Rezoning bid causes furor

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - Osnabruck Township Council's decision to rezone a block of land in the Village of Ingleside brought on a heated protest from area residents at council's April 10 meeting.

The delegation, led by Ingleside resident Fran Laflamme, presented council with a list of questions on township zoning policies and questioned the rezoning of the section of land in the center of the Village known as Block W.

"We were under the misunderstanding that the land was relatively safe for open space," Miss Laflamme said. "Even when the for-sale sign went up we were assured it would be safe... that no one would want to buy open space," she said.

"There are those of us who feel that it is an attractive section in the centre of town...we hate to see it go. We are very disappointed with what council has done," she said.

Block W, a 7.3 acre lot, formerly the old ball diamond, had previously been zoned as open space and was recently rezoned to R-1, suitable for single residential dwellings. The land, which was owned by Ontario Hydro, recently came up for sale and was purchased by local developer Bill Mesman, who bought the land in trust from the Lunenburg firm of Wales Construction Ltd.

Earlier this year Mr. Mesman applied to have the land rezoned to residential status, but council turned down his request on the advice of their solicitor. Mr. Mesman told council that if the matter could not be resolved he would take it to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing.

At council's March 6 meeting, after a 40-minute closed session with Mr. Mesman, council passed by-law 84-06, which rezoned the land to R-1 (Residential Single). Plans for a 32 lot subdivision on the property were circulated to area residents on March 19.

On April 4, 44 people turned out for an open meeting to discuss the issue, said Miss Laflamme. A good number of those people were also present at council's April 10 meeting with delegation leaders Miss Laflamme, Earl Jeacle and Bob Schlegel.

Mr. Jeacle told council that it was a sad day when he saw the for sale sign go up on the property. "I was led to believe that no one would ever buy it," he said. "It was zoned open space, and that made me feel very good." Mr. Jeacle said that he has been an Ingleside resident for the last 17 years and that this is the first time he has approached a council meeting to protest something.

"I feel that the decision made by council has not been a good one," he said. "I'm really at a loss for an explanation...I can possibly suggest why they have made the decision, but sometimes assumptions are dangerous."

Miss Laflamme said that when the village was first planned the block of land in question was zoned commercial, for further expansion to the shopping centre. When the planning act recently was changed, the land was rezoned to open space, she said. Miss Laflamme said that the piece of land has always been owned by Ontario Hydro. "The irony is that Hydro sold the land for $93,000 and council felt at the time that was on the high side." But, she estimated the cost to replace the ball diamond on the property at $100,000-$200,000, and said that lighting alone could amount to almost $40,000.

In their questionnaire to council, the delegation asked if the township has a land-buying policy, and if not, why not. They have questioned whether the township owns the land in front of the shopping centre, and asked about the future of Block T in the Village.

"Our concern is that if land can be rezoned from open space to R-1, what's to stop it from being rezoned from an R-1 to an R-3, suitable for row housing," Miss Laflamme said. "It isn't that we are against housing," she said, "we believed that the land was open space."

Councillor Ross Alguire said Mr. Mesmans' first request to rezone the land was turned town because preliminary drawings that council asked for were not received. Councillor Rick Wal-

Four injured in crash

An early morning accident Tuesday has sent four Chesterville residents to hospital. The driver of the Pontiac LeMans, Charles Raymond Munroe of Main Street (seen here being given medical aid by Dr. Charles Adamson) is in Ottawa General Hospital listed in critical but stable condition. Three other occupants of the car -- Kevin and Barry Blair of 18 Water Street and Charles Bailey of Joseph Street -- are also in hospital with serious injuries. OPP Const. Bryan Helmer said the car lost control on the curve, sheared an Ontario Hydro pole before striking a tree. Const. Helmer said charges will be laid. Record Photo-Hayes

Local PC Association to protest change

(Staff) - The SD and G Progressive Conservative Association has announced its intention to present a brief at the public hearings on the recently announced proposal to change provincial riding boundaries.

In early February the Ontario Electoral Boundaries Commission presented a plan to redraw Ontario riding boundaries. Locally the plan calls for the counties of Stormont and Dundas to be joined with Grenville, with the county of Glengarry being added to the City of Cornwall.

The Commission has announced public hearings into the matter on May 9 and 10 in Ottawa and the association says it intends to be there.

In a news release issued April 9 the organization stated it had appointed a special committee to examine the proposed changes. The committee -- comprised of past presidents and honorary members of the association -- has already informed the commission that it will be presenting a brief at the public hearings.

While the committee states it approves of the addition of Cornwall Township to the new riding of Cornwall-Glengarry, it is opposed to any sort of change to SD and G.

The committee points out that when, in 1974, the riding of SD and G was formed everyone was in favor of it.

"It is a very compatible riding," the news release states. "Compatible in the sense that it is easy for a member to service. The Counties Council and School Boards serve the same area. It is a natural consistency with all 20 municipalities (including Cornwall Township) aware of the other's problems and goals."

The committee goes on to point out that it feels rural ridings should be kept separate from urban ridings and that when only population is taken into account "rural ridings tend to be eliminated."

Sheep commission hearing June 11

TORONTO (Staff) - The Ontario Sheep Marketing Agency Commission will hold its first public hearing on the marketing of slaughter sheep and lambs at North Dundas District High School on Mon., June 11 starting at 7:30pm.

Commission chairman Jack James of Russell told The Record Tuesday from the commission's Toronto office that the June 11 meeting will be the first of 12 such public hearings held across the province.

The commission came into being Jan. 5 when Minister of Agriculture and Food Dennis Timbrell announced plans for a marketing agency for slaughter sheep and lambs. The commission -- headed by Jack James with Walter Renwick and Garth Noecker -- is responsible for returning a working plan to implement the proposed agency.

The deadline for submissions is May 15 and those interested in addressing the commission should contact the office at (416) 965-9156 or by writing the Sheep Marketing Agency Commission, Legislative Buildings, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 2B2.

The June 11 meeting is the only one that will be held in this district which takes in the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, Grenville, part of Ottawa-Carleton and Prescott and Russell. Although the deadline for applications is still almost four weeks away the commission office has already received six submissions.

Like the Beef Marketing Agency Commission before it Mr. James said the sheep commission plans to release a working paper which will outline a series of possible options for the proposed sheep marketing agency. Mr. James said the commission members will probably begin work on that document sometime this week and it is expected to be completed and in the hands of the public by May 25.

Mr. James said he feels the commission will be able to deliver its final report to Mr. Timbrell by the end of July.

Underage drinking at Town Hall worries Council

(Staff) - Chesterville Village Council wants to crack down on minors being served liquor at Community Hall stags and dances.

At council's Monday evening meeting Reeve Carl Ward said he had received a written complaint about the number of minors who were served alcohol at a recent party at the Community Centre. Mr. Ward said he was concerned that the village -- which holds the Hall's liquor licence -- would be in danger of losing the licence if an LLBO inspector ever caught someone drinking under age.

"I suggest that we pass a by-law that states that we won't rent the hall unless the person renting it will provide adequate supervision at the door," Mr. Ward said. "Without that kind of supervision, and if they are caught selling to minors, then our licence is in joepardy. If they can't provide the supervision then we'll have to do it and deduct it from their deposit."

While the rest of council agreed with Mr. Ward that something must be done, they questioned the value of passing such a by-law and how it would be enforced.

"We can't pass a resolution like that," deputy reeve Jim Cook said, "because it (the law regulating drinking age of majority) is a provincial statute. It's an easy job to pass a resolution, but it will be a lot more difficult to enforce it."

Mr. Ward replied that council couldn't do anything about the problem until "we take the first step and make it part of the requirement for renting the hall."

Council decided to delay passing such a by-law until it receives more information on just what type of supervision should be provided at social function. To that end Winchester OPP Cpl. Bob Lyon has been invited to attend council's May 1 meeting to discuss the situation.

"We have a responsibility to the community and to the parents to make sure liquor isn't being served at the town hall to people who are underage," Mr. Ward said.

Area cattlemen divided on beef agency

KEMPTVILLE (Staff) - Cattlemen from Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry took their beefs to Kemptville April 11 as the three man Beef Marketing Agency commission set up shop.

