Memorial Hospital Nearing Completion

The regular monthly meeting of the Directors of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital was held in the local town hall on Tuesday evening of last week, with the president, Mr. Walter C. MacDonald, presiding.

Reports of the several committees were presented and these indicated that the Hospital Building will be completed about the middle of September and ready for furnishing.

The chairman said he would endeavor to make arrangements with the contractor to have the building open for inspection by the public on two Sunday afternoons before the equipment was moved in, and that it was possible August 15 and 22 would be the dates chosen.

A letter from Mrs. S. Mattice, secretary of the Morewood Women's Institute, said that the branch would raise a further $100, increasing their total contribution towards the furnishing of the main office to $300.

Miss Dorothy E. Marquiss, Reg. N., the first superintendent of the hospital, suggested that plans for the hiring of the working staff of the institution be made, and a scale of wages and hours be drawn up. Mr. Wallace Carkner, of Kenmore, was appointed to do this work. Miss Marquiss was also given authority to purchase dishes, office supplies, linens, with the advice of the management committee.

Much of the furniture for the wards, and the equipment for the laundry and utility rooms, has already been ordered .

Permission has been granted by the Department of Health at Toronto to make temporary nurses' quarters in the basement and the plans for this change have been approved.

With finances for the purchase of furnishings and equipment still badly needed, the Finance Committee strongly urges immediate action on the part of anyone who intends to make a contribution towards the Hospital Fund. Many people have expressed their intention to make a donation but have delayed the matter. The quicker the money is forthcoming, the sooner the hospital will be furnished and opened for public service. If you intend to make a donation, please do it at once, is the earnest request of the Hospital Board.

FENNELL FEED COMPANY EMPLOYEES TENDERED PICNIC

The Management of the Fennell Feed Company treated the members of their staff, together with their wives and families and a number of friends to a picnic and outing at St. Lawrence Park, Brockville, yesterday afternoon. A Colonial Coach was chartered for the trip. The employees all report an enjoyable time and are high in their praises of Messrs. Milton and Eldon Fennell, both as hosts and employers.

A SURE CURE

Grandma hadn't time to worry
Grandma always had to hurry,
Bread to set and jam to make,
Clothes to rub and pies to bake.

She would sing while she was quilting
In a voice both sweet and lilting,
Can't you see her busy loom
In the candles' fading gloom?

Grandma hadn't time to putter
Or she'd surely spoil the butter;
Cows to milk and hens to feed,
And a garden big to weed.

From dawn 'till dark she bustled thru
A lot of tasks unknown to you;
Grandma hadn't time to be
Sick abed like you and me.

Grandma had to keep a'going,
Sunshine, rain or snow a'blowing,
Work for loved ones was her cure
For the ailments we endure.

—Alma Mason.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY A. CINNAMON HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Cinnamon were honoured on July 29th when about 200 neighbours and friends met at their home for a farewell party. The following address was read by Mr. Mac Carkner:

Dear Rose and Henry:—We have met here this evening to say farewell to you before you leave for your new home in Winchester. While this move has not been entirely unexpected, yet the news came to us as quite a surprise, and we are just beginning to realize what a loss your going will mean to us.

We have found you at all times a living example of that "Community Spirit" so often spoken of. Your kindness and help in sickness, your generosity to every worthwhile cause, your co-operation in every way that would make this part of the country a better place to live in, has been an inspiration to every one of us.

We know that Winchester will benefit from your abillity and energy and tonight we envy them their good fortune.

We feel we cannot let this evening pass without giving tangible expression of our appreciation of you and the work you have done in this neighbourhood. We therefore ask you to accept this gift from us with our best wishes for you in the future.

Signed on behalf of the community—Mrs. Mac Carkner, Mrs. Henry W. Cinnamon, Mrs. Emerson Lough, Mr. W. J. Docksteader.

The presentation of a purse was made by Mrs. Henry W. Cinnamon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cinnamon replied, thanking those present for the gift and inviting them to their new home in Winchester.

Lunch was served by the ladies. Music for the evening was furnished by Messrs. Charlie Rattray and Nelson Docksteader. Before leaving, everyone signed in the guest book.

