Will He Lead The Opposition?

HON. GEO. H. CHALLIES

Whose name, among those of other prominent Conservatives, is mentioned as Mr. Rowe's possible successor, should the latter relinquish the leadership.

Five years ago when the Hon. Geo. H. Challies was appointed to the Cabinet, as Minister of Game and Fisheries and Provincial Secretary, by the Henry Government, shortly after entering the House, "The Morrisburg Leader" predicted that his rapid success in politics, spelled "leadership", in the near future. Should Hon. Earl Rowe relinquish the party leadership in Ontario, it is quite possible that our prediction may come true. Widespread reports indicate that should Mr. Rowe offer himself as a Candidate in the Dominion by-election, which is to be held on Nov. 15th, the new leader for the Ontario Opposition would be chosen from the Ministers of the former Henry Government. In this event Mr. Challies would be the logical choice, and the only ex-minister who, in our opinion, would eventually bring the Conservative Party back to power. Our conviction as to his qualification is based on the fact that in the face of adverse conditions, such as prevailed in the last contest he increased his majority by nearly 700 votes, in an electoral district populated by some of the most intelligent voters in the Province. This would indicate that those who know him best have acclaimed him as their leader, after he had undergone the "acid test."

In the East Hastings by-election, held shortly before the General Contest, and which was won by the Conservative Party, Mr. Challies, who figured prominently in the election, was credited with no small degree of the influence which brought success to the party.

Mr. Challies has the faculty of making and retaining the friendship of his fellowmen, as a natural gift. His term of office as Cabinet Minister afforded an opportunity to test the sincerity of his apparent spirit of good fellowship, as well as his ability. No legitimate request, be the party affiliation Liberal or Conservative, ever came to his notice, to which he did not give due consideration. While yet comparatively young in years, he has had the opportunity of a political career, during which he benefitted by his elders' mistakes. He is probably versed beyond any other man in Canada, with the exception of leading engineers, in the matter of power development on the St. Lawrence River. This promises to be one of the most contentious international questions with which the Provincial as well as the Federal Government, will have to deal in the near future. Public demand will make this project inevitable.

Mr. Challies was born, raised, and received his preliminary education in this district, which is traditionally Conservative, one which has contributed such noted leaders as, Sir James Whitney, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and Hon. Andrew Broder, and now, another prominent leader in the Conservative ranks—Hon. Geo. H. Challies.

ONE KILLED AND FOUR INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Scarcely had the people of this district recovered from the shock of one death, under exceedingly sad circumstances, when the news was flashed from Kingston, that the Rev. Stanley W. Gartung, minister in charge of St. Paul's church, Morrisburg and St. John's, Riverside, had been killed in an auto accident, while on his way to a convention being held in Hamilton. Again, a gloom was cast over the entire community. With him in the car were his wife, who died from her injuries at 3 a.m. today (Friday), and Mrs. Fred Casselman, Mrs. Ralph Swerdfeger and Mrs. Austin Salmon., All were seriously injured.

The remains of Rev. Gartung were conveyed to Morrisburg by motor hearse, on Thursday and the funeral service was held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Rev. Cronmiller of Williamsburg, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Mueller, Montreal and Rev. Plean, also of Montreal, the casket remaining open for several hours in the church, where hundreds availed themselves of this opportunity to look upon the body for the last time. The remains were later conveyed to Kitchener for burial.

The floral tributes included:—

Crosses: The family; Ladies St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fetterly and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Fetterly.

Wreaths:—Church Council, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, St. Johns Congregation, St. Paul's Luther League.

Sprays:—Mother and sisters, Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Cronmiller, Brotherhood St. John's Lutheran Church, St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Lane and family, St. Paul's Sunday School, St. Paul's Light Brigade, "Edgar's" boy friends, students M.C.I., Donald Havard.

He is survived by one son, Edgar, aged 14 years, and one infant daughter, Jean,; he is also survived by his mother, five sisters, and one brother.

Rev. Gartung, who had resided in Morrisburg for nearly a year, had endeared himself to the people of his charge, and was highly esteemed by the people of the community. What was probably his last message to the people of his congregation, he wrote at the door step of "The Leader" office before leaving for Hamilton. Arriving at this office before opening hour, he found a copy of "The Citizen" laying on the steps and on the corner of the front page he wrote the following message to his people in the form of a church notice for Sunday Oct. 17th:—

"NOTE—Lutheran Church—
Sunday, Oct. 17th—
10 a.m.—The Service..
11.10 a.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Service.
Riverside—
145 p.m.—The Service.
2.45 p.m.—Sunday School."

This note brings home to us, with profound sorrow, the remarkable uncertainty of the future.

DR. M'ILMOYL LEFT REMEDY TO RELATIVE

(Ogdensburg Advance-News)

A great deal of interest has been manifested not only in Ogdensburg but in many sections of the United States and Canada since the death of Dr. H. A. McIlmoyl as to what disposition the physician made of his prescription for the treatment of goitre which he formulated many years ago and for which he was known in many lands. The late doctor had often said that he would leave the prescription to the American Medical Association, but his will admitted to probate here at the last term of surrogate's court failed to reveal any disposition of the prescription, and the contents of a safety deposit box did not disclose the document.

It was learned yesterday that the doctor had revealed the formula to Dr. Charles Louden of Morrisburg, Ontario, to whom he bequeathed his surgical instruments and library. Dr. Louden was an interne at the Hepburn hospital in 1923 and 1924 and has been practicing medicine in Morrisburg since that time.

Dr. McIlmoyl became famous for his goitre remedy and is known to have sent the medicine to many sections of the United States and into many foreign lands. He often remarked that persons in every country of the globe had sent to him for the remedy. He declared that he discovered the compound when he studied a cure for his wife who was afflicted with the growth.

JURY'S MOTOR VERDICT FREES TRUCK DRIVER OF MANSLAUGHTER

After deliberating for nearly seven hours, during which they returned to the courtrom once and obtained additional instructions in connection with criminal negligence law a Supreme Court jury at Cornwall last night found Joseph St. Amour, Ottawa, oil company truck driver not guilty of manslaughter, and failed to come to a unanimous verdict on a lesser charge of criminal negligence.

"This is a very peculiar situation" Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland, presiding Judge, commended, when the jury made its verdict known. Before endorsing the verdict, he held a conference with Crown Prosecutor John G. Harkness and defence counsel W. D. Watt of Ottawa. After a brief discussion, Mr. Justice McFarland returned to the bench and endorsed the verdict.

"Gentlemen, your verdict has created a situation which is unprecedented in my experience and reason." Mr. Justice McFarland told the jurors before dismissing them. There is no doubt about the first part of your verdict, and therefore the charge of manslaughter fails. As far as the charge of criminal negligence is concerned, I am not prepared at the moment to say if I will set the charge over to another court. I will announce my decision at tomorrow morning's court, but in the meantime I have arranged with the Crown not to keep the accused in custody."

