited banquet

KEMPTVILLE — The Kemptville Ducks Unlimited committee is holding its fourth annual banquet and auction on Fri., Oct. 28 at the W.B. George Centre, KCAT.

This year's banquet is a special event because DU is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Of special interest to local art connoisseurs will be the works of wildlife artist Patricia Tite. Ms. Tite will be this year's feature artist.

Tickets are $35 single or $55 per couple. A one-year subscription to DU's Waterfowl and Conservation magazine is included. Tickets can be purchased in Kemptville from Bruce Cathcart and Tom Humphreys; from John McMullen in Oxford Mills; Ian Stewart in Spencerville and Max McGibbon in Merrickville.

Mediator appointed

TORONTO — The Education Relations Commission has appointed Russell Steward of Ottawa to act as fact finder in the negotiations between the elementary teachers and the trustees of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board.

Steward will meet with the parties and write a report setting out which matters have been agreed upon and which matters remain in dispute. The report may also contain recommendations for settlement.

He is an arbitrator with extensive experience in industrial relations in both the public and private sectors.

It's not the grand prize of $100,000 but 100 Club Inc. president Jim Beattie, centre, was pleased to receive a plaque from Wintario co-hosts Faye Dance and Greg Beresford thanking the club for inviting the Wintario draw to the village last week.

Wintario broadcast gives Winchester shot in the arm

WINCHESTER — No one in the crowd won $100,000 but the live Wintario draw in Winchester Thursday night was a success.

Sponsored by the 100 Club Inc. the 579th Wintario draw attracted approximately 450 people to the community centre, each one hoping to win the grand prize on live television. Even though no grand prize winner was in attendance, several people won smaller prizes of $100, $10 and a free book of tickets.

Entertainment was provided by Sharon Adams, Night Train and Kids Khoris from Joey Whittaker's School of Dance. The entertainment portion of the evening was organized by Roy Fawcett and Basil Dawley.

"The comments I received from people was that they enjoyed the variety program," said Dawley.

100 Club president Jim Beattie said the organizers were pleased with the number of people in attendance and the smooth progression of events.

"From seven o'clock through until nine I don't think there was a hitch," he said.

The draw had a decidedly local flavor with co-host Greg Beresford inviting dignitaries including Beattie and Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP Noble Villeneuve to act as button pushers.

At the beginning of the live broadcast on the Global Network, a 90-second segment was aired on the village of Winchester and its history. The segment was written by Ron Workman and was "excellent" according to the 100 Club members.

"If nothing, else we're pleased it was good promotion for the village," said centennial celebration co-ordinator Ed Boyd.

The Wintario draw is the first event to be hosted by the newly-incorporated 100 Club. The club was originally founded in 1932 and presently has 48 members.

Preparations for the Wintario draw began three years ago. The 100 Club originally asked for the draw to be held during the village's centennial celebrations in early August but scheduling conflicts made the request impossible.

In addition to the Wintario draw the 100 Club Inc. also sponsored the Central Armed Forces band concert during centennial.

The club donates money to local clubs and organizations including Winchester District Memorial Hospital and provides Christmas baskets to needy area families.

The Wintario draw was financially successful but as yet 100 Club members haven't decided how to donate the proceeds.

"Basically the money will go into a long-term project rather than a short-term project," said Beattie. "We have several long- term projects we are considering."

Zoning change approved

WINCHESTER — Village council agreed to pass bylaw 24-88, rezoning a property at 485 Gladstone Street from residential type 1 to commercial.

The rezoning will allow property owner C.R. Trory to operate a small equipment rental business from his home. One complaint was received by council from Allan E. Smith. He claimed the rezoning would devalue neighboring property including his own, and increase noise and traffic.

"As the town grows and requires more services my thoughts are all businesses should be located in the downtown core," said reeve Larry Gray.

Objectors have 35 days to file an appeal through the village to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Council passed a second bylaw rezoning property owned by Dave Patterson on Main Street from residential type 1 to residential type 2 which will allow construction of townhouses on the property.

William McKeen filed an objection with council over the proposed zoning change.

The project calls for the townhouses to be built around an existing home on the property, using the same architectural style.

Objectors to the rezoning will have 35 days to file an appeal.

A request by St. Lawrence Ambulance Service to extend their building on May Street to within four feet of the neighboring property line was rejected by council.

The owner of the ambulance service was seeking a minor varience which would allow him to build another bay onto the building. The 20 by 32 foot building would house a third ambulance but would violate the bylaw which stipulates there must be 12 feet between a building and neighboring property line.

Clerk Bill Appleby told councillors there was strong opposition by the committee of adjustment to the varience.

"In my opinion this is a service to the area and the village," said deputy reeve Bill Stewart.

But councillor Hugh Eadie said if this varience was permitted a precedent would be set and there would be nothing to prevent other residents from requesting the same privilege.

Council agreed to advise St. Lawrence Ambulance to consider expansion to the side since there was more room and land was available.

Reach for the top

Dancers from Joey Whittaker's School of Dance perform a number for an appreciative audience prior to the Wintario draw last Thursday. In addition to the dancers, the band Night Train and Sharon Adams entertained the crowd estimated at 450.

Drug education

topics mandatory for students from Grades 4 to 10, according to a news release by the Ministry of Education.

Under the new guideline, education about tobacco will be mandatory for students from Grades 4 through 10. In Grades 7 through 10, learning about alcohol and drugs such as marijuana and cocaine will be mandatory for the first time.

"Teachers, school boards and many different organizations have been working to get a strong anti-drug message across to our children," said Ward. "But I believe there is more to do. We have to try to do a better job at drug education in our schools."

Gunn said "any amount of drugs is too much. If it (drug education program) saves a life, I'm in favor of it."

Ward also announced the MOE plans to "take steps to ensure that teachers have access to up-to-date resource lists of drug education materials; the ministry will help cover the cost of having one representative from each Ontario school board attend this year's conference of the Drug Education Coordinating Council on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 in Toronto."

Each school board in the province will also be urged to develop a comprehensive drug policy for its jurisdiction, according to the release.

Care emphasized

CARLETON — Fifty years of caring will be celebrated on Sat., Oct. 29 at the Carleton District Annual Meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society.

"Humanizing the Care of Cancer Patients" is the theme of a six-member panel represented by two Rideau-Osgoode area residents.

Diane Withnall of Metcalfe will be present to discuss diet and cancer while Rev. Allan McGregor will be representing the St. James Anglican Church.

The meeting takes place at the Talisman Hotel starting at 9am. Those interested in attending should call the Cancer Society office at 722-7635 for tickets. The luncheon tickets are $10 a person.

For further information call Dorothy Bickerton at 692-3045 or Diane Withnall.

Councillors Cooper, Alexander won't seek re-election

METCALFE — The curtain is slowly falling after many years of public service, for Osgoode Township councillors Mary Cooper and Fred Alexander.

Both have made the decision to retire from public life in the township and their names will be notably absent from the ballots in November.

"The public doesn't really understand what it's like," said Cooper, a 12-year council veteran. "You're never at home in the evenings. You're always eating suppers watching the clock so you get to your meeting on time. It's not a job, it's an intrusion. It becomes your whole life — after a while, it's not enough."

"When I started I didn't plan to stay forever," she added. "The township is changing and the councillors should change with it."

Cooper feels the time has come for her to step down and make room for the changes.

She considered stepping down prior to the last election but it was difficult to make that decision.

The personal satisfaction she has felt from achieving success in a special project on behalf of the people in the township, has led to many rewarding moments throughout the years.

Notable among these were the apartment projects for seniors in both Metcalfe and Osgoode villages, the Township of Osgoode Care Centre which consumed her time and her interest from start to finish, and the town hall renovations.

Cooper remembers with pride the improved road conditions and increased fire protection services which have developed in Osgoode Township over the years — and the standards which have been established in new housing developments.

She is also very happy about the new Greely Community Centre project. But without a doubt, the property-numbering project in the township has been the most fun.

"It's a well run township," said Cooper, "and it has increased numbers of really good staff people."

Cooper admits she is not in favor of the accelerated growth taking place in Osgoode Township.

