Dr. W. A. Taylor New Reeve Osgoode Twp.

DR. W. A. TAYLOR

Dawson Browlee polled 458 votes. He was followed by James Lee with 395, Milton Jeacle 312 and Mrs. Grace Gough with 208.

Don Christie Named Manager Comm'ty Centre

Gerald Helmer, co-chairman of the Winchester Community Centre Board, announced this week that Don Christie had been hired as the new manager-caretaker of the Community Centre.

Mr. Christie's duties will start within the week and if cold weather continues there is every hope of having skating and free hockey for the Christmas vacation period.

Flooding cannot start at the Community Centre until the Santa Claus visit is completed this Saturday, it was explained.

Expect 1500 Youngsters At Community Centre

Santa Claus makes his annual pre-Christmas visit to Winchester this year. From all reports he will be escorted through the streets of the town to the Community Centre by the biggest Santa Claus parade ever staged in any district town.

According to Chief G. B. Raistrick, who is in charge of the parade, Santa should arrive at the Community Centre about two o'clock Saturday afternoon. He is expected to arrive about 1.30 near the High School where the big parade will form. Chief Raistrick says there are a lot of surprises in thisi year's parade plus colourful floats, new cars, trucks, fire engine, several clowns, a highland lassie plus Santa Claus.

Latest word has it that Mrs. Santa Claus is again expected to accompany her famous husband to Winchester this Saturday.

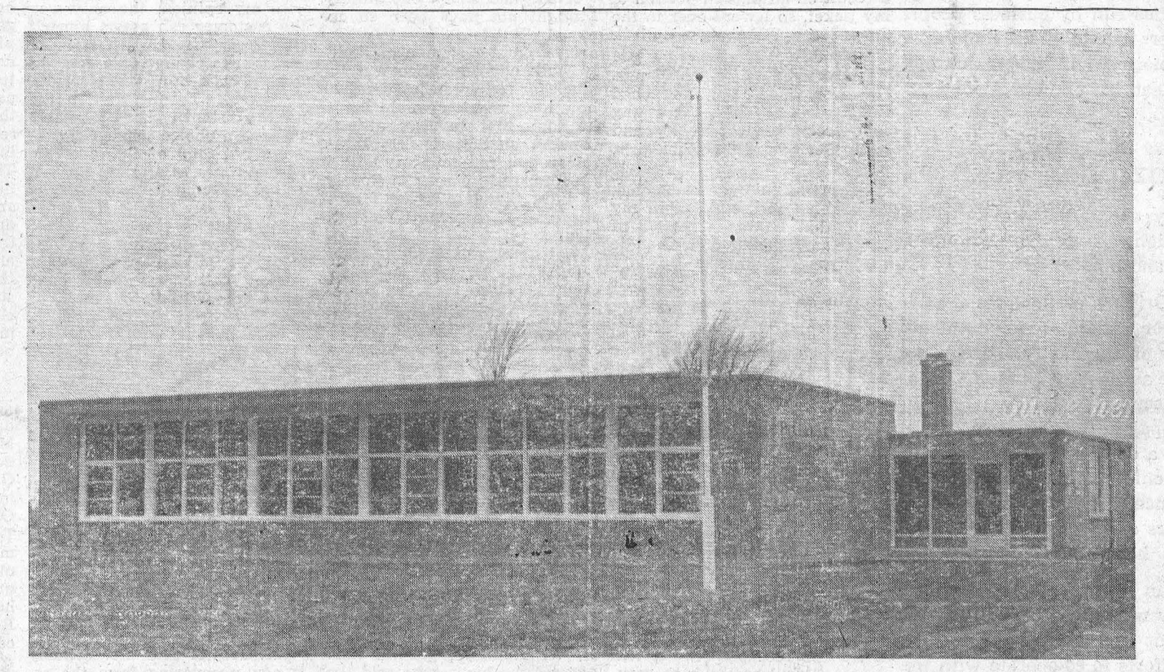
Chamber of Commerce officials, who will be assisted by 100 Club and Legion members at the Community Centre, expect an all-time record crowd of 1500 children from Winchester and district.

A spokesman for the businessmen said Winchester stores this year have the biggest variety of Christmas gifts ever and extend a cordial invitation to all visitors to drop in this Saturday where no doubt many gift problems could be remedied.

The parade will start at the school, proceed north on St. Lawrence Street, turn west on Church, right on Louise and go east on Main Street to the Town Hall. From there it will proceed north on Centre Street and enter the Community Centre from the east on Gordon Street. Motorists are asked not to park on this street on Saturday afternoon.

It is hoped that parents will make every effort to have their youngsters out to see Santa Claus this Saturday.

In the meantime, committees of the Chamber are completing town decorations, and business places are following suit. In the next week most home owners wil have their premises "lit up" and it is expected that Winchester Christmas decorations this year will come up to the high standard reached in 1957.



New Inkerman Public School

Inkerman's new three-room Public School, shown above, is now open for classes to the 86 pupils attending school in that community. Official opening of the new building has been delayed until January, Stan. Baldwin, chairman of Mountain Township Area Public School Board told The Press this week. Story and full particulars of new school may be found on Page 8 of this issue.—(Photo by Daykin).

Council Decides In Favour Of Sewer Survey

By resolution of Council a survey for a sewerage system in Winchester will be made by J. T. Richards, Associate Engineers of Ottawa. The decision to have the survey made now was reached Monday night at the December meeting after conferring with members of the Engineering firm.

Because the District Memorial Hospital is confronted with an immediate sewerage problem, more particularly if the new wing is built next year, and because there is also immediate problems at the Ault plant, Council decided to have two surveys made; one to include a partial system for the hospital and Ault's, and one for the entire village. In the event that the hospital goes ahead with its present expansion plans, the sewerage plant could be erected in a location suggested by the engineers and a trunk line could run from both Aults and the hospital to alleviate conditions in these sections of the town. At a later date it would be possible, through local improvement, for individual streets to hook up to such a system. However, all of this is only in the planning stage and no definite action, except to have the survey made, has been taken by Council.

Council learned in a letter from Fred M. Cass that it would be possible to take advantage of the Federal government's plan of winter unemployment in the installation of the water system. Successful tender will not be known until after December 18 and the price will determine whether or not it is feasible to start construction of this system during the winter months. If construction does not start in January it will get underway about April 1.

Frank Gannon reported for the Fire Department and said that all equipment was in good state of repair. He suggested that fenders on the small unit be fixed and shortened.

Police Report

Chief G. B. Raistrick, in giving his police report for November, said that there were four violations of the Highway Traffic Act; 8 motor vehicle accidents involving 15 vehicles, and $1140 in property damage. One person was injured and two charges were laid as a result of the accidents. There were three violations of the Liquor Act; one complaint of theft, and one public disturbance. He suggested that doors at the Winchester Hotel where teenagers dance be turned the opposite way for safety.