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Current Crop Report

Bruce County reports very little movement in grain and hay, with some alfalfa going into meal at $6.75 a ton for second cut. Dufferin reports its chief cash crop, potatoes not selling at a very high figure, prices ranging from 35c to 50c a bag. The yield of late potatoes there is not expected to be as high as last year. In Halton interest is keener in feeder cattle and lambs than in some years. This is largely due to excellent fall pastures and abundant roughage for winter feeding. Halton barns are full and stacks of hay and grain numerous throughout the county. There is a large quantity of second crop and some third crop alfalfa being cut there this year. Alfalfa seed is in strong demand with buyers offering from $10 to as high as $13.25 for seed in the rough, but quality is below normal due to sprouting and weathering. Perth has harvested one of the best crops of corn in many years. The root crop is also exceptionally good. North Simcoe reports cattle in better than average condition and more feeders than usual being secured by farmers in the county. Turnips are being shipped in Waterloo with a price of 18c per bushel being paid. ellington reports buckwheat, mangels, corn and potatoes somewhat better than average crops. Pastures there continue in excellent shape and the large importations of cattle and shoop on these pastures are doing extremely well. In Haldimand livestock is reported as in excellent condition. A tremendous increase is evident there in the number of feeders brought in from th West. Fall wheat acreage there is only about 50 per cent. of normal. Lincoln County will have probably 90 per cent. as much fall wheat sown this year as last. There is a demand in Lincoln for pullets for winter laying. In Northumberland the canning factories have completed tomato canning. Fortunately no heavy frosts occurred and the yield per acre was normal, reaching as high as 600 bushels to the acre in one or two fields but averaging about 200 bus. in Ontario County corn was an excellent crop but badly lodged and many farmers cut their corn by hand. The mangled crop in York promises to be a heavy one. Farmers in Leeds have found difficulty in obtaining sufficient farm help. In Manitoulin the demand for cattle is keen and the general condition better than usual. Several boat-loads of finished and feeder stuff have been shipped and four Lamb Fairs are being held this month.

Storing Farm Machinery

Proper care should be exxercised at all times to protect the large investment in farm machinery from rapid deterioration. Heat, moisture, wind, frost and direct sunlight are the most destructive elements encountered by farm equipment. Storage means protection against these deteriorating effects during the inactive life of the machines and has been found to be the greatest single factor in prolonging the life of farm machinery. The most active period of deterioration is during the season faces.

Inside storage of grain boxxes, wooden drills, wagon running gears and wooden separators is desirable, but not essential. Outside storage of machinery has been found highly successful when proper care has been exercised to protect against animals and weather by good fences, the use of paint and proper lubricants.

Accredited and Supervised Herds

Three plans are in operation by the Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis, namely, the accredited herd plan, the supervised herd plan, and the restricted area plan. The object of the first plan is the eradication of the disease in pure-bred breeding herds. These herds are tuberculin tested free of charge by salaried veterinary inspectors. To be eligible for acceptance under this plan, a herd must contain at least five pure-bred cattle of one breed, registered in the applicant's name. The number of registered purebreds must, however, comprise at least one-third of the total number of cattle in the herd.

As son as a herd has passed two annual or three semi-annual tests without an animal showing signs of the disease, and contains at least ten registered pure-breds, it is designated a "Tuberculosis-free Accredited Herd." Compensation is paid for reactors—that is, those animals which show signs of the disease as a result of the test— and is based on two-thirds of the valuation placed upon tre animals by veterinary inspectors of the Health of Animals Branch. The miximum amount of compensation permitted under the Animal Contagious Disease Act is $100 for pure-breds and $40 for grades. No compensation is paid, however, for cattle affected with lumpy jaw, nor for grade bulls which react to the test. Such animals, nevertheless, must be slaughtered under federal inspection.

Pack all bearings with the correct grade of lubricant. Cover all exposed metal parts worn bright from use with old crankgrease or transmission oil before putting the machine aside even for a few days. This will keep out all dirt and moisture from the bearings and off the wearing surfaces thus preventing excessive wear due to rust. Clean all seed from drill boxes, make sure that all dirt is removed from plough or one-way disk bottoms and that they are well greased before leaving. All straw, grain or weeds should be thoroughly cleaned from binders, combines, separators, cultivators disks, etc., before greasing and painting for storage. Bright sunlight and moisture cause exposed parts to warp and crack, paint applied early will prevent this destruction. Metal parts exposed will rust and wear; grease or paint will save these surof machine use. It is important, however, to protect machinery the year around from the effects of weather, Generous use of paint on all wood and metal parts, wherever the original has worn thin, and the removal to a dry shed of all slats, canvasses, knives, plough-shares, cultivator teeth, etc., immediately the machine is out of use will help prolong the useful life of the implement.

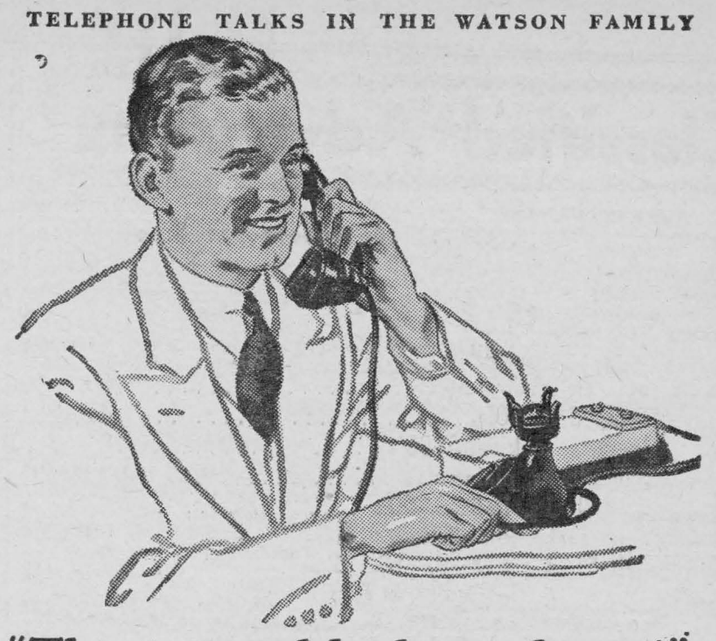
TELEPHONE TALKS IN THE WATSON FAMILY



"This is just like being home!"

Bill Watson occasionally gets fed up on that out-of-town job. Work is oppressive. His pals are dull. Meals are tasteless. The outlook, generally, is bilious. Good, old-fashioned homesickness, that's what it really is — and Bill has a sovereign remedy, once he has diagnosed the case: a long distance call home. And it costs so little, too, that he has decided to forestall attacks by a regular schedule of weekly calls.