The commission -- charged with developing a business plan for Minister of Agriculture and Food Dennis Timbrell's single desk marketing agency for slaughter cattle -- began its public hearings March 20 in Chatham and will finish in Stratton on May 3. It is expected to have a report ready for Mr. Timbrell by July.

In Kemptville commission chairman Henry Davis and members Ralph Barrie and Murray Gaunt heard submissions that ran the gamut from violent opposition to any form of market control to outright approval of a marketng agency for slaughter cattle.

The Dundas Cattlemen's Association (DCA) proved to be the most adamantly opposed to any sort of changes. In a brief presented by president Arden Schneckenburger and secretary Ron Wilson the DCA stated it wanted no agency to be established and any new activities should be handled by the Ontario Cattlemen's Association (OCA).

"(We want) no compulsory aspect to be enforced in the marketing of slaughter cattle," Mr. Schneckenburger said. "(We want) farmers to have complete freedom of choice to market their cattle and select buyer or sales medium for their slaughter cattle."

The DCA also stressed the need to make up-to-date market information and new technology more readily available to beef producers. However Mr. Guant pointed to a survey done in the United States that showed beef producers use, on average, less than 50 per cent of the known technology while poultry producers used roughly 90 per cent.

"Perhaps we have to educate farmers about what programs are out there," Mr. Schneckenburger replied. "Perhaps that should be pushed. The industry as a whole recognizes the problem. Having the information is one thing but the people want to know how to use it."

The Stormont Cattlemen's Association's (SCA) brief was slightly more conciliatory. SCA director Roy Windover set the tone when he told the commission, "All the county organizations are individuals but we believe that no matter what we say we're going to get an agency," he sid, "like it or lump it. We're just trying to make suggestions for a situation that we can live with."

Mr. Windover said his association was prepared to accept some sort of agency and market control, "but we have to see the obvious improvement."

"We don't want to see one more sticky finger in the pie from the calf to the table," he said. "I hope (the agency plan) will put profitibility and encouragement into the industry."

The Glengarry Cattlemen's Association (GCA) was by far the most responsive to the idea of a single desk agency. GCA director to the OCA Ward Gowland told the commission his members favored giving the agency almost complete control over the sale of slaughter cattle.

Mr. Gowland said the membership favored the fifth alternative contained in a working paper released by the commission May 6. That alternative would see all slaughter cattle listed with the agency and sold through the agency, other firms or marketing services would not be permitted to handle the sale of slaughter cattle, the agency would handle the sale of all slaughter cattle and would report marketing information to the industry and the agency would receive payment from the buyer, deduct charges and pay the balance to the seller.

Mr. Gaunt commented that the morning session of the hearing "certainly points out the range of opinion. We've heard everything from do nothing to complete control."

Mr. Gowland said some of the GCA members were a little relectant to completely embrace the concept of a marketing agency but said, "as soon as we described it as being what the hog people have now, there was no argument. They thought it would be dandy."

One of the most contentious issues of the proposed beef marketing agency is the effect such an organization might have on the OCA and what part the OCA will play in any future dealings with the agency. While Mr. Gowland admitted any agency would have to have some representation from the OCA, he didn't think it should have too much of a say.

"Any agency would have to have some representation from the OCA," he said, "but to turn it over to them -- I don't think so. If I was starting a business I'd want to hire someone that would want to make it go."

The Ontario Beef Marketing Agency Commission held a day of public hearings April 11 in Kemptville. Commission members Ralph Barrie, left, and Murray Guant, right, and chairman Henry Davis heard submissions from various cattlemen's associations on the proposal to establish a marketing agency for all slaughter cattle. The commission is expected to deliver its report to the government sometime in July. Record Photo-Hayes

Dundas Cattlemen's Association president Arden Schneckenburger, right, and secretary Ron Wilson said their group objected to plans for a marketing agency. They suggested that all new powers be handled by the Ontario Cattlemen's Association. Record Photo-Hayes droff added that the municipality was advised that Ontario Hydro was going to be unloading some of their lands, but at that time council had no interest in it.

Deputy Reeve Gordon Ross said that when Mr. Mesman came to council he wasn't satisfied. "As a ratepayer and person living in that area I'm not particularly pleased about the situation," he said. But, Mr. Ross said, "we had no alternative but to go along with the proposals Mr. Mesman had made. This way you people had some input in it."

Township planning consultant Michael Wright also said that Council had no other choice in the situation. Mr. Wright said that if council had denied Mr. Mesman's request, he could have taken it to the Ontario Municipal Board and possibly the hearing may not have been a public meeting and residents may have not had a say in the matter. Mr. Wright also said that if a proposal is in keeping with the official plan, and not causing undo hardship, then a by-law can be passed and circulated. Then, he said, there is a chance to appeal the by-law. "Once you turn down a motion it is gone...the developer can cappeal it himself.

Township Reeve Stewart Hart echoed his comment saying council's decision "gave people a chance to respond." Reeve Hart said that Council felt that the Hydro land was too expensive to buy in the first place.

Council is expected to respond to the delegations' questionnaire within the next few weeks.

Cossitt criticizes federal taxman

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - Leeds-Grenville MP Jennifer Cossitt told a Rotary Club audience here Monday evening that the current attitude and activities of Revenue Canada are a concern to all Canadians.

Mrs. Cossitt took Revenue Canada Minister Pierre Bussieres to task for many of controversial Revenue Canada policies and added that her speech was not merely political hay, but a concern to all Canadians.

She told the Rotary audience that the current quota system in the tax department and recently released training films for tax collectors give the appearance of a key department which is out of control. "We all dislike the taxman," she said, "but many Canadians recognize that without contributing their fair share, government cannot live up to what is expected."

"We have not done too badly in Canada," she said. "We have the second highest standard of living in the world. Most of us still enjoy a very comfortable life and want to honor our obligations to ourselves and our government. We don't want a pattern of dishonesty, which the tax department has given us. If ever there was the image of big brother in 1984, this certainly is it."

Mrs. Cossitt said that Revenue Canada fishing expeditions" and the idea that Canadians "have something to hide," must be stopped.

Because of the state of turmoil in the department, Mrs. Cossitt said that the Progressive Conservative party had launched a Task Force on Revenue Canada. The Task Force visited more than 27 towns and cities and heard about 300 oral submissions. She added that the government has opted for a secret in house departmental review, at a cost of $1.5 million to the taxpayer. "As the old saying goes, that's like putting the fox in charge of the chicken coop," she said.

Mrs. Cossitt said that she has some sympathy for The Revenue Minister, because when he is given responsibility for the department he may have little or no experience at it. "There have been 12 Ministers of Revenue in the past 15 years," she said. "Not only is the Minister at a disadvantage, but the whole department is at a disadvantage."

"The quota system and harassment of individuals and businesses are becoming a rule rather than an exception." Mrs. Cossitt said that the Task Force report has made many recommendations for improvements of Revenue Canada and if only half of these reforms were undertaken, the system would improve greatly.

Among the Task Force recommendations are a "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights", no quota system; better training of Revenue Canada staff; representatives of small business, senior citizens, consumers and other sectors on the taxation advisory committee; and the need for additional district taxation offices.

"Taxes are what we pay for a civilized society," Mrs. Cossitt said. "For all we may grumble about it we accept that it is an obligation. We believe that it is time the tax system is civilized."

UCP predicts successful season

MORRISBURG (Special) - The Upper Canada Playhouse season is progressing on schedule. At this point slightly more than $17,000 has been raised, thanks to the generous support of citizens in our area. A contractual agreement with 1,000 Islands Foundation was signed at a recent executive meeting. Provisions for two plays; Billy Bishop and 1837; the Farmer's Revolt have been made.

In light of Ontario's Bicentennial, these two plays should offer special meaning to people of this area. Ticket prices for the season were set at a comparatively low level: adults $6, senior citizens $5, children (16 and under) $3.

The Upper Canada Playhouse management has engaged the services of a general manager and an assistant director, Mark Morton, who will be a highly visible figure in our community as of May 7.

Application has been made to three government grants. Their status was reviewed at the recent meeting and favourable results were reported.

