ONE NEW MEMBER ON LOCAL COUNCIL

One new member appears on the slate of the Morrisburg Council this year. The newcomer is Nelson W. Morton, manager of the Cameo Theatre. All members of the 1938 Council received their seat by acclamation. They are as follows: Reeve Arthur Flynn; Councillors Fred H. Broder, J.E. Christensen, John Harback, Nelson W. Morton. Mr. F. H. Broder, nominated for Reeve, as well as Councillor, failed to qualify for the higher office. The following, named for Councillors, also declined to qualify: Edward McIntosh, M.D., Chas. Marsh, George D. Howith, B. L. Carr.

Voting will take place on Monday, December 6th, for the election of Members of the Board of Education, and also on the By-law to secure a supply of electrical power from the Hydro Electric Power Commission. The candidates whose names appear on the ballot for the Board of Education are Mrs. Florence A. Casselman, F.D. Stata, K.A. Blancher, Fred H. Meikle. 3 of the contestants are to be elected. The question appearing on the "Hydro ballot is as follows: "Are yon in favor of securing a supply of Electrical Power or Energy from the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario?" Those who pay the largest amount of taxes in the town, and who have first-hand knowledge of the local conditions, declare that it is in the interests of the Municipality that the By-law should carry.

In the Township of Williamsburg the entire 1937 Council was returned by acclamation. They are: Reeve Oscar Becksted, Deputy-Reeve Edgar Whitteker, Councillors Oscar Cougler, Frank Darling and Fred McMillan.

MR. HARRY EDWARD COIR

After an illness of three weeks, Mr. Harry Edward Coir, son of the late Wm. Coir and Mrs. Coir, died at the Brockville General Hospital on Thursday evening.

The late Mr. Coir, one of the best known and esteemed natives of Morrisburg, was born on April 13th 1889. He was educated at the Public Schools of his native village, and for 20 years was employed, as moulder, at the Morash Foundry. For the last two years, he had been engaged as assistant florist on the Williamsburg Canals.

In 1915 he enlisted with the 154th Regiment for Overseas Service, sailing on the 19th of December, and after four years of active service in the Great War, he returned to Morrisburg on the 5th of March, 1919.

On December 9th, 1919, he was united in marriage to Miss Beatrice Casselman, who survives, with one son, Harold. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Wm. Coir, two brothers, Wm. Coir, Morrisburg; and Mr. Charlie Coir of Winnipeg, and one sister, Mrs. Earl Crobar of Morrisburg

The funeral will be conducted from his late residence to St. James church Sunday, Dec. 5, at 1.15 p.m. where service will be conducted by Rev. S. B. Holmes. Burial will take place in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

DUNDAS-GRENVILLE PRESBYTERY QUARTERLY MEETING

The quarterly meeting of Dundas-Grenville presbytery was held in the United church at Cardinal on Wednesday with Rev. E. C. Lacey of Brinston presiding and Rev. E. A. Smith of Morrisburg as secretary. Practically all the charges in the presbytery were represented.

Rev. Mr. Lacey conducted the opening service. The several committees met following which Rev. Wm. Lester of Dundela reported on pensions; Rev. L. M. Summerville, Heckston on home missions; Rev. S. T. Burman, Inkerman, on foreign missions; Rev. D. M. Coburn, Prescott, on a special committee on the church manual.

Rev. R. S. Smith, of Elma, convener of the committee on evangelism and social service, introduced Rev. J. R. Muchmor, B.A., B.D., secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service and Rev. A. F. Fokes, B.A., B.D., of Shawville, Que., of the Ottawa presbytery as guest speakers.

Following dinner, which was served by the Ladies' Association of Cardinal church, reports were presented on presbytery fund by Rev. Morrison of Kemptville; foreign missions, Rev. S. T. Burman, Inkerman; Christian education, Rev. R. Douglas Smith, Morrisburg; Rev. W. A. Dempsey of Maynard read the report.

Mrs. A. W. Seaton was appointed to take charge of girls' work. Mrs. Atchison, wife of Rev. Atchison of Winchester, gave an account on the school of Christian education in Winchester. Rev. D. N. Coburn of Prescott and Rev. Wm Lester of Iroquois gave similar reports.

Rev. Mr. Coburn led a discussion on the outlook of Point Iroquois summer school after which the members pledged their support to the school. Rev. H. L. Morrison, of Kemptville chairman of the missionary and maintenance committee, gave a report for this committee and Rev. R. S. Smith of Elma, chairman of evangelism and social service and his secretary, Rev. A. W. Seaton, of Shanly, reported on that work. It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Kemptville.

Following the supper period Rev. Thos. Knowles of Iroquois led the evening devotional period. The choir of Cardinal United church rendered a special anthem. Rev. A. F. Fokes and Rev. J. R. Muchmor were special speakers.

BOYS' CONFERENCE FOR DUNDAS COUNTY

A boys' conference was held in Brinston United church Saturday morning, afternoon and evening when between 60 and 75 boys of teen age, representing the Tuxis, Trail Rangers and organized groups of Dundas county, assembled, under the auspices o fthe Dundas Boys' Work Board of the O.R.E.C. Rev. Donald Morrison of Hallville was convener.

Registration, recreation and singsong began at 9.30 a.m. W. Robinson, Winchester, was secretary. The morning devotion period was conducted by Hallville boys. Roy Hastings was in charge.

The election of officers resulted as follows: chairman and president, Gilbert Coons, Morrisburg; secretary Roy Hastings, Hallville; treasurer, W. Robinson, Winchester. A unanimous support was extended to Roy Hastings, elected to represent Dundas at the Ontario Boys' Parliament, Toronto. Three phases of boys' work were discussed: Trail Ranger program, by Rev. W. S. Atchison, Winchester; Tuxis program, by Rev. Donald Morrison, Hallville, and the organized class, by Rev. R. Douglas Smith, Morrisburg. The convention was then divided into two age groups for discussion.

The ladies of Brinston W.M.S. served dinner. Rev. Wm. Lister of Dundela and Fred Case of Winchester conducted the recreation period in Gilson's Hall.

The opening devotional period for the afternoon was conducted by Morrisburg boys. Geo. Barlow was in charge. Presentation of special materials and projects were given by Rev. D. Morrison, Rev. R. S. Smith, Rev. W. R. Johnston, Rev. E. C. Lacey, Rev. R. C. Tait, Wm. Marshall, Rev D. Morrison and Gilbert Coons. Rev. D. Morrison conducted a debate.

At 4.30 o'clock recreation and games were followed by supper catered by the ladies of the W.M.S. Geo. Smith, Morrisburg, gave a report of the resolution committee at the supper hour, thanking the ladies, Mr. Gilson, for the use of his hall for recreation, and all who had assisted in the convention.

The evening devotion period was led by the Winchester boys, with Fred Case in charge. W. Robinson gave his report showing a substantial balance in the treasury. Rev. D. Morrison summarized the convention and complimented the boys on the success of the rally. Rev. Douglas Smith gave an illustrated lecture. A sing-song was conducted by Rev. Smith in the church basement.

CLUB AND EQUIPMENT BURNS AT BROCKVILLE

Quarters of the Brockville Golf and Country Club half a mile west of Brockville were destroyed by fire early this week Equipment of members, many of them summer residents from the United States, was a total loss.

Origin of the fire, reported to the Brockville department by a passing motorist, has not been determined. Firemen were unable to pump a satisfactory water supply from the St. Lawrence River below the club house to fight the blaze.

The frame building was built in 1914. Among prominent guests who knew its hospitality are the Duke of Windsor and Duke of Kent who visited it as princes in 1927.

Fire department officials said the fire might possibly be associated with others of suspected incendiary origin which are under investigation by the Ontario fire marshall's department.

TO THE PEOPLE OF MORRISBURG

For four years you honored me with a seat on the Board of Education, which I more than deeply appreciate, for the reason that as a former teacher of several years experience and as a parent whose children are all in attendance at the village schools, I have a lively interest in educational matters.

I believe it to be the duty of a trustee to promote the interests of education, having regard at the same time for his responsibility to the people whom he represents. This has been my aim and if you give me a renewal of your confidence I will continue to do the same.

Education makes up a very important part of our tax levy: 19.62 mills of our 49 mill tax rate or 40 cents of each tax dollar.

The board sessions are public and it is suggested that more of our citizens avail themselves of the opportunity of manifesting an increased interest in this important department

Your vote and assistance respectfully requested.

Season's Greetings to all.

Sincerely,
KENNETH A. BLANCHER.

Unending Round

It's just one hang thing after the other. The ice wagon no sooner gets off the horizon than the coal cart pulls up at the cellar window.—Guelph Mercury.

World Economic Unit

There is a frost in the Argentine and Canadian wheat jumps five cents in price. In almost everything except government, the world is a unit today, events in one part being reflected by their effects in all parts.—Edmonton Journal.

Love Thy Neighbor

Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English Speaking Union, pronounced a profound truth in Toronto when he declared: "After 25 years of travelling about the world, I have come to realize that the only way to save humanity is to put into effect the simple doctrine of the Founder of Christianity—love thy neighbor." — Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Advice to Parents

It is perhaps too much to expect the sons and daughters of today to find as much interest and entertainment in family tasks as members of earlier generations did. There are too many competing interests. But the girl who learns to cook and keep house and the boy who masters the intricacies of the family furnace or learns to shovel walks or mow lawns with speed and completeness have learned lessons which are as valuable as any on their school curriculum. Perhaps parents have overlooked the possibilities of such homework. Children do not have to be drudges but they might actually learn to like work. — London Free Press.