A rack and tumbler set was presented to Mrs. Cinnamon by Mrs. Roy Docksteader on behalf of the Harmony W. M. S. at their July meeting held at the home of Mrs. Henry W. Cinnamon.

LOCAL WELL DRILLED 240 FEET FAILS TO PRODUCE MUCH WATER

During recent weeks well-drilling operations have been going on at the property of Mr. Arthur Summers, on Whitney Avenue. On Monday, a depth of 240 feet had been reached and there were still no signs of an ample flow of water. During the drilling process gas pockets in the rock were discovered, and this is believed to hold back the pressure of water. In talking to the Press, Mr. Summers said he had been advised by a geologist to drill another 10 feet, at least, in an endeavour to strike sandstone. Once the sand-stone had been penetrated, the geologist was certain there would be a good water vein.

The rock at this property is 36 feet below the earth's surface, and this required the sinking of 36 feet of pipe. The cost of piping and drilling has already run into $1000.00 and no water. This is the deepest that any well in town has been drilled.

Fine Program Being Planned For Official Opening of 100 Club Park On Sept. 15th

The date for the Official Opening of the 100 Club Community Park, formerly known as the Winchester Fair Grounds, has been set for Wednesday, September 15th, and the Park Committee is busy planning an elaborate program of fun and entertainment for the afternoon and evening of that date.

Considerable work has been done at the Park during recent months. The grounds have been levelled, seeded and mowed; trees trimmed; a well drilled; roadways built; a softball diamond located, and a spacious pavilion erected. Today it is a very attractive park, and is being used for local district ball games, private picnics and tourists' camp grounds.

To improve the grounds to their present state of beauty and perfection has cost the 100 Club Park Committee a considerable sum of money. The Park is an asset to Winchester and District, and anything that can be done to help defray the expenses connected with its maintenance should be done without hesitation.

It is expected that the Hon. Geo. Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways, will be present to declare the Park officially opened. Other speakers will be Hon. Geo. H. Challies, Hydro Commissioner; and Mr. Don. Morrow, M.L.A. for Carleton County.

During the afternoon of September 15th, there will be a parade of floats, decorated cars, bicycles, etc., for which valuable prizes are being offered. If you wish to enter a float, etc., make your intentions known to Centurian Robert Woods, who is in charge of the parade. There will also be a program of sports and a softball game between Chesterville Rotary Club and Winchester 100 Club; Bingo and other games.

The evening attractions will include a softball game between two outstanding district teams, and a grand dance in the pavilion at the Park, with Johnston's Orchestra, of Kemptville, providing the music. Bingo and other games will also be in operation. Centurian Charles Cross is in charge of the ball games, while Centurian David Melvin is looking after the dance arrangements.

A feature of the day will be the "Planter's Peanuts Mobile Unit." From this float, peanuts will be sold to the public from 5 cents up. All money derived from this feature, over and above the actual cost of the peanuts, goes to the Park Committee, so bring your peanut appetite with you and buy plenty of peanuts. This feature will take the place of selling tags—you can't eat a tag.

Arrangements are also being made to select a young lady to be known as "Miss Winchester," for the Official Opening of the Park. This will not be an easy task, as there are so many pretty lassies in Winchester, but the committee will work out some scheme for making the popular selection.

Further details of the Park Opening Program will be announced later. In the meantime, reserve Wednesday, September 15th, for that event, and invite your friends to come.

PLAN MACINTOSH CLAN PICNIC, DORAN'S POINT, LABOUR DAY

A meeting of the MacKintosh Clan Picnic Executive took place at Johnstown recently, with most of the members present. Major Fred MacIntosh Cass, of Winchester, acted as secretary and Dr. P. A. McIntosh as chairman. It was decided to hold the Picnic this year at Doran's Point, one mile east of Iroquois, on Labour Day, Monday, Sept. 6th.

A letter from Mrs. Maida Parlow French, novelist of Toronto, author of "Boughs Bend Over," and "All Thine To Keep," gave her consent to be the guest speaker. Mrs. French was born near Doran's Point and she has attained great fame in the literary world.

Piper Robert McVey, of Prescott, was appointed to look after the Pipe Band and other music.

Mrs. Jos. Davidson, of Winchester Springs, was named convener of the sports committee.

Messrs. Alex Ross, of Prescott, and Elgin Bowman, of Morewood, were appointed the photo committee.

