Storage Depot Planned--

Twp. Council to Purchase Land

The regular meeting of Winchester Township council was held in the Presbyterian Hall, Morewood, on Monday, March 3, at 11 a.m., with all members present. The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were adopted as read by the clerk and signed by the reeve.

Council decided to purchase two acres of land on Highway 43 on Lot 12, Concession 5, as a storage place for township equipment, snow fence, posts, etc., as much of this seems to stray during the summer, never to return. The land will cost $400. There is a possibility that a building will be erected in the future for the storage of township trucks and other machinery, and will probably contain a room where council meetings will be held in future years. Councillor McNabb was the only dissenter to the plan.

Seek Tenders

The clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders for the work to be done on the following drains during the coming summer: Cinnamon drain in Winchester Township, Mountain and Osgoode Townships; the Coulthart drain and the Servage drain in Winchester Township. Work is to be completed on or before November 30, 1958.

The road superintendent was instructed to issue a building permit to Napoleon Lavictoire for the erection of a house on Lot 11, Concession 12.

A petition was received from land owners living on the given road through Concession 12, between Lots 9 and 10, asking that the road be graded and widened to 66 feet and offering to donate the necessary land.

A resolution was passed on a recorded vote that the snow plow open the lanes of members of council when it is necessary to go out on township business; councillor McNabb was the only member opposed to this.

The following accounts were passed and paid: Roads and bridges, $5,519.56; Garfield Baker, Rural Municipalities, $80; Gerald Holmes, Rural Municipalities, $80; J. Steen, Rural Municipalities, $80; salaries and allowances, $68.90.

Council adjourned to meet in Winchester on Monday, April 7, at 11 a.m.

Public Speaking Contests Cover Many Subjects Casselman-Gilroy Winners

Chesterville High School pupils engaged in annual competitions Friday afternoon in public speaking. They were competing for the Dr S. H. Hutt Shield and the Rotary Cup. Eleven students took part in the contests which were chairmanned by Mr C. A. Graham, one of the teachers of the school. The affair was held in Community Theatre. The judges were the Rev E. B. Bugden, minister of Trinity United Church, Mrs Keith Graham, B. H. Sc., and Mr Hosea Droppo, principal of Chesterville Public School and president of Chesterville Rotary Club.

Speakers ranged over a wide field. Their subjects covered everything from nature to Shakespeare. The judges found much to their liking in all the presentations but Ann Casselman in the junior division got the nod for the Hutt Shield. In the seniors, Robert Gilroy in his talk on "The Sun" impressed most favourably and he edged out the competition for the Rotary Cup.

Contestants and subjects were: Junior Division: Carl Byers, "Atomic Power;" Ann Casselman, "Birds I Have Known;" George Butcher, "The Royal Canadian Mounted Police;" Melanie Fyke, "Japan;" June Edgeley, "The Crowd May Be Wrong;" Beth Laprade, "Friends and Neighbours;" Nancy Moore, "Snowflakes;" Arne Vilmansen, "The Strategic Air Command."

PUBLIC SPEAKING COMPETITIONS of the high school here were held in the theatre of Community Hall on Friday afternoon of last week. Eleven youthful contestants took part in the program and when the judges had made their choices, Ann Casselman, right, had won the Dr S. H. Hutt Trophy for the juniors and Robert Gilroy, left, had placed first among the seniors to receive the Rotary Club cup. Mr C. A. Graham, of the high school staff, officiated.—Record Photo.

Hospital Auxiliary Reports Record Year

The regular monthly meeting of Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was held on March 6 in the assembly hall of the hospital with a record attendance of 150. Thirteen units were represented.

Mrs Black expressed pleasure in seeing so many members and guests present. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, Miss Elliott presented the treasurer's report. Total receipts amounted to $492.37. Linens purchased at a cost of $223.73, left a balance of $268.64.

Mrs Mulloy's report for hospital activities revealed that the month of February had the highest average patient per day since the opening in 1948. She also stated there was great need for more hospital beds.

