Sewage lagoon work to begin Monday

Village council holds lengthy session $5000 approved for park pavilion

Work is scheduled to begin on the sewage lagoon Monday, November 17. Following the engineers' recommendation, I. C. Suatac Construction had their tender accepted for the sewage project here. Completion date is estimated at 30 weeks.

The lowest tender was approximately 20% greater than estimated. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is coming to the rescue with approximately $128,000. A grant of 20% to 30% of total cost should help bring billings down near the original estimates.

Council met Monday evening, at 7.30, with all members present, for their regular monthly meeting.

Council approved payment of $5,000 toward construction of the Park Pavilion.

Various transfers of property were recorded.

The Ontario government's air pollution drive has now taken on a "wait-and-see" attitude in regard to burning refuse at municipal dumps. There have been numerous complaints about the no-burning ruling and no action will be taken at present until the powers that be can come up with a solution which won't cost a king's ransom to the municipalities affected.

A delegation of firemen was present to discuss fire hall problems. They felt that there was too easy access to the hall, with numerous articles being left in disarray or taken. The idea was put forth that keys to the hall be limited in number.

It was proposed that town equipment, such as pumper and hoses, should be taken from the fire hall and placed in the town building. If this is done, it will be necessary to heat a room in the building, which could also be used for a place to repair equipment in the wintertime.

Th sale of water to tank trucks was discussed thoroughly.

Police chief Leonard Shane attended council and presented a report covering police work for the last three months, taking in all phases from robbery investigation to missing persons.

Extra Hallowe'en policing, assumed by two off-duty OPP officers, cost $117.85. This cost included a nominal 75c car wash charge to remove egg, tomato and cucumber from one officer's car. The false alarm Hallowe'en night cost the town $78.

A tender for snow plowing village streets was received from Sullivan Bros. Cost of plowing will be $8 per hour, with a retainer fee of $250. The tender was accepted.

Public Health engineers have put forth certain changes to be made at the village swimming pool. These changes, to comply with the various regulations, must be made before the 1970 swimming season.

After a very lengthy discussion, and a split vote, council decided to advertise for an additional police constable. With an increasing number of infractions now coming under local by-law, revenue received from same will help to pay the police salaries.

A by-law, covering what constitutes garbage and setting forth collection rules, was passed.

An anti-noise by-law passed Monday night will go a long way in helping the village vibrate to over-all silence.

Dogs came in for a short talk. Councillors concluded most of the canines seen on the streets are country dogs in town for a short visit. The approaching snowmobile season also received attention. It was felt the vehicles should be kept off the sidewalk and common courtesy should prevail.

The town fathers will tackle Department of Highways on bridge abutment repairs which they believe should be made before the new highway by-pass comes into being.

Purchase of kitchen supplies was approved and accounts were also approved for payment.

Council adjourned at 12.45 a.m.

CRUMBS from GRAHAM'S LOAF

The proof is showing on the front page of the family journal. This Ancient went, saw and conquered and in the process hung some meat for the winter. The Castle folk will not starve after all.

Thirty times we have sallied forth at this time of year looking for the lively whitetails. The 200-lb. specimen that ran the wrong way this year made 30 scratches on the wall of the meat house. Of course, there were lots of times when the luck was out; other years deer ran in gangs and we managed to make up for the lean years.

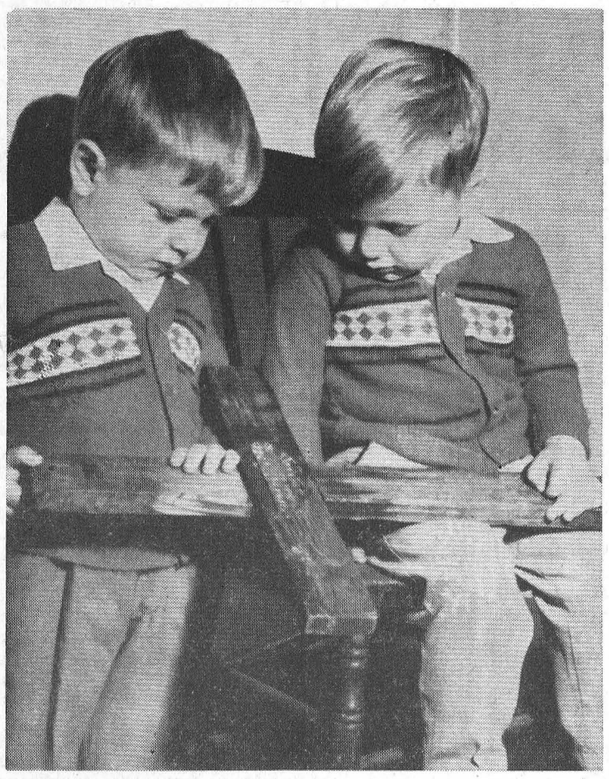
The weather was less than perfect. As a matter of fact, the only sun that shone wasted but a few minutes before it ducked behind a rain cloud. We made an uneventful passage across to the Lanwin camp. Long Schooner and Mackie Lakes were peaceful and quiet, thanks to a small libation poured on troubled waters before the hunters entered the domain of the deer. We used the same material as a cup of cheer to open the camp and to marinate a late lunch.

