Save Against the "rainy day"

The thought of being dependent some day, when illness or old age takes away one's ability to earn, is rightly distasteful to the Canadian mind.

The simplest, surest way to offset this is to open a Savings Account and add something to it every week. Come in and we will gladly explain.

A Handsome Gift

The Chesterville High School received a very handsome and appropriate gift from Mr. W. G. Bolster this week, when he presented a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica together with a book case, making a very welcome addition to the school library.

Will Purchase New Crusher

At a special meeting of the Williamsburg Council it was decided to buy a new stone crusher. After seeing the old crusher in operation the Council were of the opinion it would be poor economy to undertake to run it or to try and get it repaired, therefore the Reeve and J. D. Dain were appointed a committee to examine the different makes of crushers in the vicinity and report to the Council as soon as possible.

Baseball Re-Organization Meeting

On Monday evening, May 10th, at 8. 30 a general public meeting will be held in the Town Hall for the purpose of re-organizing the baseball club for the season of 1920. It is desired that a large turn out of the male population be on hand. If you are not so old that you have forgotten the days when the call "Play Ball" stirred every drop of red blood in you, be on hand Monday. Get behind the boys in the best of all outdoor games. It will do you as much good as it will the young chaps.

William Kearns Died in Montreal

On Thursday, April 22nd, there passed away in Montreal, William Kearns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kearns of Berwick, at the early age of 29 years. In 1918 he suffered a severe attack of influenza causing a sojourn in a Montreal hospital of over six weeks and from which he never regained his usual health, later developing lung trouble. During last summer he sought to regain his health by a stay in the mountains, but all was of no avail. He bore his long illness with exemplary patience. As he neared his last he had a very great desire to see his sister Mary, who was at her home in Berwick. She was quickly sent for but before her arrival he had passed away. He had the comfort of daily visits from his pastor and received the sacrements of his church many times during his illness.

The deceased was well and favorably known in Montreal as he was at his old home in Berwick, having made many friends by his kind and cheerful disposition.

The funeral took place at the Sacred Heart Church, Montreal, where high mass was sung by Rev. Father McGinnis assisted by Father Decosset, the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, and the children of the Convent winding their way to the church with lighted tapers. At the close of the mass Father McGinnis spoke so feelingly of the deceased that those present were very much affected and shed many tears. He trusted that the sorrowing ones would receive strength to bear their trial.

Spiritual bouquets were received from the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, a spray from his sister and brother, a cross from the orphanages. The remains were laid to rest in Cote de Neiges Cemetery on Mount Royal.

There are left to mourn besides a widow, his aged parents at Berwick, six brothers—James, Cavalier, North Dakota; Hugh, Portage la Prairie; Andrew, Norfolk, N.Y.; Thomas, Detroit; Anthony, Guelph; John at home, and two sisters—Miss Teresa, Massena, N. Y., and Miss Mary at Berwick. Sympathy is extended to them in their bereavement.

Don't forget Mother! Order your flowers now from Senn.

Consult Mr. A. E. Bolster, if your case can be helped by the use of lenses, he can do it for you. Free test—day or night every day—at W. G. Bolster's Drug Store Chesterville.

He: "And what is your society for?"
She: "For the prevention of gambling among women."
He: "But that is impossible."
She: "Certainly its not impossible to stop gambling among women."
He: "Oh, gambling! I thought you said gabbing!"—Pearson's Weekly.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Overall Epidemic

According to reports from many towns and cities and even villages in Canada and the United States the craze for wearing overalls by dwellers in those places has become as prevalent, while not so fatal, as the late epidemic of influenza. It is not likely to have much effect in reducing the high cost of living unless the perscription accompanying it is "Each man who dons overalls must raise five bags of potatoes this season" and faithfully followed out.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

May 2nd—1 Samuel 3: 1-21

The Boy Samuel

Golden Text—My son give me thy heart and let thine eyes delight in my ways.—Prov. 23: 26.

Topic—Noble parents and a noble son. In her distress and "bitterness of soul" Hannah took her trouble to God, who heard and granted her prayer. Her thanksgiving was expressed in the beautiful hymn of praise, beginning "My heart rejoiceth in the Lord" and arranged, like all Hebrew poetry, in responsive lines.

Into this pure atmosphere of trust, devotion and rejoicing the little Samuel is born. Through his mother's relationship to God his life was early trained toward truth and holiness.