Attractive Highways

The old method of clearing out every vestige of natural growth and leaving a bare, ugly scar across the face of nature is giving way to new ideas of conserving highway beauty. It took a long time for the highway builders to come to this better point of view. In the past, considerations of natural beauty too often have been disregarded as unimportant and impractical. They are neither. Increased use of the automobile in leisure time and recreational activities, as well as for purely business purposes, makes it important that highways, while being made safe and durable, convenient and time-saving, should be attractive, restful and enjoyable. — Listowel Banner.

They Don't Vibrate

Women as a rule do not make good radio announcers and this is not due to any inherent lack of ability but rather to a physical characteristic. The average woman's voice lacks the vibrant tones of the male vocal organs. . . . There are exceptions, of course, and there are male radio announcers who have mistaken their metier, but broadly speaking this is a calling not particularly suitable for women. There are many women professional radio performers who are a great success, but it does not necessarily follow that most of them would make good radio announcers. — Toronto Telegram.

Success at Farming

The idea that "any fool can farm" —successfully—is in some minds, but it is a tragic myth. The man or woman who hopes to make a success of life in the country districts and on the land must have a greater diversity of knowledge than the person who makes a success of his or her affairs in urban communities. Indeed, the person who knows little or nothing about land activities is astonished to discover how resourceful even farm children are and the multitude of things they can do before they are well into their 'teens. Certainly, if we are to have an expansion of successful farming in this province, the old idea that "any fool can farm" must be driven from the minds of some in official circles.—Halifax Herald.

Suggests Eating Oysters To Attain World Peace

COLCHESTER, England.—A suggestion that world peace might be attained by eating oysters was made by Sir Holman Gregory, former recorder of London, at the local feast celebrating opening of the oyster season.

"Nowadays," he declared, "the world is bubbling and boiling, and there seems no chance of settling down. What a pity it is that we cannot cultivate enough oysters to give to our politicians throughout the world and get them in the state of mind that we are in at this moment."

THE EMPIRE

The Ones To Decide

The war in China, like all wars, is a terrible thing, and peace is the natural ambition. But it should be remembered that it is China and not the Brussels Conference who is fighting, united and determined, against aggression, and so long as the Japanese continue this aggression only China can say when she has had enough. It is not a boxing match in which diplomats have the right to throw a towel into the ring. If Japan refuses to offer reasonable terms, or if China refuses to accept those that are offered, a new situation will arise. In that case it will be the duty of the Conference not to conceal it. — Manchester Guardian.

Britain Broadcasts

In the present century a series of foreign agencies has come into being whose manipulation of news items, we regret to say, has shown a distinct anti-British bias. The same applies to the radio medium. The microphone has been prostituted to ulterior motives by other countries in scandalous fashion. The air is poisoned daily and nightly with mendacious messages and with what is worse—garbled versions and half-truths. The nationals of several countries read and hear only what dictators and government controllers desire them to receive and digest. The minds of these people are filled with distorted "intelligence" concerning Great Britain and the Empire. We would be slow to advocate that Britain in turn should use the radio as an agency for propaganda. The broadcasting of news, however, should achieve its own end.—Belfast Telegraph.

Sleeper's Brain Waves Studied

Four Stages of Going-to-Sleep Process Are Scientifically Recorded

We do not go to sleep at any particular moment. There is a wide variety of gradation between being asleep and being awake. Different parts of the brain go to sleep at different times and to different degrees, so that it is difficult to determine whether we are asleep or awake or to what extent at any given moment. These are the conclusions resulting from an investigation of the brain waves that we give off during the transition period.

The investigation has been carried on as a joint project at Havard University Medical School.

Spindle-Shaped Waves

Four stages of going-to-sleep processes were indicated by the brain waves. The first finds the body at rest, but awake; in the second there is an intermediate drowsy or floating state; the third is also an intermediate state, merging into sleep, and then comes real sleep. The disappearance of the large "alpha" waves is the first indication of the going-to-sleep process. In the intermediate state irregular waves appear, and the sleep state is characterized by sharp spindle-shaped waves with a frequency of about ten a second.

Suicide Succeeds At Fourth Attempt

An angler, while fishing from a small boat under a bridge over the Marne, France, was disturbed by a huge splash, and found that a man had fallen into the river from above. The angler promptly pulled him out and set him ashore.

A few minutes later there was another splash. The same man had fallen in again. Once more the angler rescued him. But when the man jumped in a third time, the angler angrily gave the fellow a piece of his mind.

"If you start scaring the fish again I shall give you a thick ear," he growled.

The would-be suicide then went off to a willow, a hundred yards away, and hanged himself. A passer-by notified the police, who hurried to the spot and then stormed at the angler for not having cut down the body as soon as he had noticed it.

"Oh, I'm sorry," he replied, "but I thought the man was hanging himself up to dry."

Estimated Cost of War Mounts From Day to Day

An Army Division in Combat Fires Away $333,000 In 24 Hours—Seen as Excellent Reason For Not Repeating World Conflict.

The cost of war has gone up, along with a lot of other things, since nations did their figuring in 1918.

If the World War cost an estimated $190,000,000,000—and with interruptions to trade, property destruction and the like, this figure has been added up to $340,000,000,000 — it is now apparent that any war of today on the same scale could boost these figures considerably.

New and improved weapons, more expensive construction and higher cost of materials are chiefly responsible. Soldiers' wages have not gone up much, but their wages are only a small factor in the whole complicated picture of modern warfare.

Bombs Cost $400—$800

Basically, there are certain war costs that can be judged fairly accurately in view of World War experience. Ammunition, as it is being consumed in China and Spain, for example, can be estimated to cost from $800 to $1,000 a ton, or roughly 50 cents a pound for all kinds of ammunition, from small arms to shrapnel and air bombs.

An army of six divisions, or 150,000 men, with 300 field guns, might well do away with 2,000 tons of artillery ammunition, 1,000 tons of small arms ammunition and 100 tons of air bombs in the first day of fighting in a major effort.

Which boils down to the fact that six divisions, in a day of really heavy action, can shoot away $2,000,000 worth of ammunition. Every round fired from a 75 mm. gun costs slightly under $10. Shrapnel costs about $14 a pound. An airplane that lets go of two 1,000-pound bombs sets off more than $800 worth of destructive power.

$12,500 A Torpedo

On the naval side of warfare there are such costs to consider as $12,500 for a modern torpedo, while a 14-inch shell complete with detonating charge costs about $120.

What it costs to carry out an air bombing expedition these days needs a lot of fancy figuring to ascertain. It can be assumed, however, that a bombardment group of sixty bombers would release up to 100 tons of explosive during an important day's fighting, at $800 a ton. This is without consideration for cost of airplanes shot down.

Additional to all these costs would be all the varied costs of weapons, transportation, food, communication and the like, plus a host of intangible factors which might increase the costs to the point of doubling them and more.

At $60,000,000 a Battleship

Decidedly expensive at the present time is the cost of preparing for war. Modern battleships, fully equipped, cost $60,000,000, where they once cost $30,000,000. The United States Army's new "flying fortress" bombers cost $250,000 each. Britain's rearmament program of $7,500,000,000 for five years is about as much as Britain spent during four years of the World War.

Inestimable Property Destruction

Property destruction in modern warfare is a question which experts say has had only a partial answer in bombardments in Spain and China. So vast are its possibilities that major powers of the world are likely to think long and seriously before they go to war.

Sporting Comment
By KEN EDWARDS

This week as promised, we continue with the "official boxing rules":

1. A contestant shall be deemed "down" when:
(a) Any part of his body other than his feet is on the ring floor;
(b) He is hanging helplessly over the ropes;
(c) Rising from "down" position.

* * * *

NOTE: A boxer hanging over the ropes is not officially "down" until so pronounced by the referee, who can count the boxer out either on the ropes or on the floor.

* * * *

No match shall be of more than 10 rounds in length without special permission of the Commission and such rounds shall be of not more than three minutes duration, with one minute intermission between rounds.

* * * *

In the event of a foul, intentional or otherwise, which prevents a man from continuing, the Commission may, in its discretion, impound the entire purse of the perpetrator of said foul, or any part of said purse for disposal.

* * * *

And so, my friends till next week,
—Good-bye
—Good luck.

News In Review

May Surrender Nanking

The belief grew this week-end that the Chinese might relinquish Nanking to Japan with only face-saving rearguard action in order to spare the Capital from destructive bombardment. Many Chinese Government officials were understood to favor such a course which would protect hundreds of millions of dollars invested in magnificent new buildings and expensive highways.

Meanwhile, five of the largest Chinese morning newspapers, with a combined circulation of 400,000 suspended publication in Shanghai because of the pressure of Japanese demanding full authority in the city and suppression of all anti-Japanism.

Hits At Stock Exchange

WASHINGTON.—The Roosevelt Administration cracked down on Wall Street this week-end, serving an ultimatum that the stock exchange must re-organize or be regulated much more drastically.

"Adequate safeguards" must be thrown about this and other exchanges, either by the marts themselves or the Securities Commission, said William O. Douglas, Chairman of the Commission.

Terrorist Hanged

JERUSALEM. — The newly-created military tribunal at Haifa passed sentence of death by hanging on one of Palestine's most dangerous Arab terrorists this week-end as large contingents of troops and police went into action following a new series of disturbances.

Says Recession Temporary

DETROIT.—Henry Ford, in an interview here, said that the present business recession is "temporary and artificial."

"No one," he said, "need look at next year with any uncertainty. The present slow-down is not a set-back; it's the pause before another climb. Two things helped to bring it on just now and one of them was the uncertainty of business regarding political interference, but Congress is taking care of that. The other was the stock market fluctuation.