Bill's ideas are right in line with the rest of the family. The Watsons have come to appreciate fully the comforts, conveniences and low cost of Long Distance. Do YOU realize how little it costs to telephone?

YOUR NAME IN MONDAY'S PAPERS!

Will your name appear in Monday's newspapers? If it does, will you be writhing with pain in the emergency ward of a hospital, will your mangled remains be resting in a funeral parlor—or will you be held by the Police on a charge of manslaughter?

If you are a motorist and value life and property, help to stop this slaughter of innocent people. The death toll from car accidents in Ontario must go down!

We are justly proud of the Police of this Province—but they cannot be everywhere. Most accidents occur when a policeman is not around. Traffic violators know better than to speed, cut in or crowd other cars with a policeman in sight.

Ontario Motorists will Co-operate

When you see a motorist driving in a manner dangerous to the public, take his number, make a careful note of the actual time and place and when you reach your destination write to the Motor Vehicles Branch, Department of Highways, Toronto, giving full details. We do not invite reports of minor infringements of the traffic laws; you are requested to use sound judgment. We will deal adequately with offenders.

Fruit Crop Outlook Continues Bright

According to the latest official report showing the condition of fruit and vegetable crops throughout Canada, prospects for the fruit crops continue bright. All commercially-grown fruits in the Dominion have produced larger crops this season than in 1936, with the exception of pears and cherries. Substantial increases are reported in the production of apples, peaches, strawberries, raspberries, and grapes. Plums made a moderate gain, while the falling off in Ontario's pear production was not wholly offset by the increase in British Columbia.

Matured Earlier

As a result of the hot dry weather which prevailed in the Maritime Provinces, also in Ontario, crops matured earlier than usual and the export season for apples commenced about two weeks ahead of 1936. No major epidemic of disease or insect pests affected the quality of the crops and on the whole fruit was of a distinctly better quality than a year ago. Generally speaking, weather conditions throughout the season favored the normal development of the crops, although boisterous gales which swept Nova Scotian orchards in the early part of September shook a quantity of fruit from the trees and caused considerable loss.

Canadian Eggs Become Important to British

Canadian eggs are becoming increasingly important in the British breakfast. Agriculture department officials predicted shipments to Great Britain this fall would be 1,250,000 dozen, a 37-per-cent. increase from 912,000 dozen last year.

The export season is from mid-September to the end of November. Up to last week 270,000 had been shipped.

Although exports to Great Britain are not large in comparison with those to other countries, Canadian eggs sell at a premium there. Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario are the chief exporting provinces.

Phone Mouthpieces Fairly Harmless

Scientists Believe Users Not Likely to Pick up Disease

The chances are slim you'll pick up a disease from talking into a telephone mouthpiece, two scientists agreed last week after tabulating germs on 246 public and private phones.

In their 18 months' study Dr. Calvin B. Coulter and Dr. Florence M. Stone, research bacteriologists at Columbia University, New York, said they found as many germs on telephones in private homes as on those for public use in bar-rooms and restaurants.

To gather the germs they used glass lips designed to imitate the action of human lips speaking into a transmitter.

Although they found pneumonia and deadly streptococcus bacteria on the mouthpieces during certain seasons, the research workers concluded that the stagnant air of closed booths might prove more dangerous than the telephone transmitters in spreading the germs.

YOU lose vital nerve force if you allow your stomach to distress you. Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness and "costiveness" cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually destroy health and nerve force. This is what W. J. Fisher of 4 Sanford Ave., N., Hamilton, Ont., said: "I suffered with my stomach, could eat but very little and that would cause distress. I grew weaker daily and suffered from headaches. ONE KILLED, FOUR INJURED IN CAR WRECK

The following report of the accident is taken from the Kingston Whig-Standard:—

"Rev. Stanley M. W. Gartung, Lutheran minister of Morrisburg was instantly killed and four women with him were seriously injured at 11.30 o'clock when the car in which they were riding left the highway three miles east of Kingston on Highway No. 2 and turned over three times. The car finally rested off the travelled portion of the road upside down. The injured women were conveyed to the Kingston General Hospital by R. J. Reid's ambulance and the body of Rev. Mr. Gartung was later removed to R. J. Reid's undertaking parlors.

The car in which the five were travelling was going west and it is believed that the minister was at the wheel when the accident occurred. It had been raining and the pavement was more slippery than usual. The car careened off the road to the south side of the highway and went two hundred feet before it finally came to rest. The auto was totally wrecked, the top smashed in and the sides crushed. There was no other car in the vicinity at the time of the accident.

"Dr. John Tweddell attended the injured and they were removed to the hospital at once. Rev Mr. Gartung and his four companions were going to Hamilton to attend a convention being held there this week.

"With Rev. Mr. Gartung in the car were his wife and three other women, Mrs. Fred Casselman, Mrs. Ralph Swerdfeger and Mrs. Austin Salmon, all of Morrisburg.

"The full extent of the injuries to the four women could not be ascertained. All, however were suffering from severe shock and Mrs. Casselman had severe lacerations. Mrs. Gartung, wife of the Rev. Stanley Gartung, is the most seriously injured of the four, but to what extent could not be learned. All the women were conscious."

CHILD SUFFERS SEVERE INJURIES WHEN GORED

Carl Maynard Meldrum, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Meldrum, who reside near Kenmore, is a patient in the Ottawa Civic Hospital, where he is recovering from severe injuries sustained when he was gored by a bull on the farm of Thomas Armstrong, on Friday afternoon last.

The young lad had followed his father out into a field where cattle were grazing and not realizing the danger, walked close to the bull. The animal became vicious and attacked the youngster, who started to scream. Mr. Meldrum's dog was a short distance away and aroused by the child's cries, immediately ran over and chased the bull away. The father, who, up until the time the dog started to bark, was unaware that his young son was following him, rushed to the scene. Seeing that the youngster was badly injured, he summoned medical aid from Metcalf. Later the child was taken to the Ottawa Civic Hospital, where it was learned that he was suffering from a fractured shoulder, severe bruises and possible internal injuries.

Had the animal not been hornless, the boy's injuries would probably have been fatal.

HARMONY DISTRICT LODGES WELCOME GRAND MASTER

About 100 representatives from the lodges of Harmony District No. 51 I.O.O.F., greeted Bro. A. L. Bruner of Ruthven, Ont., grand master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, in Riverside lodge room, Brinston, on Friday evening. Bro. C. E. Mills, D.D.G.M., of Harmony District presided at the meeting. Bro. F. C. Beaupre delivered the address of welcome to the grand master and visitors. Bro. C. R. Hummell, P.D.D.G.M., presented a shield to Riverside lodge for having the largest number of candidates in the district during his term of office.