Support, financial and otherwise, is still being sought for this new local industry. A tax deductible receipt will be issued to benefactors ($1,000), sponsors ($500), donors ($100) or friend ($25).

Birthday celebration

(Special) - Mrs. Mildred Paul's 80th birthday was celebrated recently at the home of her daughter Mrs. Miles Hunter.

It was a very enjoyable get-together and Mrs. Paul received many gifts including a trip to the Pocono Mountains. The birthday cake was decorated by Mrs. Jackie Meilleur.

Council seeks MTC funding

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - Osnabruck Township council will make yet another application to the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for street lighting along Hwy. No. 2.

Council already had a request for lighting at the VinVista intersection rejected and it received word at the March 6 meeting that the area wasn't eligible for MTC funding. The MTC letter to Council gave no explanation why the township's request was turned down.

Township residents Richard Vinet and Ken Shillito attended council's April 10 meeting with a petition signed by ratepayers protesting the MTC refusal. The delegation requested council to erect overhead lighting at three areas they deemed "dangerous": Vin Vista Drive and Hwy. No. 2, Eamon Road on the east bank of Hoople Creek; and on Hwy. No. 2 near the Bavarian restaurant.

In a letter to council, area residents state there is a high amount of traffic at the intersections, and that the cost of overhead lighting would be minimal compared to the safety it would provide.

Mr. Vinet said that he spoke to many residents of the area, and the need for lighting has been a concern to them for a number of years. "We find that these intersections are dangerous, especially in bad weather and when it's dark," he said, "and we certainly hope it doesn't take a fatality to bring this issue back to council." Mr. Vinet said that he was "dismayed".

Mr. Shillito said that safety is the "number one concern" of area residents. "We realize the value of lighting from the safety point of view," he said, "and we don't think that it's a lot to ask."

Township Reeve Stewart Hart said that lighting in the areas should not amount to "a horendous cost," and added that he was sure council was in full agreement with the proposals. "I'm sure going to back your petition up," he said. "We're going to have lights there one way or another."

L.C.B.O. official plans visit

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Residents here may be in "good spirits" this summer if an application to the Liquor Control Board of Ontario (L.C.B.O.) is accepted.

The application for an outlet in the community was recently received by SD and G MPP Noble Villeneuve. Osnabruck Township Clerk-Treasurer Tom Melesky said that Mr. Villeneuve has arranged for an L.C.B.O. official to visit the Village of Ingleside sometime this week to look at the possibility of setting up a combined liquor and beer outlet.

Mr. Melesky said the outlet would just be temporary, perhaps for the summer, but if the response and demand is good, there is the possibility of setting up a permanent L.C.B.O. outlet

St. Lawrence District Scout leaders choose committees for this summer

(Special) - Scout leaders from St. Lawrence District attended a District Council meeting in Iroquois at the United Church on April 12.

Council President, John McAuley, welcomed everyone and offered congratulations to nine Boy Scouts who recently received their Chief Scout awards at a ceremony in Ottawa.

The Scouts included Sheldon Hoogwerf, 7th Prescott; Henry Gardell, Kemptville; from Chesterville, Peter Van der Lind, Alan Whetter, George Armstrong; and from Winchester, Kevin Bell; Mark McKinley, Tom Wilson and Richard Rodney.

Mr. McAuley reported on the Provincial Water Activities policy and procedures that will be in effect on Jan. 1, 1985. Included in the policy is the directive that all Districts must form a committee to oversee the water activities and to issue charge certificates to Leaders that fulfill the necessary requirements. St. Lawrence Districts' committee includes George Fowler, Scout Master in Iroquois; Wayne Tuck, 7th Prescott's Scout leader and Terry Smart, Scout leader in Kemptville. Fred Stretton, Group committee chairman from 7th Prescott will act as a resourse person.

The District is currently holding discussions on leasing property to use as a camp and other activities.

A committee was formed to formulate plans and guidelines regarding the land. Sitting on this committee will be Chesterville Scoutmaster Rudi Derstroff, Fred Rodney and Jim Cinnamon from Winchester and Roger Duchesne from 9th Prescott-Johnstown.

A third committee was formed to organize the 1984 Regional Conference to be hosted by the District for the first time. John McAuley will be chairman with members Chris Slater and Sandi MacKay from 7th Prescott; Eddie Vanschie, 2nd Prescott and Etta Strong from Iroquois.

The various sections held individual discussions with the Beaver leaders finalizing plans for the Beaver-ree to be held in Iroquois on May 26. The Cub section led by John Connell, A.D.C. of Cubs, began reorganizing the Cub Camp. Original plans to camp at Fort Wellington in Prescott had to be scrapped as final approval to make use of the property was denied by the Federal Department that oversees the operation of the Fort. The camp will now be held on the week-end of June 8 at the K.O.A. site north of Cardinal.

Ron McLean A.D.C. of Scouts was in charge of the troop section when discussion took place on the Water Activities Policy; the Regional Scout camp in Petawawa on June 1, 2 and 3 and the Pennsylvania trip in October.

Refreshments were served by Fred and June Stretton and Irma Hoogwerf from the 7th Prescott Group Committee. The final meeting for this season will be held on May 16, in Iroquois, hosted by Williamsburg.

In Memoriams

IN MEMORIAM

LOUGHRIDGE — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Harold, who passed away suddenly April 19, 1979.

Among the other voices
A certain one is still
And there's a deep and lonely emptiness
That no one else can fill
Till memory fades and life departs
You will live forever in our hearts.

Sadly missed and Always remembered
Wife, Jean,
Daughters, Sandra & Mary Jean and their families

IN MEMORIAM

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear daughter-in-law, Norma Thompson, who passed away April 15th, 1983.

One sad and lonely year has passed
Since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day,
No one can ever tell.
God gave us strength to meet it
The courage to bear the blow
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
For life is not the same for us
Since your were called away
You bade no one your last farewell
Nor even said goodbye.
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.

Sadly missed by Margaret and Family

IN MEMORIAM

BAILEY — In loving memory of a wonderful husband, father and grandfather, James Bailey, who passed away April 18, 1977.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
and as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed and Always remembered by Greta, Shirley, Harry, Kevin & Darren

IN MEMORIAM

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Norma Thompson, who passed away April 15, 1983.

From hospital bed to heavenly rest
God took her home to be his guest
The stars are brightly shining upon a silent grave
In it lies a precious one we loved but could not save.
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Our eyes fill up with tears.
Only God knows how much we miss her
As it ends one lonely year.

Lovingly remembered by Husband, Mel & sons, Brian & Barry

IN MEMORIAM

FERGUSON — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister Linda, who passed away suddenly April 24, 1971. Age 17 years.

Just as dear as the years depart
Your memory lives within our hearts
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere
How often we wish that you were here.

Forever and lovingly remembered by Mom, Dad, Earle and Karen.

OFA asks treasurer for farm assistance

TORONTO (Staff) - The Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA) has called on the government of Ontario to "develop a long-term strategy for the future health and well being of agriculture in Ontario."

The call came March 28 when the OFA met with Ontario Treasurer Larry Grossman and Minister of Agriculture and Food Dennis Timbrell for a pre-budget discussion.

OFA president Harry Pelissero said the government-OFA meeting was one of 45 or 46 that Mr. Grossman has held to gather information in preparation for the provincial budget, a budget which should be presented sometime in May.

"The whole idea was a listening session," Mr. Pelissero said of the 90 minute meeting. "We put forward some new ideas and reinforced some old ones. Mr. Grossman and Mr. Timbrell will have to take them back to cabinet and discuss it. Some of our items have dollar implications and they'll have to see if the dollars are there. We put good suggestions forward and we'll wait until May and see what happens."

In its 17 page submission the farm organization told the ministers that agriculture in Ontario is at a crossroad.

"With proper direction, a more supportive environment and commitment to firm goals, we will be able to continue to provide quality products at reasonable prices to the consumers of Ontario and customers elsewhere in Canada and abroad," it stated.

The OFA called on the government to make interim payments to the red meat industry until the tripartite stabilization plan is implemented, devote more funds to agricultural research and called for continued commitment and active support of the government for the Agri-bond program.