Payment of $325 to Constable Harvey MacIntosh was granted by Council for the period of October to the end of the year. Council said that some revision in the assistant police set-up would be made at the beginning of 1959.

Lights For Christmas

Council was unanimous in its support of a proposal to light up both town approach signs and to erect three strings of coloured lights across the village's main thoroughfare for the Christmas season. Council decided in favour of paying off the $17,000 remaining in a Hydro debenture. By doing this the Hydro account will still have enough reserve to carry it through any difficult times, it was thought. The village will also save several hundred dollars in interest, Council said. By paying off this principal, the Hydro balance will stand at about $10,000.

Municipal accounts amounted to $2,349.71, and Hydro $4.969.

Reeve Fader presided at the session attended by Councillors Reynolds, MacDonald, Biccum and McIntosh; Clerk C. R. Robinson and Chief G. B. Raistrick.

Mrs. Jean Casselman Guest Speaker At 100 Club Ladies' Night

Mrs. Jean Casselman, newly elected member of Parliament for Grenville-Dundas took 75 members and their ladies on an illustrated tour of Russia last Friday night. The occasion was the annual Ladies' Night Banquet of Winchester 100 Club.

Mrs. Casselman, who made the trip last summer with a group of Canadian women headed by Margaret Aitken, MP, spoke briefly about Russian ways and customs and gave her interpretations of Russia to-day. She said that although it was a country without religion, the West must constantly be on the alert of this rapid developing nation which is striving for leadership in the world economy. She said there are only two classes of people in the U.S.S.R., the elite section, and the workers, some of whom barely exist and who know nothing of western countries.

Mrs. Casselman told of the peculiar food habits which exist in Russia and said that standards of living were far below those of Canada or United States. Following her educational remarks she showed colourful slides of her trip. She was introduced by Reg. Workman and thanked by Basil Dawley.

Keith Carkner presided at the banquet and following the tradition of the Club, Mrs. Carkner, the president's wife, was presented with a lovely corsage. A corsage was also presented to Mrs. Casselman by William Doughty, vice president of the club.

MRS. JEAN CASSELMAN

The toast to the ladies was proposed by Percy Roberts and the reply was made by Mrs. Raymond Earl.

A humorous rundown on Club activity was presented by the one and only Frank Morgan who kept the large audience in side splitting laughter for 15 minutes.

W. J. L. Boyd opened the banquet with Grace, and the Creed was recited by J. E. Boyd.

Mail Early Is Postmaster's Plea

Postmaster F. Erle Helmer warned this week that persons sending Christmas gifts by mail should "mail early" to assure delivery by December 25th.

In the past Winchester and district patrons of the local post office have been most co-operative, Mr. Helmer said, and we are looking forward to this co-operation again. Temporary employees will be added to the postal staff to handle what may be a record amount of business for this time of the year.

United States, Dec. 8th, Newfoundland and British Columbia, Dec. 11th; Alberta, Dec. 12; Saskatchewan and Manitoba, Dec. 13th; Maritime Provinces, Dec. 14th; Ontario and Quebec, Dec. 15th; local delivery, Dec. 17th.

Christmas cards in unsealed envelopes may be sent to all countries at the rate of 2c each.

Christmas Seals and Stickers must not be placed on the address side of envelopes. They may, however, be placed on the reverse side.

Pack and tie your parcels securely—fully addressed with return address included inside and out.

FAMED CANADIAN POETESS

Mrs. Dorothy Sproule Observes 91st Birthday

Mrs. Dorothy Sproule, a native of Winchester and perhaps Canada's leading poetess, recently observed her 91st birthday. Still hale and hearty, Mrs. Sproule continues to write her much read verse and regularly sends The Press many of her poems which have been published down through the years.

The clang and clatter of St. Catherine Street traffic a few yards from her door, the breathless scream of jet aircraft overhead cannot do a thing to shake the serenity of Dorothy Sproule as she writes her broad and lively verse in a tiny Montreal apartment. From the vantage point of her 85 years, Mrs. Sproule, one of Canada's most famed poetesses, has the depth and wisdom to ignore such material distractions and to concentrate on fashioning the rhymed phrases that have won her international acclaim and the recognition of several monarchs.

Like a lady poet laureate, Mrs. Sproule likes to write verse in commemoration of historic events. Her Coronation Ode, broadcast by the BBC at the Coronation of King George VI won her the Coronation Medal, the greatest treasure in her trophies, which include the New York World's Fair Gold Medal for poetry, and the 1949 Schroeder Foundation Medal for Literature, which has also been held by Winston Churchill, Walter Lippman, Thomas Mann, Anthony Eden and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Her honours sit lightly on Mrs. Sproule, who is still active in writing her verse, and taking a lively interest in everyday life. Mrs. Sproule keeps house for herself, living alone in her Montreal work room. A son, Frederick Sproule, is a prominent mining engineer in Ottawa.

Mrs. Sproule was eminently fitted for her writing career by background, training and experience. She was born Dorothy Corrigan, a child of Alva Corrigan, a Member of Parliament. Dorothy Corrigan was born in 1867, the Confederation year, in the little village of Winchester. Her father was then the owner of the local departmental store as well as being the postmaster, a Justice of the Peace, and Sunday School Superintendent. After local school, Dorothy Corrigan went to High School at Kemptville, Ont., from the age of 12. Graduated from High School, she went for a while to Albert Ladies College in Belleville before attending Stanstead College, whence she graduated after three years as Mistress of English Literature.

An accomplished musician and singer, the new college graduate returned home to Dundas and became the organist in her home church. The Rev. F. H. Sproule, a supply pastor filling in for a Sunday sermon, was so impressed by the organist that he married her and took her to his country-side parish. As a bride of 18 years, Dorothy Sproule became a pioneer housewife, for the manse was primitive indeed, and the young couple had a continuing struggle to exist. Dorothy Sproule bore two sons, but death removed one of them, Hubert, along with her husband.

Literature and music sustained Dorothy Sproule through all her vicissitudes, however, and the beauty and humanity of her poems attracted growing recognition. Four of her songs were published, and Dorothy Sproule poems appeared in magazines and newspapers all over the literary world. Her first book of collected poems was "Poems of Life," published in 1931, followed by "The Mystic Star" in 1933, "The Golden Goal" in 1935, "Earth and Stars" in 1937, and then "Bread and Roses," her latest collection.

Mrs. Sproule is a charter member the Canadian Women's Club of Winchester, the founder of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, a member of the Big Sister Association of Canada, a council member of the Royal Empire Society, a former chairman of the essay group of the Canadian Authors' Association, a member of the Art Society, a member of the Montreal Women's Club.

Kings and Queens have written their appreciation of the fine verse of Dorothy Sproule, and her charming poems and her own winning personality are familiar to all leaders on the Canadian literary scene.