This was the first district meeting to be held in the new lodge rooms of Riverside lodge. Bro. E. A. Cook, P.D.D.G.M. of Prescott gave an address, and presented Bro. Hummell with a P.D.D.G.M.'s jewel. Bro. Mills presented Bro. Chas. Ranson of Prescott, 29 years district secretary, with a gift from the district. Bro. Ranson, who also holds the office of grand lodge, made a suitable reply, saying the friendship he enjoyed from the members of the district was sufficient remuneration for him.

Bro. Ranson introduced the grand master, who delivered an impressive address on the principles of Oddfellowship. Members were present from Brinston, Williamsburg, Cardinal, Prescott and Brockville. Bros. Chas. McInnis of Iroquois, Sims of Cardinal, Serviss of Brockville and Rev. Lister of Williamsburg lodge delivered short addresses and brought greetings. The grand master and grand herald were introduced by Bro. A. E. Bell, P.D.D.G.M. of Brinston.

BARN AND CROPS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Hobart Holmes, well-known Winchester township farmer, suffered a $6,000 loss on Saturday afternoon, when fire of unknown origin totally destroyed a large dairy barn on his farm about two miles southwest of Winchester. In addition to the barn, which was one of the finest in the district, three calves, a hay-loader, over 200 bushels of grain and the season's hay crop were also consumed by the flames. The silo, which had just been filled with ensilage a few days ago, was also destroyed. At the time of the outbreak, Mr. Holmes was helping a neighbor fill his silo on a nearby farm.

Flames from the barn, which was situated close to the road, set fire to the telephone pole and put all the phones on the line out of commission. A Hydro pole also caught fire, but it was extinguished before any damage was done to the wires.

Happening at this particular time of the year, the loss by fire will be keenly felt by Mr. Holmes as he has a large number of live-stock which are temporarily without shelter and feed.

At a loss to understand how the fire started, Mr. Holmes stated that it was just a whole summer's work for nothing, not to say anything about the amount of hay and grain which will have to be purchased to feed the stock. Some insurance was carried on the barn, but nothing on the contents.

TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

The sixty-third annual convention of the Dundas County Teachers' Institute was held in the Community Hall, at Chesterville, on October 7th and 8th.

At 9.30 a.m. on Thursday, devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. R. C. Tait. After registration, "O Canada," was sung.

The president, Miss Luva Allison, gave a very inspiring address on "Training a child for life."

The minutes were then read by the secretary, Mr. H. Hamilton, and adopted.

Mr. V. K. Greer, M.A., Chief Inspector of Public and Separate Schools of Ontario, was the guest speaker. His address was on "The New Programme of Studies for Grades I-VI."

Mr. Greer stated that there should not be a rigid complex time table. Promotions are no longer an annual classification. Greater elasticity of promotion is afforded by the new course.

The child develops by virtue of his own activity. If the pupil goes to the library frequently, and becomes an active participant in all the work of school life, he will be able to reach his own decisions and judgments in later life.

The new programme of studies was prepared by a committee of teachers. They began their work early in December, 1936, examining curricula from other provinces of Canada reading reports of investigations in the field of elementary education, and consulting teachers and inspectors in different sections of the province. By authority of the Minister of Education, it was published and issued to all teachers of the province.

Health teaching should be regarded not simply as a subject on the time table, but as a programme pervading the whole life of the school.

The course in English includes reading, oral and silent, language exercises, writing and spelling. The most important phase of the English course is supplementary reading. To cultivate properly the love of reading and to form the habit of finding in books information and enjoyment children must have ready access to books. Every class-room, then, should have a substantial library of well-chosen books.

All writing should be legible, neat and clean. Due to the immature muscles of the five, six or seven year old, printing is recommended in the lower grades.

The purpose of the course in Social Studies is to teach citizenship in a very real manner. Experience of the past, environment and geographical surroundings, influence the life of the people.

Arithmetic is to relate to the interest of children of various ages, based on actual experience.

Music is to enjoy an important place in the education of children. The pupils should have the opportunity of listening to good recorded music.

In Mr. Greer's closing remarks he asked the teachers to give the new programme their friendly support.

In the afternoon convention was resumed with a sing song led by Mr. Arthur Casselman. The Financial Statement and Auditors' report was read by Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. Arnold McMartin explained the construction and use of a hectograph. His address and demonstration proved very instructive.

Profitable seat work assignment and devices were given by the Misses Marjorie Young, Eileen Smyth and Geraldine Cook.

Mr. Ray Dillabough, the O.E.A. delegate, gave a splendid report. The Federation and O.E.A. matters were presented by Mr. Gordon A. Foulds.

In the evening, a sumptuous banquet was served in the Sunday School room of Trinity United Church. Guests of the evening included Mr. T. P. Maxwell, M.A., Inspector of Public Schools for Carleton County. Mr. C. B. Routley, M.A., Inspector of Public Schools for Russell County, and the Chief Inspector of Public Schools in Ontario, Mr. V. K. Greer, M.A., who again addressed the gathering. His topic was "The Successful Teacher." With the academic standing higher, the province is now wealthy with carefully chosen teachers, stated Mr. Greer. He was alarmed at the comparative few that had applied for admission to the Normal Schools this term. A vote of thanks moved by Mr. W. J. Stewart B.A.,Bed., Inspector of Public Schools for Dundas County, and seconded by Mr. Roy Dillabough, was tendered to the guest speaker.

During the evening several classical selections were presented by a string trio and a vocal octette. Following the delightful musical programme by Chesterville talent the teachers enjoyed a social hour in the Community Hall.

On Friday morning Rev. Father P. J. Keaney conducted the devotional exercises. Teachers from Prescott and Russell Counties were welcomed by Mr. Ray Dillabough, before he delivered an excellent talk on "Useful correlations between natural science and geography." He described how Land and Sea Breezes could be illustrated with simple home made apparatus. Mr. Dillabough's topic was continued by Mr. Jack Cross, who by simple experiments explained Barometric pressure, and by Mr. Harry Potter in an experiment on "Evaporation and condensation."

In a talk on "Mental Arithmetic," Mr. Donald MacKerracher explained easy devices in multiplication and addition. He stated that farm problems involving tables should be given in a rural community.

Mr. C. B. Routley, M.A., gave a detailed account of the life of Marco Polo, and explained how to present the topic in a very interesting manner.

Following a sing song in the afternoon, Miss Rebecca Stenhouse, B.A., delivered an interesting address on "Agricultural Conditions in Central and Western Canada."

Miss Viola Collins discussed 'Art' in the elementary schools. The purpose of activities in art should be to develop in the children the power to see the beautiful in nature and in Art, and to cultivate the ability to express their own ideas. An exhibition of Art, samples of work done by Miss Collins' class was on display.

Following remarks and instructions by Inspectors, the teachers visited the Nestle's Milk Condensery.