Hunters are the same all over Ontario and they follow a pattern of behaviour set out by Robin Hood. Rush to the bush, search out the quarry, rush back to camp and toast the kill. Sometimes it takes a large fire to toast a bushmaster buck trophy.

We made full use of the rainy days. There were dishes to wash, floors to sweep, energies to restore and generally a lot of looking at the lake. We pledged ourselves to keep the cook pot full and bubbling and hardly had to do a dish. What with steaks from oversize steers, hearts from oversize deer and bushels of macaroni, who could complain? Especially when the cook had the key to the grog box and boasted of the power of one tiny piece of metal.

We climbed hills and sneaked through dales and made forays into white cedar swamps. We imagined every rock hid a buck and every swamp a herd. When a chipmunk would drop behind, the hunter would rise like Pluto the dog with ears straight up and a strangled snort rising in the larynx. A day in the bush awakened more dormant senses than a fast trip on LSD.

The vice president loves venison but, like Maid Marian, hates to see the hunter sally forth. To date, we have returned fairly sound, smelling sweetly of the great outdoors but glad to slide back to the soothing comforts of the Castle. Especially someone else's cooking.



"From failing hands we throw . . ." The immortal words of the poet are recalled. Among the thousands who fell in the First World War was Pte. N. F.Finlayson, 16th Cdn. Batt., Manitoba Regiment. He was killed in France on August 8, 1918. The little rough wooden cross was returned to Canada and replaced in the cemetery overseas with a ston marker. Holding it here are Barry and Brent Winters, small twin sons of Mr and Mrs Ralph Winters. The war victim was their great uncle.—Record Staff Photo.

1918 grave marker returned to Canada

This is the original cross from the grave of Pte. Ninian Finlayson who lost his life on August 12, 1918 at the age of 20 during the Battle of Amiens. He was the son of the late Ninian Finlayson and his wife Margaret Begg.

Examination of the cross shows that it was made of 2 pieces of rough lumber nailed together the nails clinched on the back, the name-plate was tacked on and it was pounded into the ground with a post hammer. Particles of limestone earth still cling to the bottom.

After 1920 the burial places of the war dead were moved to large cemeteries and the rough wooden crosses were replaced with permanent headstones. Relatives could have these crosses if they wished, so Mrs Finlayson asked for the cross from her son's grave. However it was not until around 1930 some 5 years after her death that the cross arrived at the station in Moose Creek, packed in sawdust and wrapped in burlap.

Mr and Mrs Elgin Finlayson received the cross in place of the former's mother and it has remained as a silent memorial (in their home) ever since.

Pte. Finlayson is now buried in Villers Bretonneux Military Cemetery, Fouilloy. The register of War Graves for this cemetery contains th name of Pte. R. H. Hess, son of Mr R. Hess of Chesterville, who lies buried just a few yards from Pte. N. Finlayson. The majority of soldiers there were from Australia.

Sale of "Record" announced

Final arrangements were made this week to sell the Chesterville Record and its commrcial printing plant. Owners Keith and Helen Graham have announced that two plant employees, Blake Feeley and Wayne LaPrade, Chesterville, are the purchasers. Both have been longtime employees of the newspaper. The mailing service operated for the past ten years by the newspaper owners is not included in the sale. It remains in the hands of Mr and Mrs Graham.

The new owners will take over the operation of the newspaper and the printing division on December 1. The newspaper and printing plant will remain at its present location in the Record building on King street.

The "Record" has been in the family of Mrs Graham since 1915. The late George C. Lacey bought it then from the late T. T. Shaw. After the last war, Mr Lacey was joined by his son-in-law. Keith Graham, in March, 1947, and he took over the editorship in 1950. Upon the death of Mr Lacey in 1956 the newspaper and printing plant became the property of Mr and Mrs Keith Graham on a full partnership basis.

