Rev Jas. Hamilton Inducted into Charge At Chalmer's United

The Presbytery of Glengarry met in Chalmer's United Church, Finch, Thursday, September 4, for the induction of Rev James Hamilton, B.A., B.D., into Finch charge.

Australian refineries now have Paul's United Church, Cornwall, chairman of Glengarry Presbytery, was chairman for the occasion. Rev S. B. Profitt, Ingleside, preached the sermon, and Rev C. Bulzan, of Newington, addressed the minister and congregation.

Rev Geo. Irvine, Williamstown, secretary of Glengarry Presbytery, traced the steps up to and including the call to Finch charge which includes St. Paul's United Church, Berwick; Grantley United Church, and Chalmer's United Church, Finch.

Rev Harold Burgess conducted the induction service after which Mr Hamilton took his place in the pulpit and closed the service with the benediction.

Mr and Mrs Hamilton and son were introduced to the congregation after which they retired to the diningroom where lunch was served by the ladies and a social hour was enjoyed.

Other members of Glengarry Presbytery present were Rev P. C. Lewis, Knox United Church, Cornwall, president of Glengarry Presbytery; Rev A. Wilfong, of Long Sault United Church; Rev Mr Brownlee, Apple Hill; Mr Jewell, Lunenburg.

Greetings were brought from St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, Finch, by Rev John Bell.

Born in Ireland

Rev Mr Hamilton was born in Belfast, Ireland. He obtained his B.A. degree from Queens and his B.D. from McGill and was ordained in 1940.

He spent three years in Newfoundland as student before he was ordained and after ordination spent four years in the United Church in Canada and ten years with the Presbyterian Church in Detroit, Mich.

Mr Hamilton went to Finch from Ashton, Ont.

He married Miss Betty Fox, R.N., of Ottawa, in 1947. Mrs Hamilton is a graduate of the Children's Hospital, Montreal.

They have one child, Jimmie, 14 years.

New Phone Numbers Being Prepared For Finch Residents

Beginning early in December the word "Yukon" will become one of the most frequently used in the vocabulary of Finch residents.

A. E. Smith, Bell Telephone manager for this region, announced this week that work was progressing on schedule preparatory to the introduction of two-letter five-figure numbers in Finch in December. The word "Yukon" will thereafter indentify the exchange serving the community, with all telephone numbers changed to incorporate the prefix "YUkon 4" along with the numeral "2" and the existing three digits. A typical number would be YUkon 4-1234.

Adoption of the new numbers will fit Finch telephone numbers into a uniform numbering plan which is becoming standard throughout Canada and the United States. It is part of a continent-wide plan to enable operators—and eventually telephone users themselves—to dial straight through to telephones in distant centres without the assistance of other operators along the route.

At the time of the changeover in Finch, additional dial switching equipment now being installed in the local exchange will go into service to meet Finch's growing telephone needs, the Bell manager said.

Mr Smith reminded business men to keep the coming number change in mind when ordering new supplies of stationery or other articles bearing their telephone number. All of the new numbers will be listed in the next regular issue of the directory to be published shortly before the changeover.

Home and Contents Destroyed by Sunday Fire

The fire that consumed George Wright's home is shown here when at its peak intensity. The outside veneer of board sheathing has been burned off and the stout cedar logs are just beginning to give way to the flames. It took nearly two hours for the heavy frame to finally fall in embers.—Record Photo.

Good Political Campaign Steaming Ahead

Grenville-Dundas voters are getting a full show these days as the two candidates heat up their campaigns. It is quite a change, according to observers, to see any rousing political action.

The Prescott mayor, Mark Salmon, Liberal candidate, has been doing a handshaking stint all across the riding. He has put in an appearance at all the fairs, and any gathering of more than four people is apt to find one candidate or the other on hand. The Salmon supporters have arranged several public meetings for him, with the big one coming up September 19 in Winchester Arena. On that occasion George McIlraith, the M.P. who defeated Miss Charlotte Whitton, will be the main speaker. Other Liberal meetings are slated for Spencerville and Merrickville and innumerable group gatherings.

Mrs Jean Casselman is holding a successful series of "Meet Jean" teas across the riding. Chesterville played host yesterday at the Legion Hall; Williamsburg is next week and there have been several in the west side of the riding.

The Conservative candidate has announced her dates for radio supporting speeches and they are carried in this issue of the Record. A final windup rally for the Tories will also be staged in Winchester Arena on September 26. The Hon. Geo. Hees, Minister of Transport, is to headline the bill.

All in all, it looks like a lively Fall for everybody.

Telephone users were also urged to make certain that their telephone dials carry letters as well as numerals—this kind of dial plate is essential under the two-five numbering system.

"If your dial plate is still without letters, just call the telephone office and we will replace it," Mr Smith said.

Smith—Bailey

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by the Rev Nathan Bowering in the United Church parsonage at Elma on Saturday, September 6, when Miss Marilyn Jean Bailey, daughter of Mr and Mrs Jay Bailey, Winchester Springs, became the bride of Mr Donald Grant Smith, son of Mr and Mrs Lloyd Smith, of Chesterville.

