WINCHESTER YOUTH FOUND DEAD

Found dead early in the morning about 200 feet east of the C.P.R. crossing a mile south of Winchester, Hamlet O'Neil, aged 22 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neil, of Winchester, is believed to have been hit by a train some time in the night.

The body was noticed by S. Deegan of Smiths Falls, Engineer of a west-bound freight train which had stopped at the Winchester yard to drop a car at five o'clock in the morning. Seeing the form in the light of the engine headlight, Mr. Deegan notified Conductor A. Arnold. Lying as he was on the west track, it is thought that Mr. O'Neil was hit by a westbound train. Investigation disclosed marks indicating he had been dragged about 100 feet.

A search was made in the vicinity for Mr. O'Neil's hat and mitts, but they were not recovered, and it is believed that his hat may have caught on the train by which he was hit.

Inquest Saturday

Dr. Peter McLaughlin, coroner, Winchester, pronounced the man dead and had the body removed to Dixon's Undertaking parlors, where an inquest will be held, probably on Saturday. In his examination of the body, Dr. McLaughlin stated that he found that O'Neil had sustained a broken neck and a severe gash in the head. Dr. McLaughlin notified Crown Attorney J. G. Harkness of Cornwall and it was announced that no post mortem would be held. Dr. McLaughlin ordered Dr. J. J. McKendry to conduct an examination of the body. His findings will be disclosed at the inquest.

O'Neil was last seen by Jack Van Bridger, also of Winchester. O'Neil accompanied Van Bridger to the station to meet Michael Levine, of Winchester, who was expected to arrive on the midnight train from Montreal. Van Bridger was driving Levine's car.

Arriving 15 minutes ahead of train time, O'Neil decided to get out of the car for a walk. When the train arrived without Levine, Van Bridger looked around for O'Neil, but as he could not find him, thought he had walked home.

Upon reaching town Van Bridger did not see anything of O'Neil and decided to go back to the station. Nearing the station he saw a car at the crossing and believing that the car had picked up O'Neil he turned his car around and drove home himself.

Mr. O'Neil's untimely passing will be the cause of much regret by his friends and associates in Winchester, where he had resided all his life. He had taken an active interest in sports.

For the past eight years he had been employed as a truck driver with the Crown Bakery, Winchester.

Surviving in addition to his mother and father, are two brothers, Wilbert and Archie, at home; six sisters, Mrs. W. Murdock, Osgoode; Mrs. Sherman Merrill, Morrisburg, and the Misses Stella, Mabel, Erma and Betty, all at home.

MARTIN TRANSPORTS LTD., OPEN BRANCH HERE

Martin Transport Ltd., the largest privately-owned transport system in North America, operating over 500 pieces of equipment, opened their new Morrisburg terminal on Saturday last. Mr. Earl Merkley is the Branch Manager. The terminal was formerly located at Iroquois, Ontario.

The new terminal of Martin transports, Ltd., is located just north of the C.N.R. subway, in the building formerly occupied by the Turner Lumber Company. These premises have been entirely remodelled, several additions having been made.

A staff of approximately 30 men are employed at this point, sorting and loading cargoes for Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa. A road delivery is also run out of this terminal to Kingston, Cornwall, Ottawa, and surrounding district.

Officials at the new branch are as follows: Manager, Mr. Earl Merkley; day foreman, Mr. Gilbert Merkley; night foreman, Mr. Morley Tousaw. Miss Ruth Feader is in charge of the office.

A staff of day and night mechanics is retained to keep the company's trucks in perfect order at all times.

Martin Transports, at this branch, have an annual payroll of approximately $35,000, and should be a decided asset to business in Morrisburg.

MRS. JAMES MULLIN

The citizens of Morrisburg were shocked when the news of the sudden death of Mrs. James Mullin was announced on Friday last. Deceased suffered a slight stroke while out walking on January 5th. She recovered sufficiently to be about her duties and attend church until Friday last when she suffered a second stroke which proved fatal within twenty minutes.

The late Mrs. Mullin, whose maiden name was Laura Idena Johnson, was born at Finch, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Johnson. Forty-one years ago she was united in mariage to Mr. James Mullin who predeceased her several years ago..

A devout member of the United Church, she was deeply interested in in its advancement. No one was more willing to aid the suffering and cheer those in need, in a true Christian spirit.

The funeral which was held from her late home to the United Church on Sunday, was very largely attended. The service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. R. Douglas Smith, assisted by Rev. George Smith. Mrs. Smythe sang "Abide With Me." The many beautiful floral tributes bore silent testimony of deep sympathy from friends and different societies of the church , of which deceased had always been a member.

The remains were laid to rest in the family plot, Fairview cemetery. The chief mourners were her son Edward Mullin, Mrs. Mullin and two grand-children; brother, Simeon Johnson, Glen Robertson; sisters Miss Grace Johnson, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Curtis Warner, Winnipeg, and Mrs. Sarah Rupert of Berwick.

SEEK OPEN SEASON ON DEER IN MOUNTAIN TWP

Due to the large number of deer said to be found in Dundas County, the Cornwall Fish and Game Protective Association is forwarding a resolution to the Department of Game and Fisheries asking that an open season on deer in Mountain township, Dundas county, be provided for next year. The resolution specifies that the open season will be for residents of the United Counties only.

Another resolution to be forwarded to the department is one protesting against the dumping of oily substances into the St. Lawrence river by Cornwall industries. It is claimed that the waste matter deposited in the river has an injurious effect on fish and also is a source of annoyance to bathers at beaches down the river.

Joseph Labonne was re-elected president of the Cornwall association at the annual meeting; Hugh Douglas was named vice-president; Rene A. Danis, secretary; D. C. McDonald, treasurer; Robert Simpson, W.L.G. Snetsinger, W. S. Whittaker, Roy Nichol and Floyd MacMillan directors.

RECEPTION & PRESENTATION

A delightful time was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Hummel, Chesterville, on Monday evening when a number of friends, about 40, gathered at a reception for their son, Ronald C. Humel, and his bride, the former Grace Casselman of Morrisburg. During the evening the presentation was made to the happy couple of flatware, a silver tray and a bride"s book.

Card playing was enjoyed during the evening, and after Mr. Archie Black read the address and the presentation made by Mr. Sydney Morris, lunch was served, followed by dancing. During the evening Miss Marjorie Morris contributed a tap dancing number, with piano accompaniments by Miss Jean Colquhoun.

CHAPTER XI

A few hours later, Jack and Grimes returned to the airport.

"Is the ship ready?" Jack asked a mechanic.

"You'll crack up on the first hill if you don't get some rest before you leave," Grimes remonstrated.

"I'm going," Jack said curtly. "I've got to find out what happened to Leola."

"Count me with you." Grimes was just as curt. "Hear anything from the hospital?"

"Valdmirz signed. They think he'll pull through."

Grimes watched as Jack tested his engine. "You're a fool for going," he gloomed. "We couldn't land in those mountains and . . . Oh, what's use use!" to Jack's comment that he didn't have to go along.

He walked out of the hangar. Then he gave a low, surprised whistle, and called in an excited voice.

"Jack—Jack, come here! Look! A silver plane. It's the one that trailed us or I'm blind as a bat!"

There was still a large crowd of people about—officials, pilots, reporters and others. But Jack and Grimes reached the silver plane first — the moment it landed.

Not Dead

The door opened and Chet Worthing stepped out. "Look me over, folks." He stuck out his chest. "I've been playing tag with death and all that sort of thing."

Jack stopped in amazement. Newspaper cameras flashed.

Chet waved his hand airily. "Hi, boys," he called to the reporters. "Here comes the hero. Give 'im a hand, guys and gals."

He was indicating Dr. Norman Rogers, who was climbing out of the plane. The crowd cheered lustily. Dr. Rogers looked about, bewildered, with obvious dislike of the demonstration.

Jack called to him. "Leola! Tell me . . ."

But before he could finish, a lilting voice spoke.

"Hello, folks!"

All eyes turned to the doorway of the plane, where a slim girl had appeared.

"Leola!" Jack ran to her. "You're not dead!"

"Dead! Jack, if I had a brick, I'd throw it at you. I may be windblown and weather-stained, but I'm not dead. And I'm not crazy either. Even if Ned Cathney did have me locked up."

