Newsbriefs

Barkley released on 2-year probation

MORRISBURG—Dalton Barkley was released on probation for two years Tuesday after being found guity of not complying with recognizance of bail. Barkley, who was arrested after a 12-hour standoff with police at his Elma home last April, was found not guilty of several other charges, including pointing a firearm. The conditions of his probation are that he not own, possess or carry any weapons, firearms, ammunition or explosives, and he is not to associate with four people named by the court. Barkley was tried by judge in provincial court in Morrisburg.

Lights taken

WINCHESTER TWP.—Headlights and tail lights valued at around $300 were stolen from a Winchester Township-owned grader the night of Sept. 29. Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine said the grader was parked at Nation Valley and Forward roads, and there are no suspects in the theft.

401 van accident injures 12 people

LONG SAULT—Twelve people were injured, three seriously, after a driver lost control of an eastbound van on Hwy. 401 west of Long Sault at 10:35 p.m. Sunday night. Long Sault OPP Const. Bernie Gadbois said 11 of the passengers were from Montreal and the other was from Paris, France.

Camera stolen

CHESTERVILLE—A 35 mm Minolta camera was stolen from a vehicle parked outside the Chesterville Legion between 8 and 10 p.m. Sept. 26. Winchester OPP Sgt. Jim Irvine said the camera, which belongs to Doris Cross, has a black leather case and shoulder strap.

Two charged with Roxborough B&E

LONG SAULT—Two Gatineau, Que. men were charged with break, enter and theft in connection with a Sept. 30 incident in Roxborough Township. Long Sault OPP Const. Bernie Gadbois said two men were observed by a neighbor breaking into a Concession 5 home, and were followed. Casselman OPP were contacted by cellular telephone, and arrested the men, recovering a VCR and television. The men were turned over to Long Sault OPP. Charged with break, enter and theft are Ronald Gauthier, 38, and Michel Gagnon, 33. Gadbois said the men appeared in provincial court Oct. 1 and were released. They will appear again in provincial court Nov. 3. A Concession 4 Roxborough home had been broken into the previous day and $1,250 worth of items were stolen.

Finch Legion helps veterans in U.K.

FINCH—The Finch branch of the Royal Canadian Legion recently donated $1,400 to help Canadian veterans living in the United Kingdom. Veterans living overseas are not eligible for federal benefits, said Legion president John Lariviere. The Legion also donated $500 to both the Roxborough Medical Centre and Moose Creek Medical Centre for equipment, $700 to the North Stormont Express hockey team, and $500 to Maxville Manor, which is currently undergoing major renovations.

Getting the juices flowing

Gord Moat (left) gets some help from Jason Vingerhoeds as they press apple into cider. Moat, who lives near Chesterville, bought the cider press at an auction sale three years ago, before he had ever operated such a machine. It takes just a few minutes to press apples into juice, as Moat showed a group of Chesterville Scouts Saturday.

Local farmers refute Spock's milk claims

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE—The dairy industry received an unexpected blow last week from an unexpected source — renowned American child-care expert Dr. Benjamin Spock.

But local dairy farmers contend that Spock acted irresponsibly when he warned that cow's milk can cause allergies, juvenile diabetes and other ailments in children.

At a news conference in Boston last week, Spock and other doctors questioned the nutritional value of cow's milk and advocated breast milk for young children.

Winchester Township dairy farmer Gord Johnson said an attack on milk is something dairy farmers don't need.

"What can you say? It just seems to me that these researchers mustn't have very much to do," Johnson said of Spock's claim. "One day coffee is bad for you and the next day it's okay."

Johnson said the matter will be discussed at the next Dundas Milk Committee meeting. And he hopes the Ontario Milk Marketing Board (OMMB) will support other researchers who have refuted Spock's claims.

"We don't have the resources to fight back against this," he said. "I just hope the consumers are responsible enough to take it for what it's worth and leave it at that."

Berwick dairy farmer Floyd Dingwall said blaming milk for people's medical problems is unfair.

Manning brings "No" message to S-D riding

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MORRISBURG—Reform Party members, media and the politically curious in Stormont-Dundas Tuesday afternoon got their first look at the father of the Reform party.

Reform leader Preston Manning addressed the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon before stopping briefly in Morrisburg to personally deliver his constitutional message.

"A strong No vote right across Canada should not be interpreted as a vote against Canada, or a vote against one region or another, but a vote against the agreement," Manning told about 40 who had gathered at the Morrisburg Legion Hall, including Reform Party members and national media.

Manning did not give a speech in Morrisburg, but fielded questions from the media and audience for about 30 minutes.

He said a year-and-a-half-ago, there were hardly any Reform members in Stormont-Dundas, compared to three or four hundred now..

"I think we're going to do quite well in working toward the next federal election," he said.

Manning said the Reform party's membership of about 300 in eastern Ontario is in line with the rest of the province. There are about 35,000 members in Ontario, he said, with the Toronto area having the strongest numbers.

Fourth-grade hero

Nine-year-old reacts quickly and prevents a tragedy

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

Nicole Robinson never meant to be a hero. She just happened to be in the right place at the right time.

But the nine-year-old's quick reaction may have saved a life. No one is speculating as to what may have happened had she not seen Gary Winters lying underneath a roll of tile drainage.

Winters, who works with Big O Inc., was unloading three 590-kilogram (1,300-pound) rolls off a flatbed truck on a job site near Avonmore on Sept. 1. He was trying to push one off the truck when the heel of his boot got caught in the twine around the roll.

He fell to the ground, and the tile drainage fell on top of him. Winters, 23, says he remembers falling and "that's it." He fell unconscious.

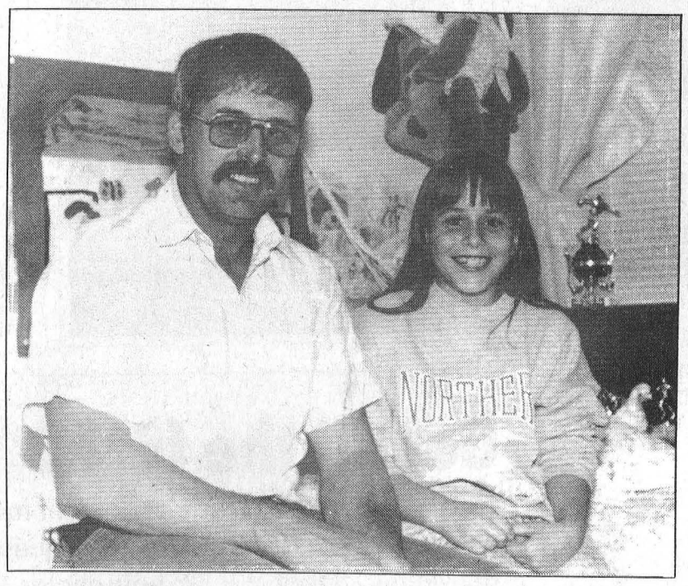
Nicole was with her father Marcel Robinson, a drainage contractor who was also at the job site. Robinson was unloading a bulldozer, and Nicole was sitting in the backhoe watching Winters unload the drainage.

"I saw it roll and then I saw his foot" sticking out from beneath the roll, Nicole recalls. "I saw his hand try to lift it, but it weighed too much."

Sitting at the kitchen table in her Berwick home, Nicole, the youngest of four children, tells the story with excitement as her mother and sisters look on. But at the time of the accident, she admits, she was terrified.

Frightened for Winters and thinking he was dead, Nicole ran to alert her father.

"I was so scared I didn't even care if I killed a grasshopper," says Nicole, who is normally careful to avoid stepping on bugs or frogs in the grass.



Nicole with dad Marcel Robinson in her room at their Berwick home

Marcel Robinson lifted the tile drainage off Winters with his backhoe, and called an ambulance. Nicole waited, shaken and crying, and kept asking her father if Winters was going to die.

Winters suffered three fractured vertabrae, a severe concussion, and seven stiches in the back of his head. He spent a week in hospital, and is now recuperating at his Finch home. He says after a few months off work and some physiotherapy, he should be back to work by January.

"I look fine," he says. "I just can't do any heavy work."

Both he and Marcel Robinson aren't sure what would have happened had Nicole not seen Winters.

"It's hard to say," says Winters. But he adds, "They did a pretty good job." He says it was a freak accident, the first he has had since he began the job last April. And he doesn't think anything like it will ever happen again.

"You hope it's a once in a lifetime thing," says Robinson. "You just do what you have to do."

Nicole, a fourth-grader at St. Mary's School in Chesterville, wants to be a truck driver when she's older. She says the only reason she was with her father that day was because he was driving his Mack truck, one of her favorites.

She received a letter of thanks from Big O, and a round of applause from her classmates when she told the story.

"I told everybody," she says with an unabashedly proud smile.

Chesterville doctor slams Spock's claims

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE—Chesterville doctor Gabriel Slowey said recent claims that cow's milk can be harmful are nothing new, and only sound sensational because of the source.

Slowey described the news conference last week at which Dr. Benjamin Spock questioned the nutritional value of cow's milk, and said it can cause juvenile diabetes and other ailments in children, as "a typical American media event." And Slowey said Spock is "out in left field somewhere."

And he said Spock did people a disservice, and was only trying to keep himself in the limelight in making the claims.

Dr. Gabriel Slowey

"None of this is new, it's just the way it's presented by him that makes it sound sensational."

Slowey recommends breast feeding for newborn babies until they are between six weeks and nine months old. After that, he said, turning to cow's milk is "a natural progression and part of the staple diet of western civilization."

And Slowey said he thinks people are smart enough to see through the "media event, where you must go from worry to worry with the disease of the month."

Claims that milk can cause diabetes in children are questionable, Slowey said, because there is no proof.

"I think because it's Spock that's saying it, that's the problem," Slowey said, adding a word of advice from a famous mathematician, "This world is too important to be left to experts."

Slowey credited cow's milk with creating a boon to the health and nationhood of the United Kingdom. He said after the Boer War, the British found they didn't have enough able-bodied men, so milk was introduced to children in the school system. As a result, Slowey said, the British had enough able-bodied men for World War I.

"You can grow a nation on milk. That's what the British did," Slowey said.

Milk continued to be a staple in English, Scottish and Irish schools for another 20 years until it was replaced by full meals, he added.

"There's a certain silliness to Spock that I think people can appreciate. It sounds sensational because it's coming from Spock, so beam me up, Scotty."

Spock

"It's not fair. I don't think he's got very much proof," he said.

"I drank milk all my life and it hasn't hurt me that I know of," he said, adding a glass of milk is healthier than a can of pop or beer.

Dingwall agreed that Spock's statements could harm the milk industry, "at a time when the milk market is having a hard enough time."

Stormont Milk Committee chairman Brian Powell said statements like Spock's can hurt not only dairy farmers, but everybody in agriculture.

"When you hit any industry without proof I don't think they realize the consequences, not only to the producer but to the consumer," he said.