The young couple was attended by Miss Ruth Bell and Mr Eugene Murdock, of Ottawa.

For the wedding the bride chose a royal blue wool dress on princess lines, and a white feathered hat with black accessories and corsage of pink and white roses.

The bride's attendant wore a navy blue dress with white feathered hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the Park Motel, Riverside Heights, to the immediate families.

The couple left on a wedding trip through the United States. On their return they will reside in Chesterville.

25 CATTLE RABID IN TESTS

Dr C. E. Benn, assistant to Dr J. H. O. Armstrong, Dominion veterinarian, reported this week there were 22 cows and three calves among the 182 animals proven rabid to date in Stormont, Glengarry and Prescott counties.

Many of the cases involving cattle have been discovered in recent weeks.

Most of the positive cases uncovered have been in foxes although a few skunks and raccoons also fell victim to the disease.

Wright Home at Colquhoun Destroyed By Fire Sunday

George Wright and family lost all their household possessions Sunday afternoon in a sudden fire. Their home was destroyed and with it all the contents.

The Wright family had gone to Morrisburg for a visit leaving home around the noon hour. They included Mr and Mrs Wright, son Paul, 14, and Mrs Beatrice Colquhoun, mother of Mrs Wright. The Wright farm is just across the road from the old Ballantyne farm about nine miles south if Chesterville in Colquhoun.

The siren blew around 3.30 in the afternoon. After a verification, the crew headed south, with several members missing from the fire brigade including the chief. The fire was out of control in the house but the brigade kept the outbuildings and woodpiles wetted down to prevent the blaze from spreading to the barns.

The Wright house was originally a log structure, but was clapboard covered. It was partly covered by insurance.

Florida was discovered in 1513 by the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon.

Fair Results Listed Many Local Winners

There was no open campaigning, but the more than 2,000 peope who atended the 27th annual fall fair here Wednesday last were given a hint that the forthcoming federal by-election in Grenville-Dundas would be keenly contested as both candidates for the riding were in attendance.

Mrs Jean Casselman, Conservative standard-bearer, accompanied the Hon. Fred M. Cass, Q.C., Mrs Cass and their party. Mark Salmon, reeve of Prescott and Liberal candidate, was also on hand. Both were introduced to the audience by the show chairman.

Perfect weather prevailed and all events were run off smoothly but the late rush to complete harvesting resulted in a crowd smaller than otherwise would have been the case.

Edward Jones, Ottawa, judge of light horse classes, and Walter Stanley, Ramsayville, judge of the heavy horse events, both indicated horse entries had dropped off but confirmed that the qcality of animals shown was "very high."

"Several of the horses here were winners at the Royal Winter Fair and would show well at any exhibition," Mr Stanley said.

The Eastern Ontario Regional Guernsey Show with some 75 entries was one of the heaviest classes and competitions were keen.

"I judged the first Guernsey show here 12 years ago and I have no hesitation in saying that the quality of cattle shown has improved immensely since that time," A. M. Barr, principal of Kemptville Agricultural School and judge of the Guernsey classes, revealed.

Some 71 head of Ayrshire cattle were shown in the Dundas County Red and White Show and competition was also brisk. McNaughton Cumming, of Lancaster, judge of Ayrshire events, commented that "female classes were especially strong."

Holstein Entries Light

Holstein entries were light, with only 35 animals shown, but judge Ray Wilson, Kenmore, indicated heavier entries were expected at the county Black and White Show at Merrickville held on Saturday.

Two small herds of beef cattle, one Shorthorn and the other Hereford, were present and came in for much favourable comment from those in attendance.

"I have travelled the length and breadth of Ontario during the past three months but there isn't another place, as far as I'm concerned, that compares with this area and Eastern Ontario," Hon. Fred M. Cass, Q.C., Minister of Highways, said as he officially opened the show.

"Very few places," he added, "could boast fairs where one would find the equal in agricultural produce to what was shown here."

He congratulated the Winchester Cadet Band, on hand to provide entertainments, but reminded those present that Chesterville High School also had a fine cadet band.

"Perhaps next year or in future years we can arrange a band competition between the two schools to add to the enjoyment of our fair," he added.

Mr and Mrs Cass, and Mrs Caselman, were accompanied by Dr John Carroll and James A. C. Auld, first and second vice-presidents of the St. Lawrence Development Commission. Mr Auld spoke briefly.

Machinery Displays

There was a fine display of farm machinery and the Peter March midway was on hand to provide the carnival aspect of the show.

No accidents occurred to mar the show but spectators on the grandstand and in the neighbourhood of the show ring gasped for a second as a four-horse tandem outfit shied suddenly and flying hooves barely missed a small child.

The incident was soon forgotten, however, and the show went on to a successful completion.

One of the busiest men on hand and one of the most complimented was Basil Dawley, fair president.

The concensus of fair patrons was that he had done an excellent job of organization during his first term as head of the Chesterville and District Agricultural Association.

Red and White Show

Bull calf, junior: Wm. McRoberts and Sons, Winchester; Herman Jansen, Osgoode.