"Leola, I . . ."

"But Chet, good old Chet, found me in time. And after we learned the Chetneys were sending that explosive, we started right after you."

Jack jumped up to the door of the plane, seized her in his arms. He bent his head over hers. A cry went up from the crowd. Jack jerked his head up with a frown, drew Leola inside and closed the door. He pulled the blinds at the windows. His arms held her tight.

Ropes Had Held Her

"Honey, it's so wonderful to know you're not dead."

"Dead!" Leola frowned. "Why do you insist . . ."

"How could you fall from the wing of a ship and still be alive?"

"Fall from the wing—oh, Jack!" Leola laughed. "I didn't fall far. Surely you do not think Norm and Chet would have allowed me to be on the wing without taking precautions about falling. I had two ropes about me. It was a dizzy dangle, that's all." But Leola shivered.

Jack drew her closer. "Leola, I love you. I've been a stubborn fool. When I saw you on that wing—saw you fall—oh, Leola!"

They clung together wordlessly.

"Leola, when will you marry me?"

"Jack, you don't want to marry me. I . . ."

"Don't tell me," Jack said hurriedly. "I was in that town—at the hotel—when you and Ned . . ."

Leola stared and then flushed. "And you still love me?"

"Yes. The past is dead. If I hadn't been such a stubborn fool, it might never have happened. We won't talk about it.

Leola disengaged herself from Jack's arms and drew him down into the seat beside her.

To Commit a Murder

"Yes, we must talk about everything. Do you know what I've been doing since the night I was supposed to be at Elinor's? Just before I left the office that evening, I overheard a conversation between Ned and an employee. They were talking about sending this explosive by plane, and Ned said to be sure and send it on your ship.

"I accused Ned, begged him to cancel his plans. We argued for hours. I tried to telephone Elinor, but Ned and the employee followed me and forced me to leave the phone booth. They frightened me into swearing I'd never tell."

"You poor kid," Jack said.

"The next day I telephoned Elinor. Told her I must see her, but she left on the Fort Worth trip. Then I went out to the airport to find you. Judith Blair knew where you were, but she wouldn't tell. While we were quarreling, Ned came and forced me to leave. I was drugged and taken to the town where you saw me, then to a farmhouse where I was held prisoner, with a woman to guard me."

"How did you get away?" Jack asked.

"It was the strangest coincidence. Chet Worthing's father had sent him on a house-to-house survey for those farm implements he sells. I saw him in the yard and managed to make him hear me call. The woman tried to tell him I was crazy, but Chet made her let me out. He took me to the nearest town. We wired for Norm. Then we flew in Norm's plane to Chicago, only to learn that the explosive had been sent that day on your ship. That's all, Jack."

"All but the happy ending." Jack kissed her. "When will you marry me, darling?"

"As soon as I've seen Elinor—and committed a murder," Leola answered.

Here is a hint for the spare bedroom where there is no wardrobe. Screw six small hooks into the underpart of a coat hanger. This can be hung behind the bedroom door and will hold six coat hangers quite easily. The frocks on the hangers will overlap and not crease. and a chintz curtain hung from the top of the door will keep away the dust.

CANNING In Wintertime

It doesn't seem to matter how many jars of jams and jellies you carefully laid away for winter use, they usually disappeared more rapidly than you expected and about this time of year, you are just about out of trimmings for the breakfast toast. But there is no need to go without jam or jelly because you haven't any left, and you don't have to wait till the summer fruit crop. You can make grand winter jams by the easy, short boil method you used in putting up your summer fruit. The secret of winter jams and jellies is bottled fruit pectin. Perhaps you didn't use bottled pectin when you did your preserving for the winter so there will be a grand new thrill for you when you find out how easy it is to make them this way.

Marmalades

3 cups (1½ lbs.) prepared fruit
6 cups (2 lbs. 10 oz.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin.

For Orange Marmalade, use three medium oranges and 2 medium lemons; for Grapefruit Marmalade, use about 2 medium grapefruit; for Orange Grapefruit, and Lemon Marmalade use 1 of each fruit of medium size.

To prepare fruit, remove skins in quarters. Lay quarters flat, shave off and discard about ½ of white part. With a very sharp knife, cut remaining rind into shreds. Add 1½ cups water and 1-8 teaspoon soda. Bring to a boil and simmer covered for just 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and slip out pulp. Add pulp and juice to the cooked rind. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes longer.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit, solidly packed, into large kettle, flooding each cup with juice, or if necessary, with water. Bring to a boil, and boil gently 5 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once. Makes about 8 eight-ounce glasses.

Banana and Pineapple Jam

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
1 bottle fruit pectin
7½ cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar

To prepare fruit, crush 5 fully ripe bananas to a fine pulp and add 1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) crushed pineapple.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

Dried Apricot Jam

4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, add 3½ cups water and juice of 1 medium lemon to ½ pound apricots. Cover and let stand 4 hours or overnight. Drain fruit, grind or chop fine, and mix with juice.

Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

Grape Jelly From Bottled Juice

3½ cups (1¾ lbs.) sugar
2 cups (1 lb.) grape juice
½ bottle fruit pectin

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan; mix. (For spiced grape jelly, add ½ teaspoon each clove and cinnamon.) Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard half minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 5 eight-ounce glasses.

Canned Pineapple Mint Jelly

2 cups (1 lb.) syrup from canned pineapple
3½ cups (1½ lbs.) sugar
Green coloring
1 cup mint leaves
½ bottle fruit pectin

Drain syrup from canned pineapple. Wash mint leaves. Do not remove from stems. Place leaves in large saucepan and press with wooden potato masher.

Measure sugar and pineapple syrup into saucepan and mix with mint. Bring to a boil, adding coloring to give desired shade. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. As soon as mixture boils, add fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from fire; remove mint leaves and stems. Skim, pour quickly. To remove all traces of mint leaves, pour hot jelly through fine sieve into glasses. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 5 eight-ounce glasses.

Urge Training For Marriage

Young people should be trained for marriage "just as we would train them for a successful career in medicine, law, agriculture or modern plumbing," Dr. Thurman B. Rice, chief of the Indiana Bureau of Health, told a conference of older youth at Purdue University. Said Dr. Rice:

Inconsistent Attitude

"We are accustomed on the occasion of marriage to stand waving with misty eyes at the happy couple as they start their honeymoon. As we turn from bidding them goodbye, we hurriedly say, 'I do hope they will be happy.'

"Such an attitude is just as consistent as it would be for a farmer to loaf all winter and spring and then on May 10 go out and sprinkle a few bushels of ill-sorted seed corn on the ground and then say to his good wife, 'I do hope we will have a good corn crop'."

Woman's Dream Leads To Art Treasure

An Italian woman's dreams have led to the discovery of a work of art in Naples, and the case is arousing great interest among experts.

The woman, convalescing after a serious illness, had visions every night of a woman dressed in black going to a wall and lighting candles before a fresco.

The wall was examined and found to be blank, but the invalid's dreams were so persistent that her husband eventually bought some tools and began to remove the wall surface. In an hour or two he exposed the fresco, which proved to be a picture of the woman his wife had seen in her dreams.

Later, part of the floor was removed and below it were found drops of tallow similar to that used for making candles.

Novel With No "E's"

One of the most remarkable literary stunts on record has appeared in the United States in the form of a book. It is by an author named Ernest Vincent Wright.

In this masterpiece, a novel of fifty thousand words, the letter "e" does not once appear.

This original young man made sure that this letter would not be present by the simple, yet effective, device of tying the "e" bar of his typewriter down with a piece of string.

WORKS IN 2 WAYS ON DISCOMFORT OF COLDS

1. Take 2 "ASPIRIN" tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore from the cold, crush and stir 3 "ASPIRIN" tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness almost instantly.

No family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two "Aspirin" tablets when you feel a cold coming on—with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The "Aspirin" method of relieving colds is the way many doctors approve. You take "Aspirin" for relief—then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor. ● "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Four pairs of the little French-gray colored animals, natives of the Andes in South America, will be brought to Southern Alberta in the spring, to start the farm in the foothills west of Cardston, Alta.

Fourteen farms are operated in the United States and the breeding stock for the Alberta venture will be purchased from the world's largest chinchilla rance at Inglewood, Calif., where there are some 1,400 of the rare animals.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON VII

CONSERVING THE SABBATH FOR MAN

Mark 2:23—3:6.

