Great Evening For Lions, Guests At Christmas Party

Santa Claus was greeted by a full house at Iroquois Civic Centre on Saturday night as Iroquois Lions Club put on its annual Christmas party and ladies night. The hall was filled to capacity and the head table had to be set up on the stage for the evening's program. President Gordon Markell welcomed everyone and turned the master of ceremonies task over to Bill Cherry, who handled the position admirably.

Following invocation by Rev. Alan Rogers, The Queen and introduction of the head table by Bill Cherry, the Lions Code of Ethics was presented by Gary Barkey. The dinner swung into full gear with Rev. Brian Gee leading in the singing of Christmas carols, and Mrs. Charles McInnis at the piano. The toast to the ladies was given by Bert VanBoven and replied to by Mrs. Ruth Styles. After a break was in charge of the draws which saw many fine gifts presented. The ladies were all presented with ash trays with a coloured picture of the Seaway locks at Iroquois, while Santa cavorted with the ladies.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a cheque for $1000 from the Lions to the Village of Iroquois, with Reeve Lloyd C. Davis accepting the cheque from Brian Gee. This is the first of the total $10,000 pledged by the Lions to the new medical building to be built this coming year just opposite the shopping plaza.

Another fine part of the evening was the drawing for two gifts to the Lions Club, a picture painted by Rev. Brian Gee depicting a farm scene in Matilda Township of a windmill near Hairsville. It was won by Mahlon Zeron. A beautiful wine bottle, hand painted by another Iroquois artist, Mrs. Dominic (Cook) Sisty was won by Mrs. Harry Van Morsel. The money received from these draws will go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children by request of the donors. Several ties were purchased from Lions during the evening and this money also went to the Society.

Dinner music was supplied by Styles and McIntosh and George Barkley's orchestra played for dancing following the dinner meeting. Ladies of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary catered a marvelous turkey dinner.

Christmas Is Drawing Nigh At A Rapid Pace

The lack of snow on the ground may have lulled us all into thinking that Christmas just can't be all that close, but one look at the calendar and we realize just how mistaken we are. And how late we've again left our own Christmas shopping.

A resolution made some years ago that we'd do our shopping in September and October has yet to be realized, but we're not alone. How many have finished their Christmas shopping?

The stores are taking on a festive appearance all over the country and while we may have to shiver a bit more this Winter if the fuel supply dwindles, we can always put on that sweater given us at Christmas. The thought brings back memories when clothes were the first consideration as a Christmas gift, and if there was enough money left, then a toy would be added. It was not uncommon to get just one or two toys and several items of good clothing, in a time when that was the practical thing to do.

Gradually the spirit of Christmas developed on a commercial basis far faster than on the spiritual theme and toys by the thousands hit the market. This year won't be much different but it could just be that there will be more of a return to clothing gifts this year than for many years past.

Not that we're against giving toys for yule gifts...but more and more people may look at the more practical aspect of warmth before other pleasures.

Could be we'll see a return, at least partial, to the "good old days".

Remember the popcorn balls on the tree and the fruit that only came in at Christmas? It wasn't all that bad a time now was it?

Now We Know

Canada is going to have some shortages of energy this coming Winter but with cooperation from all citizens, the problems should be minimized.

Cutting the thermostat back to 70, keeping the car down to 50 miles an hour, turning off lights that you're not using, fixing those dripping hot water taps, and many other means of cutting down could help a great deal. Another suggestion by the government is to only burn your Christmas lights for a short period of time at Christmas.

Many people have looked forward to driving around the community to see the wide variety of lights these past years and perhaps missing some of them for one year might bring better appreciation of why they are put up in the first place.

So all we can say about the saving of energy in any of its forms is "let your conscience be your guide".

THIS WEEK

from Ottawa

ENERGY CONSERVATION

On Tuesday of last week, Energy Minister Donald Macdonald outlined in the House of Commons a voluntary program of energy conservation immediately, to be followed by a program of mandatory allocations in the new year.

The Energy Minister asked Canadians to lower their thermostats, reduce their driving speed, form car pools and cut down on Christmas lighting, in homes and commercially.

Mr. Macdonald announced that both the provincial and federal governments will reduce the use of heating oil in government buildings - in federal buildings, this move will result in a reduction of 18%.

These programs are designed to deal with shortages brought about by cutbacks in Arab production.

OIL PIPELINE

The Prime Minister said in the House of Commons that Canada's pipeline from Sarnia eastward will be built with federal government funds if private industry is not willing to invest in it. The pipeline is expected to be completed by the end of 1975.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT

The House of Commons gave final approval to the federal government's foreign investment bill. Introduced in January by Industry, Trade and Commerce Minister Alastair Gillespie, the bill would establish a screening agency for some foreign investment and restrict expansion of foreign controlled firms.

$250 PENSION BY 1984

National Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde told a Toronto audience that Canada Pension Plan benefits will increase to about $250 a month in the next 10 years.

At present, the federal and provincial governments have put together legislation to establish a maximum pensionable earnings level of $6,600 a year in 1974, and $7,000 in 1975.