Bull calf, senior: Samuel S. Rose and Sons, Mountain (first and second).

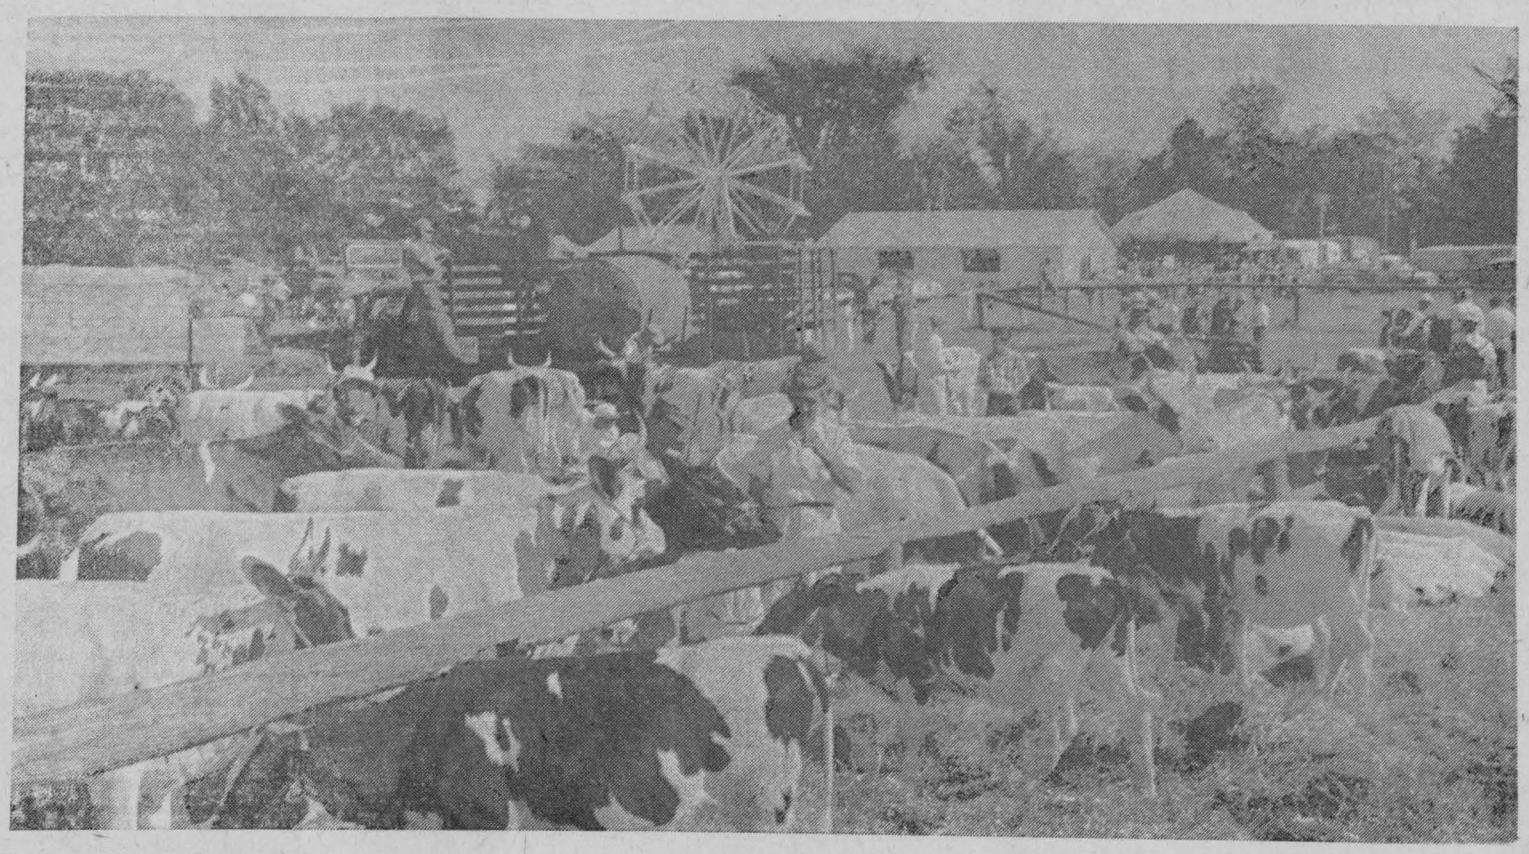

Bull, junior yearling: John Bruce, Spencerville, and Leslie Clark, Dunvegan.

Bull, junior champion: Bruce and Clark.

Bull, reserve junior champion: Samuel S. Rose and Sons.

Bull, two years old: Dalton R. Robinson and Son. Mr Robinson also won the senior championship with his bull Rosaire Beautiful Burton.