An old Spanish proverb says "An ounce of mother is worth a pound of clergy". One is not surprised to learn that Lord Byron's mother was proud, ill-tempered and violent, or that Nero's mother was a murderess. We are not astonished to know that Sir Walter Scott's mother was a lover of poetry, that the mothers of men like Wesley, Augustine and Chrysostom were remarkable for their intelligence and goodness. Gladstone, at the early age of nine years was "truly converted to God" through the influence of a godly mother. A child who is surrounded by an atmosphere of Christian love and holiness is likely early to hear the voice of God.

Just as clearly as God called Samuel He calls us to-day; sometimes through the voice of parents or friends warning us of hidden dangers, sometimes through a book inspiring us to nobler lives, sometimes through a sermon revealing truths which lead us to greater freedom. We hear God's voice when He calls a loved one home, we feel His power in the mysteries of Nature all about us, we realize His presence in deliverance from threatened calamities, and we think things will never be the same again; but soon the cares or pleasures of the world are allowed to crowd Him out of our lives,

"God calling yet! and shall I give
No heed, but still in bondage live?
I wait, but He does not forsake,
He calls me still, my heart, awake!"

More untiringly persistent and more effectual than any of these calls is the gentle, persuasive "still, small voice" of the "Love that will not let me go".

"How little worthy of any love thou art!
Whom wilt thou find to love ignoble thee
Save me, save only me?
All which I took from thee I did but take,
Not for thy harms,
But just that thou might'st seek it in my arms
All which thy child's mistake
Fancies is lost, I have stored for thee at home:
Rise, clasp my hand, and come".

What a wonderful change would take place in the world if all the children were trained to listen for the Voice, instead of trying to evade it; if it should become a most unusual thing for a boy or girl to reach the age of fifteen without having surrendered their lives to Samuel's God It is possible for the mothers and fathers in Canada to lend their children to Jehovah even as did Hannah and Elhanah.

O give me Samuel's ear
The open ear, O Lord,
Alive and quick to hear
Each whisper of Thy word,
Like him to answer at Thy call,
And to obey Thee first of all.

O give me Samuel's heart,
A lowly heart, that waits
Where in Thy house Thou art
Or watches at Thy gates
By day and night; a heart that still Moves at the breathing of Thy will.

O give me Samuel's mind
A sweet unmurmuring faith,
Obedient and resigned
To Thee in life and death,
That I may read with childlike eyes
Truths that are hidden from the wise.

J. D. Burns.

Hymn 806 in Presbyterian Book of Praise.

One important way in which parents, Sunday School teachers and all those engaged in any way in the instruction of children, can help towards making Canada what it should be, is to see that children have the Word stored in their minds ready for the day in which their hearts will yearn for the Truth. While the mind is plastic, as in youth, the deepest impressions can be made upon the memory and no better material could be found for this purpose than many of the beautiful passages contained in the Holy Scriptures.

At a pastors' conference held recently in connection with the Inter-church World Movement this need of religious education for the childhood of the nation was considered. One speaker put it in this forcible way; "The Bible is the dynamic feature in the life of the childhood of America and the defects in the national policy ot religious education by the churches, the neglect of an adequate educational system by individual denominations and churches among their boyhood and girlhood, is one of the paramount deficiencies of the churches of America to-day."

Let the children of Canada be taught through the Book of the Lord to know and revere the Lord of the Book.

Safety First is Best

The next time, and every time. yon are about to cross a track, just say to yourself "ten seconds for safety." Then slow down so you can stop if necessary, a safe distance before reaching the track, and look and listen. That's all that's ordinarily necessary. and it won't take more than ten seconds of your time whether you are driving a horse, an automobile or a motorcycle, and if you are walking it won't take any time. Just a glance in each direction as you near the tracks will insure your safety.

Identified

"This," smiled the fond young wife, as she passed a plate of pudding to her husband, "is cottage pudding. I made it myself."

The husband tasted it.

"I'd have known it was cottage pudding," he returned.

"Would you?" she asked, delighted.

"Yes; I can taste the plaster and the wallpaper."

Loving Your Mother

A group of little girls were telling each other of the love each felt for her mother, and as the testimony went on, the strength of the statements grew, each child feeling obliged to surpass her mates. Finally, one said, positively:

"I love my mother so much, I would die for her!"

The impression of this declaration subdued the circle. The climax had been reached. What more could anyone say? But a lady sitting near, had overheard the conversation, and seized the moment of silence to make a quiet little remark:

"It seems very strange to me," she said, "that a little girl who loves her mother enough to die for her, doesn't love her enough to wash dishes for her."