"It depends on what kind of township you want," she said. "There are too many severances being allowed."

She feels the township is growing too fast for that growth to be absorbed without disrupting its social and physical structures.

Alexander has been involved in politics at local, provincial and federal levels for 40 years, the last 13 of those on municipal council.

"My father and grandfather were both members of Gloucester Township council over the years," he said. "It must be in my blood."

Over the years he has enjoyed his work as a member of the roads, finance and insurance committees, the Osgoode Community Centre board and the Vernon Recreation Centre.

"The roads department work has been my greatest satisfaction," he said. "And the Vernon Recreation Centre is a feather in my hat."

The reconstruction of the Osgoode Community Centre has also given him much pleasure.

In the past, Alexander has supported a ward system in the township. He feels the township is ideally set up geographically for such a system and would allow councillors to "pull more" for the area each was representing. His one major disappointment was other members of council did not find the idea desirable.

"It's a good job for a woman," said Cooper. "Women have so many qualities which are admirably suited to this kind of work."

"Women excel over men in their organization of time, in their ability to manage a budget and in using common sense," she said. "In running a household, women seem to develop these qualities instinctively."

"Voters should consider the candidates carefully," she said, "with a view to finding candidates with the time and energy required for the job."

Enrolment increases at area public schools

WINCHESTER — Winchester Public School is only one of a number of local schools that experienced an increase in enrolment this year.

More students than last year headed back to the halls of learning on Sept. 6. At WPS, 286 children are registered from junior kindergarten to Grade 6, up from the 272 pupils who were attending the school in June 1988.

Inkerman Public School also enjoyed a significant increase in the number of pupils attending, a jump from 158 last year to 173 this month.

At Chesterville Public School enrolment increased by 18 students to 203. The number of pupils at Morewood Public School is up to 141, an increase of eight students.

The numbers have remained stable at Elma Public School (194) and Dixons Corners Public School (158).

At Nationview, enrolment has jumped to 400 students in junior kindergarten to Grade 8, way over last year's total of 371. Enrolment at Maple Ridge Senior Public School has also increased by 22 students to 234.

Overall enrolment within the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County School Board has increased 2.8 per cent. Originally trustees had projected a slight decrease.

In June the board predicted a total enrolment at its 32 elementary schools of 6,177, however, 6,376 students have enrolled so far.

One of the main reasons behind the surge in students is enrolment in the board's junior kindergarten program. Close to 600 pupils are registered in the program which began three years ago.

The scenario is the same at the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board. Gilles Metevier, director of education said the board has enjoyed a net growth of 159 students this year. All but 10 of the new students are enrolled at St. Joseph's High School. At St. Mary's Separate School in Chesterville, the student population has risen by one to 200 students.

Metevier said there is no question the separate school board will continue to grow as more parents send their children to Catholic school.

But the population has dropped at St. Catherine's Separate School in Metcalfe to approximately 170 students. Metcalfe Public School, however, has increased enrolment to 402, up significantly from last year's total.

Osgoode Township High School is also enjoying an increase in the number of students. Five hundred and fifty-four students are enrolled, many of them French immersion students from Russell.

Rental fees discontinued

WINCHESTER — Beginning Jan. 3, 1989 customers who depend on post office lockboxes as their primary mode of mail delivery will receive the service free of charge.

The free service will become effective on the lockbox renewal date. Currently lockboxes are rented for a yearly sum of $6.74 for the small box, $13.48 for the medium size and $22 for the large box.

Approximately one million Canadians receive their mail in lockboxes. There are 999 lockboxes at the Winchester Post Office and the majority are rented, said postmaster Howard Moore.

The abolition of the rental fee was documented as part of Canada Post's corporate plan released in May 1988. Canada Post will forego $8 million revenue from rental fees. The free service will apply to individuals and businesses whose primary mode of mail delivery is the lockbox.

"It's a small thing but it was a source of frustration for many people," said Joe Hebert of Canada Post. "Some post offices have rural routes emanating from them. People on the rural route get mail delivered almost to their door but someone in town has to go to the post office and pay for the rental."

The post office will provide details on the free lockbox service through an information folder to be delivered to each household in October.

Greg Ulmann

Artistic father, unstable upbringing influences Russell sculptor's work

by Jim Day
Press Staff Reporter

RUSSELL — "I was quite determined not to get into art," recalls Greg Ulmann, discussing an incredible childhood that eventually led to his interest in sculpting.

Ulmann, a 17-year resident of this village, recently talked about a "rather unstable child environment" that will shortly lead to the first public showing of his sculptures.

The 38-year-old sculptor will be one of 12 local artists displaying their work at the Autumn in the Country 1988 Art and Craft Exhibition in Russell on Oct. 1 and 2.

Greg's approach to art can be traced in part back to his father, Robert, who was and may still be a professional sculptor — Greg has not seen or heard from his father for more than 20 years.

"He helped me in understanding shape and design, although he probably did it unconsciously. My father would probably be my toughest critic. He is probably in the back of my head somewhere saying 'Come on, you can do better than that,' " said Greg.

Greg described his father's work as "really good. He had a lot of ability."

While his father's interest in art rubbed off on Greg even at an early age — he spent many hours drawing from the ages of 10 to 16 — the lifestyle Robert offered his son made Greg quite leery about the prospect of becoming a professional artist.

The disturbing childhood and teenage years for Greg, an only child, included constant travelling, living in Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa or wherever his father suddenly felt like moving.

"I went to eight public schools during my Grade 3 year. I spent only one day in one school," he recalled.

Greg said his father moved constantly because he had a fear of success. When the picture started looking bright, he would pack up and take his family somewhere else.

For Greg, his time spent in Stittsville was an almost unbelievable adventure. Since his father was unable to get a building permit, the family lived a full winter in a canopy tent.

Greg said he and his family were "totally ostrasized by the community" for living under such ludicrous conditions.

While in Stittsville, Greg had a difficult time as a 16-year-old.

In that year, his mother died of cancer. Also, his father told him he had just been hired to work in the Northwest Territories as an art instructor for the Inuit and he didn't plan on taking Greg with him.

So that left him alone in a house which was already paid for but made it necessary for the teenager to work as a janitor while going to school, just to make ends meet.

"It sounds like a real tear-jerker," said Greg. "That's about when I got my independence."

By the age of 17, Greg had saved about $1,500 in a joint account also under his father's name.

"My father came down and cleaned out my bank account and that was the last I ever saw of him."

This made Greg feel very hostile towards his dad. It offered much of the fuel to the poetry he wrote for about 10 years, starting when he was about 20.

"It was generally negative," said Greg, adding his poetry was based on his tough life experiences.

Greg said he managed to complete Grade 12. "I didn't find school difficult. The trick was to skip enough classes to make ends meet." He pointed out that while other students would skip classes to drink, he was forced to skip classes so he could earn some money.

Unlike his father, who often would work at different jobs until he saved enough money to quit and work solely on his art, Greg said he is pleased with settling down to his woodworking company located at his Russell home where he also has his art studio.

Greg owns Wood Products Ltd., which manufactures picture frames, cabinets and on one occasion spare parts for a piano, and has watched his business grow from its beginning nine years ago.

While putting about 60 hours each week into his company, Greg said the time spent on his sculpting has been "very sporadic."

Sculpting since 1977, Greg would like to devote more time to his art work in the future.

He said the art show next month will be the first real display of his work. He would like to have three large pieces and some smaller ones exhibited.

Greg said he often pulls from his dreams for the visual characters he recreates in his wood sculptures.

He described his sculpting as a nice alternative to the stress from his business. "I enjoy the process of sculpting. The sweat, the physical work," he said.

Still working on a piece he hopes to complete in time for the art show, Greg said preparations have become a mad rush.

He has received positive feedback from those in the art community, but added he doesn't know what is being "whispered" about his work behind his back.

Greg said he is interested in the reaction his sculptures will receive at the art show, adding he will be able to interpret a more honest response by judging the audience's body language than by asking their opinion of his work.

Alternative computer centre to open Oct. 3

WINCHESTER — A new computer centre called the T.R. Leger School of Alternative Studies Computer Centre will open shortly in Winchester.