Last Week's Fair Enjoyed Fine Weather, Good Crowds, Excellent Exhibits

Chesterville Fair this year was the year for the red and whites and the many entries showed it. Ayrshire and Guernsey cattle predominated at the pens; Holsteins were primed for Black and White Day at Mountain this year. This is a general view of the grounds with some of the cattle exhibits in the foreground. In the background are the midway attractions that kept the kids interested.—Record Photo.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

The Pot Boils

Grenville-Dundas as a political entity seems to be coming alive after a long winter of hibernation. Considerable activity is stirring the countryside and political attitudes are becoming apparent again after a long inactive period.

Mark Salmon, the Liberal candidate, is here and there and everywhere shaking hands and talking up the Liberal point of view. His reception has been uniformly good and he appears to be making his presence felt among the voters.

The Conservative candidate, Mrs Jean Casselman, is pouring the oil of her vivid personality into the creaking joints of the old political machine inherited from the late colonel. Her energy and charm have instilled new life into an antique model and the chrome of modernity is beginning to show through the patina of age.

The candidates have a tough road ahead. There are a lot of people to meet and a lot of promises to suggest; there are miles of driving to do and yards and yards of smiles to offer. This time the winner will earn his votes.

We of the Record are neutral, of course, in the matter of who wins. About as natural, that is, as anyone with our violent opinions can be. Our neutrality usually extends to sorrow that everyone doesn't hold our particular political point of view. We do not take umbrage with the Roving Reporter of our compatriot paper, the Advance of Kemptville, even when he twits the Liberals in what seems to be a matter of colour blindness. He thought it lax that the Hon. Mr Pearson had to make his maiden speech in the riding through a festoon of left-over blue and white banners of the Tory convention. How sad!

One of the nice things about Mr Pearson and the party he heads is that they are remarkably colour blind. They are also blind to a large extent to differences of race, creed and station of life.

As can be seen from the above, we are neutral, as most independent newspapers are.

Fire, A Ferocious Friend

A family lost all its household possessions on Sunday, except for the clothes worn when visiting friends. Neighbours and friends and insurance will make some small inroad into the loss, but the possessions of a lifetime's gathering can not be replaced that easily. George Wright and his family have a rough road ahead before winter sets in.

These days of modern equipment and labour-saving devices about the house tend to lull us to the dangers of fire. The danger is always there and Sunday's accident awakens the need to be always on guard. One can never help the inevitable, but the preventable circumstances must always be watched for. Fire is a necessity to our way of life; be always on guard that it does not consume your life.

A Permanent Dam

Time is running out on the planners again this season and nothing concrete, if you will pardon the pun, has been done about the village dam.

The wooden structure that serves the town and the Nestlé plant is recognized as semi-permanent at the best. With the building just about completed at Casselman of a concrete dam, attention of the proper department should have been directed to the Chesterville site. The best possible water barrier should be placed there soon, and about the only time to do it is at the tail of the spring freshets. When the river starts to dry up, will be no time to open the pool and pour concrete.

There is little doubt money spent on a permanent dam would be well spent. The cost should not be much more or as much as the one at Casselman; that came to around $18,000. Here the river is put to great use by the Nestlé plant and there is little doubt they would be ready to offer considerable financial support to a new dam project.

Council needs to pull up its socks and get some final plans made for Spring work on the riverbed.

New Books Added to Library

Following are books added to Chesterville Public Library:

"Manual for Ford Owners;" "Adventure in Chemistry;" Adventure in Electronics;" "Adventure in Atomic Energy;" Electronics Made Easy;" "Action at the Sioux."

A number of the "Anytime" series have been added for the young readers. Girls will enjoy "Jill's Hollywood Assignment," "Nurse on Location" and "Scout Counselor."

Adult fiction: "Cry Tiger, a mystery; "Mary Smith Hotel," a blend of fiction and fact in a New Zealand setting; "No Leave for the Captain," a dramatic incident of the last war. This book has been published in every European language except Portuguese. "Enemy Engaged," the autobiography of a naval officer serving with the Mediterranean Fleet, 1942 to 1944.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

Last week I tried to give you a little idea of what to expect at the Plowing Match, October 7-10. Of course no one knows exactly what will be there but I can assure you there will be plenty. Only this morning a man on the committee told me that there is more space booked for exhibits than ever before.

I wish one of the big oil companies would bring the show they presented at Carp. Maybe I could figure out how it was done if I could see it again. It was completely baffling the first time. Several times a day they ran their little performance to the accompaniment of a taped commercial. Curtains drew back revealing a huge, clear glass bowl of oil. As the man on the recording talked a shapely girl in a tailored suit appeared to come up through the bowl of oil. She smiled and waved at us and as mysteriously disappeared into its greasy depths. I haven't any idea how this was achieved for there wasn't a drop of oil on her at all.

There were countless exhibits at the Matches too. The Department of Agriculture usually has a large display centred with a miniature countryside with cars and trains that children love. Hydro always has an exhibit and that should be particularly interesting this year with the power project so near by.

At Carp I spent a very profitable hour or so watching a freezer demonstration. A home economist showed us how to prepare food for our freezers and gave us more free information in that short time than I could have read in an afternoon. And I think she gave away some of the frozen foods. That show was sponsored by one of the big companies and took place in a theatre-like tent with chairs, stage, etc.