"We are committed to a vital industry," the brief states, "to a way of life, a careful husbanding of our land resources and to a healthy, dynamic rural community in Ontario. We are requesting that some fairly specific action be taken on a number of recommendations... however, without a commitment of people and financial resources to work together with us in examining the future of our industry, these efforts will be totally inadequate."

Richard Dingwall excels in Jersey Judging contest

GUELPH (Staff) - A Berwick youth has placed first in the open competition in the Ontario Jersey 1983 All Canadian Judging Contest.

Richard Dingwall, 15-year-old son of Floyd and Muriel Dingwall, Spruce Vine Jerseys, topped the 50 entries received garnering some 76 points. Richard has been active in Junior Jersey activities for a number of years.

In 1983 he was Reserve Grand Showman at the Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec Youth Rally in Chesterville. In August of that year he was the winner of the China Jersey bull door prize at the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club open house.

The maximum attainable score in the eight classes is 80 points.

4-H Horticulture

To recognize Ontario's Bicentennial the 4-H Horticulture project - Home and Farm Beautification is being presented. 4-H'ers will have the opportunity to learn about gardening, growing plants and how to beautify their homes and farms with the use of horticulture.

The project includes five meetings which will be held monthly.

To meet project requirements, members will grow a garden, do a home-farm beautification project, attend meetings, complete a record book and exhibit a display at Achievement Day.

The 4-H'ers may select the vegetables they wish to grow, but they must include one vegetable that they have never cultivated before.

Possible home beautification projects include: planting a flower garden, building a rock garden, planting Ontario's bicentennial white pine trees, or landscaping lawns. Achievement Day displays will feature; weed collections, flower or vegetable arrangements and poster.

Members must be 12-21 years of age as of January 1, 1984. If you are interested in participating in the 4-H Horticulture, contact the leaders in your area:

The Achievement Programs for "Fitness Fare" will take the form of an Open House. Members from each club will be preparing and setting up display Booths. Some of the display titles include; Sensible Snacks, Fitness Exercises, Lunch and Breakfast Ideas, Women and Sports, etc.

Visitors are invited to the Open House to view the displays, ask questions, see demonstrations and they may even have the opportunity to sample some of the recipes.

The Open houses will be held as follows:

$10 million waste

Once again Canadians have aptly demonstrated that when it comes to making plans we are second to none, but when it comes to doing something concrete, we fall flat on our faces.

This week the federal royal commission headed by former Liberal cabinet member Donald Macdonald released an interim report on the country's economic direction. The interim report came with a price tag of $10 million and told us a variety of things about our economy -- most of which we already knew.

Canadians seem to have a special place in their hearts for royal commissions. Rather than deal with a difficult problem at the time it surfaces, the Canadian attitude is to appoint a royal commission, tour the country taking submissions and by the time the commission releases its report, people have either forgotten about the original issue or other events have moved up to take centre stage in public opinion.

Quite aside from the fact that appointing a royal commission to examine our economy is a waste of time -- there are reams and reams of unused and unread studies of our economy done by university professors and many private research groups -- it is also an obscene waste of our money.

The interim report rang in with a $10 million bill, which was bad enough, but now we're told the group will need another $11 million to give us the finished package. We're being asked to swallow, hook, line and sinker, a $21 million report that, as we all know from past experience, will lay on some shelf collecting dust. Ask yourself what ever happened to the royal commission report which investigated RCMP dirty tricks.

In spite of the outrageous price tag the commission's finding could be justified if it told us anything we didn't already know. Rather than telling us what we must do, it offers us a pablum of challenges and choices. We are told we can either accept a lower standard of living or seek more trade abroad and move away from our total dependence on resource based industries.

Hell, the New Democratic Party -- a party that is all but dead in the water -- has been saying we need to diversify and move away from our image of 'choppers of wood and haulers of water' for so long that people are getting sick of hearing it. And we have to give this commission $21 million to tell us the same thing?

Any good union man who has sat through contract negotiations within the last decade has been told time and time again that he must accept a lower standard of living. Yet the commission's report tells us the same thing and acts like it's something radical.

If Mr. Macdonald wanted to find out what the economy needs all he had to do was to drop by any of the thousands of local hotels, bars, restaurants, street corners or other places people gather to talk. For it seems the suggestions made in his interim report are suggestions that have been made by Canadians for years now.

However, let's let the politicians themselves render final judgement on the report. After all, that's what they are paid for.

Conservative Industry critic Michael Wilson said, "After more than a year, Canadians have a right to expect more than a number of questions. We could have told them what the questions were."

Or this from the NDP's Ian Deans, "I think the majority of people in the country already know what both the problems are and have a better sense of the solutions than maybe what Mr. Macdonald would like to have us believe."

If the Macdonald commission continues its almost rabid consumption of taxpayer's money perhaps it should consider adopting the slogan of a well known restaurant which bears the same name. To wit, "Billions and billions spent." -Bruce Hayes-

Whistling again?

An informed public is said to be a democracy's greatest strength.

A voting populace that keeps informed of government actions, policy decisions and the reasons behind them presumably is then able to make informed, intelligent decisions on the issues of the day, issues which affect all of us in our day to day lives.

If we believe that then it would follow that a democratic government would want to do its part in making sure the electorate is given every opportunity to get the information needed to make informed decisions.

Apparently that is not the case in this province. The government of Ontario is starting to sound like the proverbial broken record with its repeated promises to introduce its freedom of information legislation.

For the 10th straight year the government that ran the last election using the slogan "Help us Keep the Promise" has promised once again to introduce the necessary legislation this year. Excuse us if we seem a little sceptical of the latest promise.

Last week Resources Development Secretary Norm Sterling (MPP for Carleton-Grenville) told reporters he is optimistic that he will actually be able to bring in a bill this year. However, though it isn't his fault, Mr. Sterling has been whistling the same tune since 1981 when he first began trying to convince his cabinet colleagues that telling the people of Ontario what was really going on wouldn't bring down the government.

While Conservatives fret and stew over the process the public would follow to gain access to documents and other previously secret information they are also blocking a vote on a Liberal bill which would set up a freedom of information system.

The Liberal plan would also establish a fair information practices tribunal to settle disputes when the government refuses to release information and establish protection for privacy rights.

Government secrecy has all too often become merely a method to avoid releasing controversial documents. As its use spreads through all levels of government it is also used to cover up incompetence, on the part of bureaucrats and politicans.

Got an embarassing report that shows someone in your government made a mistake which cost taxpayers money? Well, just stamp it secret and all your troubles are over.

Secrecy in government conjures up visions of those governments in countries less tolerant than ours. It flies in the face of our ideas of an open and free democratic government. Many times people who have been directly affected by a government decision cannot find out the circumstances surrounding that decision.

A government that refuses to establish a procedure for public access to information is performing a disservice to its people. We can only hope that Mr. Sterling's optimism is justified and we'll finally see government information banks open to the people they are supposed to be serving. However, based on the government's record in this department, we have our doubts. -Bruce Hayes-

Saturday morning last as Mr. Abe Ball was driving his team over the covering to the drain intake on King street opposite Coyne & Allison's store, one of the horses in stepping on the cover caused it to slip from its place, causing the horse to fall with one of its hind legs caught in the opening. With the assistance of several men with a rope, the horse was assisted to extricate itself from the hole, somewhat bruised but with no broken bones. The Village authorities would save the corporation a chance of an action for damages in the future if a more secure covering is provided without delay.

In stock this week at L. Jordan Farm Machinery on Main Street are: the celebrated Bissell Disc Harrow, Tudhope Wagons and Buggies, Moody and Gilson goods and Maxwell Hay Loaders. There is also a large stock of harness and collars in for Spring.

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid have been very fortunate in securing that wonderful motion picture "The Stream of Life" for presentation in the Star Theatre next week. There is probably no picture today with higher moral up-lift than this one and if the young folks of our homes do not see it, it can be counted an opportunity lost that can never be replaced in their moral education. Besides the decided high tone of the picture it is as fascinating as anything ever presented in Chesterville. Admission is 40 cents and 25 cents.