Golden Text

And he said unto them, The Sabbath was made for man. Mark 2: 27.

The Lesson In Its Setting

Time.—Early summer, A.D. 28.

Place.—The incident of the plucking of the corn took place near Capernaum; the healing of the man with the withered hand occurred in Galilee, in which province Capernaum was located.

23. "And it came to pass, that he," Was going on the Sabbath through the grainfields." Mark graphically shows us Jesus walking through the wide stretches of waving corn which covered the plain of Gennesaret and neighboring valleys. The roads were only narrow foot-paths, and travellers had all the appearance of wading through the grain. The word "corn" in our Bible is a general term for cereal grains, and those cultivated in Bible lands were wheat, barley, vetch, millet, beans, lentils, and pulse. Here the grain is probably wheat and not barley, for barley cannot be treated by rubbing in the hands as wheat can. The Sabbath was, of course, our Saturday, and not our Sunday. It was the seventh day of the week, a day which God set apart far back at the creation to be a holy day, free from unnecessary labor, the most sanctified of all the days of the week. After the close of the Old Testament the scribes and Pharisees multiplied with vast and complicated details laws pertaining to the observance of the Sabbath day, especially in regard to avoidance of labor. If a person were in one place, and his hand filled with fruit stretched into another, and the Sabbath overtook him in this attitude, he would have to drop the fruit, since if he withdrew his full hand from one locality to another, he would be carrying a burden on the Sabbath. If a hen laid on a Sabbath day, the egg was forbidden.

Hunger on the Sabbath

"And his disciples began, as they went, to pluck the ears." The disciples were hungry and had been long fasting; and, as they went, they plucked and ate those ears of corn which grew on the old pathway. This was allowed by custom and by the law (Deut. 23: 25), but by rabbinical tradition to pluck ears was to reap, an act forbidden on the Sabbath (Exod. 34: 21), and to rub ears in the hand was to thresh, and these actions were therefore forbidden on the Sabbath. A cry for food is holy, it is sacred! Were it not so, in the economy of God he would provide that men never become hungry on the Sabbath day.

24. "And the Pharisees said unto him, why do they on the sabbath day that which is not lawful?" The Pharisees were always the enemies of Jesus. It was their deliberate purpose, by the questions which they continually asked him, to weaken his great influence among the Jewish people of that day, and to find ultimately sufficient cause whereby they could condemn him as a breaker of the law.

25. "And he said unto them, Did ye never read what David did, when he had need, and was hungry, he, and they that were with him?" 26. "How he entered into the house of God when Abiathar was high priest, and ate the showbread, which it is not lawful to eat save for the priests, and gave also to them that were with him" The incident to which our Lord here refers in the life of David is found recorded in I Sam. 21: 1-6. The point the Pharisees were making was that plucking ears on the Sabbath day was unlawful. Jesus comes back at them by reminding them, for their own sacred records, that David had done something which was normally unlawful (Lev. 24. 5-9), but to which exceptions could be made when the exigency of circumstances demanded, as, e.g., great hunger on the part of one not a priest. By all of this the Lord means that circumstances can sometimes arise in which minute details of a law are to be ignored.

Sabbath Made For Man

27. "And he said unto them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath." The Sabbath, the day of rest; was made, was brought into existence, was created; for, because of, on account of, for the sake of, man, mankind, not for the Jews, but for the race. Man is the end, and the Sabbath the means, not man the means and the Sabbath the end. Men are not brought into existence because of institutions, but institutions because of men. What matters first is man; but that does not mean that the Sabbath does not matter at all. What our Lord says lends no sanction to either Pharisaic Sabbatarianism or Parisian latitudinarianism. If man would be sound, physically, mentally, and spiritually, he must have periodical rest, and for this purpose the Sabbath has been given.

"So that the Son of man is lord even of the Sabbath." The Sabbath, being made for man's benefit, is subject to the control of the ideal and representative man to whom it belongs. The scribes maintained that the regulations about the Sabbath were the most important part of the whole law, and that their observance formed the essential contents of religion. Thus Jesus sets himself above Mosaism, and announces his right to interpret, to fulfill, to set aside.

A Time For Doing Good

1. "And he entered again into the synagogue; and there was a man there who had his hand withered." His disease, which probably extended through the arm, had its origin in a deficient absorption of nutriment by the limb; was a partial atrophy, showing itself in a gradual wasting of the size of the limb, with a loss of its powers of motion. Many people who go to church have a withered hand, i.e., they do only half the work they should; they work with one hand only, they are working on only half their possible power. It is that sort of thing which accounts largely for the church's ineffectiveness. Only fullness of life in sacrificial service will convince a critical world.

2. "And they watched him, whether he would heal him on the sabbath day; that they might accuse him." According to the rabbinical rule, relief might be given to a sufferer on the Sabbath day only when life was in danger.

3. "And he saith unto the man that had his hand withered, Stand forth." The word rendered "hand" is comprehensive and includes the entire arm. God makes no unjust exaction. He ever gives power with the effort to obey him. Let us say that God could deliver us without any effort of our own. He does not deliver us in that way. No truth of Scripture is clearer than that he has affixed the condition of personal faith to the gift of eternal life. We must stretch forth our hand to accept the gift, else we shall not receive it.

4. "And he saith unto them, Is it lawful on the sabbath day to do good, or to do harm? to save a life, or to kill? But they held their peace." This is not a question of doing or not doing, but of what one does; and it is made plain that all negatives are positives; that not to do good when one can, is to do evil; that not to save life when one can, is to kill.

Anger of Love

5. "And when he had looked round about on them with anger." Because Jesus so yearned over them and so longed for the victory of truth and sincerity in their souls, therefore as he gazed upon them in their suicidal obduracy, his eyes flashed with the instinctive wrath of love. He was angry as one might be angry at a sick man who, in sheer perversity, refuses the remedy in which lies his only hope. "Being grieved at the hardening of their heart." The anger was tempered by grief. The word here used implies sorrow arising from sympathy with another's unconscious plight. The word here translated "hardening" means to grow callous. "He saith unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he stretched it forth; and his hand was restored." Jesus never began anything that he could not accomplish. He knew when he told this man to stretch forth his hand that he would be able to heal it and did heal it.

6. "And the Pharisees went out, and straightway with the Herodians took counsel against him, how they might destroy him." The Herodians appear again in the same company (12: 13), and some understanding between the two parties is implied also in Mark 8: 15. The kingdom of lies is no longer a kingdom divided against itself when the kingdom of the truth is to be opposed. Herod and Pilate can be friends together, if it be for the destroying of the Christ (Luke 23: 12).

Wood Is Important As Canadian Fuel

Canada's forests continue to be an important source of fuel, supplying about 15 to 20 per cent of the domestic requirements of the country. During the five-year period 1931-35 the average annual cut of fuel wood in Canada was approximately 9,000,000 cords valued at about $33,000,000.

Wood as a fuel has a very definite field. It is the mainstay of our rural regions and is much used for heating purposes in villages and towns in those parts of Canada where lack of local deposits prevents the population from securing cheap coal for domestic use. If methods of selling, measuring and burning firewood were improved the value of this fuel undoubtedly would be more appreciated. To this end the Forests Products Laboratories and the Testing and Research Laboratories of the Department of the Department of Mines and Resources, in co-operation with other organizations, are investigating ways and means of extending the use of wood for fuel.

It has been found that as a rule the fuel value of seasoned wood depends generally on the weight per cubic foot, the heaviest woods naturally giving the most heat.