LIBERALS WIN IN NFLD

Roger Simmons, a 34-year-old school board superintendent, won the riding of Hermitage for the Liberals in a provincial by-election in Newfoundland. The seat was formerly held by a Conservative.

Standing in the Newfoundland Legislature is Liberals 9, Progressive Conservatives 32 and New Labrador Party 1.

NEW SOCRED LEADER

William R. Bennett, in a first ballot victory, was chosen leader of the Social Credit Party in British Columbia. He succeeds his father, former B.C. Premier W.A.C. Bennett.

THE ENERGY CRISIS MAY BE GOOD FOR US

by Bill Smiley

It seems that in the Seventies, the whole world is lurching, as most of us do in our private lives, from one crisis to another. Crippling strikes, crippling food prices, crippling political scandals, and now the energy crisis, so-called.

A crisis may be defined as a turning point. Perhaps it's time we reached some turning points and did some turning in new directions.

What so many people of the affluent post-war years don't realize is that crises are nothing new. Every generation faces them, meets them, and resolves them, somehow.

War, depression, another war, the bomb. All these have been universal crises in this century. Beside those big ones, a hike in the price of beef is less than monumental, and even the expected energy crisis is small potatoes. (I must be hungry.)

If the energy crisis becomes more than newspaper headlines, and shortages and rationing occur, it might be the best thing that has happened to the fat-cat Western world for generations.

We are in grave danger of turning into slob, physically, mentally, emotionally and morally. Maybe we need a good purge, in the form of a sharp cut-back in our soft way of living. Get rid of some of the fat, even if it requires a surgeon's knife.

Take a day in the life of an average family. Someone, very often the husband in these degenerate days, gets up first and turns the thermostat up to seventy. The beast in the basement starts gulping more energy.

Our friend shaves with his electric razor. He goes down and gets his orange juice out of another beast that has been burning electricity all night, producing nothing. Then he flips on two burners on the electric stove, one for coffee, one for bacon and eggs. When they're ready, he jams some bread into the electric toaster.

Then the mother stumbles down and turns the burners back on. Father drives the eight blocks to work, stinking up the environment and burning energy. The kids waffle off to a school which is probably burning far more tons of coal a day than it needs to. That school has thousands of lights which are on even on a bright day.

At home friend wife throws the laundry into an automatic washer which uses large quantities of hot water which has taken a fair amount of electricity to produce. Then it goes into the automatic dryer, run by electricity. Then she tackles the ironing, and we all know what heats an iron in this day.

She decides to wash her hair. More hot water. Then she sits under the electric dryer with fresh coffee made on the stove burner. At this time of year, probably half the lights in the house are on, merrily chewing up the watts.

And so it goes, right across the land, all day long. The television set burns juice far into the night. Advertising signs pop on and eat more juice. Industry belches its wastes and burns energy with a lavish hand.

Right now, in our kitchen, the electric oven is glowing red. It will be for the next two hours. Know what's in it? One large potato, being baked.

Multiply the juice being consumed by this one family by about five million in Canada alone and I think you'll agree that we're a pretty extravagant, even sluttish lot, when it comes to being prodigal with natural resources that are going to be exhausted and can never be replaced.

And I haven't even mentioned such ridiculousities as electric tooth-brushes and electric carving knives.

Don't get me wrong. I'm no Spartan. I'll drive to work rather than walk. And leave that great hulking, rusting monster, that required so much energy to be built and burns up so much more, sitting in the parking lot all day.

The point is, I could walk to work, and it wouldn't hurt me. In fact, it would be jolly good for me.

And I don't expect my wife to get out the scrub-board and wash her hair in rain-water. But it might be jolly good for her, if she had to. Women, and men, have too much time these days to sit around and worry about their nerves.

Our fairly immediate ancestors didn't have time for nerves and ulcers. They didn't need pick-up pills to get going. There was no alternative to just getting going.

They didn't need three martinis to whet their appetites. They were just plain hungry. Nor did they need sleeping pills to get off at night. They were just plain pooped.

I'm not scared of an energy crisis. It might even be interesting. Anyway, I have my own energy crisis every day, when the alarm goes off at 7.15. That's what I call a real crisis.

The Man Who Shot At His Wife And Missed

Consider this worm that was Percival Shea.

How he sidles and cringes and edges away!

Not once in his life has he doubled his fist—

Since the night that he shot at his wife and missed.

Now, Percival once was a regular chap,

Who sometimes said "Hell no;" or "Aw, shut your trap!"

And sometimes planned things that were even more vicious, Like pelting his wife with an armful of dishes.

He repressed these emotions for seventeen years;

He bore with her tantrums, her nagging, her tears.

But in Percival's soul was one fibre not craven—

One strain from an ancestor tough and unshaven.

And at length when the course of his patience was run,

He pawned her best tea set and purchased a gun.

And he came home in triumph, and hoisted his feet

Upon the piano and bellowed: "Let's eat!"

And he scattered his ashes all over the floor,

And he gobbled an apple and stepped on the core,

And when she came charging at him in a passion

He whipped out his weapon in nonchalant fashion.

He held her at bay, and she whimpered and paled;

"You'll swing for this, Percival!" wildly she wailed.

