The Same to You

Tho' the world be at sixes and sevens, And battered and twisted and torn,
And old faiths seem shattered and shaken, Or wiggly and wobbly and worn

We'll be cheery, by heck—for its Christmas, And we'll laugh as we always shall do, When you pass us the old-fashioned greeting,
And we say the same back to you.

Entertainment at Morewood

The Morewood Methodist Sunday School will hold their Christmas entertainment on Wednesday evening, Dec. 28th. Mr. Lannin of Winchester, will put on the screen the popular story "Anne of Green Gables". Don't miss the treat. Admission 40c children under 12, 25c. Doors open at 7 p. m. and concert at 7.30. Every body welcome.

Gale Strips Roof Off

Sunday morning shortly after five o'clock the tail end of the big storm which had its centre in the vicinity of Buffalo struck Chesterville and vicinity with one of the heaviest wind storms, luckily of but short duration, which has been experienced for many a day. While many expected to hear of a great deal of damage throughout the town, the most serious was the stripping of an iron roof off the rear portion of McGee&Co's store which is used as living apartments by Mrs. J. Jordan.

Miss Luella Colquhoun Honored

On Wednesday evening a number of her girl friends of Chesterville, gathered at the home of Miss Luella Colquhoun to present to her a set of Aluminum, as a slight remembrance from them before she leaves for her new home.

After the presentation the special feature of the evening was a mock marriage presented in detail by a number of the girls. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and games. After a dainty luncheon the guests departed each wishing Miss Colquhoun much future happiness.

Condensery Cuts off Milk Supply

Many patrons of the Maple Leaf Condensed Milk Co., will this week receive notice that it will be necessary for them to find a new market for their milk after the first of the year. It is understood owing to an over supply of milk and no outlet for the manufactured product operations will be curtailed to the manufacture of the least amount possible and keep the plant open. The cutting off of the supply at the present time will affect only what are known as the milk routes, that is where the milk from many patrons is delivered in one load. The supply at present delivered by patrons in the immediate vicinity will still be taken when delivered by themselves.

Hockey Practise Attracting Attention

Chesterville rink with a fine sheet of ice, since the thaw of Saturday and Sunday is attracting many for skating and others during hockey practise for the purpose of getting a line on the team Chesterville will be able to put on the ice when the battle starts in the Central Ottawa Valley League, with the first home game Friday night of next week. In the matter of ice the home team is reported to be in better shape than the other clubs where practises have not yet been held, this should give them the edge at Winchester on Wednesday night where they go for the opening game and catch Winchester the night following their encounter with Morewood. Throughout the schedule at different times where the same club

Young Boy Blown into River and Drowned

Mr. John Murphy of town, received the news this week of the sad drowning of his nine-year-old nephew at St Zotique., on Sunday last. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Murphy was blown from a bridge when passing from the land to a wharf in the river at the head of Lake St Francis. The body was recovered in about an hour a mile down the river, much cut and bruised by the heavy ice.

Williamsburg Council

The Council met in Froat's Hall, Williamsburg, on Thursdsy Dec. 15th. Members all present. Minutes of the previous meeting read and confirmed.

The time for the tax collectors to complete their work was extended to Jan. 9th.

A resolution was passed asking the County Council to designate a County Road that part of the Weaver road, starting at the Provincial Highway and conuing north three miles, more or less. in lieu of that part of the County Road from Morrisburg to Church road, which has been incorporated in the Provincial Highway.

A by-law was passed appointing the time and place for holding the Nomination and the polling booth.

Fire in a Polling Booth

While the voting was taking place on Tuesday, the 6th., at a polling booth in the township of Rawdon, west of Stirling, the election officials had a rather exciting experience owing to an outbreak of fire. A vote was being recorded when an outside scrutineer rushed into the house and stated that it was on fire, the roof at this time being ablaze. The deputy returning officer and his assistants hurriedly gathered together the papers, ballots and ballot box, and had just emerged from the building when the roof fell in. Fortunately a hall was close by and the voting was continued at that place. It was about three o'clock in the afternoon when the fire broke out and the available vote had been polled.