A conference in Almonte of Region No. 10 will be held April 21. Tentative plans for a garden party in June to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the hospital were brought before the meeting and units were asked to bring opinions to the April meeting. A report of the annual meeting of the board of directors which was held on Tuesday, March 4, was given by the president.

Flower Demonstration

The meeting was adjourned and turned over to the Winchester unit who sponsored a flower demonstration under the direction of Mrs Jack Rennison, of "Muriel's Flowers." Mrs Rennisson's guest was Madame Paquette, of Ottawa, was was assisted by her son, Jacques, and they together created most beautiful and unusual floral arrangements of cut flowers. Using Oasis—a miraculous substance which when dry is light as cork and when wet holds 40 times its weight in water—as a base for some of the ten displays, exotic arrangements were made in shallow bowls using gladioli, 'mums, daffodils, tulips, with such greens as eucalyptus, salil, hurk and cedar.

One demonstration was the making of a corsage of hyacinth petals, another featured a cup and saucer filled with colourful small flowers suitable as a gift for a patient; still another, a "first pair" of baby boots holding small containers of tiny sweetheart roses for a new mother.

Tickets were sold on eight of the arrangements while another was given as a door prize. Lucky winners were: Mrs Reg. Fetterly, Mrs Eric Casselman, Mrs Geo. Elliott, Mrs T. Holmes, Mrs Olsen, Mrs Roy Fawcett, Mrs Fred Curtis, Mrs Wm. Doughty, Mrs John Moffatt. The sum of $85 was realized for the Auxiliary.

Members assisting Mrs Archie Rice and Mrs Keith Carkner were Mrs Lloyd Dixon, Mrs George Elliott, Mrs Percy Roberts, Mrs Chester Robinson, Mrs Gerald Helmer and Mrs D. MacLean.

Mrs Allan Alford convened the refreshments which were served at the conclusion.

G. H. Bawden Attends Ottawa Conference

G. H. Bawden, manager of the local branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia, has just returned from a two-day conference of bankers at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa. At a special session on Friday night, M. Grattan O'Leary, president of the Journal Publishing Company of Ottawa, addressed the audience of bankers which included more than 60 BNS managers from the Ottawa Valley and district.

The bank's two Ottawa directors, Brigadier General C. H. McLaren, C.M.G., D.S.O., and Col. J. D. Fraser, also attended the conference.

Other highlights of the session were talks which dealt with key aspects in banking, such as credit, business development, staff traning and modern trends in bank methods.

Tory Convention Chooses A. Clair Casselman

Saturday afternoon A. Clair Casselman was nominated as Conservative candidate for Grenville-Dundas. It was his 11th nomination and if he is successful at the polls on March 31, he will approach the long-time record of sitting in the House.

The colonel was unopposed in his nomination as the only other name entered, that of F. M. Cass, MLA for the riding, was withdrawn in favour of Mr Casselman.

A number of delegates from this town were present at the convention which was held in the Consolidated School at Hallville.

Socred Candidate Busy With Meetings

The Rev. R. James, Social Credit candidate for the riding, has had several meetings recently with encouraging attendance. On March 4th a meeting was held at the home of Mr and Mrs Earl Fitzgerald, Oxford Mills. On March 10th another meeting was staged in Ormond Public School at which the candidate again outlined some of the policies of the Social Credit movement in Canada.

Marshall Page, 75, Dies Suddenly on Thursday Retired Trainman and Former Village Councillor

The community was saddened to hear of the sudden passing of a former councillor and citizen, Marshall Sutherland Page, in his 75th year. Mr Page suffered a seizure Thursday afternoon and had passed away before medical assistance could be summoned. He was at his home on College Street at the time.

Mr Page was the son of the late John Page and his wife, the late Mary Gregg. He was born at Stroud, Ont. He spent 37 years as an employee of the CPR and at the time of his retirement in 1947 he was a trainman.