Powell said the average dairy farmer in Stormont County has lost $9,000 because of quota cuts, and there are about 200 dairy farmers in the county.

"How much money is lost to the county? Farmers don't hoard their money. They spend their money. And every time consumption of Nestle's (milk-based) products drops, somewhere an employee gets closer to being redundant," he said.

Powell said he was upset at Spock's claims because there is "absolutely no scientific proof to substantiate it."

"When someone makes a statement like that without justification he's crucifying pretty much the whole of agriculture" Powell said.

OMMB spokesman Bill Mitchell said Spock's claims were based on "an extremely weak foundation," and said he was glad the media was quick to balance Spock's view with those of medical professionals who don't agree.

"It shows he's out on a branch all by himself. It goes against 100 per cent of all medical positions," he said.

Mitchell said he is concerned because such a widely-known doctor is speaking on the issue "despite the fact that it is not his area (of expertise)."

Although the OMMB has not taken an official position on the issue, Mitchell said he hopes common sense prevails among the public.

OMMB area director and dairy farmer Paul Henderson said he read that the doctor who studied the link between juvenile diabetes and milk could not have drawn the conclusions Spock did.

"You can't discredit him completely but I think he's off the deep end on this one," Henderson said.

And Henderson disputed the claim that children, after being breast fed until the age of two, can obtain sufficient calcium from certain vegetables.

"How many two-year-olds do you know who will eat that much broccoli?" he asked.

Store owner foils burglary attempt

Crime Stoppers needs your help in solving a break in at Mike Dean's Super Food Store in Chesterville on Sept. 23 at 4:45 a.m.

The suspect, after entering the store through a window he had broken at the front of the building, was scared off by the store owner who was working in the store at the time of the incident.

The suspect is described as 5-foot-9, heavy set with a black beard. The suspect vehicle is described as an older model light brown or tan GM pickup.

If you have any information on this or any crime, call Seaway Valley Crime Stoppers at 543-TIPS (543-8477) in the Long Sault exchange or 1-800-265-TIPS. If your tip leads to an arrest you may qualify for a reward of up to $1,000. You do not have to reveal your identity to help solve a crime.

$3,200 worth of equipment stolen from Finch school

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

FINCH—About $3,200 worth of electronic equipment and cash was stolen from St. Bernard's School in Finch last Thursday, and school officials and police suspect the thieves may be from the immediate area.

Thieves broke in through a window on the portables, and left no mess behind. Principal Bob King said they seemed to know what they were looking for.

King, also acting principal of St. Mary's School in Chesterville, has sent a letter to all parents of children in the two schools detailing the stolen items. Taken from the school were:

—28" JVC color television (black), model AV2648S, serial 06527122

—JVC video cassette recorder, (beige), model BR-1500U, serial 080E0272

—JVR VCR (black), model HR-0740U, serial 09650940

—Minolta 35 mm camera, model X-370 and electronic Image CB-21 flash

—General Electric cordless phone, model 2-9514

—Pulsar portable dual cassette stereo system, 44-1520-2

—Suzuki guitar and electric tuner and case

Self-help group to aid addicts

Michelle Valiquet
Special to The Record

CHESTERVILLE—Organizers are hoping the formation of a local chapter of Narcotics Anonymous will give area residents fighting drug addiction a way to recover with the support of former addicts.

Narcotics Anonymous (NA) is a non-profit, community-based organization for recovering addicts, active in over 50 countries. The Chesterville group joins other regional chapters in Ottawa, Cornwall and Smiths Falls to help men and women who want to stop using drugs.

It's open to anyone who wants to stop using drugs — any drug, legal or illegal, including alcohol. Members learn from one another how to live drug-free and recover from the effects of addiction. More experienced members (known as sponsors) work individually with newer members.

The core of the NA program is the Twelve Steps, a set of guidelines outlining a practical approach to recovery. By following these guidelines and working closely with other members, addicts learn to stop using drugs and face the challenges of daily living.

The basic premise of anonymity allows addicts to attend meetings without fear of legal or social repercussions, an important consideration for an addict thinking about going to a meeting for the first time.

Organizers say anonymity also supports an atmosphere of equality in meetings, helping to ensure that no individual's personality or circumstances will be considered more important than the message of recovery shared in NA.

NA meetings and other services are funded entirely by donations from addict members and the sale of recovery literature. Financial contributions from non-members are not accepted.

Besides holding regular meetings for its members, NA offers a number of services, including community awareness meetings, presentations to various groups, services to hospitals and institutions and public service announcements.

Phone lines are staffed by recovering members and are primarily designed to help addicts find meetings close by. Anyone in the area with drug problems can call Narcotics Anonymous at 613-236-4674 (NA helpline) to find out about NA and local meeting times.

Winchester Twp. says Yes

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE—Winchester Township council lent its support Monday to the constitutional agreement, but not unanimously.

Council was discussing a resolution drafted and sent to council by Stormont-Dundas MP Bob Kilger, which indicates council's support of the Charlottetown Accord and "in accordance with the fundamental principles of our democratic society, recognizes, respects and upholds the right of the citizens of the Township of Winchester to vote on the Constitutional Agreement in a manner they so choose to decide."

Deputy Reeve Wyman Barton quickly moved the motion, but councillors Ed Gibson and Gord Johnson declined to second the motion, saying they had not studied the agreement enough to go on the record with a decision.

Councillor Jack Durant seconded the motion, and Reeve Claude Cousineau called for a vote on the resolution.

Durant and Barton voted in favor, and Gibson and Johnson abstained.

"Abstentions count as negatives, so I will break the tie, and I will vote yea," Cousineau said.

Barton noted the resolution did not call for council to impose a Yes vote on township residents, and suggested a letter should be sent to Kilger commending him for his Canada Committee.

The Canada Committee, organized by Kilger as the official Yes committee in Stormont-Dundas, announced Tuesday that St. Lawrence High School teacher Katherine Burke, Morrisburg physician Dr. Gerry Rosenquist and SD&G Children's Mental Health Centre - Equipe Psycho-Sociale executive director Pierre Landry have been named as co-chairs.

The final text of the consensus report and a booklet of the package's highlight are available at the township municipal offices.

Reform leader addresses riding

In voting in the national referendum on constitutional change Oct. 26, Manning said Canadians will vote No, based on what they have read in the text of the agreement.

"We just think the deal is bad. Bad for the natives, bad for Quebec and bad for the rest of Canada."

Manning briefly outlined the Reform Party's problems with the agreement, which include "about 60 clauses and phrases that call for further (constitutional debate).

And he warned that the agreement, if approved by Canadians, will weaken economic reform and result in "open-ended financial committments on the part of the federal government and make it harder to balance finances."

He also said the party does not agree that every province should have a veto over changes to the House of Commons, senate and Supreme Court.

Stormont-Dundas Reform Party director Neil Irven said that in Cornwall, Manning "spoke of substance," and addressed both the negative and positive sides of the agreement.

Chesterville grocer Mike Dean, who also attended Manning's Cornwall engagement, said Manning gave an "excellent" speech about the constitutional agreement.

"He talked about the pros and cons. He talked some for it and much against it," Dean said.

About 1,000 people were expected to listen to Manning speak in Brockville Tuesday night.

EDITORIAL & OPINION

Editorial

Finally, our own boys of summer

"Wait 'til next year" used to be the disgruntled cry of perennially heartbroken Brooklyn Dodgers fans. In 1992, it could well be the bold, watch-out-here-we-come warning of the young Montreal Expos, who will likely be in a National League pennant race next season.

The Expos, led by a young slugger from Maple Ridge, B.C., named Larry Walker, were half of what is turning out to be a great baseball story for Canadians. At the end of last season, they were a franchise with a precarious future playing in a stadium that couldn't keep itself together in a city that didn't seem to care about baseball anymore.

There were serious questions as to whether the Expos would survive in Montreal, as attendance fell under one million.

But after some years-overdue marketing moves in the off-season (changing the uniforms, making the Olympic Stadium more baseball-friendly and launching a vigorous advertising campaign which capitalized on the popularity of Gary Carter) and a managerial change that was brilliant — albeit 37 games too late — baseball is back in Montreal.

The changes revitalized the game in the city and put a team of contenders on the field again — the best Expos in more than 10 years.

And the Expos are, of course, just half of the story. The Toronto Blue Jays head into the American League Championship Series this week favored to beat the mighty Oakland Athletics.

This season the Blue Jays broke the major league attendance record that they set last year, once again drawing more than 4 million. Not bad for fans who were once criticized as being too polite.

Canadian major league baseball has come a long way in 26 years. And even though both teams play under roofs and artificial turf, what they do between the white lines makes you forget that the teams are still too young to have any lore associated with them.

Some down south perceive contending Canadian teams as a threat. They fear lower television revenues, and they fear a foreign country mastering their favorite game. What would a Canadian champion mean to ye olde American game? No one up here in the north really cares.

Off the Record

Making a leap of faith on October 26

by Robin Morris
Constitutional Editor

I don't know about you, but I plan to vote yes on October 26. Not because I'm a dyed-in-the-wool Tory. Whatever ties I may have had with the Muldoonites have been severed. And it's not because I'm a Grit. I'd rather have a lit cigar shoved up my nose than have anything to do with a party that would have Pierre Trudeau as its leader. And it's not because I'm a Knee Deeper. I have about as much love for Bob and the Comrades as I have for that other bunch of socialist utopian clowns who head the Democratic People's Republic of Korea - the ones on the north side of the 38th Parallel, the ones who couldn't come up with the technology to get water to run downhill, which is the direction in which Bob and the Comrades are heading.

(In fact, the only even quasi-political organization to which I belong, and this is intended as an aside to my favorite Lifestyle Junior G-Man, Dr. Peter Bevan-Baker, is - now sit down Peter - GREENPEACE. Yessirreebob. I'm a fully-paid-up, card-carrying member of the environmental granola bar fringe.)

No. I plan to vote yes because I have a deep trust in the Canadian genius for compromise that we have exhibited for the past 125 years.

And I believe that the October plebiscite - it's a plebiscite, not a referendum - will be a new starting point for Canada.

(Referendums are binding, as with conscription and the serving of liquor within municipal boundaries. A plesbiscite is just a giant public opinion poll, albeit this one costing us in the neighborhood of $150-million.)

And the result of the October 26 vote will be nothing more than the basis on which the next federal election is fought, just as the 1980 election did nothing more than set the stage for the great wrangle of patriating - not re-patriating, mind you - the British North America Act in 1982.

It was the patriation of the constitution that the Queen signed into law on Parliament Hill in April, 1982. To call it the repatriation implies that the British somehow hijacked the BNA. The only reason it sat in some dusty closet in Westminster for 115 years was that we kept trotting over to London every time we needed the constitution changed because we couldn't agree among ourselves on an amending formula. They must have been heartily sick of the sight of us during that two-year wrangle as every provincial premier and his entourage skipped up the steps of the Mother of Parliaments and every band of native Canadians that could afford the airfare danced around on the front the lawn, chanting hi-yunh, hi-yunh in the best tradition of Cochise.