Mrs. James Bowman, of Winchester, has in her possession some very old family heirlooms which she proposes to exhibit at the Picnic.

Mr. Joseph Davidson, of Winchester Springs, will look after the photo gallery.

Dr. P. A. McIntosh read a letter from the MacKintosh Chief, Rear Admiral Lachlan MacKintosh, of MacKintosh, of Moy Hall, Iverness, Scotland, that he intends being in Cananda soon and will be his guest on August 8th and 9th.

The committee wishes to extend a welcome to the picnic not only the members of the MacKintosh family but the public in general that they might take advantage of the opportunity to hear the honored guest speaker and other parts of the programme. Piper McVey promised one of the best Pipe Bands.

The meeting closed with musical selections by Piper Robt. McVey and the photograghing of the group.

Alterations and Repairs Being Made at the Local Skating Arena.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Winchester Rink Company, Limited, held last week, it was decided to erect a small balcony at the north end of the arena, capable of seating about 300 persons; also to plank the west side of the rink and make repairs to the puck-boards and fence. Mr. H. L. Flora was authorized to purchase a good Public Address System from the Northern Electric Company, two of whose representatives visited and inspected the building on the day of the meeting.

To install the seats at the north end of the rink, it will be necessary to remove the Band Stand and the corner toilet. The balcony will only project 20 inches over the ice surface. Estimates for this work were received from Mr. James Kelso, of Hallvilille, and were accepted by the Board.

It was also decided to make certain alterations to the balcony at the south end of the rink so that fans will be obliged to sit on the seats, rather than the foot rests. This will enable the balcony to accommodate more people.

The president, Mr. J. L. Dixon, and Mr. Hart Melvin were appointed a committee to look after the work.

HIGH SCHOOL PROTESTS JUSTIFIED

The Winchester High School Board has just reason to complain about certain legislation being passed by district Municipal and County Councils regarding High School Grants.

For many years the Winchester High School has been patronized by a goodly number of students from Osgoode Township in Carleton County, so much so that in recent years a school bus had been put in operation for the transportation of students to and from the school. As high as fifty have used the bus service. Last year the operator of the bus expended a considerable amount of money to provide an up-to-date vehicle for this service, and under the present set-up, it may not be put in operation for the purpose it was intended.

On the advice of the Department of Education and with the assurance that the students from the north section of Carleton County would still be permitted to attend the local High School, for which payment would be made by Carleton County Council through the grant system, the Board has made available another classroom and increased the teaching staff at the local High School. This incurred considerable expense, but with the patronage the school was receiving from the north, this expense was justified.

It now appears that under a new plan, students who have been attending the local High School, or who would enrol this year from Carleton County, are to be transported to Manotick and Metcalfe. If these pupils wish to attend school at Winchester, they will have to pay their own expenses, as there will be no grant forthcoming as in the past.

The students themselves and the parents of the families affected are not too happy about the new set-up, as Winchester High School is much closer and offers them better facilities than the smaller schools in Carleton County. They have registered their protests.

The local Board has explained the unfairness of the situation to the Department at Toronto, but just what will be the outcome is not yet known. In the meantime, the local school is prepared to accommodate an increased number of students, but if the Carleton County students are not permitted to attend, the enrolment is bound to be down, while the operating expenses of the school will reach an all-time high. For the good of all concerned the North Carleton district should be included in the Winchester High School Area.

THE NEW LIBERAL LEADER

It was a foregone conclusion that Hon. Louis St. Laurent, External Affairs Secretary in the Mackenzie King Government, would be elected as the new Liberal Chieftain to succeed the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, who has retired. His appointment in this capacity was made official at the Liberal Convention, held at Ottawa last week, thus Mr. St. Laurent will become Canada's next Prime Minister, but not until Mr. King is ready to relinquish that office.

Of the three major contestants aspiring for the Liberal Leadership, Mr. St. Laurent appeared to be the most popular. The Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, received 323 votes against the victor's 848, while the Wartime Air Minister, C. G. Power, received only 56 votes.

As the Ottawa Citizen points out, selection of Mr. St. Laurent as national Liberal leader amounts to a party declaration that French Canada is not to be debarred from having one of its own people as Prime Minister. From the standpoint of giving effect to that belief the choice of Mr. St. Laurent is admirable. No one on the political horizon is so eminently fitted to represent his French-speaking compatriots and other Canadians as Liberal chieftain and head of the Dominion government.