In 1947, Mr and Mrs Page, the former Lillian Merkley of this town, came to Chesterville from Toronto where they had lived for most of their married life. They built a fine new house on the McGee lot on College Street. In 1952 Mr Page was village councillor and following that for some time worked with the town as labour supervisor until his health deteriorated. He was a member of Chesterville A.F. & A.M. and a member of I.O.O.F., Smiths Falls.

Surviving besides Mrs Page are one brother, Jack, of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs Wm. Holmes, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Friday evening, Chesterville Masons officiated at a service at the home and on Saturday morning the Rev E. B. Bugden conducted the funeral service at the home. At noon, the remains were placed aboard the train to be conveyed to Toronto and there placed in the Page plot at Mount Pleasant Cemetery on Monday.

Licence Yet?

As we go to press, we learn the last day to get car licences has been advanced one day. Today, March 13 is now the last day and after that date anyone driving with 1957 plates will be subject to a fine.

It is understood that such a large number of car owners had not renewed at the announced closing date it was necessary to add one more day of grace.

Boy Lost

Monday forenoon, 3-year-old Calvin Hummel, son of Mr and Mrs Roy Hummel, who farms with his father, Melvin, just west of town, decided to take the family dog and go for a walk. The 3-year-old ended up out across the river, over on the Forward Headline and down the road to John Maxwell's.

Calvin was soon missed and was finally returned home safe and sound by Howarl Hough but not before a posse of Mel, Roy, Harold Windsor and Erwin Merkley had many bad moments following tracks and questioning neighbours. The boy and his dog covered about two miles through the snow.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

A Hot Potato

Some days a village or township councillor can't make a dollar, let alone please everyone. Especially in those trying times when some part of the public service offered by the municipality is being put to use that smacks of favouritism or special service, with a real or imagined lack of attention to the taxpayers.

Here is where we have decided views and we are quite sure they are shared by very few people. But we think a certain amount of special service at the taxpayer's expense is justified whether it is snow plowing a lane or paying a reasonable expense account.

One of the sad cries of our communities around nomination time is that no one is willing to stand for the public offices offered; the excuse is nearly always than one does not have the time. Of course, that excuse is usually a lot of foolishness; there is time available if a person can realize a fair return for the use of that time. But our modern society has slowly built up a hatful of silly unwritten regulations blanketing the actions of our public officials, especially on the township and village level. These men must spend many hours of their time directing and regulating the paid municipal workers; they must be willing to accept the short-tempered gibes of editors and fellow citizens with a reasonable show of even temper; and they must keep the mill rate down, or else!

The municipal officers must do all these things and many more, and be well rewarded with the honour of office and $3 a meeting. Then if some snowy night, and the plows are available, and they or any one of them is plowed home, there is an outcry. Or if the councillor's cellar suddenly starts gurgling full of water, and the village crew is called in to clear the matter, a bellow rises along the street that Joe Blow is using his office for special service.

This town of Chesterville or this township of Winchester or any other small town or township has a moral obligation to allow certain of the available services to be used by the officers for their own use. There is not any recognition here of abuse through that privilege but municipal officers spend a great deal of time and effort directing the workings of our communities. Surely they should be entitled to some small measure of reasonable attention in return.

We have a most unfortunate habit of setting up our own moral standard as a shining light and guide, if we are not directly affected. It is surprising how fast the picture changes when we want something special from the city fathers.

The next time the question comes up about abuse of privilege, it might be well to determine whether it really is abuse or only small return for work well done.

Pearson's Progress—Or Questions, Please?

Mr Pearson is having himself a ball across the country. He is sitting down in a familiar posture, relaxing in a familiar atmosphere and trading questions and answers with gusto.

That may be good publicity, but from this small worm's eye angle, it leaves a great deal to be desired. The university level of political approach to the voters is a reasonably good way to limit votes. It makes a cosy picture with "Mike" back in the old surroundings where he began but Joe on the shovel handle thinks very little of the idea.