Preparing Railroads

MOSCOW.—Dictator Joseph V. Stalin has issued an urgent order to restore the strategic Trans-Siberian Railroad to "efficient operation," supposedly in preparation for any hostilities with Japan in Outer Mongolia, it was revealed here.

New Lieutenant-Governor

OTTAWA.—Albert Matthews, member of a Toronto brokerage firm bearing his name and brother of Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue in the Bennett Government, this week was named Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. He succeeds Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce, who announced his resignation last week. The appointment became effective Nov. 30.

Territorials Re-organized

LONDON.—Fundamental changes in the organization of Great Britain's territorial army to bring it up to the level of a regular force which can be used in the front line immediately on the outbreak of war were announced this week by Leslie Hore-Belisha, Secretary for War.

Air Force In Plot

PARIS. — The terroristic plot of "Les Cagoulards" (Hooded Men) to overthrow the Government by revolution, set up a Fascist dictatorship and ultimately restore the monarchy, led investigators this week to the high command of the French air force.

Within eighteen hours after Minister of Interior Marx Dormoy announced that the sensational expose involved leaders of the defense forces' agents of the Surete Nationale seized General Edouard Duseigneur, retired Commander of the air force.

Hitler's Demands

LONDON.—Chancellor Hitler was reported this week by diplomatic sources to have asked Viscount Halifax during their conversations in Germany for three definite commitments, all regarded as inacceptable to Great Britain.

These sources said Hitler asked for:

1—British recognition that Germany has "special interests" in Central Europe.

2—Abandonment of Britain's attempt to obtain a general European settlement.

3—Agreement that the question of colonies and all other questions concerning Germany be settled bilaterally and without connection with the League of Nations.

"Clarion" Office Raided

MONTREAL. — Quebec Provincial Police raided the Montreal office of the Toronto newspaper, 'The Daily Clarion" this week-end and seized 700 copies of the paper along with other publications and documents.

In the Park Avenue office, police said, they found also a few copies of the Montreal French weekly, Clarte (light), whose office and printing plant were locked up a fortnight ago under Quebec's "padlock" law aimed at stamping out Communistic propaganda.

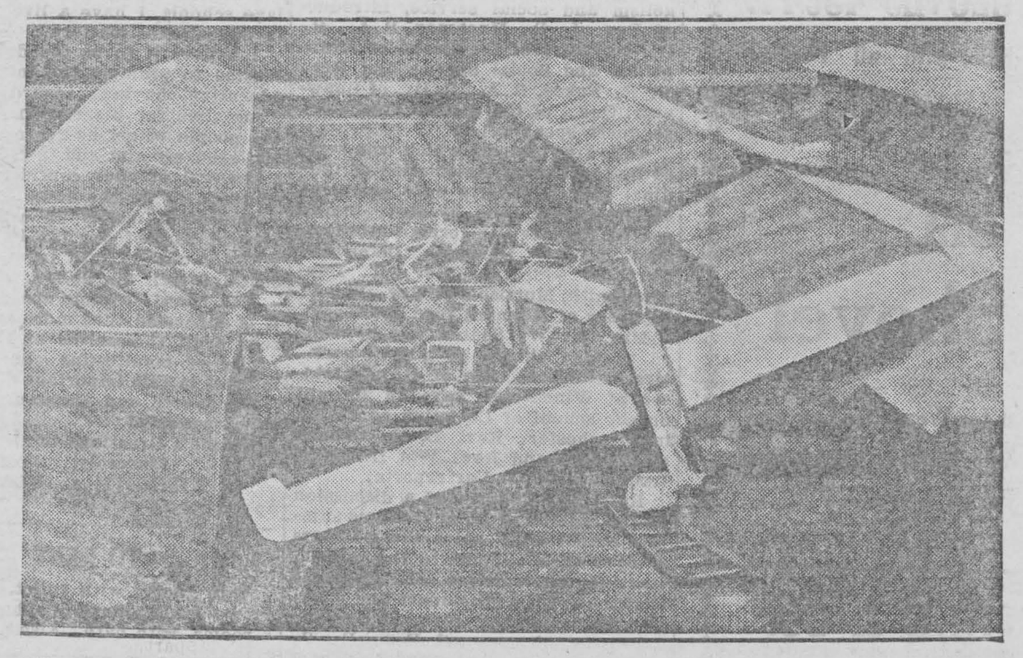

Disastrous Jamaican Floods

KINGSTON, Jamaica. — Fears that death toll in disastrous floods sweeping Jamaica would reach 100 or more were held this week-end after receipt of a message stating that a raging river torrent had swept through the village of Portland, taking seventy lives.

Strikers Refuse

WALKERTON, Ont.—The 100 striking employees of the Canadian Spool and Bobbin Company this week turned down the proposal of settlement made by Company President William Shaw, and pickets continued to patrol around both plants of the factory, while production remained at a standstill.

Royalty Met Death in This Plane

Here may be seen the wreckage of the Belgian airliner in which five members of the German Royal House of Hesse, died when the plane, carrying them to the wedding of Prince Ludwig of Hesse, in London, struck a smokestack at Ostend, Belgium, and crashed in flames. Six others were killed in the crash.

Commentary on the Highlights of the Week's News . . . by Peter Randal

WHEAT INSTITUTE: Deploring the fact that Canada has never had a definite wheat policy, has left the marketing abroad of Canadian wheat almost entirely to chance, Henry L. Griffin, Director of the Research Department of United Grain Growers Limited, is urging upon the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission, the formation of a Wheat Institute to conduct research in uses of Canadian wheat. The immediate purpose of the institute would be to increase Canada's export trade in wheat. Trade relations would have to be studied, research made concerning markets, direct advertising done. Sooner or later a market plan for wheat would lead to planned marketing of all other farm products.

TENSION EASED: Since Britain's commercial recognition last month of Gen. Franco's ascendancy in Spain, tension has gradually been easing off in the civil war crisis there. Three other factors have in the meantime operated to reduce the situation to its quietest since July 1936:—Franco's willingness to establish, if he wins the war, a pro-British monarchy in Spain; withdrawal of Russian participation in the conflict; departure of 20,000 Italian troops from Spain and from the Balearics, a bad danger-spot. It is expected that other powers will shortly rush to recognize Franco, with Japan, Portugal, Austria, Hungary and Poland in the lead. It's all just dandy, except that the poor Spanish Government (Loyalist) is left out in the cold.

STATION NEAR POLE: Interest in the potentialities of Canada's Arctic areas was given a big lift this summer by Baron Tweedsmuir's tour of the Northwest Territories, and by the penetration into those distant regions of ten separate scientific expeditions. The secrets of the North have a greater drawing power than ever. Now a proposal comes that the Dominion Government build and maintain a scientific station somewhere near the centre of the Arctic Archipelago, a headquarters from which expeditions could operate. The Department of Mines and Resources have the matter under consideration and will probably discuss it with leading scientists interested in Arctic exploration. The site proposed for the station is on the northern end of Boothia Peninsula, the most northerly mainland on the Continent. 'Twill come in handy a few years hence when we begin spending our week-ends at the Pole.

$1500 INCOME: A survey undertaken in the smaller cities of the United States reveals that the annual income of the typical American family is close to $1,500. From $156 to $288 of this goes for rent, the greater part of the remainder buys food and clothing for the family. The average size of families on relief in nineteen cities ranges from 3.4 to 5.1, while for non-relief families the average is 3.2 to 4.5. Interesting figures, those, from which a number of far-reaching conclusions may be drawn. Colorful sidelight on the story comes from another report, made by a commission of economists and statisticians financed by the U.S. Government, which shows that the potential income of every family in the country amounts to $4,400. There's a leakage, somewhere, of $2,900, which certain authorities attribute to economic waste.

FASCISM IN AMERICA: Brazil's fifth Constitution was proclaimed last week by President Vargas, naming himself as Supreme Head of the State with dictatorial powers. The democratic world was startled and a little apprehensive at this manifestation of growing Fascism, the establishment of America's first totalitarian state. The new decree abolishes Parliament, replacing it with two impotent, hand-picked bodies which can be jailed or dismissed at will; puts industry, agriculture, commerce, transport and banking under a new corporative "Council of National Economy", also dismissable. The main hope of democratic countries is that the new Brazilian set-up will prove just another dictatorship of the Latin-American pattern with none of the rampant imperialism of the true Fascist state, (such as Italy and Germany.)

HIS BACK ACHED FOR 4 YEARS

Kruschen Put Him Right

For four years, this man's back ached almost continuously. Now, at 57, he starts the day fresh as a daisy, and his back aches no more. Read his story:—

"I had continuous backache for four years. I looked on the black side of everything. Now, I write with extreme gratitude for what Kruschen Salts has done for me. The freshness with which I start my day's work is perfectly marvellous. After seven days of Kruschen, I felt better and could get up immediately, without any special effort. I am 57, and my early morning dose of Kruschen is my salvation."—J.T.

The kidneys are the filters of the human machine. If they become sluggish, impurities find their way into the blood-stream and produce troublesome symptoms — backache, rheumatism, and depression.

The numerous salts in Kruschen quickly coax your kidneys back to healthy normal action. As an immediate result, you experience relief from those old dragging pains. As you persevere, you lose your pains altogether.

Seeks $2,500,000 From Ex-Emporer

Suit Planned Against Haile Selassie For Alleged Oil Deal

LONDON.—A damage suit for $2,500,000 against the former Emperor Haile Selassie which—if it does nothing else—may show how much cash the Negus of Ethiopia has on hand, has been filed in British courts.

Leo Chertok, who claimed to have arranged a deal for Ethiopian oil concessions between the Emperor and the Standard Oil Company of New York during the last days of resistance to Italy's invading army, is behind it.