Located above the OPP station, the new computer den will seek an entirely different audience from the one which presently patronizes the Winchester Computer Den at the public school.

Potential users of the new computer den will be business people and staff for internal training, farmers updating their business and computerizing records, educational institutions reaching out to clients and, the general public who wish to teach computer or learn how to operate one themselves.

The computer centre will have 12 IBM compatible computers with 640 k memory, two five and one-quarter inch floppy disk drives and a mouse for each machine.

The computer den is a co-operative effort between the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County School Board and the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

"It has been in the works since early spring," said John Brady of the alternative school. "We're co-operating with OMAF but it is their program, it is a designated agriculture program and they are running it."

The first course, designed for owners or about-to-be-owners of IBM or IBM compatible computers will be offered beginning Oct. 3. The course will run every Monday night from 7 to 10pm until Dec. 5.

The course is a prerequisite for the introduction to computerized farm management course which will be offered after Christmas.

Both courses will be taught by Howard Giles of the Winchester OMAF office. The cost of the introductory course is $30. It is sponsored by the Women for the Survival of Agriculture. To register contact Dorothy Middleton at 987-5328.

Couple wed

Sandra and Doug Vasey wish to announce that on Sept. 10, 1988, they were united in marriage at Morrisburg, Ontario.

The ceremony, performed in a pretty garden setting, took place at 3pm, presided over by Mrs. Lois Brown, J.P.

The bride and groom were attended by Nancy Stewart, maid of honor, Brian Cinnamon, best man and their children Tracy Rennison, Tanya and Kelly Vasey.

Wedding guests from Chesterville, Winchester, Ottawa and Toronto were in attendance.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Gran-View Inn, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Cabinet captures Inkerman dynasty, former players praise showcase

INKERMAN — He started recalling the many memories of his legendary contribution to hockey to appease a reporter's curiosity.

He even talked of happenings that took place well before the Inkerman Rockets started along its way towards being a household name in this area and a part of Canadian sports history.

But he stopped suddenly while recounting his years from 1930 to 1948 as a teacher in a small Inkerman school that no longer stands, when students were so eager to skate on the rink outside the school that they tried to leave their blades on from 9am until recess.

"All these stories have been written before," interjects Lloyd LaPorte, the initiator and coach of Inkerman's hockey dynasty.

But now the stories of the Rockets' amazing achievements are on display for all to see.

On Friday, a beautiful display cabinet made by Winchester carpenter Rick Summers was unveiled at the Inkerman Public School, where it now sits, filled with memorabilia of the Rockets — one of the greatest small-town, junior-age teams in Canadian history.

They repeatedly won the Ottawa District titles, including five in a row from 1948 to 1951.

LaPorte took a step back from the cabinet before last week's ceremonies to offer his appraisal of the showcase, financed in part by the Inkerman Parents Committee, the Mountain Township Lions Club and the Winchester Royal Canadian Legion Branch 108.

"I think they've done an excellent job. It's a masterpiece," he said.

Asked if the collection of articles, hockey equipment and photos on display bring back any memories, LaPorte replied his memories are never gone.

LaPorte said the collection of Rockets' memorabilia at the school is only a portion of the remaining physical reminders to many great years of hockey. The 86-year-old Winchester resident said he has "so much more at home."

Following the ribbon cutting, guests gathered for some cake and to chat.

The former Rockets, on hand at the school last week, were eager to discuss the cabinet and the memories it brought back.

Gord Crowder, one of the original Rockets, described the display case as "just beautiful" while his brother and former teammate, Denzel, said he "thinks it's fantastic."

Gord was emphatic in requesting it be mentioned that Delmar Timmins was instrumental in the creation and success of the hockey team.

"He was Lloyd's right hand man," he said.

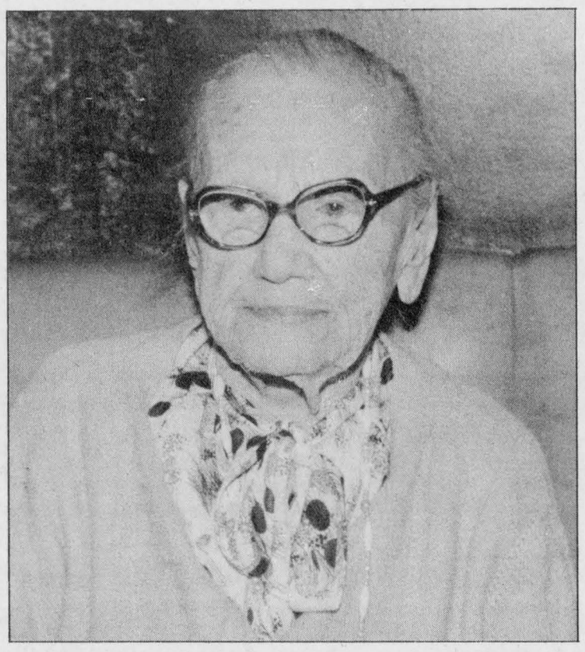
Timmins' son, Ron, also a former player with the Rockets, said the cabinet was very beautiful but should have been built earlier.

"It was something that was needed," said Ron, who discussed the importance of capturing the history of the Rockets for others to see and appreciate.

Perhaps best summing up the ceremony and the history of the Rockets franchise was Gord Crowder, who passed along his best memory of this successful local hockey team.

"I best remember the man Lloyd LaPorte," he said. "He is the finest man. Inkerman is Lloyd Laporte, Lloyd LaPorte is Inkerman."

Lloyd LaPorte gives a speech to students at the Inkerman Public School on Friday. LaPorte, the former coach of the legendary Inkerman Rockets, was on hand to talk about his glory days with the famous local hockey team and to cut the ribbon during the unveiling of a new cabinet built to display memorabilia of the team's numerous years of success.



Celebrating a milestone

Council approves plaza

WINCHESTER — It appears the proposed Centennial Plaza will need a name change, after receiving approval for a zoning change from Mountain Township council last week, allowing Shanda Developments to start contruction on the 20,000 square foot lot at the intersection of Hwy. 43 and Hwy. 31.

However, Shane Belanger, president of the Ottawa based company, says the mall will likely not open until April — ending original plans to have the opening coincide with Winchester's 100th year.

With a 35-day appeal period to wait out before all legal hurdles have been passed, Belanger says he plans to "proceed cautiously" with development.

Belanger is confident the public will not forward any harsh complaints about a mall being built.

James Eldon Davidson

James Eldon (Dave) Davidson, a lifetime resident of Winchester, died Sept. 13 at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

Dave was born Jan. 6, 1909 in Winchester, son of the late Frank and Elena Davidson. He was predeceased by his loving wife, Willis Helen McIntosh, in 1984.

He is survived by one son Allan and wife Alexis of Belleville and one daughter, Lynne and husband, Jim Dubbin of Toronto and grandchildren, Scott Davidson, Susan, Christopher and David Dubbin. He will be sadly missed by his sister Ruby Baldwin, Toronto, brother Douglas and wife Frances, Ottawa; brother Charles and wife Ella, Norwood; sister Joan and husband Donald McLean, Oshawa and good friends, Wilma Ledgerwood and Inez Davidson of Winchester.

Dave received a Bachelor of Commerce degree from Victoria College, University of Toronto in 1932. He then joined the Federal Annuities Branch, Department of Labor. During World War II, he served as a navigator-instructor with the Royal Canadian Air Force. In 1947, Dave took over the family farm and combined farming with his work in Ottawa as assistant director of the Annuities Branch.

In 1953, Dave became manager of the first Canadian office of The Wyatt Company, an actuarial and consulting firm which specialized in the planning of employee benefits and pensions. He played a major role in setting up the Ontario Municipal Employees Retirement System (OMERS)

Upon retirement from The Wyatt Company in 1974, Dave returned to his first love, farming. He was active in all aspects of his farm, Wintonia Holsteins, until his death.

Dave was a faithful member and elder of the Winchester United Church, Past-Master of Henderson Lodge and member of Grand Lodge, past-president of 100 Club and served on the school board during the planning stage for North Dundas District High School.

