Finch Branch of the Women's Institute held their Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs Morrison MacLeod, and the motto for the meeting was "You can not do a kindness too soon, because you never know how soon it will be too late."

The roll call was answered by displaying a simple Christmas decoration for the home.

The president, Mrs Donald Casselman, opened the meeting by singing the Ode, accompanied by Mrs Earl Droppo, repeating the Mary Stewart Collect and the Lord's prayer.

Mrs Ernest Montgomery assisted as secretary. The correspondence consisted of letters from the Department requesting that leaders be appointed for the Girls' Garden and Homemaking Clubs, also an appeal from the Canadian Save the Children Fund. It was decided that members would again do some sewing for same.

A paper, "Good Food for Older People," read by Mrs Ewart Neville, was much enjoyed.

MacLean and the presentation of an Institute pin was made by Mrs Roy Rupert as a remembrance of her associations with Finch Women's Institute. All sang "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

The meeting closed with the National Anthem. Lunch was served by Mrs MacLeod, assisted by Mrs Hugh Rombough and Mrs Blake Nephew.

Council Interviews Police-to-be Local Applicant Signed for '56

NEW POLICEMAN CHESTERVILLE NATIVE

Leonard G. Shane, a young man considerably over six feet in height and in his late twenties, will be Chesterville's new police chief next year. He is a graduate of Nation Valley Public School and Chesterville High School.

Leonard has had a year of service with Ontario Provincial Police on town and highway patrol. He was stationed in Thunder Bay district No. 15. His original training consisted of six weeks at Police College, Toronto; he has his secondary papers for the St. John's Ambulance course.

Police work in Chesterville calls for the officer to be on duty eight hours out of the 24 and on call at all times. One day a week will be free.

Community Rink Open Skating Schedule Drawn Plans Made

Last Friday members of Chesterville Community Centre Board and interested citizens met in the library to make plans for the coming winter season at the park rink.

Present with the Board were Ed Harvey, Gord Lannin and John Durant.

The new skating and hockey schedule was drawn up, with a few changes from last year. In order to allow the caretaker time to get home for his supper at night, the rink will close a half hour earlier. Particular attention will be paid to getting a small fry schedule of hockey going Saturday mornings. John Durant and Brian Gilbert will be in charge of this activity.

Sunday skating came in for much discussion. It was pointed out that this year the rink would be supervised and that no hockey would be allowed. Additional time, one more night, is allowed for hockey this year in the weekly schedule.

Chesterville village can raise enough man power for three teams. One will originate from Nestlé's, one under the joint leadership of Ed Harvey and Gord Lannin and one under Bill Kavanagh from the High School. Another is needed from the country, to round out the schedule. Anyone who wishes to discuss the matter of entering a team in the group, may get information from Staley Chambers, Gord Lannin or Ed Harvey. It is to be hoped a fourth team will make its appearance to lend further rivalry to the town league.

Gord Lannin and Keith Graham were appointed canvassers to solicit contributions for the outdoor rink. The canvass is to be carried out at the latter part of the week.

Chesterville council met Wednesday evening for the last regular meeting of the year. All councillors were present as was the reeve. The meeting was held in the clerk's office of Community Hall.

A special meeting was held Monday night of this week to complete the work of the year and interview prospects for the duties of policeman for the village. From the two meetings, a decision to meet and hire the officer was made. Mr Leonard Shane was chosen for the position. Mr Shane lives in the Chesterville area. His salary will be $200 per month with an additional $35 a month car allowance. He will be supplied with the necessary uniform and equipment to carry cut his duties.

The Shane application was one of seven received for the position and he was one of two interviewed. Mr Roy Hummel met council in interview.

Hydro affairs for the year were wound up with dispatch. Some correspondence was read dealing with consumer's problems regarding service. A hydro pole, broken in a traffic accident on Ralph St., was ordered replaced with a 35-foot pole. The commission noted the purchase of a new used service truck for the commission at a cost of $450 from L. Butler.

Chesterville Volunteer firemen held 10 practice sessions in the past year and the chief presented the bill at $1 per man per session. Also included was a sum of $25 for the false alarm sounded and answered two weeks ago. The culprit has been apprehended and found to be a minor. His father has promised to make retribution.