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town

Santa Claus comes to Winchester this Saturday afternoon, courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce. A cordial invitation has been extended to all Winchester and district youngsters to come out and see the North Pole gent, get a sack of treats and maybe a hug or two from the man with the friendly chuckle and the bright red cheeks.

Just before Santa meets the children he will be paraded through the village streets in a parade which, from all reports, promises to be the biggest Santa Claus parade ever staged in this town. There will be lots of floats and their destination will be the Community Centre where Santa will greet an estimated 1500 young fans.

And while the children are meeting Santa it's a good time for Mom and Dad to do some of that Christmas shopping at Winchester's gift laden stores.

This is one of the ways Winchester businessmen say thanks for your patronage; so bring Johnny and Mary to Winchester this Saturday to meet Santa. It should be quite a day.

Advertising In The Weekly Pays

Quite naturally we have commented from time to time that advertising in a good weekly newspaper pays off in money making dividends.

For instance, this week The Press is 12 pages big packed with Christmas and other advertisements well worth reading. These people believe in advertising, and so does Alan R. McGinnis, chairman of the Board of a Milwaukee Advertising Agency. Mr. McGinnis stated recently:

"It is my opinion, although not officially documented, that subscribers of weekly newspapers will come closer to being cover-to-cover readers than any other print medium available.

"I do not subscribe to the thought that the way to get maximum return on the client dollar is necessarily that of buying as much circulation as possible.

"Along with the obvious advantages of reasonable column rates, is the fact that a full-page ad in a weekly will hit the reader's eye like a rocket burst, and he will remember that advertisers' name and product because it is not buried in 40 or 50 pages of newspaper."

As we mentioned, The Press has a fair amount of advertising this week. We hope you patronize these customers of ours. All are respected firms run by business people of high character. In turn, we'll support you, and the money will keep rotating, making for a heathier climate for everybody.

Safety Drive Precedes "Holiday Hazards" Push

Although December has dropped from first to seventh place among the year's traffic-dangerous months, it still contains one of the most perilous periods—the Christmas and New Year holidays. Police forces across Canada—federal, provincial, municipal and industrial—will co-operate in a campaign against December's "Holiday Hazards," the drive to get a surging start with the nation-wide "Safe Driving Week," sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference between December first and seventh, inclusive.

"Safe Driving Week" receives strong and forceful participation by all police, as well as provincial and community safety organizations, service clubs, church groups, magistrates and judges, government officials and many other bodies. It's aim is to make the motorist and pedestrian aware of his responsibility as an individual in the prevention of highway accidents, injuries, economic losses and deaths.

When Safe-Driving Week closes at midnight of December 7, the police concentrate more specifically on the menaces that come with the carefree and happy spirit of Christmas and New Years. While "Safe Driving Week" is a campaign of awareness, "Holiday Hazards" is a drive with legal teeth in it and the law enforcement bodies strengthen their vigilance at that time in an effort to prevent drivers and walkers from killing themselves with happiness.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference urges every motorist and pedestrian—and every parent and teacher—to extend their personal efforts to co-operate with the police in this vital work.

Union Demands Not Reasonable

We are writing this editorial while we sit dejectedly reading what looks to us like a lot of tripe about Unions and more wages. Seems that ninety per cent. of our daily reading any more has to do with this sort of thing. When is it going to end—and where?

The piece of publicity we have in front of us at the moment comes from the Publicity Department of the Ontario Hydro Employees Union. According to this Hydro Union propaganda it seems that a demand was made this year for a 22 cents per hour increase for trades and an equivalent 9 per cent. for weekly salaried personnel. In strategic fashion the release states: "Because of the publicly owned non-profit aspect of Ontario Hydro, wage entitlement has been by comparison to other wage rates. The Commission has in the past adopted a wage philosophy that they will not lead industry but that wage rates will be maintained in the upper quartile of rates current in Ontario."

Bearing this in mind the Hydro Union compared hydro rates with 32 organizations in the province whose working conditions were similar, and whose size and importance are comparable to Ontario Hydro. They found that Ontario Hydro employees were earning from 12 to 17 cents per hour less than employees in these two other groups. As a result, and because Hydro employees in this classification ONLY earn $2.35 per hour, the Union feels its employees need more money. Hydro has offered a two-cent per hour increase. The Union calls this "an insult."

What kind of baloney is this? How long is the Canadian public going to stand idly by and watch Unions, big and small, run the economy of this nation. Strikes and threatened strikes all over the country are some of the reasons why our products are nearly priced off the market.

How long are Union members, a good majority of them satisfied with what they are earning, going to be influenced by the loud mouthing of Union brass and publicity like the kind we have just read.

The Hydro Union compared wage rates with 32 comparable companies. What about the other thousand and one companies? What about their wage rates and their importance? What about small industry in small towns, all necessary to the survival of this nation? What about the farmer, his prices and his work?

We aren't against anyone making money, good money. When it goes beyond the law of reason there must be a halt to these ridiculous union demands.

Unions at one time played an important part in the life of the worker. Perhaps some of them still do. To-day, though, most Unions seem to be made up of a lot of top salaried publicity men stirring up easy followers and making it tough for the rest of us. We believe this sort of thing must stop, and we think that the Canadian public should take strong action in opposition to this type of Union policy for the good of all Canada.

Editorial Notes

The Reader's Digest reports that a young smart aleck in a convertible, about to make a right turn in Calgary, Alberta, blasted his horn at an elderly woman pedestrian in his path. Several people jumped in fright, but the old lady stopped short and pointed at the nose of the car, shouting "Smoke, smoke!" The hornblower jumped out of his car, lifted the hood and buried his head in the motor. Just as fast, his victim hurried around to the driver's seat and let him have a crashing blast of his own horn—at close range.

Then there's the church in Niagara Falls, Reader's Digest reports, whose rector, tired of confetti on the lawn after weddings, posted this notice to bridal parties: "If you must throw something, throw grass seed."

"HOLD IT, YOU CHAPS, HERE COMES A FOURTH FOR BRIDGE!"

OF MANY THINGS . . .

COMPETITION OVERDUE

(By Ambrose Hills)

Because of a heavy work schedule, I was told by the travel agent that I'd better fly if I wanted to get home in time to keep up to deadlines. He booked up through TCA.

When I returned home, I had a credit on an unused portion of my ticket, so I went over to the TC office in Winnipeg to collect.

I stood in a line where a girl was serving other customers. However, when I finally reached the head of the line, the young lady looked at me coldly and said, "See one of the other girls, please."

I assumed that she had noted, by looking at the ticket in my hand, that it was a matter of rebate and that she didn't handle that type of business. So, in a docile mood, I went to another line, to wait my turn.

In a few moments I was surprised to see the young lady who had looked at me so coldly go smiling by, and one of the girls I was waiting to see smiled back. "See you after coffee," she said.

