Local Farmer Dies Suddenly

Stricken ill while at work in his barn on Friday morning last, Reuben Pruner, prominent farmer of the Melvin settlement, collapsed while being assisted from the barn to the house by his wife, and died instantly. Mrs. Pruner had gone to the barn to assist her husband, when she found him slumped over a barrel suffering great pain.

Dr. H. S. Gross, who examined the body shortly after said that the man had suffered an acute heart seizure.

Deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Pruner and was born near Williamsburg 54 years ago.

Twenty-nine years ago he was married to Miss Hazel Marsell, daughter of Mr. Charles Marsell and the late Mrs. Marsell, of Nation Valley, and six months later settled on a farm in the Melvin settlement, three miles northeast off Winchester, and where he has lived ever since. The late Mr. Pruner was not only one of the district's most prominent farmers, but had achieved success as a stock-breeder. He was also one of the community's most enterprising citizens and his sudden passing will be regretted by a wide circe of friends.

For many years, the late Mr. Pruner has been secretary-treasurer of the Melvin school section. He was also a former trustee and had held many other offices in the township. In religion he was a member of the local United church.

Active in fraternal organizations, he was a prominent member and past-master of L.O.L. No. 862, and a member of Winchester Chapter of the Royal Black Preceptory.

Besides his wife, he leaves three daughters, Mrs. William Brown, of Newington; Mrs. Henry Stata and Mrs. George Barclay of Melvins; also one brother, William Pruner of Oak Valley; and four sisters, Mrs. Geo. Thoms, of Mountain township; Mrs. Silas Coughler, of Oak Valley; Mrs. Alexander Thoms, of Saskatoon, Sask., and Mrs. Archie Coughler, Watertown, N. Y.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon from the family residence to the United Church, where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Atchison, assisted by Rev. D. W. Summers, of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Following the regular service, members of L. O. L. No. 862 conducted the Orange Burial Ceremony, under the direction of the Master, Nelson H. Dixon.

Interment was made at Maple Ridge cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. George Dixon, Colin Hay, Leroy Boyd, Edward Erratt, Frank Nesbitt and Bertram Smith.

Among the many floral tributes were: Pillow, the Family; Sprays, School Section S. S. No. 15; Miss Mary Holmes and pupils; L. O. L. No. 862 Winchester, and Mr. and Mrs. George Thoms, Mountain.

Many Local Citizens Favour Daylight Saving Time During Summer

As the date for adopting Daylight Saving Time approaches, several local citizens are wondering "if the change could not be termed advantageous rather than a nuisance." Many who have discussed the subject this week, are of the opinion that Daylight Saving Time could be adopted in Winchester to correspond with Ottawa, Cornwall, Iroquois, Kemptville and other centres, with which we have so much in common. They claim that this would avoid much confusion during the summer months in making business or pleasure trips to the city.

Other advantages of the new time include an extra hour of daylight in the evening for working in the gardens or participating in golf, ball games or any other summer sport.

It would also be of benefit to the farmers, who take advantage of the longer days anyway. In bringing their milk to the factories, they would not have to wait around until the local stores opened to do their shopping.

From almost any point, Daylight Saving Time is ideal for the summer months and we're all for it. By a petition, the local Council might consider giving the new Time a trial—How about it?

BAPTIST Y. P. U. MEETING

The weekly meeting of the local B. Y. P. U. was held at the home of Dr. McKendry on Monday evening, April 10. Miss Jean Wyatt occupied the chair and the meeting was opened with singing "Crown Him With Many Crowns," after which prayer was offered by Miss Della Barkley. The business portion of the meeting was then dispensed with, and the roll called, which was answered by a Scripture concerning the Resurrection. The hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," was sung and prayer was again offered by Mr. James McKendry and Mrs. (Dr.) McKendry. After the reading of the Scripture, the topic, entitled "Lost and Found," was given by Miss Jean Smith. The Rev. Mr. Willson conducted a very interesting Bible quiz in which everyone heartily participated. The meeting was divided into two groups and a character in the Bible was suggested by Mr. Willson; the group who first found a direct reference in the Scripture concerning this character, was given a point. The groups were quite evenly matched for the standing at the close of the quiz was six to five. The meeting was closed with prayer by Miss Jean Wyatt.

Cheese Factories To Receive Grants

The Governor-in-Council may grant a sum not exceeding 50 per cent. of the amount expended for new material, new equipment and labor utilized in the reconstruction and equipment of cheese factories, according to the terms of a bill sponsored by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The qualifications required from factories eligible for subsidies are that cheese ripening rooms be efficiently insulated and mechanically refrigerated, and that each of such factories replaces two or more existing cheese factories.

The Governor-in-Council may also grant 50 per cent. of the cost of insulating and refrigerating for new equipment and essential parts of cheese pressing apparatus.

There is a grant of two cents a pound on all cheese which scores 94 or more points on grading by a dairy produce inspectoor. The Act will be effective when proclaimed by the Governor-in-Council.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' AID

Despite the rainy afternoon and bad streets, a splendid meeting was held on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. Neil Gray. The president, Mrs. L. Bouchard, opened the meeting with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer. The secretary and treasurer gave their reports which were discussed. Miss Grace Irving gave a report from Group A, and Mrs. George Wilson thanked all those who helped make their concert a success, especially those on Group B. Mrs. J. J. Gray and Mrs. C. R. Robinson volunteered to look after flowers in the church for the month of April

Several items of business were dealt with satisfactorily. Mrs Turner gave Current Events which were enjoyed by all. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the Doxology. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her committee, Miss I. Gardner, Mrs. S. Greer and Mrs. Edgerton.

Spring Work Delayed Owing To Late Break-Up

With snowflurries occurring every day or so to add their quota to what fell during the winter months, prospects for an early spring do not appear bright and farmers in this district are apprehensive about getting onto their land at an early date. The backward spring and great quantity of snow on the ground throughout the country have retarded sugar-making and farmers fear if the present unseasonable weather does not soon terminate, the adverse conditions will be carried on into spring work.