Constable Hunsburger called attention of council to some stop signs that had been knocked down. In the interests of safety, he suggested their replacement as soon as possible and also suggested the use of sand on the side streets to reduce the hazard of slipping on the ice.

Tenders were opened and considered for the lowering of the ceiling in the firehall. Prices ranged from $100, $140 and $385. Council took another look at the frayed bankroll and decided to table the ceiling tenders until the new year.

Official motion finally noted that the OPP contract would not be renewed after December 31, 1955. In its stead council would hire a private policeman for the community.

Seven applications were received in answer to the advertisement for a police chief. They covered the field of qualifications with many likely prospects in the lot. The salaries asked were from $2,100 up to $3,600 with the average about $2,500. Most applicants asked that a car be provided although some, like Mr Shane, were willing to use their own autos at a set figure per mile or month.

This reporter left the chambers close to the witching hour before the meeting was adjourned. Other than further consideration to the interview problem and some tentative plans for the Monday night meeting, nothing was left to report on.

Monday night's meeting, as disclosed by the minutes, was mainly concerned with the passing of the final accounts, tabling as not acted on the proposed Milk By-law of last May and interviewing the police applicants.

NEW POLICING POLICY

The days of Ontario Provincial Police representation in the village are numbered. The official contract expires December 31 and council has made other arrangements for policing the community.

Regret will be felt in many quarters that the services of the provincial organization will have to be let go. No fault is found with the system or the personnel, but rather the increasing cost to the municipality for the service has dictated the move. A small town as only so much money to spend each year and a responsible council tries to make ends meet if at all possible. When policing costs threaten to reach the $5,000 figure for a year's service, or nearly five mills of taxes, then a less expensive system is called for if only to demonstrate the rightness or wrongness of the economy of the move.

Constables of the OPP have served here for some years; they have come and gone at the word of the Inspector and they have been all good men. Constable Wm. "Bill" Hunsburger as been here for four years now and he will be missed. In those years he has found himself a fine wife and small son and has become as popular as a policeman may and still follow his rule of conduct. We will miss him, but his training will broaden with each progressive move and we wish him luck.

"Where's Bill" will soon give way to "Where's Leonard." Before Constable Bill gets away, make it a point to wish him well; he has given us good policing in the past four years—an expression of personal appreciation might be a nice Christmas present for a hard-working cop.

THOSE SLOPPY JEANS!

Some time has elapsed before we could generate enough courage to express the following thoughts about the "younger" generation, their modes and mannerisms. Doing so puts us on the old and haggard side of 25, we imagine, and our sparse grey locks belie our youthful heart.

We have been under the impression for some time now that there was a difference in the sexes, one way or another, in Chesterville. Aside from the manifest physical appearances, method of clothing the young has always had the object of calling attention to the fact that girls are girls and boys are fair game. Even up to 25 that practice is followed or was, until jeans and sloppers were made high style for teenagers. Then the whole shebang flew apart, until today it is almost impossible to tell the difference at thirty feet between Tom, Dick and Mary.

Personally we don't like the fashion. The colour of feminine dress is only one of its many attractions; that is nearly all gone from the groups of teen-agers and a blue denim look has taken charge. Neatness of skirt and a well-clad calf has given way to a pair of pants that wants only a shaggy horse to add further wrinkles.

We have not discussed this problem with any school teachers or anyone close to the field of education, but we would bet our bottom dollar that sloppy habits of dress are reflected in classroom work and decorum. If the young lady only takes pains with her appearance on a night out, and the same goes for Joe who shuffles past with one shoulder down trying to keep the moccasins on his feet, then the "younger" generation is losing ground. Employers still look for certain qualifications in prospective employees, and the qualifications must of necessity be a part of the applicant, not just added for the party.

It would be nice to look up the street and be able to tell whether the clutch of teen-agers ahead was he or she. Neatness and grace should not be camouflaged or traded; sloppiness is a nasty habit.

Gift-giving the World Over

The giving of gifts has been an important part of the holiday season ever since the Wise Men and shepherds brought gifts to the Christ Child of Bethlehem.

Gifts expressing love and goodwill are given all over the world at this time, but the bearer of gifts differs from country to country.