PAINT—It's Like Bread; there is as much in the making as from what it is made

Take two women—your wife and your neighbor's, for example. They both use the same flour and yeast. Both bake bread in the same kind of oven for the same length of time.

Your wife's bread invariably turns out best. Why is it? It's in the making—her way of making it.

It's exactly the same with paint. The list of materials from which it is made is only half the story—hardly that.

Painters and home owners have learned that the difference in its making is one of the big things that makes Lowe Brothers High Standard the dependable paint it is.

This also has much to do with its lastingness. It is one of the main reasons for its splendid covering qualities—for its economical spreading properties.

We recommend this good paint to you because we know it will give you satisfactory service.

DRESS BY W. H. CASSELMAN

our municipality, the price required of us, beginning with the 1st of May, 1919, is $76 per H. P.

More than that,—Toronto, is a profligate user of electric energy. The Conservation Commission of Canada in its 10th Annual Report, (quoting J. M. Robertson, writing in the May issue, 1918, of the Journal of the Engineering Institute of Canada) says—That the City of New York uses 255 K. W. H. per head of population, yearly; Boston, 350 K. W. H.; Cleveland, 400; Pittsburgh, 500; Buffalo, 586; while Toronto uses 700 K. W. H. per head of population, yearly.

Now, sir, I maintain that cheap power to large centres, expensive power to smaller centres and none at all to the farmers, tends to the concentration of industry and population and wealth and a consequent and inevitable depolutation of rural districts. And where you have concentration of industry and population, you have your housing problems, your inter-urban transportation problems, your social and sanitary slums problems and many other vexed problems which demand solution at the hands of civic government.

A remedy for all these would be public ownership of all power, its development by Government and its administration on a flat-rate basis to all urban communities, and, where practicable, throughout rural districts as well. By this means industry would be attracted to smaller towns, where housing and other problems would be less acute, and this would be an advantage to all classes. It would relieve the larger cities of many of their difficulties It would cause increased prosperity in the smaller centres. It would benefit labour by providing cheaper living conditions and it would reflect beneficently upon agriculture, and, after all is said and done, Ontario is essentially an agricultural province, and it is the first duty of any people to preserve, to promote and to protect the interests of their basic industry. A country must live and pay its debts through its exports, and agriculture not only feeds our people and furnishes the bulk of our exports, but it supplies the chief market for Canada's manufactured wares as well.

Now, sir, when we have succeeded in bringing into realization the improvements I have suggested, when we have provided an educational system which will educate our boys and girls for, and not from the farm, when we have facilitated social intercourse and developed a community spirit in rural districts, when we have lighted farm homes and township roads by electricity, when we have done what we can to encourage horticulture in the townships, when we have completed the Biggs' Program of Road-building, then will the Honourable, the member for Grenville, be able to travel over those good roads across an Ontario rendered beautiful through the activities of rural horticulturtsts, either to Montreal or to Kenora at will. And, incidentally, we will have taken a long step towards stemming the tide of internal migration toward the industrial centres and turning it back to the land. Economic conditions in this province have been of such a character that the best boys and girls have been lured from the uninviting prospect of farm-life to the white lights of large industrial centres, and a lop-sided social and industrial condition has ensued. Fifty years ago about seventy-five per cent. of the population of this province lived upon the farms, today about sixty per cent live in the villages, towns and cities, and this in a province whose basic industry is agriculture, and a province where the measure of the prosperity of all classes is gauged by the measure of prosperity enjoyed by the farmers. To-day the farms of Ontario are sadly undermanned, and agriculture is thereby so handicapped that it is no longer possible to maintain the volume of agricultural production necessary to keep down the cost of living. This is not a "back to the land" cry. We do not want town and city folk on the land, for they would only clutter things up, and be in the way. God knows, many of them are a sufficient burden where they are; but we do want to hold our own boys and girls on the land, and if we can do this in due course, the natural increase will re-populate the land with useful folk.

I do not wish to be misunderstood. I am not antagonistic to urban dwellers. I realize that prosperous villages, towns and cities are just as necessary to agriculture as agriculture is to them. We are inter-dependent and our interests are harmonious.

But, Mr. Speaker, I desire to emphasize the idea that "prosperity for farmers means prosperity for all". If we can increase the buying powers of farmers, we automatically benefit all classes. The farmers, emulating their urban cousins are fast becoming good spenders, they are buying manufactured articles of all kinds to the limit of their ability, and so an increased buying power among the farmers will reflect beneficiently upon all classes in the province, upon labour and industry, upon banking and commercial institutions, upon railway and steamship companies, upon all lines of human endeavour, from the lowest up to the very highest, even to those members of the learned professions, whose God-given prerogative it has been to grace our legislative halls with their presence and to shed upon our deliberations the light of their superior wisdom—the lawyers—for, when a lawyer is called upon to close up the estate of a deceased poor man, in collecting his fees he may take but little if he takes it all; but, when he has the opportunity to close up the estate of a deceased rich man, he may take much and still leave a little.