I am willing to make a leap of faith for Canada, trusting in our ability to adapt and to recognize the differences among us that have made this country the best place in the world in which to live. I am willing to recognize the distinct nature of Quebec and to give our aboriginal peoples the right to self-government, however amorphously the principles may be set out at the present time.

I no more expect a resounding yes vote to end Quebec's incessant demands for more powers than I expect a no vote to make Alberta stop whining about whatever it is that Alberta incessantly whines about.

No, I don't know exactly what the Charlottetown Accord will bring. But then, Thomas Jefferson probably didn't realize that his Constitution would lead to Roe vs. Wade and end prayers in public schools. I do know, however, that it is not an end but a beginning.

A framework upon which the fabric of the nation can be stretched by leaders of our own choosing.

Nation building is a never-ending task. Mankind has always had the tendency to think that history has ended; that each and every epoch is the epitome of man's achievement, and that change has ceased forever.

(Just bring V.I. Lenin back from the dead and ask him if he really thought that the NHL would outlast the USSR and how would Karl Marx react to the realization that good forechecking would be around after dialectical materialism had been consigned to the slag heap?)

And we are no different. Canada will still be here on October 27 regardless of how we will have voted the day before.

The nation has a dynamic of its own and it will grow and transmute despite the best efforts of special interest groups to alter or stop the changes.

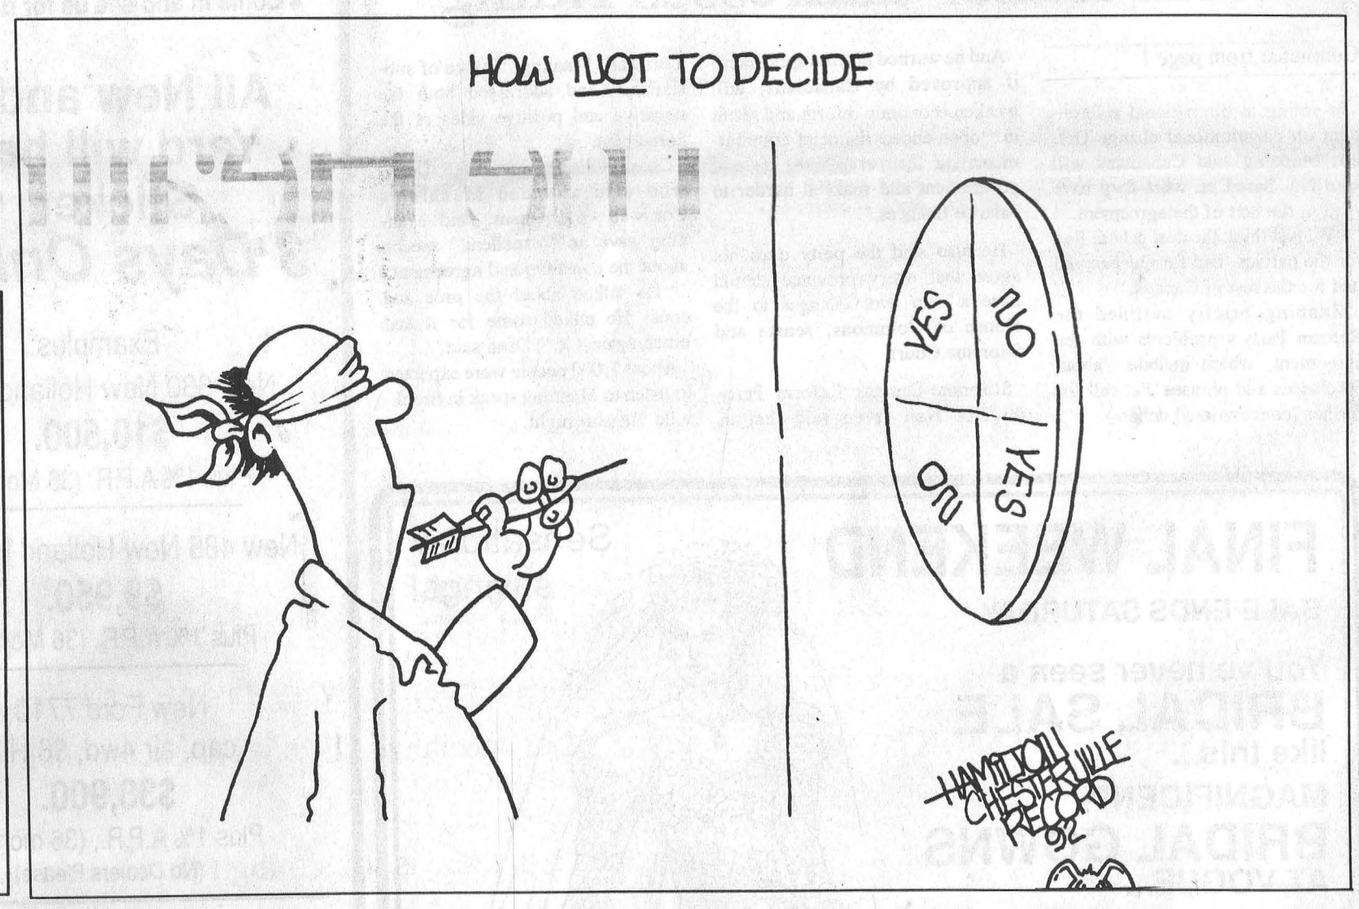
If there is any real reason for voting yes other than my trust in the gentle nature of my fellow Canadians, it is my unabiding opposition to special interest groups like the Natonal Action Committee on the Status of Women and the Council of Canadians, who would enshrine their interests ahead of those of the country.

They have the best of intentions, mind you, but the road to hell is paved with good intentions.

Their demands that special consideration be given to their constituencies in constitutional documents is not unlike the Monty Python skit set on the sinking ship in which the traditional "women and children first" is gradually amended to include "Martians, Red Indians and the Idealization of the Complete Renaissance Man".

We have a history (granted a short one compared with other nations') of change but we don't need a constitutional document long enough to include the special interests of the last ones into the lifeboat.

We have a tradition of adapting to each other's needs and aspirations as they arise and are made known and it is in this spirit of compromise, unparallelled anywhere else on earth, that I am willing to make my leap on October 26.



THE FARMER'S WIFE'S

By Wyn Thompson

Then came October, full of merry glee. - so said Spencer. It is the eighth month of the old Roman year and the Slavs called it aptly "Yellow month," from the fading of the leaf.

No doubt, in future, Canadians will refer to October as "the month of the Accord."

The month of decision...Yes, No, Oui, Non. How to vote? What a decision, indeed? A puzzle. A gaff, or rather how to stand the gaff.

Some things we like about the Accord, some things we heartily dislike. But, not Canada —this impossible, tattered raggedy-Ann and Andy countryside. This country of the underdog and the underbrush, described alternately as "the dullest country in the world" and "the country which most of the people of the world would choose as their homeland, if only they could gain entrance."

We are all so different for each and every little bailiwick has a few things that are absolutely unique — be it religion, language, historical heritage, a slight inflection in voice, roots, personality, character, whatever. A mosaic, a mess, a wonder of the world.

These differences are part and parcel of our heritage, indeed of our very souls. I hope we will cherish these differences, celebrate them in our own grumbly fashion, then get on with it.

A referendum, according to the dictionary, is a free vote, a process of submitting a law already passed by the lawmaking body to a direct vote of the citizens for approval or rejection. Value the opportunity. Read, discuss, debate, then for god's sake vote.

Moan a bit as befits our character but admire, too, the adversity and diversity that makes our country worthwhile, the envy of the world. And a Good Thanksgiving to you, as well.

As we place the corn and pumpkins by our doors in honor of another period of thankfulness, I think that there aren't many people in this country who haven't at least one little thing for which to be thankful.

I say a humble thanks, then get on with the jobs at hand for the wolf moon approaches and winter's cold has no mercy on anglophone, francophone, or allophone, as our forebears found out generations ago.

A matchless October day —the best a weather system can offer. The early frosts are over, the fall heats are passed, and the day is like a full- blown mellow apple clinging to the bough. The day is retrospective, full of tender memories, and wonderful promise. As bewitching as a moonlit pumpkin patch is this month, with its full harvest of enjoyment.

I pot the geranium and coleus slips in the deceptive heat of the afternoon sun, and move the pots indoors. The family room resembles a tropical garden but, it will be a treat for the eyes as the winds howl around and about Hill House.

I am still trying to cope with this miserable cold, grippe, flu, call it what you will. I extend the deadline daily for calling my doctor for 'HELP.' It has got to be a matter of principle now, "I'll show it," I say to no one in particular.

However, after four weeks and ingesting a fortune in patent medicines, I'm about ready to raise the white flag. And, in respect of our tottering health care system, I will struggle for two more days, my mind is made up.

As October's end approaches I'm ready, not only to cocoon, but to burrow, the new buzz words for staying close to home and hearth. Intrinsic in my genes I acknowledge, for when I'm alone I can be myself, no pretences.

I can smile if I wish, frown if I like, do as I please when the spirit moves me. I can tell the barn cats what's on my mind when they come to call. I can tell Lady what I think of her.

Since the Farmer is at his work all day, I have blocks of solitude to enjoy, and enjoy them I do. It's selfish no doubt, but not to worry, life is not long enough to do all you wish to get done. But, what a joy to be alive, regardless of all the horrors, how beautiful this world is! As I said it's Thanksgiving, a time to acknowledge it!

I went for a walk in the woods today and was reminded of Thoreau who said, "Nature is our widest home." He spoke so often of finding solace in Walden's ancient oaks.

Stopped in to see Amanda en route and came home with hot peppers to make Salsa sauce —so good on cold meats and hamburgs. She had jars of it lined up on her counter cooling and she remarked as she bottled the last jar of how well Sam likes it.

"In fact, he likes it so well he'd put it on his morning toast if I set the jar out," she laughed. "A little hot for me at that hour of the day," I replied.

She had also been busy cleaning up her garden, except for the turnips, potatoes and cabbage. "They stay out until Thanksgiving Monday and then they are stored in the root cellar and I'm thankful the season has gone full circle.

When the last cabbage is laid on the shelf and I enter the kitchen, the roasting turkey smells really good. I'm ready for hearth fire, soup kettle, books, sewing, knitting, long walks, all the things I've had to forego during the planting, growing and harvesting time of the year."

"You've got it right there," I laughed, as I swung off home to make some Salsa.

Thought for the week: He is only rich who owns the day. There is no king, rich man, fairy, or demon who possesses such power as that...The days are made on a loom whereof the warp and woof are past and future time. - Ralph Waldo Emerson.

It's Not Just The Health Of The Economy That's At Stake.

Ontario's hospitals are facing a serious financial crunch. Every day we read about another cutback, about more beds being closed, about more nursing staff and other specialized health care personnel being laid off.

It doesn't make very comforting reading.

Our health care system is being threatened and there is something that you can do about it.