But Percival threw back his shoulders and hissed;

"Sic semper tyrannis!" And fired, And missed.

And that is why Percival Shea today

Is pallid, and withered, and shriveled away.

They call him the man with the unsteady wrist;

The world knows the story of just how he missed.

And tell me, all you who have suffered privation,

Defeat, disappointment or humiliation—

Is there any failure as abject as this:

To aim at your wife, and shoot, and miss?

Good Companions Christmas Buffet

At the Civic Centre, on Wed. Dec. 12th at 12:30 noon, Good Companions, Iroquois and Matilda, will celebrate a Christmas party, with all the trimmings.

Later in the afternoon, Santa Claus will start our Christmas gift exchange. Each member is asked to bring a gift that is worth not more than a dollar, and clearly marked 'lady' or 'man'. There are many more ladies than men, like 8 to 3 ratio.

At the Board of Directors' meeting that was held at the Drop-in Centre on Nov. 21st, it was decided also that the major items for the Christmas meal would be arranged through the Board, and that members should chose one of the following items as their share of the menu: jellied, tossed or cabbage salad, rolls and dessert. One food item only per household is required, and each member should remember to bring his Christmas tree gift, clearly marked.

At the December meeting of Good Companions there will be no business, and party dresses are optional, if you wish, for they lend colour and atmosphere. A la suite, a Christmas program will be arranged by the Program Convenor, Charlie McInnis. Good Companions, Iroquois and Matilda, mark your calendars for Wednesday, Dec. 12, 12:30 noon, and help to make our first Christmas party one to be remembered!

Hunter Pays Stiff Fine

A Kemptville man who shot two ducks Oct. 6 in Marlborough Township and didn't bother to retrieve them from a pond received a stiff fine for his lack of sporting ethics Friday in Provincial Magistrate's Court in Ottawa.

James Hodgson, 25, was fined $100 for failing to retrieve the birds and for not wearing a hunter's back patch.

Before the fine was announced, Crown Attorney Albert Roy, MLA for Ottawa-East, asked Judge Harry Williams to consider that hundreds of birds are shot and left by a minority of the hunting population in Ontario every year and that, among other things, it was a deplorable waste of game.

Two other hunters who accompanied Mr. Hodgson on the shoot had already pleaded guilty to various other offences they were charged with by Ontario ministry of natural resources conservation officer Bill Crawford and RCMP corporal Bob Beckwith. They were on patrol in the area at the time.

William Somerville, 18, of Toronto, was fined $25 for not possessing a provincial hunting licence and $35 for carrying an unplugged shotgun.

Peter Van, 18, of St. Catharines, was also fined $25 for not possessing a provincial hunting licence and $25 for not possessing a federal migratory bird permit.

Inject New Vigour Into Your Livestock with Shur-Gain Injectable Vitamins A,D and E

In situations where stress conditions, over-work, or inadequate feeding have caused vitamin deficiencies, vigour and good health can often be fully restored with SHUR-GAIN INJECTABLE VITAMINS A, D AND E.

Incoming feeders (cattle and sheep), bulls in service, high producing and freshening cows, prevention of scours, getting newborn animals off to a healthy start . . . these and other situations prove the value of injectable vitamins A, D and E.

Cattle, horses, swine and sheep can all benefit from SHUR-GAIN INJECTABLE VITAMINS . . . where the highly concentrated solution permits small volume injections, and rapid treatment of large numbers of animals.

Wage Dispute Settled

Events of the past week or so would indicate that our high schools will not be empty when the winter term begins in January after all. Those school boards, faced by the possibility of mass resignations of teachers, have come to a satisfactory financial settlement and business in the high schools, if not in separate schools, will go on as usual. We can all be thankful that good sense on all sides has prevailed.

During the past several weeks, however, a great deal of misinformation and even misunderstanding has characterized what at times has been a rather emotional situation. Now that the crisis is over, we might well examine the way in which the system presently operates.

Central to this whole issue has been the Provincial Government Limitations on increases in educational spending - the so-called "ceilings". Let's be very clear about one very important fact about these "ceilings". When they were first introduced by the Davis Government in 1971, they were not intended to operate as a "freeze" on expenditures at the level that existed at that time and they have not done so. Total spending, both at the elementary and secondary level has increased since then and I suppose, if we look at it realistically, it always will. The "ceilings" were intended, however, to place limitations on the amounts of these increases and to this end they have been very successful.

In 1950, we spent $113 million on education. The government of the day foresaw the advent of the postwar baby boom and to accommodate it, education became our top priority. By 1970 our education bill was $2 billion and spiralling. In the 1960's costs increased at a rate of 18 to 20% per year.

The rate of increase in the last three years prior to the imposition of the ceilings had slowed somewhat but was still at an annual average of 13%. If that rate were permitted to continue, the $2 billion in 1970 would become over $4 billion in 1975, a figure we simply could not sustain economically.

At the same time, statistics gathered by the Ministry of Education showed conclusively that elementary school enrolment peaked in 1971 and would follow a decreasing trend into the 1980's. Secondary enrolments, which have now levelled off, will peak in 1975, and also decline thereafter to the mid-1980's. The inescapable conclusion is that a continuation of spending does not materially add to the quality of education--hence the limitations on increases in the budget.

