Advanced hydraulic system allows simultaneous hydraulic functions without the loss of power or speed, and offers increased flow for improved digging and cycle performance. Hydraulically dampened drive levers and pedals ensure precise handling for total control. High-output, high-torque engines supply extra power where and when it's needed. Standard auxiliary hydraulics powers a variety of attachments – hydraulic hammers, earth augers, etc.

INNOVATIVE BUILDING PRODUCTS

What are Insulating Concrete Forms (ICFs)?

Insulated Concrete Forms (or ICFs) are forms or molds that have built-in insulation for accepting reinforced concrete. The first patent application for an ICF was registered in the late 1960s. Since then, and particularly in the last four years, ICFs have been fast becoming the mainstream preferred building product worldwide for all of the right reasons. These large, hollow blocks are stacked right off of the truck and filled with reinforcing bar and concrete. The end result leaves you with a high-performing wall that is structurally sound, insulated, strapped, has a vapor barrier and is ready to accept final exterior and interior finishes.

NUDURA™ INTEGRATED BUILDING TECHNOLOGY Building Value.

Superior products, superior results

NUDURA's undeniable attention to innovative, quality building products makes them an industry leader in ICF technology. Turn to NUDURA when you need solutions for challenging designs; when durability and strength are important considerations; and to improve cost efficiency on a job. A NUDURA building provides greater energy efficiency, sound and fire resistance and overall comfort. We take pride in our superior products so that you can take pride in the superior results that they produce.