Choice of Mr. St. Laurent is also indisputable evidence, if any were needed, of the great influence Mr. Mackenzie King wields in his party. A passionate admirer of Sir Wilfred Laurier, his friend, leader and political mentor, Mr. King's chief mission in life has been the welding of the two dominant races of Canada into a united whole. This purpose, which he inherited from Sir Wilfred 29 years ago, he now passes on to the man he believes best equipped to carry it on. The "national unity" line of descent in the Liberal leadership therefore remains unbroken. Having achieved this final goal, Mr. King no doubt will retire from the political scene a happy and contented man.

Of Mr. St. Laurent's ability, devotion to country and integrity of purpose, there can be no question. His qualifications for leading his party in Parliament and on the hustings have yet to be proven. He displayed both courage and patriotism in 1944 when he became the first French-Canadian cabinet minister ever to advocate compulsory military service for overseas duty. But this high-minded action, which stamped him as a man of national outlook and which increased his stature in the rest of Canada, may count heavily against him with the voters of Quebec.

Regardless of our political affilliations, we must be honest enough to admit that Mr. King, as prime minister, has done much to foster friendly relations between Canada and the other nations of the world, and that he is a diplomat and a gentleman. He has given the Liberal Party unexcelled leadership and has led Canada through some of the gravest years in her history. He retires with a record of service that will be hard to duplicate.

The new Liberal Leader, Mr. St. Laurent, has expressed himself as going all out for national unity regardless of race or creed, and that is something that every nation must have to succeed. All true Canadians will honour and respect him for his broadminded views.

WAGES IN 34 YEARS

Financial Post's current Business Yearbook includes two charts which we wish could be reproduced in this column. These charts explain much of Canada's price condition.

The first chart shows the history of wholesale prices, cost of living, and wages, from 1913 to 1947. During these years wholesale prices increased about 100 per cent., cost of living about 86 per cent., and wages?—about 256 per cent.

During the past 34 years, in other words, wages have gone up just about three times as much as the cost of living. Prices of the essentials of life, moreover, have gone up considerably less than prices as a whole.

The year 1920 was the peak year of prices after World War I. In 1947 wholesale prices were still a lot lower than in 1920, and the cost of living was almost the same as in 1920. But wages in 1947 were 70 per cent. higher than in 1920.

"QUOTES FROM YESTERDAY"

Young people who fail to choose a life activity which gives them a purpose and provides them with satisfactory self-expression, are like Carlyle's unhappy people: "No landmark on the earth; no lodestar in the heaven."—Campbellton (N.B.) Tribune.

* * * *

"That man is a success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who leaves the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem, or a rescued soul; who never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who looked for the best in others and gave the best he had. His memory is a benediction."—Robert Louis Stevenson.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Two lady candidates running in the recent Quebec Provincial Election received 255 and 39 votes respectively. This would indicate that while Quebec was in favour of women voting, the majority of citizens do not favour the fairer sex for public office.

A rather sour grace note to the German crisis is provided by the news that increasing numbers of ex-Nazis are being appointed to high office in Western Germany. With so many judges and prosecutors Nazi party members, legislation is being introduced in some places to protect non-Nazis. The borderline between the legal and the lethal is still faint, apparently.

Once more correspondents are reminded that a communication relating to a subject of public interest cannot be inserted in these columns unless it is accompanied by the name of the writer. People who write letters under pseudonyms without also giving their names or who sign them in no way at all cannot expect to have them appear in print, and should not be disappointed if they fail to appear.

This one came from a well known civil servant in Ottawa, an Irishman:

The difference between a slowdown, a recession and a depression—

A Slowdown is when you have to tighten your belt;

A Recession is when you have no belt to tighten;

A Depression is when you don't have any pants to hold up.

The ever increasing costs of hospitalization is one of the worries which assails a man with a family or regardless of whether he has one or not. Town Councils which must meet the bills of those who can't pay the awful charges are discouraged. They no longer can strike estimates with any idea of how they will come out at the end of the year. And going beyond these smaller executive bodies county councils and provincial legislatures are worried. A term in the hospital has come to be looked upon with more fear than a term in jail because of the expense.