Currently the Ontario Government pays 60% of the total cost of education in Ontario below the university level. This itself is an increase this year from 50% in order to help reduce the burden of property tax. The remaining 40% of these costs is borne by ratepayers and represents from 50 to 60% of total property tax. Increases in education costs would tend to increase both the personal income tax and property tax burden at the same time.

The Ministry has the power to hold the line on costs at each level of taxation by limiting school board expenditures on a per pupil basis. It then makes a grant to the board of the Provincial share. There are really no strings attached to this grant and it is up to the school board to spend that money any way it sees fit. Any negotiations must therefore be between the teachers and the local boards of education. The Government will not interfere with local autonomy in settling these questions. To do so would be to deny our belief in the decentralization of authority to local government.

Many have said that the ceilings, while necessary, are too restrictive. This year due to inflationary pressures, increases of 7.9% were permitted.

Knox PYPS Plan Christmas Dinner

The regular meeting of the Knox P. Y. P. S. was held in the church hall Monday evening, December 3rd, with 12 members and leaders answering the roll call. Margaret Dewit chaired the meeting and gave leadership to the opening worship. Romans 12:9-18 was read by John Dewit, and the responsive prayer "For the Healing of the Nations" was read. Mrs. Lorraine Norton gave a reading entitled "To See Things Right". The offering was received by Norman Ladouceur and dedicated with group prayer.

The study for the evening was conducted by Melvin Yee and Margaret Dewit, entitled Mission - What for and for Whom? The membership was divided into two groups for study of selected questions, with report backs by Rose Marie Lavallie and Lorraine Norton. The Rev. Hibbs presented the film "The Light" and a brief question period followed.

Both the secretary's minutes and the Treasurer's report were heard and duly adopted. Members were reminded that all receipts from calendar, candle, and pen sales must be turned in to the treasurer by December 14th, the date of the annual P. Y. P. S. Christmas Dinner. It was agreed to hold a bowling outing following the dinner and to exchange gifts. Invitations would be sent to former members to participate.

Miss Yee presented a report on the projector project and noted that proceeds were now all in. The young people decided to pick up the balance, when all receipts are in from outstanding project sales. The Minister reported on the Centenary Committee's meeting at the manse, and noted some exciting things planned to observe the 100th year of Knox Church. A report from a meeting of the Presbytery Youth Council, resolved that a letter be written expressing the concern of the group regarding both the format of the organization and the vision for the future. Melvin Yee reported on the centennial banner project, and it was agreed to have a resource person visit the team to discuss this matter. A notice from the Board of Managers was read, relative to new heating regulations for meetings, and the temperatures to be followed.

Lorraine Norton and Gail Fuisse were appointed to conduct the next meeting's study; other appointed for the refreshments and recreation. Following a game period conducted by the Minister, a delicious lunch was enjoyed, and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Knox Pageant This Sunday

The annual Advent Pageant of the Knox Presbyterian Church School will be held in the sanctuary this coming Sunday evening, Dec. 9th, entitled "Bethlehem and Beyond" and as part of the curriculum of studies in the Church School this year on the "Knowing, Doing, and Being of the Christian Life". The Knox Junior Choir will give the back-drop music to the pageant, and all departments of the Church School will be participating, with the Nursery, Kindergarten, Primary members offering an opening choral selection of their own.

The pageant will commence at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by the traditional Christmas Tree gifts and a visit from Santa.

Three scenes will be depicted by the pupils of the Church School in the pageant presentation, relating the Knowing of the Word, the Adoration of the Word, and Thanksgiving for the Word in biblical and modern context. The second scene on the Adoration of the Word will feature three youth-teachers doing a special choreography number to music, expressing the various aspects of prayer.

All parents, families of the congregation, and interested friends of the community are most cordially invited to share in this Advent season drama-in-worship presentation by the Knox Church School.

Recreation Tips

Snowmobiling is already under way in some parts of Ontario so it's time to start planning for a safe, trouble-free season.

The Ontario Safety League strongly advises joining a snowmobile club. Newcomers to the sport will receive operator training and the help of experienced snowmobilers. It is vitally important to know how to safely operate your machine and be aware of your responsibilities under Ontario snowmobile regulations and municipal laws.

Ontario accident statistics show the use of public thoroughfares and resultant collisions with motor vehicles account for a high percentage of snowmobile fatalities. So it is advisable to confine your operation to snowmobile areas and well-marked trails.

Snowmobile clubs and resorts are reminded that the Ontario Safety League has just received their new stock of trail markers, including danger, directional and prohibitive signs. A new item this year is reflective tape which is especially valuable for marking trails which have heavy night use.

For detailed information, contact: Ontario Safety League, 409 King St. West, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McInnis Honoured On Departure

On Sunday evening at the White Church, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McInnis gathered to honour this couple, who have recently left the area, to take up residence in Morrisburg. Mahlon Zeron spoke warmly about the dedication of both of these fine people, and also of sister Grace McInnis. He noted their long and selfless service to the Church, which for them is a second home.