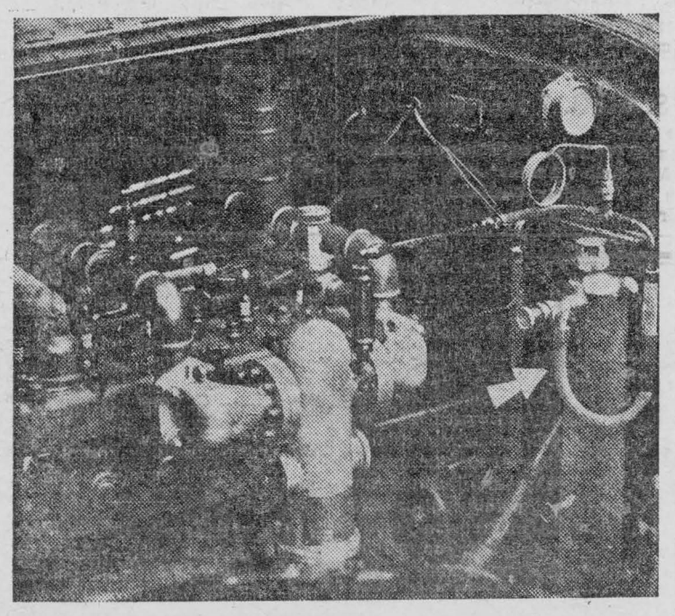
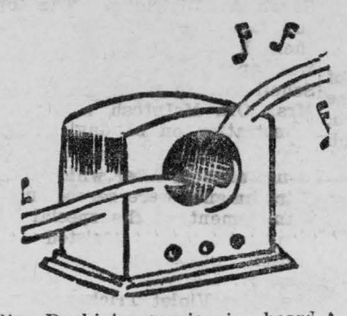
This New Engine Uses Acetylene Gas



Two Italian engineers have finally perfected this automobile engine, which runs on acetylene gas. Arrow indicates the fuel intake, which feeds the gas to a special carburetor, from a tank in the rear. The gauge is so located that gas pressure can be easily verified.

Refuelling Device Controlled From Cabin

Mechanics attach the newest refuelling device to a feeder plane at Croydon Aerodrome. Invented by Sir Alam Cobham, the device consists of a long hose on a spool located under the fuselage, and controlled from the cabin of the plane.



Around The Dial

RADIO HEADLINERS OF THE WEEK

By FRANK DENNIS

Eddie Duchin's music is heard locally on the program "Styled Music," at 5:15, Sundays, over CKCL. The program is well planned, and if any of our readers would like this famous band to play request numbers, just drop a note or a card to "Styled Music," care of CKCL, Toronto. The program also features a guest star, and if you have any favourite orchestra, anyone from Benny Goodman to the Philharmonic Symphony — just mention that in your letter, and the boys will do their best to make you happy.

Disappointment

The Canadian amateur show, heard Sunday noons, ran their final contest recently. We weren't particularly surprised at the quality of the program. As a matter of fact, we can't see how some of the talent got as far as the finals. One thing certain, in our opinion, is that the kiddies should have been eliminated altogether. Even where the children are concerned, we have heard much superior talent on past programs than were presented on this final program. Perhaps it's not entirely the fault of the producer, as these people were selected by votes received. However, we do think that some arrangement could have been made whereby judges, who have some idea of what radio talent should be like, should have a say in the matter.

Tune Chasers—a novelty program featuring Bert Pearl, Bob Farnon, Rai Purdy, is heard over CFRB Sundays, at 6:15 p.m. The idea of the program is that listeners submit the title of a tune, and if Bert Pearl and Bob Farnon can't play it or sing it by the time Rai counts seven, the two Tune Chasers are given the bird, and the submitter of that title receives a case of O'Keefes Ginger Ale, and Rai gives a commercial announcement. If you think you have a title which would stop the boys, just send it in to Tune Chasers, care of CFRB, and who knows, the drinks might be on the sponsors.

Pick the "Boners"

"Boners," heard Sundays, 7:45 to 8 p.m., over CBL, is another new air feature. Music is supplied by Wally Armour at the piano, the quartet, consisting of Wishart Campbell, Jack Reid, Jack Dale, and Katherine Young, and Albert Pratz on his violin. Herbie May is Master of Ceremonies. The highlight of the program is Professor Boner's speech, said speech being a hundred per cent. nonsense. The professor is in the habit of making countless boners during his speech, and it's up to the listeners to write these boners down as the professor makes them, and send the list to "Bonagrams", in care of CBL, Toronto. We understand there is a handsome gift that goes to the top scores.

If you think that sound men, those who rattle chains, smash glass, creak doors, create wind storms, etc., have no musical talent, just listen to this. The members of Columbia's sound effect dept. are trying to organize an orchestra. Ordinarily, you would have an impression of glass bottles, tin cans, horns and gongs, but actually, it is planned to have Walter Pierson, the division head, play the bass viol he used as a member of an Ohio Symphony Orchestra. Cello, violin, and piano are assigned to Jimmy Rogan, who incidentally, is composer of such hits as "Star Dust On the Moon" and "When a Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry." Jerry Sullivan, formerly of the B. A. Rolfe and Paul Whiteman orchestras, will handle drums and xylophone. Sax and clarinet will be played by Ray Krammer, while Max Uhlig will sing and play the banjo. Who says sound effect men have no talent?

"The Shadow"

In an interesting article, The New Yorker revealed that Orson Welles, the young actor whose Julius Caesar in modern dress is a current sensation on Broadway, also plays the part of "The Shadow" in the 'blue coal' radio serial thriller. That Mr. Welles and his associates do a good job on "The Shadow" series is attested by the fact that this program recently received The Annual Pilot Radio Award for outstanding merit—an honor which, in past years, went to such features as Jack Benny, the New York Philharmonic and other star air attractions. Head over Station CFRB every Wednesday evening at 9 and sponsored by the producers of 'blue coal', "The Shadow" has a huge and enthusiastic multitude of Ontario listeners.

Western Ontario Deer Increasing

Fox, Skunks and Rabbit Also Thrive

Efforts of the Ontario Government's department of fish and game appear to have had worth while results in Stratford district as far as deer are concerned.

Naturalists could not estimate the number of deer now roaming the North Easthope game preserve, but are satisfied there has been a substantial increase.

In Groups of Six

The deer are frequently observed in groups of six or seven and while the same groups may be observed over and over again, it is believed there is a good population in that area. The preserve has also caused an increase in the number of foxes and skunks in that district. Quite a number of foxes have been seen and skunks last year amounted to a nuisance.

The hare and cottontail are becoming quite scare in that district, however, and pheasants do not appear to be thriving. The supply of partridge has not reached very satisfactory proportions.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S LUTHER LEAGUE

The regular business meeting of the Young People's Luther League of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, met in the church basement on Monday evening with Mrs. C. R. Cronmiller as chairman and Miss Vivian Barclay, secretary. The meeting opened with singing a hymn, after which, psalm, minutes of the previous meeting and treasurer's report were given.

The topic "Is Conscience a Safe Guide?" was conducted by Mr. Heber McIntosh. A very interesting discussion followed, as this topic supplied plenty of thought for young and old.

During the new business period a committee was appointed to take charge of the programme, etc. for the social evening of the congregation which is to be held on Thursday evening, February 24th, as the League will be responsible for this evening's entertainment. The meeting closed with prayer and paying of dues.

WILLIAMSBURG W. I.

Thirty members attended the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute held on Thursday evening last at the home of Mrs. D. K. M. Stewart. In the absence of the president, Mrs. (Dr.) M. W. Locke and the first vice-president, Mrs. Strader McIntosh, the chair was occupied by the secretary, Mrs. C. Macdonald. Mrs. J. O'Brien acted as secretary during this meeting. With Mrs. Jessie Seekings presiding at the piano the meeting opened with the Institute Ode. The minutes of the previous meeting and the correspondinence were read by the secretary. The roll call was answered by "Bring Original Valentine." The original valentines presented were passed around and admired by the ladies.

Reference was made to the loss sustained in the death of Mrs. Donald Beckstead, who was a member, and tribute to her memory was paid when all members stood with bowed heads for one minute.

During the business period it was decided to hold a bazaar in the near future. The convener of the card party reported that no arrangements had been made for the party on account of illness.

Following the business, Mrs. Alfred J. Casselman took charge of the program as follows: Vocal solo by Miss Catharine Seekings, accompanied by her mother; Mrs. Hugh Thompson gave a very interesting talk on "Music""; Picture Party stunts created much merriment, with each member taking a part. Community singing led by Mrs. Jessie Seekings at the piano.

Mrs. J. O'Brien, Mrs. E. Axworthy, Mrs. R. McQuaig and Mrs. C. Macdonald were appointed hostesses for the March meeting to be held at the home of the Misses Meda and Sarah A. Whitteker. The topic for this meeting will be "Irish Folk and their habits. Mrs. Jessie Seekings was appointed to invite Mr. Lyle Schell to give a paper on the topic. Mrs. Ora McIntosh will give a demonstration on bandaging.