He said it would be for alleged damages sustained by the downfall of negotiations on the supposed oil deal and includes 28,000 pounds (about $140,000) which Chertook says the ex-Emperor owes him.

He said if the suit is successful he will then institute bankruptcy proceedings designed to force a declaration of Haile Selassie's legal assets and liabilities, and clear up his financial status.

Claim Poverty Stricken

Another result of the suit, Chertok explained, will be to determine whether Haile Selassie still is Emperor of Ethiopia.

"Haile Selassie claims he is poverty stricken," Chertok said, "and hasn't sufficient food or enough water for his bath. I know different. They have plenty of money.

"I personally saw stored in London sacks of gold stacked to the ceiling. I have since been informed the gold has been delivered to Selassie."

Color of Hair Not Proof of Identity

LONDON, ONT.—With drug store complexions and such things to baffle the mere male the color of a woman's hair is no longer dependable as a means of court identification.

A witness in a civil action at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court here, told Justice McFarland he was positive the woman to whom he was referring was not the one who had just stepped from the witness box.

"The woman I saw had fair hair," he said. "This one has dark hair."

"They've been known to change," commented Justice McFarland.

Penitentiary Takes To Broadcasting

Convicts in the State Penitentiary at Melbourne, Australia, went on the air recently, in the first radio broadcast of its kind in Victoria.

From the prison concert hall, before an audience of 800 inmates, the convicts presented a typical "variety" program.

The audience yelled in appreciation when one of the performers announced gravely: "We must decline any other radio engagements because we will be fully occupied here for the next few months."

Grain Thefts Oust Cattle Rustling

Are Becoming a Growing Menace On the Prairies, Mounties Reveal

Grain thieves have taken the place of cattle and horse rustlers as the most detested criminals on the Western plains, according to the annual report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

So prevalent has grain stealing become and so difficult is it to check that increased penalties for the offences are being proposed. The report states the Saskatchewan attorney general is proposing the minimum penalty should be raised to imprisonment for one year.

Hard to Identify

Cattle and horse rustling in former years was kept in check by the severity of the sentence imposed, from three to 14 years.

"The identification of stolen cattle and horses was a much easier matter than that of grain," says the report. "Brands and natural marks on animals were often a means of identification. The identification of wheat is a difficult matter except for the outstanding expert.

A Mean Thief

"The old cattle rustler was somewhat of a sportsman compared to the mean wheat thief of today. In his maraudings he took a sporting chance and sometimes stopped a bullet from the rifle of the rancher or his cowboys and was even, in the U.S.A., occasionally lynched when caught by them.

"To effectively stop the depredations of grain thieves it is considered they should, on conviction, be much more severely dealt with than they are at the present time. Otherwise the practice which is already very extensive will grow to alarming proportions."

Hundreds of Cases Known

In Saskatchewan 245 cases of grain theft were brought before the courts in the year under review and 207 convictions were obtained. The average sentence was approximately six months.

In Alberta 126 convictions were obtained out of 297 complaints received.

HAVE YOU HEARD

A woman who formerly resided here comes back after many years to see her friends — finds what, to her, is an embarrassing condition, to wit: A few of these friends are not on speaking terms and she has to exercise care in making social engagements — That is what's usually termed small town stuff, though it can be duplicated everywhere, since cities are only aggregations of small burgs — Nevertheless it is a deplorable condition. It can be remedied materially by cultivating a greater toleration and a wider viewpoint. Trouble with most of us is this: Our minds are local — they don't reach out beyond neighborhood limits and if they did they would be slower in making harsh judgments on the human units around them. High authority says none are perfect in this world. And good citizenship consists mainly in being charitable and getting along with imperfect folks like ourselves.

"Tortured with Liver Trouble and Rheumatic Pains"

There is nothing like deep-seated liver trouble and rheumatic pains to pull you down. Here is a letter from a man who was enduring pain and misery, unnecessarily. He writes:

"I have distributed a supply of Fynnon Salt to a few friends who were suffering from kidney trouble, gout, etc. They have now said goodbye to their complaints. As for myself—I was practically born with liver trouble and rheumatism. Since taking Fynnon Salt I feel like a new man and my only complaint seems to be 'a grand appetite' and a body full of energy".

Fynnon Salt neutralizes the Uric Acid that causes rheumatic pains, gout, lumbago, sciatica, etc. Fynnon Salt brings quick relief from pain—limbs feel supple and free once again. A ½ teaspoonful of Fynnon Salt in a tumblerful of water every morning equals in medicinal effect three large glasses of the mineral spring waters found at famous British spas.

Now, in your own home, you can obtain similar benefits from a large 75c package of Fynnon Salt. Get it from your druggist, today. If you have any difficulty getting supplies, write: Laurentian Agencies, St. Gabriel Street, Montreal. 4

JUST BEING HAPPY

Just being happy is a fine thing to do,
Look on the bright side rather than the blue,
Sad or sunny musing
Is largely in your choosing,
And just being happy is a brave work and true.
Just being happy helps other souls along,
Their burdens may be heavy and they not strong,
Your own skies will lighten
If others' skies you brighten
By just being happy with a heart full of song.

Some experiences which appear to be disasters become, in retrospect, a veritable life-saver.

The prosecuting attorney had encountered a rather difficult witness. At length, exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him whether he was acquainted with any of the jury.

"Yes, sir," replied the witness; "more than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?" demanded the man of the law.

The other thought quickly.

"If it comes to that," he replied, "I am willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together!"

Colored Parson — "Brother Jones, that was the best chicken ah evah et. Whereat did you all obtain such a delectable fowl?"

Brother Jones — "Pahson, when yo' preaches a good sermon does Ah ask whereat yo' obtained it? Ah craves de same fo-bearance from you."

It wouldn't matter greatly what people did in following the dictation of their consciences if they were not so insistent upon everybody else following them too.

It is bad to be absent-minded:

"It is funny I do not remember limping when I left home," said the absent-minded professor as he walked down the street, with one foot on the curb and the other in the gutter.

A young flying officer, stationed somewhere in Egypt, while flying near the Great Pyramids, carrying out exercises in navigation, and working with a sextant to discover his exact position, suddenly turned to the pilot, and said, "Take off your hat!"

"Why?" asked the pilot.

"Because, according to my calculations, we are now inside St. Paul's Cathedral."

A man-about-town might be described as a fellow who can be perfectly attired for any occasion without even smelling of moth balls.

In an unfamiliar atmosphere the professor was trying to make conversation.

Professor — "The Romans were fond of card games."

Sweet Young Thing — "Oh, yes, I know; wasn't it a man called Horatius who held the first bridge party?"

A sign in a resturant reads: "What foods these morsels be!"

Mrs. M. — "My baby is so delicate that I have to let my husband dress it."

Mrs. P. — "Can he do it better than you?"

Mrs. M. — "Oh yes. He's a packer in a china factory."

Deep Plowing Smothers Grasshoppers' Eggs

Grasshopper eggs are now in the ground, like seeds for next year's crop of troubles, and farmers are concerned how to destroy as many as possible. They must be plowed under deep, advises F. Gray Butcher, extension entomologist and plant pathologist of North Dakota Agricultural College.

Disking and shallow cultivation will not bury them deeply enough to smother the young 'hoppers when they emerge next Spring.

Some of the eggs may be killed by exposure to the frozen drought of Winter, but that will not account for any important percentage of them. Best of all is to watch the crowds of young grasshoppers in Spring and give them a timely Borgia banquet of poisoned bran.

DO YOU FEEL SLUGGISH?
Maybe you need more bile

When you feel you haven't a friend in the world and life is not worth a red cent—that's the time your liver is getting you down. Don't fall for it. Make your liver behave.

Tanol Tablets will do the job. They act directly on the liver, stimulating the liver's production of bile. Comprising a special blend of certain laxatives, Tanol Tablets include a small proportion of calomel, probably the most effective liver stimulant known. In a day or two your liver is at work again as well as ever and you feel at friends with the wide, wide world. All druggists have Tanol Tablets, 50c. (O)

GIRLS WHO HAVE NO BOY FRIENDS

Quick Easy Way to Get Charm

Girls who don't attract boy friends wonder why. Beautiful, perfect features are not the reason. Cleopatra and famous women were often ugly. Have nice skin, plenty of animation, and watch out for your figure—you'll be surprised how popular you are. So many girls have poor complexions—no life—their figure slipping, and don't realize it. Take "Fruit-a-tives" and you'll soon be amazed how different and how attractive you've become. It purifies your blood, makes the skin pores work, gets rid of waste and poisons, gives you new energy, prevents flabby tissue from forming. "Fruit-a-tives" gives you new charm. 25c., 50c.

News And Intormation For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Egg-Laying Contest Winners

A pen of 10 Rhode Island Red hens, owned by C. J. Hendrich, Waterloo, Ont., won the 18th Canadian egg laying contest, producing 2,695 eggs in 365 days and compiling a total of 2915.0 points.

It was also announced a pen of Barred Rocks, owned by W. S. Hall of Oakville, Ont., took first place in the 17th Ontario egg laying contest, producing 2,389 eggs and compiling a total of 2,596.1 points.

Second place in the Canadian contest went to a pen of White Leghorns, owned by Hall, which laid 2,182 eggs and had a total of 2,486.3 points. A pen of white Leghorns, owned by the experimental farm, Ottawa, was third with 2,644 eggs and 2,449.5 points.

A pen of Barred Rocks, owned by R. L. Roth & Sons, of New Hamburg, Ont., took second place in the Ontario contest, laying 2,223 eggs and having 2,473.2 points. Third place went to a pen of White Leghorns owned by W. J. Chouinard of Trenton, Ont., which laid 2,293 eggs and had 2,439 points.