It will no longer be necessary to sit around the house waiting for the telephone to ring in case you miss an important call, reports Hardware, Metal & Electrical Dealer. A British manufacturer has come up with a new gadget that answers the phone, takes down any message that's given, apologizes for your not being at home, and relays the message to you when you arrive home. The new device has three switches—one for recording, one to rewind, and one for reproduction. When the switches are set, the telephone's ring starts it running. It announces: "This is the residence of So-and-so. Any message for him will be recorded and reproduced on his return."

NOT SO IMPORTANT
(Ottawa Journal)

Beer by the glass can't be very important to Halifax, when less than one-third of the voters turn out for a plebiscite on the subject.

THE AGE OF SPEED
(Niagara Falls Review)

Wonder what some early settlers think as they note than 12,000 immigrants came to Canada by air last year, doing the trip in 90 hours, which used to take that many days?

WITHOUT A DOUBT
(Brockville Recorder & Times)

A house built of paper in 1924 is still standing in perfect condition in Rockport, Mass. Probably it will long outlast some of the wartime houses reputedly built of more durable materials.

TRANSPARENT BABY BASKETS
Rotarian Magazine)

Many hospitals now are using transparent bassinettes since the infants are then in full view and still no drafts can reach them. Formed from a single sheet of plastic, the baskets are almost unbreakable, very light in weight, easy to handle, and so strong they should last for years. They are just as practical for home use as for a hospital.

THE DIFFERENCE
(Peterborough Examiner)

News from Ottawa says that the staff of 11,500 now engaged in work on income tax returns hope to have caught up with their job in a year or two. This compares unfavorably with the sharp letter sent to any business firm which is two or three days late in making a return on the money which it is compelled to deduct from its employers' wages—Government bookkeeping which it does for nothing.

FOR YOUNG LEADERS
(Vancouver Province)

Canada is a young country and it is getting new people in increasing numbers. True, we need experience in leadership; but what we need most is action and an understanding of the problems and aspirations of the younger generation. Canada can afford mistakes better than she can afford to stand still. The job of leading a major political party in this country is one that demands the energy, mental and physical, that can be offered by a younger man.

ONCE WAS ENOUGH
(Fort William Times-Journal)

The simple act of a young boy in New York has attracted a great deal of attention throughout the United States and Canada. As a winner of an award for "good sportsmanship" he was to get a free two weeks' vacation in the country. But he declined the award. He had been to the country the previous season and had returned to his home much bored by the experience. In New York, he could do everything they did at camp, he declared. Summing up his feelings, he said, "In the city we play more ball, swim more often and don't get up so early."

MUNICIPALITIES LOSING POWER?
(Smiths Falls Record-News)

Members of Orillia town council were very hot over the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs interfering with scale of fees for hawkers and pedlars set by Orillia council to discourage fly-by-night, door-to-door salesmen who paid no taxes of any kind to Orillia, but took trade from regular business places. "In common with many other Ontario municipalities," says The Packet and Times," the Orillia Council has been irritated by the fact that in recent years more and more of their power and control over town affairs was being taken away and vested in the Provincial Government Departments, and at times the Councillors have felt that they were hardly more than rubber stamps." The protest undoubtedly is well made.

Hello Homemakers! Read on for two minutes—then clip out this column and tack it inside the cupboard door. If you follow the directions during the making of preserves, you will have delectable jelly for your cupboard shelves.

JELLY MAKING

1. Fruits should be slightly under-ripe and fresh.
2. Fruits that jell readily are: currants, gooseberries, sour plums, grapes, crabapples and sour apples. Other fruits, blueberries, sweet apples and blackberries, will jell if an acid juice or lemon or rhubarb is added.
3. Fruits which are low in both acid and pectin are strawberries, peaches, pears and pineapple. These should be blended with fruits that jell or with commercial pectin. Directions for pectin crystals or liquid should be followed carefully in regard to one minute fast boil.