Trinity U.C.W. reports busy agenda

Within the month two excellent meetings of the United Church Women of Trinity United Church took place. At the Thankoffering meeting held in mid-October, plans were made for the Youth Banquet to be held on November 17th, when the youth of the church are to be the guests of the adults.

After a timely worship service conducted by Mrs B. Lapp, Mrs J. Fulton and Mrs Garnet Droppo, the evening was given over to Miss Isobelle Forward, who with her niece, Miss Sue Scarfe, at the projector showed her magnificent slides of "Morocco" one of the twenty-two countries recently toured by Miss Forward in her round-the-world tour. Her vivid comments and lively ancedotes of this particular country provided a most enjoyable evening's entertainment. Mrs Myles Merkley introducd the speaker in her own witty style, setting the informal, easy pace which Miss Forward's own commentary followed.

The November meeing of the U. C. W. Afternoon Unit took the form of a "Round Table Discussion" of fourteen controversial points on China and her relationship to Canada. These were dealt with informally but thoroughly and left the group with heightened interest in China and her emergence in world politics. A splendid worship service with strict relevance to the theme of "China and Canada" was conducted by Mrs Stanley Shay and Mrs Earl Merkley.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

North Dundas student, David Thompson, produces film

David Thompson, 15, grade 11 student at North Dundas District High School, son of Mr and Mrs Lorne Thompson, Chesterville, has produced a film called "Descent".

Last Friday David had the opportunity to show his film along with seven other entries at the Educational Building, Woodward, Ave., Ottawa. David's film placed fourth in the contest, which was judged by the participants. The first and second place films were hold-overs from last year's competition. The first place film will appear on the Educational Television programs.

The film, the only entry from S. D. and G. Area, was produced at North Dundas with the assistance of many students. Filmed on 8 mm film and sound track taped.

"Descent" decribed the feeling of the students regarding the Bible.

David spent many hours editing film, adding sound effects and synchronizing both. The film has proven very popular at North Dundas with many showings being held.

After Christmas David is anticipating making a twenty-minute film.

A couple of old bucks met in the bush last Monday morning. The good looking one ended up as delicious venison. Editor Keith Graham was hunting in the lake country at the Harold Lannin camp. OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Much noise but little backing

Though the Front du Quebec Francais, created to oppose Bill 63, is causing much sound and fury, it is far from clear that this signifies anything. The Front is made up of two main groups: on one hand, those who have long been known for their exclusive interest in nationalism, such as the Societe St. Jean Baptiste, but who have little impact in the daily workings of Quebec life; on the other hand, educational groups whose members already spend all of their life in French and for whom the proclamation of uniligualism would mean no change at all.

Meanwhile, says the Montreal Star, none of the parties represented in Quebec's Assembly — not even the officially separatist Parti Quebecois — goes along with a policy of abolishing English education. The only support the unilingualist cause found among labour groups was the Confederation of National Trade Unions but, after a few days, the leaders of this body had second thoughts and decided on Monday to support Bill 63, albeit with qualifications.

Other important pressure groups, such as co-operatives, farmers' unions, the Quebec Federation of Labour, have not become involved in the debate. The Conseil du Patronat, which speaks for the most socially aware of this province's management groups, has supported Bill 63.

Down the drain

If there were no litterugs and no vandals, says the Belleville Intelligencer, thousands of dollars could be saved and a significant contribution made to the taxpayers themselves toward combatting inflation.

It costs $60,000 a year to replace highway signs in Ontario, not including the cost of signs belonging to counties and townships. And what would $60,000 buy? Three 125-horsepower graders for example. Or 15 three-ton dump trucks. As it is, it is now the money down the drain.

Good points

Certainly our educational system in the past was tied too tightly to the examination system, comments the Windsor Star. This indeed was unfair in any ways to many students and a relaxation of it, especially in Grade 13, is welcome. But it is well, even in this permissive society, not to go to the other extreme.

A delegate to the Ontario Headmaster's Summer Conference suggested: "We wouldn't want to go to a medical man and not know if he had ever passed any test. And parents probably wouldn't want to send their children to a school if they knew its principal has never passed a test."

good risk

How much do you think TCA was worth to the individual Canadian when it was established in 1937? How much would you guess Air Canada is worth to you today? Given total assets in 1937 of about $900,000, and a population of 10 million, TCA represented a capital investment per Canadian of 9 cents. Today, with assets of over $500 million and a population of some 20 million, each Canadian's share is worth about $25. That is a stock with a pretty good growth rate, observes the Financial Post; it's an investment worth having and worth preserving.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Now that you have befriended the waitresses and the plumbers, will you please help the hairdressers?