Both contests, held at the Ottawa experimental farm, were the best ever held. It was the first time Rhode Island Reds took the Canadian championship. In the Canadian contest, 141 birds qualified for registration while in Ontario, 170 qualified.

GUELPH WINTER FAIR

Officials of the Guelph Winter Fair are smiling broadly these days as a check on entries for this oldest of all winter fairs in Ontario shows the heaviest entry list in the past ten years. This is true in all classes. In fact, Live Stock Superintendent, Wm. Watson, and his assistant, Dick Graham, are wondering just where they will place all the cattle and horse entries which are away above those of last year.

There are over 200 heavy horse entries and 145 light horses, with 217 cattle listed—the heaviest in several years. Swine entries total 161 in all classs, while the sheep show totals 364 animals. Seed exhibits are on a par with other years with 330 entries.

Ridgetown Farm School

Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, has announced that special facilities will be provided for the training of farmers' sons for farm work at the Ridgetown Experimental Farm. The course for young men of 16 years and over, who intend to take up farming as a vocation, will provide them with the practical training they will need under conditions that exist on the modern farm. It is recognized that farming problems are becoming more difficult; soil deficiencies are cropping up in sections hitherto believed to be ideal for crops and will gradually become a problem in all parts of the province; plant diseases and insects are exacting large tolls annually; animal diseases are inseparably linked up with crop and soil problems; marketing is much more complex and difficult than formerly and the introduction of power upon the farms through the gas engine and electricity has opened up a field absolutely unknown to the farmer of former days.

The ability to be a good workman is no longer the great deciding factor in agriculture but the proper combination of hand and head has been farced upon the practical farmer and he must adapt himself to the conditions and changes if he wishes to be reasonably successful.

The agricultural school, at Ridgetown, will offer a course planned to meet the requirements of the practical farmer; science will be emphasized only as it is required; mechanics, field crops and animal problems will be given a proper share of the time. During 16 weeks for two winter seasons, a student will have sufficient time and opportunity to gather considerable knowledge of farm practice and theory combined.

Sheep-Raising Opportunity

Prospective sheep raisers in eastern Ontario will have an excellent opportunity this fall to get into the sheep business with a small cash outlay. Thousands of farms in Eastern Canada at this season of the year have ample roughage in the form of pasture, stubble fields and in hayfields to feed a sizable flock of breeding ewes. With the advent of the electrified strand wire fence, the fencing problem for sheep is likely to be simplified as to cost and type of fence. While the quality of hay on many farms this year may not be as good as in other years for fattening live stock, it will, however be good enough for breeding ewes.

Most sheep ranchers in Western Canada have from 100 to 500 dry ewes ranging in age from yearlings to five-year-olds. These ewes are available for sale because they missed at breeding time, due to adverse weather conditions, or because of the loss of lambs at lambing. All flocks of dry ewes should be sorted for bad udders and broken mouths.

The advantage of shipping dry ewes to Eastern Canada is that they can be bred early, in fact almost at any time now; whereas range ewes that have raised lambs could not be bred for two months after the lambs were weaned, and a long train journey would cause additional interference with the possibilities of successful breeding until late in November or early December.

CONGRATULATED BY MANY ON HER 89th BIRTHDAY

Mrs. W. J. Steele, one of the district's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, of Winchester, was the recipient of many messages of congratulations on Sunday, when with memers of her family present, she celebrated her 89th birthday. In addition to numerous cards, te'egrams and telephone calls, all bearing messages of good wishes, many friends called at her home to extend their congratulations personally.

Mrs. Steele, who was the former Miss Agnes McKane, was born near Vankleek Hill on November 28th., 1848, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKane, pioneer settlers of that district. Sixty years ago she was married to William John Steele, who passed away in 1922. Her earlier life was spent near her birthplace. In 1901 she and her husband moved to a farm adjoining the village of Winchester.

During her younger years, Mrs. Stee'e took an active part in the work of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, of which she is a devoted member, and during the Great War was an active worker in the Red Cross Society.

She is still enjoying fair health and, in spite of the fact that she lost the sight of one eye a few years ago, she spends much time in knitting, crocheting and tatting lace, many specimens of which are a work of real art.

Mrs. Steele has one sister, Mrs. Walter Andrews of Denver, Col., aged 81 years, and one brother, William McKane, of Vankleek Hill, also in his eighties.

She is the mother of nine children, Mrs. Fred Barlow, Morrisburg; Mrs. Fred Parker, Ottawa, Mrs. Karl Helmer, Winchester; Thomas and William Steele, of Ottawa, and Ernest Steele and Miss Emma Steele, at home, Robert Steel and Palmer Steele, two of her sons, are deceased.

MRS. JOHN BROWNELL

The funeral of Mrs. John Brownell, who died on Monday, was held on Wednesday from her home near Gallingertown, to the United church where the service was conducted by Rev. J. B. Howe of Aultsville. Inierment took place in the family plot at Pleasant Valley cemetery.

Mrs. Brownell was the former Mary Otto, born in Osnabruck township 73 years ago and had, following her marriage in 1884, moved to Gallingertown where she became known as one of the leaders in the work of the church and community.

In addition to her husband, there survives one daughter and two sons Annie, Arthur and William Brownell all at home, two brothers, John and Isaac Otto of Osnabruck township and one sister Mrs. George Beckstead of Martintown.

BROCKVILLE OFFERS REWARD OF $500

Brockville municipal corporation today offered a reward of $500 for the discovery, apprehension and conviction of the individual or individuals responsible for a series of incendiary fires there this year.

Several fires affecting large buildings unoccupied at the time were said by authorities to have had suspicious origins. Many property owners there have engaged watchmen to protect their property.

Among large fires there recently were those which destroyed the former main building at the Brockville fair grounds, the New theatre, a portion of the former Cossitt manufacturing property, the clubhouse of the Brockville Golf and Country Club and the mill of the Brockville Lumber Corporation.

RECEPTION AT BERWICK FOR YOUNG NEWLYWEDS

A very pleasant evening was spent on Monday last when Mr. and Mrs. John Ruddy entertained over 300 guests at a delightfully arranged reception held at the Community Hall, Berwick, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Montcalm.

During the evening, dancing was indulged in by the young people to music furnished by Flynn's orchestra.

A most enjoyable tap dance was given by Miss W. Craig, of Ottawa, and Miss Margaret Rouchard.

Supper was served, after which Mr. Wm. Grady acted as toastmaster. A toast to the young couple was proposed by Mr. George Pollock, reeve of Finch township, and responded to by the groom on behalf of himself and his bride, thanking those present for their numerous beautiful gifts. Other toasts were given by Dr. J. G. McLeod and Gladstone McLean, and the crowd sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

SASKATCHEWAN COUPLE WELCOMED TO HALLVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Struitt of Semans, Saskatchewan, who have recently made their home on the James Higginson farm, near Inkerman, were taken by surprise when a large number of people from the surrounding district gathered to extend to them a hearty welcome.

Rev. Mr. Burman of Inkerman, read an address of welcome, and the guests of honor received many useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Struitt made a fitting reply expressing their deep appreciation. They also told of the drastic conditions in the drought area of Saskatchewan.

Refreshments were served by the ladies.

SMART THINGS for the HOME
from MAPLE LEAF FLOUR BAGS

Get THIS BOOK free

by Anna Lee Scott

You get grand, light, tasty bread with
MAPLE LEAF FLOUR
"Cream of the West"

My, how the loaves do rise so evenly and bake with such a uniform texture. It's because this flour is made from specially selected Canadian hard wheat, scientifically milled to give uniform results. And the flour is regularly tested by Anna Lee Scott, famous authority on cooking.

Maple Leaf Flour goes farther, too. It contains a minimum of moisture. So, when you mix up the dough, the flour absorbs more liquid, and actually makes more loaves per bag of flour. Next time you buy flour, be sure you get Maple Leaf. Made by Maple Leaf Milling Company Limited, Toronto, Winnipeg.

AND what a collection of sewing suggestions this 16-page book contains. Dainty garments for you and the children. Attractive and useful things for bedroom and living room. Over 50 separate items are described and illustrated. You can make them all from the fine grade of cotton used in Maple Leaf Flour bags.

And where patterns are required, just order the patterns or needlework designs you need on the coupon found in each 98 lb. bag of Maple Leaf Flour, and enclose 10c. for each pattern, or 3 for 25c.

The book itself is FREE. Given to you by your Maple Leaf Flour dealer.

A simple bleaching process removes printing from Maple Leaf Flour bags like magic. It's just a matter of minutes. No boiling. Full instructions on the back cover of this FREE book. Get yours now.

CHURCH FIRE CHECKED

Alertness of a passer-by averted destruction by fire of the Presbyterian Church at Dixon's Corners on Saturday. Noticing smoke issuing from under the ridge board of the roof, the person, whose name was not secured, gave an alarm, bringing out the village volunteer brigade. They succeeded in checking the blaze, which started from a defective chimney, before serious damage was caused.

SKY GIRL

By NELLIE GRAF

CHAPTER I.

Elinor Ames adjusted her perky little toque of royal blue tricotine. She would, she reflected, put all her past life behind her. Literally, fly above it. Allow winds aloft to blow away her unhappiness.

Of course she would always love Norm—Dr. Norm Rogers. She closed her eyes a second as she thought of the last time she had been with him. His arms about her, lips pressed together, swept by the ecstasy of love. Love that was tempestuous, powerful and breathlessly dangerous.

Elinor opened her eyes to survey every detail of her neat air stewardess' uniform. She must look perfect her first day at the airport. Norm was gone now. Gone! To his new work in Atlantic City with the famous Dr. Peck.