We have in this province millions of acres of fertile farm lands, which only await the application of scientific methods of intensive farming to produce food products sufficient, not only to feed the coming millions of Ontario,—but sufficient also to help to feed millions in other lands. We have great lakes and inland seas and rapid water courses, many of which are still busy with fur bearing life, and swarming with shoals of valuable fishes. In this great inland sea and rapid water courses, there is potential electric energy unequaled on earth, which only requires to be harnessed for the needs of man to light and heat millions of Ontario homes, to drive our farm machinery and to furnish motive power for the many industrial establishments which will some day dot the length and breadth of this favoured province. We have ranges of hills which are literally bursting with mineral wealth and great plains which, despite wasteful methods and the ravages of fire, are still covered with forests, which under wise forestration methods could be maintained in perpetuity; representing a wealth of mineral, and wood resources which when converted into manufactured articles will be sufficient, not only to minister to the needs and comforts of the coming millions of Ontario, but will be sufficient also to vastly augment the volume of the trade and commerce of the world.

This, Mr. Speaker, is truly a glorious heritage, and I ask this Assembly, are we willing to prove ourselves worthy of such a heritage by sinking our petty differences and labouring harmoniously for the attainment of some adequate measure of our industrial and social possibilities? We may not see eye to eye as to method, but, if we are worthy of citizenship in this province, if we are going to prove worthy of the best traditions of Ontario's legislative assemblies then we will be united at least as to purpose, and that purpose—the protection and promotion of the best and lasting interests of all classes in this land.

Alternative Course in Rural Schools

A more practical "alternative" course for pupils in the rural Public schools who do not intend to go on to High School has been planned by Mr. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education. The old course for entrance to the High Schools, even with the retention of Latin, which the Minister favors, will continue. The new one will deal almost entirely with agricultural education, and will, it is thought, go much further in equipping the student for earning his living and promoting intelligent citizenship. The change is far reaching in view of the fact that 93 per cent. ot the rural scholars never attend High School.

"Of course, I don't know," began the sarcastic boarder, "but it strikes me this chicken—" "Now, what's the matter with the chicken?" snapped the landlady. "Oh, nothing," answered the lodger; "only it is evidently the offspring of a hard-boiled egg."

Rabbits are as Profitable as Poultry

Rabbits are valuable for their meat and for their fur. Their flesh is wholesome and tender and, when properly cooked, it is difficult to distinguish it from chicken. Not only are their pelts dyed to imitate more expensive skins, but those derived from some of the more handsome breeds are used in their natural colour. Rabbit fur is moreover, extensively employed in the manufacture of hatters' felt.

In northern France and Belgium, rabbits are as commonly kept on farms as poultry. It is therefore, only natural that several of the best utility breeds should have been developed in that part of the world. Enormous quantities of rabbits are consumed every year in England; indeed, the home supply has to be greatly supplemented by imports from Australia.

In cities, pigs are objectionable because they are malodorous and chickens because they are noisy; rabbits are clean and quiet, as well as easily kept. True, they will not devour the house garbage in any considerable quantity, nor is it good for them, yet they can be cheaply fed. They will eat many weeds, such as dandelions, couch grass, shepherd's purse, vetches and plantain. From the table they can be given the leavings of cereals, cooked potatoes and milk. But their staple diet should be hay, wheat or oat straw, clover and carrots.

Rabbit hutches should be divided into a sleeping chamber, which should be tight and free from draughts, and a more open space, protected by wire netting. A small hutch may have a floor space 6 feet by 2 feet and the floor should be raised off the ground. For larger rabbitries, courts are used; these may be either paved or grass courts surrounded by a fence sunk deeply enough into the ground to prevent the animals burrowing out.

Boys and girls generally take an interest in feeding and caring for these animals. Work of this kind would have an educational value and would have the further merit of enlisting the sympathies of the younger generation in the campaign for greater production. Rabbit-rearing on a more extensive scale can also be made a profitable occupation for adults.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Hall's Catarrh Cure was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Catarrh is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions. Send for testimonials free.

Value Your Time

Big factories don't pay men to do the work machines will do. They make money by using modern machinery and modern methods.