The meeting closed with the national anthem after which delectable refreshments were served, under the management of the special hostess. Mrs. Stewart, assisted by the chosen hostesses, Mrs. Riddell, Mrs. E. McIntosh, Miss Ethel Deeks and Miss Violet Trickey, Miss Catherine Seekings and Miss Mabel Merkley also assisted in the serving.

Mrs. Claude Casselman expressed the pleasure of the Institute for the kind hospitality of the hostesses, Mrs. Stewart and her mother, Mrs. Golden and to all those who had in any way helped to make the program a success.

NOTED GIPSY PREACHER COMING TO IROQUOIS

The United Church of Iroquois has secured the services of Gipsy Simon Smith, noted evangelist for a preaching mission of two weeks from Feb. 13th to 27th. Great success accompanied his efforts at Picton, Ont., when it is estimated that at least sixteen thousand people attended and there were many conversions.

He is now closing meetings in West Virginia. His methods are quiet and unsensational. He has appeared in the large churches of different denominations all over America and in England. He writes and sings his own songs. This will be an opportunity for people to hear the man who was born and raised in a gipsy camp in England. Picton wants him back again but he has given us this two weeks of his time and no doubt record crowds will hear him. Be sure to hear him!

IROQUOIS UNITED CHURCH HEARS ANNUAL REPORTS

The official board of the Iroquois United church sponsored an oyster supper to the congregation on Friday evening. After supper a program was given.

Reports for the year 1937 were read, including the following; Sunday school, R. J. Ellis; Ladies' Association, Mrs. Herman Hamilton; Women's Missionary Society, Miss V. Hall; cemetery committee, W. C. Stone; and financial report of the church, Rev. Thomas Knowles. W. J. Forward, recording secretary, gave an historical sketch of the church from the first Methodist church to the present United church which was most interesting.

A sing song was then held, led by Rev. Thomas Knowles. Two readings were given by Mrs. Floyd Shaver and two piano solos by Graham Hodge.

SUCCEEDS FATHER IN TOWNSHIP POST

At the regular meeting of Winchester township council, held at Morewood, K. D. Lawson, M.A., was appointed township solicitor, succeeding his father, the late W. B. Lawson, K.C., of Chesterville, who had acted in that capacity for the past 25 years.

Following his appointment, the new solicitor was instructed to prepare a by-law for the closing of the old Cass bridge to traffic. A new concrete structure replaces this bridge and the council has decided to close the old bridge, rather than expend large sums of money in maintaining it for the light traffic that uses it at present.

The clerk presented the board with an order-in-council, he had received from the Ontario government, stating that the portion of highway from the old Cass bridge to Winchester Springs was being reverted back to the township, and in future its maintenance as a part of the provincial highway system would be discontinued by the government.

CELEBRATES 87th BIRTHDAY

William A. Fisher, "grand old man" of Iroquois, celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday. He is in excellent health and his memory is considered remarkably good, being able to recall events back as far as 70 years ago.

Mr. Fisher was born at Prescott in 1851. He learned the butcher trade in Morrisburg where he moved in 1863. Eight years later he took up residence in Iroquois, opening a butcher shop in part of the Town Hall building in partnership with the late James Pullis. Later he established a separate business on King St. His original stone building was replaced by a more modern structure in 1891.

Mr. Fisher retired from active business in 1915. He served for years as chairman of the High School Board also on the Board of the Public School and as one of the village Councillors. He was a Justice of the Peace for more than 50 years. In politics he has always been a staunch Conservative, and in religion, an Anglican.

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Principally through heavy exports of dressed poultry to the United Kingdom and large shipments of live poultry, chiefly from Ontario, to nearby United States markets, the poultry market in 1937 showed a distinct improvement over 1936.

Total milk production in Canada has shown a steady increase for the past nine years. During the five year period 1932-36, milk production increased from approximately 15,900,000,000 lbs, in 1932 to 16,700,000,000 lbs. in 1936, and a further advance of approximately 200 million lbs. is indicated for 1937.

PLANT FOOD CONTENTS IN FERTILIZERS

The Fortilizer Act requires definite guarantees by venders of the plant food content of their fertilizers, that is, nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. In addition, these plant food substances must be in an available form for plant use. There are many kinds of fertilizers on the market today, all of which are dependable if used according to kind and plant food content on the one hand, and soil and crop requirements on the other. Every buyer of fertilizers should study these factors carefully because the proper application of them means so much in obtaining best results.

The recommendations of the Provincial Fertilizer Councils are a safe guide in this respect and may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture for the provinces.

Canadian Eggs to Britain

Fresh, Canadian, winter-produced eggs will soon be making their debut on the breakfast tables of the people in Great Britain. The first shipment of such eggs left Montreal on January 5, and totalled fifty corrugated paper boxes, each box containing 15 one-dozen individual cartons, the eggs being Grade A large. Never before have eggs been exported from Canada in one-dozen cartons. On January 11 a carload of fresh eggs packed in standard 30-dozen cases left Montreal and was loaded in the S.S. Beaverbrae at St. John, N.B., on January 12 for England. This shipment was collected from 15 farmers co-operative egg and poultry associations in Quebec and Eastern Ontario also from some wholesalers. It is expected similar shipments will follow from other points in Ontario.

W. A. Brown, Chief, Poultry Services, Dominion Department of Agriculture, who was associated with the shipments states that the British market will not get any fresher eggs from any European country than those in the two recent shipment. There is, he says, an opportunity in the British market for Canadian winter produced eggs, and, if such shipments can be made profitably, the Canadian producer will benefit.

Soil-Testing Important

Agricultural leaders of Canada have become increasingly worried in recent years over soil depletion and while conditions in Ontario are not nearly as grave as in some parts of the Canadian West, it is common knowledge that many Ontario farms have been mined until there is but little fertility remaining. The Ontario Department of Agriculture is fully alive to the danger with the result that the Department, through the O.A.C. is undertaking an enlarged program of research and demonstration work for 1938 in soil fertility.

In discussing the situation, Dr. G. I. Christie, President of the O.A.C. Guelph, points out that many Ontario soils have been farmed more than 100 years. Some have been wisely handled and have become increasingly productive. But on the other hand, many have been thoroughly mined; soils have become poor, hard to work, and give low yielding crops.

Mr. THOMAS ADAM SCOTT

Thomas Adam Scott, postmaster of Winchester village for many years, died from a fractured skull received when he fell while on his way to church. Mr. Scott was 79 years old. Little hope was held for his recovery when he was taken in an unconscious condition to his home after the fall. Drs. H. S. Gross and C. J. Locke attended him throughout the night in an effort to save his life.

Widely known throughout this district, the late Mr. Scott was born near Chesterville of Scottish parents, and moved with them to Winchester when he was four years of age. His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. William L. Scott, natives of Scotland.

After graduating from high school in Winchester Mr. Scott became a cooper, and was later superintendent of the M. F. Beach Company lumber yards, which job he held for 25 years. In 1913 he was appointed postmaster of Winchester.

Before the union of Presbyterian and United church congregations he attended the Presbyterian church and was a member of the board of management and an officer of the Sunday school for some years. After union he attended the Winchester United church and was a member of the official board at the time of his death. He was a charter member of Winchester I. O. O. F. and a meeting of the local Masonic lodge of which he was chaplain for 25 years. He was also an active member of the 100 club of Winchester and chairman of the Maple Ridge cemetery board.

Mr. Scott devoted considerable time in municipal politics and served several terms as councillor on the township council. When the Winchester high school building was erected he was a member of the school board and served for seven years after the school was built.

In local political circles his opinions were widely sought and freely given; he held executive office in the Conservative Association for a long term of years and this was terminated only on his appointment as postmaster.

His wife, the former Mary Melvin, whom he married in 1873, died in 1918, and their only son, Ross, died the following year. He leaves one brother, A. E. Scott, of Smiths Falls; two sisters, Mrs. A. T. Jenkins, Colorado Springs, and Mrs. T. S. Toase, Smiths Falls; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Faye Scott of Winchester; a grandson, Melvin Scott Winchester, and three granddaughters, Misses Olga, Audrey and Jean Scott, all of Montreal.