If she had snuck out quietly, I might not have been so annoyed. But to deliberately turn away from a customer and boldly walk out for coffee was too much for me. I can just imagine how long a writer would last if he took that cavalier attitude towards an editor! Yet TCA's salespeople can get away with it—because they have a monopoly. If I fly that trip again, I must fly TCA. There is no competition.

I came back to my typewriter determined to write a letter to the president of TCA and give him a piece of my mind. I feel sure that in due course I would have received a letter telling me of the staff problems confronting them, and of their earnest desire to give good service. That, however, would not have satisfied me.

In my opinion, the only way the customer can assert himself effectively is to change or threaten to change to a competitor. That's how I get service elsewhere. I hope that in the not too distant future I'll be able to have a choice when I fly.

I'm not fond of flying at the best of times. Certainly I'm not going to fly again in a hurry if I can possibly help it; I'll go to quite a bit of trouble to avoid it. Perhaps many men feel the same way. Perhaps that's the reason TCA claims that it can't stand competition.

BUSINESS and YOU . . . .

(By Blaine Gaouette)

President of the Imperial Bank of Canada, John Proctor, last week warned that government intervention in resource development carries danger as well as benefits.

Without naming the Borden Report directly, the prexy took exception to some of the report's recommendations.

"In Canada," he told shareholders at the annual meeting, "there has recently been a tendency to deplore the high earnings sometimes associated with natural resource industries and to propose to limit them by government regulation."

"To prevent such gains where no national service is rendered is, of course, desirable. But it is easy to forget that great gains are not usually possible unless great risk of loss is also incurred.

"Moreover, such earnings ultimately bear their proper share of corporate and private income taxes from what remains after taxes, provide much of the risk capital by which further development is financed. To limit them severely," Mr. Proctor said, "would be to retard our national growth."

The warning was reiterated by H. W. Thomson, general manager of the bank, who said that if the recommendations of the energy commission were given effect, "the export of natural gas which appeared to be within reach would seem to be further and unduly delayed."

Touching on the risks in government direction in the economy, Mr. Proctor said the makers of fiscal and monetary policy are faced with a dilemma in the months ahead.

"Seasonal unemployment always expands during the winter," he observed. "To vigorous monetary measures to counter unemployment which is mainly seasonal could accentuate inflationary pressures when we enter the seasonal upturn next spring."

Mr. Proctor said the economy is now recovering from the recession. "The recovery has not yet gone far enough to indicate its ultimate strength but it has been sufficient to establish the important conclusion that the forces of recession have been checked before they could plunge us into serious depression."

MEDITATIONS . . . . .

(By Cecil W. Tuininga)

Ephesians 5:4:- "Let there be no filthiness nor silly talk . . ."

One of life's greatest tragedies is the inability to speak. The dumb really merit our sympathy. They miss one of the greatest treasures we have, namely, the ability to speak. The tongue is a wonderful organ, and speech a great gift of God. By means of this wonderful gift we can communicate with others and praise God in word and song.

The tongue is a mighty organ. It is therefore very important how it is used. God created all things for His own glory, also the tongue of man. No one is free to do as he or she pleases, neither to say that which he or she pleases. It is extremely important what we say and how we say it for the Scripture says: "Let your speech always be gracious, seasoned with salt, so that you may know how you ought to answer every one."—(Col. 4:6).

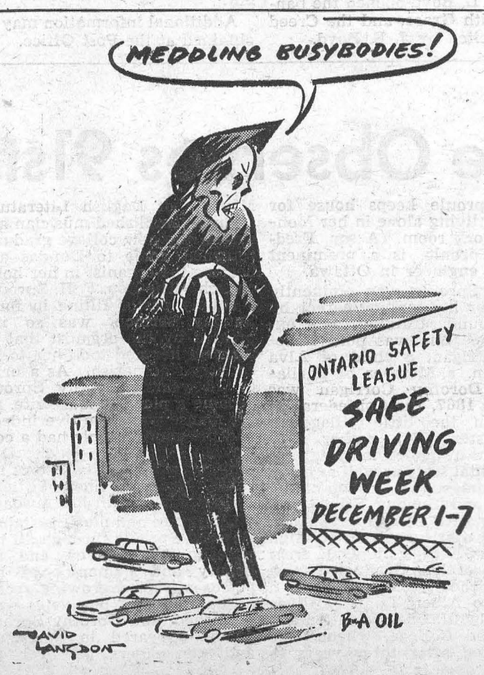
We may not use our tongue for any other purpose than to glorify our God. Anything we say that comes short of that is sinful. All that comes short of that is "silly talk." Silly talk, as the apostle speaks of it here, means especially that talk which is designed to make us laugh. It includes jokes, humorous skits and plays, and the like.

But what is wrong with a good clean joke now and then, or some good clean humorus entertainment? This world is so full of sorrow and misery and affliction that a person has to be able to laugh it off now and then.

However, this reasoning does not hold because silly talk in clean jokes or humorous skits and plays is not at all innocent in itself. That which is not distinctly for the Lord is of necessity against Him and is therefore sin. That is why the apostle warns us against it so emphatically.

Today this warning of the apostle is more pertinent than ever before. The whole world seems to be full of "silly talk" all bent on making us laugh. It seems that our leading entertainers believe that man's highest goal is to be able to laugh all day long. But laughing in this way is not good laughing because it is not a laughing in the Lord. If we want to be truly happy and have real joy and fun we have to find it in the Lord. Our life then must be entirely in Him.

It is precisely in the light of this man's greatest calling that the apostle warns against such an idle use of the tongue. All talk that is centered in man and for man and is not for the Lord is sinful, and sin is never fun. It would be a wonderful thing if all men could be pursuaded to see this and to have all men join in a great song of joy and victory in the Blessed Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world. Indeed, that is their calling, and because that is their calling the Lord has said, "I tell you, on the day of judgment men will render account for every careless word they utter; for by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned."—Matthew 12:36.



The 7th Column

Boy, this has been a hectic week around ye old Press Office. With 12 pages packed full of advertising and news and a hook full of job work, the Press gang has been burning the midnight oil trying to meet the deadline this week. It's not often The Press publishes 12 pages. This is considered, in the words of Ed. Sullivan, a really big issue for a paper coming from a town of 1400 people. There's a reason though. We have four good sides to serve and combined with an energetic and progressive thinking people living in our village, we receive a lot of support. Hope you feel the same way and that you will support the home town merchants in this district who help make The Press one of Ontario's better weekly newspapers.

Hats off to the winning candidates in disitrict elections on Monday. At Morrisburg Gordon Thom unseated Reeve George Beavers for the chief magistrate's position, while in Osgoode township Dr. W. A. Taylor received a whopping majority in his bid to return to municipal politics. Special bouquet to good friend Keith Graham, editor of The Chesterville Record, who was elected to council of that village in his first try.

As if you didn't know, Santa Claus makes his annual pre-Christmas visit to Winchester this week. We trust that the parents will see that all Winchester and district children are out to greet Mr. Whiskers and to see the big Santa Claus parade which gets underway at 1.30. From all reports the parade should really be something, so better plan now to be in town this Saturday. And, by the way, Winchester stores never looked better.