Our major complaints are as follows:

1. Relatives and friends who think hairdressers love their work so much they are happy to roll hair all night at home — without pay. These friends and relatives also think supplies grow on trees.

2. Customers who come in 15 to 50 minutes late and expect you to throw out of your chair anyone who happens to be sitting in it because they are running late.

3. Customers who bring their own setting lotion and expect a discount because all the operator did was "twist a few curls." I know a woman who brings her own soap and thinks she should be charged half price for the shampoo.

4. Customers who bring small children to the shop and let them run loose. The kids are into everything, stumbling over the feet of manicurists and customers, bothering everyone but their own mother.

5. Customers who come in with pictures of Elizabeth Taylor and Doris Day and want to look like them. Most of these women are practically bald and their faces would stop an eight-day clock.

I know I'm not a very good writer, Ann, so please fix my English and print my letter. — Mr Phyllis.

Dear Mr: Your English wasn't broken. I didn't have to fix it. Thanks for a very good letter.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: Warn the kids who read your column to steer clear of glue and LSD. First, it's kicks, then you need it to escape from the hell it leads to. Most of the crumbs who push the stuff aren't dumb enough to use it. Tell your readers that after they're hooked, their minds and bodies are wrecked and it's too late for kicks.—Houston.

Dear Houston: I have told them and I hope at least some will listen.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I refer to the letter from the man who said he was speaking for that embattled segment of society — husbands who sit in silence night after night with their eyeballs plugged into the TV.

He declared: "I'd rather look at that idiot box than listen to that idiot who calls herself a wife." He went on to complain that she didn't know what was going on in the world — all she cared about was her clothes, her hair, the card table gossips, etc., etc. You offered no advice. Only a typical Landers-like needle — "Who picked the idiot?"

Now really, Ann. You know better. There's always the possibility that the idiot picked him, maybe at a time when his resistance was low. Or, perhaps her father had a going business. Maybe she was loads of fun on a party and he didn't think ahead, as the saying goes. The point of the man's letter is that he grew and his wife didn't. Result: Complete boredom. No communication. Nothing in common but the kids — and they're just about gone.

So please be realistic. You'd be surprised at how many marriages fit this description. — More Truth Than Poetry.

Dear Truth: You'd be suprised at how few things surprise me. Thanks for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

SOYBEANS FOR FEED COULD MEAN PROFIT

The trend in agriculture may be to farming systems which integrate crops and livestock.

We cannot successfully separate our cropping systems from our livestock systems," said Professor G. E. Jones, Department of Crop Science, University of Guelph, "since in Ontario most crops are eventually fed to livestock.

He told more than 200 farmers at the recent Corn and Soybean Day held at the Elora Research Station, that farmers have often considered growing soybeans to feed to livestock. In most cases, soybeans just as available as that however, they have used their acres to produce more energy feeds, kept more stock to consume this feed, and purchased their protein needs rather than growing them.

Professor Jones pointed out that recent developments, such as a commercial unit for on-the-farm heat modification of soybeans, have made the protein in in soybean oil meal. Such modification is not necessary for cattle, but it is necessary for swine and poultry in order to make whole soybeans a suitable feed for these animals. Thus whole soybeans are now a potential feed for swine and poultry as well as cattle.

The farmer who is thinking of feeding whole soybeans should consider several things.

Basic to such an operation shoud be on-the-farlm feed mixing plant, which is suitable to the larger operations. Rations using whole soybeans must be adjusted to compensate for the difference in protein and oil between whole soybeans and meal. Whole soybeans contain a p proximately 38% protein and 18 percent oil, compared to 44 percent protein and .5 percent oil in soybean oil meal.

Professor Jones points out that the oil in whole soybeans has a feeding value 2¼ times the energy value of starch. Thus the oil in one ton of beans provides energy equal to that from 800 pounds of corn.

Professor Jones feels that feeding whole soybeans will show a profit to the farmer. He explained that one ton of whole soybeans suplies protein worth $86.30 and energy (from the oil) worth $20. This gives a total feeding value of $106.30. If the farmer sells the beans and realizes $2.50 per bushel, the ton of beans will return him $83.40. Subtracting the cash value of the beans from the feeding value of the beans shows a profit of approximately $23.00 from feeding the beans.

"With yields of soybeans at the one ton per acre level, giving a feeding value of over $100.00 per acre, whole soybeans should be considered for livestock feed," Professor Jones said.

DRUG FROM MUSHROOM HELPS ARTERIES

A Japanese pharmaceutical firm said recently it has developed a new drug from mushrooms to combat hardening of the arteries as a result of cholesterol buildup.