A year ago this district was just recovering from a 30-hour snowstorm which left nine inches of snow on the level, so that present weather conditions cannot be considered abnormal, yet farmers are fearful that seedtime will be delayed unless a break comes soon, with an inevitable lower yield.

Dr. E. S. Hopkins, associate director of agriculture at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, says one of the reasons why farmers do not like late sowing is because the hot weather follows too quickly and results in a diminished crop.

MIZPAH MISSION CIRCLE

The April meeting of the Mizpah Mission Circle was held at the home of Miss Annie Walker on the evening of April 5th. In connection with the business, plans were made to hold the Thank-Offering Service in the Sunday School rooms at 7.30 p.m. on May 3rd.

Mrs. F. Johnson gave a very interesting reading on "Franklin's second expedition to the Arctic," and showed relics found there. A lovely duet was then given by Mrs. Lindsay and Miss Annie Walker, "In the Quiet Garden."

"Weavers in Canada," a selection from the Study Book, was read by Miss Walker. Mrs. Johnson rendered an Easter Carol. The Easter devotional was in charge of the president, Mrs. Bower Potter, with Mrs. R. McPherson reading the message of Easter. At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the committee, Miss Annie Walker and Mrs. Johnson.

R. M. Wallace Passes At Kars

Local residents were grieved to learn of the death of a former well-known resident of Winchester in the person of Robert Malcolm Wallace at his home in Kars on Sunday evening. The deceased was in his 69th year and had been in failing health for the past few years.

The late Mr. Wallace was born on a farm north of North Gower village, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wallace. About 50 years ago he moved to a farm near Kars, and some years later married Miss Vina Poole of Smiths Falls. She predeceased him many years ago. In 1903 he married Miss Nettie James of Kars.

In 1920 Mr. Wallace retired from the farm and two years later moved to Winchester where he entered into partnership in a flour and feed business with Mr. Milton Fennell. During the next seven years, Mr. Wallace and the members of his family gained a wide circle of friends here who will learn of his passing with regret.

Retiring from business in 1929, Mr. Wallace again took up residence in Kars where he continued to reside until the time of his death.

The deceased was widely known and esteemed in the district where he lived and his splendid character and integrity led him to fill many responsible positions in local affairs. For many years he was a member of the Municipal Council of North Gower. He occupied a place for several terms on the Continuation School Board, and also served as treasurer of the cheese factory at Kars. He took a keen interest in the affairs of Trinity United church as a member of the Official Board, and for many years served as Superintendent of the Sunday School. He was a member of Corinthian Lodge No. 476, A. F. & A. M., North Gower.

Surviving are his wife; one son, Morley Wallace, of Ottawa; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Flora, Toronto; Mrs. George Large, Ottawa, and Mrs. Delmer Boyd, Osgoode; one brother, Alex Wallace of Ottawa; two sisters, Mrs. Herb Good, Ottawa, and Mrs. James Henderson, Edmonton; and three grandchildren.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon to Trinity United church, where service was conducted by Rev. E. D. B. Sexsmith. Interment took place in Rideau Vale cemetery, Kars.

100 Club Farmers' Night

The 100 Club regular monthly meeting will be in the Town Hall on Friday, April 21st, when the farmers of the district will be guests of the Club. Mr. M. C. McPhai of the Kemptville Agricultural School will be the speaker, and the entertainment feature will be an exhibition of screen films by Mr. Joseph Vincent, Tourist Representative of the Canadian National Railways. Farmers are invited to obtain tickets free of charge from any member of the 100 Club. Lunch will be served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Further particulars will appear in next week's Press.

Bad Train Wreck East Of Morrisburg

After working nearly 30 hours, section crews of the Canadian National Railat Morrisburg and restoring it to norways succeeded in clearing the main line malcy by Sunday afternoon, following the wreck which occurred in the yards there early Saturday morning. Traffic was resumed at normal speed on Sunday, following the worst wreck in that district in years.

A lengthy freight train, headed for Brockville from Montreal, was stopped in the yards at Morrisburg, the engine being uncoupled and farther west on the tracks, taking water. At approximately 6.30 a.m. Saturday morning, another long freight approached from the east, also Brockville-bound from Montreal. It was travelling on the same track. Pulling it was engine No. 3488, with Engineer James Cairns, of 9 Letitia Street, Brockville, in charge. For reasons not yet ascertained, the Cairns-driven engine plowed into the rear of the stationary train with a crash that sounded like a terrific explosion to residents of Morrisburg, awakening many who were still asleep.

Reared High In Air

At the impact, witnesses state, the engine on the moving train and the caboose, or van, of the train standing still, reared high into the air. The engine fell at an angle, blocking both tracks of the main line of the Toronto-Montreal section of the C. N. R., ripping up ties and rails. The caboose, of wooden construction with steel framework, was shattered into thousands of pieces and scattered for many yards about the landscape.

Brought to an abrupt stop by the collision, the freight train back of the engine, estimated roughly at 80 cars, suffered no damage, only one car, that directly behind the engine, leaving the tracks. A freight car just ahead of the wrecked van was thrown off the rails and landed on its side across the two tracks and the siding at that spot.

Both the van and the thrown car were set afire by the stove that was in the van at the time, and the flames destroyed both cars and the contents of the freight car. The contents were not definitely established.

Engineer Lost Finger.

Both crews apparently saw the crash coming for they jumped from the trains and escaped injury, with the exception of Cairns, the engineer. Cairns jumped, too, but his little finger became caught in the cab of the engine and half of it was torn off in his anxiety to jump free of impending disaster.