The Plowing Match is a splendid place to see the latest in farm and home equipment. Water pumps, milk coolers, drinking buckets, stanchions and such will doubtless be displayed. And the women can likely stand bug eyed beside the last word in stoves, freezers, washers, dryers, vacuums and other sparkling items that will make us hate the ones we have at home.

The farm magazines have exhibits too—the seed companies, the fertilizer people. It seems to me some big firm has a tent intended only for the visitors to rest in with free tea and cookies.

Now I know I've missed a great deal in trying to explain to you about the Tented City. You'll realize that when you see it at Crysler. You'll notice too that no expense or effort is saved in arranging the displays. I remember particularly the cut flowers that decorated every exhibit—the cedars and evergreens that added so much to the scene.

And, of course, there will be people — thousands and thousands of them. You will probably be well repaid for going to the Match just by seeing folks you haven't seen for years. And, like me, you'll probably be embarrassed by foretting the name of an old friend you should know well.

There will be acres and acres of parking lot not too far from the centre of activity. So don't worry that you'll have to leave your car at Finch and walk the rest of the way. Your convenience and comfort are of utmost importance to the committe in charge.

Don't think that because you aren't a farmer this affair will be of little interest to you. I'd venture to say town and city folk will get a greater thrill out of it than we farmers will. Be sure to take the children too. They'll have a time of their lives.

Perhaps you realize now why we asked that so many beds be made available for visitors. Besides those who come for a day or two to see the show there are hundreds of exhibitors and plowmen who have to come for the entire week and will require sleeping accommodation.

Remember I said I planned to sit on the veranda and watch the cars go by. That has been changed. I have four men coming to Frendlee Farm for the week and they want their suppers and breakfasts. I imagine everybody in Eastern Ontario will be busy October 7-10. The International Plowing Match is a big event. Be sure you're there to see it.

Day After Labour Day

OUR HOUSE is alive with electrical tension
Channeled again in the schedule of school;
Excitement, reluctance and vague apprehension
Interchange currents in our vestibule.

Bright cheeks are kissed now, farewells finally spoken,
The last waving pony tail bobs through the gate
Where, swinging forlornly, her four-year-old heart broken,
A small person sobs who has two years to wait.—E.F.

IDEAL HOME NOT A HAPPY ONE

The ideal woman in the ideal home turned out to be anything but ideal for the management of an exhibition at Dortmund, Germany.

Watched by hundreds of people, she had a fit of temper in her glass-walled home and smashed everything she could lay her hands on.

An exhibition spokesman said the woman, Klaere Roth, 38, was hired to play the part of a housewife for 10 hours a day in the glass-walled display home furnished with modern furniture and the latest domestic appliances.

After several days in the public eye she asked for more money, complaining that the strain of being constantly watched was greater than expected. Her request was refused.

There were more differences and the woman was fired.

"Then the ideal woman had a tremendous fit of temper," the spokesman said. "She started flinging furniture about, broke all the china and smashed just about everything she could lay her hands on. Hundreds of people were watching all the time, of course.

The ideal home closed down.

H. Bawden Presents BNS Prize

Bank of Nova Scotia silverplate prize was something new this year at Chesterville Fair. It was offered for the best carriage team in harness and was won by Calvin Price, of Easton's Corners. Pictured here are Mr Harry Bawden, manager of the local branch of the bank, making the presentation to the winner, Mr Price.—Record Photo.

Large Holstein Show At Ottawa Number of Area Winners

Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa had one of its largest and strongest Holstein shows when 229 head were paraded by 42 different exhibitors for Judge F. Roy Ormiston, Brooklin, on August 28. Competition was very keen for both the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor awards, with Alex Snedden, Almonte, being a few points ahead of James Brown, Almonte, for Premier Exhibitor, and Sam Rathwell, of Navan, just nosing out Alex-Snedden for Premier Breeder.

Hi-Acres Bonnie Tribune, who was Grand Champion at Ottawa Winter Fair last fall for Allan R. Stewart, Lyn, continued her winning ways by taking the Senior and Grand Championship after heading the class for aged cows in milk. She was also named best uddered female of the show. The Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Champion female was the top dry aged cow, Harwil Alert Patricia, shown by James M. Brown. Brown also had the Junior Champion female, winning this honour with his first prize senior yearling heifer, Lucky Spot Treasure Aggie. The senior yearling class also provided the Reserve Junior Champion, the second prize winner in this class, Hickory Nook Bessie, taking this honour for J. F. Lindsay, Sydenham.

In the bull classes, Judge Ormiston found his Grand Champion in the senior yearling class where Kayen Farm Anthony, owned jointly by K. B. Nixon, of Vankleek Hill, and Marland Murray, Martintown, won his class, was made Junior Champion and then went on to the supreme award. The second prize winner in the same class, Lucky Spot Treasure Andy, shown by James M. Brown, took the Reserve Junior award. Allison Fawcett, Winchester, had the Senior and Reserve Grand Champion bull in his winning two-year-old Spring Farm Reflector which he owned jointly with J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, Ontario. The Reserve Senior Champion was the top aged bull, Bridge View Duke, shown by Hugh Blaine, Mountain.