He had said, "We'll have to postpone our marriage, honey, for a year or two. You see..."

"Your mother wants you to marry Francine Bayless," Elinor had retorted sharply. "Francine has money and social position. I'm just a nobody."

"Elinor, that isn't—"

"It is, Norm. Why, even your sister, Leola, talks about it."

"But you can come with me. Be my nurse until...."

Went Their Separate Ways

"Until love curdles in its own warmth? No. Norm we care too much. It's either marriage now or we go our separate ways."

And they had gone their separate ways. Gone from the hospital where, a few years ago, Elinor had come as a shy wistful girl who wanted to be a nurse. Gone from the place where she had met and loved the popular young interne, who had cheered her through back-breaking days of floor scrubbing and cleaning and had encouraged her through the stark realism of birth, disease and death.

Her thoughts went back to the proud day when she had earned the right to assist in an operation. Dr. Rogers had been the surgeon, smiling at her—calm and comforting — with utmost confidence. The qualms she felt had disappeared like magic. In the vivid light, with the smell of ether in their nostrils, they had worked silently and efficiently.

* * *

It was this same interne, Dr. Norman Rogers, who had been waiting the day she came out of the chapel, holding tight her diploma, quivering with the emotion of living and serving. The words of the kindly old doctor who had delivered the graduation address rang in her ears:

"Never forget, yours is the job to serve and save. There is healing in your very fingers." Elinor had stared at her hands, which had grown larger, but firmer and more capable. Healing in her fingers! It was such a nice thought.

He had also said, and his eyes seemed to be on Elinor then, "Always keep this viewpoint — whatever the day brings forth, be prepared for it."

Looking up, Elinor had seen Dr. Rogers waiting in the hall—waiting to tell her he loved her. Oh, it had been too much happiness. Happiness that gave no inkling of how much she would need to depend upon the old doctor's words.

* * *

Everything was changed now. Norm's father had died and left him to support his mother and Leola. They were used to living on a high scale, and there was very little left of the once ample Rogers' fortune. This had served as excuse for Norm's mother to bring out into the open her desire that he marry Francine Bayless.

Warm-hearted, impulsive, generous Leola had rebelled. She would not go back to that expensive school and she wouldn't allow Norm to support her. She'd get a job. She did not like society anyway, and she would never marry except for love. Certainly Norm had the same right, she had stated.

But Mrs. Rogers was an uncompromising woman, and she had won her point that Norm's marriage to Elinor be postponed. Lately his letters had been fewer and a certain coldness seemed to run through them like the distant rumble of wind before a storm.

"It's that Francine Bayless," Leola had raged, one day when she found Elinor feeling unusually blue. "I'll bet she has told Norm a lot of bunk about you and Jack Newton."

"Jack Newton!" Einor had said in surprise.

"Yes." Leola's eyes had met Elinor's squarely. "Norm thought you were interested in Jack when you nursed him through pneumonia. It isn't every day a person has a chance to meet a handsome young aviator, much less to be with him as a nurse. Why, Norm told me the only man he ever was jealous of was Jack. Francine overheard the remark. She'll capitalize on it somehow."

"But I never thought—"

"You wouldn't." Leola had eyed her contemplatively. "You're so naive. Jack got you your chance to be an air stewardess— then insisted you be on his ship. It looks — well...."

Leola's expressive gesture finished the sentence.

"But Jack and I are— just good friends."

"That goes as far as you're concerned," Leola commented. "But as for Jack—you know I'm in love with him. For a long time he couldn't even see me because of you. And think of Judith Blair! If looks could kill, she would have annihilated you long ago. Jack was her boy-friend before he met you."

"But you and Jack, Leola—you're seeing him now, I—"

"Yes, and he has seemed interested. Now if I can just fan the wavering flame." Leola had hummed a popular tune and taken a few dance steps.

Elinor shook a warning finger at her. "You've got to be more serious than that," she had said to the laughing girl.

Slender, graceful, restless, Leola was only a slip of a girl. Her straight little nose was always held at an impudent angle. Grey eyes sparkled mischievously. Red curls combed in the most ridiculous way the current style allowed. Lips too red. Face too pale from lack of rouge and too much powder. As irresistible as she was daring and lovable.

* * *

Thrill of a New Career

Elinor sighed now as she recalled her conversation with Leola. Judith Blair hadn't been able to kill with looks, but she was always ready to make things unpleasant for Elinor. Judith was also a stewardess, and Elinor wanted to be friendly. But to date Judith had met all her advances with implacable hatred.

Oh, well, no use to continue worrying about Judith! Once again, Elinor surveyed herself in the mirror. It reflected a pretty, petite girl who, to meet the qualifications of an air stewardess, was not over one hundred and twenty pounds in weight; height under five feet four inches, not over twenty-five years old. Even, white teeth added zest to a charming smile.

She glanced at her watch. Time to get to the office of the Chief Stewardess.

For all the heartbreak of her parting from Norm, the new career before Elinor thrilled her. Much as she had, back in the hospital days, looked forward to dedicating herself to the cause of healing, so did she, as she walked toward the chief stewardess' office, dream of some valiant act of rescue high in the air. Another ship in danger among the clouds, herself out on a wing, signaling the way to escape.... It was a bit vague, melodramatic if you will. But Elinor thrilled at the vision.

When she reached the office, Sally Nelson, chief stewardess, was giving a talk on duties and jurisdictions. Sally and Elinor had taken an immediate liking to each other, and Elinor's main ambition now was to become as beloved and efficient a stewardess as Sally.

"You will report for duty Wednesday morning," Sally said to Elinor. "I'll be making the Dallas trip and you can go with me. You will make one or more trips after that before you are sent out alone."

As Elinor walked out of the hangar, she met Judith Blair. The girl's sullen, dark beauty seemed to flame into unspoken hate as they passed.

Short Cuts

Mud In Your Eye

If you are called on to get a speck of dirt out of someone's eye roll the lid on a matchstick and brush the dirt away with the corner of a clean handkerchief.

Table Problem

If you need an extra table in your living room, yet feel that the room would appear crowded, why not consider a tilt top table? They are excellent for games, puzzles, cards, and some may be used for a fire screen, and when not in use, fold back neatly against the wall. A beautifully grained and polished wood is handsome, but if you like a bright dash of color, look at tables with tops showing painted rural scenes or bouquets of splashy flowers.

Keeping Clothes Moist

Try lining the basket in which you put sprinkled clothes with rubber sheeting. It will keep the clothes from drying out too soon—and will take care of the possibility of anything catching on a rough basket.

Soft Floor for Comfort

Don't iron for hours standing on a hard floor. You'll be much more tired when the week's laundry is done than you would be if you stood on a rubber mat, or one made of thick linoleum.

Jewelry Cleaner

A non-abrasive toothpaste applied with a soft toothbrush is an effective jewelry cleaner. Be sure to rinse well with clear water.

SATISFYING The Sweet Tooth

Most of the time when you think of desserts for the family it means simple puddings or fruit but sometimes you feel in the mood for something good and sweet. Chocolate Fudge Drops are one of the best possible answers to that sugar craving. So turn to your cookie jar once in a while for end-of-the-meal sweetness.

These are grand just "as is" with hot coffee for the grown ups or milk for the children. Another use for them is in cookie sandwiches. Spread tart jam over the bottom of one cooky and place another one on top. Or still another use; with cream cheese. A square of cream cheese with a serving knife beside it and two of the little cookies. It makes a simple dessert but served like that it looks like a party.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE DROPS

- 1½ cups sifted cake flour
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
- ¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 egg, unbeaten
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup broken walnut meats

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together well. Add egg and beat throughly; then chocolate and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and nuts. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Use pecan or almond meats instead of walnut meats, or substitute chopped raisins or dates for nuts, if desired. Makes 4 dozen small drops. These little cookies, so quick to mix, have many uses and are favorites with old and young.

For special occasions, spread with Chocolate Orange Frosting, or a fluffy frosting.

CHOCOLATE ORANGE FROSTING

- 4 tablespoons butter
- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 3 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 4 tablespoons orange juice
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Add orange rind to butter. Cream butter well; add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add salt, and chocolate and mix well. Add remaining sugar alternately with orange juice, until of right consistency to spread, beating after each addition until mixture is smooth.

Here is another dessert suggestion on the sweet side,—individual Chocolate Upside Down cakes which call for rich chocolate with apricots. Perhaps you have never tried this unusual combination but you'll find it simply delicious. If possible, bake these in glass, brown earthen or metal cups. Muffin pans can be used but the cakes are harder to remove from pans when these are used.

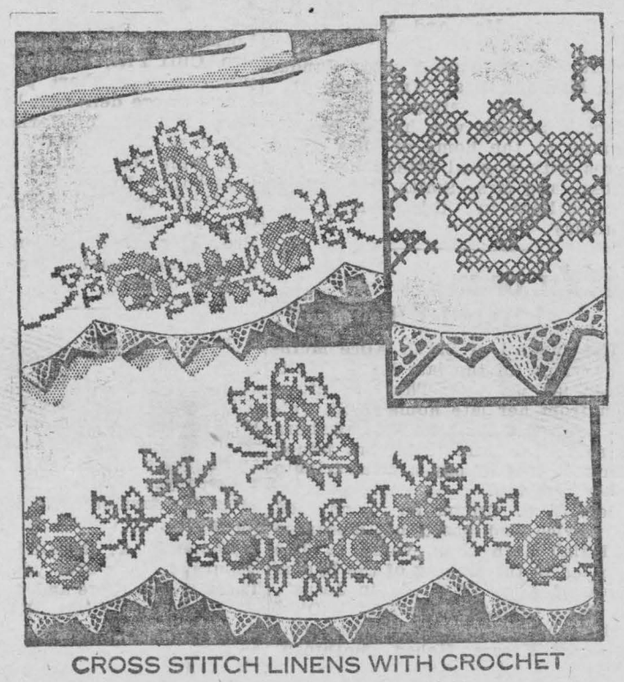

CHOCOLATE UPSIDE DOWN CAKES

- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ½ cup milk
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
- 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Add sugar and mix. Add milk and butter and beat together thoroughly. Add melted chocolate and vanilla.