TAKE A TIP

1. One quart or 3 pints of juice is sufficient to make into jelly at one time.
2. Juice should be made by adding little or no water to crushed or chopped fruit. (Add 1 cup of water to barely cover chopped apples and underripe currants.) Bring to a boil and cook quickly, stirring constantly, for 8 to 15 minutes or until pulp is soft.
3. Drain pulp through cheesecloth for 3 to 4 hours without pressing the bag. You may drain in a puree placed in a large pan, then strain through a cloth to obtain clear juice.
4. Measure the fruit juice into a deep saucepan and then boil rapidly for 8 to 10 minutes and test for pectin quality.
5. Pectin test: To 1 tablespoon of cooked fruit juice add 1 teaspoon of sugar and 1 teaspoon Epsom salts. Stir until salts dissolve then let stand 20 minutes. If large particles form it will make good jelly. If it does not jell, bottle as fruit juice or add lemon juice or pectin.
6. Skim the juice. Measure sugar using 3-4 cup to each cup of fruit juice and add. If you warm the sugar slightly in a moderate oven it gives a clearer jelly.
7. Boil only 3 to 5 minutes after adding the sugar. Stir; it boils frothy.
8. To test when jelly is done, let some of the hot syrup fall from the side of the stirring spoon. Jelly is done when it sheets from the spoon or when the last two drops form a large drop. Pour into sterilized glasses.
9. Seal with a thin layer of melted paraffin (softened over hot water) when jelly is cold. Add a second layer next day.

THE QUESTION BOX

In reply to Mrs. T. C.'s question: Is it wise to make a second extraction from the pulp in a jelly bag?

Only attempt second and third extractions with fruit that jells rapidly. Put pulp into saucepan and add enough water to prevent burning, then stir until it is hot and drain again.

RASPBERRY—CURRANT JELLY

Extract the juice from raspberries and currants separately and use the same quantity of each, or use three-fourths currants to one-fourth raspberries, the raspberries having more pronounced flavour. Use 1 cup of sugar to 1 cup of juice. Combine juice and sugar and boil rapidly until jelly test is obtained. Pour into glasses and seal when cool.

GOOSEBERRY JAM

Wash and top and tail gooseberries. To 4 cups fruit (1 1-2 pounds) add 1-4 cup water. Cook till berries are tender. Add 1 1-8 pounds of sugar and stir until dissolved. Boil 5 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal with parowax.

MATRIMONY JAM

Use equal parts of apples, firm pears, plums and peaches. Wash and core apples and pears but do not peel. Stone plums; peel and stone peaches. Cut all fruit into small pieces. Weigh and add 3-4 pound of sugar for every pound of fruit. Allow to stand until the sugar is dissolved; overnight if possible. Be sure the fruit is covered with the sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil for 20 minutes. Seal in sterilized jars. One pound of each fruit makes about 2 quarts of jam.

TAKE A TIP

1. Rhubarb is the one fruit that requires scalding. Dip a sieve containing 1 quart diced rhubarb into boiling water for 1 minute, then dash into cold water for 2 minutes, drain and pack.

ERECTING NEW BUILDING AT SOUTH MOUNTAIN

Mr. Gordon Cumming, of South Mountain, has begun the erection of a new cement block show room on the same lot as his house. The building will be about 25 by 30 feet. Mr. Ralph Adams is doing the carpenter work and Mr. Moses, of Osgoode, the cement block job. Mr. Cumming operated a garage and service station here for a number of years, and owing to ill health, had to give up the work.

BIRTH

At Cornwall General Hospital on Friday, July 30th, 1948, to Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Fee, of Williamsburg, a son.

DEDICATES CANDLESTICKS AT SOUTH MOUNTAIN

During the course of the Sung Eucharist at St. Peter's Anglican Church, South Mountain, this past Sunday morning, Rev. Leon B. G. Adams dedicated a pair of brass candlesticks for the Altar as a memorial to Richard and Daniel Eager, who for many years were faithful members of the Church. The gift was given to St. Peter's Church by Mrs. Daniel Eager and her family.

Prior to the dedication, the Rector explained that the two candles on the Altar symbolize that Christ, who is the "Light of the world," is both Perfect God and Perfect Man." "The Early Christians," he said, "used to meet for worship in caves and before the break of day for fear of persecution. These caves were lit by candles, and the candles on the Altar today remind us that we have the same faith and worship as the saints of old."

ENGLISH JOURNEY

ARTICLE NO. 7

Amersham itself is an interesting old town with many ancient buildings, and inns and the parish church of St. Mary, built of flint and dating from the 14th century, contains many memorials to the Drake family and others.