The Tanabe Seiyako Co. said the new drug was extracted from the shiitake mushroom, widely used in Japanese dishes and which has been regarded in Japan and China for hundreds of years as effective in herbal cures for hardening of the arteries, the company said.

The research staff of Tanable extracted a new substance — lentinacin — from the mushroom and discovered that the substance was an adenine derivative —one of the components of life-giving nucleic acids.

"A frozen car batery can be as dangerous as a bomb."

A battery that has been weakened to one-quarter of its normal charge will freeze at zero, and a dead battery at 5 degrees above. When ice prevents gases from escaping, a dangerous explosive mixture results and it needs only a touch of outside electrical current to burst, blasting off frozen chunks of battery solution that carry enough acid to burn skin and clothing. For safety: Disconnect the frozen battery and let it thaw in a warm place. Pushing or towing the car or using a jumper cable from another battery may cause the battery to eyplode.

Your Legislature Report . . .

Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

As mentioned in last week's report, the Legislature is now operating under new rules and procedures. The first full week for these new rules has now been completed and they have proven to be most useful and apparently have secured the co-operation of Members of every party. If progress continues at the same rate, the proceedings of the Legislature in Toronto will be returned to the sphere of ordinary and proper conduct of the Province's vast business.

One of the most contentious items before the House this whole Session, commonly known as the "cats and dogs" Bill, came again to the floor of the House. The Minister of Agriculture and Food announced that, in an unusual procedure, the Bill would be sent, before Second Reading, to the Standing Committee on Health where representations from the public as well as lengthy discussion are possible.

There were also introduced Bills to amend the Election and Voters' Lists Acts and which make a number of basic changes in Provincial election practices — such as Provincial elections always to be on a Thursday, a broader right for disabled to vote by proxy and the right to mark a ballot with pen or pencil. No mention is, however, made with respect to any change in voting age.

The Ontario Legislature, unlike the House of Commons, has never had officially a Deputy Speaker. The Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House has always acted for Mr Speaker during the latter's absence. However, the length of the present Session with its three night sittings per week, for all of which Mr Speaker and the Chairman must always be present, coupled with the absence through illness during most of last month of Mr Speaker, your Member, has forced official recognition of this problem. A Deputy Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House has been appointed and the Government House Leader has indicated that an amendment to the Legislative Assembly Act will be introduced to provide for a Deputy Speaker.

The Standing Committee considering Departmental estimates is now busy with the huge appropriations to be voted for education in our Province this year. Unlike the trial week, there was no trouble in keeping a quorum of Members both in the Standing Committee and in the House which sit concurrently each day. Good progress was made with Departmental estimates, those of the Provincial Treasurer and Provincial Auditor being completed and those of Education and of Municipal Affairs being well begun.

On the Friday, the House again went back to the Budget degate— one of the two debates in which Private Members are entitled, and expected, to range over the whole gamut of their constituency problems and successes. For several months in an endeavour to pass legislation and estimates, no time had been allotted to this debate. Its return to the floor of the House perhaps heralds and even symbolizes the return of the Members from vocal obstruction to reasonable consideration of the business of the Province.

Dundas Farm News...

D. A. Knapp,
Rural Revelopment Officer

Did you know that some farm families in Ontario are supplementing their farm incomes over $2,000 per year by offering farm vacations to urban families? If you have vacant rooms in your house and are willing to do some extra work during the vacation periods you may be able to add to your farm income by a considerable amount.

Farm vacations are not new but, with the greatly increased city populations and the desire of these people to get their families out into the country, a tremendous expansion is taking place in this industry.

Many city people would rather take their families to a quiet home in the country than to a crowded resort area. These people want their families to enjoy and learn to appreciate country life and good home-cooked meals. They want them to see farm animals, growing crops and general farm life as it really is.

Some people in this business provide trailer parking facilities and meals. Others provide both rooms and meals or any other combination.

One of the factors which should make this area attractive for farm vacations is its proximity to many attractions for short side trips. These include: Upper Canada Village, Ottawa, the nation's capital; Kingston with Old Fort Henry and Queen's University, the Rideau Lakes and many others.

In most cases the people taking these holidays don't require elaborate accommodation with expensive furniture and swimming pools. Many have these at home and are looking for something different.

Farm vacations need not be limited to the summer months. People may come back for weekends during the winter or during the spring school holiday. Many are interested in the winter sports such as skiing, skating and snowmobiling just as much as fishing or swimming in the summer.