Students are happiest when they are arguing and setting the world afire with their raging ideas; colleges have wonderful debating societies and on their own campuses generate more steam than the HEPC. The only trouble is, and of course we are only offering a humble opinion, that with only about 2% or less of our high school students going to college, Pearson is talking to a very small segment of the voting public; also a great percentage of those students are supported by at least two voters, Ma and Pa, who are back home digging to keep Junior in coffee money and copy books.

The great percentage of people who vote are not at the college level; indeed if we ease out here to the rural level, there is not too great an interest in a short seminar with the students and the old prof.

The Pearson program will get rolling much faster if he takes a spoke from the evangelical Mr Diefenbaker; the fellow with the important vote is Joe on the corner, at the whistle stop and at the mill; he and his wife make the ballots count up. They may not have the debater's loud and positive accents, but they do have mature ideas that count when the chips are down.

Borrowing is Dangerous

A man who didn't subscribe to his hometown newspaper sent his little boy to borrow a copy from his neighbour. In haste the boy ran over a stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a wart summer squash.

His father ran to his assistance and, failing to notice the barbed wire fence, tore and ruined a $9 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got into the field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the commotion, the farmer's wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch.

The baby, being left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlour, ruining a $50 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter eloped with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four shirts on the clothes line.

Moral—Don't borrow your neighbour's newspaper. It's too risky.—Atchison Globe, from Port Elgin Times.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

If there's anything you want to know about taking off wallpaper and preparing a room for re-papering just ask me. Last week, you will remember, I was feeling frightfully discouraged with the job of removing the paper from the bathroom. It looked almost impossible. Now I am very happy to report it is done.

After the man in the post office suggested that Harry might better help me with the paper and not bother to feed the pigeons he helped me two or three afternoons. I clocked up three full days and two halves and by Saturday night we had it all scraped off.

Now don't think for one minute the job got easier with practice. We earned every square inch we pried loose. The ceiling wasn't too hard fortunately. It hadn't had three layers of the varnished paper on it so the wet sheets peeled off rather easily. But the walls would have tried the patience of Job. Sometime I thought they simply couldn't be done.

When we finally finished the scraps and pieces lay about a foot deep in a soggy mass on the floor. We scraped, swept and shovelled until we had four paper feed bags crammed full then burned it all in the garden. But the job was by no means complete.

The cracks in the plaster which had been noticeably covered with strips of cotton were gaping at me from every side. Something had to be done with them. Besides there were nail-holes galore where mirrors and pictures had hung during the past decades.

Thank goodness for the fellow who invented plastic patching plaster. It is a wonder. It won't lump and can be made thick or thin to suit the job. Then when a patch is dry it can be smoothed off perfectly with sandpaper. I mixed up a cupful of it in an empty can and began the plastering job with a putty knife.

It wasn't hard to fill the nail holes and most of the cracks but a huge crack about a yard long in the slant-wall over the bath tub baffled me. On one side of it the plaster seemed to have sagged and hung a quarter-inch lower than it did on the other. I couldn't fill an uneven crack like that and do a respectable job. If only there was some way of holding the sagging piece in place, I thought. Then I had an idea.

I'm not much of a carpenter but I tore downstairs and got a screwdriver and two flat-headed screwnails about an inch and a quarter long. I started one of them in the plaster. Suddenly it struck space then it hit something solid. I twisted it in and as it finally tightened it pulled the sagging plaster up into place. Then I countersunk it so I could plaster over its head.

I had so much success with two screws I went for more. Five or six held the plaster up where it belonged and when I covered the heads and filled the crack it looked like a very good job. Then I found a piece of loose plaster near the ceiling. A couple of screws anchored it solidly and more plaster filled in the holes around it.

The patches are drying as I write this. Tomorrow I shall sand them all with a piece of sandpaper tacked to a block and the walls will be ready for paper. Then I shall wash and repair the woodwork and hope that the man can come to hang the new paper.

Would you like to know the colours that the re-decorated bathroom will be? The linoleum is mostly dark green. My bath towels and mats are all blue so for years the walls have been papered blue with white woodwork. I simply ignored the old green floor.