For topping — Place ½ teaspoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, and 1 apricot in each greased cup-cake pan or custard cup. Add cake batter, fill pans about ½ full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done.

Won't Let Quints Be Guinea Pigs

Time Approaching When Five Little Girls Must Begin to Mingle With Other Children.

Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, medical guardian of the Dionne quintuplets, is looking forward to the time when the five sisters can be "taken from behind glass walls" and permitted to play around with neighbor children, just as less famous boys and girls.

"The time is approaching when the five girls must begin to mingle with other children in order to brush more intimately against life," Dr. Dafoe told an audience of women at Cincinnati, Ohio, last week.

Indifferent to Curious Gaze

"They must be taught to be indifferent to the gaze of the curious, to which they will be subjected as long as they live," he stated.

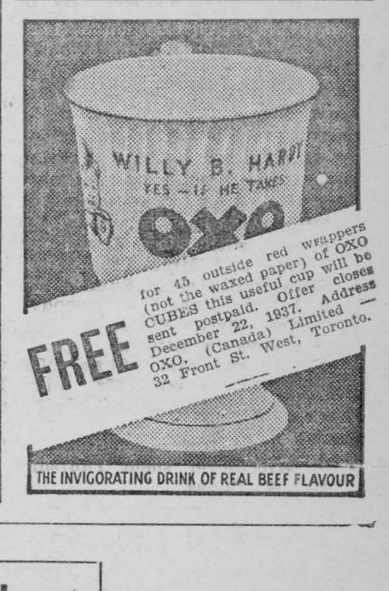

The next problem, said the doctor, is a plan for their education. The girls are receiving pre-kindergarten training under the direction of a private tutor and nurses, he said.

Each a Distinct Individual

"We will not allow them to become scientific guinea pigs," he added. "We try to remember that each of the quintuplets represents a distinct personality."

The country doctor who suddenly became a world figure when he delivered the quintuplets, was in Cincinnati as guest of the woman's exposition.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON X

Christian Rest.—Matthew 11:28-30; Hebrews, Chapter 4:1-11

Golden Text—Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Matthew 11:28.

The Lesson in Its Setting

Time.—Our Lord's words of invitation were uttered in December, A.D. 29. The date of the writing of the epistle to the Hebrews cannot be definitely determined. It must be placed before the fall of Jerusalem, probably about 68 A.D.

Place.—Our Lord's words were uttered in Peraea, east of the Jordan River, opposite Judaea. The place of the writing of the epistle to the Hebrews is disputed.

The late Dr. J. Stuart Holden of St. Paul's, London., says of Matt. 11: 28, 29: "This is perhaps the greatest word of the Evangel. It is majesty set to music for the lightening of overburdened and fevered lives. It is heaven's heart's ease for healing of sinning and sorrowful men. No other of all the gracious words which proceeded from his mouth is consecrated so entirely by the experience of thousands in every age as is this ever-new invitation of the Son of God to the sons of men.

28. Come unto me. There is love in this invitation, and urgency, and a consciousness of ability to meet the needs of those who will come. Come ye that labor and are heavy laden. 'Come unto Me, and I will give you rest!' All ye that are like over-cargoed boats, whose minds are burdened with anxieties and cares, or with the heavy and lumbering traditions of men, who are nigh to being swamped, living in perpetual fear of sumbission, 'Come unto Me, and I will give you rest.'

Rest is that heart harmony with God which qualifies men for life's engagements, for its ceaseless conflict and conquest, for its fruitful toil, and for its noblest and highest purposes. This is what Christ came to effect in men. This is the object of all His work and the interpretation of all His passion.

Invitation to Rest

29. Take my yoke upon you. . . . Christ takes upon Himself the one side of the yoke, and He invites you to come and occupy the empty place beside Him. He is the meek and lowly one. He has been accustomed to the yoke. This is the divine yoke-fellow of whom you are to learn, moving side by side with you, that you may imitate His patient endurance, His meekness and lowliness of spirit.

And learn of me. We are to learn of the Lord Jesus first, by studying the portrait of him as revealed in the Gospels, and then by living the Christlike life, as the Spirit of Christ dwells in us, teaching, strengthening, sanctifying and guiding us. For I am meek and lowly in heart. "The word 'meek' carries the idea of mildness and gentleness and the absence of self-vindication, and retaliation of injury, and so it carries with it the conception of unselfishness. What is it to be lowly in heart? The lowly-minded man is down in a humble sphere, where he is content if he can only serve." And ye shall find rest unto your souls. Here is a promise, but there are specific conditions which must be met before the promise can be fulfilled; we first come to Christ. then we take his yoke upon us, and then we learn of him. When we have done these three things, we shall no longer be seeking rest. We shall have it.

30. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light. "The word rendered 'easy' means agreeable and serviceable. If Christ's yoke ever galls the neck, it is because we do not work steadily in it."

Rest For Christian Believers

1. Let us fear therefore. "It is because we know the Father, it is because we are redeemed by the precious blood of the Saviour, it is as the children of God and as the saints of Christ that we are to pass our earthly pilgrimage in fear. This is not the fear which dreads condemnation, but the fear of those who are saved and whom Christ has made free. Lest haply, a promise being left of entering into his rest, any one of you should seem to have come short of it. 2 For indeed we have had good tidings preached unto us, even as also they: but the word of hearing did not profit them, because it was not united by faith with them that heard. 3. For we who have believed do enter into that rest. Thomas Carlyle, in his life of Schiller, speaks of unrest as "the never failing inmate of every human breast." This is true of everyone outside of the Lord Jesus Christ, but in Christ, if the New Testament teaches anything, it teaches this, that, in believing, we are to have peace and joy. Here is one of the deepest, more precious themes of the word of God, something which cannot be analyzed, but must be entered into by experience.

Even as he hath said, As I sware in my wrath, They shall not enter into my rest. These words are taken from Psalm 95: 11, and they refer to God's words to Israel, especially as regards her entrance into the Promised Land. Had Israel fully followed the explicit instructions of God in the matter of exterminating enemy peoples, Israel would have had a complete rest from the exhausting, taxing, rebellious invasions and uprisings of these pagan peoples. But there is certainly a deeper meaning here in the matter of rest — a rest for the souls of the Israelites, a true resting in God.

Although the works were finished from the foundation of the world. 4. For he hath said somewhere of the seventh day on this wise, And God rested on the seventh day from all his works; 5. And in this place again, They shall not enter into my rest. These quotations are from Gen. 2:2 and Psalms 95:11. The rest of God is the expression of the perfect, divine complacency in the perfect, divine work.

A Special Day

6. Seeing therefore it remaineth that some should enter thereinto, and they to whom the good tidings were before preached failed to enter in because of disobedience. 7. He again defineth a certain day, To-day, saying in David so long a time afterward (even as hath been said before), Today if ye shall hear his voice, harden not your hearts. 8. For if Joshua had given them rest, he would not have spoken afterward of another day. 9. There remaineth therefore a sabbath rest for the people of God. "We are not summoned to the heavy slumber which follows overtaxing toil, nor to inaction or indolence; but to the rest which is possible amid swift activity and strenuous work; it is perfect equilibrium between outgoings and incomings of life; it is a contented heart; it is peace that passeth all understanding, it is the repose of our will in the will of God."

10. For he that is entered into his rest hath himself also rested from his works, as God did from his. 11. Let us therefore give diligence to enter into that rest, that no man fall after the same example of disobedience. "The essence of sin is that sin centres in self instead of God. We try to help ourselves instead of throwing our burden of sin and care and sorrow upon the great Sinbearer and the Man of Sorrows, who was acquainted with grief. Now, when we come to Christ, we abandon all this self-help, and ask Him to be our helper; we abandon all this self-trust and lean on His finished work. We stop laboring to build up our own interests, and we are taken up with the interests of His kingdom. You shall never find rest until you find rest in ceasing from your own works, as God did from His, and entering into the Sabbath of rest that remains for the people of God, in this way."

Every two hours an alarm clock rings in a North London, England bedroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Flewin get out of bed to feed three leopard cubs. Mr. Flewin is head keeper of the London Zoo lion House, and the three cubs are being brought up by hand.

Every night a car takes Mr. Flewin and the cubs to his home. Every morning the car takes them back to the zoo, and every two hours during the night and day an alarm clock sounds the warning that it is time for the cubs—two males and a female —to be fed.

Their mother, Peggy, was lured away from them immediately they were born—she has always eaten her previous litters before they were two days old, and this time the authorities were taking no chances.

Cat Mothers Them

After washing them and putting them on a hot-water bottle in a basket covered with a jersey to prevent them from falling out, Mr. Flewin prepared a special liquid food, sterilized some spoons in boiling water, fed the cubs with a few drops and then set the alarm clock.

The necessity for keeping the cubs warm led to an urgent appeal for a cat. An offer came from a zoo employee and the cubs snuggling up against the cat's warm fur, are no longer suffering from the absence of the mother.

Movie Star Dust Radio

By VIRGINIA DALE

When motion picture producers do wander away from their office desks, they get the most promising ideas for pictures. For instance, it might never have occurred to the head man of the 20th Century-Fox studios to cast Shirley Temple and Sonja Henie in a film together if he hadn't happened to pass the ice rink where Miss Henie practices.