A Masonic service was held Thurs., Sept. 15 at the J.R. Vice Funeral Home. The funeral service was held Fri., Sept. 16 in Winchester United Church with the Rev. Will Walker officiating. Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery. Pallbearers were Paul Berry, Wayne Byers, Don Crosbie, Brian Davidson, Barry Higgins and Don MacLean.

The family wishes to thank all who sent flowers, memorial donations and extended their sympathy. Their thoughtfulness and kindness is greatly appreciated. A special thanks to the ladies of the UCW who provided refreshments and served after the burial. The care and support provided through the Home Care program, the Winchester hospital, Dr. R. Dawes and his staff during Dave's illness, is deeply appreciated by his family.

Jack Halladay

Retired baker Jack Halladay, 85, died Fri., Sept. 8 at his home on North Augusta Road, following an illness lasting six months.

He was born in Delta on Nov. 22, 1902 and was the son of the late Edgar Halladay and his wife, the former Catherine Gardiner.

He was raised and educated in Delta. He moved to Winchester where he was employed as a baker in Ward Summer's bake shop.

On Nov. 21, 1934, in Winchester, he married the former Ruth Brown who survives.

During World War II, Mr. Halladay was a member of the Royal Canadian Artillery No. 557 in Kingston.

Besides his wife, Mr. Halladay is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Vivian G. Cowan of Sussex, New Brunswick and two sons, Carl Halladay of Toronto and Edward Halladay. He is also survived by five grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Two sisters, Mrs. Noah Halladay (Mary) and Mrs. Harris Teepell (Iva), both of Delta also survive as well as several nieces and nephews.

He was predeceased by two brothers, Clarence and Laber Halladay of Delta and three sisters, Selena, Serena and Verna Halladay, all of Delta.

Friends were received at the Johnston and Barclay Funeral Home, Brockville. Service was held on Sept. 12 at the Wesleyan Church with Rev. William Turverey officiating, assisted by Rev. Helen Wilson.

Pallbearers were Ray Teepell, Donald Brown, Donald Bronson, Arnold Wilson, Gerry McParlan and John Williams. Interment was at Pine Hill Cemetery in Delta.

Memorial donations to the Brockville General Hospital palliative care service or the Brockville Wesleyan Church memorial fund will be gratefully acknowledged.

Lois Lovina Karr

Mrs. Robert Karr, the former Lois Lovina Morrison, died at St. Catharines General Hospital, Sept. 5, following a brief illness. She was in her 61st year.

Born at Edwards and educated at area schools she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dave Morrison.

In addition to her husband the late Mrs. Karr is survived by daughter Sharlene (Mrs. Paul Burger); granddaughter Nicole; and step-daughters Linda Karr and Diane Kohut. Also surviving are four sisters: Neta (Mrs. Winston Cooper) and Lyle (Mrs. Mielke), both of St. Catharines; Doris (Mrs. Amon Sheldrick), Vernon; and Freda Scrivens of Ottawa. She was predeceased by brother Charlie.

Prior to retirement, due to ill health in 1987, she had been owner-operator of Shar-Lo Variety Shop, Port Dalhousie.

Funeral service was conducted at Hulse and English Funeral Home, St. Catharines, Sept. 8, followed by cremation.

Glenn Carleton Kenney

Glenn Carleton Kenney of South Mountain died in Ottawa Civic Hospital Sept. 11. He was 64.

A lifelong resident of Mountain Township, Mr. Kenney is survived by his wife, Ida, his sister Lyla Allison, his niece Donna Wilson and nephew Wayne Kenney.

Funeral service was held at J.R. Vice Funeral Home in Winchester with Rev. Dr. Allen Tysick officiating.

Pallbearers were Brent, Barry, Jack and George Fawcett, Wayne Kenney and William Meerakker.

Interment was held at South Gower Cemetery.

David A. MacIntosh

David A. MacIntosh of RR1 Smiths Falls died at home Sept. 10. He was 35.

Mr. MacIntosh was born Sept. 23, 1952 in Moose Creek, Ontario, son of Elsie Winters and the late Alex MacIntosh.

He was a caretaker for the City of Red Deer, Alberta.

Mr. MacIntosh is survived by his mother, Elsie Winters of Chesterville, by his brother Malcolm of Smiths Falls and by his sisters, Charlotte Proulx of Kamloops, B.C. and Georgina MacIntosh of Smiths Falls. He is also surived by his nephews, Durland, and Travis Proulx, and by his nieces, Dawn and Dori MacIntosh.

Mr. MacIntosh was a member of Northside Church of God, Red Deer, Alberta.

Funeral service was held at J.R. Vice Funeral Home in Chesterville Sept. 13 with Rev. Hugh Logan of the Calvary Bible Church in Smiths Falls officiating.

Pallbearers were Don McCracken, Dave Ryan, Phil Hogan, Murray MacDonald, Elwood Robinson and Herb Schwartz.

Interment was held at the Sixth Concession of Roxborough Cemetery in Moose Creek, Ontario.

WDMH auxiliary members win provincial recognition

by Rose Campbell

WINCHESTER — Gail VanNoy welcomed a large group to the September meeting of Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. Members were reminded about making a few extra jars of jams, jellies, pickles, spices and crafts for the 40th anniversary bazaar at North Dundas District High School on Oct. 22 from 1:30-3:30pm.

Units were informed of the requisite number of sandwiches and small cakes for the tearoom, but if you missed hearing, contact Rita Bray or be at the next auxiliary meeting on Oct. 13.

Brides of the Century conveners Arlene Davidson and Carol Allan brought in $1,629.50. Their many hours of work and that of the models and escorts, made it all seem so easy and was appreciated by about 900 who attended.

The Red Cross Society requested help with refreshments for the three blood donor clinics a year, but it is not the policy of the Winchester Hospital Auxiliary to supply food or assistance to organizations other than the hospital.

Confirmation was received from the Ontario Hospital Auxiliaries Association of the three provincial life memberships from the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, namely Margaret Casselman of Chesterville, Evelyn Cowan of Metcalfe and Rose Campbell of Vernon. These honors will be presented at the OHAA annual meeting at the Harbour Castle Hotel on Nov. 21.

In Service volunteer coordinator, Joanne Jones made an appeal for more male and female volunteers.

Only three applications were received for the Winchester Hospital Auxiliary student award. The 1988 recipient is Deidre Booth of RR3 Winchester, a medical student at Queen's University. She will receive a $300 award.

The Regional Fall Conference will be held at the Talisman Hotel in Ottawa on Oct. 20 with several workshops of interest to our area and Dave Brown, an Ottawa Citizen columnist, as the guest speaker.

White Sox hang on

WINCHESTER — A big three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh inning here Thursday night brought the White Sox back from the brink of elimination and forced a third and deciding game in the Winchester Town Fastball League championship final.

Pennant-winning Black Phantoms took the upper hand in the best-of-three showdown the week before edging the Sox 5-4.

Sox third baseman Doug Vasey said his squad should've won that one but gave it away thanks to errors.

"That was a good game (Thursday's come-from-behind 4-3 win) but it (series) should be over now. We should have taken the first game," he said.

A double and three consecutive errors allowed Phantoms' George Bell to score the winning run in the sixth inning of the opening encounter.

White Sox took a first inning 1-0 lead in game two but had to score three times in their final at bat to come from behind, win the game 4-3 and tie the series up 1-1.

Jim Shaw reached on a Phantoms' infield error and gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead.

The 1-0 lead held up until the fourth inning when the Black Phantoms scored twice to take over 2-1. Mike Armstrong drew a lead-off walk and Steve Guy reached on an error. Both runners raced home on Randy Docksteader's RBI double.

The Phantoms had the makings of a big rally going in the fifth but had a pair of runners erased from the basepaths before George Bell finally scored. Bell singled and scored on a Dan MacMartin RBI single, to increase the lead to 3-1.

The White Sox scrambled back in the bottom of the seventh to steal a 4-3 win, scoring three runs off Phantom reliever Steve Plummer.

Greg Fawcett singled, Steve Christie singled and both scored on an errored hit by Greg Chamberlain, who beat out the error with two out. With Chamberlain on second base Brian McLean drew a walk bringing Chris Guy to the plate. Guy responded with a second-pitch single which delivered Chamberlain and the tie-breaking run.