During the past year ARDA in Ontario has assisted in providing short courses for people interested in this business. These would include information pertaining to legal aspects, sani-

Highlights of Hospital Services Commission Convention provides interesting theme for Hospital Auxiliary meeting

Highlights of the Toronto Hospital Services Commission Convention provided an interesting theme for the Nov. 6th meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary of the District Memorial Hospital in Winchester.

Representatives of five units, Morewood, Morrisburg, Winchester, Melvin-Annable and Chesterville heard enthusiastic reports from the president, Mrs C. MacGregor, the vice-president, Mrs Keith Carkner, the administrator, Mr Stel and the volunteer co-ordinator, Mrs Max Boyd. They all praised the 'Walk-in' clinics provided at the convention at which any delegate could obtain on-the-spot checks for glaucoma, chest disorders and elctrocardiograms with the necessary follow - through report to the delegate's doctor. These clinics emphasized the theme of the convention which was "Prevention, the Key to To-morrow's Health".

Mrs Max Boyd, Volunteer Co-ordinator, reported a host of new ideas for craft work in the long-term wing.

Mrs Gow, the medical social worker, made a plea to extend a volunteer service "Play Ladies", to the Pediatrics wing where she felt sick children could benefit greatly from personal attention beyond the limits of the staff to provide. It was decided to expand the volunteer service after Christmas to cover this area and volunteers who feel a special urge to do this sort of work will be contacted when the plan is under way. Mrs Max Boyd and Mrs R. Summers will initiate the program. The volunteer groups rotate in the following order with a two-month round of duty: Winchester - December and January; Chesterville - February & March; Morrisburg - April and May; Morewood - June and July.

The Historical Research Committee, headed by Mrs Lyle Marcellus and Mrs Chester Robinson were given high praise for their work in collecting a fine assortment of records which will be on display at the December meeting.

Plans for Christmas at the hospital were tentatively discussed and left to the final decision of the decorating committee under Mrs LaRose and Miss Legris. Favours for the Christmas trays will be provided by the Winchester C.G.I.T. group.

The showcase is temporarily in need of knitted baby things but Mrs Lancaster was empowered to provide a variety of smaller personal items for patients throughout the hospital.

The tuck cart will be in the charge of Winchester unit in December, Mountain in January and Chesterville in February.

The usual pleasant social half hour followed in the cafeteria where Mrs Pollock and Miss Fenell served light cakes and coffee.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY — In loving memory of our dear Dad, Grant Barkley, who passed away November 13, 1953.

Just a cluster of fond memories,
Sprayed with a million tears,
Wishing that God would have spared him
For just a few more years.
The tears we shed will wipe away
But the ache in our hearts will always stay.

Sadly missed by the Family.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Harold D. Barkley, who passed away four years ago, November 22, 1965.

Wishing today as we wished before
That God could have spared you a few more years;
No one knows the grief we share
When we all meet and you're not there.

Sadly missed by Mother, Father, brothers D'Arcy and Russell, sisters Doreen and Lois.

IN MEMORIAM

STEINBURG — In fond and loving memory of my dear father, Ford Steinburg, who passed away November 13, 1965.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech
But not too far for thought to reach;
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Muriel and Family.

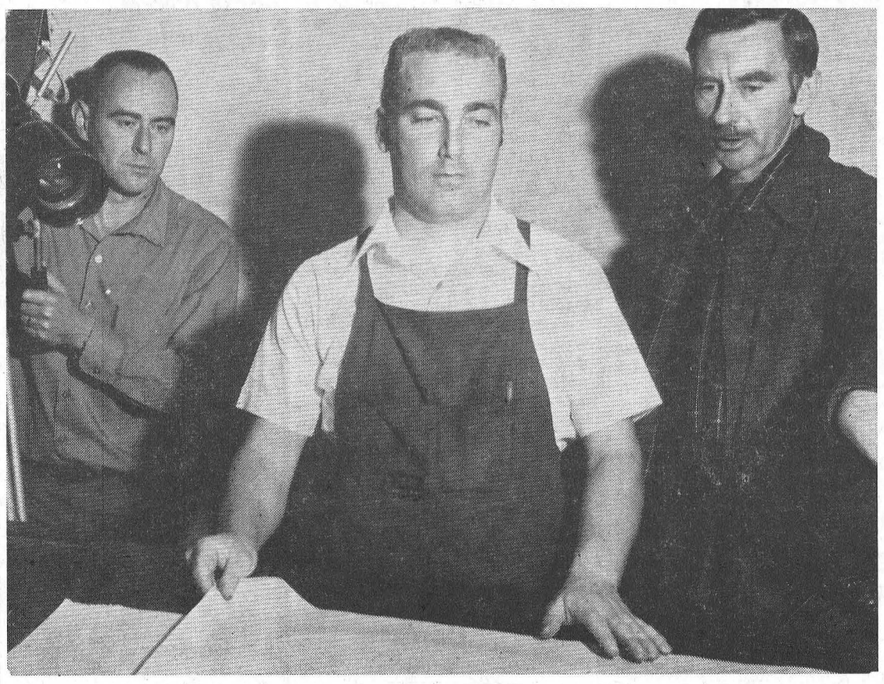
The "Record" on TV on Sunday's Country Calendar