In America children look for ward to Santa Claus, who carries his gifts in a pack on his back and is drawn in a sleigh by eight prancing reindeer. He fills the stockings, hung by the fireplace, and heaps presents under the Christmas tree.

After the Christmas Eve feast in Poland, Mother Star—who is dressed like an angel in a white robe and veil, distributes the gifts after Father Star, who is a bit to be feared, listens to the children's prayers and catechism.

In Norway, they remember the birds and animals with suet and choice sheaves of grain tied to trees and roof-tops extra fodder is provided for the cattle.

Candles shine from every window in Bavaria, to light the Kristkind on her way from home to home. She is the messenger of Infant Jesus, and Bavarian children believe that she brings them their gifts. She wears a white robe and has golden wings.

In Holland, Dutch children wait anxiously for the arrival of St. Nicholas. Dressed in traditional bishop's robes of black, he carries a crozier and wears a mitre. He brings gifts for the children which he places in their wooden shoes standing in the chimney corner.

Gifts are given to the Swiss children by a radiant angel who rides in a sleigh drawn by six reindeer.

English children wait for Santa Claus, who looks very much like our own jolly elf. They also find gifts tied to a Christmas tree.

In Spain, the Three Wise Men deliver gifts as they continue their way to Bethlehem.

In old Russia, "Baboushka," carrying a staff and many toys, goes from house to house in her search for the Christ Child.

"La Befana," mystical wanderer in search of the Christ Child, delivers gifts, like the good fairy she is, to Italian children. She is represented carrying a broom and goes from house to house.

Light Along The Way

Wordsworth wrote:

"That best portion of a good man's life—
His little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love," and in the writing expressed something of the prophet Isaiah's third vision of the Messiah who was to come. (Isaiah 50 : 4-9). We have already paid attention to the character and the mission of the Servant, in this part of the vision the prophet tells us something of how the Servant will carry out His mission.

We are immediately aware that the Servant comes not to destroy but to fulfill. His forerunners, the prophets, had more often than not been voices of doom, and in their hands the word of Jehovah had been like a hammer breaking the rock in pieces. But the Servant comes with a new power, and strikes a more positive note. He has "the tongue of those who are taught . . . to sustain . . . him that is weary." He has mercy and compassion for those who are heavy burdened, a message of comfort that can bring strength and hope in the midst of life's greatest darkness.

The Servant bears the same relation to God that a disciple does to his Master, one who is willing to learn that he may teach others. The Servant's eagerness to know God and to do His will is matched with the readiness of Jehovah to teach Him. "Morning by morning" He searches for Jehovah, and He is able to say: "The Lord God has opened my ear."

The tragedy is that so many cannot, or will not, accept the Servant. His way is too costly, perhaps. His call to men that they should love one another, and so serve one another that they are a blessing to each other, is so upsetting to the life of the strong and wealthy that they will not consider it. More than that they see Him as their worst enemy. They smite Him, but He does not retaliate. They pluck off the hair of his beard (an extreme insult to an oriental whose beard was the symbol of dignity) and he accepts it. They shame Him and spit upon Him, yet He does not rebel, nor seek any other way than this, which is the way God has called Him to go.

This unwavering confidence in God brings the help he needs. He is not overcome by the malice and wickedness of His enemies, and He pursues His end in the realization that the elements of evil must dissolve in the cauldron of good, His enemies inevitably suffer destruction for the rot from within will creep out like a moth to devour all until none are left. When man is sustained by the help of the Lord who can prevail against him?

Isaiah rightly sees that the world cannot set aside the teaching of One who in His very life bears out the truth of that which He proclaims. So it is that many hundreds of years after this prophet's vision we accept the Servant, and pay our greatest homage to God for the gift of His Son.