Flower Show To Be Held Aug. 4 & 5

A meeting of the Executive of Winchester Horticultural Society was held Saturday night, April 8th, at the home of Mrs. J. D. Stewart, with the president, Mr. J. D. Stewart, in the chair. Suggestions in regard to a Flower Show were asked for and after some discussion, the dates of August 4th and 5th were chosen to hold this year's show. It was also decided to broaden out in the matter of classes for exhibit and to include home baking of all kinds, home canned fruits and vegetables, ladies' work, children, ladies' and men's wear; Art; children's pets, etc. Mrs. Stewart was given a vote of thanks for lunch served.

The Directors of the Society will canvass the town and vicinity this week for members. Citizens are asked to show their interest in the work of the Society and in the welfare of Winchester by helping along this worthy project.

THE LOCAL HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

There are few local organizations that merit the wholehearted support of the citizens to a greater degree than the Winchester Horticultural Society. Representing the best that is in the community, the Society, through the untiring efforts of its splendid officers has, for years, earnestly worked towards the improvement of the town. Through the lavish use of flowers, the local church lawns, school grounds, power station and town hall property have been made real beauty spots, enjoyed alike by residents and visitors.

Not content to rest on their past efforts, the members of the Horticultural Society last year staged a splendid Flower Show in the local arena, and while entries were not as large as might be expected, the quality of the Show, for the first of such undertakings, was outstanding.

During the past week it was decided by the officers to sponsor another Flower Show this year with widely increased fields for exhibitors. The Press lends its unqualified support to the enterprise and appeals to the citizens and residents of the district generally to get behind the undertaking and display the interest and co-operation that such an event demands. Only by such means can any public enterprise be made a success, and there is none more worthy than the Horticultural Flower Show.

During the next few days a canvass will be made for members. Join the Society and do your part in supporting a worthy local organization.

ADVERTISING RACKET

At Oshawa last week a man was found guilty of fraud and sentenced to eight months in jail.

His racket was not a new one. He had a project to publish a booklet endorsed by a church. The church was to receive $75 in cash and 500 copies of the book and the promoter would reimburse himself by getting advertisements in it.

With the church as a recommendation he went about among the business men and sold them advertising space—for which he collected in advance. The booklet was never published.

Merchants can always protect themselves by simply refusing to do business with these vendors of advertising in publications of doubtful parentage and more doubtful value. The vendor is practically always an outsider, an entire stranger; so the merchants can tell him plainly that they are doing their advertising in legitimate publications in their own community.

The churches and other organizations, usually charitable, which are asked to lend their names to these wildcat schemes should take a firm stand against them. A nice round sum in cash looks tempting to the average organization; but the fact is that the organization is used simply to throw a cloak of respectability over what too often is a straight skin game.—Cornwall Standard-Freeholder.

BEATING THE GAS TAX

With the tax on gasoline two cents a gallon higher, motorists are likely to pay more attention to their fuel consumption. trying to see where they can effect a saving, says the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder.

There are several ways, suggested by an American motor car engineer. Here are some of the principal ones:

To begin with, every car has an "economical" speed—a speed which gives more mileage to the gallon than a slower or faster rate. The motorist's first care, then, will be to ascertain the economical speed of his car and, when on the road, hold as closely to it as circumstances permit. Then:

Don't tramp on the accelerator.

Don't drive with the choke on.

Don't be continually starting and stopping; do them only when necessary.

Don't drive too long in second gear.

Don't accelerate on hills; go up at a uniform pace.

Don't try to drive fast against a strong wind.

Don't race the motor.

Don't go in for sustained fast driving. Gas consumption climbs very rapidly as speed increases.

Don't drive too fast on slippery roads.

This engineer estimates that observance of these "don'ts" should save the motorists of this continent close to $200 millions in a year. Which is no small item.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Nation flood, for generations a main point of interest locally at this time of year, has failed to materialize so far this year to any marked degree. However, it is not too late yet to have the story make the front pages of the daily and weekly newspapers of Eastern Ontario.

The weather, always a pleasant topic of conversation, has been playing queer pranks on residents of the district this Spring. Snow is piled up around town to a depth of two to three feet and at present there are few signs that winter will soon release its grip. However, it is still possible that we will have a Spring this year, in spite of all signs to the contrary.

We are at last having some action from municipalities in the United Counties concerning the completion of Highway No. 7 from Smiths Falls to the Quebec boundary. Last evening a delegation headed by Dr. J. H. Munro, of Maxville, left for Toronto to interview the Minister of Highways, Hon. T. B. McQuesten, on the matter of completing the highway through the towns of Eastern Ontario. Reeve T. O Keyes is a member of the delegation.

For some time the Press has advocated that some such step be taken, so that the Department might be acquainted with the views of these municipalities on matters pertaining to completion of the Highway. There is an old saying that "we seldom get what we do not go after" and it applies to all things—including the completion of Highways.

The game of political chess at present being waged in Europe by Messrs. Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain and Daladier has brought forth some startling moves during the past week. Il Duce decided it was his turn to get in on the "loot" and seized the tiny kingdom of Albania. Prime Minister Chamberlain and Monsieur Daladier immediately countered with assurances to Greece and Turkey that if attacked, France and England will come to their defence.

It appears that sooner or later something is going to crack in the scheme of things and when it does, the Great War will look like an afternoon tea. Civilian populations, contrary to all codes of ethics, will bear the brunt of the attack through air-raids and the main efforts will be directed towards crippling industry, commerce and public morale. Horrible to contemplate, but the world is closer to such a cataclysm this minute than many people realize.

The 13th power bill credits being handed out by the Ontario Hydro Commission will not make that body unpopular. There is one thing with public ownership—if there are profits, they go to the users of Hydro, not to a few shareholders.

ROMANCE IN GERMANY

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

If a German girl is caught walking out with a Jew in Germany, she receives a notice which tells her if she ever does that again her face will be branded with acid. Germany's boasted culture has evidently disappeared with the rise of one Adolph Hitler, who might be called a gangster in any other country.