But the new paper is white with grey fish nets on it and tiny green, blue, pink and grey fish floating all over it. I got pale green paper for the ceiling and I'm painting the woodwork pale green to match. But I'm painting the clothes hamper, the dressing table and mirror and the waste basket powder blue to match the blue fish in the paper. The bath towels are blue and the terry drapes are mostly blue too. So the new colour scheme is green and blue.

Maybe you think that will be horrid. And maybe you are right.

HAIR SPRAYS MAY BECOME BLOW TORCHES

Delegates to the Alberta Fire Chiefs Association convention at Banff were told that "of the 30 commercial hair sprays on the market today, half of them are so highly inflammable that they could double adequately as blow torches."

Lew Marks, inspector with the Calgary fire department, said "many bombs and flame throwers" exist in households without many persons being aware of them.

To make his point Mr Marks held a match under the spray of a common hair preparation. The fluid, ejected by compressed gas, ignited immediately and formed a sheet of flames a foot long.

Mr Marks said that a woman could be burned fatally if she happened to be smoking while applying nail polish remover or hair spray. A check should be made when purchasing liquids to determine if they are non-inflammable.

TORONTO REPORTS

By F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.L.A.

During the past week of the Session the pace of Legislative business quickened into a "run" as Members of all parties cooperated in dealing with bills and other matters so that the House might prorogue in time to allow participation in the Federal election. Many bills were given third reading and practically all legislation to be passed this year has been introduced.

The greatest task of the week was consideration of the estimates for 1958-59 being presented by their Ministers for the various departments. These indicate that the budget prediction of more Government assistance to school boards and municipalities and more welfare, highways and other spending will be spread over the whole province to benefit all of us. The absence through illness of C.C.F. Leader MacDonald has hastened the work of the House with no loss to its efficiency; the Liberal Opposition has been taking a new breath of life and has been quite constructively critical of many Government measures. Mr Peter Manley, M.P.P. for Stormont, has taken a leading part in these debates along with Liberal Leader Oliver and chief opposition financial critic John Wintermeyer, of Waterloo North.

The Private Bills Committee during the past week was faced with a large number of private bills of which three were very controversial and produced long drawn out meetings filled with acrimonious debate. The first of these was a bill presented by Queen's University asking for authority to expropriate some twelve properties contiguous to the present university buildings and needed for construction of additions to present buildings. After hearing many delegations it was apparent to the committee that, as five times assessed value had been offered to each owner and the opposition was not composed of the property owners concerned but of other Kingston people apparently unfriendly to Queen's as well as to the principle of expropriation, the bill was recommended by the committee.

Mr Don Morrow, M.P.P. for Ottawa West, introduced a City of Ottawa bill which, among other things, provided for power to the city to fluoridate its water supply. The Members were almost uunanimous in rejecting this provision in the view that any such legislation should be by Government bill and made effective province-wide. The third contentious matter was a bill from the City of Toronto containing a provision to allow City Council to pay the judgment and costs assessed against former Mayor Lamport for libel. This bill passed by a small majority. Many of the Members, including your Member who, along with others, even received front page publicity from the big Toronto dailies on his stand, considered it to be a bad precedent to authorize councils to use taxpayers' money to indemnify public officials found by the courts to have used libellous words either on an unprivileged occasion or with malice on a privileged occasion.

Powerhouse Beginning to Assume Final Outline
Last Major Concrete Placing Made

Last major concrete placing operation on the headworks of Ontario Hydro's Robert H. Saunders - St. Lawrence generating station was completed last week. This big "pour" was above unit 13 and approximately a thousand yards of concrete was placed in the final gap in the headworks.

"The concrete operations at the powerhouse site are ahead of schedule," Gordon Mitchell, project director, stated. He praised the work of the powerhouse contractor, Iroquois Constructors Limited, and said that the work had proceeded ahead of the target date despite the severe winter weather that had been encountered both this year and last year.