DISTRICT ODD FELLOWS HONOR GRAND MASTER

Upwards of 100 fellow Odd Fellow representatives from the six lodges in Harmony District No. 51 namely, Prescott, Cardinal, Brinston, Williamsburg, Morrisburg and Iroquois greeted Bro. A. L. Bruner of Ruthven, Ont., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario Independent Order of Odd Fellows on his official visit to this district.

The gathering took place in the new hall of Riverside Lodge No. 14 Iroquois, and the meeting was presided over by Bro. C. F. Mills, district Deputy Grand Master of this district. The Grand Herald, Bro. C. H. Ranson, of Prescott, who is also District Secretary, was also present.

The Grand Master and the Grand Herald were introduced to the D.D.G.M. by Bro. A. E. Bell, P.D.D.G.M. of Brinston.

The address of welcome was given by Bro. F. C. Beaupre, Past Noble Grand of Riverside Lodge.

Bro. E. A. Cook, P.D.D.G.M., and a member of Amity Lodge, Prescott, was the first speaker. He welcomed the Grand Master and also spoke highly of the present D.D.G.M., Bro. C. E. Mills, of Iroquois. He extolled the teaching of Odd Fellowship and stressed strongly on attendance and visiting the sick. At the conclusion of his address he made the presentation of a P.D.D.G.M. jewel to Bro. Chas. Hummell of Morrisburg, the immediate Past District Deputy Grand Master.

Bro. Hummell made a suitable reply.

D.D.G.M. C E. Mills then called the Grand Herald and District Secretary, Bro. C. H. Ranson, of Prescott, to the floor and presented him with a gift from the district lodges. Bro. Ranson replied at some length and gave some very interesting statistics relative to this district.

Short addresses were also made by Bros. J. Sim of Cardinal;; Bycott Serviss, of Brockville; Rev. Wm. Lister of Dundela, and Bro. Chas. McInnis of Iroquois.

Bro. Chas. Hummell, P.D.D.G.M. of Morrisburg, in his address, announced that the Shield he had offered during his term last year to the lodge making the greatest increase in membership had been won by Riverside Lodge, Iroquois, and would be presented to them as soon as he received it from the manufacturers.

The Grand Herald, Bro. C. H. Ranson, then introduced the Grand Master, who at the outset of his address paid high tribute to the late Walter T. Kingston, of Cardinal whom he succeeded as Grand Master.

The Grand Master proved a very forceful and fluent speaker. He commands full knowledge of his subject, and gave a message to all present that if followed would tend to make them real citizens and true Odd Fellows.

At the conclusion of his address a vote of appreciation to the Grand Master was moved by Bro. E. A. Cook, of Prescot, and seconded by Bro. J. W. Marcellus, of Iroquois, to which the Grand Master replied briefly.

During the evening excellent music was supplied by Fred Morrel's orchestra, of Dundela.

Following the program, refreshments were served, and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

W. M. S. MEETING

The Thank Offering meeting of the Women's Auxilliary of the United Church of Canada, was held in the assembly room of the church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 12th, with the President in the chair. The meeting was opened by Doxology and Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes were read, business transacted. The second part was taken by Mrs. Merrill leader of a group. The Devotional Leaflet was given by Miss J. Smith. Prayer was offered by Miss J. E. Taylor and Mrs. Reddick.

Mrs. Merrill gave a synopsis of the 1st chapter of study book "A New Church Faces A New World."

She showed us something of the sacrifices and hardships of the early pioneers, who were tossed about for nine weeks on the Ocean, sailing from Glasco to Nova Scotia, and when provisions got scarce, even mouldy bread was salvaged. After they were settled awhile they missed their religious centers, then of saddle-bag preachers. The first Methodist Church was built in 1788. In Upper Canada or Ontario in 1790 and stands along the shore of the Bay of Quinte and is being preserved by the United Church of Canada as a shrine. It helps to perpetuate the memory of the saddle-bag preachers.

Our Presbyterial President, Mrs. Peterson, gave an interesting and instructive talk, outlining the work of the Women's Missionary Society.

Miss VanAllen voiced the appreciation of the Society in a few well-chosen words.

A beautiful duet "Come Holy Spirit" was sung by Mrs. Eppiett and Mrs. Smythe.

The offering, which netted a tidy sum, was taken by Mrs. Wiggins and Mrs. J. Mullin. The dedicatory hymn "We Give thee but Thine Own' was sung. The meeting closed by Mizpah Benediction. A social half hour was enjoyed, and light refreshments were served.

HYDRO... Driving Force of Industry

A busy plant—the hum of machinery—the steady movement of parts toward an assembled whole—finally—the manufactured product which brings profit to the manufacturer, salaries to staffs, payrolls for the workers.

Throughout Ontario this steady hum of industry is increasing—payrolls are being added to—manufacturing costs are steadily rising higher—yet the cost of the driving force of Ontario industry—Hydro power—moves steadily downward.

Have you ever stopped to consider what would happen if Hydro power was suddenly cut off throughout the Province—the loss in money and inconvenience you would suffer? How vital Hydro is to industry?

You should, because Hydro means much to you in personal income. Low-cost power attracts industries, with consequent employment of thousands of workers increasing the individual buying power within the Province, consequently influencing your income regardless of your occupation.

The success of Hydro in the past two years in lowering power costs has been outstanding. Its efforts to increase the prosperity of our Province by lowering power costs still further, and extending the benefits of low-cost electricity to those in cities, and those on farms, to commerce, to industry, to all who may benefit by its use, is something which you, as a partner in this enterprise, may take justifiable pride.

I wish to assure all the electors of the riding of my continued interests in their welfare and of my constant efforts on their behalf.

Now that the Election has come and gone, and the wish of the Electors of Grenville and Dundas has been known at the poles, I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who supported my candidature, also those who gave so generously of their time and effort on my behalf—Conservatives and Liberals alike.

Though I myself was unsuccessful in the riding in which I reside, yet it is very gratifying to know that my old friend and leader swept the Province on behalf of the Liberal cause.

To Mr. Geo. H. Challies, the successful candidate in Grenville and Dundas, I extend my sincere congratulations.

Sincerely,

P. R. BARNARD.

BECKSTEAD—FOSTER

A pretty autumn wedding took place quietly on Saturday afternoon last, at two o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Foster, Iroquois, when their second daughter, Eileen Castleman, became the bride of Graham Dwight, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Beckstead of Morrisburg, Rev. T. Knowles of Iroquois, officiating.

The spacious living rooms were adorned with autumn flowers and the bridal party stood beneath an arch of pink and white asters banked with ferns.

Miss Lola Adams played the wedding music most effectively and during the signing of the register Miss Florence Waddell sang sweetly "When We're Together."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an attractive model of satin back crepe in cinnamon rust shade fashioned with silver clasps and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses and maiden hair fern.

Miss Foster Foster, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and wore a smart costume of navy sheer georgette and carried American Beauty roses.