The funeral was held under Masonic auspices on Wednesday at 1.30 p.m. to the United church and Maple Ridge cemetery.

THE STORY OF EYESTRAIN

A person wth normal eyes end normal nerve condition is not conscous of any strain in the use of the eyes. Nature provides the necessary nerve energy with [illegible] effort

However, should the eyes be out of focus, the visual function is called upon to adjust itself in an effort to correct the defect and then the trouble starts, because this effort upsets hte delicate balance of the nerve supply, and we have what is commonly known as eyestrain.

The Ones To Solve It

We still have the idea that housing problems will be solved by people who want to own homes rather than by politicians who would provide them.—Financial Times (Montreal).

Funny—They Love Us!

An antidote to serious pessimism over the human race is to be found in the fact that dogs and also some other animals think quite a lot of a great many of us.—Hamilton Spectator.

No Jobs In The North

The people of the North are warm-hearted, kind, hospitable! But the country itself its not. The man who comes here with the idea that it will be no worse to be out of work in the North than in the South will soon find this is a mistake. For his own sake, he should have some assurance that he can secure employment before he undertakes the hardship of the journey here and the weather that will greet him on arrival.

Literally thousands of men from the South, the East and the West have found work and opportunity in the prosperous North in recent years. But there is a limit to the power of absorption. That limit was reached some time ago. Surely it is no more than cruel to hold out false hopes—to recommend a Sweepstakes ticket as a sure win.—Timmins Advance.

What Causes the Losses

The losses of the Canadian National Railways are not operating losses. This year, as last year, and the year before that, the Canadian National had a net operating surplus. The loss, and the only loss, is on interest charges. Well, no policy of unification nor of amalgamation would or could reduce a cent of the loss on interest charges. The bondholders would go on collecting their interest. —Ottawa Journal.

"Two Little Words"

Not a right nor a line in the British North America Act is affected by Dominion Government's proposal to put into force unemployment insurance. Merely the two words are added to the constitution, making it clear and definite that the problem is a national one, on which all are agreed. It would certainly seem that the opposition of Alberta, New Brunswick and Quebec to the proposed legislation would be fatuous, if the opposition is pressed.—St. Catharines Standard.

We're All Getting Them

At one time the ownership of an automobile was a sign of wealth. That time is not very long ago, but it has departed definitely now. A survey of the United States and Canada has shown that automobile ownership among families with incomes of less than $30 a week is increasing at the rate of 1,000,000 annually. It is expected that by 1940 two-thirds of the motor cars in the two countries, or more than 15,000,000 of them, will be owned by persons in the less-than-$30 class. —Edmonton Journal.

Do You Like Your Work?

If you do not get any enjoyment out of your daily job, or if you do not get a "kick" out of viewing a piece of work you have done well, then you are not interested in that job and you will not likely make a success of it.

As long as you look upon your daily toil in this way, you will always feel dissatisfied.

Why not experiment? Try a month of actually showing interest in the problems and solutions of the business you are in. You will be pleasantly surprised to note how much your outlook on life will change and how much better satisfied you will be if you will only "make your job interesting."—Kitch... Record.

Guileless Censor

A friend lately received a letter from her brother, resident in one of the countries now at war. He wrote: "I will not tell you about the war, as our letters are sure to be read." Across the back of the envelope, outside, was officially written: "You are wrong, your letters are not read."—London Times.

To Stop a Stampede

As still higher wages and more paid holidays make jobs in the towns more attractive in this country, so will the present drift from the land become a stampede. How to stop it? Not by saying agriculure is important; not by extolling the charms of country life. We've got to help the farmer to make a job in the country as good as a job in the town. Prosperity passes agriculture by because we do not take prosperity to the countryside. — London Daily Express.

Dog Team Brings Mail From North

First Mail of Winter Taken Out By Priest

Father Duscharme, of the Roman Catholic Mission at Chesterfield Inlet, 350 miles north of Churchill, Manitoba, drove his dog team into Churchill last week with the first mail this winter from points north of Manitoba's port.

Father Duscharme, who expected to return in a week, said the winter was very mild in his area and Eskimos were suffering from a mild form of flu. He also described fur conditions along the Hudson Bay coast as poor but inland 100 to 200 miles they were better.

Carries News of Outpost

Death of a 17-year-old boy in a blizzard at Eskimo Point was revealed by the priest. While the father was away on a trading trip to Churchill the boy left alone on a hunting expedition. When the blizzard broke he lost his way and was found frozen to death.

Father Duscharme said no word had been received at Chesterfield from T. H. Manning of the British Arctic expedition who is alone on Southampton Island in the northern reaches of Hudson Bay. Manning hopes to cross from Southampton Island to the mainland in the spring and journey to Churchill by dog team but the mild weather and poor ice conditions may spoil these plans.

Experts Reveal Rocket Scheme

Plan to Shoot One, 967 Miles Into the Air

A scheme for shooting an exploratory rocket to a height of 967 miles above the earth was unfolded at New York last week before a convention of aeronautical engineers.

Works In Theory

The idea works in theory, Frank J. Malina and A. M. O. Smith, of the California Institute of Technology, said in a paper written for the annual meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

Whether it will work in fact, they added, depends on the efficiency of the rocket and its "motor".

Their proposed rocket would actually consist of three separate rockets, one within the other, to be launched successively.

Reaches High Velocity

"A rocket made up of three steps, respectively of 600, 200 and 100 lbs.," they explained, "the lightest being fired last, reached a calculated altitude of 5,100,000 feet and a maximum velocity of 11,000 miles per hour."

They proposed to launch the rocket from a mountain top to save fuel because the high velocity of flight through dense lower levels of the atmosphere causes fuel to be rapidly eaten up. Once the three-in-one rocket had cleared denser air, they said, it would "coast" to higher altitudes.

The purpose of the proposed experimental flight would be to gain knowledge of meteorological conditions in the uuper atmospheres.

New British Consols Trophy Creates Widespread Interest Among Curlers

Handsome Cup Donated by Macdonald Tobacco Co.

Ontario curlers from the smallest towns and clubs are being given an equal chance with their brother devotees of "besom and stane" to win the new British Consols Trophy this year. This will be emblematical of the Single Rink Curling championship of the Ontario Curling Association and will carry with it the right to represent Ontario in the 12th annual playdowns for the Macdonald's Brier Tankard and the Curling Championship of the Dominion of Canada.

Every one of the other Canadian provinces, and all will be represented at the Macdonald's Brier playdowns which start February 28th at the Granite Club, Toronto, declares its provincial champion by the Bonspiel route. In order to pick the strongest possible rink to represent Old Ontario in the Dominion playdowns, Ontario has been split into eight divisions.

From the divisional games at Kingston, Sarnia, Midland, Toronto, Oshawa, Kitchener, Guelph and London will emerge the eight district champs. On February 23rd the group winners come to Toronto for the Ontario finals. The winner there will receive the new Trophy, presented by the Macdonald Tobacco company, the gold medals which go with it and the right to carry the Ontario banner into the lists for the Macdonald's Brier Tankard. Runners up will be presented with Silver medals.

Since the inauguration of the Macdonald's Brier Tankard play in 1927, Ontario has only once won the Dominion Championship in curling. Western Canada seems to produce the annual winners.

World's Greatest Mass Migration

HANKOW, China. — One of the greatest mass migrations in human history has begun from the Yangtse River towns of Central China.

Driven from their homes by Japan's invasion, countless thousands of Chinese are fleeing over the highways and across country deep into the interior. They are travelling on foot, in wheelbarrows, rickshas, on donkeys, and in ox-carts.

On the just-completed 250-mile highway between Hankow and Ichang, one 30-mile long column of these war-sufferers was seen recently. Many were women and children; their pet dogs, cats and birds made a part of the strange procession.

The conference may last for several months, and is to revise radio, telegraph and telephone regulations fixed by the Madrid International Convention of 1932.

War Will Set Back Japan $3,000,000,000

TOKYO.—Japan's fighting forces last week prepared a budget estimated as high as $1,800,000,000 to carry on the conflict with China for another year.

This, with previous appropriations, would bring to approximately $3,000,000,000 the cost to Japan of the first 18 months of the war which started last July.

Foreign Minister Hirota told Parliament the indemnity to be exacted from China will include both reparations usually paid "a conquering nation" and compensation for property and business losses suffered by Japanese.