* * * *

No need to remind our readers that winter is here. More than six inches of snow has fallen in the past week and, barring a long thaw, Christmas in this district should be white this year—and cold.

* * * *

One particular thing we like about the Yuletide season is the singing of the good old Christmas carols. If you don't get a chance to here them on TV or radio, try going to church. You will hear them every Sunday from now until the big day, and what better way to celebrate this important time of the year than to attend the church of your denomination.

An English tourist, visiting a small Scottish town that did not possess even a picture house, found it terribly dull and said to a native:

"What do you do in this place when it rains?"

"Oh, weel," came the calm reply, "we just dinna interfere."

BEST known "Little Women" of all were in Louisa Alcott's novel of same name, an all-time best seller translated into 15 languages and read by millions throughout the world. About 50 million more will see it as a television musical in October.

Farmers Must Be Managers, Forum To Discuss How

Close to 90 per cent. of Canada's farmers must be managers. In any other line of work, most of these men would not have to master the wide range of skills in keeping books, planning ahead and coping with management and marketing problems.

So the farmer must be a good manager. How can he train himself? Where can he obtain this training? What will it cost?

National Farm Radio Forum on the 8th of December will discuss Farm Management.

Present on the panel will be Jack Wilton, President of the Carman Farm Management Club of Carman, Man. From the Maritimes, Eric Meek, a farmer from Canning, N. S., will explain the problems a Nova Scotia farmer faces when he tries to learn and apply good management methods. Finally, Art Robertson, an Agricultural Economist from O. A. C. at Guelph will point out some of the problems faced by the Extension Specialist in this field. OAC presently gives some of the most complete Management Training and Assistance Courses in Canada. The Chairman will be Rodger Schwass, Editor-Manager, National Farm Radio Forum.

That subject again. Management Training. It will be presented on December 8 at 8.30 p.m. on National Farm Radio Forum.

Freight-rate Big Problem

Federation Of Agriculture Presents Brief To Ontario Government

"The farmers of Ontario resent the addition to farm production costs implicit in further increases in freight rates . . . " said the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in its brief presented this week to Premier Frost and his cabinet. The contention of the OFA is that it can't object if railways and labor unions want to price themselves out of the market, but that it does object strongly to them pricing the farmer out of export markets through the increased rates.

The OFA brief, presented annually to the government, was read by A. H. Musgrave, second vice president, on behalf of president Gordon Greer and the OFA Board of Governors. The freight rate question has caused deep concern to farm operators and the Ontario Government was asked to make formal representation to appropriate federal authorities in the OFA brief. But the freight question was only one of many requests in the brief.

Land acquisition methods employed by government departments and public services were challenged. The OFA criticized the methods presently used in some cases of expropriation first and negotiation later. They are unfair to the farmer because he is often required to make "adjustments not ordinarily recognized by the courts as compensable." The brief claimed that there is a "need for legislative amendments to provide for a more gradual application of the right to expropriate." In effect this means simply that expropriating agencies should take a series of steps from application through to public and private hearings with the landowners before expropriation takes place. The OFA conceded that this might slow down expropriation to some extent, but it would protect the rights of the landowner to a maximum.

Farm Taxation

The OFA also hit at farm taxation, basing its stand on a resolution passed at its annual convention held recently in Toronto. The resolution referred to the "serious injustices" in farm taxation, particularly in charging county social welfare and administration of justice costs against real estate. Education taxes were included in this part of the brief, with the OFA pointing out that farm workers needed more land to make a living than their counterparts in industry, but were taxed disproportionately because of this extra land. The OFA requested the government to review the entire field of assessment and taxation with the object of remedying existing problems.

Rabies Epidemic

A third important request was directed to both Ontario and Canadian governments and dealt with the rabies epidemic in the province. The OFA asked the governments to provide compensation for livestock destroyed because of rabies; to assume cost of innoculation of people exposed to the disease when advised by the medical officer of health and to make available the necessary serum for domestic stock free of charge to veterinarians. The OFA commended the givernment (Ontario) for the $2 bounty placed on foxes, but reiterated its request for a $5 bounty.

Economic Position

The brief also described the economic position of the farmer as showing only spotty improvement over 1957. Farm cash income has shown modest gains in the first three quarters of the year. Some products like skim milk are expected to be a problem because of growing stocks, but cattle prices and hog prices will likely remain the same for some time to come. Other products had reached a measure of stability in price and production for the time being.

The brief indicated that agriculture generally was unstable due to factors both cintrollable and uncontrollable by the farmers. The OFA called on both government and farm organizations alike to explore all means of relieving the problems caused by this instability. The OFA indicated that its efforts towards establishment and perfection of producer marketing plans were helping to stabilize agriculture.

The Christmas Dinner

Dorothy Boys Killan

YOUNG Mrs. Frank Sanderson hung up the telephone receiver and stared bleakly at the beautifully set dining table. The Santa Claus sleigh centerpiece filled with red and white striped candy canes, the sprig of holly at each place setting, the gleaming silver—was it all to be for nothing?

"I'm so terribly sorry," her mother had just said over the phone. "We simply aren't going to be able to make it for Christmas dinner. The roads are just a sheet of ice—"

"Oh, Mother!" Eva had exclaimed. "It won't seem like Christmas at all without you here. And Frank and I were so excited about it being our first time to have the family."

"I knew how disappointed you'd be, Eva," Mother answered. "But Dad says it's just impossible."

"Oh, Frank!" Eva was close to tears. "It's going to seem so queer without Mom and Dad."

"I know how you feel, honey," Frank put an arm around her comfortingly. "And what's more, what about all that food sitting around in the kitchen?"

"We'll just have to find somebody to eat with us." Eva wiped her eyes and looked thoughtful. "Let's see, can you think of any of our friends here in town who hadn't planned anything special for today?"

"Well," Frank said, "the Springers are eating with his folks, the Albrights left by train yesterday for Detroit, the McCalls—oh, you know as well as I do that everybody's dated up. You just don't leave Christmas dinner to chance."

"Frank! What about the Aarongaards? You know that fisherman and his family who live in the cottage down by the docks?"

"You mean that tall, quiet guy with three or four tow-headed kids?"

"Yes; and I heard someone in the post office yesterday saying they've been having a struggle lately—the river's been so ice-blocked that he can't get his boat out to the lake, and there's nothing coming in for them."

"Honey, that's a swell idea!" Frank agreed heartily. "But what'll we tell them?"

"Why, just the plain truth, that our folks couldn't make it at the last minute and we'd be so glad if they'd substitute for them."

"Maybe they won't believe it," Frank said. "They've got their pride you know, people like that don't want charity."

"Just try anyway, Frank," Eva pleaded. "Go ahead and phone him right now."

"O.K., here goes." And Frank went to the phone.