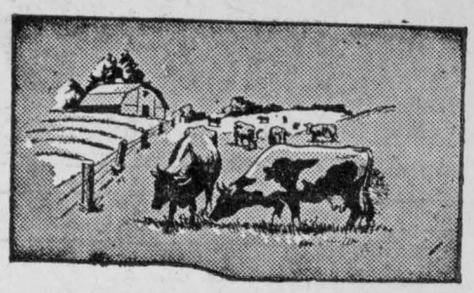
CHRISTMAS PREPARATIONS—The champion of Canada's Do-It-Yourself movement, Peter Whittall, is all set for Christmas. Here he is in his cellar workshop with some toys and decorations he's just made for the festive season. On his weekly CBC-TV show, "Mr Fix-it," he demonstrates not only the making of things like these, and general home repairs, but keeps viewers informed on the many new developments in Do-It-Yourself materials, tools and methods. Whittall also writes several articles and columns on this theme in national magazines and newspapers.

BAD SAMARITAN

Clenith W. Bell, Louisville, encountered a bad Samaritan the other day and lost. Bell was driving from Cincinnati to Louisville when his car stopped. He flagged down an approaching car. The driver got out, looked things over, whipped out a pistol and took $165 from Bell's wallet.

The next driver Bell stopped was kinder. He gave him a lift to a police station.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



By Lillian Allison

There's an old English saying that tells us that if we pay no attention to a cold it will last all of two weeks but if we take medicine and stay in bed, etc., it will be gone in a fortnight. Which means I should be recovered completely by Sunday. For I've tried both treatments.

I stayed in bed the first two days because my throat was so raw I didn't want to whisper. Then I got up two days. When I started to cough I went back to bed and took aureomycin. The cough didn't get any worse so I got up again. This afternoon I felt as if I'd been pounded, so I went back to bed again. I haven't figured out whether this schedule will have me up on Sunday or not.

However, may I take this opportunity to offer my sincere sympathy to all those who have colds. You deserve more sympathy than you're getting for a real, honest-to-goodness cold is nothing to be sneezed at. Especially this time of year.

Take a little later on, say March, when the winds are howling and the snow is whisking around the corners it isn't too bad to be shut in with a cold. It isn't fit to be out anyway.

A cold in June offers a legitimate excuse for sitting or lying in the sun. The sun is supposed to be an ideal healer of respiratory diseases and you don't mind soaking in a little sun anyway.

An autumn cold isn't too bad either. If you're coughing in October you know it won't last long. For isn't there an old idea that you'll stop coughing when the leaves fall?

But a Christmas cold offers no consolation. You miss the dinner you were invited to. There are two parties on the agenda and you miss them both. You can't go to the school concert. You haven't finished shopping and you've run out of Christmas cards. But there isn't a thing you can do about it. Besides if you're off work how will you pay for the ones you've already got?

Out at the Mayo Clinic they're looking for a vaccine that will prevent the common cold. Fifty years from now the cold will be a matter of history, some modern prophet has predicted. I wonder if I can hold out that long. Grandma Moses did.

But if it weren't for colds I'd never catch up on my reading. I've burned the midnight oil night after night lately and the pile of magazines that I've read cover to cover is getting higher.

I liked the story of the lady who got fed up with having such a hectic time just before Christmas—gifts, cards, visitors, rush and scramble for days and days. So one year she made a resolution. Christmas the next year would be peaceful and serene.

One hot, summer day she did her shopping—gold coloured compacts for all the ladies on her list and leather cases for all the men. She got them all on sale and gift wrapped, She mailed her cards early. All was going according to plan. There would be no mad rush on December 24 for she had even arranged that she and her husband would eat out.

But when December 24 came she wasn't as happy and serene as she expected. Suddenly she realized she'd left the heart out of Christmas. You just can't plan Christmas with the cold efficiency of an electronic machine. So the story ends happily with the lady in the middle of last-minute shopping, tree-trimming, turkey-stuffing and telephoning.

Another item that caught my interest tells a true story. For the third year the children in Thistletown school, instead of exchanging gifts, are making donations through the United Nation's Children's Fund to help less fortunate children in the world. Last year they gave $107—enough to vaccinate 2 500 children against tuberculosis.

When one of the boys asked his mother what she would like for Christmas she replied, "Ten shots of penicillin, please," so he promptley donated $1.50 of his allowance to the fund for what his mother considers "the nicest present I ever got."

And isn't it about time that all of us, instead of giving and receiving luxuries and unnecessaries to add to those we have already, gave something instead to help the unfortunate in the world? And if we did we might experience a little of the peace the angels told about when they sang, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased!