The regular monthly meeting of the Berwick Women's Institute was held recently at the town hall with 21 members present. The Institute had the pleasure of their district President, Mrs. Grant of Moose Creek, who gave some timely instructions and practical suggestions. A splendid paper on "My Garden" was given by Mrs. Dingwall and read by our Secretary in her absence, which contained many useful hints for the coming season. The meeting closed with the singing "God Save the King."

Principal P.S. Boyd has sent in the Winter term report for Room "A" at Chesterville Public School. Mr. Boyd notes that on account of measles, several students have missed one or more examinations thus considerably lowering their standing. It is to be hoped that in the course of the next term these averages will be considerably increased, and parents are urgently requested to co-operate in seeing that their children attend studiously to school work. Senior IV classmates include: Bruce Harper, Jean Brown, Ralph Durant, Kathleen Bogart, Margaret Merkley, Addie Campderros and Mabel Henderson.

Junior IV classmates are: Allan Tate, Keith Graham, Hilda Peake, Ramon Campderros, Alton Perrault, Frances Fulton, Margaret Perrault, Eldridge Perrault, Crawford Barkley, Amy Fairbrass, Irene Hamilton, Rosie Harper, Graham Price, Arthur Haley, Kenneth Haley, Edith Hornby, Blanche Hornby, Harry Henderson, Gladys Alford and Barbara Cameron.

The following letter, dated April 4, 1944, was recently received by the Berwick Women's Institute -- Just a few lines in acknowledgement of the gift parcel which I received from you last week and wish to thank you all very much, as I appreciate everything you have sent.

The soap did not affect gum or any other eatables, the parcel was intact and in no way damaged.

Being moved about quite frequently here but not with the unit at present. Things do change from time to time, but it is all very difficult and impossible for me to put down on paper, for security reasons.

We are being well treated here but your parcels do help out a great deal and it is nice to know that all you back home do have a thought of us here.

Again many thanks for the parcels you have sent us in the past and hope some day I may be able to return all your kind deeds. Yours Truly, Lt. R.A. Casselman.

This past week wreckers from Ottawa have been busy demolishing the old wooden water tank at Nestle. The old landmark was erected back in 1925, built to last of cypress planking, and held many millions of gallons of water in its years of service. A big metal tank from the old site of Caldwell Linen Mills will take its place.

by Wyn Thompson

House and office work is tiresome in spring. Almost every person gets that feeling of 'let's get away from it all' when the golden sun shines through the murky windows of winter and the bird song beckons one to go hither and yon.

Spring has a special smell. As the sun dries the trees, the bark gives off a special odour. The pines add spicy fragrance to the air. Then there is the musty smell of leaves that floats upwards as we rake the lawn. The earth itself gives off a damp sweetness. And there is no more fragrant smell in the world than that of the neighbour's bonfire.

The smell of early spring lacks the exciting sweetness of blossoming flowers, but as I go out in the morning to sit on the gallery with my coffee I drink in luxurious breaths of pure enjoyment. Granted I am still muffled up in a warm sweater but there is no nicer treat than coffee on the gallery before the mosquito season commences.

Lady and Irish run in dizzy circles. Often Scamp, struck with a sudden surge of energy, leaps and lands on Lady.

But at night the fire burns comfortably in the fireplace, for it may be 60 at noon but swoops down to 32 at dark. A few of the pine cones lugged home from Georgia make the house spicy. When a leftover rain and wind storm from March howls in, it is good to pick up a book and read while the birch logs warm the family room.

The spring rains have a purpose but by the last of April I am so hungry for the sun and warmth that it is easy to become impatient. But it does mean the days of winter are vanishing, so let it rain. On such a night, I can be lavish with leisure.

"I have just made my last pot of soup until fall, "I announced to the Farmer at breakfast on this fine sunny morning. He is less than impressed with my regular weekly soup-making schedules. "Soup is a very healthful meal, "I continued," even a helping of canned vegetable soup has as much vitamin A as three tomatoes and it is one of the most thoroughly nourishing, easily digested foods we can eat." Still no response.

Be that as it may, I read recently that historians cannot exactly pinpoint when soup was first served. Molokhia, one of Egypt's national dishes, is a soup believed to date from the time of the pharaohs.

And it was in the 1800s that chemist John T. Dorrance created the first canned condensed soup for the Joseph Campbell Company in the United States. But every country has its favorite. France delights in its onion soup. Then there is the Russian borscht, Chinese won ton, Italian minestrone, German biersuppe, English mulligatawny, and French Canadian pea soup.

Madame Jehane Benoit says that before rural "Quebecers had electricity, they made large quantities of pea soup in the winter and froze it outdoors. When they heated it slowly over a low fire, "the kitchen was filled with the robust aroma on onion, lard, peas, and savoury."

Almost every nation is rich in its folklore about the benefits of soup. No matter what our ethnic origins, most of us have been urged, thusly, "Eat up your soup. It's good for you."

I finish putting the vegetables in the stock pot, pull on my parka and head for the bush. There's nothing that can rejuvenate the human body and soul like taking to the bush in the spring of the year. And what better day for a walk than on Good Friday.

Any bush at this time of year is a place or relaxation for the mind and body, and a haven for the soul. It is a heaven in the heat of the summer, a vista of unbearable beauty in the fall, a haven of tranquility during the storms of winter.

But it is in the early spring that the magic of the bush can offer its special kind of therapy to frazzled nerves and tired bodies that have been pushing themselves too far and too fast. The hushed stillness provides a balm in Gilead.

Not that the bush is a place of tomb-like silence. Far from it. There is life there, abundant and fascinating, especially when spring is about to break free of winter. There is the soft music of the pines, the chatter of a squirrel, the twitter of chickadee, the saucy scolding of a bluejay from a treetop.

On the quiet air may come the rythmic drumming of a partridge, the staccato hammering of a woodpecker, making his head fly with incredible speed. Over the tree tops a flock of crows may flap by in slow motion. You might see a rabbit hurrying beside the path you are on, and possibly catch a fleeting glimpse of a deer at a safe distance.

Buds are swelling on the bare branches, and the sunshine makes bluish shadows across the rugged path. Sights and sounds geared to nature's ways in this calmly beautiful place can lift the spirit, warm the heart, and calm the soul.

Everyone should take a few hours off and go walking in the bush when the year's at the spring. It is better than a doctor's prescription or a medicine cabinet full of drugs.

They're wonderful places, our bushlands.

"Would you find contentment,
happiness and peace?
Would you hear a song of praise
that shall never cease?
Would you find a solace in a quiet
prayer?
Go into the forest, son; Manitou is there." (Hotan Tonka)

A very Happy Easter to you and yours! Or a joyful spring, as the case my be.

March went out like a lamb and early April saw the continuation of calm and sunny days; however, despite the pleasant weather, for many students the first two weeks of April were very hectic. This is the time of the school year when senior students in particular start to feel the pressures that accompany job hunting and applying for College or University. As well, with report cards approaching, students are frantically trying to raise their marks on the assignments which are so plentiful in spring.

Despite the homework, students found times to participate in the many sports events that sprang up. Among the activities was a round robin tournament for intramural volleyball, which was completed on Tuesday, April 3. In addition, on April 4, the Russell Jr. C Hockey Club, the majority of whose members attend N.D.D.H.S., defeated Embrun 72s 3 games straight to win the Western division of the Eastern Ontario Jr. C Championship Hockey League.

North Dundas' more agile students performed admirable at the SD&G Gymnastics Meet at Glengarry D.H.S. on Tues., April 10. The team, under the direction of Mrs. Kelly, will compete at home in the E.O.S.S.A. Gymnastics Competition to be held on Tues., April 17. Also on the sports calendar is the Seaway Relay Meet scheduled for Thurs., April 26.

North Dundas was also well represented at contests of a different nature in early April. Results came in for the Junior Math Contest in April, in which Grade 11 participants placed first of the 25 schools of Eastern Ontario who participated; consequently, this team is on the honour roll for Ontario and Canada. The Grades 9 and 10 teams both came in first of SD&G schools and sixth of 27 schools in our zone. All N.D. math whiz participants did well, with many placing on the honour roll for our zone.