Indicative of the keen competition is the fact that of the 18 individual classes, no less than 12 different breeders won at least one first prize. James M. Brown had three, Allan R. Stewart, Sam Rathwell, W. E. Burton and the Estate of W. J. Fawcett two each, while the others went strictly one to an exhibitor.

Sam Rathwell took the senior Get-of-Sire on a group by Larchway Voyageur Keeno, while Marland Murray had the winning junior Get-of-Sire on the get of Maplenix R. A. Mercury. Rathwell had the winning Progeny of Dam, James M. Brown the first prize Graded Herd and Ferme St. Louis, Orleans, the top Junior Herd.

Other first prize winners were N. F. Bracken and Son, Harrowsmith; W. Alex Snedden, Almonte; Basil Dawley, Winchester; Ralph J. Fawcett, Winchester; Estate of W. J. Fawcett, Winchester.

MISS NELLIE VLOET HONOURED AT SHOWER

A nicely arranged shower was held recently at the home of Mrs Martin Vloet, Goldfield, in honour of her daughter, Miss Nellie Vloet, who was married Saturday in St. Bernard's Church, Finch.

The bride-elect was escorted to her chair by Mrs Glendon Smith. Following an address read by Mrs Bernard Foley, the presentation of an electric frying pan was made from the people of Goldfield, also an electric clock from the members of St. Bernard's C.W.L.

After a social hour, lunch was served.

CLAIMS TO HAVE FOUND NEW MEANS TO PRODUCE CHEAP POWER

A 28-year-old radio technologist at Moose Jaw, Sask., claims to have invented a means of generating electricity on a large scale so cheaply—$25 a kilowatt—that it will eclipse all present methods.

John Campagne says he has filed patents on his invention and has built a working model to back his claims.

The plant would be smokeless, noiseless and free of high pressure and other power hazards. He describes it as "a refrigerator working in reverse."

The principle, he said in an interview, is the differential between a large body of water and the surrounding atmosphere. Climatic factors would necessitate involved compensation factors in the plant.

The plant itself is bulky, he says, and would use a large quantity of chemicals—6,000,000 gallons to 100,000 horsepower. What the chemicals are, he would not say, except that they are "common and cheap." A kilowatt produced by an average hydroelectrict plant costs about $270.

He explains the refrigerator reverse principle this way: Instead of power being used to produce temperature changes, temperature changes would be used to produce power.

Almost any inland lake in Canada would be a suitable plant site, he says. However, Lake Superior's north shore, with a water-atmosphere differential of about 30 degrees, would be ideal.

The Royal Military College was opened at Kingston on June 1, 1876.

Alaska, due to become the 49th state of the U.S., has a population of 213,000 in an area of 586,000 square miles.

JEAN CASSELMAN has a wide and intimate association with the people of Grenville-Dundas. She knows from personal experience their needs and problems. She knows how to get things done on their behalf.

JEAN CASSELMAN was raised and has lived all her life in an atmosphere of federal politics. She understands the responsibilities of the office for which she asks your help.

JEAN CASSELMAN was brought up on a farm, owns a farm in Edwardsburg Township, and knows at first hand the everyday problems of our farmers.

JEAN CASSELMAN is widely respected for her ability. She is an accomplished public speaker on a number of subjects and is much in demand across the country.

JEAN CASSELMAN is an enthusiastic supporter of Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his great program. She is the candidate in this election of the Conservative administration of John Diefenbaker.

MERRILL MISSION BAND ELECTS OFFICERS

The Setpember meeting of Merrill Mission Band was held in the Sunday School of Trinity United Church, with 30 children present including seven new members. Mrs Butcher introduced the new study book, "Here Comes Derk," and told the story of the first chapter.

A picture drawn by Sharon Fyke was chosen from the hand work and was pasted in the accordian book. Betty Lou Casselman took up collection for a school CARE kit for a child overseas and $1.11 was received.

New officers elected were: President, Shirley Cuff; vice president, Richard Hutt; secretary, Tommy Forward. Installation of officers was performed by Mrs Butcher.

Certificates were presented to the following members who will graduate into Explorers: Mary Jane Lapp, Betty Brownlee, Judy Stevens, Beverley Butcher, Kristine Fulton, Carol Kilby and Peggy Henderson.

The new handwork will be the making of puppets, using the same characters as in the book being studied.

Collection was received by Marilyn Smith. The meeting closed by all repeating the Mission Band prayer.

It takes 80 years or more for most trees to grow from seedlings to maturity.

TELEPHONE A NOVELTY AT GOOSE BAY

To most Canadians telephones are an everyday convenience and necessity that we "just couldn't be without." But, in the remote air force station at Goose Bay and its neighbouring town of Happy Valley, telephone service has just arrived. Bell opened its new dial exchange in Goose Bay this year to provide both local and long distance service to the residents there.

For the first time residents can make telephone calls to neighbours and to the rest of the world. They can now "visit" with families who may be thousands of miles away.