A minute or two later Frank hung up the receiver and shook his head. "Just what I was afraid of," he sighed. "When I first started to talk, and wished him Merry Christmas he seemed tickled to death that we'd thought of them, but the minute I mentioned the invitation he froze up and said very politely that they had their own plans. He just didn't believe the story."

Eva looked crestfallen. But after a moment's silence she suddenly said, "Let me have that phone," and hastily dialed a number.

"Mr. Aarongaard, this is Mrs. Sanderson. We're so sorry you can't come to dinner here, it would have meant a lot to us. But I'm calling this time to ask a favor of you.

"I understand that you go inland to Brinkville every week or so to deliver some fish orders. I just wonder if, the next time you go, you'd be kind enough to take my family's gifts to them—their farm is right on your way.

"—Yes, all their things are under the tree here. We naturally expected them to pick them up when they came to dinner, but—"

Eva began to smile as she listened, and then said cordially, "Oh, fine, we'll expect all of you at about three o'clock. Good-bye 'til then." And she hung up the receiver.

"They guess they'll come after all, if we don't mind their changing their minds," she reported happily.

"You're a smart little wife if I do say it myself," Frank grinned. "Come on, let's shove that bird in the oven."

Weddings

CROWDER—ELDER

A bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations and planted fern formed the setting for a quieit but pretty wedding in First Presbyterian Church, Seaforth, Ontario, when Mary Alice (Maureen), R. N., daughter of the Rev. D. Leslie Elder and Mrs. Elder, of Seaforth, became the bride of Herman Ellery Crowder, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herman Crowder of Inkerman.

Mrs. Vernon A. Heighton, Ottawa, sister of the bride, was organist and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. E. C. McLarnon, Toronto, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of lace and nylon net over bridal satin. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline embroidered with seed pearls and irridescent sequins, and lilypoint sleeves. A headdress of seed pearls and irridescent sequins held her shoulder-length veil of embroidered nylon net and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and bride's blossom.

Miss J. Carole Elder, sister of the bride, as maid of honour, and Miss Elizabeth A. Crowder, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid, were gowned alike in ballerina-length dresses of rose velvet. The fitted bodice featured a straight neckline coming to a "V" at the back, cap sleeves and a full skirt. Their headdresses were a bandeau of white feathers, and each carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Little Linda Marie Heighton, niece of the bride, was flower girl and wore a dress of imported French lace over buttercup nylon with matching satin sash. She carried a tiny nosegay of white baby mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Receiving with the young couple were the bride's mother wearing a brown sheath dress with light green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses, and the groom's mother wearing a blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of the School of Nursing of the Aberdeen hospital, New Glasgow N. S., and the groom is an engineering technician with the Pitt Construction Company. The couple will reside in Ottawa.

BOULERICE — McMILLAN

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church in Morrisburg on Friday morning when June Anne, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, of Elma, was united in marriage to Rudolph J. Boulerice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boulerice of Morrisburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Terrion.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a teal-blue suit with pink accessories, and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Iris Collins, of Ottawa, attended the bride as bridesmaid, and wore a suit of shepherd's check with grey accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mr. Ted Boulerice, of St. Catherines, assisted his brother as best man.

HOLSTEIN

More than 250 members, wives and guests attended the annual banquet of the Dundas County Holstein Friesian Club last Thursday night at Hallville Community Hall.

Premier Breeders' Trophy was presented by Howard Biccum to the winner, Allison Fawcett, while Leslie Dawley accepted the Premier Exhibitor's trophy for Wincrest Farms from Grant Smith, Holstein fieldman.

The Royal Bank Trophy for best dam and daughter was won by Harold Merkley and the presentation was made by A. C. Ross of Winchester.

Words of welcome were expressed by Mountain Reeve W. A. Cameron, and greetings from the parent association were voiced by Murland Murray.

Head table guests introduced by Basil Dawley, first vice president, were: Murland Murray, provincial director, and Mrs. Murray; Howard Dodge, Grenville president, and Mrs. Dodge; Ed. Pearson, Dundas Agricultural Representative, and Mrs. Pearson; Mervyn Peters, United Church Minister; Gerald Adams, second vice president of Dundas Club, and Mrs. Adams; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ross; Grant Smith, fieldman; Hugh Blaine, president of Dundas Club, and Mrs. Blaine; Mrs. Jean Casselman, MP, Grenville-Dundas; Mr. and Mrs. Basil Dawley; Reeve Wm. A. Cameron; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Biccum, Mrs. Fred M. Cass, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Fawcett, Miss M. McGamon, Miss Marjorie Black.

The program included a singsong led by Miss Marjorie Black, and songs by Stanley Wallace. Harold Lannin of Winchester was the guest speaker and he showed the very colourful slides of his recent trip to Europe.

Thanks to the ladies of Hallville United Church who catered and to the entertainers was voiced by Mac Graham.

AYRSHIRE

Speaking to 150 people attending the annual banquet of the Grenville-Dundas Ayrshire Club in Winchester Town Hall Monday night Hon. Fred M. Cass, Ontario Minister of Highways, said that it is the policy of his department to by-pass towns and cities with important roads. By careful survey, the speaker said, it has been found that following a three-year adjustment period municipalities regained any business that may have been lost due to relocation of strategic thoroughfares.

Continuing, Mr. Cass said that business places were not allowed to locate on the by-pass in competition to town business. He also touched on traffic safety and gave as the three main rudiments, Common courtesy, common sense and patience. He said that it was especially important that all three be exercised at this holiday time of the year.

Mr. Cass concluded his address by explaining the system of highway expenditure and more particularly subsidies and grants to municipalities. He was introduced by William McRoberts and thanked by Harry Williams.

Sam Ault presented the Borden Trophy to S. S. Rose and Sons for Premier Breeder and Exhibitor. It was accepted by Donald Rose, who also accepted the Ault Trophy from Sam Ault.

Roy Simmons, Finch, brought greetings from the Stormont Ayrshire Breeders Club, and Basil Dawley spoke in behalf of the Dundas Holstein Friesian Club.

Mr. Roper, Ayrshire fieldman, recommended R.O.P. as a practical way of culling cattle for more profitable production and presented a record of super production to Donald Rose for an outstanding cow in the Rosayre Herd.