Little Janet Tousaw, niece of the bride, was a dainty flower girl and carried a basket of pink and white blooms.

The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Clare Beckstead as best man.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead left on a motor trip through the Adirondacks, Pennsylvania to Washington, D.C. For travelling the bride chose a dress of green wool amgorn, designed on Princess lines, green felt turban and a tailored coat of green all-wool suede with fox collar and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead will reside near Morrisburg.

HOSTAGE HEIRESS

By DAVID DRESSER

Janet Duane, millionaire's daughter, gives a party one night aboard her father's palatial yacht, anchored off Miami. Gregory Gason tricks her into being lef behind wih him when the guests are taken ashore. The only other persons aboard are a crippled wtachman and Janet's Negro maid. Meanwhile, "Dusty" Lanion, lawless adventurer, has laid plans to seize the yacht to carry arms and ammunition to Cuban revolutionists. Believing the boat to be deserted, except for the watchman, who has been bribed, Dusty and his mean are about to board her.

CHAPTER VI

A few lights burned cautiously on the deck of the Fleetwing. Snifter was awkwardly superintending the placing of the highly inflammable cargo in the after hold.

"I'll have to get down into the hold to see that we're not all blown up by careless placing of some of those cases," Dusty told Sakara.

"And I," she told him soberly, "will see this Janet Duane for myself."

She smiled mockingly at him in the half-darkness. Dusty turned away from her. He wanted to cry out that she must not see Janet. But he knew that wouldn't settle anything. Besides, he reminded himself, Sakara certainly had no reason to be jealous of Janet. Why, the idea was absurd! As though he could mean anything to Janet Duane, the heiress!

But he shook his head moodily as he went into the hold. There was stuff aboard the Fleetwing a thousand times more explosive than this cargo he was so concerned about.

Useless to Fight It

Janet had caught her breath sharply as she had watched Dusty and the strange woman together on the shore. When Sakara had pulled his arm about her, it had seemed to the watching girl on the yacht that he embraced her tenderly. She had bitten her lip sharply, and had been angered to find her eyes misted with tears. What was the matter with her?

She had turned away. Why should she mind, she had demanded of herself? What was Dusty Lanion to her? A thieving adventurer! She had walked up and down the deck, clenching her hands.

Then, suddenly, she had faced the truth. Something had happened to her that morning when she had first stared uncomprehendingly at Dusty. Flashingly, in that instant, she had perceived something of the unconquerable instinct which drove him on to face any hazard with a blithe disregard of consequence . . . and in that instant, she had known she could love this lawless marauder.

Through the long hours of the day, she had fought unavailingly against the realization that she, Janet Duane, could so far forget herself as to be attracted by this tall stranger. And she had known it was useless to fight against this attraction. The men she had known now seemed no better than stuffed dummies as she contrasted them with this quiet stranger whose every movement was eloquent of his fierce vitality.

Glancing again toward the shore, she had seen Dusty pick the strange woman up in his arms to carry her to the yacht. Then it was that she had fled to her cabin.

She was sitting quietly in a chair, brooding, when a knock sounded on the door. She rose listlessly and opened it — then stepped back with a startled exclamation. It was the strange woman!

Sakara seemed entirely composed. "Hello," she said briefly. "I'm Sakara Pitzinoff. And I suppose you are my hostess . . . Miss Duane?" Her bold eyes studied Janet as she stepped into the cabin.

Janet made no attempt to conceal her resentment of the intrusion.

"I shan't say I'm delighted." Her voice was cool, though she trembled inwardly.

"Neither shall I," Sakara replied, with matching coolness. "I've come here only to say what needs to be said between us." She studied Janet briefly. "You have one admirer aboard, I understand. Make no mistake in thinking you may have two. Dusty Lanion is mine. Mine! Do you hear?"

Janet moved to the door proudly. "I've heard entirely too much." Her tone was edged with contempt. She opened the door and stepped back. "Get out!"

They faced each other for a moment. It was Sakara Pitzinoff who dropped her gaze first. Then she laughed sneeringly, and left the cabin.

An Offer Rejected

Dusty was just coming from the hold, after supervising the stowing of the cargo, when Gregory accosted him. Gregory was no longer the suave gentleman of the preceding night. His evening clothes were rumpled, he was unshaven, his eyes were bloodshot, and his face was drawn and haggard.

Dusty regarded him contemptuously. From Fandella, he had learned before to estimate Gregory's character correctly.

"Well?" he demanded.

"See here," Gregory wet his lips nervously and did not meet Dusty's direct gaze. "I've been thinking that you and I might get together. Seems to me we have a lot in common, and it's always better to work together than to play lone hands."

"Go on." Dusty's voice was dangerously low.

"After all, we're both after the same thing—money. Am I right?" He peered at Dusty.

"Go on," Dusty said again.

"I'm offering to cut you in on the biggest thing you ever fell into. This little stunt of yours is just chicken feed. Why not get wise and make some real dough?"

"Go on," Dusty said a third time. He had already picked out the exact spot on Gregory's chin where a fist would do the most good.

"It's a cinch," Gregory told him earnestly. "I don't know what you're planning after you dump your load into Cuba, but I want to remind you that we've got a fortune aboard . . . if we keep our heads and play the game right."

Dusty's fists clenched. He waited.

"Duane's kid," Gregory explained. "The old man's daffy about her. He'll pay a million for her safe return. We go in together, fifty-fifty. I handle the collection while you keep the girl hidden. And that's giving you a break," he smirked. "She's a hot little . . ."

Dusty hit him. His fist caught Gregory's chin at precisely the calculated spot. Gregory slumped to the deck.

Dusty rubbed his fist and walked away. He did not look back, so did not see a woman's form glide up to the prostrate man. He might have been more cautious had he realized that Sakara had heard and witnessed the entire incident, and that it was she who hurried to Gregory's assistance.

Life's Fine Weather

O shame, if we can only see
A day whose hues are dun!
There surely are more days by far
On which we see the sun.

And though a cloud may us enshroud,
The sun is there the while;
It yet shall rise and flood the skies,
And all our fears beguile.

The talk with friends when the day's toil ends,
The dinner bell that calls,
The fireside nook, with song and book,
And sweet rest when night falls,—

These cheer us up, fill Nature's cup.
At life's feast why be sad?
For the day's new birth, for the kind earth,
Let every heart be glad!

—Alexander Louis Fraser.

Grape Desserts in Season

Autumn is certainly in the air these days and that means that winter cannot be far behind. But before the last signs of summer have gone, capture the luscious grapes from the horn of plenty which Nature has spilled over the land.

Every housewife is busy these days preserving this good fruit to help her in planning delicious meals during the winter and that takes a lot of time from ordinary household routine. But when your jars of grape preserves are in the cupboard and your thoughts frantically turn to dinner, let grapes again come to your aid.