In replying, Mr. McInnis thanked the gathering for their goodness in honouring them as they did, and for the kind words of the evening. He assured all present that though they now lived in Morrisburg, they are still concerned for the life of White Church, and that as long as it is possible, they will be continuing to work in the life of this congregation. The evening began with a hymn sing, and as the time went on, Carol and Robert Thompson sang a couple of numbers. Refreshments were served as all present exchanged good conversation and pleasant memories. Several friends from the Village of Iroquois were present, to mark the occasion.

Walter Baker M.P. Reports

Mr. Walter Baker: Mr. Speaker, on July 23, 1973, as recorded at page 5870 of Hansard, I directed a question to the President of the Treasury Board (Mr. Drury) with regard to a problem that has been rampant in the Public Service of Canada, namely, the practice of what is commonly called rug-ranking. I asked the minister whether he would consider replacing that unfair and discriminatory practice with a system which would provide for promotion by way of merit for secretaries in the public service. I asked this question particularly in view of the fact that other professional groups in the public service have enjoyed such assistance for more than a decade.

In his answer, the minister did not respond to the question put to him. I think what he said could properly be described as an impressive defence of the status quo. The purpose of the question was to secure recognition of the duties actually performed by secretaries in the public service. I want to point out that secretarial work was not always considered to be women's work. Despite opposition to women in the labour force, many women continued to seek and find employment in government service and elsewhere almost a century ago. In 1885, only 23 of more than 4,000 civil servants were women and one-third of these were third-class clerks - the lowest level - in the Post Office Department. But times have changed and women now make up an important part of the public service.

In 1970, the Royal Commission on the Status of Women made a special recommendation to the federal government with regard to the ST occupational group. In the chapter headed "Women in the Canadian economy", the commission stated that the present system of classifying STs, referred to as rug-ranking, seriously infringed on the rights of individuals to equitable treatment and placed secretaries in a position in which their pay was dependent on the pay received by others. The Royal Commission on the Status of Women echoed some earlier findings in a study made for the Public Service Commission. It went on to say: The career structure of STs looks more like a steeple than a pyramid. This is attributable to rug-ranking which not only curtails opportunities for STs but means that lower level officers whose work requires a very good secretary either cannot get one, or, should they succeed in getting an exceptional stenographer, cannot treat her fairly, or increase the chances of her staying by rewarding her adequately. This form of linking of the fate of secretaries to the fate of their bosses has another interesting "hooker" in it; a woman of St-6 level or higher may well find herself in a state of suspended animation should the boss leave the public service since the incoming boss will be inclined to promote his own secretary.

Lately, with full implementation of the Public Service Commission's bilingualism program and the realization that bilingual secretaries' quotas which once seemed safely far away are already looming on the horizon, the ST classification system has acquired still another "hooker". A number of recommendations have been made, and in my view they should be taken up by the government. First, with respect to the language question, there ought to be a standard testing system uniformly administered. A second language training course for secretaries should be developed and instituted by the language bureau. Increased access to French language training in all aspects, reading, writing and comprehension should be made possible.

These are not the end of the recommendations which have been made on the matter. I commend this brief to the government. With respect to the revision of the ST classification standard, may I say that approximately 15,000 employees are classified as STs in the administrative support category of the public serve. The STs have the specialized skills of typing, working with dictaphones or taking shorthand dictation and transcribing it. Many of them have the added and demonstrated ability to perform as executive assistants to management executives. If the present system of rug-ranking is not curtailed, these latter abilities will not be allowed to flower.

A further recommendation which I pass on to the government is that as an alternative to rug-ranking, a point rating system be developed, that there be an immediate reevaluation of the ST group and of ST positions, and that a full examination of promotion, training, career development and mobility opportunities be made. Another recommendation is as follows: That the administrative and attitude barriers be removed that prevent STs from entering competitions for other categories. The objective of the Public Service of Canada and all of those who perform services on behalf of the people of Canada for the Government of Canada and those of us that work in this chamber ought to be that the best and fairest system possible be applied; that a person be permitted to advance on his or her own merits. With respect to those in the ST categories, that facility and avenue is sadly lacking. I hope that as a result of this debate and the questions which preceded it, the government will take a long, serious and hard look at the problem of those who are caught in this dilemma.

Peters, medical officer of health, congratulated the organizers of the service for their work. Miss T. Pelletier and Mrs. Lou Ware spoke of the success of the inauguration of the project.

The supervisor will have her office at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital where she may be reached at 774-2420 or 984-2680. Openings are still available for those interested in becoming Red Cross Homemakers.

Official Road Openings

The warden and members of the Advisory Roads Committee of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, are pleased to announce the official opening of County Road No. 3, from King's Highway 31 to County Road No. 2, in the Townships of Winchester and Mountain; the Winchester Spring Bridge, on County Road No. 5, in the Police Village of Winchester Springs; and the Black Creek Bridge, on County Road No. 1, south of Hanesville, in the Township of Matilda.

R.M. Kostuch Associates Ltd. were retained for the design and supervision of the 7.4 mile road reconstruction, and for both bridge projects.