A week ago a CBC TV crew spent a lot of time at this newspaper and at the home of the publishers, Keith and Helen Graham. They were taping the life and times of three newspapers and this newspaper was one of the ones to be featured.

Producer Eric McCleery and interviewer Laurie Jennings spent the evening with the "Record" publishers after the crew departed from the livingroom. The five-man group had already spent several hours at the newspaper plant making tape of the operation and of an interview with editor Kieth Graham.

The program is scheduled to be aired in the near future.



The all-seeing eye of the TV camera spent parts of two days in the "Record" office recently. A CBC crew was on hand to record on videotape the life and times of a small weekly newspaper. The Country Calendar program scheduled for showing this Sunday at 1.30 deals with three weekly papers, those at Ayr, Winchester and Chesterville. The crew also invaded the home of the editor of the "Record" and filmed an interview with the co-publisher, Mrs Keith Graham. Wayne "Woodie" LaPrade is shown feeding the big press with cameraman Dick Ewing at the left and director Eric McCleery at theri ght.—Record Staff Photo.

Mainly About People

"Remembrance Day" was the sermon subject of the Reverend E.Earle Eaton, mnister, at the Presbyterian Churches of Chesterville, Morewood and Dunbar last Sunday. At the Dunbar service the choir rendered Kipling's "Recessional", to the Barnby musical arrangement. At Chesterville and Morewood the choir selection was "In the Garden," by Miles.

The Reverend and Mrs E. Earle Eaton were in Ottawa last week for lectures at the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association and the Ottawa Valley Bible Institute; also attended the Winter Fair and the production of "The Alchemist" at the National Arts Center.

The Presbyterian Youth Fellowship met at Dunbar last Sunday evening. Carson Elliott, president, gave a Remembrance Day meditation. A social hour followed, with refreshments provided by the Dunbar Social Committee.

The Reverend and Mrs Earle Eaton were at Brockville on Saturday for the Faith at Work Conference. Mr Eaton assisted with the piano work at the meetings.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Dunbar Presbyterian Church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs Wendell Harper in Chesterville. The lesson was given by Mrs E. Earle Eaton.

George Crawford and Douglas Hunter attended a gathering of Presbyterian Men at Ingleside last Thursday evening. Mr Crawford was song leader for the meeting.

The Morewood Presbyterian W.M.S. met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs Donald Carlyle.

The Reverend and Mrs E. Earle Eaton called on friends at Lunnburg and Winchester, and were supper guests of Mrs George Riddell at Winchester.

The Reverend and Mrs E. Earle Eaton paid hospital calls last week at Ottawa, Cornwall and Winchester.

Harold Graham of South Mountain, was a visitor in Chesterville, last Saturday.

Miss Mary David has been named Chesterville Representative for the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association's Ottawa showing of "The Restless Ones" film production. Douglas Hunter is Morewood representative and Douglas Dillabough is Dunbar representative.

Mrs Gerry Van Vliet, Chesterville, is on a holiday in Holland visiting relatives. She will be celebrating her birthday there with her twin sister and also her mother's birthday who will be 86 on Saturday.

Mrs Frank Schoones, Chesterville, is also in Holland visiting relatives. Mrs Schoones' mother has been seriously ill for some time.

Capt. and Mrs G. T. Merkley and sons have been spending a few days with the former's mother, Mrs George Merkley on their return from Winnipeg to Dartmouth, N.S.

Sunday guests of Miss Margaret Ouderkirk were Mr and Mrs Emerson Stewart, Winchester.

Trinity Messengers hold November meeting

The November meeting of the United Church Messengers was held on Monday, November 3, with nineteen members present.

The meeting opened with the Messenger Motto followed by minutes and roll call.

Mrs McGregor read another story from the study book "The Land of Tender Toes." A discussion followed as to how children's quarrels can be settled before someone's tender toes are tramped on too heavily.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs Reid. The scripture was taken from Matthew 7, versus 3 to 5. It was explained to the children that they should never criticize someone else without first considering their own shortcomings.