Dinner will take on a gala air and young eyes will light up at the sight of either of these grand desserts which are made with some of the grapes you didn't have time to preserve today.

GRAPE FLUFF

Ripe Grapes
1 cup warm water
½ cup coconut
1 package lemon-flavored jelly powder
½ cupful whipping cream

Wash and stem about 1 pound of ripe grapes, mash and add 2 tablespoons of water. Simmer until soft, then drain through two or three thicknesses of cheesecloth. Measure 1 cupful of the juice. Dissolve the jelly powder in the boiling water and add the grape juice. Chill until it begins to thicken, then whip with a rotary egg beater until light. Fold in the whipped cream and add the coconut. Turn into a cold, wet mold and chill firm. Serve unmolded with plain whipped cream.

GRAPE WHIP WITH IMPERIAL SAUCE

1 package strawberry jelly powder
1½ cups warm grape juice
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup warm water
½ cup cold grape juice.

Dissolve jelly in warm water and warm grape juice. Add sugar and salt. Reserve ½ cup of mixture for sauce. Chill remaining 1½ cups of mixture until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Prepare sauce by adding ½ cup cold grape juice to reserved ½ cup jelly and grape juice mixture, and chill until slightly jellied. Pour jellied sauce over each mold. Serves six.

EXTRA TASTY SUPPER DISH
Baked Stuffed Eggs

6 hard cooked eggs
¼ cupful of chopped mushrooms, raw or canned
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1½ tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cupful liquor (liquid from mushrooms plus water)
1 cupful evaporated milk
1 Oxo cube
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Cut the hard cooked eggs in halves, lengthwise, remove the yolks and mash. Cover the chopped mushrooms with 1 cupful of water and stew slowly for 5 minutes. Drain, reserving the liquid for the sauce. Add the mushrooms to the mashed egg yolks, season with the ¼ teaspoonful of salt and pepper, and moisten with the 2 tablespoonfuls of evaporated milk. Refill the whites with this mixture and arrange in a buttered baking dish. Melt the butter, add the flour and stir until it is thoroughly blended and smooth. Gradually add the mushroom liquid, stirring until smooth and thickened. Add the evaporated milk and the Oxo cube and stir until the cube is dissolved. Season with the salt and pepper and pour over the eggs in baking dish. Cover the top with buttered bread crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven (350 Deg. F.) until crumbs are browned and the mixture heated through. Serves six.

Germany's new airship, which should be ready for service this fall, will contain 25 cabins, each fitted with two berths and running hot and cold water.

While all the letters and pictures have been forwarded to the prospective bridegroom, nothing more has been heard from him by the employment office.

LESSON III
CHRISTIAN SPEECH AND CONDUCT—James, Chapter 3

Golden Text.—Let no corrupt speech proceed out of your mouth. Ephesians 4:29.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING.

Time.—The date of the epistle of James is greatly disputed. The author died in 63 A.D. Some place the epistle the year before this, while others date it as early as 50 A.D. The exact date cannot be determined.

Place.—Probably James wrote the epistle in the city of Jerusalem.

The author of this epistle was the brother of the Lord Jesus, and is referred to directly only twice in the Gospels (Matt. 12:46; 13:55; Mark 6:3. Cf. John 2:12; 7:3,5). He was, of course, a Jew, brought up in the strict teachings of the Jewish synagogue, devoted to the law of Moses, zealous in living a righeous and godly life. His was probably the first epistle written in the early church.

It is against this general desire to be prominent as instructors that St. James is here warning his readers. In teaching others, they were in danger of forgetting to teach themselves; to possess faith and to do nothing but talk.

If any stumbleth not in word, the same is a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body also. 3. Now if we put the horses' bridles into their mouths, that they may obey us, we turn about their whole body also. James here begins the subject which occupies almost the entire chapter, namely, that of the control of the tongue. What James here means is that, if a man has his tongue under control, i.e., his speech, he will be thereby keeping under control all the organs of his body which will lead him into sin if not mastered.

A Tongue Controlled

4. Behold, the ships also, though they are so great and are driven by rough winds, are yet turned about by a very small rudder, whither the impulse of the steersman willeth. 5. So the tongue also is a little member, and boasteth great things. As a horse uncontrolled is worthless as far as man is concerned, so a ship when driven by rough winds is certain to founder on the rocks or the beach and be smashed to pieces.

"Speech can guide into right ways, escape dangers, battle successfully with storms, and conduct into restful harbors, but it can also wreck and shatter lives and drown in bottomless floods. Behold, how much wood is kindled by how small a fire! 6. And the tongue is a fire. The tongue can inflame another with the passion of anger, or the poison of suspicion. The world of iniquity among our members is the tongue, which defileth the whole body. "You sully your lips and degrade your whole nature when you suffer yourself to speak the tainted and tainting word. Passions kindled by unscrupulous language spread through various channels and courses until the whole cycle of human life is in flames. And is set on fire by hell. "The fire of man's wrath is kindled from beneath as the fire that cleanseth is kindled from above.

7. For every kind of beasts and birds, of creeping things and things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed by mankind. 8. But the tongue can no man tame; it is a restless evil, it is full of deadly poison. Augustine well remarks: "James does not say that no one can tame the tongue, but no one of men; so that, when it is tamed, we confess that this is brought about by the pity, the help, the grace of God."

The aposle now calls the attention of his readers to the great but mysterious truth with which we are all acquainted—that with the tongue great good and great evil both may be effected.

9. Therewith bless we the Lord and Father; and therewith curse we men, who are made after the likeness of God. 10. Out of the same mouth cometh forth blessing and cursing. "How great are the possibilities of a tongue which is under divine control, cleansed and anointed! What sorrows it can comfort, what wounds it can heal, what strife it can still! It is also God's mightiest instrument for pulling down of the strongholds of sin, and the upbuilding of his kingdom.

My brethren, these things ought not so to be. It was abnormal that a man should bless God in his prayers or creed and yet so despise or speak evil of members of his own family, inasmuch as he and his fellow-men were the offspring of a common Father.

11. Doth the fountain send forth from the same opening sweet water and bitter? 12. Can a fig tree, my brethren, yield olives, or a vine figs? Neither can salt water yield sweet. For similar figures of speech used by our Lord, see Matt. 7:16-18; 12:33-36.

Two Kinds of Wisdom

Who is wise and understanding among you? In a most natural way, James proceeds from his specific discussion of speech to the larger question of wisdom. The understanding of things human and divine and their causes. It is the word used to describe the wisdom of Christ himself (Matt. 13:54). James refers to the need for wisdom at the very beginning of his epistle (1:5, 6), and now returns to the subject once again. Let him show by his good life his works in meekness of wisdom. Meekness in the New Testament "included submissiveness to God as well as gentleness towards man.