Spend your shopping dollars in Canada.

Granted, not all of our health care problems are due to Cross Border Shopping, but every dollar spent outside Canada is one less dollar for the Canadian economy. It's one more job that is threatened. One more small business, just like ours here in Chesterville, that will find it harder to make ends meet and to continue paying the taxes that help underpin our health system.

And one more health care facility, like the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, that will find it harder to maintain the world's best universal-access health care system.

So keep your shopping dollars at home.

Or maybe you'd prefer a health system like they have in the U.S.? If, that is, you've got an extra $7,000.00 for private medical insurance.

Couple will "never forget" Royal meeting

Muriel and Floyd Dingwall, with Jersey pottery and tea cloth they bought on Jersey Island

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

A trip to England for Berwick dairy farmers Floyd and Muriel Dingwall was truly a royal affair.

The Dingwalls travelled to Stonely, in central England in June after Floyd was asked to judge the royal Jersey show and while there, met Queen Elizabeth II.

"I wasn't a bit nervous. I thought it was an honor to meet her," Floyd Dingwall said.

The meeting happened at a July 13 reception, the day before the Dingwalls returned to Canada. Those in the room lined up and the Queen proceeded through the line and spoke briefly to each person.

Dingwall, reeve of Finch Township, said he and Muriel were introduced to the Queen by two of her servants, and before the meeting they were told not to bow, curtsey or shake hands.

And both the Dingwalls said meeting the Queen was the highlight of their trip — something they will never forget.

"People asked me if I looked at her pearls and diamonds, and I said, 'No, I just looked at her beautiful smile,'" Muriel said. "TV pictures don't do her justice. It's hard to explain how she looks."

Floyd said he was worried about what he would say to the Queen, but was told she would carry the conversation.

He said he told her it was an honor to judge the show, and she asked him about the quality of the 70 Jerseys he judged.

He then told her he had enjoyed the show, and she told him it was nice to have Canadians visit the show. The meeting lasted one or two minutes.

"I wasn't nervous but you feel very warm inside. She's a very special person over there and I don't think we in Canada appreciate her as much," he said.

Dingwall was contacted by letter earlier this year and asked to judge the show, which he had also done in 1979.

He was supposed to be joined by a judge from Australia, but the man took ill and was unable to attend the show.

Dingwall, who has judged at the CNE in Toronto, said the crowd at the show was the biggest he had ever judged for.

But he said he didn't feel pressure, because, "once I start to judge nothing outside the ring bothers me."

The Royal Show, Dingwall said, was tremendous, and more oriented toward agriculture than Canadian fairs.

Another highlight of the trip for the Dingwalls was a four-day visit of Jersey Island, where Jersey cows originated.

And one difference between dairy farms there and in Canada immediately caught the Dingwalls' attention.

"The great thing about that was that there were no flies," he said.

Dingwall was impressed by a large, modern and computerized dairy operation he visited on the island, but found it strange that residents wore wool sweaters even in the summer.

Left, a milk bottle from the Royal dairy herd Dingwall brought back from England. Right, while in Britain, Dingwall donned a bit of English tradition, a bowler hat.

Let's talk about Canada

In less than three weeks, Canadians will make a collective decision that will shape the country's future. The politicians have had their say. Now it's time to have yours.

In an effort to stimulate public discussion on the Oct. 26 referendum, The Record is inviting readers to share their thoughts about the referendum, the Charlottetown agreement, and the future of Canada.

Over the next two weeks we will accept submissions, both oral and written, from readers. We will publish your views in our Letters to the Editor section as we receive them.

There are several ways you can make your voice heard by other Record readers.

—Write a letter — even a few sentences will do — and mail it to our office. Our address is P.O. Box 368, Chesterville, K0C 1H0.

—Call and ask to speak to a reporter and we'll take down your thoughts over the telephone.

—Drop by the office anytime and speak to us in person.

We look forward to finding out what our readers are thinking about Canada.

New book looks at rural trends

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

OTTAWA—Despite the continued growth of Canadian urban centres, many people still want the quiet life of the rural areas. And after many years of urban workers earning more than those in rural-based jobs, the wage gap between the two groups has closed considerably.

These are just two of many findings of a new book compiled by a Statistics Canada research economist.

Rural and Small Town Canada (Thompson Educational Publishing), edited by Ray Bollman, is a collection of papers examining various aspects of rural life such as labor markets, demographics and rural well-being.

The book, released last month, was two years in the making. The idea arose out of a 1990 conference organized by Statistics Canada and the the Agriculture and Rural Restructuring Group to discuss issues relating to rural Canada.

In a telephone interview last week, Bollman said the book produced many "exciting results."

One of the book's conclusions, Bollman said, is that rural people are doing a lot more than agricultural work.

Much of rural employment is in the manufacturing and service industries, he said. Farmers became a minority in rural Canada in 1956, and now only between 15 and 25 per cent of rural jobs are generated by agriculture.

Farm women, the book found, are a significant part of the rural labor force. In some rural communities, up to 40 per cent of the non- agricultural jobs held by women are held by women who live on farms.

Although cities with more than 100,000 people continue to grow at an astonishing rate, said Bollman, rural areas and small towns are maintaining their populations. But more and more, they are located close to big cities. One third of rural Canadians live in the rural fringe of major metropolitan centres.

One of the book's chapters is called Does Rural Matter? And Bollman said it does.

"Yes it matters because people want the lifestyle and they will pay for the lack of access to services," he said.

But the authors did find some disadvantages to living in rural Canada, where mortality rates are higher and where residents have lower education and are less likely to pursue higher education.

Bollman said the book often uses examples of particular communities to illustrate trends. He said it can be difficult to generalize because rural areas in Saskatchewan, for example, are very different from those outside large Ontario cities like Toronto or Ottawa.

"So it's probably unfair to lump them all together because there's such diversity," he said.

While the book will be marketed primarily as a textbook for undergraduate university courses, Bollman said it can be useful for economic development officials in rural areas.

"We're saying, here is what we've found, it may apply to you; here are some examples."

The book's 32 authors drew on several sources for their numbers, including 1986 census data and Statistics Canada labor market surveys.

Letters

Yes vote won't mean constitutional peace

To the Editor:

As the referendum debate heats up, I become ever more troubled by the rhetorical nonsense coming from the Yes side. There is no doubt that many of the 'Yesers' are sincerely concerned about our country and for this I commend them. But really, how foolish and shallow can the arguments get? Except for outright separatists, those who say No to the referendum question also love Canada and are deeply concerned for the country's future. No matter the outcome, there will always be separatists.

We hear of economic chaos, especially from several banks and politicians. Their warnings are a mirror image of what was predicted if the Meech Lake Accord failed. Our world did not collapse, however, with the demise of Meech. Two American bond rating firms, as well as others in the field, have stated that a vote either way will make little difference to money markets.

Another major point is that we will have many more MPs when the House is already full. Already we are overrepresented per capita compared to other industrial countries.

Is it fair that Quebec will be guaranteed 25 per cent of federal legislators for ever more? What happens if Quebec drops to 20 per cent of the population or lower?

Senators are to be elected in all provinces. They will have that power, though. Surely the environment needs national direction, as do education and research standards.

There are many more unknowns and confusing items in the Charlottetown Accord. There are over 200 articles, many of them not yet defined, compared to 7 in the U.S. Constitution, with 28 amendments over a period of 200 years.

My premise is that we need a strong central government. Hopefully with Quebec included. But the time for appeasement is past. Quebec has done well in confederation. It is time to get on with more important matters, with or without Quebec. Economics, not politics, will probably sway many millions of ordinary Quebecers. A minority of elitists is telling them differently, and none of our national leaders has the courage to tell these Quebecers otherwise.

Finally, Brian Mulroney and over 60 per cent of Quebec legislators, supported Trudeau's repatriation of the Constitution. Why have they changed their minds?

I am not a member of any political party; I am someone very concerned for the future of my country for all its inhabitants. Voting Yes in the hope of peace from constitutional matters will not bring about the desired result.

Yours sincerely,
Alvin Runnalls

Food bank hopes to fill shelves with one-day drive

Liz Edwards
Special to The Record

WINCHESTER—Organizers are hoping a one-day food drive will help fill up empty cupboards at the North Dundas Food Bank in Winchester.

Since the food bank opened in March, it has served more than 60 families with an increase of three more every week. Now supplies are running low so the bank will hold a one-day Thanksgiving food drive at six local fire stations on Saturday, October 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

"It's getting really, really bad and that's why we have to do something. We thought with Thanksgiving, it would be good because people are a little bit more generous around this time," says Donna Proulx, co-chairman of the food bank.

Items such as canned fruit, pork and beans, and Kraft Dinner are especially needed. Firefighters will take food or money donations at their stations in Winchester, Williamsburg, Chesterville, South Mountain, Hallville and Morewood. Cheques can be made out directly to the food bank.

"We're always looking for cereals, peanut butter and jams as well," says Proulx. "We can't afford to give out turkeys and hams for a Thanksgiving dinner, we have just too many families."

Residents in need are allowed a three-day supply once a month from the food bank. The food donation blitz is a first for the organization — donations usually come from bins located around town but the supply has slowed down in recent weeks.

"It's been pretty steady (since it opened) but it seems sometimes interest dwindles for a bit," says Proulx. "You can forget easily about it sometimes it can be put in the back of your mind."

The food bank has used some of its cash donations to help out but needs to save it for perishable food items, bills, and emergencies.

Volunteers to deliver the food and decorate the donation bins in stores are also needed. As well, organizers need help with the clean-up and repair of the office at 594 St. Lawrence St.

Anyone interested can contact Martin Reichart after 6 p.m. at 448-1033.

Inspections may be next step in sewer system cleanup

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE—Village council will decide at the end of this month how to attack the problem of illegal household connections to its sanitary sewer system.

Between 20 and 25 residents had their connections inspected by public works superintendent Jack Smith after council sent a letter in August to all homes detailing the sewer problems.

Homeowners who were unsure how their drains and sump pumps were connected could have their homes inspected at no cost.

Smith said he has not received any more calls in the last few weeks. He said most of the homes he inspected already had proper sewer connections in place.

Reeve Jim Cook said it will be up to council to decide what the next step will be. The August letter stated that periodic inspections would be done to ensure there are no illegal connections.

Cook said whatever action is taken should be done by November. Problems at the sewage pumping station have historically occurred during the spring thaw or periods of heavy rainfall when there is additional flow.

A 1990 engineering study found that much of the flow problem at the pumping station was caused by illegal hooks ups of residential sump pumps and drains to the sanitary sewer system. Sump pumps and down spouts are supposed to be connected to the village's storm sewer system.

Business signals new start for Finch woman

FINCH—For Lianne Acres-Hanna, starting a new business has meant transforming both her life and her house.

The first floor of her two-storey home is now a gift shop with antique-style frames, decoys, candle holders, and other assorted bric-a-brac crowding the tables, and woven floor mats hanging over the couch.