Sox won it 4-3 to force a third and deciding game. Greg Chamberlain had the winning run and Chris Guy the winning RBI.

Greg Fawcett pitched the first four innings for the White Sox. He surrendered three runs on six hits and four walks. He fanned three Phantoms. Steve Christie finished up and gave up a hit, a walk, struck-out one and hit one batter. Greg Chamberlain was the winning catcher.

Mike Armstrong pitched the first four innings for the Phantoms. The left-hander gave up a run on four hits and a walk. He struck out five Sox. Steve Plummer finished the game and was tagged for the loss. He served up four hits and a walk.

Chris Guy led all hitters in the game going three for four. He had two singles (one the game winner) and a double.

Greg Fawcett hit two for two and reached on a fielder's choice.

WTHL ready for new season

WINCHESTER — Players have been drafted, new captains appointed and the first practice times announced as the Winchester Town Hockey League prepares to open its 1988-89 season on Tues., Oct. 4.

Steve Plummer returned as captain of Aqua Fun and has drafted a new crew of Flyers.

Tom Kirkwood was the other returning captain and he will again guide the Filion Tri-County Raiders.

Marty Little is a first-time captain and he is responsible for the CountryBoy Blazers.

John Ralko is the other new mentor and he is the Country Kitchen Canadiens' leader.

All four teams will be in action for the first time next Tues., Sept. 27 in exhibition encounters. At 7pm Aqua Fun Flyers will play the Country Kitchen Canadiens. At 8pm CountryBoy Blazers take on the Filion Tri-County Raiders.

This season the regular schedule gets under way on Tues., Oct. 4. For this date only the start time will be 9pm for game one and 10:15pm for game two due, to a Junior B Hawks' practice. The regular start time of 8pm will be in effect commencing Tues., Oct. 11.

Players are reminded that their registration fee is due for game three on Tues., Oct. 18.

Murphy assessing talent

Winchester Hawks' head coach Bill Murphy has been assessing talent for this year's edition of the junior B team for several weeks now and is looking forward to getting on home ice this weekend. The Hawks will play Kemptville in Winchester this Sunday at 3pm in their first exhibition game of the season.

Hawks training camp moves home next week

MAXVILLE — Home to the highland games, Maxville has become a temporary stop for the Winchester Junior B Hawks as they prepare for the 1988-89 Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League season.

Twenty prospective players worked out here Sunday evening as the club, under the direction of head coach Bill Murphy, continued to fine-tune for the upcoming season.

Murphy, who is again being assisted by Bob Porteous, reports he has signed a dozen players, mainly 17-year-olds with "AA" or Central Junior A experience and is expecting a few others to make bids at joining the roster as the team heads for the Winchester and District Arena and its home ice on Mon., Sept. 26.

The coach says he will carry 19 and is still considering who will fill the role of overaged players. He is also reviewing goaltending talent with hopes of adding a solid number-two man.

At this juncture of the training season many players have skated in August at Murphy's conditioning camp in Ottawa and then moved on to Metcalfe before coming to Maxville for two sessions, so are becoming better acquainted with each other in the scrimmages which are run each night.

The coach feels, "we are on the right track, building with 17-year-olds who have the desire to play hockey. I want to create that type of atmosphere this year and hope it carries on into next season."

Murphy says he, along with scouts Tom Breaugh and Doug Egan, a former pro player in Calgary, have recruited with the no-nonsense type of player in mind. "We want players who have dedicated time and effort to their hockey careers, players who are a year away from Tier II or are looking to advance in the sport."

"There are local players who would make this team but have shown no interest. They don't want to put an effort into it so we can't chase them," he said.

The coach says the players who have come out to all of the practices are serious about playing for Winchester. They have heard about the organization, obtained releases and are anxious to play hockey.

He reports that veteran Dolton Henry, and returnees Chris Williams and Scott Barkley, who joined the team late in the year from the Junior C Chesterville Flyers, are his local content, but says there are several area midgets ready and willing to join the club when called upon.

The overagers showing interest in returning have been Gord Shields, Don Larocque and more recently '87-88 scoring leader Kirk Barkley.

Murphy says this edition of the Hawks will have size and will be a fast team, "some of our forwards can really motor and we will not be pushed around because there are some big boys on the team."

"The fans will see a team that really wants to play, go full out and players who want to play in Winchester."

He continued by saying, "we will not be held back by sulking or moodiness this year. If a player isn't ready to make a commitment he won't be around. The executive has gone out and raised a lot of money to keep the team operational and I think the least the players can do is make a similar effort."

He says that he and assistants Bob Porteous, Tom Breaugh, Doug Egan, trainer Gord Sheppard, G.M. George Davidson and Russ Bell have done a lot of work and feels it has paid off.

He knows that a young team will be prone to make mistakes but says many of those will come from over aggressiveness, trying too hard and he, as a coach, can accept that.

The coach says he is getting a good look at the players and is ready to fine-tune the roster when he finally gets back to Winchester and home ice. He will get working on some systems at home next week. Murphy feels the core of the club has been together long enough now that he can make adjustments over the final two weeks before the season opens in Alexandria on Fri., Oct. 7.

Hawks will open at home in Winchester against the Morrisburg Lions on Sat., Oct. 7 at 8pm.

The Hawks skated through a workout here in Maxville Tuesday night in preparation for an exhibition game this Sun., Sept. 25 in Winchester against the Kemptville 73's (game time is set for 3pm).

Workouts in Winchester will get under way on Mon., Sept. 26 (9pm) and Wed., Sept. 28 (9pm).

Winchester will then host the Morrisburg Lions in an exhibition game on Fri., Sept. 30 (8pm). A practice is set for Oct. 4 and then the Hawks head to Alexandria on Oct. 7 to open their 1988-89 campaign.

Tae Kwon Do kicks into ninth season

MAPLE RIDGE — Most of the time when Maple Ridge Tae Kwon Do Club is in session, the gym they occupy at the senior public school is a very tranquil place.

Instructors, in hushed tones, teach new manouvres to polite students eager to add a new wrinkle to their martial arts routine.

But once the instruction is over and it comes time for class members to demonstrate what they have learned, the unagitated quietness comes to a screeching halt.

Thirty people shrieking in unison tends to have that effect.

The high pitched yell is called a "giup", the Korean word for, you guessed it, yelling. One yells when executing a kick, or throwing a basic punch block, or any other offensive manouvre.

Yelling tightens up the body and better prepares it for a counter-attack. It also assists in breathing and improves stamina, says club president Mike Lecuyer, a 1st Dan Black Belt, who instructs the beginners class from 7-8pm every Monday and Wednesday evenings.

2nd Dan Black Belt, Dennis Haney, conducts the advanced class from 8-9pm.

The club, which began its ninth season earlier this month, is the oldest of 24 Ottawa and area schools affiliated with Grandmaster Tae E Lee of the World Tae Kwon Do Federation.

But the oldest club in the area specializing in a sport thousands of years old may still be suffering from an identity crisis, according to its president. "I think some people think we're street fighters, there's still that image problem with Tae Kwon Do, in general. But we're just here for a good time, we have a lot of fun here," Lecuyer says.

"It's a family affair. We have fathers here participating with their children. It's an activity for everyone", he adds.

There are 65 active members enrolled in the program and Lecuyer says more members are always welcome to sign up. "Although we started up again a few weeks ago people can still join the club. You can join anytime".

Those interested can just show up Mondays or Wednesdays, or call Lecuyer at 448-3192. "We'll give them literature on the club and on Tae Kwon Do, or they can come in and participate right away. If they want to start immediately it's best to wear loose fitting clothing like sweatpants," says Lecuyer.

A monthly membership costs $25 for those 18 and over. If you're under 18, cost is $15 a month.