THE VALUE OF LEGISLATURES

(Petrolia Advertiser-Topic)

We speak glibly of democracy and yet there is a vast difference of opinion as to what democracy signifies. For instance, the democracy of the publisher of the Globe and Mail would be a Canada comprising five provinces run by remote control from Ottawa. We cannot subscribe to this view. Our idea of democracy is that it must be firmly planted in the grass roots of a country—its beginnings must be as close to the people as they possibly can be. We must build from the ground up, not from the top down. Evidence of the latter can be seen in Germany and Italy. Rather than abolish provincial governments we insist they should be reformed into a non-partisan body of county wardens. The Washington correspondents of The Christian Science Monitor hits the nail on the head when it says: "The state legislatures, with all their faults, are an indication of grass-roots public opinion that is seldom summarized in the Nation as a whole. People in each State know just what is going on, but people in the Nation do not know what it all adds up to. Yet these State legislatures are extremely important; in many ways they forecast national trends. What they do today, or don't do, Congress may reflect to-morrow. They deserve study."

THE CONSCRIPTION ISSUE

(London Free Press)

The amazing complexity of Canadian politics and the slackening of traditional party lines in this country is strikingly illustrated by the fact that at Ottawa Federal Liberal and Conservative leaders agree to oppose conscription of Canadians for service in a foreign war, while in the Ontario Legislature a measure was passed unanimously calling for complete mobilization of men and resources in the event of war. The word "conscription" was not used but was strongly implied.

Conscription is a concept hateful to all British peoples and particularly to Canadians. It has been accepted in emergencies, but never with any great enthusiasm. In England it is regarded as a Napoleonic innovation although it is really much older. Canada still feels the wounds of the 1917 conscription campaign. In Europe it is argued that conscription or some form of universal service is a necessary part of democracy. Switzerland, which is one of the oldest and truest democracies in the world, has long enjoyed it. Even in Canada it has long been a part of our Militia Act, although it only provided for service in defence of the country.

The question now arises as to what defence of our country really means. In this changed world to wait until an enemy had a foothold in our country before taking firm steps to deal with him would be giving him an advantage which might easily make defence impossible. When Lord Baldwin said Britain's frontier was on the Rhine he stated Canada's position also.

No Canadians want conscription any more than they want war. They will not tolerate becoming involved in a war unless they feel that is the only way to preserve their national existence. But once they make that decision they will be forced to fight with every weapon at their disposal. The country's resources in men and wealth must be made use of in the most efficient manner possible, and there must be complete equality of sacrifice.

The question of conscription is at the moment purely academic. Canada could not now equip even a small percentage of those who would volunteer in time of crisis with boots and uniforms let alone modern arms. Our present problem is to expand our air force and our armament so that our boys will never have the experience of wasting their bravery against superior equipment as the Spanish soldiers have done recently or as the Russians did during the Great War. It may be, as Prime Minister King stated, that the day of large expeditionary forces is past. British post-war policy has been based on this principle. Reliance is placed on mechanized equipment rather than vast bodies of men. Recent events may bring about a change in this policy, but it still remains official. Prime Minister Chamberlain has spoken strongly against conscription under present conditions as tending to disrupt British unity. If the danger is present in Britain it is much stronger here.

The statements of Mr. King and Dr. Manion will not please extreme imperialists any more than their agreement that when Britain is at war Canada is at war will please extreme isolationists.

A BOLD ASSERTION

(Bride Broder, in Globe & Mail)

To our way of thinking it does not require any great foresight, nor any large amount of intelligence to see in the events of the last year or so the hand of the interlocking financial interests of the world. But the fault lies not so much with the financial interests of the world as with the blind peoples of the world. They have refused to see, they have refused to look at the facts. We cannot feel, for instance, that any greater exposure of this fact was needed than the revelation of the Great War—bombs rained on Red Cross hospitals and on hospital ships flying the Red Cross flag, bombs rained on helpless women and little children, the priceless treasures of the ages, in stone, were deliberately shelled, but no bomb came near the Krupp works in Germany, no bomb came near the Schneider works in France. If we cannot understand what that signified, we are dull indeed. If we do not take it as a lesson for the present we are too stupid to be worth saving.

PROVERBS OF CONDUCT

Do not carry too much sail.

Never rake up old grievances.

Pardon others often; thyself never.

Don't yoke the plow before the oxen.

If you wish a thing done, go; if not, send.

Not many things imperfectly, but a few well.

Never neglect an opportunity for improvement.

Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you.

Tell no one what you would have known only to yourself.

You will conquer more surely by prudence than by passion.

See that in avoiding cinders you step not on burning coal.

Do not look upon the vessel but upon that which it contains.

Never ask another to do what you are afraid to do yourself.

The Poet's Corner

FLOWERS

He came into the house of God,
Outside was swirling snow,
Dull winter days had gloomed his mind
And he was feeling low.
Gay banners in the chancel hung,
Against the dark carved wood.
Upon the table of the Lord
A bunch of spring flowers stood.
The daffodils with lifted heads
And shoots of scented stock
Stirred memories within the heart,
And thoughts came like a flock.
And in a land that's far away,
Where early comes the spring,
The daffodils in hundreds dance
To hear the mavis sing.
A lark, up in the heavens, sings,
Murmurs a sunlit stream;
And spring came back into his heart—
He thanked God for the dream.

THE SEED CATALOGUES

This is the month the postman brings,
Trudging through snow and rain and fogs,
These early harbingers of Spring's
Return—the garden catalogues.
Snug by the blazing hearth, I plan
A flower-bed woven of a dream
Of larkspur and valerian
And lilies bending by a stream.
Though these frail seedlings may not bloom
In bright profusion, what I see
Prefigured in this lamp-lit room
Is none the less reality.
Nor frost nor winter storms shall pale
This pledge of April's counterpart,
Nor all the winds of heaven assail
A garden planted in the heart!