The old market hall, dating from 1682, stands almost in the centre of of High street with an open piazza on the street level, and there are six almshouses dating from 1657. Two of the old coaching inns "Ye Olde Griffin" and "The King's Arms," are well worth visiting.

Less than ten miles away from Amersham is Berkhampstead, where the ruins of an old castle can be visited. These are preserved among the Ancient Monuments and Historic Buildings, although little remains of the castle itself which dated from 1066, and was mostly built between then and 1186. It was surrounded by two distinct moats which though now dry, are still there.

At Berkhampstead is part of the canal system leading to the north and it was interesting to watch two of the long narrow canal boats being lifted through the locks there as has been done for probably centuries.

One of the most interesting spots in England within easy bus reach from Amersham is the city of St. Albans, where stands the ancient Abbey and Cathedral. For more than 1600 years a church has stood on the site of St. Albans Abbey now the Cathedral.

A Roman soldier named Alban, who had become a Christian, achieved immortal fame by sheltering Amphibalus, a British priest, for which he was beheaded on the hill where St. Albans Cathedral now stands, thereby becoming Britain's first martyr. Ten years later, the Roman Emperor, Constantine, becoming a Christian, a small church was built on the site. This was succeeded by an Abbey built in the eighth century, and the present church was started in 1077.

Its exterior architecture does not compare with most of the other cathedrals in England, but it is the second longest, being only exceeded by Winchester. Its great length, 550 feet, gives the interior a wonderful sense of grandeur and many of the features such as the screen have some exquisite carving. This screen is considered one of the best in England.

The original shrine of St. Alban was broken into some two thousand pieces at the Dissolution but has been very cleverly pieced together aggin. As in ali the cathedrals, there is a wealth of ancient memorials of all kinds.

When I visited St. Albans at the end of May, stands were being erected for the celebration in June of the one thousandth anniversary of three other churches in the city, St. Peter's, St. Michael's and St. Stephen's, all of which were founded in 948 by Abbot Ulsinus. St. Michael's retains much of the original work, but the other two have been largely rebuilt.

Alongside the Cathedral is the Great Gate of the Monastery which was built in 1362. This was also used as a prison and the dungeons in which offenders were confined still exist below the building.

Other interesting buildings in the city are the ancient clock tower dating from 1410 with its bell cast in 1335, and the inn, "Ye Old Fighting Cocks," which was formerly the fishing lodge of the Monastery, and is reputed to be one of the oldest inhabited houses in the country.

At St. Albans is located some of the finest Roman ruins in England, the remains of the ancient city of Verulamium. Julius Caesar in his "De ello Gallico" told of having to capture this British stronghold during his invasion in 54 B.C. It was later raised to the dignity of a "municipium," an honour that was not reached by any other city in Roman Britain.

It stood on the famous Roman road known as Watling street upon which it was one of the principal places.

Most Roman settlements were more or less obliterated by having later cities built over them, but in this case the city of St. Albans was built nearby instead of on the same site. After the Romans left about 410 A.D., the city fell into decay and gradually was covered with earth. It is said that such ruins become covered by about a foot of earth in each hundred years, so that Verulamium is now under about 12 to 15 feet of earth.

About 1930 excavation was started and a wealth of relics were discovered including some of the finest Roman mosaics ever found. Enclosed in a building which preserves it just as it was originally built, is the mosaic floor of the warming room of a Roman bath.

This, like the Roman ruins at Bath, prove that the Romans were masters of the art of central heating, something that the modern English people have not yet learned.

There is also a large museum in which are several Roman mosaics and masses of pottery, coins, building materials, lamps, personal ornaments, tools, and other articles recovered from the ruins.

It was in this building that I received the only rebuke I had in England for taking photographs. The curator considered that my camera was "no amateur one" and he was convinced I was taking pictures for commercial purposes. A few words of explanation, however, put everything right.

Near the museum is a Roman theatre, the only one discovered in Britain, which is estimated to have provided accommodation for about 1600 people. It is open for inspection by visitors for a very small fee.

There are many picturesque old buildings on the streets of St. Albans which date back for many centuries. This area is not as well known to Canadians as it should be.