A strange phenomenon known as "tropospheric scatter" makes it possible to provide this service. The "scatter" is able to "leap-frog" the voice over the horizon and across the many miles of rugged terrain. Relay stations are placed 200 miles apart—a necessity when terrain makes it impractical to erect cable.

Dialing "110" signals the operator in Quebec City, 670 airline miles away, and long distance calls are then speeded on their way. It's a voiceway built by Bell Telephone Co., to help open up the vast resources of the northland.

ADEQUATE STORAGE FOR VEGETABLES

Many of the vegetables grown in the home garden are perishable and must be consumed or preserved soon after harvest. Others that can be satisfactorily stored, are frequently lost because of the lack of adequate storage.

The first consideration in storing vegetables is their condition at the time of harvest. Well-matured produce will store better than that which is immature. All excess soil should be removed and any vegetables showing rot or mould should be discarded.

The storage requirements of different vegetables should be then considered. The root crops, carrots, beets and turnips have similar requirements of temperature and humidity and should be stored at temperatures as close as possible to 32 degrees F. with a relative humidity of 95 per cent. The high humidity can be maintained by burying the roots in a box or bin of dampened sand, which can be kept damp, but not wet, by an occasional sprinkling of water.

Cabbage requires the same conditions of temperature and humidity as the root crops. If the roots are left on the plants, they may be planted in moist soil or sand to prevent wilting. However if the roots have been removed, the heads may be stored on shelves and the humidity kept up in some other manner, such as sprinkling the floor.

In storing potatoes, clean, well-matured tubers are placed in bins or boxes so that air may circulate around them. A temperature of 38 degrees to 40 degrees F. is most desirable, as lower temperatures will cause an objectionably sweet flavour.

The storage requirements of onions differ from those of the vegetables previously mentioned, since they require a dry atmosphere, i.e., a relative humidity of less than 70 per cent, for most satisfactory storage. Storage trials have shown that well-matured onions can be stored for a full year at 32 degrees to 35 degrees F. in dry storage.

Pumpkin and squash, like onions, store best in a dry atmosphere but require a temperature of 55 degrees to 60 degrees F.

The aforementioned storage requirements represent the most ideal conditions for each vegetable. Vegetables can be stored at different conditions of temperature and humidity, but there would be a corresponding decrease in storage life.

It will be noted that the important requirements for storing most vegetables are low temperatures and high humidity. The average basement is not suitable because temperatures usually are too high. If considerable quantities are to be stored, it could be worthwhile to construct an insulated room in the basement.

MOBY DICK METHODS USED BY WHALERS

Walter Cook prefers to hunt whales with a hand harpoon and a light boat. This rugged man from Tonga is probably one of the last whalers in the world to stick to the methods of Moby Dick days.

On a recent visit to New Zealand, Cook attributed his success in this hazardous occupation to "the razor edge of the harpoon blade, experience, and the crew's stamina."

Every day from July to October, for 42 years, he has taken his two 30-foot whalers 20 miles from the shores of Tonga to battle with the biggest and most powerful creature in the sea—the humpback whale.

Last season he captured 20; the season before 16.

Cook was 14 years of age when he and his elder brother "borrowed" their father's boat, took it to sea and returned with a whale. The next day, his career began as a professional harpoonist.

Today, he owns the only whaling business on Tonga. "We kill only for meat," he says. "It brings about a shilling a pound."

He has two boats, one for attacking and the other to pick up the crew should a whale turn "villain" and smash the boat. The former carries a crew of six, and the pickup four.

When the meat has been carved from the whale, the boats tow the carcass out to sea and stay by it for 24 hours, catching sharks and other fish which churn in thousands about the gory hulk.

Every time a whale is killed, two of the crew dive in the sea and sew up the dead whale's mouth so that water will not run into the massive body and slowly sink it.

SARDINE SUGGESTIONS

OVER SEVENTY YEARS have passed since the first Canadian sardine and a few close relatives were canned. Since that time, millions of these silvery little fish have found their way to the market in tin overcoats. Sardines are very adaptable and can be included in many menus. They are delicious served just as taken from the can and also in salads and sandwiches. Here are a few suggestions offered by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries:

Simple Sardine Salad

Arrange crisp lettuce leaves on individual salad plates. Pile the drained contents of half a 3¼-ounce can of sardines in the centre of each plate, sprinkle with lemon juice, and ring with quartered tomatoes and hard cooked eggs, arranged alternately. Serve with mayonnaise.

Sardine Tossed Salad

Drain 2 (3¼-ounce) cans of sardines and break into bite-size pieces, reserving 4 or 8 whole sardines to use as a garnish. Combine sardines, 1 cup sliced celery, 1 cup drained cooked peas, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 chopped hard cooked eggs and ½ cup of mayonnaise blended with 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. Toss until well blended and season to taste. Serve in lettuce cups garnished with whole sardines. Makes 4 servings.