On a wall near the front door, inside a small decorative wreath, is a memorial card with a tiny photo of a newborn baby.

The baby is Mercedes Acres-Hanna, who died last May of sudden infant death syndrome at one week old.

Acres-Hanna named her new gift shop and tea room, Chez Mercedes, after her baby daughter. It was after her loss that Acres-Hanna decided to give her life a new direction.

The Finch resident had worked as a product manager for a computer software distribution firm, a job that involved travelling throughout the United States and handling a $14-million inventory. But at times, she says, it was a "rat race."

Days before she was supposed to go back to work after her maternity leave, Acres-Hanna quit her job.

"I decided to make a whole new lifestyle change," she says.

When she travelled on business, Acres-Hanna used to frequent craft shows and shops, often buying locally-made products. And while opening a shop in her home wasn't planned when she left her job, it was something she had thought about doing.

On Saturday and Sunday, about 400 people attended opening of her new shop. And Acres-Hanna says the tea room and gift shop, which will be open every weekend, is just the beginning of what she plans to do in her new career.

She hopes to start a merchants' association or chamber of commerce in Finch, and organize events throughout the year like sleigh rides in the winter and fashion shows in the spring. She also wants to set up a welcome wagon service for newcomers to the village.

"We have a lot to offer and I don't think it's emphasized enough," she says.

Mary Luykx with little sister and good friend Sylvie Cardinal

Friendship has mutual rewards

Berwick woman named Big Sister of the Year

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

Mary Luykx doesn't think she deserved to be named Big Sister of the Year. But a 15-year-old Cornwall girl who says Luykx is "loving, caring and fun to be with," does.

Completely taken by surprise, Luykx received the award Saturday at a banquet held by the Cornwall chapter of Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

"I was just so overwhelmed, I couldn't speak," the Berwick resident said Monday. "I wish I could have known because I couldn't say a proper thank you."

And if she had known, what would she have said?

"That I really, really enjoy it and would encourage people who have some time and maybe are lonely to look into it, because to me it's very rewarding."

The mother of six grown children and grandmother of four was nominated for the award by her "little sister" of two years, Sylvie Cardinal.

The Big Brothers organization matches kids from single-parent homes with adults who can spend time each week with them. Sylvie was matched with two women before meeting Luykx. One eventually had a baby, and the other married and moved away from the area.

Sylvie appreciates that Luykx, a widow, has the time to spend with her.

"She's really busy too, but she doesn't have kids to raise," says Sylvie, who hopes to become a big sister when she turns 18.

Caseworker Carole Fiddler says Luykx is the perfect example of a big sister. "Although she's not one of our younger big sisters, she's very special."

Luykx says spending time with Sylvie makes her feel young. She has introduced Sylvie to gardening, sewing, the outdoors, and the two even climbed a tree to pick apples one day.

"I think I was lucky to find a girl like that," Luykx says.

And while their age difference has also benefitted Sylvie, she says in many ways her friendship with Luykx is like the ones she shares with girlfriends her own age.

"I can tell her everything," Sylvie says. "We can tell each other secrets."

And the admiration is mutual. Luykx proudly remarks that Sylvie is doing well in school, and that her own children think Sylvie is great.

"She's one of the family," says Luykx.

The Big Brothers group asks the adult for a commitment of a few hours each week. But Luykx says the friendship is much more than that. Sylvie often spends weekends and special occasions at Luykx's home.

"Sylvie and I want to stay friends for the rest of our lives," Luykx says.

Bus safety program aimed at young kids

CORNWALL—The SD&G school boards and local bus operators have joined together to offer a program on bus safety aimed at young children.

The first-time bus riders' program will be held at 14 different schools throughout the counties on Saturday, Oct. 17 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The one-hour program will target kids in junior kindergarten and kindergarten, but children up to Grade 3, as well as family members and babysitters, can also participate. There will be safety demonstrations, a video, and a short bus ride. Children will receive a certificate for participating.

Bus operators from the three counties are involved in presenting the program.

Parents can pre-register their children for the event through local schools, and can attend any site where the program is being offered, regardless of where the children go to school.

Locally, the event will be held at St. Mary's School in Chesterville, Our Lady of Good Counsel School in Ingleside, Tagwi Secondary School in Avonmore, Nationview Public School in Inkerman and Seaway District High School in Iroquois.

NEVER AGAIN!
a War Amps video series

"In a war, everyone suffers... we must never let it happen again."

The War Amps believes it has a responsibility to warn younger generations about the true horrors of war. Who better to recount the battles as they really happened than the veterans who experienced war first-hand? The NEVER AGAIN! videos provide historical accounts of Canada's participation in the First and Second World Wars and Korea.

Come and see the

Stanley Cup

-Yes, the real one...

and meet Yvan Cournoyer...

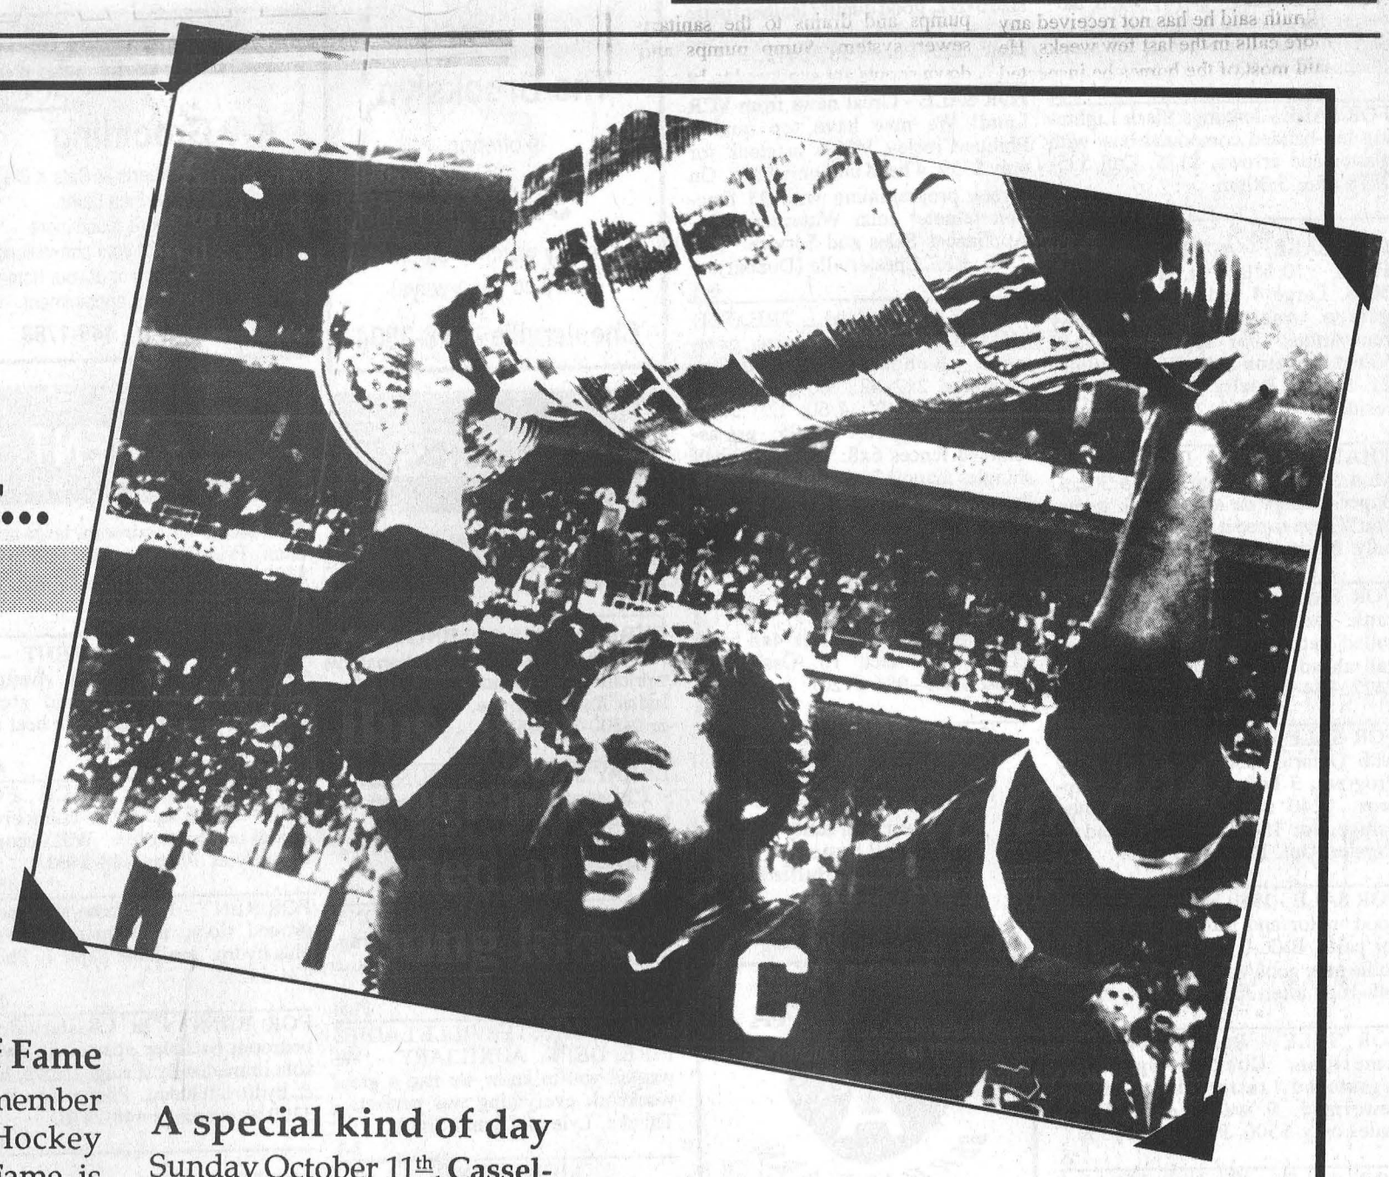
SUNDAY OCTOBER 11th ONLY

at

Casselman HYUNDAI



A first in the region

Casselman Hyundai is introducing the new '93 Hyundai models and holding a super liquidation sale on the '92 Hyundais. In addition to the Scoupe, Excel, Sonata and Elantra, the new Scoupe L.S. Turbo '93 equipped with the Alpha motor will be on display. Recently, it won the Mount Pyke '92 Challenge establishing a performance record in its category. The race will be shown on screen that day.

From the Hall of Fame

Yvan Cournoyer, member of the National Hockey League's Hall of Fame is Casselman Hyundai's special guest Sunday October 11th. He will meet the people of Prescott-Russell with the one and only Stanley Cup in hand. Also, prizes like tickets to see the Montreal Canadians at the forum and some of Yvan Cournoyer's personally autographed hockey sticks will be drawn.

A special kind of day

Sunday October 11th, Casselman Hyundai will introduce, under a big tent, the new '93 models. At the same time, great discount offers will be available on the '92 models - up to $3,000. Hyundai representatives will be on location to authorize more deals on wheels.