To date, more than 912,000 cubic yards of concrete has gone into the powerhouse structure. This represents obout 96% of the total concrete which has been put in this main installation, and only about 40,000 cubic yards of concrete remains to be placed in the structure.

Near Completion in June

Concrete placing work will be virtually completed in June. Most of the work from now on until that time will be concentrated on the main deck around the units, in the scroll case, walls and roofs. "However, some concrete work of an intricate nature will be carried out until mid-September when all this work is scheduled to be finished," Thomas O'Neill, resident engineer of Iroquois Constructors Limited, said.

He revealed that the powerhouse contractor had started to take down the main conveyor which has been a landmark for the past two years. This stretches from the batching and mixing plant over the U-abutment and across the headworks. This long conveyor has handled more than a half-million yards of concrete during the past two years.

Remove Gantry Cranes

The contractor also will commence removing the 85-foot gantry crane on the downstream side of the powerhouse during the week of March 17, in preparation for the breaching of C-1 cofferdam and the flooding of the downstream area. Following the removal of this gantry crane, the 100-foot high gantry crane on the upstream face of the powerhouse will be taken down. This will leave only the two work gantry cranes on the headworks that are now being used for concrete placing operations.

The entire powerhouse area is rapidly becoming changed in its appearance. Those installations necessary for construction are disappearing, and the structure is assuming its final, finished outline.

SAFE DRIVING LECTURE GIVEN AT FINCH

An illustrated lecture on safe driving was given by Constable Wilson, of the OPP, Cornwall, on Monday evening last in Finch Orange Hall, sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture.

The film, "Screw Drivers and Screw Jays," was shown and illustrated the folly of poor driving. Constable Wilson gave a short lecture on the traffic tolls of Stormont County for 1957 and pointed out the safe points in driving.

At the close of the meeting, he distributed the Motorist's Manual, The Highway Traffic Act and a safe driving comic book for the children.

Peter Manley Speak to Pupils During Education Week

The pupils of No. 18 Finch T.S.A. had the opportunity of hearing Peter Manley, M.P.P. for Stormont, speak during Education Week. Mr Manley addressed the pupils and their parents during Open House on Friday afternoon.

The guest speaker gave a highly educational talk on the work carried out while the provincial parliament is in session. He outlined the procedure through which a bill passes before it becomes law.

Mr Manley urged the children to spend their time in school wisely and learn their lessons well so that they may take their rightful place in the community. He also passed out several pictures and pamphlets on Ontario.

Mr Manley closed his remarks with a question and answer period which was much enjoyed by all.

Lunch was served by some of the parents, Mrs C. Robertson, Mrs A. Sanders and Mrs M. Foster.

Earlier in the week, the pupils saw three slides shown by the health nurse, Mrs E. McLean, entitled "What Breakfast Did for Emily," "Why We Eat" and "Our Teeth."

CHEMICAL TREATMENT MAY ELIMINATE POTHOLES

A Canadian firm has developed a chemical treatment of the soil which it believes will save taxpayers millions of dollars by eliminating or reducing springtime damage to highways and streets from frost heaving.

The chemical used is Lignosol, a byproduct of sulphite pulp manufacture.

F. T. Atkinson, president of Lignosol Chemicals Ltld., said his company, working on an experimental basis with the CNR for five years, "proved conclusively" that railway road beds treated with the chemical are much less susceptible to frost heaving.

"We expect that the same treatment can be adapted to eliminate or reduce heaving on highways and city streets."

An experimental program at the University of Alberta indicated that Lingnosol would elmininate or reduce frost heaving by decreasing the permeability of the soil.

He said his company and the CNR started their project in Quebec and moved into Southern Ontario. The railway, he said, has decided to expand the program further.

A Denver real estate salesman told Judge David Brofman recently his last name was "embarrassing and a source of ridicule."

The judge approved his petition to change his name to Charles Edwin Dunlap. The previous name: Swindler.

Tortoise Islands

Science is trying to pay its debt to the Galapagos Islands.