On June 15, 1972, Cruickshank Construction Ltd., Morrisburg, was awarded the contract for grading, drainage, granular base courses and minor urban work. The hot mix paving contract was awarded to Cornwall Gravel Co. Ltd. on June 20/73.

To serve its inter-urban connector classification, the road is designed to a safe 50 m.p.h. standard, with a basic 100 foot right-of-way and pavement widths varying between 20 and 22 feet, depend-ding on the degree of curvature.

This $640,000. project, the cost of which has been shared between the Ministry of Transportation and Communications and the Counties, was started as a development road and completed as a County by-law project.

Looby Builders (Dublin) Ltd. was awarded a combined contract for the two bridges. The project to remove two narrow bridges from the County Road System was a County by-law job, with normal subsidy from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, totalling approximately $130,000.

The Educational ABC's Of Industry Competition, St. Cecilia's School

The activities sponsored by the A.B.C.'s encourage the co-operation of outside bodies and business firms in the education of students. The majority of firms are co-operating with the schools by inviting the students to write to them for special literature to help them in their essay or project. The business world has much to offer the schools.

Another feature of the pupil activities connected with the competitions is the amount of research work that is encouraged. This of course needs the help and guidance of teachers to secure the best results. Through this, pupils become more active in their education, and show initiative and the power to help themselves.

The student must realize that by sending an entry in any of the competitions, they are not only improving their education and working for a prize, but they are also members of a school team whose combined efforts will win a prize for the school for the purchase of educational equipment to benefit all the pupils.

The following is a list of students, the category, and the amount of money they received for their work:

If you are a traditionalist who must have a "live" tree in your home during the Christmas holiday, you know how difficult it is to find one that matches the health and fullness of those you see in the drawings. Prices for "real" trees have been climbing steadily, too, just like everything else around.

Here are some buying tips from the experts.

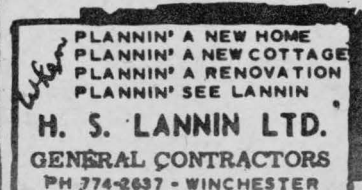

First, decide where you will place the tree in your home. If its going to be in a corner, for instance, the walls will help hide some bare spots. Be sure to check the height of the room, since trimming the top off a tree will alter its natural taper. Add some extra length for the stand.

Check a tree's freshness by running your hand down a branch with the grain of the needles. They should stay on the tree if it is fresh.

Flex the limbs to see if they're strong enough to support your decorations and be careful of trees bearing a lot of moss, vines or other particles.

When you get your tree home, put it into water right away to keep it fresh before you bring it inside. Then keep your stand filled with water and lightly sprinkle the branches with water to help it retain its freshness for as long as possible.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5875 London, Ontario.

Canada Geese Laying Over

They are to the skies of Eastern Ontario what the Queen Mary was to the Atlantic - the biggest, the most majestic. Canada Geese.

Usually we have to be content to look at their pictures or glimpse them, if we are lucky, flying high overhead above the bare limbs of autumn in their ancient V formations.

Right now is Eastern Ontario, though, it's possible to walk within ten feet of the outer edge of a flock of Canada's numbering close to 5,000.

The place: the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary, a

7,000 acre reserve, 11 miles east of Morrisburg.

The reserve is now an established resting spot for migrant geese heading south for the winter in Chesapeake and Delaware Bays and the near year-round home of a resident flock numbering almost 2,000 birds.

The geese, Giant Canada's and the smaller, darker Atlantic Coast's, will be landing and taking off from Upper Canada until mid-December.

We welcome your Personal news items.

ENERGY

IF WE EACH SAVE A LITTLE, WE'LL ALL SAVE A LOT.

With supplies of crude oil in Eastern Canada barely sufficient to meet demand, real shortages of gasoline and heating oil could occur here in Ontario if we can't maintain our imports. Alternate, more dependable forms of energy are being developed, but that will take time. What is important today is that each one of us makes the best possible use of existing energy supplies.

Little ways in which you can save energy may seem insignificant, but in fact they are not. For example, it has been estimated that if each person in Ontario saved just a penny's worth of energy each day, we'd save enough energy in a week to heat up to 2,500 homes for an entire year. Nobody has the right to waste any form of power. The time has come for every person to do everything possible to ensure the wisest use of energy.

Good energy habits learned now, especially by our young people, will help bring us through this winter, and pay off even more in years to come. Let's get to work.

47 ways you can conserve energy. A program for voluntary action!

1-7 Your heating system.

Clean forced-air filters once a month

- ☐ Bleed air from hot water radiators, fix leaks
- ☐ Empty the flue clean-out
- ☐ Have the system checked by an expert
- ☐ Insulate ducts and pipes in areas that don't need heat
- ☐ Don't use metallic paint on radiators
- ☐ A gravity air system with a single return works best with interior doors open.

8-13 Keep the heat in!

Insulation, especially in attics, pays off in the long run

- ☐ Fit storm windows, weather-strip outside doors
- ☐ Keep fireplace damper closed
- ☐ Use range hood ventilators only when necessary
- ☐ If you sleep with the window open, close the door
- ☐ Close drapes at night.