So, come and celebrate with us Sunday October 11th, and you'll see that . . .

We know how to treat people at

INFORMATION RELEASE

The Municipalities of South Dundas have approved a recreation feasibility study for the area.

The South Dundas Recreation Council will carry out the study with a yet to be appointed consulting firm.

Using the recommendations of the Master Plan the study will attempt to determine:

1. How to improve present recreation facilities to achieve these recommendations; and
2. What new facilities must be constructed to alleviate any short-comings in our present facilities.

It can be expected that the study will take 4-6 months to complete once started.

CARD OF THANKS

RIDDELL - The family of the late Verna Riddell would like to express their thanks to those who sent cards, flowers, made memorial donations and offered their sympathies to us at the time of her passing. Thank you to J.R. Vice Funeral Home, Winchester, Jim Daniels and Ron Gibson for their professional conduct, St. Pauls Presbyterian Church Ladies Aid for the lovely luncheon and to Rev. Heather Jones for her comforting words. Special thanks to Dr. Raymond Dawes for his care and compassion and to the first floor nursing staff for their expert nursing attention while Verna was in hospital. These kindnesses will remain with us forever as proof of Verna's friendship with so many.

INMEMORIAMS

IN MEMORIAM

GRAY - In loving memory of a very dear father and grandfather, Lloyd, who passed away Oct. 8, 1990.

Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place,
A happy home we once enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Always remembered with love,
Daughter Gloria Gibeault and Grandson Michael Gibeault

IN MEMORIAM

GRAY - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Lloyd, who passed away Oct. 8, 1990.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died two years ago.

Always remembered with love,
Wife Loretta,
Daughter Eleanor
and grandsons Greg and Cory

IN MEMORIAM

DESORMEAUX - In loving memory of a dear husband, Valmore, who passed away Oct. 7, 1989.

Though time has a way to ease the pain,
Things never really seem the same.
The time just seems to slip on by,
And we often sit alone and cry.
If only we could have the chance,
We'd pray for the day for a hug and smile,
Or just to say I love you.

Your wife Cecile

INMEMORIAMS

IN MEMORIAM

WALDROFF - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away October 2, 1988.

We'll never forget the way you smiled,
Or the words you used to say.
The many things you did for us
In your special loving way.
We know you're just a thought away
And that thought is remembered everyday.

Forever in our hearts,
Phyllis and Cecil,
Mike, Cindy and children

IN MEMORIAM

WALDROFF - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away October 2, 1988.

Beautiful memories woven in gold,
This is the picture we tenderly hold.
Deep in our hearts her memory is kept,
To love and to cherish and never forget.

Lovingly remembered,
Brenda, Kim and Jackie

IN MEMORIAM

MERKLEY - In loving memory of a dear sister, Frances, who passed away Oct. 1, 1974.

Ah, myriad feet will wind their way
To view the resting place today.
Oh those beloved gone before
Who wait for us on yonder shore.

Ever remembered by her sisters

DEATH NOTICE

DEATH NOTICE

In the passing of Kenneth Stewart of Chesterville on October 5, 1992 his son Ronald wrote this poem in his memory.

Just On The Other Side

There is no call for sorrow
When another soul has died
For they have not left us here
Just on the other side.
To reap in all the riches
That's waiting for us there
Keep in mind the Father
Would want us now to bear.
There is no call for sorrow
Another's soul's not died
Simply gone on home to Heaven
Just on the other side.

Sadly missed by,
Wife Lillian, Kendra, Susan
and Ronald Stewart

Morewood corner lot could end up in hands of residents

Liz Edwards
Special to The Record

MOREWOOD—The fate of a controversial corner lot in Morewood may be partly in the hands of the hamlet's residents.

A committee of several Morewood residents plans to ask other community members if they want to purchase the land, listed at $45,000.

The group was formed last Wednesday when 30 residents showed up at the Morewood Recreation Association building to discuss what to do with the land at the main corner of the hamlet. People attending the meeting suggested the 125-foot-by-75-foot parcel could be used as a town square, green space or saved for other purposes.

Residents Rob Norris and Jeff Marshall recently approached the Morewood Recreation Association about purchasing the lot and the RA agreed to host a meeting about the issue, said RA vice-president Janet MacGregor in an interview.

"The RA was not in any way for or against this, they were just trying to find out what everyone wanted," said MacGregor.

While the RA could not own the land, the members could ask Winchester Township to purchase the lot using money set aside for the hamlet's parks and recreation and other government grants.

"We were sort of hesitant to get involved because of the background of it. We knew some people would be for it and others would not," said MacGregor.

The lot was the centre of controversy last January when 10 Winchester Township residents approached council, concerned that two council members who owned the land wanted to make a profit on the land by selling it back to the township.

Reeve Claude Cousineau and Councillor Jack Durant bought the lot from Evelyn McNabb in May 1991 — two days after a motion by the township to buy it died on the table.

Cousineau denied the township was considering buying the lot, saying he and Durant bought the land to preserve it as a green space when they learned it might be bought to be used as a truck yard.

Durant added they were hoping Morewood community members would buy the land privately for park space.

Some residents at the Wednesday meeting were concerned the purchase might still be a conflict of interest for the township.

"I like the idea of having the spot but to me there's something that overshadows it... conflict of interest issues and stuff like that," said Gord Guertin. "We don't have the facts behind it."

Randy Goodfellow, who chaired the meeting, suggested the committee gather all information concerning the lot to inform residents.

The committee will also have to deal with other tough issues such as how to reach residents, what constitutes the community and how the decision should be made to buy.

The members will also have to consider various methods of paying for the lot and how it can be used.

Rob Norris, a member of the committee, says everyone will have a say in the matter one way or another.

Although he maintains it is important to find out what the community wants, he said at the meeting he was in favor of the idea as a green space which could bring social, environmental and economic benefits to the community.

VILLAGE OF CHESTERVILLE
PUBLIC NOTICE
FIRE HYDRANT FLUSHING

The Utility Operations of M.O.E. will be conducting scheduled maintenance of village fire hydrants. This program is designed to ensure that our hydrants will be ready if needed by the Fire Department.

The hydrants are inspected for proper operation and their flow capacities are checked. This maintenance procedure is routine but may result in some temporary minor inconveniences such as reduced water pressure or "red" water.

IF COLOURED WATER IS DETECTED

1) Please open your COLD water taps to clear the system.
2) The coloured water is not hazardous to health.
3) This situation is temporary and should last no longer than two hours.

The flushing will take place during the week of October 19 to October 23, 1992 inclusive.

The staff of the MINISTRY OF THE ENVIRONMENT thanks you for your cooperation and understanding.

Ottawa diocese suggests Crysler church may close

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

CRYSLER—A meeting last week between members of St. John's Anglican Church in Crysler and diocese officials didn't result in a final decision about the church's fate.

But a statement from the Ottawa diocese office this week suggests that officials are seriously considering closing the church.

"If further investigation confirms the gloomy assessment of the condition of the building, then the building will be permanently closed and careful arrangements made for the appropriate relocation and disposal of the contents, especially memorials and items of historical significance," a press release said.

The meeting last Tuesday was called to discuss the future of St. John's, racked by vandalism in August. The diocese has still not released final estimates on the amount of damage to the church, but even before the interior of the building was ruined, the outside was in need of repair.

The diocese said work on the exterior brick, tower, roof, heating system and historic Crysler window are needed. The 25 people at the meeting couldn't come up with a way to raise enough money to do the exterior repairs and continue maintaining the building if it were restored.

Whatever happens to the building, however, the diocese and congregation agreed that the church should keep the land on which the 103-year-old building now stands.

"There isn't one person that doesn't really want (the church) to continue," said church member Lorna Armstrong. "But until all the estimates are in, no conclusions can be drawn."

From Chesterville's Past

Mr. Jonah Beckstead, whose home is in East Williamsburg, found three old coins in his garden. One was a silver token of the realm of Spain, bearing date 1784 - the year of the coming of the United Empire Loyalists. It is the size of a Canadian 10c piece. Another was copper, being a British half-penny of the vintage of 1812, while the third, also copper, was an Isaac Brock half- penny struck in 1814. All three coins are in an excellent state of preservation and were only recently picked up by Mr. Beckstead.

Mr. Jas. A. Allan has moved to town and is living in the residence he recently purchased. The schools of Russell have been closed on account of the prevalence of diptheria. Five houses have been placarded. Mr. Carman Empey, of Finch, will offer his farm stock etc. for sale by public auction on Thursday, Oct. 14th. At Normal school in Toronto there are 217 students, of whom only nine are men. At Peterborough there are 175 students, of whom 25 are men.

Chesterville council Monday night accepted a tender submitted by Roads Resurfacing, of Chesterville, to lay the Queen West water main that is in need of replacement. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $2,500. Eight-inch cast iron pipe will be used and it is hoped to have it completed as soon as possible.

Delbert A. Dillabough, 57, of RR 2 Chesterville, was admitted to Winchester District Memorial Hospital Thursday evening last suffering from shock and bruises, the result of a motor vehicle accident near the C.P.R. crossing on Highway 31, Winchester.

The wet weather is still with us and mud underfoot has almost become accepted. The lush growth is still waiting for the first heavy frosts. James Campbell, of town, brought into the Record office this week a long stem of ripe blackberries he had pulled behind his house. The berries are nearly all ripe despite the lateness of the season.

Prior to the marriage of Miss Connie Jarvis, a miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Sydney Morris, Chesterville.

The North Stormont Junior "C" Express completed training camp last week in Winchester.

Express trim to starting roster

By Chris Thatcher
Record Staff

And then there were 19.

The North Stormont Express has trimmed its training camp roster to 19 from the original 36 players who entered camp two weeks ago.

Head coach Steve McRae would like to carry 17, but admits the final two cuts could be difficult.

McRae finally got a look at the club Sunday in the team's first pre-season contest, a 3-3 tie with Vankleek Hill.

"I was quite pleased with the way the guys played," he said. "If we can just keep with that style into the season, we should be all right."

The Express will host Rockland this Thursday, Oct. 8, and St. Isidore Friday, Oct. 9. Both games are at 8 p.m.

North Stormont will begin its Eastern Ontario Junior "C" Hockey League season Thursday, Oct. 15, when it hosts Vankleek Hill at the Finch Arena. Game time is 8 p.m.

After making 17 cuts, McRae has found himself in the middle of a youth movement.

The Express have six 16-year-old players still in camp, four who have stepped directly up from bantam. And all of them have a good chance of remaining with the club, according to McRae.

"We've cut some midget age players but the bantams look good and want to play. They don't look out of place at all."

The lack of size could be a factor given the physical style of junior "C" hockey, a problem McRae readily admits.

"We've got a very small team compared to the past —some guys threw some hard checks last night (Sunday) which I was surprised to see —but I don't know how we are going to do if we come up against a big club. But it's still too early in the season to be making predictions."