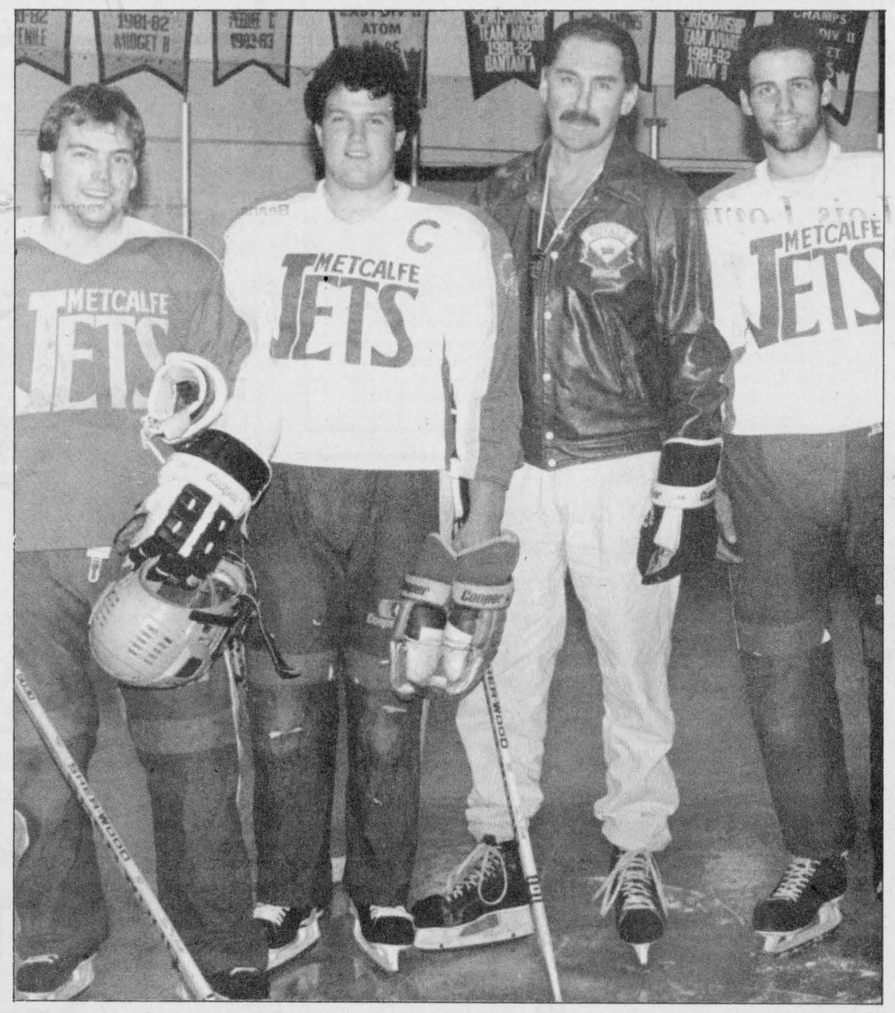
"We try to make it fun", Lecuyer says. "There's no pressure to advance and achieve a higher belt level. All of our students work at their own speed. We're looking for them to perform to the best of their ability, and mistakes don't really matter that much."

There are nine belt levels, measuring levels of proficiency, beginning with white and progressing to black. While Lecuyer says most of his students are at the orange level or higher, up to four members will achieve their black belt in the next six months.

"It takes most students under three years to go to a black belt if they stay with it," he says.

Students achieve a higher belt level by travelling to Grandmaster Tae E Lee's Ottawa club for promotion tests which are judged by other black belt holders. Lecuyer is often on the panel of judges. "We look mainly for attitude. Having a good attitude and willingness to learn is extremely important. Ability and things like flexibility come afterward.

"Tae Kwon Do combines a lot of the elements of other types of workouts. You learn self-discipline and self-control, but it's also a cardiovascular workout that works on muscle tone and flexibility," says Lecuyer.



Metcalfe Jets prepare

Metcalfe Jets of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League are aggressively preparing, both on and off the ice, for their fast-approaching Metro Division season. Appearing prior to a recent practice session are Don Gamble, D'Arcy Provost, new head coach Rip Hartly, and Chris Rawlings.

Splinters shatter Inkerman's hopes

WINCHESTER — Powered by Blake Fawcett's two-homerun effort, the Shoneroy Splinters ousted Inkerman Vice 18-7 in the fourth and final game of the 1988 Winchester Lob Ball League A Pool championship series here last Wednesday night.

Shoneroy won the series three games to one to reclaim the A Pool title, lost to the B&D Blue Jays last year. Shoneroy took game one by a narrow 18-16 score. Inkerman bounced back with a 13-8 verdict but fell out of the picture losing 18-14 and 18-7.

Shoneroy and Inkerman Vice finished the regular season in a dead heat atop the A Pool rankings with 36 point apiece. Shoneroy eliminated Top Valu/Hansma two games to one and Inkerman did away with the Blue Knights by the same two-to-one margin in their semi-final series.

Shoneroy ran away with the fourth and final game, leading 2-0 after an inning on a Blake Fawcett homerun (Leo Vanderlaan was on base), 5-0 after two innings, 10-0 after three frames, 14-0 after the fourth and were ahead 15-0 when the Vice finally scored its first run in the sixth.

Inkerman made a last-inning charge at the Splinters as Mark Redmond, Bazil Pemberton, Sandy Johnston, Larry Plummer, Larry Simms and Dwayne Fawcett all scored. Their efforts left them well short at 18-7.

Blake Fawcett, Darrell Shelp, Leo Vanderlaan and Wally Vandekemp paced the champs scoring three runs each. Chuck Verhoveen, Rudy Grisel, Neal Bartholomew, Ron VanKoppen, Brian Koekkoek and Rob Berkvens all scored once. Shelp and Fawcett (2) hit homeruns for the winners.

Rob Saunders took the loss and Blake Fawcett posted the win.

GAME THREE

Inkerman took a 4-0 first-inning lead in game three, scoring on a two-run homerun by Larry Simms and a solo shot by Dwayne Fawcett. Larry Plummer and James Milne also touched home as the Vice surged into the lead.

Don Fawcett made it 5-1 after two innings. Shoneroy got back into the game closing the gap to 9-8 in the third and tied it up 13-13 in the fourth. From that point on the Vice managed just one run in the sixth, as Shoneroy powered its way to an 18-14 decision and a two-games-to-one lead in the best-of-five final.

Leo Vanderlaan, Wally Vandekemp and Blake Fawcett paced the Splinters with three-run efforts. Chuck Verhoveen, Darrell Shelp and Pete Schoones touched the plate twice. Ron VanKoppen, Brian Koekkoek and Rudy Grisel accounted for a run each.

Dwayne Fawcett was the top Inkerman run-producer with three. Larry Plummer, Larry Simms and James Milne scored two runs each. Karl McRoberts, Todd Findlay, Don Fawcett, Rob Saunders and Mark Redmond rounded out the scoring.

Mayhew victorious in A Class battle

WILLIAMSBURG — Brad Mayhew grabbed A Class low gross honors, nipping Bill Mullin on back holes here during the Sept. 8 Cedar Glen Golf Club men's night.

Mayhew's 38 stood up for the victory. Wayne Rodgers nipped Winchester's Lloyd Guy 33 to 33.5 for the A Class net honors.

In the B flight Gary Paquin and Gerry Belanger rose to the top of the field, carding identical 37s.

Paquin was eventually proclaimed winner of the low gross prize on back holes while Belanger settled for runner-up status. Dale Whitteker with a 27.5 and Merle Reaney with a 31 finished in that order in the net score standings.

Bobby Jack Hart was top low gross golfer in the C Class posting a 42. Eric McDermitt was second best with a 45. Jack Hill and Bud Craig topped the net scores with a 30 and 31.

Robert Merkley and Ron Rutley battled it out for the D class low gross, finishing with a 50 and 51 (respectively). Inkerman Station's Harry Thompson carded a 33 and Earl Johnston a 34.5 in the net score race.

LADIES' NIGHT

Cindy Summers topped the A flight, stroking a 48 on the Sept. 7 Ladies' Night. Brenda Waddell won the net prize with a 32.

Shirley Belanger carded a 54 to take the B Class low gross prize. Laurie Hutt was the best net golfer with a 35.5 score.

Diane Van Moorsel stroked a 56 for the best C Class gross score. Thelma Cryderman was the net winner with her 35 score.