At first he was horror-stricken to find the company's precious child risking her neck trying to learn Sonja's whirlwind capers, but when he saw that she learned them as easily, and safely, as she does tap-dancing routines, he decided that she must do a skating picture with her teacher.

Sonja Henie

At Paramount, the big boss heard loud shrieks of hilarity coming from the portrait photographer's studio, and on investigation found W. C. Fields and John Barrymore clowning as Romeo and Juliet. Right away he was inspired to cast them together in a loony story called "Things Begin to Happen."

Grown-ups may well envy the school children of today who learn their history through such an exciting medium as the R. K. O. motion picture, "Victoria the Great." Filmed in England with Anna Neagle in the role of the queen, this picture was made with the hearty co-operation of government officials, so all the glory of real castles and authentic royal settings makes it a feast for the eyes.

Sixty years of her life are covered in this story, so it is a series of dramatic high spots. And so skillfully has the story been told, it is just the story of a woman's heart, a woman who was wilful and pathetic — with all her regal splendour.

Lanny Ross was all ready to sign a contract to make pictures for M-G-M, when it occurred to him that with Nelson Eddy and Allan Jones already singing on that lot, there wasn't very much room for another singer. So, the shrewd Lanny hustled over to Columbia Pictures' studios and arranged to make pictures for them instead. There he will be sure to get all the good singing roles.

Those folks you hear on Gabriel Heatter's "We, the People," program certainly enjoy the evening of that broadcast. After the first broadcast, Heatter takes the whole troupe of visitors across the street to dinner. Afterward, they return to the studio for the repeat western broadcast.

All the youngsters who were thrilled over Dick Merrill's ocean flights will want to arrive for the first showing and stay all day when 'Atlantic Flight' starring Dick Merrill himself comes to their local theatre. In the picture he is the same engaging, modest, casual young man that he was in the newsreels. And the picture boasts some hair-raising stunt flying.

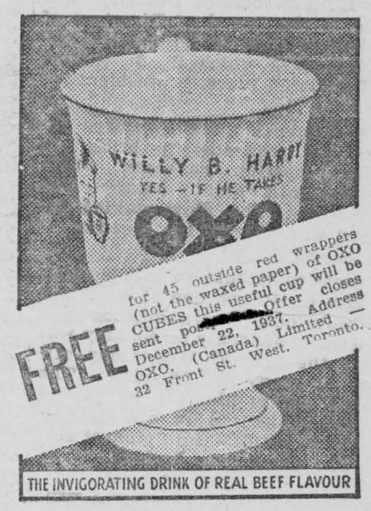

All three of the Lane sisters are now working for Warner Brothers. Priscilla, who with her sister Rosemary, provided many bright moments in Waring's "Varsity Show," will do the same for the next "Gold Diggers" in support of Dick Powell. And Lola, who has been in pictures much longer than her sisters, will be seen in "Hollywood Hotel.

Turning down several coast-to-coast radio programs offered him, Henry Hull, the distinguished stage actor, is going to try motion pictures again. He will play a prominent role in M-G-M's "Marie Antoinette" in support of Norma Shearer. And about the time that picture is ready for the screen, another Marie Antoinette will be competing for attention. Deanna Durbin is going to play the role in a story written around her more tender years.

Norma Shearer

ODDS AND ENDS — Helen Menken long-suffering "Second Wife" of the radio serial is going to make a motion picture for Warners .....Clark Gable weary of being a swaggering, wise-cracking hero wants to play in a tense drama about the fight against yellow fever in the tropics ..... Carole Lombard is wearing a black wig in "Food for Scandal" and she is not sure it is a good idea. Her best friends don't recognize her ..... Bob Hope, radio comedian, is such a hit in first Paramount picture, that he has signed to do more.

Is This Your Birthday?

By A. R. WEIR

What the STARS foretell for those born on December 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, and 9

***

If the date of your birth is listed above, Sagittarius, the ninth sign of the Zodiac, is the sign under which you were born. This gives you a naturally happy, carefree and optimistic disposition. If you err at all it is on the side of hopefulness and optimism. Mix just a bit more concentration and determination with your efforts and you will be one rung higher on the ladder of success.

YOUR OWN BIRTHDATE:

DECEMBER 3—There should be a slow and steady improvement in your financial affairs bringing much more prosperity and happiness. Several long journeys are indicated and you should exercise caution when dealing with strangers as you have a tendency to overdo things.

DECEMBER 4—You are extremely restless and should curb your natural desire to see strange scenes and visit far-off countries. You should receive some important news from a long distance and much travel is indicated. Relatives and friends will help you and you will gain through intellectual people.

DECEMBER 5—Because you are a lover of sport and the open-air, you should walk as much as possible—it is your best tonic. While there are times when you can be irritable, without apparent reason, you have a naturally jovial disposition. You should benefit through some new work in which you are interested and the year is especially good for social matters.

DECEMBER 6—You are inclined to be rebellious by nature. Guard it and allow your philosophical turn of mind to govern. You are happiest when in complete harmony with your surroundings. Some new work will come your way and there will be many long journeys and much excitement and adventure.

DECEMBER 7—You are sincere, happy-go-lucky and just a little bit careless. Many visits to places of amusement are indicated also a removal of residence and a pleasant holiday by water. Love affairs will prosper.

DECEMBER 8—You are quick to grasp the importance of new ideas and to adapt yourself to surroundings. Because of this you should have little difficulty in adjusting yourself to changes which are indicated in your business affairs. A woman will help you in business and you should be careful with correspondence.

DECEMBER 9—Like all Sagittarius people you long to travel, to explore new scenes and to know new people. There will be much more stability in your life and you should benefit by property and elderly people. The coming year will be very good for social and love affairs.

IF YOUR BIRTH DATE IS NOT LISTED ABOVE and you would like your personal Horoscope, or if you wish a complete Horoscope for any date listed above, send 10c (coin preferred) to A. R. Weir, 73 W. Adelaide St., Toronto, Ont. Please print your name, address and BIRTH DATE plainly.

The Women's Institute will meet in the Agricultural office on Monday Dec. 6th at 7.45. Roll call will be answered with Christmas suggestions. It is hoped that everyone will get out and vote on Monday afternoon and elect the woman condidate, Mrs. J. C. Casselman to the board. It is quite obvious from many angles that we should have at least one woman on the Board.

Mrs. W. J. Steele, one of the district's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens of Winchester, was the recipient of many messages of congratulations on Sunday, when, with members of her family present, she celebrated her 89th birthday. In addition to numerous cards, telegrams and telephone calls, all bearing messages of good wishes, many friends called at her home to extend their congratulations personally.

Provincial Patrol Officer Leslie Thropp of Ottawa, has been transferred this week from Highway No. 17, Carleton Place-Ottawa, to Highway No. 31 and will patrol that portion of the highway from Ottawa to Winchester in future. Traffic Officer Eugene Rose of Morrisburg will still keep an eye on No. 2 from Cardinal to Dixon's Landing and that stretch of No. 31 lying between Morrisburg & Winchester. Traffic Officer Thropp took over his new duties on Sunday last.

A baptismal service was conducted at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. A. MacIntosh at Spencerville on Friday evening last when their grandson, Pember Edward MacMillan MacIntosh infant son of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. MacIntosh of Morrisburg, was christened by Rev. W. R. Johnston, B.A. of South Mountain, formerly of Spencerville. Twenty-three relatives were guests, including the great-grandparents of the child, Mr. and Mrs. E. P Foster, of Morrisburg. Mrs. W. R. Johnston of South Mountain also attended. Jordan water was used for the christening, also baptismal water received from the chief of the MacIntosh clan in Scotland, and water from Niagara Falls.

CURLING

At a meeting held in the Curling Rink on Tuesday night the ladies were unanimous in their decision to organize a Ladies Curling Club. The enthusiasm shown by the attendance and the prospects of others interested, it looks as though Morrisburg will have quite a good Ladies Club.

An organization meeting will be held in the Curling Rink on Tuesday, December 7th, at 8.00 p.m. for the election of Officers for the Season 1937-38. All ladies of the community interested are invited to attend.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

Next Sunday evening Rev. R. D. Smith will preach upon the topic: "Is the Bible out of Date." Under this subject he will deal with such headings as— What is the essential genius of the book What Can We Believe about It, Its Inspiration? The Bible is still the world's best seller and yet many people are puzzled about some of these questions. This sermon will be an attempt to answer some of the questions concerning the world's greatest book. In the morning the topic of the sermon will be—"An Old World Spoken with New Earnestness?"

On Tuesday evening Dec. 7th at 6 p.m. there will be a Banquet for men in the Assembly Hall. This is to provide the means for the men of the congregation to get together. An interesting programme is being arranged and all the men of the church are invited.

The Young Peoples Union will meet on Monday. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Leavens. Last Monday under the auspices of the Choir and the Young People over 400 people were thrilled with the very interesting story of the Toll Brothers' trip around the world. The pictures were exceptionally fine and showed that the brothers are artists in photography.

About ten members of the Tuxis Square and Trail Ranger groups attended the conference for boys at Brinston last Saturday. A fine programme was provided and the addresses and discussions should prove a real stimulus to Boys' Work through the county. The Morrisburg Tuxis Square was responsible for the afternoon worship service. Keith Utman took charge. Charles Blancher read the Scripture, Irvine Cochrane led in prayer and played the organ. George Barlow gave a talk on The Measure of a Gentleman.

Preparations are being made for the Christmas season. The Sunday School is practising for its annual Christmas entertainment. The choir also is preparing special music. Christmas Sunday will be observed Dec. 26th but the Christmas theme will be prominent in the service of Dec. 19th.