Farmers who make money use modern methods, too. You shouldn't use hand-power for work a gasoline engine will do.

Get a Toronto Farm Engine. All those jobs that weary you now will become merely incidents in the day's work. Milking, separating, churning, sawing, grinding, sharpening tools, mixing cement, shelling corn, filling your silo—you can do these things quickly and economically.

Toronto Farm Engines are honestly built. Sturdy and simple, they need little attention. Run on gasoline or kerosene.

You can save money, time and trouble by using a Toronto Grain Grinder. Gives you big mill service right on your own farm, at small cost.

Toronto Saws solve the fuel problem on the farm. Utilize the waste wood on your farm.

In Memoriam

In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Dan Empey, who departed this life April 2nd, 1919.

Oft we think of you dear mother,
And our hearts are filled with pain;
Oh, this earth would be a Heaven,
Could we but hear your voice again.

Just one year ago you left us,
How we miss your smiling face
And you left us to remember
None on earth can fill your place.

Mysteries of Lighting

A compiler of curious incidents offers the following concerning some of the actions of lightning;

Whenever lightning strikes money there is a possibility of the coins being transformed by the mysterious fluid.

An instance of this kind occurred at Nantes some years ago. A man was walking along the street when suddenly he was enveloped in lightning, yet remained uninjured. On arriving home, however, he was amazed to find that a gold piece had vanished from his purse, and in its place was substituted a silver piece. The lightning had, in fact, penetrated the leather of the purse and covered the gold piece with a coating of silver taken from two other coins.

Lightning frequently acts the robber with foodstuffs, and some extraordinary happenings have been recorded from time to time. On one occasion a party of tourists were preparing dinner when suddenly and without warning a storm arose, followed immediately by vivid flashes of lightning. A few seconds later not a trace of the prepared meal was to be seen. The dishes were strewn on the ground, but all the bread, cheese and fruit had vanished, while the bewildered tourists were covered from head to foot with straw.

A man was once struck by lightning and carried a distance of 150 feet without being in the least conscious that anything unusual had happened until he was flung up against a wall and received a slight bruise on the knee.

On another occasion a party of soldiers were caught in a storm and sought refuge under a tree. All of them were struck by lightning and killed. Though dead, they maintained an erect position, but their bodies, when touched, crumbled to dust.

Walt Mason on the Dairy Cow

The dairy cow's a thing of charm; she lifts the mortgage from the farm, and makes the farmer's life more sweet, and sets him down on easy street. Where'er the dairy cow is queen, a country prosperous is seen, and dairymen, in joyful ranks, are packing bullion to the banks. Why plug along the old sad way, producing nutmegs, corn and hay, and putting up a bankrupt wail if one year's crop should chance to fail? There is a better method now—the method of the dairy cow; this critter always earns her keep, and piles up riches while you sleep and pays the taxes and the rents; and here in Canada, gents, we have the climate and the feed, and all conditions dairies need, so let us boost the dairy cow, which beats the old breech-loading plow; the Holstein and the Jersey, too, as smooth as any cow in view. Let's talk up dairies, milk and cream, the safest money-m[illegible] scheme.

Bow-legged Men Best Husbands

Bow-legged men make the best husbands, while the worst life mate in all the world is the baldheaded male, according to Mrs. Amsterdam Schmidt, of the Bronx, who writes to a local newspaper boasting of the fact that she walked up the centre aisle to the altar with three specimens of the opposite sex. Mrs. Schmidt adds that barbers make simply awful life companions. Mrs. Schmidt declares with a sting that the man who first won her hand in marriage was a "bum", who, she said, when not idly playing the banjo during the day, "was never working, shooting craps and getting drunk".

"In the first place", says Mrs. Schmidt in her verbal barrage, "baldheaded men fly around with other men's wives, bust up happy homes and leave a string of broken hearts in their wake, the scoundrels.

"All worthless, foolish women are crazy over worthless, shiftless, baldheaded men: believe me, they are a good match", she continued. "My second venture was a baldheaded man, and although the insurance was small, thank God he has gone to a place where he belongs".

"Ah, the bow-legged man", writes Mrs. Schmidt in her letter, and it is evident she heaved a deep sigh at this point, for the pen ran across the length of the page ended with a blot.

"They make the finest hubbies in all the universe. They are the best and most loving life mates. My third has bow-legs. God bless him; he is an angel, a perfect saint, but by no means a perfect 36. Girls, take my advice and only say 'yes' to the eternal question when the suitor for your hand in marriage has legs that would not stop a pig in an alley".