A Word About Batteries

In modern automobiles the battery is called "the heart of the car". Without it you cannot run or use your starter or lights.

Batteries are an electro-chemical combination which start to depreciate the day they are made.

There are two sources of wear in a battery. 1st—The natural wear from the chemical action of the acid upon the plates. 2nd—The abuse of running, the starvation from lack of the periodic filling with water, and over or under charging.

Natural wear can be eliminated in the months that your car is idle—by having it taken apart—the plates properly cured and carefully stored away—Rebuilt in the Spring, fitted with new insulation, new acid put in and properly reformed.

If you have this done it guarantees you another year of uninterrupted service, prevents road trouble and the purchasing of a new battery.

You can save money by having your battery Dry Stored at

Mr. John Pyper, Morrisburg

The sudden death of Mr. John Pyper, which occurred at his home Tuesday evening, has caused general regret among his fellow citizens. For more than fifty years deceased had carried on business in Morrisburg, and during these long years of honest labor, he made a host of friends, and knew no enemies. On Tuesday he was about the house, apparently feeling as well as usual, and death came with but a few moments' warning.

The late Mr. Pyper was born in Osgoode Township, seventy-eight years ago. He came to Morrisburg in early life to settle down and learned the trade of carriage maker at which he had been actively engaged until late years.

One of the happiest events of his life, was the family reunion on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding when on June 1st, 1921, the late Mr. Pyper and Mrs. Pyper, who survives, were surrounded by a family circle of nine children, to celebrate their 'golden wedding'. On this occasion Mr. and Mrs. Pyper received the congratulations of the citizens generally.

Deceased was a veteran of the Fenian Raid, having served in a number of engagements in the year 1866. Of an unassuming nature, but nevertheless, he took a keen interest in all things that concerned the welfare of the community. He was a citizen of the highest type who commanded the respect of all. He is survived by his wife (nee Miss Catherine Stata) and nine children, who were present at the funeral, namely; Mrs. C. A. Gray, Mrs. A. E. Kelly and Mrs. P. J. Powers of Ottawa, Mrs. John Pitcher Smiths Falls, Mrs. Chas. Dawley, Hamilton, Mrs. P. J, Reddick, Glen Becker, Miss Kathleen and Harry, at home and W. G. Pyper of Montreal.

The funeral which was private, was held at his late residence, Gravel Road, Thursday at 2 p.m., Archdeacon Carson officiating. Interment was made in St. James cemetery.

Mrs. Eli Merkley, Williamsburg

Morrisburg Leader—Time moves on incessanity, and it with generations must forge ahead and pass on. On Thursday morning December 8th, there was called home one of Williamsburg's older and most esteemed citizens. Sarah Almeda, widow of the late Eli Merkley. She was the last surviving member of the family of the late John Cook who for eighteen years represented Dundas in the Provincial Parliament at a time when a section of Canada was fighting for Responsible Government. The Cook family has been a remarkable one, and its members have risen to prominent pos tions, both in business and political circles. Thus the subject of our sketch being reared in a political atmosphere, always retained a keen interest in politics, as well as being an ardent lover of flowers, music and art. To her church she was a devoted member, singing her favorite hymn until stricken with paralysis. In manner, modest, exceptionally patient and cheerful, always warmly affecionate, just an ideal wife and mother, never happier than when surrounded by her family. A native of Williamsburg, where her entire life has been spent, with the exception of a brief period in Montreal, and a vear spent at the Belleville academy. Although Mrs. Merkley enjoyed remarkable health throughout the years, she had been failing for the past three years and was confined in bed for less than a week.

The funeral services were conducted at her late residence by her Pastor Rev. Isler, who chose as his text the 4th-Psalm, verse 8. Mr. Crombie rendered most beautifully, the appropriate solo "Anchored Fast ,'

The Humble Home "In the Rear

A man, gaunt, hollow-eyed, lay on the bed in a little shack "in the rear.". The closed window was a silent reproach to an unwholesome garbage heap within twenty feet of the front door. There the man, his wife and two children existed, miserably.