Judy Barkley bested the D class field with a gross score of 58 while D. Dewan topped the X class contingent with a 66.

C class net prize winner was Theresa Masterson with a 31.

Pat Wagner won the high score on number four prize, Gabriel Hutton recorded the least number of putts with 14, Laurie Van Hoof hit the hidden score of 56, Shirley Carruthers was closest to the pin on number eight and Bernice Whitteker pounded out the longest drive.

TWO BALL

Bud Craig and Shirley Carruthers captured the Sept. 11 mixed two ball event with a 43.

Roy Hope and Janie Strader matched the hidden hole score of 65 while Malcolm and Stella MacGregor of Morewood took home the hidden hole low prize.

Jeannie Marcellus and Bryan Helmer matched the hidden hole low score and the Faulkners, Jack and Marlene, posted the high score on number eight.

Vikings conquer C Pool title with large late game rally

WINCHESTER — Morewood Vikings produced 11 runs in its final two at bats as they rallied from a 6-3 deficit and defeated the CountryBoy Astros 14-7.

The victory came in the fourth game of their Winchester Lob Ball League best-of-five C Pool championship series and gave the first year franchise its divisional championship in a three games to one decision.

CountryBoy took the opener by a run, winning 14-13. The Vikings bounced back with 9-7 and 14-12 victories and claimed the championship in game four, winning 14-7.

Vince Cousineau gave the Vikes a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the second inning.

CountryBoy struck for five runs in the top of the third as Luc Turgeon, Mark Armstrong, Dan Emon, Dwayne Bazinet and Harry Castle all scored. The Vikings closed the gap to 5-3 in the bottom of that frame when Rene Boulanger and Brian Thatcher scored.

Mark Armstrong opened up a 6-3 difference for the Astros in the fourth and his CountryBoy squad held on to that lead until the bottom of the fifth.

Morewood's bats heated up and the Vikings pounded the ball through the gaps as they roared into a 10-6 lead. Rene Boulanger, Chris McKibbon, Gerald Eby, Vince Cousineau, Brian Como, John Stewart and Jack Herbert all scored to turn the game around.

Rene Boulanger scored on a Brian Thatcher homerun to kick off the Morewood sixth. Vince Cousineau and Brian Como scored before the inning was over to push the Vikings into a 14-6 lead.

CountryBoy managed a seventh run in the top of the seventh when Sam Gibson scored, but the Astro's rally fell short and the Vikings locked up its championship.

John Stewart pitched the win for Morewood. Dan Emon and Ron Morrow shared the hill duties for CountryBoy.

Frankly speaking

WINTARIO ENDS SUMMER AND WASN'T IT A GREAT ONE?

Our summer programs came to a close last Thursday when the Winchester 100 Club presented the weekly Wintario draw live from the Winchester Arena. Once again, the club did a first- class job and as they did during centennial, everyone turned out in great numbers to help and it showed. Thanks again guys for your co-operation and organization. Your show came off great thanks to your efforts. I am sure that your pre-television entertainment is seldom matched and the TV people were really impressed by the quality of the performers. It was indeed a big summer which will live long in the memories of all who attended the many events which came off so well. It is not an easy task to put together the many events that were held, and it is an impossibility to give individual thanks to the many deserving hands that did the work, but your efforts will long be remembered by the recognition that our little town received and after all, that is what we strove to accomplish in this, our big year. I have never experienced more co-operation and devotion than was demonstrated by the many groups who participated, as well as the hundreds of little things that individuals contributed throughout the town to make our centennial year the best ever.

NOW ON TO THE WINTER

In spite of the beautiful weather which is not what we hope for when we are making ice, things are still progressing well as we prepare the arena for what we hope is another busy year. The plant was turned on last Friday and as the week begins, we are well on our way to having things going full swing by the weekend. Thanks again to the generosity of the local Legion Branch, we are sporting a much safer and better ice surface area. During the last few weeks we have completely rebuilt both ends of the arena as well as installing new players' boxes, new doors and new thresholds. This is as far as we can go this fall but if we are successful in obtaining a Wintario grant (which will not be announced until December), we will finish the job in the spring. It takes a lot of money to do a major overhaul and it is only because the Legion made $10,000 available that we were even able to accomplish the first stage of our plans. Thanks again guys and gals. You will be proud of your accomplishments when you visit the arena.

MIXED PARTY AND WEDDING THIS WEEKEND

A mixed party will be held in the upstairs hall this Friday night and this week the guests of honor will be Patricia Curtis and Steven Prince. Music by MoJo. Saturday, an open reception will be held following the wedding of Kathy Kerr and Keith Moore. Proper dress please.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JESSIE

Just wouldn't want to say how old she is, but for as long as many of us oldtimers remember, we have had a special place in our hearts for a great lady who celebrated a birthday last week. Although she is not quite as agile as she once was, she still has a great interest in sports and her community in which she played a great part over the years. From your hundreds of friends who love you, Jessie, a very happy birthday. Just think in another 50 years, you will be 140.

Selects sweep through playoffs

WINCHESTER — Chesterville Selects was the only Winchester Lob Ball League team to sweep to a Pool championship this season.

The Selects eliminated the Backes and Drewery Blue Jays, defending A Pool champs, in three games, to become the 1988 WLBL championship.

Actually the Selects, who finished first in the B Pool pennant race, never lost a playoff game this year. They took out the Stage West crew in two games winning 6-1 and 29-12 to advance to the final round.

The Blue Jays, number two in the regular season rankings (two points behind Chesterville), eliminated the 40 Pounders two games to one, to grab the other final round berth.

Chesterville won the opener 23-6, went up two-games-to-nothing winning game two 18-10 and put the championship away last Wednesday, scoring six runs in the bottom of the seventh in a come-from-behind 11-8 victory.

Gary Beckstead's three-run homerun with two out in the bottom of the seventh inning of game three, snapped an 8-8 tie and powered Chesterville on to its 11-8 win.

Rob Horton had raced home in the top of the seventh inning to put the Blue Jays up 8-5 but Chesterville rallied in the game's final at bat to steal the win. Lyle Servage and Don Imrie scored with two out and closed the gap to 8-7. Neil Beckstead, who pitched the win, tied it up 8-8. Greg Beckstead and Pat Imrie were on base when Garry Beckstead ended it with a towering three-run homerun.

Greg Beckstead homered in the second and scored three runs for the Selects. Lyle Servage and Donnie Imrie touched home twice while Neil Beckstead, Pat Imrie, Garry Beckstead and Randy Elliott each supplied a run.

Kevin Gowdy powered the Blue Jays' attack slugging a pair of homeruns. He clubbed a two-run shot in the first and a three-run banger in the third inning. Rob Horton, Bruce Pelkey, Perry Marriner, Pete Marriner, Matt Krisjanis and Barry Redmond scored the other Jays' runs.

Bob Deleavey was the scoring hero in game two, crossing the plate four times in Chesterville's 18-10 win.

Garry Beckstead homered and scored three runs. Lyle Servage also made it home three times. Neil Beckstead, Greg Beckstead and Shawn Chambers came in twice. Sean Boulerice and Don Imrie completed the scoring, adding a run each.

The Blue Jays took a 6-2 lead in the bottom of the second inning and were tied at seven after three. Chesterville turned the tide taking a 13-7 lead in the fourth.

Kevin Gowdy homered and scored two runs for the Blue Jays. Matt Krisjanis also supplied two runs. Perry Marriner, John Patterson, Dan Lecours, Dan Krisjanis, Bruce Pelkey and Rob Horton accounted for the other runs.

Chesterville unleashed a devastating attack in the opening encounter, running to a 23-6 victory.

Garry Beckstead led the charge pounding three homeruns, two grand salamis. He also made it home four times. Greg Beckstead and Pat Imrie also produced four runs apiece. Don Imrie came home three times. Neil Beckstead, Bob Deleavey and Lyle Servage scored twice. Randy Elliott and Brent Fawcett scored a run each.

Pete Marriner replied with three runs for the Jays. Kevin Gowdy scored twice while Matt Krisjanis, Dan Lecours, John Patterson and Dave Coleman collected a run each.