Outdoor Roundup

with Joe Foster

As this is written there are only twelve more days left until Chistmas. When it appears in print there will be only nine or seven days left, depending upon whether the paper publishes Thursday or Saturday. I'm shattered, especially so because so few of the remaining days are shopping days. What can I do now at this late by way of offering help to those who have an outdoorsman to play Santa Claus to?

Be They Seventeen or Seventy

There are few fishermen or hunters who trust "Old Saint Nick" to pick out exactly what they want. Maybe they figure the old gent is too busy looking after filling the children's stockings to have acquired much hunting and fishing knowledge, so they help him out in the most sensible way possible. If our sportsman has an understanding family and good and sympathetic friends, he can write down precisely what he needs and get off his letter to Santa Claus in the usual way. Thus the died in the wool bait caster avoids the embarrassment of having to thank someone for a surf casting reel all "dickied" up with a star drag and the upland game gunner doesn't find himself the recipient of a six-power scope for his favourite scatter gun.

The Easiest Solution

Many women solve thegift problem for husbands and husbands-to-be and other friends by turning the task over to someone else. They pick out a friend of the man in their life, ask him to buy something that he knows the husband or boy friend will like and that's that. Most sportsmen that I know who are consistently enthusiastic about the outdoors know that you just can't walk into any old sporting goods store and expect to find assortments and behind-the-counter advice, to make this the easiest part of the Christma s shopping round, but they, because they know their way around in such matters, can usually refer their problem to someone or some place of business that specializes in catering to the outdoor sportsman.

Christmas Tree Fire Hazard

Most everyone knows or should know by now the hazard to life and property inherent in setting up and caring for the family Christmas tree—and yet I don't feel I can let the opportunity pass without sounding a last warning. Please don't leave the Christmas tree lights burning on the tree when you retire or when you go out. Don't set up your tree near an open fireplace and don't, whatever you do, use candles on or near your tree.

How to Pick Your Tree

Spruce trees dry out more quickly than do balsam fir or pine. If you do choose a spruce, try and make sure that it hasn't been cut too long. If it has been cut more than three weeks before you buy it, chances are it will dry out so quickly that most of the needles will shed by Christmas morning and that it will be highly combustible. Here's how you can tell the difference between pine, balsam fir and spruce. A pine always has two or more needles in a place on a twig, while the balsam and spruce

F. S. Wowsad, of the division of forage plants, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, was the guest speaker. He gave an illustrated lecture on seed mixtures for hay, pasture and silage suitable for Eastern Ontario. He condemned the common practice of some seed houses of adding unnecessary and unsuitable seeds to their pasture mixtures which added to their cost. The speaker was introduced by Fieldman J. W. McRae and thanked by Malcolm Graham.

A. D. Ralph, Kemptville director for Eastern Ontario, brought greetings from the parent organization and outlined the programme for the Ontario Soils and Crop convention to be held in Toronto January 24-27.

Gordon Simzer, of Mountain, was appointed official delegate to the convention.

Mr McRae stressed the importance of sowing clean. He was particularly concerned with the spread of yellow rocket.

County Weed Inspector Mike Laughlin reported five spray demonstrations during the summer had been carried out with success.

Willard R. Rutley, 62 Passes Away Suddenly

Finch community was shocked by the sudden death of Willard R. Rutley, which occurred in Cornwal Genera Hospital, after a brief four days' illness.

Mr Rutley had been in his usual good health, having gone to work Saturday morning and during the night suffered a heart attack. He was taken to hospital by ambulance early Sunday morning, where it was thought he was improving. On Wednesday he suffered another attack from which he failed to recover.

Mr Rutley was born in Avonmore 62 years ago, a son of Mr and Mrs Leonard Rutley, the former eHssie Arbuthnot.

He is survived by his wife, the former Anna Shaver, and one daughter, Phyllis, Cornwall; two brothers, Thorold , Avonmore, and Arnold, New York; three sisters, Mrs Beavis, Belleville; Mrs Alex MacMillan, Cornwall; Mrs C. S. Ross, Ottawa. Mrs Bowman (Jessie) Cornwall, predeceased him about three years ago.