A PILGRIMAGE

A cheerful pilgrim of the world,
Life's broad highway astriding;
Hope's banner to the winds unfurled,
Dull, gloomy thoughts deriding,
I face the world with all its cares
And wist not of the morrow;
Today's the day I sell my wares—
Joy, hope and love; not sorrow!
Betimes my customers are few,
More gaudy goods displaying;
And quality they oft eschew,
My salemanship dismaying.
My fellowmen are often blind
Oft deaf to life's great treasure,
That happiness, through being kind,
A harvest reaps of pleasure.
But hope's eternal in my mind,
My pilgrimage undaunted;
Till, unexpectedly I find
My precious wares are wanted.
So pilgrims come and pilgrims go,
Each day and generation,
With hope held high, tho' progress slow,
To teach regeneration.
Then let us pray that come it may
To all mankind in season—
That happiness may find its day
And virtues follow reason.

—Laurence Macaulay.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Down from the tree-tops drifting
Sombre and sleek and slow,
Where the March sunlight is sifting
Gold o'er the hill below,
Out from his home in the cedars,
Furtive and famished and faint,
Comes at Spring's call, the raven
Voicing his raucous plaint.

Patches of brown on the blanket
That covers the meadow's bed,
Glorious sunshine at noonday,
Sunset of gold and red,
Faint and far-off the echoes
That come from the purple wood
A subtle stir at the heart-strings
That scarce can be understood.

List to the flow of the waters
Under the old stone bridge,
See where the snow is slipping,
In rills from the rocky ridge;
And in the heart an echo
Of the song that the waters sing—
And the spirit atune with the voices
That herald the dawn of Spring.

—Helen B. Anderson.

EARL BALDWIN IS COMING TO CANADA

Earl Baldwin, accompanied by Countess Baldwin and his secretary, Sir Geoffrey Fry, left Saturday for Liverpool, whence he sailed that night for Canada in the liner Duchess of York.

Lord Baldwin will remain three days in Ottawa as a guest of the Governor General, Lord Tweedsmuir, and then proceed to Toronto, where he will deliver three addresses inaugurating the Falconer Lectureship at the University of Toronto.

The former Prime Minister has been inundated with invitations to speak in other Canadian and United States centres, none of which, however, he has found possible to accept. He is sailing for home from New York on May 5.

COUNTERFEITERS BUSY IN OTTAWA

Belief that a gang of counterfeiters are manufacturing 25 and 50 cent pieces in Ottawa and endeavouring to pass them in that district was expressed on Sunday by Inspector of Detectives M. H. Culver.

One of the fake 25 cent. pieces was passed on a newsboy in the city on Saturday and now is in possession of police. They had received an anonymous "tip" earlier in the week that the coins would be passed in the city and had been keepnig a close look-out for the persons responsible.

Inspector Culver issued a warning to residents to be on the watch and asked that police be notified immediately a person comes into possession of one of the fakes.

The coin passed Saturday is identical to the 1938 edition Canadian issue and the clear markings, police said, indicate it was the work of experts in counterfeiting. However, it did not have the same metallic sound as the genuine coins.

A Tantalizing Trifle

By Frances Lee Barton

"SHE'S a tantalizing trifle yet I love her just the same" can apply to a delicious dessert as well as to a tiny torment of the female sex. Merely substitute "It's" for "She's" and apply the quotation to the following dessert—a dessert that fits April as snuggly as a shower or a twig of trailing arbutus:

Pineapple Trifle

1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup fruit juices and water
1 cup canned crushed pineapple
1 orange, sections free from membrane and diced
½ cup cream, whipped
½ cup sugar

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add fruit juices and water. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold in fruit and whipped cream, to which sugar has been added. Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 14.

A NEW DAY

Never mind what has been. Remember that every morning begins a new day—a day for fresh endeavor, a day that may and should be filled with hope and gladness. Don't add to your blunders by condemning yourself too harshly for your errors and shortcomings. Better folks than you have made worse mistakes and bigger failures. Forgive yourself as fully and freely as you would forgive another, and go cheerily on, leaving the shadows of regret behind.—Anon.

Broadcasting The Royal Visit

The first broadcast of the King in Canada will take place at the luncheon given Their Majesties by the Dominion Government in Quebec on the day of arrival, May 15. The unveiling of the National War Memorial by the King will be broadcast from Otttawa at approximately 3.00 p.m. EDST on May 18. There will be a broadcast from Ottawa of the ceremony of the Trooping of the Colour on Parliament Hill on May 20, the day of the official celebration of His Majesty's birthday. One of the interesting broadcasts during the Royal Tour will be the running of the King's Plate in Toronto. The date of Canada's premiere horse-race has been changed to Monday, May 22 this year in order that it may coincide with the visit of Their Majesties to Toronto. King George is expected to make the presentation.

From the broadcasting angle, the climax of the Tour will be on Empire Day, May 24, in Winnipeg. On that day, His Majesty will broadcast to all the peoples of the British Commonwealth of Nations. In this world-wide panorama broadcast, special messages of greeting will be brought from representative subjects in all parts of the Empire.

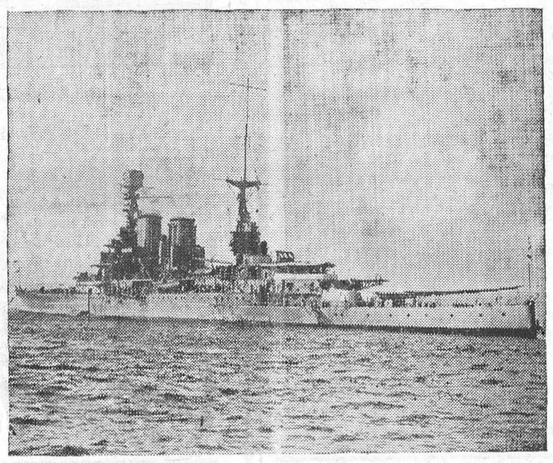
Special Equipment Will Be Provided

The radio coverage of the visit will constitute the greatest actuality broadcast to date ,surpassing the Coronation and the Olympic Games. The Tour will cover about 10,000 miles; it will take in five different time zones; and much of it will be broadcast in both English and French.