North Dundas again came out a winner at the OBEA Typing Competition held on April 9 at Tagwi. Dina Pavlounis placed first in the Novice Divison with a speed of 41 wpm, and Kim Shay came fourth in the Senior Division with a speed of 58 wpm. Congratulations are well deserved by all the contentants who represented N.D. in the competition.

Yet another contest, this time for Accounting, was held the next day with these four students from N.D. placing at the top of their category. Julie Lamb and Teresa Pizzamiglio in the Junior category and Marilyn Craig and Michael Mathew in the Senior. These students will represent N.D. in the SD&G and the Ontario Accounting Contest on Mon., April 16.

In the neverending but necessary field of fund-raising, two groups in particular are working hard: the Athletics Association and the Senior Band. The A.A. has been busily planning a magazine campaign to run from April 16 to April 30. The campaign involves the sale of various Canadian magazines and its goal is $9,000. Most Senior music students have also jumped on the bandwagon in the effort to raise money for the upcoming Band Trip to New Brunswick. Fortunately, we had generally pleasant weather for the three bottledrives held recently in Russell, Chesterville, and Winchester.

With the advent of spring weather, many pale-faced students came out of hybernation during their lunches and spares to enjoy the sun. Unfortunately, despite much pleading, teachers refused to let us bask in the sun between these rest periods.

Curnoe KCAT Agronomy head

(Special) - Bill Curnoe has been appointed head of the Agronomy Section at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

A graduate of both the diploma and degree programs at the University of Guelph, Mr. Curnoe was awarded an M.Sc. at the University of Guelph in 1975 for his work on the effects of sewage sludge on soils.

Though conducted in a lab, the experiments showed sludge worked well on clay soil low in phosphorous.

Over the next few years, research in the Section will maintain its strong commitment to corn and forages. But Mr. Curnoe says the Section will also emphasize soybean production, crop rotation, and intensive cereal management.

In the past, Mr. Curnoe's research has shown that nitrogen from plowed down legumes can affect succeeding corn crops into the second year. At present, he is developing a system which will better show the potassium and phosphorous needs of the higher yielding alfalfas.

Before coming to the College in 1975, Mr. Curnoe taught soil courses to diploma and degree students at Guelph. At Kemptville he combined theory with practice, teaching junior students among other things to make a fertilizer plan for a farm and at the same time protect and conserve the soil. In addition, he introduced an in depth soil management course for second year students.

At present, Mr. Curnoe is chairman of the Ontario Soil Management Reserach Committee and sits as a member on another six research committees.

Tom MacGregor of Morewood's Glen Haven Farm demonstrates how his new $20,000 computer operated feeding system works. Mr. MacGregor, along with brother Rhod, operate a 70 head Guernsey operation just east of the community of Morewood. The brothers estimate the system will pay for itself within two years, due mainly to savings on feed and increased milk production.

Computer controls feeding program

MOREWOOD (Staff) - A Morewood dairy operation has become one of only seven farms in the province to make use of a computer operated feeding system for their herd.

Rhod and Tom MacGregor of Morewood's Glen Haven Farm installed the sophisticated system on their Guernsey farm three weeks ago and Tom predicts the $20,000 system will pay for itself in about two years.

The system -- called the Infarmation Feed Manager -- employs two special feeding stalls. Each of the brother's 70 cows carries a special transponder around its neck which picks up and bounces back a special radio wave emitted by the feed stalls. A device in the stall interprets the signal that has been bounced back, identifies the cow and feeds it the quanitity and mixture of feed that has been programmed into the system.

"Before we were adding all the grain in the feed bunk," Mr. MacGregor said. "Now we can divide the cows into two groups, the high producers and low producers. When we fed them with the bunk they all got the same. Now each cow is fed individually with the computer. We can save a lot of money by feeding low producers less and pampering our high producers."

While Mr. MacGregor said he couldn't be sure, he felt the system would probably pay for itself in two years thanks to decreased feed costs and increased milk production.

In addition to the feed regulating feature the computer is a vital tool in the brother's herd health management. Each morning when they come into the barn there is a computer printout waiting which tells them if any cow is not eating their prescribed ration.

"That would indicate to us that they might be sick or in heat and we'd be able to act a lot faster," Mr. MacGregor said.

The agent who sold the system, Finch Surge dealer Peter Babcock, said the MacGregor computer is the first one he has sold in the United Counties and only the seventh in the province.

"I think over the last few years people have gotten more into it," Mr. Babcock said, "once they see the things they can do with it."

While he admits the wholesale use of on-farm computers is still in its infancy, he predicts the trend will catch on over the next 10 to 15 years.

According to Mr. MacGregor the nicest feature of the system is that it is very easy to operate -- 'user friendly' in computer jargon.

"He (Mr. Babcock) went over it with us," he said. "It's easy. The computer asks you what you want, option number one or number two."

The system can also be expanded with additional purchases of software -- computer programs -- to include programs for financial management and record keeping and a reproduction package which will monitor heat cycles of your herd.

While Mr. MacGregor admits a farm computer isn't the magical device some might make it out to be, he says it still is a vital tool.

"It won't save you time," he said. "In fact, it takes more time than just throwing the grain in the bunk. But you have control with this."

Women in the Bible UCW topic

CHESTERVILLE (Special) - An enjoyable time was spent at the Chesterville Trinity U.C.W. Thank-offering service on Thursday evening April 5.

Phyllis Noble, President of Seaway Valley Presbyterial, from Dalkeith, was guest speaker for the evening.

Mrs. Noble gave an interesting talk on some of the women of the Bible times. She spoke on Mary, the mother of Jesus, Martha, Dorcas, a seamstress and the first person brought back to life by the disciples, Mary Magdalene and Priscilla. Mrs. Noble's talk was enjoyed by all. She was introduced by Mrs. Bennett and thanked by Miss Forward.

The meeting was opened by Linda Bennett who welcomed the guests -- there were several from local churches -- and drew our attention to the lovely decorations, especially the drawings on the wall of pussy-willows and forsythia -- the products of the S.S. grade six students.

The devotional programme was shared by Linda Bennett, Joyce Armstrong, Lois Smith, Suzanne Coyle and Isabel Forward with Elsie Graham as pianist. The offering was received by Joyce Armstrong and Lois Smith. After a prayer by Linda Bennett, Rev. Ferguson closed with the Benediction. A delicious lunch was then served by the committee.

N.D.D.H.S. drama club plans show

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - A student showcase of talent is scheduled for next Thursday, April 26 at North Dundas District High School.

The N.D.D.H.S. Drama Club is presenting "Entertainment Night", and have planned a talent-packed night of singing, pantomime, Jazz dancing, gymnastics, and skits.

Kristin Whitney, Creative Drama teacher at North Dundas said that about 20 students have been rehearsing for several weeks in preparation for the show. Miss Whitney said that this is the first time in her four years at the school that students will be putting on such a performance. She stressed that the production is student written, choreographed and performed. "It's all student talent and student ideas," she said. "I merely suggest things...and that's how it should be."

Two senior students will be working the stage lighting for the show, and the night should hit a high note with Flashdance Jazz dancing, and a Price Is Right skit. Miss Whitney said that there is a lot of hidden talent in the school, and the show should be a good one.

All are welcome to attend: Admission is $2.50 for parents and the public, and $1.50 for students.

Rotary report

Local MP guest speaker

By John Macaulay

Our guest speaker on Monday was not only a Yorkshire lass but a member of Parliament for Leeds-Grenville. Jennifer Cossitt also has interest in gourmet food, sewing and fitness and amateur sport. Her topic was Revenue Canada, its use and abuse of the power vested in this ministry and the lack of control by Parliament.

While emphasizing the abuse of power by Revenue Canada. She warned us that anyone could become a victim of this Federal Department but didn't really offer any concrete solution except to change the attitude of the civil servant in Revenue Canada.

Jennifer was introduced by Rotarian Lloyd Grose and thanked by Rotarian Jerry Vestervelt.

Our thanks to Mrs. Cossitt for taking time out to travel to Chesterville. It was a very enjoyable and informative talk.