Larry Shields scores twice to lead Leafs to 4-2 win

METCALFE — Larry Shields potted a pair of goals here Sunday, leading the Dan Morris Equipment Leafs to their second Metcalfe Town Hockey League victory in as many weeks.

Shields also set up a goal in the Leafs 4-2 win over the Bradley Computax Canadiens.

In the other MTHL match-up Rob Renaud fired in the winning goal as the Mike's Restaurant Hawks nipped the winless Wichers Construction Bruins 3-1.

After two weeks of play, the Leafs top the standings with four points, both the Hawks and Canadiens have two points while the Bruins are still looking for their first point.

Rob Renaud and Tyrone Franey of the Hawks each have four points and are tied for the scoring lead. Jeff Stanley, Rob Renaud and Dan Rausch all have three goals and lead in that department.

Wes Kinkade took a pass from Larry Shields and Jeff Crerar and put the Leafs into a 1-0 lead at 1:47 of the first period.

Canadiens tied it up 1-1 at 13:07 of period two when Marc Cousineau converted a play, started by Bill O'Brien and Mike Foubert, into his first goal of the young season.

Larry Shields' first goal of the game was set up by Steve Kennedy and Mike Stanley at 6:41 of the middle frame and put the Leafs up 2-1 on the Canadiens.

The Leafs surged ahead 4-1 on a pair of late markers. Leo Campbell made it a 3-1 contest, scoring from Steve Wade with 2:37 left in the encounter and then Shields hit on an unassisted play with 1:14 left.

Bill O'Brien ripped in a Marc Cousineau - Mike Roqueburne relay with seven seconds remaining in the game to pull the Canadiens to within two at 4-2.

Bill Jamieson worked the Leafs' cage for the win while Mike Preston took the loss.

HAWKS WIN

Dan Rausch put the Mike's Restaurant Hawks into an early first-period lead scoring from Tyrone Franey and Dan Morris at 12:28.

Rob Renaud then made it a 2-0 contest, scoring on a play engineered by Tony Hendrikx and Erin Franey with 8:46 left in period two.

The Bruins finally got into the game with 2:43 left on the clock. Phil Quinn ruined Bill Jamieson's shutout when he split the difference at 2-1. Keith Benn and Kevin Downey assisted on the goal.

Tyrone Franey dashed any hopes the Bruins had for a comeback when he scored, unassisted, with 1:32 left in the game to hand the Hawks a 3-1 decision.

North Dundas juniors open with victory

MAPLE RIDGE — Trent Antille booted in a pair of goals, leading the North Dundas Devils to a 3-2 SD&G junior boys' soccer league victory over LaCitadelle here last Thursday.

In the afternoon's other encounter the senior Patriotes nipped the host Dundas Devils one-nil. Both matches were the opening contests of the 1988 SD&G boys' high school soccer season.

Junior Devils' coach Phil Plumb reported both matches were very well played and exciting, noting the seniors ran into a hot goalkeeper in their one-nil loss but did control portions of the game.

His junior squad, who he said, "came very close in every game last year, only to lose in most cases 2-1 or 1-0 but just couldn't win," looked strong and his eight subs controlled the play when they were on the field.

Trent Antille led the junior Devils to its 3-2 victory, scoring two goals. Bryan Helmer kicked in the other marker. First-year players Corey VanDelst and Simon Wilson shared the goal-keeping duties.

North Dundas won't host another game until Oct. 6 when the powerful Tagwi Warriors will pay a visit. In the meantime the Devils travel to St. Joseph's to meet the Panthers, Char-Lan to play Crusaders and to Iroquois to play the Seaway District High Spartans.

Septic systems to be surveyed

METCALFE — About 300 residents here can expect to be visited by Ministry of Environment officials over the next month, as they begin a survey of the village's septic systems.

"Our approach will be to go door-to-door," said MOE official Greg Montcalme. "We want to collect information on the septic systems currently in use."

When the survey is complete, the ministry will turn the results over to a project priority evaluation committee which will determine whether to allocate funds for an independent consultant's report.

Montcalme says the evaluation committee will have to decide priority projects across the province before making its decision. If a consultant's report is carried out, it will be funded by the ministry, the Regional Municipality of Ottawa-Carleton and the Township of Osgoode.

Broomball action kicks off Sunday

WINCHESTER — A full four game slate will open the 1988-89 Winchester and District Broomball campaign here this Sun., Sept. 25.

The WDBL is also looking forward to hosting another regional tournament in the spring as Eastern Ontario's top mens, ladies and junior teams compete for the right to represent this area at the Ontario championships.

This Sunday action at the local level kicks off the broomball season.

In a 7pm contest the Newington Knights will face the Morewood Vikings.

At 8pm Ormond Cloverdales and Russell's Magnum Force hook up.

Defending A pool champion Dunbar Panthers will tangle with the Winchester Raiders at 9pm.

In the evening's finale Prescott Road Knights will meet the Toyes Hill Roadrunners.

WDBL action continues throughout the season each Sunday evening at the Winchester and District Arena.

Swing & sweep

An event, run in conjunction with the Winchester Curling Club, will mark the end of the golf season.

The Winchester Curling Club and Cedar Glen will host a Swing and Sweep tournament on Sat., Oct. 15.

The event will feature nine holes of golf and an eight-end curling match. The $15 entry fee includes a lunch and a barbecue.

Oct. 1 has been pegged as the deadline for entries and all registrations will be handled by the curling club.

Double the fun

John Pollock and his daughter Emily, of Winchester, decided to double their fun during the annual Terry Fox Run held at North Dundas District High School Sunday. They were among 55 participants who raised $3,200 for cancer research. Press Photo—O'Brien

Hallville women review OMAF film

HALLVILLE — 'September is a Wonderful Month' was the opening thought when Hallville UCW met September 8 at the home of Pam Sherrer. Twenty ladies provided a variety of answers to the roll call which was "were you raised on a farm or do you presently earn your living by farming?"

The social committee informed us that we would be providing the luncheon for a 104th birthday party for Elizabeth Christie to be held in Hallville United Church on Oct. 2.

Fundraising continues to make plans for our bazaar, 'Country Crafts and Christmas Treasures' to be held on Nov. 5.

It was reported that eight campers from the Hallville area attended Rideau Hill Camp this summer.

A thank you was extended to Carol Allan for organizing a most enjoyable outing to Montebello and the Lachute Flea Market.

The program portion of the meeting conducted by Betty Milne Louise Shaw and Marie Zwarts dealt with Concerns of Rural Canada.

Louise began on a lighter note, with the tale of a city gal moving to the country being assured of all the virtues of country living, most especially, clean air. She questioned this promise citing as examples, the spreading of manure, chaff and engine grease. She asks "where is all this cleanliness?"

We completed an interesting quiz of Food and Farm Facts and then viewed an OMAF film depicting the farming industry in terms of the provider, producer and the marketer. Even the life-long farm people among us surely learned something from this film.

The program concluded with an over-view of what the United Church can do to those experiencing farm crisis. The emotional strain can be great especially for those faced with losing the family farm of many generations. We can provide pastoral care to these people with their uncertain futures.

Prayer, asking that God's love blow over our lands was a fitting close.

Food and fellowship concluded our time together.

To marry

VERSPEEK — GAUDET

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Verspeek and Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Gaudet are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their children, Angela Maria to Georges Ernest. The wedding is to take place on Sat., Oct. 1, 1988 at 4pm at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Chesterville.

Sponsors impressed by participation

WINCHESTER — They were running, biking and walking, all for a good cause.

About 55 people joined in the annual Terry Fox Run at North Dundas District High School Sunday morning, raising $3,200 for cancer research.

The run was sponsored by the Chesterville Rotary Club. Rotarian John Roosendaal said the turnout was even greater than last year.

"The weather was better than last year," he said. "And with our population base in Winchester and Chesterville the amount raised was quite impressive."

There were no injuries or pull outs along the 10-kilometre route. Most people preferred to walk the route but Roosendaal said there were many different types of people participating.

"We had one guy who came with three small children and a dog," said Roosendaal. "It was good for him because the oldest fellow could run and the dog could run. I think the dog had more trouble than anybody."