CBC will supply a majority of the broadcasts to the three United States networks and to the broadcasting organizations of the British Empire. The CBC Special Events department is being supplied with the most modern technical equipment. All microphones, amplifiers and broadcast lines will be duplicated. Should there be a failure on any one piece of equipment, a flick of a switch will re-route the broadcast through another, entirely different, channel. Four specially constructed, gold-plated microphones, to be used whenever the voices of Their Majesties are heard, will be carried from coast to coast. They will be adorned with Royal insignias and will incorporate a device that virtually will eliminate all "wind interference" noises. These microphones will be used only by Their Majesties.

Commentators Now Being Auditioned

Auditions are being held in all parts of Canada to select commentators. Those chosen , will attend lectures in Ottawa by naval and military authorities and by others conversant with the technical terms and formalities concerning the Royal Visit.



H.M.S. Repulse, seen above, is scheduled to arrive in Canadian waters on Saturday, May 13, with Their Majesties the King and Queen and the Royal party on board. Two Canadian destroyers, H. M. C. S. Skeena and H.M.C.S. Saguenay, will meet the Repulse off the coast of Newfoundland to escort the Royal party to Quebec. CBC will have a short-wave transmitter and commentators aboard the Saguenay, and it is expected that the Corporation will broadcast a commentary when Repulse is sighted. Another broadcast will be transmitted by CBC from the vicinity of Rimouski on Sunday, May 14, describing the Repulse coming up the St. Lawrence river through the darkness. The following morning, May 15, the Repulse is scheduled to dock at Wolfe's Cove, and the official reception, the first of a month-long series of ceremonies and festivities, will broadcast throughout North America and over the major broadcasting systems of the world by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Among the various important ceremonies which will be broadcast by CBC from Ottawa during the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen, will be the unveiling of the National War Memorial on Thursday, May 18, at approximately 3.00 p.m. EDST. The memorial, pictured above with a corner of the Chateau Laurier visible in the background, was designed by Vernon March, who died before the actual construction was begun. It was carried to completion by his six brothers and his sister, and it is without doubt one of the most impressive produced since the Great War. The memorial consists of a great archway of Laurentian granite surmounted by two figures allegorical of victory and liberty, standing in all at a height of 60 feet.

SAFETY OFFICIALS MEETING NEXT WEEK AT "WORLD'S FAIR"

Accident Prevention Group Holding Convention at Royal York

Canada is to have a "World's Fair" of its own this year, according to the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, despite the fact that there are already two World's Fairs of 1939 being held in the United States.

More than 2,500 safety-conscious men in industry are expected to attend the two-day annual "World's Fair" convention and exhibition of industrial safeguarding at the Royal York hotel in Toronto on April 17th and 18th.

The two-day session will be devoted entirely to the promotion of safety consciousness and accident prevention in industry. An entire wing of the convention floor will be devoted to the safety exhibit, displaying the most modern equipment in industrial safeguarding. Safety bulletins and safety trophies will also be on exhibition.

On Monday, April 17th, annual meetings of the nine class safety associations comprising the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations will be held. At the opening session, John Harold, chairman of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board, will speak on "Democratic Efficiency in Action," and L. Clayton Hill, of Detroit, will address the delegates on "Safety and Efficiency—Industrial Twins."

"Today and Tomorrow" will be the subject of an address at the annual banquet on Monday evening, April 17, by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian high commissioner in England.

"What Can Europe Teach Us About Work and Workers?" will be discussed by Whiting Williams, industrial consultant of Cleveland, Ohio, who has recently returned from a European tour to study labor conditions abroad

A monster safety rally on Tuesday night, April 18, will be an innovation at the convention this year. It will be under the chairmanship of Frank M. Morton, of Hamilton.

A man who supervises safety and welfare of more than 40,000 workers, E. P. Durfee, of New York, will address superintendents, foremen and employees of many Ontario industrial organizations on the topic of "Why Do Industrial Accidents Occur?"

A program of entertainment and draws for safety exhibit prizes will close the rally.

A feature of the convention on the second day will be "The Safety Exchange," when six separate discussion groups will meet and discuss various problems of safety in industry. The groups will be: internal trucking material hazards, first aid in the plant 24 hours a day, hazards of ladders and stairways, safety committees and their duties, seeing and safety, and hazards of chains, cranes and hoists.

Two prominent safety leaders will address the delegates at an all-convention luncheon on Tuesday, April 18. They will be B. A. Trestrail of Toronto, and C. S. Ching of New York

Fertilizer Hints For Hoed Crops

In recommending fertilizers for the following hoed crops and field peas, the Advisory Fertilizer Board for Ontario points out that these recommendations are of necessity general in character. It is possible to make specific recommendations only when the type of soil and condition of fertility are definitely known.

Farmers should consult their nearest agricultural representative as to taking soil samples and where their nearest soil testing station is located.

Turnips

Under general conditions, ten to twelve tons of manure per acre plus 2-12-16, 0-12-10 or 2-12-6, or where soils are known to be deficient in phosphate, use 2-16-6. Rate of application, 375 to 500 lbs. per acre.

Mangels.

Under general conditions, apply twelve to fifteen tons of manure per acre plus 2-12-6 or 2-12-10, at from 375 to 500 lbs. per acre.

Note:—For turnips and mangels it is recommended that two-thirds of the fertilizer be drilled in with the combined fertilizer and grain drill or broadcast before ridging, if ridging is practiced. The remaining one-third of the fertilizer may be sown at seeding time with the fertilizer attachment on the root drill.