"Will Never Compromise"

BARCELONA, Spain. — Premier Juan Negrin told the Spanish Cortes (Parliament) last week the Government would never agree to any compromise with the insurgents.

Due to danger of air raids, the Cortes' first session this year was held in the dining-room of a massive monastery, perched high in the lofty Montserrat Mountains about thirty-five miles from Barcelona.

Wipe Out Terrorists

JERUSALEM.—The second major punitive operation by British soldiers against Arab terrorists within the past year, was under way in the Jenin area, about twenty miles northeast of Nablus, this week.

Battalions of the Ulster Rifles and the Queen's Own Royal West Kent Regiment, aided by five military planes, attempted to wipe out a strong band of terrorists in the mountains.

Soviet Navy Ready

MOSCOW.—The revitalized Soviet Navy is prepared "to crush the enemy wherever and whenever necessary," Navy Commissar Peter A. Smirnoff declared this week in open warning to "rapacious Fascist" powers.

The newspaper Pravda, prominently displaying Smirnoff's account of Moscow's new naval strength, declared that the United States expanded armament program constituted a firm answer to all aggressor nations.

Commentary on the Highlights of the Week's News . . . by Peter Randal

PEACE WITH ITALY: Fresh moves are under way to bring about better relations between Great Britain and Italy. Mussolini, to tell the truth, is hard-pressed for cash, having spent enormous sums in Ethiopia, and is looking for a little financial help from John Bull. Britain, apparently, will be glad to lend the money if for nothing else than to restore peace in the Mediterranean, but Italy first will have to comply with certain conditions: cease anti-British propaganda among the Arabs in the Near East; withdraw "volunteers" from Spain.

Again there are wheels within wheels. Italy will not fulfill these requirements unless Britain first recognizes the Italian conquest of Ethiopia and consents to call the King of Italy, "Emperor".

TO RESCUE CHINA?: If a rumor that armies from Outer Mongolia, a highly insulated country between Soviet Siberia and China, are advancing to the aid of the Chinese armies turns out to be true, it means the beginning of the end for Japan. The army of Mongols is reported to number 250,000 men, all mounted; their highly mechanized equipment has come from Russia and they are skilled in the most up-to-date military procedure.

Outer Mongolia is at once under the suzerainty of China and the protection of the Soviet Union, can fight in self-defense against the Japanese without involving the neutrality of Russia.

The Mongol armies are in a position to make short shrift of the long-drawn-out Japanese lines in the north of China, and to deliver body blows at the Japanese Empire.

THE MORAL OF IT: A Cleveland thug who had been eating onions held up a taxi-driver. Nabbed by the police a few minutes later, he was taken to the station and held pending identification. The taximan supplied the clue of the onion breath. It was the same thug.

The moral is . . . .

75,000 MORE HOMES: A member of the housing commission headed by Hon. Herbert A. Bruce, Mr. David Sheppard, expert in housing problems, declared in a public address last week at Toronto that Canada needs 75,000 more homes. "If we don't put the money into home construction now," Mr. Sheppard said, "the slum problem will soon reach the proportions seen in many United States cities. It will then cost us $250 a year to keep each family in the slums. We pay for our slums in increased costs of hospitalization, police and fire protection, social service and upkeep of mental institutions and jails."

The slum menace multiplies day by day. And it isn't in Canada's larger cities alone . . . . our smallest of towns has its disgraceful habitations, hovels.

We'll have to face the fact that something has to be done, and that right speedily.

BRIDGE GOES OUT: The biggest news story to break in Canadian press circles for many years was the threatened collapse, and later, the actual buckling of Niagara's famous "Honeymoon Bridge." News photographers went to town on it, picture engravers did a land-office business, newspaper circulation figures soared. Over the week-end, too, railways and highways carried armies of sightseers to "X" marks the spot.

While the people of Ontario sat quietly in their homes reading the evening paper, Hydro officials were shaking in their shoes at the prospect of an acute power shortage which would cut off electric light service in Western Ontario and cause an unprecedented industrial tie-up if the plant at Queenston were any further damaged by the ice-jam. The Ontario Power Company plant just below the Falls was already a wreck.

With the dropping of the wind and colder weather again, the danger passed and headlines stopped screaming at us from front pages of the dailies.

Could the situation have been avoided? No, says a well known engineering expert, declaring that once an ice-jam of such magnitude collects, there is nothing you can do about it. The bridge, constructed over 40 years ago of a type of steel greatly inferior to the alloy steels used today, was generally conceded to be obsolete anyway.

HIT AT SANCTIONS: One by one the League of Nations' teeth are being pulled out and its bite made more and more harmless. Sanctions, its most effective weapon in dealing with an aggressor country by denying that country the essentials of war-making, have never really been enforced. An attempt made to put a curb on Italy when she first invaded Abyssinia in 1935 was arrested halfway by the objections of various nations, and was not carried to its logical conclusion. Italy got away with murder right in the face of the League Covenant, as Japan had done three years before in seizing Manchukuo.

Now, small nations represented in the League are calling for the abandonment of its system of obligatory sanctions, saying that the League can no longer wield punitive power or enforce collective security when three big powers, Japan, Italy and Germany, are on the outside.

The general attitude seems to be "The League is dying . . . . let her go!" . . . . but, puzzle: who killed the League?

Strange Communities

Britain shelters a number of strange communities. one of which is the Cotswold Bruderhof, consisting of people from Liechtenstein, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia. They are an industrious people, for they took over a barren plot of land and transformed it into a thriving village. Their marriage ceremony is one of the queerest in Britain, consisting merely of a declaration of love before the entire community!

In a forty-four-acre field near the woods at Laxton is another queer little community consisting only of four families who have rejected modern civilization and are trying to build up a new kind of social life that they hope will spread throughout the country. Suffolk, too, harboured a queer group of men, woman-haters all. Some were rejected suitors; the wives of others had left them and a few were just born misogynists.

Oldest inhabitant of Hamilton, Ontario, 109-year-old Mardioros Tatoian is having teeth trouble. His teeth are wearing down, he says, and causing him a lot of bother. However, he does not face a toothless future, because 6 years ago he cut 2 new teeth.

Poisonous Gases Dry Vegetables

Discoverer Finds They Make Vegetable Pores Relax and Give Up Their Moisture

A discovery that poison gases will dry vegetables quicker than heat alone, and speed up industrial use of many farm products, was announced last week in Science by the United States Bureau of Chemistry and Soils.

Little Heat Needed

Present commercial drying uses high temperatures. But heat, says E. F. Hopkins, of Laurel, Miss., discoverer of the poison gas process, causes decomposition and loss.

In poison gas atmosphere, however, vegetable pores relax. They become so "limp" that they lose even at low temperatures as much as 60 per cent. of their water and syrups when whirled in a centrifuge. Little heat is needed to evaporate most of the remaining moisture.

The gases tried for this purpose include chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, which is used in fire extinguishers, toluene, fat solvents and sulphur dioxide. The poisons did not "linger" afterward in the vegetable juices or flesh.

Keep Indefinitely

These experiments have been applied thus far only to the industrial and chemical uses of farm products. They may be used on food, but this Mr. Hopkins says has not been investigated.

The poison-extracted juices and pulps, Mr. Hopkins says, will keep indefinitely for future use or for manufacture. The dried plant can be stored "without material loss from freezing, respiration, moulding or enzyme action." The mechanical operations of drying with poison gas, he adds, are cheaper.

The possibilities have been shown in extracting starch and alcohol from sweet potatoes. The gas, Mr. Hopkins explains, saves the starch from physical and chemical changes before extraction. It has been found by the bureau that the sugars thus extracted from sweet potatoes can be converted into alcohol.

Increase in Population Demanded for Japan

TOKYO.—Baron Ryoitsu Asada, in interrogating the Welfare Minister in the House of Peers last week about the population problem, said:

"We must increase Japan's population. We must triple the population. It is a deplorable fact that young women of today are practicing birth control in the interest of beauty."

"This birth control philosophy is a tragic mistake. Japan must have more babies," Mr. Asada continued.

Australian Wool Sales Lowest In Six Years

Australian wool sales for the first six months of the 1937-38 selling season, covering the last half of 1937, dropped to the lowest level for any like period in more than six years, the New York Wool Top Exchange Service reported.