These volcanic peaks jutting out of the Pacific 600 miles west of South America have strongly influenced the course of human thought. While studying wildlife on the Galapagos, Charles Darwin began reflections that led to his theory of evolution.

For centuries man destroyed animal life on the Galapagos. Now, a movement is under way to set aside one or more of the 15 major islands as a sanctuary. Conservationists in Ecuador, which owns the islands, the United States and Europe are at work on the project. An expedition is studying possible sites.

Galapago is Spanish for tortoise. The huge tortoises of the Galapagos gave their name to the islands and made them famous in the world's zoos. Visitors to the islands found they could ride the shellbacks like horses. Some grew so large a dozen men were needed to carry a single specimen.

The tortoises were among the first victims of exploitation on the islands. Pirates and whalers found them a ready source of meat. With no natural enemies, the tortoises were placid and easily caught. One might yield 200 pounds of "Galapagos mutton." Over the years, millions were killed. They are now close to extinction.

Another native, the marine iguana, is a four-foot vegetarian dragon with a fearsome appearance but the disposition of a weak earthworm. Its numbers have dwindled greatly.

Straddling the Equator, the islands offer little fresh water and are sparsley inhabited. But colonizing attempts and ship visits have brought trouble for the wildlife. Escaped dogs, cats, goats and other domestic animals have reversed their normal roles and become the wildest things on the islands. All prey on native species, or compete with them for food.

Galapagos finches form a living text in evolution. Scientists believe all the forms found in the islands are descended from a single species. In time, they took over the various niches customary to bird life.

One finch became, in effect, a warbler, with a thin beak and insect-hunting habits. Others became seed eaters, modifying their beaks for small or large grains. Another species has grown a parrot-like beak for eating fruit and tree buds.

Most remarkable is the finch that became a woodpecker. Its bill stretched into the typically long woodpecker chisel. But it has not developed the spearlike tongue that true woodpeckers use to pull insects from holes. To compensate, the finch picks a cactus spine and pokes it into the hole to dislodge prey.

Among the finches studied by Darwin, one species is already extinct.

Although Ecuador has protected the Galapagos fauna by law since 1934, the islands are remote and policing is difficult.

Among the organizations working to preserve the rare fauna are the International Union for Conservation and the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

SERVE CHEESE AND EGG DISHES DURING LENT

CHEESE AND EGG SUPPER DISHES are usually easy and quick to make so as well as being good ideas for Lenten meals they are also good ideas for those busy spring housecleaning days that are almost upon us.

It only takes a few minutes to make but will require an hour to bake while you can relax for a few minutes before supper.

3 tbsps. flour
½ tsp. salt
3 tbsps. butter
1 cup milk
3 eggs
¾ cup grated cheese

Make a thick white sauce with the first four ingredients. Remove from heat; add well beaten egg yolks and cheese. Chill; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into buttered casserole; place in pan of hot water and bake fifty minutes in 300 degree oven. Serve at once, as if allowed to stand souffle will fall.

¼ tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup cooked rice
2 cups cooked peas, canned or frozen
1 tsp. chopped onion

Need for Expansion Stressed at Hospital Meeting Municipalities Asked to Aid Hospital

The great need for expansion of Winchester District Memorial Hospital was discussed at the annual meeting held in the board room last week. All reports told of overcrowding.

Wallace Carkner, chairman of the board, told members the board felt it was the duty of municipalities outside the original hospital area to organize and provide funds, if the hospital was to continue to serve their their areas.

Dr D. McMillan, of Crysler, and Dr E. H. N. Lambert, of Morrisburg, supported the president's view.

William Gorrell, Morrisburg lawyer and deputy magistrate, advised the formation of a committee to start immediate action. Mahlon Zeron, reeve of Matilda Township, said "We will go along with any that will help the hospital."

The chairman asked the representatives of the different municipalities to organize committees to raise money for either an expansion of the Winchester hospital or for the building of their own institutions.

Mrs G. Muulloy, supervisor of nurses, emphasized the need for more beds. She said that the average patient day was 40.7, yet the government referred to the hospital as a 34-bed institution, and paid the grants on that basis. The total number of patients admitted were 2,322 and total births were 622.