How could a victim of tuberculosis possibly recover under such conditions?

Ah! the pitiful lack of money to provide for his needs! The dumb agony in his wife's eyes!

The National Sanitarium came to the rescue. He was sent to the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, and the family provided for in healthy surroundings.

That was a year ago. It has taken time, but pure air, perfect rest, proper—and sufficent—food, have done their work.

It is expected that a few months will complete his recovery, and fit him for light work.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Make Friends

If I were to give advice to a group of young folks who wanted to go ahead in business," said a successful old man to me the other day, "I would simply say make friends. As I sat here before the fire the other night, I let my mind run back, and it was with surprise that I learn many of the things which in my youth I credited to my ability as a business man came to me because I had made influential friends who did things for me because they liked me. The man who is right has the right kind of friends, and the man who has the kind of friends who are attracted by his wrongness. A man gets what he is."

A teacher in a school asked the other day: "How many kinds of flowers are there?"

Three pupils held up their hands. She chose one to reply.

"Well, Jack, how many kinds of flowers are there?"

"Three, teacher."

"Indeed? And what are they?"

"Wild, tame and cauli."

The kind-hearted woman stopped to reprove the youngster who had chased a cat up a tree.

"You bad boy suppose you were a cat, would you like to have anyone chase you in that fashion?"

"Gee! Wouldn't I though, if I could climb like that." said the youngster, grinning.

Man Drops Babe Thrown Out of Burning Home

After throwing two of her young children from an upstairs bedroom window to a stranger below in order to save them from the flames which enveloped the lower part of their home, in Ottawa at 2.15 Sunday morning, Mrs. Richard Riordon jumped to the ground and suffered serious spinal injuries. One of the children, Mary, aged four, was safely caught but the other, Patrick aged 19 months, slipped out of the man's grasp and fell heavily on the ground. The baby died a few hours later, from concussion of the brain

For Lack of Twenty Dollars Let Young Man Die

According to a statement made today following investigation conducted at the instigation of Deputy Coroner Prince, concerning the death of Gabriel Tesseir, aged 18, of Vaudreuil, who died in the Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, Friday night following an accident in which he lost a hand, the lad's untimely demise might have been avoided had a blood transfusion taken place. The reason this operation was not performed state hospital physicians, is that the only volunteer to supply the necessary blood was a younger brother of the patient whose youth made it imperative that his offer be rejected. The youug lad's family were too poor to pay the $20 fee of a professional blood giver.

Passenger Train Waits on Stork

The arrival of the stork held up a Canadain Pacific Railway passenger train at Russell, a few miles east of Chapleau, Thursday. The engineer observed a flag waving figure on the track and pulled up his train. He found there was no warning of a wreck,—but heard an excited story from the section foreman at that place that the stork had alighted or was hovering over his little home, and he wanted to know if there was a doctor among the passengers. When none was found, a party of nurses, enroute for Winnipeg, volunteered to officiate, and while they ministered to the mother, they held up an expensive unit of the great railway for half an hour.

Smith Falls Plant Re-opens

The Frost & Wood shops which have been closed during the past few months, owing to lack of business, re-opened Monday morning, The company have been able to secure an export order on which to start up, and by the time that it is completed it is hoped the prospects for domestic trade will be such as to enable the plant to keep going. Only a limited number of the company's employees will be taken on at first, but as soon as practicable it is expected 200 to 250 men will be at work. It has not yet been decided whether full or part time will be worked. This will be good news to everybody in the town.

Lyons is Sentenced One Year in Prison

Sentence of one year at hard labor in the Ontario Reformatory was passed on John Lyons Monday morning by Judge Gunn. Ten days ago Lyons was found guilty on two charges of having stolen coal from the firm of J. G. Butterworth Company, Limited, Ottawa. The jury who heard the case appended a plea for leniency to its verdict.

Before court opened yesterday a petition, signed by almost 600 citizens of Ottawa, was handed to Judge Gunn. This asked that mercy and leniency be shown Lyons on account of the eight small children who depended on him, and also because his wife suffered from an incurable disease.