Sugar Beets.

Although for the majority of soils, 2-16-6 is indicated to be a superior mixture, good results have been obtained with 2-12-6. For the lighter-textured and darker-colored soils, 2-12-10 is recommended. On marl land, if the organic matter is adequate, 2 per cent. superphosphate alone gives good results.

Application is most effective in the row, and rates up to 300 lbs. per acre give economic returns.

Late Potatoes.

On sandy loam soils without manure or without a preceding crop of clover, use 4-8-10. Where clover or manure has been plowed down, use 2-8-10 or 0-12-15. On heavier soils 2-12-6 may be used. Rates of application, 750 to 1000 lbs. per acre.

The fertilizer should be placed slightly below and in two bands, separated from the potato sets by approximately two inches of fertilizer free soil. If a planter with fertilizer attachment is not used, the fertilizer should be applied in the bottom of the plow furrow and covered with about one inch of soil before dropping the sets.

Corn.

Corn responds particularly well to applications of barnyard manure.

Husking Corn:

Where manure has been applied or where a legume crop precedes corn, use 0-12-6 on heavier soils, and 0-12-10 on lighter soils. When manure is not used nor legume crop followed. use 2-12-6 on heavier soils or 2-12-10 on lighter soils. Rate of application, 125 to 250 lbs., per acre.

Where the corn and all the fertilizer are delivered through the same spout, the lesser amount of fertilizer may be advisable to prevent injury to germination of the seed.

Ensilage Corn

Excellent results have been obtained from the use of manure and 20 per cent superphosphate and phosphated manure. When manure is not available in sufficient quantities on heavier soils, use 2-12-6, or on lighter soils 2-12-10. Rate, 150 to 300 lbs., per acre.

Beans

This crop does well following clover sod with manure. This treatment may be supplemented to advantage with moderate applications of 2-12-6, drilled in with a combined fertilizer and grain drill.

Field Peas.

For Field Peas apply either 0-12-10 or 2-12-10 at the rate of 250 lbs. per acre.

For canning peas, if the soil is very dry the fertilizer should be drilled in previous to the sowing of the crop and at a slightly greater depth than the seed. The use of nitro culture is recommended for this crop where peas have not been grown for some years.

PLANES TO FLY 500 M.P.H.

Speed of 500 miles an hour in the air, it developed recently, apparently will be achieved soon.

At Wright Field, the United States Army's test laboratory for new types of warplanes, officers said that Lieut. Ben Kelsey, the pilot who crashed on February 11 in a new twin-motored pursuit plane after a near-record transcontinental flight, had "cruised" at 60 per cent. of power on his jaunt.

Kelsey's actual flying time for the 2,454 miles from Southern California to New York was just a shade more than seven hours.

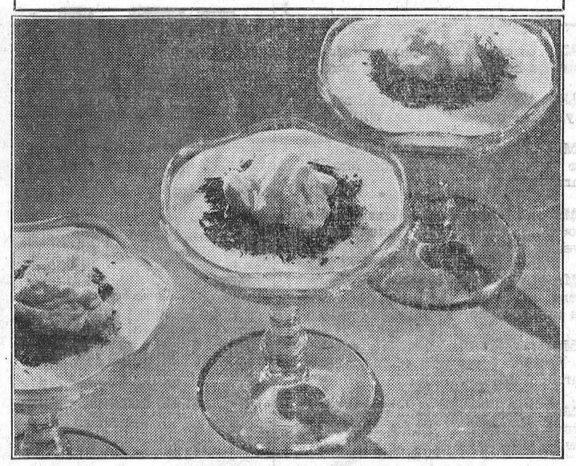
While the use of full throttle would not have given him 40 per cent. more speed—speed does not increase in direct ratio to the amount of power used, his pace for the entire distance indicated a probable top for the ship in excess of 450 miles an hour, engineers said.

The low-winged all-metal experimental Lockheed was fitted with 1,000 horsepower engines. At cruising power they delivered an average of some 350 miles an hour.

Engines almost twice as powerful, which would provide a tremendous increase in speed, are now under test.

One ship drives East and another drives West,
'Tis the self-same winds that blow,
It is the set of the sails and not the gales,
That tell us whither they go.
Like the winds of the sea are the waves of fate
As we voyage along through life
'Tis the set of the soul that decides the goal
And not the storm or the strife.

A Spring Surprise



By BETTY BARCLAY

We all expect surprise dishes during cold weather when it is really a pleasure to putter in the kitchen.

As the weather gets warmer, however, there is a tendency to lessen kitchen labor. Surprise dishes, elaborate dishes and new dishes disappear. Before we know it we find ourselves courting delicatessen lunches and cold snacks.

It is not necessary to be so hard on the warm weather meal. Avoid elaborate hot dishes and three layer cakes if you wish, but substitute simple salads and desserts that will grace the table as impressively as the Thanksgiving turkey.

The dessert pictured above is one of many that may be used as a spring or summer surprise. It calls for but four ingredients. No eggs are needed. No baking or boiling. Prepare in the cool of the morning. Add the topping just before serving. You'll have a dessert that is attractive, economical, delicious — and just the thing for those children who refuse to drink their daily supply of milk.

Chocolate Sundae Rennet Custard

1 pint milk (not canned or soft curd)
1 package vanilla rennet powder
¼ cup shaved milk chocolate
Whipped cream

Set out 4 or 5 dessert glasses. Warm milk slowly, stirring constantly, until LUKEWARM — not hot. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM — 120° F., immediately remove from stove. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved—not more than one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, into dessert glasses. Do not remove glasses until firm, — about 10 minutes. Then chill in ice box. Just before serving, sprinkle shaved milk chocolate over the surface of each rennet custard, and top with a spoonful of whipped cream.