Auxiliary Report

Mrs G. I. Black, president of the Hospital Auxiliary, reported during the past year $5,212.17 had been raised, and value of food donations had totalled more than $1,000. Disbursements from the general fund had totalled more than $3,000, and $5,050 had been taken from the capital account to pay for a new dumb waiter. The bank balance was now a little more than $10,000.

Allan Alford, administrator, reported hospital costs per patient day had risen to $15.54, and per diem rates were well below this figure.

F. Erle Helmer, secretary of the board, gave the financial report which showed an operating deficit of about $3,500, after $13,000 had been set aside for depreciation. Total assets of the hospital were reported to be in excess of $350,000.

Wallace Carkner, of Kenmore, was re-elected chairman of the board, and W. J. L. Boyd, of Winchester, was also re-elected as vice-chairman. F. Erle Helmer announced his retirement from the office of secretary, to take effect at the end of March. Andrew C. Ross was elected treasurer.

Directors representing the different townships and villages were elected as follows: Mountain Township, William Graham and George Suffell; Matilda, Dalton Coons and John H. Wells; Williamsburg, H. Holmes and D. H. Thompson; Winchester Township, Orvil Guy and Clark Smith; Russell and district, William Linegar and Russell Phair; Winchester, W. J. L. Boyd, Norman W. Beach, Hart Melvin and Walter C. MacDonald; Chesterville, Eric Casselman and Allison Graham; Winchester Village council appointees, Reeve J. M. Fader and councillor Howard E. Biccum; Counties' Council member, Deputy Reeve Joseph Hyndman.—Ottawa Journal.

Alton Hanes Anderson Dies in Saskatchewan

The death of Alton Hanes Anderson, aged 82 years, of 537 Ave. J. North, Saskatoon, Sask., occurred suddenly at his home on February 25.

The late Mr Anderson was born at Iroquois, Ontario, on March 22, 1875. He was the second of three sons born to Charles Stephen Anderson and his wife, the former Dora Hanes.

He grew up on his father's farm at Iroquois and attended school there, graduating from Iroquois High School. He attended Teachers' College in Morrisburg and graduated as a teacher in January, 1894. He commenced his teaching career at Hulbert School August 15, 1894, and taught Hulbert and Patterson Schools until 1898. Taking a leave of absence, he furthered his education at college in Ottawa.

After college he returned to teaching and taught at Morewood, Grantley, Chesterville and Berwick.

In the Spring of 1905, with the Western provinces opening up, Mr Anderson and his brother, Frank, decided to move to the West. They arrived in Saskatoon on April 1, 1905. He took up a homestead in the Blucher district east of Saskatoon.

Mr Anderson again resumed teaching and taught until 1910. Having his farm improved, he then decided to devote all his time to farming.

While teaching at Morewood in 1898 he met a very lovely young lady whom he courted. In 1910 this young lady decided to share her life with his and on December 2, 1910, Wilhelmina Dillabough became the wife of Alton Hanes Anderson at Saskatoon. They were blessed with four children, two girls and two boys.

He continued to farm until 1920 when, due to the lack of educational facilities, he decided to discontinue farm and took up residence in Saskatoon.

After moving to Saskatoon he was employed by the city for a number of years.

During the years 1939 to 1945 he worked for the Department of Transport and was associated with the building of airports at Le Pas, Manitoba, Mossbank and Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan; also, the Bombing and Gunnery School at Dafoe, Sask. After the war he was employed by the Department of Highways for the Province of Saskatchewan.

He was a director of The Fraternal and Protective Benevolent Society, a member of the Old Boys Club and very closely associated with the welfare of the old age pensioners.

He was predeceased by his two brothers, Frank and Charles, and his sister, Dora.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters, Alice and Anna L., and two sons, Ralph, Saskatoon, and Harry, Kalamazoo, Mich. Three grandchildren, Leanna, Linda and Terrance, also survive.