Toasted Sardine and Cheese Sandwich

Soften ¼ cup of butter, and blend with 1 teaspoon of prepared mustard or mustard sauce. Arrange the drained contents of two (3¼-ounce) cans of sardines on the bread and cover each slice with a slice of processed cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Place on a baking sheet. Toast in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 8 to 10 minutes, or until the cheese melts. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Seafood Club Sandwich

1 ½-lb. can tuna or salmon
¼ cup finely chopped celery
1 tsp. grated onion
3 tbsps. mayonnaise
12 slices bread
Soft butter
8 slices bacon, fried
2 tomatoes, sliced
Salt and pepper
Mayonnaise
Crisp lettuce

Drain and flake tuna or salmon. Combine with celery, onion and the mayonnaise. Toast bread. Spread 8 slices on one side and 4 slices on both sides with soft butter. The slices spread on both sides are to be used as centre slices. Cover 4 slices with fish salad mixture and fried bacon. Cover centre slices of toast with a layer of sliced tomatoes. Sprinkle tomato slices with salt and pepper and spread with mayonnaise. Cover with crisp lettuce. Top with remaining 4 slices of toast, placed butter side down. Cut sandwiches in halves diagonally, and steady each half with a wooden pick topped with a pickle or stuffed olive. Place sandwiches in a heated oven to warm. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

The Sweetheart Sandwich

8 slices white bread
4 slices brown bread
¼ cup soft butter
Crab Salad Filling*
Salmon Salad Filling*
1 4-oz. pkg. cream cheese
2 tbsps. milk
1 tomato, cut in 8 wedges

Butter white bread slices on one side and brown bread slices on both sides. Cover 4 slices of white bread with Crab Salad Filling. Top with brown bread slices. Spread brown bread with Salmon Salad Filling. Top with remaining white slices placed buttered side down. Trim crusts from each sandwich stack. Soften cream cheese and blend with milk. Spread over the top of each stack. Garnish each with a tomato heart formed by placing two tomato wedges together with the skin side out. Makes 4 servings.

*Crab Salad Filling: Combine the drained, flaked contents of a 6-ounce can of crab meat with 2 chopped hard cooked eggs and ¼ cup of mayonnaise.

*Salmon Salad Filling: Combine the drained flaked contents of a 7¾-ounce can of salmon with ¼ cup of chopped celery, ¼ cup of chopped nuts and ¼ cup of mayonnaise.

Teen Town Officers Are Elected For Coming Year

The following Teen Town officers were elected for the coming year at a meeting held recently:

President, Pieta Van Kessel; vice president, Bobby Miltimore; secretary, Margaret Brownlee; treasurer, Pete Bawden; music, Melanie Fyke; program, Bill Lannin; regulations, Ray Bailey.

Regulations governing Teen Town are as follows:

1. For High School students only with membership cards on which they can bring in only one person of High School age and over.
2. Absolutely no drinking allowed.
3. Anyone misbehaving may be asked to leave by the president.
4. Records will be handled by officers only.
5. Admission is 25c and must be paid.
6. While school is on Teen Town will be opened at 8.30 and closed at 11.30 unless for some special occasion when 12 o'clock will be the deadline.
7. Girls are asked to wear skirts and boys to dress neatly, unless the occasion calls differently.
8. Gambling prohibited.

Parents wishing to supervise for Teen Town are asked to contact any of the officers.

Teen Town is a weekly gathering of High School students of Chesterville district every Friday night. The teenagers meet at the Community Hall auditorium and learn how to round dance and "jive" under the supervision of the various officers and always one or two parents.

Teen Town is an organization at which young people of a growing community overcome their feeling of shyness and acquire the sense of responsibility so necessary in making such an attempt successful. By "an attempt" it is meant getting young people to mix with others.

Under certain rules and regulations set by the officers, along with suggestions and ideas by parents, Teen Town should and will be a success.

A vote of thanks should be extended to both supervising parents and officers for their work and to Dave Johnston for cleaning up each week after the dance.

G. Frederick Fulton

Following a brief illness, George Frederick Fulton died at Ottawa Civic Hospital on September 4 in his 59th year. He was the eldest son of Mrs S. R. Fulton and the late Mr Fulton.

He is survived by his mother and two brothers, Ronald and Drury.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev E. B. Bugden at the family residence on Saturday, September 6. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Messrs Everett Morris, Harlan Helmer, Colborne Helmer and Michael Lynch.

Mid-Canada Line Project Shown in Films To Rotary Club

A. E. Smith, district manager for Bell Telephone, showed a very interesting film to Rotarians and guests Monday night. He had had a part in the construction of the Mid-Canada aircraft warning line in the North and a film had been made to show some of the phases of the work.

The difficulties were graphically told by the film with Mr Smith narrating the story; the sound equipment of the projector went wrong just after the film started. Muskeg, flies, cold and unknown country all added up to an almost impossible job. It was completed in just 20 months and is now operating. There is a chain of warning stations stretching all across the north part of Canada and in time they will be unmanned and completely automatic.

The speaker was introduced by Harold Bigelow and thanked by Leon Marcellus. President Mel Baker officiated and welcomed as guests the Rev D. O. Fry, of Chesterville, Geo. Munro, Smiths Falls, and Mel Rundle, Winchester.