North Stormont opened camp with five overage players, Mike Stewart, Rock Benoit, Kevin Villeneuve, Dave Duprau and goaltender Richard Chevrier.

McRae trimmed that to four last week, letting Chevrier go in favour of midget goalie Mark Beehler, a 16-year-old from Cornwall's "AA" bantam team. However, the club is still looking for a backup netminder.

One of the coaching staff's primary concerns was the number of penalty minutes North Stormont accumulated last year.

The team led the league in that category with over 900, an average of 30 minutes a game.

"We spent over half a game shorthanded last year," McRae said.

R/O forward Sarah Eamon looks for a teammate in the junior Lancers' 49-37 win over Char-Lan.

Char-Lan Crusaders rally for come-back win over Lancers

The Rothwell/Osnabruck senior girls basketball team watched a come-from-behind win slip away in the last three minutes of play Wednesday.

The Lancers rallied from a 14-2 deficit after one quarter, only to watch the visiting Char-Lan Crusaders post a 39-33 victory.

"We were ahead with three minutes left in the game but I think the come-back took it out of us and we just couldn't put the ball in the basket," R/O coach Bob Thompson said.

For the Lancers, it was their second loss to Char- Lan in as many weeks. R/O lost a 22-20 contest in the consolation final of the Sir Robert Borden Tournament last week.

The loss drops R/O's record to 1-1, while Char-Lan improves to 1-1.

Stacey Paquette hit for 10 points and Valerie Robinson added another eight as the Lancers built slim half time and third-quarter leads. Emily Zufelt cashed in six points.

Katherine MacLachlan sunk 14 to lead the Crusaders.

R/O struggled through a 3-7 season last year but six of its nine players are returning seniors.

"We're not too concerned about the regular season at the moment," Thompson said. "We just want to be ready by the playoffs."

JUNIOR

In the junior contest, Kelly Rombough pumped in 16 points to lead the Lancers to a 49-37 win over Char-Lan.

The win improves the Lancers record to 2-0, in spite of a 20-point effort from the Crusaders' Joanne Legault.

R/O trailed 20-19 at the half but 10 points from Angie Thompson and nine from Christine DeJong put the Lancers in the lead to stay.

MIDGET

The Rothwell/Osnabruck midget girls basketball team survived a last minute rush by Char-Lan to post its second win of the season.

The Lancers (2-0) took a 16-14 decision from Char- Lan, despite the final-minute scramble that saw the Crusaders close the margin to two points.

With three seconds on the clock, Char-Lan went for the tie but the shot hit the rim and rebounded clear of the hoop.

Both sides were deadlocked at 10-10 at the half but R/O pulled ahead 16-10 in the third quarter and held on for the win.

Guard Jessica Walker potted eight points to lead the Lancers. Amanda Bilmer and Amanda Veltheim finished with four.

Spartans down Lady Warriors

The Seaway Spartans handed the Tagwi Secondary School senior girls basketball team its second loss of the season Tuesday, capitalizing on a tentative Warrior defence in the second half for a 43-31 win.

"We came out flat in the second half and they managed to get a few easy baskets," Tagwi coach Don Perrigo said.

Tagwi drops to 0-2 on the season while Seaway remains undefeated at 2-0 in the SD&G standings.

The Warriors kept pace with Seaway over the first two quarters, with veteran forward Julie Crites and rookie guard Andre Villeneuve leading them to a 17-17 draw at halftime. Both finished with nine points.

But neither could match the shooting of Spartans' guard Marianne St. Pierre, who hit for 18.

"They are a very strong team," Perrigo said of Seaway. "We're a young team and I think we had shot everything by the second half."

Amy Stephens, Catherine Doan and Jody Cain added four points apiece for the Warriors.

JUNIOR

Dianne Barton pumped in 22 points, 16 in the second half, to pace the Seaway junior girls to a 63-42 win over Tagwi Tuesday.

The loss drops the Warriors to 0-2 on the season while the Spartans improve their record to 1-1.

Tagwi held slim leads of 18-15 after one quarter and 26-23 at the half, but could not contain Barton in the final 16 minutes.

Pam Nuttal and Melanie Miller both drained 10 points each for the junior Warriors.

MIDGET

Tagwi's Shauna Marjerrison and Sarah McKay hit a pair of buckets each in a 20-19 loss to Seaway in the midget contest.

The Warriors are still looking for their first win of the season.

Kennedy hits 16

Rebecca Kennedy poured in 16 as the North Dundas District High School senior girls basketball team won its first game of the season Wednesday.

The Devils ran their SD&G league record to 1-1, downing General Vanier 48-33 in Cornwall.

"You get that monkey off your back when you get that first win," Devils' coach Mark Lewis said. "The girls went from no confidence last week to over confidence —they were doing things I've never seen them do in practice."

Kennedy's effort in the first half helped the Devils open a 22-9 lead on the Vikings, a lead they would not relinquish.

Brenda Koekkoek hit for nine points and Sherry James, Mary Vermilyea and Tamara Bond drained three buckets each.

The North Dundas junior girls team handed the Vikes a similar fate, posting a 30-20 victory for its first win.

North Dundas competed in the R/O-Seaway Tournament on the weekend.

After losses to St. Mary's and Char-Lan Friday evening, the Devils rebounded with a 29-23 win over Glengarry Saturday.

"Our defense was great in the last game," Lewis said. "We didn't go out and play very well in the first two. We made some mental mistakes and threw the ball away. But hopefully we are now on the upswing."

Tagwi's James McIntosh finished eighth at x-country meet.

Chesterville's Marcellus laces up for McGill

By Chris Thatcher
Record Staff

When Todd Marcellus laces up the skates this weekend, it won't be for the Winchester Hawks.

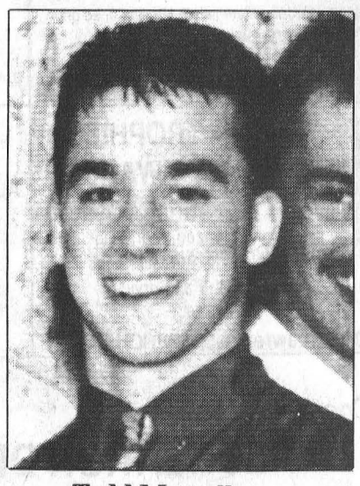
Marcellus is the latest addition to the University of McGill Redmen, carded last Monday after two weeks of training camp that concluded recently in Montreal.

The Chesterville native will be in the Redmen line up this weekend when McGill opens its 1992-93 campaign at the University of Ottawa Thanksgiving Day Tournament.

Although Marcellus carried an impressive list of credentials into camp, McGill head coach Jean Pronovost admits that he knew very little about the centre.

"I'd received some information on him and talked to him last year, but I'd never seen him play," Pronovost said. "He was a surprise."

The Redmen have yet to play an exhibition game, so Pronovost is still basing his judgements on intrasquad games, but so far he likes what he has seen.



Todd Marcellus

"My number one criteria is character and my number two criteria is attitude," Pronovost explained. "Todd has a lot of character and a great attitude so he is already ahead of the game.

"Sometimes players look good in camp and then vanish in a game situation, but I don't think Todd will be like that."

Pronovost was particularly impressed with Marcellus' scoring ability, a talent that has carried him through three all-star seasons with the Eastern Ontario Junior "B" Hawks.

"Todd has a real nose for the net. He has a flare for finding the open space and getting open. He's also hard to hit because he rolls so well with the check."

Marcellus' move to the university ranks leaves a large hole in the Winchester Hawk's roster, one that could be difficult to fill.

"In our books, I guess it's for the worst," Hawks' coach Peter DeRooy said. "But we wish him all the best.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Todd can play in that league —he could have played Central Junior "A." He's a hard worker and a good all-around player."

In three seasons with the Hawks, Marcellus recorded some impressive numbers, winning St. Lawrence division rookie-of-the-year honours in his inaugural season.

That season, 1989-90, he was also named to the league's all-rookie team.

In his sophomore year, Marcellus clinched the EOJBHL scoring title with 51 goals and 37 assists, earning him team MVP honours for the regular season and the playoffs.

He was also honoured with the team's third-star selection award, an accomplishment he repeated in 1991-92.

That spring, he was selected in the first round of the Central Junior Hockey League draft by the Kanata Valley Lasers, but opted to return to the Hawks in the fall after the commuting became too much.

Marcellus' third season, 1991-92, ended on a controversial note. He was named the league's MVP, despite having more penalty minutes than runner-up Randy Mullin of the Morrisburg Lions.

However, he was also named Winchester's MVP and his 46 goals and 45 assists, tops with the Hawks, placed him third overall in the league standings.

Devils' Link back on track

North Dundas distance runner Murray Link took up where he left off last year, running away with the senior-junior boys division of the Long Sault Invitational cross-country meet Monday.

Link covered the 5000 metre course in 16:33 minutes, well ahead of second place finisher Dennis Mocigemba, a German exchange student at North Dundas. Rodney DeGary of St. Lawrence placed third.

North Dundas won three of the four divisions.

Lauren Clobridge edged out teammates Chris Lefave and Jill Byvelds for first place in the midget girls category.

General Vanier won the midget boys class, with Mike Blackadder placing first. Tagwi's Jason McIntosh sprinted to third.

In the senior-junior girls division, Karen Maloney of General Vanier claimed first place honours while North Dundas' Megan Filon finished second.

High school soccer

Senior Devils win, draw in doublebill

MAPLE RIDGE—North Dundas Senior Devils coach Doug Carroll felt his squad came up with a pretty fair effort here on their home field last Tuesday afternoon.

NDDHS played host to Junior and Senior teams from La Citadelle and Rothwell/Osnabruck and were able to improve their SD&G Boys' High School Soccer League records on both levels.

The Senior squad picked up three of a possible four points battling the Patriotes to a 1-1 draw and blanking the Lancers 1-nil.

On the pitch at Maple Ridge Public School the same afternoon coach Kelly Durant's Junior Devils got off on the wrong foot and split their games, losing 4-2 to La Citadelle and beating the R/O Lancers 2-nil.

Senior coach, Carroll, said it was great to get the three points and felt the fourth wasn't that far out of reach.

"We played well enough against La Citadelle. They had to come back and tie us and we missed some good chances."

North Dundas led the Pats 1-nil at the half after Simon Wilson had drilled a nice cross from Brendan Bumbaco into the mesh just before the intermission.

La Citadelle eventually took advantage of the Devils' inability to clear the ball against a gale-force wind to knot the count up 1-1 midway in the second half.

A second consecutive corner kick then ended up in Cory VanDelst's cage after a cross caught him going the wrong way.

In their second match, after La Citadelle had made their trip to NDDHS worth while beating R/O 4-1, North Dundas used John Mallows' marker to beat the Lancers 1-nil.

"John Mallows played an outstanding game," coach Carroll said of his outside left forward.

"John isn't very big and he got roughed up by La Citadelle in the opening game and shoved around a bit by R/O but came up with our goal and had at least four good scoring chances."