The remains rested at Brownlee's Funeral Home, Finch, until Saturday from where they were conveyed to St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, where the service was conducted by his pastor, Rev John Bell, assisted by Rev H. M. Beach, Chalmer's United Church.

The many floral pieces were a silent tribute to the esteem in which he was held.

The pall bearers were W. E. MacQuaig, Roy Rupert, Grant Nugent, Howard Winters, Hugh MacDougall and Carl Waldroff.

A solo, "The Lord's My Shepherd," was rendered by Mrs Geo. Rupert, accompanied by Mrs J. W. Carr.

An impressive Masonic service was conducted at the funeral parlours under the direction of Avonmore Lodge No. 452, A.F. & A.M., by Victor Johnstone.

POINSETTIA LEGEND

So many legends attendant to Christmas are associated with plants and flowers!

Here is another one you may not have known! A little Mexican waif had no gift to take to the Cathedral at Christmas. As she slowly picked her way to the church a strange weed caught her eye and she gathered it to take with her.

When she knelt to place this weed upon the altar, she saw in amazement that the humble weed had blossomed as a Poinsettia—or Flora de Noche Buena (the Flower of the Nativity as it is called in Mexico).

Canada, with an area of 3,845,774 square miles, is the world's largest country after Russia.

Canadian railway management figures that on commuter service operations it cost $2.60 to earn $1.00.

Stormont Farm Forums Hear Ray Hergott At Osnabruck Centre Rally

Many resolutions brought before the government are sponsored by Farm Forums, said Ray Hergott, a member of the provincial executive of the organization.

Mr Hergott was addressing a rally of eight Stormont County Farm Forums held in Osnabruck Centre recently. The wages of workmen in all industries are rising, yet the farmers' income is declining, he claimed.

The speaker also said the higher income group was not paying its rightful share of the cost of education, as all income tax goes to the Federal Government. He said the government was being asked to pass legislation making education costs more proportionate.

He also outlined some of the other actions the government was being asked to take. One was to take into consideration co-operative medical insurance associations when passing a national medical insurance act.

Topics for this summer's "Folk School" were discussed in the light of the success of last year's school. The meeting was followed by a luncheon.

Also present at the rally were Mr Brownell, the county chairman, who thanked the speaker, Mr Munroe of Carleton County, and William Legault. Mr Munroe is the vice-president of the Provincial Farm Forum. R. R. Crozier, of the provincial department of agriculture, was also present.

FOR THE POULTRYMAN

Even well-grown pullets are not COMPLETELY developed when they begin to lay. They continue to fill out, adding another 1 to 2 lbs. Trying to grow, manufacture eggs, and maintain body condition, all at the same time, puts heavy demands on them, and on their feed. Without feed fortied for this 3-fold job they may lay themselves into a false or partial moult and en expensive rest period.

PURINA BOOSTER CHECKERS are made to supply extra proteins, vitamins, minerals, antibiotics to deal with that situation. Feed 6 lbs. per 100 birds per day, on top of the regular ration.

Disease germs, mites, lice can upset your poultry plans and turn your expected profits into losses. It's sensible to take sensible precautions against them.

PURINA INSECT OIL is a real help. Painted or sprayed on wooden surfaces, it kills germs with which it comes in contact, repels mites for a year, and helps preserve the wood. Apply when the house is empty. (If you have much wood to paint, of earth floors to disinfect, INSECT OIL CONCENTRATE will prove more economical).

PURINA POULTRY INSECTICIDE will help you get rid of lice. Paint it on the roosts just before roosting time. Repeat in 10 days. It's good practice to inspect birds for lice at housing, and after that at least once a month.

Ask Permission First

If you like to go into the country with your children and cut your own tree—and who doesn't—ask the farmer's permission first. If he's agreeable chances are he'll come along and help you select a tree and at the same time make sure the trees that he is saving as timber crop do not come to any harm.

CHRISTMAS SALADS

ARE YOU GOING TO SERVE a salad with the Christmas turkey? Perhaps you are having a holiday party and will need a salad. You can choose bright red apples or cranberries, green lettuce, celery or pepper rings, red tomatoes and green or red cherries. If you have a pot of parsley growing in the house do not forget the possibilities of its brilliant green, to use as a garnish.