Incubation and Brooding of Chicks

(Experimental Farms Note-)

Which is it to be, hens or incubators? If less than 100 chicks are to be hatched it is not generally considered advisable to buy an incubator, but if more than that number are wanted it is almost a necessity to have an incubator. If hens are used, select only birds that appear to be determined to set and are not clumsy or nervous on the nest. Do not allow hens in the same pen with setters. Be sure that your hen is perfectly free from all vermin and see that she has a supply of fresh water and some whole grain every day.

If artificial methods are used, a well ventilated cellar with a fairly even temperature makes a suitable location for the incubator. Buy a well-made machine of a well tested make. Study the general directions sent with each machine and have it started several days before trusting the eggs to it.

when it leaves the shell has a sufficient supply of nourishment to last it for several days. Feed small quantities at a time and often during the first two weeks. Dry breadcrumbs slightly moistened with milk, rolled oats, pinhead oatmeal and finely cracked mixed grains may be allowed but all changes should be made gradually. Give them plenty of green food and place grit, water or sour milk where the chicks will have free access to it. Self feeding hoppers containing cracked grains and dry mash are the best means of feeding the growing stock while on a good grass range. J. D. Lang, Poultryman, Lennoxville Experimental Farm.

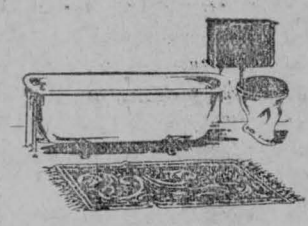
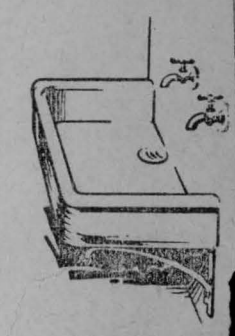
City Conveniences
for the Farm



A Toronto Windmill makes it possible to enjoy on the farm, the city's greatest convenience—running water. With a Toronto double-gear Windmill supplying power and a Toronto Pump and Water System you can have water from taps in the stables—anywhere in the barn. In the house it is possible to have a hot water tank, supplying hot water to the bathroom, also made possible by the Toronto Windmill and Toronto Pump and Water Service.



Write to-day for our free booklets, telling all about these farm necessities. Once installed you will wonder how you ever did without a Toronto Windmill and accessories.

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

Dwelling Destroyed at Russell

Last week the brick residence of Mr. David Kinkade two miles south of Russell together with the contents was destroyed by fire. Mr Kinkade was burning a pile of rubbish and supposed a spark was blown into the wood shed when noticed it had made such headway that nothing could be done, a new automobile which had been delivered a day previous to the fire was saved, but the top and cushions were destroyed and the paint damaged, the loss is estimated at $8000, with Insurance of only $600.

Flies!

Flies breed in filth, feed upon filth and carry disease.

Flies may carry upon body and legs the germs of typhoid fever, tuberculosis, pneumonia and many other diseases.

Flies crawl over garbage, wade through sewage and filth and go swimming in the gutter. These same flies the next hour crawl over your cake, wade through your soup and take a bath in your milk; you eat and drink the dirt and germs that these impudent pests wash from their dirty feet.

A fly in the home is as much to be feared as a rattlesnake; the rattlesnake gives warning; the fly does his deadly work quietly.

All food should be carefully screened so that flies cannot crawl over it

Windows should be screened so that flies cannot enter the home and sow the seeds of disease and death.

Flies are enemies of babyhood and we should kill flies in order to help conserve human lives.

Premises should be kept clean so that flies will not find breeding places.

Garbage pails should be kept covered.

The health and recreation clubs should be the first groups of boys and girls to fight flies as soon as these dangerous pests arrive in the spring.

The school nurses will talk to the pupils about flies and how they spread disease; and the teachers will help to enroll a great army of boys and girls in the battle against the dirty, dangerous, disease-spreading fly.

One fly killed early in the spring will mean several million less flies by summer time.—The Metropolitan.

He Got the Pin

A St. Mary's man, the Journal says, who believes in the old saying, "See a pin and pick it up, and that day you'll have good luck," saw a safety-pin on the sidewalk in front of the Windsor Hotel the other day. Bending down to get it, his hat tumbled off and fell in the gutter, his eye-glasses fell and broke on the pavement, his suspenders gave way behind, he broke the buttonhole on the back of his shirt-collar, and he all but lost his new front teeth. But he got the pin.