14. But if ye have bitter jealousy and faction in your heart, glory not and lie not against the truth. The word here translated faction might be more accurately translated "rivalry," expressing the strife existing among different individuals or groups of individuals. There is nothing more tragic in the world than to see Christian teachers, and officers in the Christian church striving among themselves for superior places of honor, and angry if someone else gets more praise than they get. To glory with their tongues of superior wisdom, while they cherished jealousy and faction in their hearts, was a manifest lie, a contradiction of what they must know to be the truth.

James now turns from his discussion of wisdom in general to a characterization and development of the two kinds of wisdom which men may have, one bearing evil fruit, and the other bearing fruits of righteousness.

15. This wisdom. That is, any such wisdom that allows jealousy and faction in one's heart. Is not a wisdom that cometh down from above, but is earthly. That is, it does not have a divine origin, but derives from the natural plane on which unregenerated men live. "It belongs to the lower impulses, not the higher, in man's nature. Devilish. The original word here really refers not so much to the devil himself, as to demons, and as partaking of the nature of demons or unclean spirits who are represented as possessing the souls of men, and reducing them to the level of madness.

16. For where jealousy and faction are, there is confusion and every vile deed. In I Cor. 14:33, God is said to be the author, not of confusion, but of peace. The word here translated vile means good for nothing.

17. But the wisdom that is from above is first pure. (See Prov. 2:3-6). "The purity of the heavenly wisdom does not consist merely in victory over temptations of the flesh, but in freedom from worldly and low motives. "I cannot win men from impurity to purity if I am not pure." Then peaceable, gentle. "It is because the man who is inspired with pure wisdom has no ulterior, selfish ends to serve that he is gentle, sympathetic, and considerate towards those who oppose him. Easy to be entreated. The best interpretation of this phrase would be "winning its way by gentleness." Full of mercy and good fruits. Without variance, without hypocrisy. The first two words here probably mean "unwavering," "steadfast," "single-minded," while, as we all know, hypocrisy means "insincerity," "pretending to be something which one is not."

A Ten Year Goal Reached

Foremost among the coveted honours won by Bell Telephone first aiders was the Dominion-wide Championships for women and men—a goal which Bell first aid teams have been striving to attain for ten years.

In the picture two Bell Telephone first aid graduates are giving an exhibition of how head, arm, and leg injuries should be cared for. In the background are the trophies won by the different Bell Telephone teams. Left to right: the Ontario Provincial Shield and the Montizambert Cup emplematic of the Canadian Championship won by Team No. 1, Toronto. The Sir George Burn Trophy, All Canada Ladies' First Aid Championship, won by the Accounting Ladies' Team, Toronto. The Wallace Nesbitt General Trophy and the Quebec Provincial Shield won by Team No. 1, Montreal.

Approximately ninety-five out of every hundred Bell Telephone male plant workers are now qualified to render First Aid.

Duchess Abandons Wallis Blue Color

"Wallis blue" went by the board this week. New clothes chosen at Paris by the Duchess of Windsor were black, brown and red. Only one costume struck the familiar blue note. It was a traveling ensemble in navy blue wool.

There was a strong note of plaid in apparel the duchess selected for day wear at Mainbocher's, where a private room was set aside for her fittings.

Her new dinner frocks for winter parties were of lace and georgette. The fabrics chosen for formal evening gowns included broadcloth, tutler, flashing metal fabrics and somber velvets.

Continues Work On Artificial Heart

Dr. Alexis Carrel, research scientist, disclosed this week that he and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh were continuing experimentation looking toward perfection of the artificial heart" which they devised for study of human organs outside the body.

Dr. Carrel, returning to New York from abroad on the Normandie, refused to say that they were making progress, but indicated that they still were working along the same lines. He rejected as "nonsensical" reports that Lindbergh planned to become a British citizen.

Log Cabin Show Features Jack Haley

Last Saturday, October 9, Jack Haley started the Log Cabin Syrup series over the NBC Red Network. Haley, if you remember, was the timid crooner in the 20th-Century-Fox picture "Wake Up And Live." Supported by Ted Fio Rito's orchestra, Warren Hull, author, and Virginia Verrill, youthful blues singer, this series promises to be on the favorites for this season.

The broadcast is designed to show the typical life of Haiti today, and will feature Irma Goebel Labastille whose husband was born in Haiti and Blair Niles, noted woman explorer. The program is titled "Women Expore the World."

What about Bergen, you ask? Well, it looks as though Edgar would get a job too. Charlie says he thinks he can fix it up with the moguls to "give Bergen at least a small part".

Another milestone in its long record of service to the farmers and homemakers of the nation has been passed on Saturday, October 2, when the National Farm and Home Hour began its 10th year over NBC. On that day, the popular noon-hour program was aired over the network for the 2,771st time since the inaugural broadcast in 1928. During the course of this time, the network has been increased from 17 stations to a total of 70.

New Canadian Voices

And now for a wee bit of Canadian news. A couple of days ago, CFRB ran an audition over the air just before midnight. We think the program was probably the choicest bit of airing we have heard for a long time emanating from a local station. The program introduced a new voice to the air—that of Ran Daly—and girls, is he handsome! Vince "Flying Fingers" Boyd played the organ, while Rai Purdy gave bits of philosophy and quoted poetry. The program was quite appropriate to the hours—you know, the soft, lulling kind. Some smart sponsor should look into this.

Stan Francis just dropped down on the desk. Stan is the m. c. on the Sunday Night Community Sing Jamboree broadcast over CKCL, at 9:00 p.m. We haven't seen Stan since sometime in the summer when he shaved off his mustache. Imagine our surprise when we noticed a brand new cookie duster under his nose. Thanks for the passes, Stan. We might drop in and see you conduct the mass tonsil exercises. Incidentally Stan presents a smart review three nights weekly at the Lansdowne Theatre.

We have to hand it to Reg Dagg of CKWX, Vancouver, who made Canadian radio history by broadcasting interviews with Sino Japanese war refugees from Shanghai upon arrival here aboard the Canadian Pacific's Empress of Asia. Dagg went over to Victoria the night previous, and boarding the liner on its arrival there in the early hours of the morning, he arranged the interviews on the five hour crossing to Vancouver, and when the first hawser came ashore the dock, Dagg heaved his mike lines ashore. The interviews were on the air before the gang-plank was in place.

Interested In Canadian Stations

American sponsors are getting interested in Canadian radio stations in so far as to bring their American network programs into Canada. This is indicative of the upswing in Canadian radio business. What we can't figure out is if these stations are valuable, why not run a Canadian series, emanating from some point in Canada. Then we may get some real programs in Canada.

The announcers out west are having plenty of fun. With the sudden demand for football game broadcasts, a sponsor has undertaken to broadcast the Western Canada group. This consists of teams in Calgary, Winnipeg and Regina. The announcers travel from 350 to 780 miles to do a single broadcast. Nice work, if you get it.