FEED NEWS
CALF FEEDS
It is no longer necessary to feed the calf any market milk. By a better knowledge of calf nutrition, milk replacers have been produced that will do as good a job as whole milk—and at a lower cost.
Ful-O-Pep Calf Sup (Milk Replacer—Leave the calf with the cow for 3 or 4 days and change to milk replacer the same as to whole milk.
F. O. P. Calf Sup comes in a 25-lb. pail or a 25 lb. or 50 lb. bag. A 6-oz. measuring cup is enclosed in each pail or bag and you just add the cupful of Calf Sup to two quarts of warm water.
Feed 6 to 10 pints or pounds daily depending on the size of the calf and increase the rate of feeding so that it will get about 1 lb. of the calf replacer mixture per 10 lbs. of body weight. Continue feeding milk replacer until the calf is 7 or 8 weeks old.
Shur-Gain Milk Replacer—Packed in 25 lb. bags, Shur-Gain Milk Replacer contains all the ingredients needed to replace whole milk.
Feed the same as other milk replacers. Directions on each bag.
Swift's Nursing Formula—Also in 25 lb. bags with the measuring cup enclosed and directions on the bag.
Swift's Nursing Formula has been used for some time now and giving excellent results as a milk replacer.
Ful-O-Pep Calf Starter (and Grower)—Calves will start eating a small amount of Calf Starter from 2 weeks on. Feed all the Calf Starter that the calf will clean up twice daily until it eats 4 lbs. daily.
At 4 months switch to Fitting Ration.
Good quality leafy hay is recommended throughout this feeding period. Fresh water should also be provided.
Ask for Folders—
The feed companies supply some helpful folders on calf feeding and care, including the use of milk replacers. Ask for one at our office.

Classes Begin In New Inkerman Public School

Board Says Official Opening Slated For Early January

Although it will not officially be opened until the first of the new year, Inkerman's new $63,000 Three-room Public School is now holding classes each day for its 86 pupils.

The modern 60 by 80 foot brick building was completed recently by Dodge Construction, general contractors, of Cardinal. Towards the end of October Inkerman pupils and their three teachers vacated the old, outmoded single room school houses in the village and moved into their bright, new quarters.

Citizens of Mountain Township, particularly the school board and Inkerman village, are particularly proud of the new premises. And well they should be! The new school, of brick construction, houses three class rooms, plus wash room, cloak room and office facilities. The interior of the building is finished in Roxotone paint of pastel green. It is modernly equipped with plumbing, heating and electrical facilities.

The need for better school accommodation in the Inkerman area was long a problem to the Mountain Area School Board. This year tenders were called and the lowest tender, Dodge Construction, received the job. Government grants will aid greatly in the overall cost, and the remainder will be paid for by levy in the municipality.

Teachers at the school are: Mrs. Dwight Gilmer, of Pleasant Valley, principal; Mrs. Harold Cooke, Inkerman, and Miss Judy Campbell, Maxville.

In addition to Dodge Construction other contractors hired for the job, most of whom have advertisements on this page, are: Arthur Thom, Williamsburg, electrical; Westeel Products, blackboards; Fentimans, Ottawa, windows and sliding panels; Clark Hoople, Maxville, plumbing and heating. The architects were Balharrie, Helmer and Morin, Ottawa and Cornwall, and the consulting engineer is Mac Thompson of Cornwall.

Because the Board was not satisfied with some of the blackboards in the school, the official opening has been postponed until new blackboards have been installed.

OLD SCHOOLS FOR SALE

Public School pupils at Inkerman were previously served by the old stone school, and the frame school building. With the increase in the school population it was necessary to use both buildings which served as school houses for many long years. The buildings have been placed on sale with the buyer to dismantle them and move them from the present premises.

M. N. Hutchison Lauds New School At Inkerman

M. N. Hutchison. Dundas County Public School Inspector, has the following to say about the new Inkerman Public School:

"The new school at Inkerman is, of course, a tremendous improvement over the old accommodation. Apart from the obvious advantages of the new structure there are many advantages in the type of educational programme which will now be possible. The very fact of having a third room means that each of the teachers will have fewer grades to teach. This will enable the available time to be spread more evenly amongst the students, giving rise to more individual attention.

"The unique sliding partition allowing two classrooms to become one suggests all sorts of interesting activities which could be carried on in the school. It should be possible to hold assembly periods regularly. This would allow scope for the development of the oral language programme. Christmas concerts will be made easier in their execution, and more of the parents will be able to attend. In this last regard it may be possible that the parents might wish to form a Home and School Association, now that there is available such fine accommodation. Such a move would certainly be to the advantage of all concerned.

"It is very likely that when the parents and ratepayers of Mountain make an inspection tour of this fine new school there will be high praise for the forethought and determination of the residents of Inkerman and their School Board.

"It is to be hoped that the idea of building such schools will soon catch on in other parts of our County. Our children represent the future of our country. Provding them with the best in educational facilities is one way of ensuring that there will be a future and that it will be a bright one."

MILTON RICHARDSON DIES AT KEMPTVILLE

Milton Richardson died at his home in Kemptville last Tuesday after a short illness. He was 89.

Born and educated in Mountain Township, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson. His wife, the former Etta Ennis, whom he married December 1, 1897, at Inkerman, survives.

Mr. Richardson went to Kemptville from Mountain Twp. when he retired from farming in 1940. He attended St. James Anglican Church.

In addition to his wife, he leaves two sons, Arnold, of Inverary, and Hilliard, of Mountain; one daughter, Laura, at home, and one sister, Amelia, also of Kemptville.

The funeral was held from his late residence with Rev. A. Brandon of Oxford Mills officiating. Interment was made in South Gower Cemetery.

JABS REFEREE WITH HATPIN

Referees live a dangerous life, according to an article by veteran reporter James Y. Nicol, who writes in the current issue of The Star Weekly.

Infuriated over a penalty called against the Black Hawks, a Chicago woman leaped out of her rail-side seat in the stadium, and throwing herself over the boards, jabbed a hat-pin into the hip of Francis Michael (King) Clancy, then an NHL referee.

After a Montreal game a disgruntled Canadien supporter accosted Clancy as he left the Forum lobby. "Hi there, King!" he said with feigned friendliness, then delivered a sneak punch that bowled Clancy over and broke his nose.

Today, as an unofficial good-will ambassador of Canada's national pastime, King Clancy wants his former critics to know that all is forgiven.

In spite of hatpins, insults, broken noses, Clancy still thinks his 11 years as a referee were the happiest in a lifetime of hockey spent as a player, whistle-blower, coach, and now P. R. man.

The Auction Dance is over for another year and it has been a decided success as a result of the wonderful co-operation and interest of the people of our local and surrounding areas. More than $500.00 has been added to the coffers of our Student Council and sufficient Bursaries should be assured for our graduates who intend to further their education.

More Than 400 Attend M.D.H.S. Auction Dance

More than 400 staunch supporters of Mountain District High School crowded the Auditorium of the Hallville School to lend their support to the second Annual Auction Dance held by the students of the high school. Auctioneer Harold Finnerty kept the bids moving quickly, and in shortly less than two hours had offered for auction more than 100 beautiful articles which the students had received from local and outside business firms and individuals.