We also thank Rotarians Nixon and Graham for setting up the Drop In Center in preparation for the ladies, who are always a most welcome addition to our club and Monday was no disappointment. Our pianist Elsie Graham left a meeting of the Women's Institute to join us and tickle the ivories for our singsong. Thank you very much Elsie.

We are still without our Jack McMillan who is, we hope, recuperating very nicely at home.

No meeting next Monday (Easter) so we turn our thoughts to Saturday May 5 for the Bike Rodeo under the direction of Bob Saunders and to May 12 for our annual Walk-A-Thon.

Did anyone solve Beazer's dust in the pan puzzle? He will be back on the bulletin - so get crackin'.

Remember no meeting next Monday. Have a good Rotary week.

Calf club meets April 12

by Carol Johnson

(Special) - The Dundas East 4-H Dairy Club held its second meeting Thursday April 12, 1984 at the OMAF Boardroom, Winchester. The club had two new members, Rachel Runnals and Paul Melonhorst. All necessary business was completed.

Neil Kittle then handed out the record books, of which there are three types. The first year members receive the standard 4-H record book; 2nd and 3rd year members receive a book entitled "Dairy Herd Genetic Inventory" and for seniors "Evaluating Cow Production and Milk Marketed". Youth Leader record books and project manuals were given to the club's Youth Leaders Paul Porteous and Carol Johnson. Two lessons, "How Inheritance Works" and "History of Dairy Cattle", were also dispensed to the members and discussed.

The ingenuity of the club's members was then tested in a "Cattle Quiz". This was a short story in which the members were to identify 13 different breeds of strains of cattle. Most members came up with at least 10 out 13.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Herman Van-Wylick on Thursday May 10, 1984. Topics of this meeting will be selection and judging.

Oldtimers lose in "A" finals

WINCHESTER (Staff) - The Chesterville Oldtimers had another successful weekend as they finished "A" runners-up in an 8-4 loss to Matilda Twp. Neil Beckstead won the Most Outstanding Player award for the tournament.

In the 16 team four division tournament the Chesterville team defeated Greely 4-2, Prescott 1-0, Kemptville, 5-3 and Oxford Mills 1-0 before losing to Matilda Twp. in the finals. The Chesterville team was required to play three games in four hours on Sunday including the finals.

Goal scorers for the game against Greeley were Rae Imrie with two and Dick Henderson and Reg Dion with one each. Assists went to Les Holmes, Rick Barkley, Doug Cheney with two each and Terry Buske with one.

Doug Cheney scored the lone goal against Prescott in overtime. He was unassisted. Pete Monast recorded the shut out.

In Chesterville's 5-3 vicotry over Kemptville Doug Cheney scored twice with single markers going to Neil Beckstead, Reg Dion and Rick Barkley. Rick Barkley also had one assist.

To advance to the final game Chesterville had Terry Buske recorded the lone goal. Rick Barkley and Reg Dion assisted while Pete Monast recorded another shut out.

The final game had the Oldtimers play a well rested younger Matilda Twp. team. Rae Imrie and Rick Barkley each had two goals to pace the Oldtimers but that wasn't enough. Garry Ouderkirk had three assists and Doug Cheney, Les Holmes and Reg Dion each had one.

Chesterville goalie, Pete Monast seems to be swamped by Matilda Twp. players as he covers the puck in the Winchester Old Hawks-Blue Jays Oldtimers tournament final game on Sunday. Chesterville gained its berth in the finals by beating Greely 4-2, Prescott 1-0, Kemptville 5-3 and Oxford Mills 1-0. Unfortunately they lost out to the strong Matilda Twp. team 8-4.

Grant Groves places second in bid to remain champion in half marathon

(Staff) - Grant Groves of Chesterville competed in the Jimmy Stokes Half Marathon at the Long Sault Parkway on Sunday. Groves was defending his 1983 title in the Seaway Valley Runner's Association race.

This year he was beaten out of first by Ray Dawes of Winchester. Groves time of 84:57 was about five minutes short of Dawes 79 minutes.

This year mainly due to the steady wind and heavy rain Groves was able to equal his time from his previous race.

Canoe number 28 led off the pack at the start of the race. Occupants Morris Sauve, front, and Pierre Pinard paddled to victory once again in the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race held on Sunday. Sauve and Pinard led a group of 80 canoes this year in keeping their title.

Third place finishers Ron Philips and Colin Hilen move around the first set of rapids on their way to the dam in Martintown. This stretch of water proved to be the testing grounds for many of the canoes. As one canoeist put it as he maneuvered around the rapids, "I thought this was supposed to be fun."

It's raining again.....

WILLIAMSTOWN (Staff) - As usual it was another wet and rainy day for the 80 canoes entered in the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race on Sunday. It seems that every year when the Raisin River Conservation Authority sponsors this race it rains.

This year being the eleventh annual race, organizers were surprised at the large turnout. Last year's race had 50 competitors battle a tough wind and snow. Even with this year's steady downpour only 17 out of the original 80 canoes did not finish.

The race started at noon with three canoes going off at one minute intervals. Their first and main obstacle was met in the early stages of the race. With the water level low it was the 'chutes' that caused the most havoc. With many rocks and even boulders clearly above water level it's no wonder that a few canoeists portaged across this 400 metre stretch.

Since the water was so low this year the Raisin River Conservation Authority deemed the dam at Martintown unsafe. Any canoe which went over the falls was automatically disqualified. For the 100 or so onlookers at the dam only two canoes gave them something to cheer about as they tried their luck with one canoe getting a very wet ride.

The final test of courage came just before the finish line. This small set of rapids was handled easily compared to the starting ones.

The canoeists were separated into three groups, mixed, ladies and mens. In the mixed group 10 canoes started with nine finishing. First place went to a husband and wife team of Miles and Lynn Gallant of Alexandria. They finished the 21 mile course in 3:34:05. Mary-Helen Laplante and Denis Lefebvre of Alexandria and Bell's Corners respectively finished in second with a time of 3:49:34. Third place went to a father-daughter team. Hazen and Julie Meldrum finished with a 3:49:34 time.

In the men's division last year's winners Morris Sauve of Alexandria and Pierre Pinard of L'Orignal reigned supreme again. Their time of 2:38:16 was even with last year's. In a close race for second Francois Leveille of St. Eustache and Morris Deguire of Alexandria won over Ron Philips of Roysenville and Clin Hilen of Richmond by 39 seconds. Leveille's and Deguire's time was 2:45:01 while Philip's and Hilen's was 2:44:40.

In the ladies division Suzanne Savard and Jeanine Poley from CFB Petawawa were the only finishers. They won with the time of 4:50:34.

A reputation rolls on

At a Glance....

by Todd Morin

(Staff) - Now in its seventh year of operation the Chesterville bowling lanes have gained a reputation of one of the best run, best looked after lanes in the area. Since buying the lanes in 1977 owners Syd and Sylvia Bird have spent countless numbers of hours making sure the lanes and the mood of the bowlers was always in tip top shape.

Running the Chesterville lanes is no easy job. Between Syd and Sylvia it takes at least 14 hours a week of maintenance each to make sure things go smoothly. Syd does most of the physical work like oiling and greasing the pin setters while Sylvia takes care of the lighter cleaning.

If it were just the cleaning that was required it would make things much easier. But with three ladies leagues, one men's, one senior citizens' and 10 mixed a lot of time is spent at the lanes just making sure everybody is having a fun time.

Like every business in which the public go to enjoy themselves the owners must be able to get along with the patrons. In this field Syd and Sylvia have no problem. "It's a totally different environment from anywhere else," says Syd. "Since people are coming here to enjoy themselves and to have fun you always catch them in a great mood." Unlike a grocery store where people feel they have to go, at the lanes they feel relaxed and at home in the company of the Birds.

Since the size of Chesterville cannot fully support the lanes by themselves they are fully dependant on the whole area. Bowlers come from Avonmore, Finch, Williamsburg and Berwick to try their skill. One group of ladies from Morrisburg come once a week to do their bowling and shopping in Chesterville.