Judging

"Woman is certainly becoming very athletic", said the observant man at Palm Beach. "Why, I could pick out several good football teams from among these lovely girls here, judging, that is to say—"

And the observant man laughed roguishly.

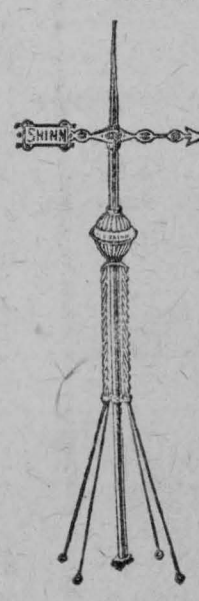
—"judging from the number of splendid backs and halfbacks in view".

Shinn-Flat

Lightning Rods
Prevent Lightning Losses

WHEN your buildings are protected with Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods, you may be absolutely sure that they're safe from Lightning damage Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods are the only kind made in the form of a flat cable—which has 36% more conducting surface for electricity than the same amount of material made into a round cable.

Lightning Can't Strike if Shinn Gets There First!



Shinn-Flat prevents the accumulation of electricity in the building, by permitting it to gradually pass from the heavily charged ground and building into the atmosphere above.

Bonded to Protect

A large Bonding Company issues a Surety Bond to the owner of every building we protect, guaranteeing that Lightning will not damage.

W. H. DAY

Professor of Physics at the Ontario Agricultural College for many years, and Canada's recognized authority on Lightning Protection is now Manager of the Shinn Mfg. Co., and assists in training Shinn Dealers thus insuring correct installation.

Dodge Bros.' Motor Cars
Touring and Roadster $2050 F.O.B. Brockville

As long as they build motor cars they will be the best motor cars Dodge Brothers can build.

As long as the name is attached to their motor car, Dodge Brothers may be depended upon to safeguard and protect it.

The name has come to suggest integrity—integrity in the car, and integrity in manufacturing and business methods of the men who build it.

The first thought that follows, wherever it is seen, is the thought of a car that is reliable.

They call up a picture of a particular kind of a motor car.

Or, to be exact, a particular kind of motor car workmanship, which people have come to associate with the name Dodge Brothers.

It has grown because the users of these cars have given Dodge Brothers a good name as careful, conscientious manufacturers.

The result is that wherever these two words—Dodge Brothers—are seen, they stand as a symbol of exceptional motor car value.

The Potato Crop

(Experimental Farms Note)

The potato is one of our most important food crops, and yet it is one that very often does not receive the attention it should. It is the practice of many farmers to leave the planting of potatoes until practically all other crops are in. With the exception of, perhaps, some parts of the Maritime Provinces this late planting means a much smaller yield than there would be if the planting were done before the middle or by the middle of May. By the end of May or beginning of June the seed potatoes have sprouted so much that when these are broken off at planting time the new shoots will not come on with the same vigour as they did early in the season. Furthermore it is important for the potato to get a good root system before the hot weather sets in.

It is of the greatest importance to use good seed. Two lots of seed of the same variety which look very much alike may give a difference of three hundred or more bushels per acre in the crop, as has been shown in experiments at the Experimeutal Farm, Ottawa. In 1919 for instance, one lot of Irish Cobbler yielded at the rate of 378 bushels per acre and another 37 bushels per acre. The best Green Mountain stock yielded 330 bushels per acre and one of the poorest 46 bushels per acre.

If possible, one should know where the seed was grown the previous year that he is about to use. If it came from a crop, the plants of which grew vigorously until cut down by frost, then, if free from disease, it will, as a rule, yield a much better crop than if it is from a crop the plants of which withered in the middle of summer and the tubers lay in hot soil the rest of the season. This year when the price of potatoes is so high there will be a temptation to use small potatoes for seed. If these small potatoes come from a good crop the previous year the results are likely to be satisfactory if the season is favourable, but if they are from a small crop the previous year when the plants dried up early the plants this year are likely to be weak and the yield not very good. Good sized sets of from one and a half to two ounces have been found the most satisfactory taking one year with another, although if the season is particularly favourable smaller sets will produce a good crop, but one cannot tell what the season will be, hence it is better to be on the safe side.

The distance of planting which has been found most economical in most places in Canada is, rows two and a half to three feet apart and sets twelve to fourteen inches apart in the rows. While quite shallow planting has given the highest average yields at Ottawa, it is necessary to plant about four inches deep for field culture to enable one to harrow before the potatoes are up without pulling up the sets.