The Dance, which followed the Auction Sale, was well attended by young and old, and it was highlighted by a Jiving Contest. First prize in this contest was awarded to Wayne Boyd and Dawne Blaine, with Raymond Benoit and Joan Robinson, and Jerry Tansley and Charlene Hamill picking up second and third prize awards respectively. Auction prizes consisting of a TV lamp and a gallon of ice cream were won by Henry Wilson and Garnett Halpenny. The door prizes were won by Willis Riddell, Oscar Mellan and Maynard Coons. The judges for the jiving contest were members of Frank Morgan's Rhythm Ramblers who supplied the music for the dance.

During intermission members of the girls' volley ball team, the cheerleaders, the football team and individual trophy winners for the track and field team, all of which have brought district championships to their school, were introduced to those in attendance at the Auction Dance by their respective captains.

A refreshment booth was operated by the students of Grade 13 class who are raising funds for a 4-day trip to New York City in May.

The proceeds of the evening, which amounted to $500.00, will be used to finance student bursaries and other worthy student activities.

William Guy, president of the Student Council, expressed the appreciation of the entire student body for the wonderful support and generosity of all those who had contributed to the success of the second Annual Auction Dance.

Day - Long Session

Carleton Federation Of Agriculture Holds Annual Meeting At Metcalfe

The hundred odd members and guests attending the annual meeting of the Carleton County Federation of Agriculture were startled to hear the guest speaker, Bob Carbert, recently appointed information officer of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, state that only 12% of the present population of Canada are farmers. This problem is being considered by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and linked with it is the need for vocational training for marginal farmers, small farmers and those farmers who must leave the soil and seek a living elsewhere. His figures about prices of Canadian products on the world market were an eye opener to many, in every case, due to our geographical position, were higher than other countries. For instance, butter on the world market: Canadian price, 62c; United States, 58c; Australia, 51c, and New Zealand 37c.

The day-long annual meeting was held in the Metcalfe Community Centre with the Osgoode Township Federation of Agriculture catering for the noon turkey banquet. Members of County Council were special guests. Warden Armstrong brought greetings from County Council and commended the Federation on the Boost Carleton Tent at the International Ploughing Match. Dick Bell, MP for Carleton, brought out the fact that 1959 would be a crucial year for farmers in Carleton for two reasons, the trend of farm abandonment in Carleton must be reversed and the impact of the Green Belt, especially in Nepean and Gloucester Townships.

Reports

Reports were heard from the secretary, H. P. Leslie, who had a very busy year. The financial report showed a deficit of $272.08, but this was outbalanced by a surplus carry-over from the year before of $1,312. The educational committee was very active during the year as the statement indicated an expenditure of over $1700. Includedd in this were subcriptions to the Rural Co-operator, bursaries to K. A. S., and many other worwhile projects. The radio program over CFRA every other Saturday for five minutes just before one o'clock at noon received favourable comment, which keeps farmers up-to-date on Federation activities.

Mrs. Arthur Manchester, reporting on women's activities, stated that the women of the Federation had worked to help put over the hog vote last July. Chas. Sweeney thanked the ladies, especially Mrs. J. A. Berry, who had acted as campaign secretary for him.

Aubrey Moodie reported that the whole milk producers were concerned about the effect that 2% milk will have on the sale of whole milk, and stated that bulk haulage was fast entering the Ottawa area dairy scene. The poultry producers' report was given by Mrs. E. L. Macartney, who is zone chairman as well as being the first vice president of the Ontario Poultry Producers. John Hughes stated that concentrated milk producers are worried about the dried milk powder situation.

The changeover to government insurance by the Co-operative Medical Services had caused the directors a lot of extra work. They are acting as collecting agency for the government with the only requirement for membership being the Major Medical surgical plan, stated the president, Cecil Waddell, Metcalfe.

Prize Winners

The president, Ed. Wallace, who convened the meeting, stated that copies of his year's summary would be sent to all farmers in the county. Five resolutions were dealt with by the comimttee of Don Munro, Raymond Kemp, Dawson Brownlee and Mrs. Arthur Manchester. All were carried and included support of the legislation controlling the colouring of margarine, investigatin of contract farming, the sponsorship of township meetings to stimulate Farm Forums in Carleton County, the education committee to assist in this program; recognition of exhibitors at the CNE or Royal by the use of Carleton colours at their option, and the support of the Eastern Ontario Development Association by the appointment of a director to attend their meetings.

Due to the icy road conditions the annual meeting started at 11 a.m. but concluded at 4 p.m. Members appreciated this fact, due to the able handling of the meeting by chairman Ed Wallace and secretary H. P. Leslie.

Safe-Driving Week, December 1 to 7

Safe-Driving Week, a national campaign to impress the motorist and pedestrian with his responsibility, as an individual, in preventing traffic accidents, will be sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Conference this year from December 1st to 7th, inclusive.

Safe-Driving Week has been given the support of the Governor General and the Prime Minister. Participating will be the Premiers of all the provinces, safety organizations, police forces, the judiciary, public service groups, women's organizations and many others.

George B. Kenney, chairman of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference, has called on every motorist and pedestrian to cooperate. "Make an honest effort," he asked them, "to get through Safe-Driving Week without a single traffic accident. If you can do it for a week, you can do it for a year. We appeal to every driver and every walker to make Safe-Driving Week 1958 an outstanding success."

Mr. Kenney referred to a recent forecast of 3,400 traffic deaths in Canada in 1958 and added, "More than 90 per cent. of those deaths could be prevented if the individual driver and walker realized his responsibility driving and walking safely."

Rural Life Conference Held At Winchester United Church

Dr. Elias Andrews, principal of Queen's Theological College of Kingston, spoke to ministers and laymen of the Home Mission Board of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference of the United Church of Canada at a Rural Life Conference, held in the Winchester United Church last week.

Givings to the church should be a part of the stewardship of the members, Dr. Andrews said.

Rev. Douglas Lapp, B.A., B.D., of Chelsea, Que., presided, with Rev. Bert Corkum, B.A., of Kemptville, conducting morning devotions.

R. A. Stewart, a lay member and a farmer of Pakenham, spoke, and a case study was presented by Rev. Douglas Brydon of Ripley.

The noon luncheon was served by members of the Woman's Association. Rev. Glen Lucas of Fitzroy Harbour, and Rev. Gerald Fee, South Mountain, were post-luncheon speakers.

A discussion was led by Rev. Douglas Brydon. Others taking part were Rev. E. E. M. Joblin, of Toronto, and Rev. P. C. Lewis of Cornwall, president of the Conference.

A turkey dinner was held in the church hall, and Rev. Mary Doherty, of Quyon, thanked the ladies who served.

Tom Brown, an agricultural missionary of Angola, and a former reporter on the staff of The Ottawa Farm Journal, was the evening speaker.

He spent six years in Angola, and before returning on furlough had been directing the affairs in a colony of 350 lepers, teaching better farming methods and introducing new crops, as well as assisting in the preaching of the gospel.

Arrangements for the conference were made by Dr. J. W. Porter, Superintendent of Home Missions of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference.

Rev. Angus J. MacDonald, of the Winchester United Church, conducted closing ceremonies.