In Chesterville itself there are six leagues and the Youth Bowling program. It is the Youth Bowling program which Syd is trying to expand. "Out of the 60 Youth Bowlers that we have, only 15 of them are from Chesterville and only five out of the 60 are senior bowlers," he explains. He finds that the interest in bowling ranges in age. He has a high level of interest from the five year olds. The participants level then drops as the age increases until about 20 when the interest is renewed.

Maintenance plays the most important part in the running of the lanes. Machines must be kept in top running order to prevent costly repairs. "I haven't had one major breakdown in the seven years since I have been running the lanes," Syd said, "All I do is make sure things are done when they are supposed to." This includes conditioning the lanes two or three times a week which depends on the number of bowlers. This is where Syd makes a bowling tip, "A straight bowler will always bowl best in every lane while a bowler who curves his or her ball cannot be consistent." Since the middle of the lane is the most used the conditioner is worn off faster. So when a curved ball is thrown it will curve sooner thus losing direction.

In every job there are advantages and disadvantages and this job is no exception. "In this job you work more hours in eight months than most people do in a year. You may not be doing physical labour but never the less you must still be at the lanes," explains Sylvia. "Of course you also get two months off a year during the summer which is great but your social life suffers." Suffers is putting it mildly. Being at the lanes seven nights a week with the odd chance of getting off early on Saturday does not leave time for the nightlife.

This summer Sylvia will have to find other ways to relax during the winter months as Syd is working full time in Ottawa. In the past years they have travelled around Georgian Bay which took them two and a half months to complete. In 1980-81 Syd took part in a Sr. Olympic hockey tournament in California sponsored by the cartoonist Charles Shultz. Team members had to be between 50-54 years of age to compete. The team Syd was on won the gold medal.

Being in a bowling alley most of the year it is assumed that they both bowl considerably but this is not the case. "We just don't have the time anymore," says Syd. In his best years of bowling he rolled to a 1067 and a 419 single.

Even when the regular season of bowlers is over their's is not. They must refinish the lanes and do a final spring clean up before venturing anywhere.

Then they lock up the front doors and bid another bowling season goodbye until next year rolls around.

Making sure the customers are happy is one thing that both Syd and Sylvia Bird have no trouble doing. Unfortunately for this year's bowlers they must wait another four months before venturing to the Chesterville lanes to test their bowling skills.

Borg vs. McEnroe = tennis at its best

(Staff) - The people in the arena were hushed except for the occasional cough and muffled voice. John McEnroe has his familiar set up at the baseline contemplating his serve. On the opposite end of the net is Bjorn Borg five time Wimbledon Champion. His intense concentration can be seen etched across his face as he anticipated the ball.

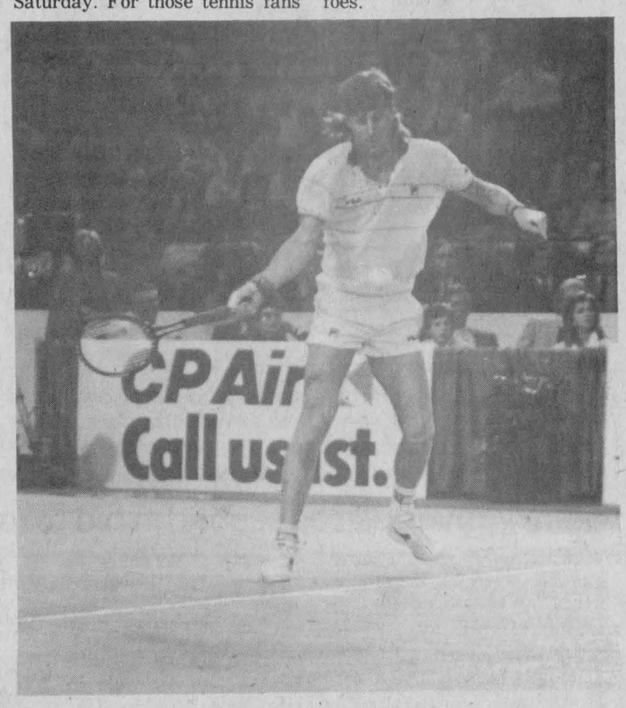
The Ottawa tennis match of the century is about to start for the 9,000 people in attendance at the Ottawa Civic Centre last Wednesday. At a top ticket price of $22.50 a seat not many who witnessed this international event were disappointed. This being the closest thing to professional tennis many in attendance were going to get, each moment was savoured.

The fans got their money's worth. A typical McEnroe clowning around, disputing calls and intimidating the umpire. A stern and almost faceless Borg. Always quiet and hardly ever showing any emotion.

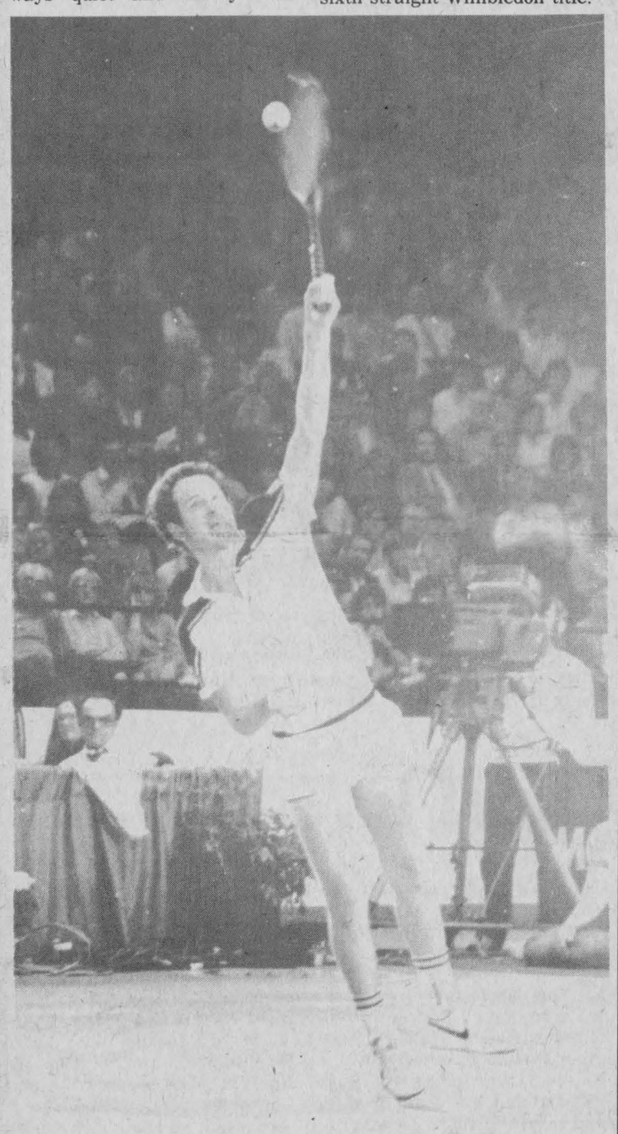
In the 15 times the two players had met in the past McEnroe has come out on top eight times, including the challenge match played in Vancouver last Tuesday. The most memorable victory that Borg had over McEnroe was the famous Wimbledon match in 1980 in which they battled for five sets to decide the winner with Borg using a crosscourt two-handed backhand to win.

McEnroe's greatest victory came in the Wimbledon final in 1981. In this tournament he was almost disqualified in the first round of play as he complained uncontrollably at the umpire, broke a racket, and swore at the referee. In his final match he interrupted play 13 times to question calls. He made it to the final against Borg and beat him 4-6, 7-6, 7-6 and 6-4. Unfortunately his earlier antics overshadowed the final and his stopping Borg from gaining his sixth straight Wimbledon title.

The match that was played in Ottawa will be aired on CTV's Wide World of Sports this Saturday. For those tennis fans that missed being there in person it would be a good idea to watch this friendly match between old foes.



Five time Wimbleton Champion Bjorn Borg shows the concentration that once had him ranked number one in the world. Even though in retirement Borg still enjoys a great game of tennis especially when it comes to playing his old enemy John McEnroe.



The number one ranked tennis player in the world John McEnroe shows that it also takes a little uplifting power to become the best. In Ottawa last Wednesday he demonstrated his tennis prowess on the courts as he defeated Bjorn Borg 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 and 7-6 with a 14-12 extra tie breaker set. Record Photo-Morin