The coach explained his team dominated the Lancers and had plenty of scoring opportunities but could not put any more than one away.

"We were all over them, but just squeaked out a win."

The Devils lost defender Jason Ibbetson and had to finish the game with just 10 players.

"Jason pulled a yellow card and was sent to the sidelines. The ref then said he could go back in later in the game but gave him a red card, because of the way he (Ibbetson) was cheering. It was an unusual call and it cost us one man."

"When John (Mallows) finally scored 10 minutes into the second half I said, boy did we need that goal."

This week the Devils faced the Warriors and Char-Lan Crusaders in a twin bill at Tagwi.

"We haven't really been right out of any game we have played. The opposition seem to be pretty even."

Last week the Crusaders improved their record to 4-0-0 beating Tagwi 4-1 and CCVS 2-0. The Junior Crusaders are also undefeated having stopped CCVS 7-nil and Tagwi 3-1.

North Dundas' Senior SD&G record stood at 2-1-1 heading into this week's action. The Devils have outscored their opposition 5-4.

JUNIOR DEVILS SPLIT

Junior Devils coach Kelly Durant said her day Tuesday couldn't have started on a much worse note.

The little Devils got down 4-nil to La Citadelle before making a rally, which fell short at 4-2.

"We were just terrible in the first half of the game, but finally got things together."

After they had dug themselves into a 4-nil hole the Devils found their legs and out-ran the Pats for a pair of goals. Jamie Adams and Murray Link cut the final deficit to 4-2.

In their second encounter of the day the Devils blanked the R/O Lancers 2-nil, thanks in part to some big saves by their keeper, "Big" Dave Dauphinee who slammed the door on the Lancers.

Murray Link's cross pass, left to right, gave Jamie Adams the ammunition he needed for a head- ball goal as North Dundas took a 1-nil lead in the first half.

Clint Hedge drilled the ball home off of Craig Smith, parked just off the goal post, moments later and the Devils had a 2-nil lead they would protect for over a half of play.

North Dundas' Junior SD&G record stood at 2-2-0 prior to this week's action. The Devils' for and against mark is 8-8.

North Dundas forward Troy McNaughton (foreground) attempts to break up a Patriot attack.

Keeper backstops Warriors to win

Brad McNichol stopped everything directed his way as the Tagwi Secondary School senior boys soccer team blanked Cornwall Collegiate 2-0 Wednesday.

The Warriors split a doubleheader with CCVS and Char-Lan, losing the second contest 4-1 to the Crusaders.

McNichol earned his first shutout in the opening game as Tagwi recorded its second win of the SD&G season. Chris Uhr and Rod McKillican scored for Tagwi.

Brad McDonald struck for the lone marker in the loss to Char-Lan, currently holding down first place with a perfect 4-0 record.

JUNIOR

The Tagwi junior boys team shared a similar fate, splitting its two games Wednesday.

The Warriors downed Cornwall Collegiate 3-1 on goals by Julien Benoit, Jamie Norman and Francis Briere, but lost a 3-1 decision to Char-Lan later that afternoon.

Benoit counted Tagwi's lone goal against the Crusaders, who improved to 2-0-2. The Warriors are in fifth place with a 2-1 record.

Express make final cuts

"Last night we only had three penalties while Vankleek Hill took six. That's something we've talked about. If we want to win, can't do it by sitting in the penalty box.

"Winning was important Sunday but we wanted to work on discipline and developing some kind of a system where everybody works hard. Last year, we didn't always have everyone playing complete games."

Fitness Forum

How much is enough?

by Jennifer Gregoire
Reg. N., N.D., B. Sc. Nu.

We all need energy from our foods, but we don't need too much. Getting just the right balance is sometimes difficult in a society where food is always available and where it is so easy NOT to exercise.

Controlling our weight demands that we take a hard look at our eating habits. Those of us with a tendency to be overweight know the effects of the yo-yo syndrome (20 pounds off, 25 pounds back on) that plagues us whenever we finish the current fad diet and go back to the old ways.

Though I, myself, may burn off a great deal more calories than the average woman (17 to 20 aerobic classes a week), I do not lose weight easily and have to be very careful of what I eat. In my case, it is very important that I eat for "fuel". Over the years I have tried different methods, and my research is ongoing; when I discover the optimal nutrition plan, that may be used in most lifestyles, you'll be the first to know! But, by consuming less red meat and eating fish and chicken, or turkey white meat (Thanksgiving's coming!), without the skin, and adding lots of fresh fruits and vegetables, we can all benefit greatly.

Unfortunately, North American society has long projected the ideal woman as slim, but by following that ideal, we could sacrifice nutrients and ignore what our body tells us is right. The right weight is the weight at which we not only look, but FEEL best at.

There are thousands of weight tables published each year, but the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's most recent one allows a lot of latitude: for example, if you're 5 feet, 4 inches tall, your weight range should probably be 115 to 150 pounds, depending, of course, on your bone-and- body type. Nowadays, however, we are more concerned with a person's Body Mass Index, than their actual weight. This measures the amount of FAT your body carries, and is much more accurate as far as your health is concerned.

Hundreds of thousands of fad diets and sensible weight control diets have been published over the years and have as many converts; but please remember: what works (either permanently or short- term) for one person, is not necessarily the ideal or even SAFE plan for another.

Is your plan nutritious? Is it well-balanced? Is it flexible? This is where most fad diets lose out. Some, like the banana diet are just plain silly while others may be downright dangerous! Does your plan reflect the foods you like to eat? Some dieters become demoralized without an occasional treat —a glass of wine, a sweet, or forbidden meat, a Mars bar...Allowing occasional indulgences is more realistic than banning all forbidden foods. Your diet should consist of foods you like to eat rather than concentrating on foods you dislike or rarely eat.

My Silent Achiever this week is the very pleasant- looking and youthful senior who can, almost daily, be seen biking between Morewood and Chesterville! This is great exercise, and quite a feat at any age, let alone at 78! Keep up the good work, Bill! We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

Chesterville's Pringle stuns Ormond with second-half clinic

WINCHESTER—Ben Melenhorst registered the shutout but it was Winchester's Brad Pringle making all of the difficult saves here Sunday night.

After giving up a pair of early goals to the Ormond Cloverdales the Raider goalie was spectacular keeping the opposition off the scoreboard for the remainder of the game.

Unfortunately for Pringle his offence just couldn't get anything going and wound up on the short end of a 2-0 result.

Jamie Nolan banged in a pass from Dan McDiarmid and Todd O'Connor and then Bill Timmons iced the win with his goal, assisted by Bill Livingston and Doug Sloan.

Ormond's victory was their second consecutive and left them tied with idle Prescott Road, Manotick and the Morewood Vikings. All four teams have four points.

Toyes Hill Roadrunners broke into the win column Sunday, posting a 4-1 decision over the winless Newington Knights.

Brian Melenhorst filled in for Roadrunner goalie Steve Velthuis and wound up allowing just one goal in his victory.

Newington tied the game up 1-1 midway through the first half when Kevin Poirier scored his team's first goal of the season on a feed from Alton Beckstead.

John Dumoulin snapped in an Ivan Petersen rebound to put the Hill up 1-0.

Meryl Patterson then broke up the tie game, snapping home Daren Nurse's centring pass. Nurse and Ivan Petersen then engineered the Roadrunners' third goal scored by Richard Suffel in the second half. Petersen earned his third assist moments later combining with Ted Bongers to put Suffel in position for his second goal.

Morewood moved above the 500 mark (2-1-0) handing the Manotick Merchants their first loss in three starts.

The Vikings got a pair of goals from Brian Como and a goal and one assist from Dave Bilmer en route to their 3-1 victory. Gerald Eby picked up an assist on the Bilmer marker.

Daryle Payne ruined Donald Dashney's hopes for a perfect game.

Hawks down defending champs 5-3

MORRISBURG—They couldn't quite pull it off Friday night in their home opener but, sparked by Dennis Dodd's three-goal effort, the Winchester Hawks were able to put a win into the books here on Sunday afternoon.

Dodd scored three times, including the winner with 0:52 left on the clock, leading the Hawks to a 5-3 St. Lawrence Division victory over the defending champion Morrisburg Lions.

Friday night in Winchester the visiting 73s scored three times in the final 5:56 of the game and left town with a 5-2 victory.

Hawks' head coach Peter DeRooy said his club made a few rookie mistakes Friday night and Kemptville took advantage of the chances given them and pulled out the win.

"I think fans will have to have a little patience with us this year. Friday night showed we are going to make some mistakes and they will cost us. We may be a little slow to start but things should come together."

DeRooy praised his team's effort Sunday in Morrisburg, "The guys really turned it around yesterday. Our penalty killing impressed me, I think we had to kill four two-men short situations."

DeRooy explained Sunday's 5-3 win over the Lions was a solid team effort and mentioned the contributions of rookies Brendan Bumbaco, Andrew Holmes and Cory VanDelst who did their jobs when they were on the ice.

The Hawks' mentor also says he feels comfortable with the goaltending he received from Dale Wilson on Friday and Chad Smith's effort here Sunday against the Lions.

It appears Smith, the son of former New York Islander great Billy Smith, is the number two cog in the Winchester goaltending machine. Smith comes to the Hawks from the Ottawa West Golden Knights of the EOJBHL's Metro Division.

Dennis Dodd got the Hawks started at 10:56 of the first period scoring from Tony Genereaux and Derek Brannan. His second tally came from Brannan and made it 2-0 at 8:02.

Morrisburg's Rob Casselman made good on a Hawks' defensive gaf at 6:09 and cut the Hawks' lead to 2-1 scoring an unassisted goal.

Tim Casselman then beat Smith with a long slap shot through the five hole at 4:34 to tie it up at 2-2. Andrew Berrie and Yvon Besner assisted on the play.

Period two was scoreless and so was period three until Lions' Rob Domanko took a relay from Mike McAllister in the slot and beat Smith with a rising shot to tie it up 3-3. Domanko's goal came with 5:22 left on the clock.

Neither Lions' Jeff Hopkins or Hawks' Chad Smith could be beaten as time ticked into the final minute.

Dennis Dodd was able to crack the 3-3 stalemate with just 0:52 left on the clock. Dodd whipped a shot at the Lions' cage as he was turning at the blueline and the disc slid in between Hopkins' skate and the goal post.

Tony Genereaux then picked off a Morrisburg pass in the centre-ice zone, walked in and fired the puck into an empty net with 0:08 left in the game to make it a 5-3 final.

Morrisburg had opened their season with a 9-4 win over the Charlan Rebels in Williamstown the night before.

73S 5 - HAWKS 2

Goals by Dale Wilson, Kirk Tallman and Pat Poirier in the final 5:56 of Friday night's home-opener in Winchester gave the Kemptville 73s a 5-2 decision over the host Hawks.

Chris Williams, playing his first game against his former club, snapped home a 10-foot shot at 13:10 of the first period to get the 73s started.