Judge Gunn reminded Lyons that several years ago he had stood in the prisoner's box charged with an infraction of the law and had been shown leniency on that occasion. Since that time, said his honor, Lyons had been put in a position of trust that hundreds of men would have been glad to fill and had chosen the crooked path. He also reminded Lyons that the law provided punishment up to seven years for the offence he had been guilty of, but the revenge was not the aim of the law. The evidence and verdict of the jury left little ground for the error.

Both Lyons and his councel, Mr. Hal J. Burns, asked that leniency be shown under the circumstances. Lyons claimed that there had been only flimsy evidence on which to base the verdict of guilty.

The sentence was one year on each of the two charges, the terms to run concurrently.

The signatures of several prominent people appear on the petition.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne Bids Good Bye To Dept.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne bade farewell to members of the staff of the Naval Service Department and the Department of Marine and Fisheries in the large library hall, where the minister expressed his appreciation of the co-operation which he had received, and spoke highly of the state of efficiency of the two departments. Politics, he said, had in no way entered into matters of administration, and he had been safely able to leave details in the hands of the deputy ministers, G. J. Desbarats, of the Navy, and Alec Johnson, of Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. Ballantyne expressed his keen interest in the Canadian Navy and the way in which it had developed during his period of office. He trusted that it would continue along the same lines. He thought the navy was a fit subject for pride on the part of the country.

The two deputy ministers expressed their regrets at Mr. Ballantyne's departure, and Capt. Walter Hose also voiced the regret of the officers and men of the navy at parting with a minister who, they said, had always evinced such warm intsrest in naval matters.

Strength is nc objects; but knowing how important. Everyone has at helped to lift a trunk, a have discovered that they know how. In lifting anything the floor bend your back just as little as possible; bend at the knees, and a little at the waist, but keep the spine straight. The average man's legs are about a third stronger than his back, and to strain them is not nearly so serious as an injury to the back. The best way for a man to carry a trunk is on his back, as expressmen carry it.

At first thought it might seem that anyone knows how to carry a suitcase; but the average person really knows almost nothing about the best way. In carrying a suitcase or anything else at le, do not keep the shoulder raised, go. Do not bend the arm at all ing the burden any more motion of your body makes ry. Do not try to hold it still, st let it go, maintaining just enough on the handle to avoid dropping it. n away from the load just enough to p your balance; leaning too far throws a strain on the wrist to hold the object away from your leg. An object like a market basket, which can be turned easily without lifting it far from the side, admits of turning the hand so as to bring the knuckles to the front instead of at the side. That, with a slight inward bend of the wrist, shifts the strain from the biceps to the triceps, and so gives a moment's rest.

A fundamental principle in carrying a burden on your shoulder or hip is to let the bones instead of the muscles bear the weight. A limb already straight will sustain far more than its muscles could lift into that position; that is the secret of the impressive supporting exhibitions, usually billed as "lifting" feats to be seen at the circus. So in carrying bundles of laths, lumber, sacked grain, and so forth, on your shoulder do not let the legs bend much, keep the knees pretty well back. Lean a little at the waist, forward and to the side just enough to preserve your balance. Do not make the common mistake of using one shoulder exclusively; use them equally. Never unload a heavy sack of grain from your back forward over your head; many persons have strained the neck in that way.
Let it slide down your back, or roll it off at the side.

When two fellows are carrying heavy lumber or timbers the easiest way is for the leader to use his right shoulder and his companion his left—or vice versa.
That tends to keep the burden in position Any object not too bulky to be edged onto the hip bone can be easily held there with one hand and carried with remarkable comfort. The method is particularly comfortable in going uphill. Rolling the load a little to the rear gives a very satisfactory balance. Carrying "half arm"—in the bend between biceps and forearm—is a relief from the arm-down-at-the-side position. If the burden is something with a bail, like a coal hod or a water pail, it can be carried half arm very easily. Use a glove or a handkerchief for a pad, for in the arm joint the and blood vessels are so near the out a pad carrying any

Woman Talks of Advertising

I got my husband to point a trust company ecause of an advertise-ut it, which set me think-course, the advertisements that me most are those of domestic . Whenever I order groceries, for instance, I find myself asking for the things whose names are familiar to me through reading the advertisments in the newspapers. They may not be better than others, but as I don't know the names of others how can I tell? Goods that are attractively and regularly advertised always strike me as prosperous and prosperous things must be good, otherwise they wouldn't be prosperous, would they?