Jellied Tomato Salad

1 tbsp. gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 cups tomato juice
1 celery stalk
1 tbsp. grated onion
1 bay leaf
1 tbsp. brown sugar
2 whole cloves or ¼ tsp. ground cloves
½ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup diced celery

Soak gelatine in cold water. Mix tomato juice, celery stalk, onion, bay leaf, brown sugar, cloves and salt. Simmer 1 0 minutes. Add tomato mixture to softened gelatine. Add lemon juice. Strain and chill till partially set. Add diced celery. Pour into individual molds o r large ring mold. When set unmold on lettuce and garnish with parsley.

Frozen Pineapple-Cranberry Salad

2 small packages of cream cheese
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 cup cream, whipped
1 cup cranberry jelly
1 cup crushed drained pineapple
¼ cup chopped celery

Blend cream cheese and mayonnaise. Fold in whipped cream. Next fold in cranberry jelly, cut in cubes, crushed pineapple and celery. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze 3 or 4 hours. Serve on lettuce with a slice of cranberry jelly cut in bell or star shape on top of salad.

Chicken or Turkey Salad

Make this with some of the leftovers.

3 cups cubed, white meat of chicken or turkey
1½ cups diced celery or finely shredded cabbage
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. chopped green pepper
2 tbsps. chopped pimento
Mayonnaise

Combine chicken, celery, salt, green pepper and pimento. Moisten well with mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce and garnish with radish roses, hard-cooked egg slices or slices of tomato.

Serve this salad with heated rolls for the main course at supper time. It makes a nice Sunday night supper as you can get it ready ahead of time and just put it on the lettuce at the last minute.

Green Salad

The blending of the flavours of the numerous ingredients in this salad gives it a special appeal.

2 leaves spinach
2 string beans
¼ head lettuce
¼ head celery
1 small tomato
¼ cucumber
½ apple
3 stalks celery
¼ onion
¼ bunch watercress
¼ bunch parsley

Break or chop in small pieces. Add French dressing. Toss lightly using two forks so as not to crush the greens.

The ingredients may be varied to suit the individual taste. Two tablespoons of catsup may be added to the dressing if desired.

* * * *

If you have a food freezer, you can get bread crumbs for the turkey dressing ready ahead of time. Freeze them stored in a plyofilm bag or freezer carton.

Congregation Attends C.G.I.T. Vesper Service At Trinity United

A large congregation joined with the members of the Trinity United Church Canadian Girls in Training group for their annual Vesper service on Sunday evening. The service was conducted by the leader, Mrs Gerald Gilbert, who was assisted by Mrs R. A. Mitchell and a number of the girls. Mr P. G. Hewitt, organist and choir director, directed the Junior Choir in a Czechoslovakian carol entitled "Rocking," and the Junior and Senior Choirs in the carol "Infant Holy."

The service began with the processional "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The C.G.I.T. girls entered the church as the hymn commenced, followed by the Explorer group with their leader, Mrs F. M. Cass. The girls o f both groups were wearing their respective uniforms.

The Scripture lesson was read by Judy Butcher and Patsy Cunningham. Eleanor Simpson offered a prayer and a story was told by Mrs Mitchell. A candle-lighting service formed part of the programme. The girls repeated the C.G.I.T. Purpose: "As a Canadian Girl in Training under the leadership of Jesus it is my purpose to Cherish Health, Seek Truth, Know God, Serve Others." The following five girls each lit a candle: Gail Belsher, Carole Smith, Marlene Cross, Hillie Schutte and Jean Ball; the first candle representing the leadership of Jesus in the purpose, and each of the others the four parts of the purpose. The purpose was summed up by the Chinese characters which are used for it in the Chinese language, and which mean: "Giving oneself in the love of the whole."

During the service Mrs Mitchell called upon the minister, Rev R. A. Mitchelll, to present three Explorer Achievement pins. Girls who have faithfully attended three years meetings in an Explorer group are permitted to wear these achievement pins, in the form of a gold E, beneath their C.G.I.T. membership pins. The three receiving them were: Carolyn Durant, Melanie Fyke and Lynn Johnston.