14-17 Use your thermostat.

Each degree you lower the thermostat cuts fuel consumption about 3%

- ☐ It's possible to save by turning the thermostat down at night

- ☐ If you use a humidifier, you'll stay comfortable with less heat
- ☐ If there's a Shivery Sam in the family, ask him to wear a sweater.

18-22 Hot water.

Insulate exposed hot water pipes

- ☐ If your water heater has a dial, try setting it lower
- ☐ A dripping tap wastes up to 175 gallons of hot water a month
- ☐ Don't use dishwashers till they're full
- ☐ Generally, a shower uses less hot water than a bath.

23-32 Around the house.

Can the thermostat be turned down?

- ☐ Can you turn off any lights?
- ☐ Has your company got an Energy Conservation Suggestion Scheme?

We're taking our own advice.

All Ministries and Agencies of the Ontario Government are doing their bit to conserve energy. Lighting and heating levels are being reduced in government buildings; a new emphasis is being given to economical operation of vehicles; Ontario Hydro and the Ministry of Education are encouraging consumers and schoolchildren to learn good habits in the use of energy. And that's just a beginning!

Save this check list...and save energy!

Ontario will play its part in resolving the Canadian energy situation. Carrying out these suggestions will help achieve the national energy conservation goals.

FEEL POOR AND DEHYDRATED?—That's what the sign hanging from the Marlborough Arms in downtown Nassau, Bahamas, asks those who pass by the front door. This pub offers a unique blend of Bahamian and British culture. The draft beer is imported from Britain, while the building is typical of a pub you might find in a small English village—intimate and cozy. However, an assortment of Bahamian drinks, including "Goom-bay Smash", are served, while the bartenders have an unmistakably Bahamian sense of humor.

NASSAU, Bahamas—There is a sign hanging outside the Marlborough Arms pub in Nassau which asks the question "Feel Poor and Dehydrated?"

The answer, obviously, is to go inside and quench your thirst with a tall pint, or local Bahamian drink such as "Goombay Smash."

The Marlborough Arms is a unique blend of British and Bahamian culture. The draft beer, imported directly from the United Kingdom, is served ice-cold in pint glasses. The building is typical of a pub you might find in a small English village—intimate and cozy.

However, there is nothing British about the bartenders. They are Bahamians, and just love to talk to customers. And the food, served at a cost of $2.50 per heaping plateful, is also Bahamian. You can get steamed conch and an assortment of fish dishes—or beef ribs, all served with peas and rice.

According to owner Pat Bethel, Canadians are a welcome sight at the Marlborough Arms.

"The Canadians that come in here are great people," says Pat. "They seem far more at home than Americans in a setting like ours. They just fit

by WILLIAM J. MARTIN

Last year I reported on a unique study undertaken by a group of newspaper food editors across North America, comparing costs for common food items in their local markets.

It was repeated this year with a target date of August 23, before the U.S. freeze on beef was lifted. Each editor carried an identical shopping list to three self-chosen supermarkets. All were large chain operations, but they had to be in different economic neighborhoods.

A half gallon of fresh milk ranged from 74 cents in Toronto, Hamilton, Ont., Atlanta and Tampa to 54 cents in Minneapolis. A one-pound loaf of white bread that sold for 21 cents in Portland, Ore., cost 37 cents in Des Moines.

As for meats, the "frozen" price for a one-pound sirloin steak went from $2.31 in Vancouver (no freeze) to $1.64 in New York. Five pounds of potatoes varied from 39 cents in Montreal to $1.09 in Little Rock.

The prices listed are the averages of the three stores selected in each of the 23 cities included in this year's survey. Differences between the three local stores show that careful shopping is still one of the keys to lower food prices.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5875 London, Ontario.

Hitting The Snow Trails

Winter creates two groups of people: those who lug around 10 pounds of extra clothing and live from heated building to heated building, or those who see the season as a golden opportunity for throwing off worn-out warm weather recreation interests for new ways to enjoy snow. Place - where you can be sure you are not trespassing and are welcome - is often the only thing stopping members of the second group. The following is a winter checklist of areas administered by the Ontario ministry of natural resources in the eastern region where winter is a chance to have "fun". Bon Echo Snow Trail - 25 miles: Begin at Bon Echo Provincial Park on Highway 41 and travel westward on this trail. The trail connects with an extensive system of trails developed by the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council. Further maps and information are available from the ministry of natural resources at Tweed (613) 478-2330.

Limerick Forest - 55 miles: This extensive area of reforestation managed by the ministry has 55 miles of marked trails meandering through conifer and mixed hardwood stands, beaver meadows and open fields. Follow County Road 18 north for seven miles to Roebuck. Continue north from Roebuck for six miles on a Township road to the forest headquarters, last winter the starting point for several sled dog racing competitions. Further information and maps available from the ministry of natural resources at Brockville (613) 342-8524. Lanark Forest - 50 miles: These trails are located in L'Avant and Dalhousie Townships, twenty miles northwest of Perth, on Lanark County Road 16. These trails run through 20,000 acres of rugged Crown Land and County Forest area, along small lakes, beaver ponds and marshes, over barren rock ridges, down gullies and into natural stands of hardwoods and conifers. Stopping points are located at Paddy's Lake, the Look-out on Bottle Lake Mountain and the parking lot which include shelters and garbage containers. Meals and accommodations are available within snowmobiling distance of the trails at private resorts. The area also offers cross-country skiing opportunities, ice fishing and snowshoeing. For further information and maps: ministry of natural resources, Lanark, Ont. (613) 259-2108. Larose Forest - 100 miles Located in 40 square miles of Crown Land and County Forest area, these trails and roads include a wide variety of terrain for the snowmobiler and include several stop-over points. Located 30 miles east of Ottawa, north of Casselman and south of Bourget.