SILENCE AN IMPORTANT PART OF MANNERLY CONVERSATION

One of the hardest things to learn is to keep quiet, writes Olive Roberts Barton. To conquer the urge to talk and tell what we know instead of listening to the other person is never easy.

It gets to be a habit, and a bad one, for a man or a woman to insist on airing views of experiences, because it leads to interruptions. Listen to any roomful of people today, each one trying to outtalk the other, and it is really painful.

We cannot learn to curb our tongues when we are older. It has to be trained into any growing child while there is yet time.

Young peope have a horror of being thought duds. They lie awake nights trying to think up original cracks. They study their slang with more care than their Latin or French. To be a week behind the times and use an outmoded term makes them hicks. So they think. They practice on phrases like "cooled off" or "dead," for being in love, or taking an interest in somebody. "Pitching woo" and "carrying a torch" are as ancient as "sparking" or "spooning."

Conversation has become largely a matter of getting in a lot of wise ones, among young people. They deliberately lead it to a point where they can use the latest in slang.

To keep quiet is almost impossible. I know what they are up against, and so do you mothers. They have to talk and they have to talk in the vernacular of their day. High schoolers do anyway.

But somewhere along the line they should be learning the art of listening.

Quiet girls and boys are often popular.

The chatterbox who won't listen is often very unpopular. A boy likes a girl to listen to what he says. And a girl likes a boy to hear her out without interrupting about his team affairs and what the coach said.

Often too in this scramble for a place on the stage, things are said that hurt. They are meant to be witty and to bring a laugh to the credit of the teller. The object of amusement is not intentionally being jeered at. He is merely chosen as a stooge to bring out the sparkle of the star. Too bad.

There is a quiet little verse of David's that goes like this: "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth and keep the door of my lips." The more I think of that plea the more I read into it.

Not only the brake on the quick, thoughtless tongue, or deliberate malicious gossip, but good manners and peace for everyone; surely all are included here.

To wait until the turn comes to speak. To listen patiently until another has finished. To speak clearly, slowly and sensibly, these qualities do not ticket the stupid. Quite the other way. The greatest wits in the world are slow, deliberate speakers and very finished listeners.

CANADA'S PLACE NAMES

When Their Majesties come to Canada next month, they will visit or pass through many towns, cities and villages with names reminiscent of those of Great Britain. In a large number, indeed, they are identical, and London itself has its thriving and developing counterpart on this side of the Atlantic. But Their Majesties will find also traces Spanish, Portuguese and French, for hardy pioneers from these older countries scattered across the continent names of the lands of their birth.

But not all the place-names are imported—not by any means. The original inhabitants of Canada, the Indians, have left their permanent imprint in terms of some of the happiest names imaginable. There are memorials to the Iroquois, Hurons, Algonquins, Micmacs and other great tribes.

Some of the most interesting and picturesque parts of Nova Scotia. New Brunswick, and the Gaspe Peninsula still bear names or derivations of Micmac origin. Names of tribes, chiefs and seasoned warriors are applied to many places in Quebec and Ontario.

Hochelaga, a very ancient name in Canada, is still retained, but the identity of the place is now practically absorbed in the greatness of the metropolis of Montreal. Minaki, a delightful summer resort in the Lake of the Woods country, is a place of great natural beauty and typifies the suitability of Indian naming as the word means "Beautiful Country." Abitibi, Timagami, Mississagi, Madawaska, Shebendowan, Sheguiandah are all names of Indian origin with meanings that show the natives' aptitude in applying descriptive titles to their haunts.

Western Canada is also rich in place names of pure Indian or corruptions of Indian words. Various origins are given for many of the names by which cities, towns or natural features are known. Two names that usually arouse curiosity are Medicine Hat and Moose Jaw and many conflicting explanations are given for the application of these titles. One interpretation of the former is that during a fight between two tribes the professional hat of a Cree medicine man was lost in the river, and the latter place is said to be "the place where the white man mended the cart wheel with the jaw bone of a moose."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the members of the United Church W. M. S. and all those who sent flowers and fruit, and all other acts of kindness, during my illness. These acts of kindness will never be forgotten.

49p. Mrs. Frank Hunter.

APPRECIATION!

Having disposed of my bakery business, I wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who favoured me with their patronage during the past ten years.

"Crown Bakery" has served this community well in the past, and under its new owner, Mr. Albert Voisine, it should continue to do so in the future. With this in mind, I sincerely hope that my successor will be afforded the same generous patronage that was given to me and the Crown Bakery Staff, all members of which are being retained by the new management.

Thanks again, and may the future bring you all a full share of health and prosperity.

Our Column

Haste and impatience mar much work.

Men drunk with power cannot see clearly.

A formula for life: Work, play, love, worship.

Learn from your mistakes but do not cry over them.

Grief counts the seconds; happiness forgets the hours.

Good humor is the health of the soul, sadness its poison.

It is no kindness to lend money to a professional borrower.

Quarrelling and backbiting are not compatible with good work.

Experience, as pay, is still the most valuable thing in the world.

One must give more than a cheer in order to be a cheerful giver.

A graceful and honorable old age is the childhood of immortality.

Ye who are old remember youth with thought of like affection.

There is virtue in driving on through dark days at your honest job.

A duty dodged is like a debt unpaid; it is only deferred and must be settled later.

No youth can be called friendless who has God and the companionship of good books.

There are some who are embittered by sorrow; others are mellowed and sweetened.

ADVERTISES FOR ESCORT

There is one young man in Gananoque who evidently believes that "it pays to advertise." This youth, who desires to attend the Easter dance at the Gananoque Canoe Club which is billed for Monday, April 10, evidently has not a girl friend to accompany him. He inserted the following advertisement in the classified columns of the Gananoque Reporter: "Wanted, a girl to attend the Easter ball, April 10, at Canoe Club. Apply through Box X15." He got some replies, too.