The varieties which have been most generally satisfactory in Canada are Irish Cobbler as an early potato and Green Mountain as a main crop or later variety. Other varieties which cannot be distinguished from Green Mountain and are included in the Green Mountain group are Gold Coin, Uncle Sam, Wee MacGregor and Delaware. The Dooley of the Rural group has done well in the warmer parts of Ontario, and in coast climates Burbank is also popular.—W.T Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist.

Salt in Live Stock Rations

(Experimental Farms Note)

Common salt (sodium chloride) plays an important part in the diet of most classes of farm animals. This will be better appreciated if we stop to consider that, of the minerals in the fluids of the body, salt is present in the largest amount. Salt does not contribute directly to the energy of the body as does the food consumed, but nevertheless it is necessary in the proper nutrition of the body. Besides its physiological action salt serves as an appetizer and increases the palatability of many foods. It also stimulates the secretion of digestive juices, promotes good circulation of the fluids of the body and prevents digestive disturbances.

Of the common classes of farm animals, namely horses, cattle, sheep and swine, the latter have the last need of salt. This in all probability due to the difference in diet, that of swine usually consisting largely of grain whereas other classes consume large quantities of roughage in which less salt is found. Too large quantities of salt derange the stomach and bowels of swine causing gases, diarrhoea, convulsions and paralysis, often resulting in death. Nevertheless pigs should have access to salt, the best means of providing it being to keep before them at all times, in a covered receptable if outdoors, a mixture of salt, charcoal, airslaked lime, bone-meal and wood ashes or soft coal cinders.

For sheep salt is very necessary. Keeping it before them at all times is here again the most advisable course for an irregular supply induces scouring. The salt tends to keep the sheep in a good state of health and they are better able to ward off attacks of disease or internal parasites. Furthermore, sheep fed plenty of salt shear a better quality and heavier fleece than do those receiving no salt.

In the case of cows owing to their much larger size and the fact that they are giving daily large amounts of milk which contains considerable salt, a heavier ration of salt is needed. For cows being fed in the stable up to 2.5 ounces per day is recommended. While cows giving a heavy flow of milk require an abundance of salt, at the same time dry, pregnant cows should not be overlooked as their requirements are even greater. Cattle on pasture usually require less salt than those indoors and the amount necessary varies with the nature of the soil and vegetation. On this account it is advisable to have a supply before them at all times. Either rock salt or ground salt may be used but in either case it should be placed in a receptacle in which it will be sheltered from the rain or much of it will be lost. Young growing animals usually require a larger percentage of salt than do mature animals.

Horses are no exception in the matter of salt requirement. Here again it should be regularly supplied. A cake of rock salt in the corner of the manger where the horse can get it at will is the best means of provision. Horses at heavy work require more than those that are idle or at light work. An allowance of 2 ounces per day is generally recommended.

Performance by Holsteins of Ontario Herd Unequalled in the World

The Holstein-Freisian cow, Johanna Jemima Posch, owned by Mr. W. C. Houck Chippawa, Ont., has recently completed her year in the Record of Performance test with over 26,400 pounds of milk and 1,215 pounds of butter. She is due to freshen again in about thirteen months from the commencement of the test so will easily qualify under the fifteen months calving requirement. The butter record of Johanna Jemima Posch is the second largest ever made in Canada and is exceeded only by that of her dam, Jemima Johanna of Riverside, viz: 1,280 pounds of butter from 30,373 pounds of milk.

It is doubtful if any dam and daughter in the world ever surpassed this pair in the production of milk and butter and it is certain that none ever equalled them in a test with sich stringent calving requirements as the Record of Performances. In addition to being great producers, these cows are big straight typy animals, the dam weighing 2000 pounds and the daughter only a little less. They were bred and developed here in Canada and both the country and Mr. Houck have every reason to feel proud of them.

Such Impertinence

"They had the impertinence at the bank this morning to say I was over drawn and must deposit $300".

"And what did you do then".

"I told them if they were going to adopt that kind of attitude I should withdraw my account".

A Wise Precaution

A country minister was driving a spirited horse through a village in the wide territory through which his duties took him, when he overtook the local physician, who happended to be on foot.

"Jump in, doctor!" he said, pulling up "I've got a horse here that goes pretty well."

The doctor jumped in, and the minister drove off. Within ten minutes the horse had bolted, tipped over the carriage and spilled both the men.

The doctor jumped to his feet and felt himself over to see whether he was injured. "Look here," he exclaimed, "what do you mean by inviting me to ride behind an animal like that?"

"Well," gasped the minister, "luckily this time there's no bones broken; but I always like to have a doctor with me when I drive that horse."—Exchange.