Successful Hunter Crests A Success

A simple three-and-a-quarter inch circle of embroidered material has triggered an unexpected flood of valuable information about the health of Eastern Ontario's white-tailed deer herds.

The material - a green crest marked "Successful Deer Hunter 1973" - is being offered by Ontario ministry of natural resources eastern region staff to each hunter who turns in the complete lower jaw of deer they have killed during the season.

The crest idea, pushed strongly by Tweed district wildlife biologist Frank Cheshire, has helped bring in more than 370 jaws all across the six districts of the eastern region so far. And this is by no means a final count.

The flood was unexpected because this is the first year of the offer, although similar crests have been offered in past years for moose jaws across Ontario. The eastern regional deer crest program was the only one of its kind in the province.

Deer jaws - perhaps a somewhat grisly trophy to some - tell the wildlife staff a valuable story. By examining the teeth it is possible to estimate the age of the deer, since there is a definite relationship between age and the ratio of enamel to dentine in the deer's cheek teeth. This aging system is known as the "wear class method".

If the hunter returns the deer head with antlers the wildlife staff can also determine, by measuring diameters and size, how difficult the past winter was for the animals. From this, it is possible to make some intelligent assumptions about what the fawn crop was like and how this will affect future deer populations.

For example, information from hunters in the field in the 1971 and 1972 seasons indicated that the deer herds in Eastern Ontario had literally been "clobbered" by previous winters. The herds would take at least three years to bounce back, given reduced kills by dogs and reasonable, not extremely severe, winter weather.

Now, the state of health and the future of the herds can be calculated even more accurately, because of the heavy returns of jaws from successful hunters.

In the Cornwall district, 14 jaws have been turned in, the majority from outside the five eastern counties. This does not cause problems, however, because wildlife staff also ask hunters for the area where the kill occurred, the sex of the animal and any other information that might prove useful. The trading of crests for jaws process also gives the ministry wildlife staff a chance to meet and talk with even more hunters than they usually see every season.

Cornwall district also reports hunter numbers were down from 10 to 50 per cent in most areas and that 29 known deer kills were made, all in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties.

More than 100 deer jaws are now expected from the Brockville district, Leeds and Grenville Counties.

Napanee district, not a heavily populated deer area, reports more than 50 jaws turned in; Ottawa-Carleton reports 17 jaws; Tweed district, where in some areas the deer season closed later, reports more than 100 jaws and Lanark district, where only 20 jaws were collected last year without a crest program, reports 65 jaws collected. District staff predict that number may go as high as 100.

The crest publicity has also helped encourage more hunters to turn in deer hides which are given to Ontario Indians for their handicraft industry. Hunters who turn in hides are given a fuel lighter which can be extended to ignite barbecues safely.

The rich harvest of deer jaws which might otherwise be thrown out after deer season have gone to the best of uses thanks to the goodwill of hunters from Eastern Ontario and some imaginative wildlife experts.

Iroquois Atoms Defeat Cardinal

Our Atom "A"'s hosted the Cardinal team on Saturday and came out 5-2 winners.
Scott Brennan from Steve Kirker accounted for the first and last goals of the game.
Jamie Thompson and Tim
Patterson each tallied once unassisted, while Kevin Palmer from Brennan & Kirker added the other marker.

The Bantams went scoreless in Tuesday's game and then were defeated by a 4-1 count in Athens Friday night. Our lone goal came off the stick of Barry Casselman on an end to end effort.

The Atom B and Pee Wee B teams got their schedule underway on Saturday against Chesterville. The morning game saw our Atom B's lose by a 3-2 count in Chesterville.
Scoring for Iroquois were
Alan Renwick and Shannon
Adams. Playing at home
Saturday afternoon against another Chesterville squad
our B team went down 4-1.
Michael Tryon, who along with Shannon Adams was outstanding, came up with Iroquois' only goal.

The PeeWee B's won both weekend encounters against Chesterville. The first game saw them take a 3-1 victory.
Peter Vanboven with 2 and Ken Lapier with 1 goal did all the Iroquois scoring. The Sunday game ended with Iroquois ahead 1-0 on Scott Brennan's goal.

The Midgets went down 6-2
in a game against Cardinal.
A couple of fine efforts by Steven Montpetit and Brian
Moran resulted in the two Iroquois goals.

The Pee Wee A's defeated
Cornwall Township twice this week in home and house exhibition tilts. Edwardsburg and Iroquois played to a 2-2 draw on Friday. Mike