And when I am buying things for my toilet I always buy the well known things although salesgirls try to sell me others sometimes. I never let them, though. Why buy the unknown when you can be sure of the quality of the known?

And I find my friends like to talk about the well-known things that they eat or use or wear—like foods, canned soups, cheese; washing machines, corsets, gloves or things like that. So there must be something in a name after all. The way I feel about it is that no business man would spend a lot of money to advertise a poor article; therefore those things that are advertised must have superior qualities about them. And I have found that advertised articles, far from costing more than unadvertised goods can very often be bought for less.
At least you know what you should pay for them—the makers tell you generally in their advertisement.

As for the advertisements of the stores, some of them are not as attractive as many of the more general advterisments but I couldn't shop without them. You see, I am like many other women. I have a young family, and I cannot get out so often during the week. But I read the store advertisements regularly, and by doing so know just what is being sold, and I can always telephone my order if I can't go out conveniently that day. That, I think, is the great value of advertisments to women in the home.
They do keep one well informed. Don't you think so?

Production of Flies

When six female flies were imprisoned on May 1 of this year by Professor E.
Ronbaud, a French scientist, the first thing they began to do was to lay eggs.
They were provided with condensed milk for food. Their prison was roomy and airy and kept at a nice comfortable temperature. At the end of the first week each of the six flies had averaged 105 eggs and by the end of the month the total production was 2,692.
By that time, too, several hundred of their direct descendants were busy at the egg laying game, and the professor was even busier trying to find out how many flies he would have at the end of the season if production kept normal rate. He figured in the end that each of his six prisoners would have by September 30, produced 3,985,969,387,755,100 descendants. When he had finished figuring that out the professor destroyed his pets and their entire famalies, and now he has written a book about them which he has just submitted for app rov-the Academy of Science. One of clusions is that the reproduction is nearly mathematical. He dis-

Cunning Rather Than Speed

An Englishman who had once seen an American fox running before a hound wrote that the American fox is much slower than it's English cousin. As a matter of fact, the Englishman's assertion which by the way appeared in an encyclopaedia, is really a tribute to the superior cunning of the American fox. Reynard says Mr. Charles D. Stewart in the Atlantic Monthly, could have run a good deal faster had he thought it wise to do it.

A fox surprised by a hound in a small patch of wood, will run across the opening at astonishing speed. Then he will not only slow up but may even sit down on some convenient elevation and look back. He keeps his wits about him; he wants to see what is going on. When the hound has struck his stride the fox will soon gauge it and lead him a chase.
Anyone who sees the chase and knows the hound is slow becomes an admirer of the witty Reynard, and will be lickely to say that the fox is running slowly just to tease the dog. Indeed many entertaining writers have said so; but a veteran hunter would not so interpret the action of the fox. He well knows that when a fox gets a mile or so ahead of him and skulks along at a set distance out of sight, it is not doing it to tease him. The fox is not so human as that, The plain fact is that a fox will not retreat before a dog any faster than the dog drives him.
That is because it is naturally cuuning.

A young squire, who had succeeded his father, wishing to create an impression, walked into a school in the village one day for the purpose of asking some questions. He began by asking them what was nothing. This rather mystified them, until one carroty-headed youth put up his hand excitedly, and said:

"Please, sir, what yer gave me for holding your horse yesterday."

Mrs. Doughles: "I saved the money to buy this coat, darling."

Doughless: "How did you manage it, precious?"

Mrs. D.: "I bought it with the money you gave me for a new hat and had the hat ch rged to your account.