Beaconsfield has a lovely old church and in its churchyard is the tomb of the 17th century poet Edmund Waller. There are old stocks, tombs and memorials and a half timbered Tudor house full of antique furniture which was the Rectory until 1868. It was a nunnery as early as 1270.

Only three or four miles by a lovely road from Amersham is Chesham. St. Mary's Church there is an interesting link with the past and in the priest's room over the porch was confined the martyr Thomas Harding on the eve of his being burnt at the stake on May 30, 1532. There are small square windows in both the North and South walls with saddlebars and stanchions which possibly were leper windows, where lepers could stand outside the church and follow the services.

Marlowe is a very beautiful old town located on the Thames which there forms the boundary between Buckinghamshire and Berkshire, and crossed by a beautiful bridge.

In the centre of the town is a Memorial to the memory of Charles Frohman the famous American theatrical producer, who was drowned when the Lusitania was sunk in 1915.

Close by is a modern war memorial bearing this inscription:

"Sons of this place
Let this of you be said,
That you who live
Are worthy of your dead
These gave their lives
That you who live may reap,
A riper harvest,
E're you fall asleep."

Buckinghamshire has no very large places, two of the largest ones being High Wycombe and Aylesbury, both of which are well worth a visit. Both places have interesting markets on market days and I was fortunate in seeing these markets in operation. These open air markets under canvas have stalls selling clothes, jewelry, used postage stamps for collectors, fish books, kitchenware, vegetables and a wide variety of other articles. Aylesbury has a very large cattle and sheep market also.

At Aylesbury are some delightful ancient inns, two of the best being the "King's Head" and the "Bull's Head.". The King's Head stands at the top of the market place almost hidden behind other buildings and is so unusual that it is now the property of the National Trust, although still used as a hotel. It is a remarkable Tudor building with medieval gateway, rare twenty light wood mullioned windows set with heraldic glass and has wattle and daub walls.

The next village to Aylesbury is Waddesdon, where my mother and father, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Legge were married. The church of St. Michael and all Angels dates from 1190 when the nave and south aisle were built until 1340 when the north aisle was completed. It is a splendid old building with a Norman tower which I climbed in order to enjoy the view of the surrounding countryside which includes the Rothschild estate.

At Tring there is a fine large church dating from the 13th century, although there was a former stone church on the same site as early as 1100. Many ancient churches have most peculiar carvings and 14 in this church, one on each of the trusses, may be taken as typical examples. These are stone carvings of (1) a monster with a woman's head and dragon's wings (2) a beast swallowing a man (3) a wild boar (4) a wild man (5) an antelope with tusks (6) a dog with a collar (7) an angel with a shield (8) a fox carrying a goose on its back (9) a monkey with a bottle and a book (10) a griffin devouring a man in armour (11) a lion holding a shield (12) a dragon or lizard (13) a bear, chained and muzzled (14) a dog fighting a dragon. Such carvings really had no special meaning but were included as ornaments by workmen.

At Tring we were royally received by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Farquhar at their home "Hawkwell." They are former residents of Canada and although they have been living in England for some thirty years, are as refreshingly Canadian as if they had only just arrived. During the war they entertained many Canadians including some from Granby.

Other delightful spots I visited in the neighborhood were Aldbury, Wendover, Chenies, Little Missenden, Great Missenden, Seer Green and many other places.

Space prevents describing more of them in detail and I must move on to Oxfordshire and other places.

These new designs are done in beautifully harmonized fashion colors and, best of all, they are printed on fine Irish linen! That means you will find them as pleasing to the touch as they are delightful to the eye.

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security . . . and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. To produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by Ontario industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts veterans on the road to skilled craftsmanship. Taught to use their hands in such jobs as routing, etching, stripping, burnishing and finishing, they will eventually become photo engraving craftsmen. Because of the increasing importance of this trade, every effort of these newly-skilled workers helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contributes to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

It is a known fact that warm air is absorbed through sidewalls and roof, and consequently a high percentage of heat in a building is lost in this manner.

ROCK WOOL INSULATION is the proven preventative against such loss.

Insulating sidewalls is good economy but requires application by specialized applicators, whereas you can insulate your attic, WHERE MOST HEAT IS LOST, at a very nominal cost for material.