Transactions, as reported to the service by the Australian National Council of Wool Selling Brokers, totaled about 366,238,000 pounds, actual weight. This compared with 436,265,000 pounds in corresponding period of the previous year and a six-year average of 424,503,000 pounds.

A four years' scholarship at Ottawa University given by the Knights of Columbus was won by Rover Scout Vincent Berlinguette, a member of the 29th Ottawa (St. Dominique) Rover Scout Crew.

Northern snow and zero temperature did not prevent an enthusiastic January conference of Gold Belt Scout leaders from Cobalt, Iroquois Falls, Englehart, Kirkland Lake, Kapuskasing, South Porcupine and Timmins at the latter city. Their roll of forty was augmented to a hundred by Group committeemen and other friends and supporters of the Scouting movement in New Ontario, for a full week-end of discussions and demonstrations.

With the approval of His Excellency the Governor General, Lord Tweedsmuir, Prince Edward Island's new permanent Boy Scout camp site will be known as "Camp Buchan." The site was the gift of Lieut.-Governor George D. DeBlois.

With 13 King's Scouts, the 5th Welland Scout Troop claims the distinction of numbering the highest Ontario total of these senior Scouts for 1937, as shown in the census figures. The 1st Weston Troop comes next with 10, and the 1st and 3rd Fort William troops next jointly with 8 each in a membership of 24. These troops are followed by the 6th St. Catharines, with 8 King's Scouts in a roll of 29, the 10th Toronto (Wychwood), with 8 out of 54; 56th Toronto with 7 out of 23, 1st Niagara-on-the-Lake with 7 out of 30, the 26th Toronto with 7 out of 40 and 10th Brantford with 7 out of 42.

Boy Scouts of Longsight, Manchester, England, helped prevent a panic during a local church service when fumes from a boiler filtered through the floor and caused several persons to collapse. The Scouts present in the congregation promptly opened the doors, then rendered first aid to a number of persons who had been overcome.

Prevention of a fire panic at a largely attended free Christmas week entertainment for children at the Oak Theatre, Brandon, Man., was credited by Manager D. B. Roberts to four Rover Scouts whom he had invited to assist in ushering the children. When smoke entered the auditorium and the alarm of fire was given, the Rovers at once acted to quiet the children, kept them from crowding the aisles, opened the emergency exits, and marshalled them safely out. A final search through the smoke-filled theatre made sure that no children were overlooked. "The theatre was cleared in a remarkably short time," stated Manager Roberts, "and what might easily have become a serious panic was completely avoided." The Rover Scouts were Arthur Wilcox, Donald Thompson, Ted Speers and George Milliken.

Along Canada's Mining Highway

EAST MALARTIC (Quebec). Underground work on the first level has definitely proven a length of 800 feet of ore, with recent grade averaging $10 according to engineering advice. Diamond drilling indicated an average ore grade of between $7 and $8 across an average width of 25 to 30 feet in a zone length of approximately 900 feet. It is generally conceded that East Malartic is a large mine in the making. Official announcement has been made of preparations for a 500-ton mill.

BARBER LARDER (Ontario-Larder Lake) are expected to be into their ore on the first level by early April. On this property an exceptional ore picture has been indicated by diamond drilling. An ore zone has been close drilled indicating average widths of better than 30 feet grading $7 to $8 over a length of approximately 800 feet.

LACOMA (Quebec-Seneterre area) is aggressively unfolding an ore picture by diamond drilling from the first and second levels. Exceptional results are being obtained. A definite length of good ore for 140 feet has been close drilled in a zone indicated on surface to be 1400 feet in length.

CHEMINIS (Ontario - Larder Lake). After earlier work indicating a 600-foot length of commercial ore, a further diamond drilling contract has been made with the object of enlarging the ore zone. The property is adjacent to the west of Barber Larder and adjoins Fernland on the East.

HAVE YOU Stomach Upsets?

IF you are troubled with gas, sour stomach, heartburn, if you are weak and lack appetite, try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery now. It stimulates the appetite, improves the action of the stomach, makes the food digest better. Read what Mr. Clarence House, 53 Main St., St. Catharines, Ont., said: "I had no pep, had to force myself to eat and after eating I would belch gas and had acid indigestion and heartburn. I had sour stomach quite a bit, too. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it helped to relieve the stomach upsets and gave me a real appetite and I was able to eat almost anything." Rapid Relief from RHEUMATIC PAINS

In the ordinary way the victim of Rheumatic Pains has become too hardened by long suffering to expect lasting relief. Nevertheless, one feature of the Fynnon Salt treatment that has astonished Rheumatic sufferers is the surprising rapidity with which it brings relief. Prepared to be patient, they are amazed to find that within a week their rheumatic symptoms no longer make life utterly miserable.

The active ingredients in Fynnon Salt, Sodium, Potassium, Lithium, have a "quick-action" effect on the Uric Acid. They counter it and neutralize it at every turn. First the attack—then the victory. Uric Acid has a very short life when Fynnon Salt, a combination of Natural Salts of the Earth, gets to grips with it. What a relief—when you realize you can swing your arms and legs with the supple freedom of youth. That's the happy state you soon get into when you take a half teaspoonful of Fynnon Salt, the proven British remedy, in a tumblerful of water every morning. Next Sunday morning the Minister will continue the sermon series on "The Christian View of Life." The topic will be, "God or Fate?" In the evening Mr. Smith will preach upon the theme—"Christianity Answers Her Critics."

The Official Board decided that beginning with March 2nd, Ash Wednesday, and continuing till Easter, special Wednesday evening meetings would be held with the purpose of deepening our understanding of what membership in the Church means. BLACK HAWKS DEFEATED BY RED WINGS 4—2

In the only Town League game played this week, on Tuesday night, the League Leading Red Wings defeated the Black Hawks by a score of 4-2. An official protest was made to President George Tindal by the Black Hawk Management, on the grounds that one of the goals scored by the Hawks (Tuttle) was not allowed. Weegar put the Wings in the lead from the first face-off. Smith and Millward scoring assists. Hawks, fighting to win ther first victory were successful in tying the score shortly after, when Laurin scored on an assist from Clint Beckstead. Before the end of the period Wings again took the lead, Smith scoring unassisted.

Millward scored for the Red Wings in the second period, and Tuttle scored the disputed goal for the Hawks. Both sides played short-handed in the final period as the result of an argument which took place on the ice. Clint Beckstead scored for the Hawks on a solo rush and Millward scored his second for the wings.

Lineup—
Red Wings—
Goal, McKoy; defence, Cassel and Weegar; wings, Millward and Foulds centre, Smith; subs, G. McKoy, Reid
Black Hawks—Goal, Timmins, defence, Beckstead, Tuttle; wings Cameron and Laurin; centre, Mallen; subs: T. Tindal, A. Tindal, J. A. MacDonald, Aikman, D. VanAllen.

Here and There Tuesday Night.

The quality of the refereeing was vastly improved Tuesday night. We have only one more suggestion in this regard: If two officials are appointed by the president to handle a game, they should have equal powers on the ice, the same as have the officials in major league hockey—— Timmins was a little shaky in the nets, perhaps he had not yet fully recovered from his illness——Clint Beckstead stopped the burly Charlie Weegar twice with good bodychecks; Charlie played a good game——Charles Tuttle will prove quite an addition to Hawks' line-up——Mallen played another nice game for Hawks——He missed a nice chance from close in; ditto, Len. Laurin——Tuttle was highly incensed after the game; claimed to have scored a goal which was not counted——Hawks promptly protested game——M. C. I. and Hawks tangle next; this should be a good one——Timmins promises a good game against his ex-teammates. Incidentally they have been trying to get him back from the Hawks, which seems strange, with a classy goaltend like Burly Marcellus on the roster already——A poor crowd was on hand for the game, which sent the Town League Finances sailing for the bottom, to make up the deficit——Rink managers are deploring the too apparent fighting spirit which the teams are showing this year. If refereeing had been up to the mark from the start of the season, this spirit could not have gained much headway——Wiv. Cassell is still inclined to bodycheck too close to the boards; took several penalties on this score Tuesday——Little Tommy Tindal, out for the first time with the Hawks showed great promise; a real good stickhandler.