Two poems were read: "When I Have to Say I'm Sorry," and "When I Remember What I Did."

The offering was received by Keith Durant.

A game "Blind Cat" was enjoyed.

DOCTRINA ARTE CONIUNCTA
NORTH DUNDAS DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

PARENT VISITATION NIGHT

On Monday, November 17, North Dundas District High School will hold its annual parent visitation evening. This year's program has been revamped to allow more dialogue between parent and teacher by taking the teacher out of the class and placing the teacher in the gymnasium or in the hall where he is more acessible. It is hoped that this arrangement will speed up the processing of mutual problems. The program, which is continuous, will commence at 7.00 p.m. and conclude at 10.00 p.m. Some parents will receive a telephone invitation from the school, asking them to make a special effort to attend to discuss particularly pressing problems . . . In this case, no news is good news!

PROPER CARE NEEDED FOR GOOD TASTING MILK

The bland taste of milk makes it easy for the consumer to detect any slight change in flavour.

Although the dairy industry is continually striving for better quality milk products, occasionally the consumer receives an inferior flavoured product. Dr A. N. Myhr, Department of Food Science, University of Guelph, told a meeting of the Ontario Milk and Food Sanitarians' Association that there are certain problems associated with the preservation of milk products.

"Preservation must start on the farm," he said. The barn and milking area should be clean and well ventilated. Otherwise cows will inhale bad odors which will eventualy contaminate the milk. Even strong-flavoured feeds should be kept out of the barn until cows have been milked.

Rancidity is a problem which has developed under the bulk milk system. Dr Myhr explained that normal milk contains the enzyme lipase in an inactive state. Sometimes, he said, the lipase is rendered active by excessive agiation and foaming in the farm bulk cooler and pipeline systems. As a result, the fat in the milk is split, giving off free fatty acids. This contributes to the abnormal rancid flavour.

Oxidized flavours in milk are caused by chemical changes in milk fat. All copper-bearing alloys must be eliminated from dairy equipment at the plant, as copper is a potent catalyst. It speeds up the reaction leading to unfavourable oxidized flavours. Dr Myhr pointed out that most plants now have stainless steel systems.

Certain cows within a herd may produce milk which oxidizes within a few hours after it leaves the udder. Milk from such cows should not be added to the bulk tanks or it may ruin the flavour of the milk in the tanks.

Microbiological flavour detioration has been a problem. However, new bulk milk cooling systems have reduced bacterial growth to a minimum and bacterial spoilage of raw milk has become rare.

The bulk milk transporter has the responsibility of grading the milk before pick-up. He must reject milk which is not acceptable for processing. He also is responsible for the sanitary care of milk as it is pumped onto the truck.

Dr Myhr stressed the importance of dairy plant upgrading to take care of the fine points of sanitation, important for increasing the shelf life of milk and its products.

"The biggest problem," said Dr Myhr, "is removing the milk from the pasteurizer to the bottle or package." The outside of the processing equipment must be as clean and sanitized as the inside surfaces. Otherwise there may be slight contamination due to condensation or slight leaks in pumps, valves, or pipelines. Any recontamination after pasteurization will lower the keeping quality at refrigeration temperatures from 14 days to five days or less.

He pointed out that in presenting the final product to the consumer, it is up to the supermarket to ensure proper handling and good storage temperatures. But it is up to the dairy industry to supply the supermarket with well-packaged products which will be protected from flourescent light.

A Birch Bark Canoe From Geraldton Trees

Sometimes white birch bark can be hard to find especially if it must be peeled from trees two feet and up in diameter. Searching for these trees, the Minnesota Historical Society sent letters to many parts of the United States and Canada without success until the department of lands and forests Geraldton District staff was contacted.

The Historical Society wished to build two large canoes, 26 feet and 36 feet in length for use as permanent museum exhibits.

The Historical Society was guided to a few birch stands by lands and Forests officers. It was not easy to find a birch tree with a strip of bark six feet wide and fairly clean and thick, and the trees had to be felled so that the bark would be properly stripped.

Birch bark canoes had a very important role in the exploration and opening up of the West. Readily adopted by early fur traders as the only practical means of transportation in the Canadian Wilderness, the extreme lightness of these canoes more than compensated for their fraility. They could be carried over several miles of portage by few men. Even a seriously damaged canoe could be repaired within a few hours with no other materials than strips of birch bark, a few threads of spruce root to sew them on and a little spruce gum to cover the seams. For almost a century birch bark canoes carried European trade goods from the Atlantic Ocean, across the prairies to the Rocky Mountains and the Arctic. Today its derivitive, the cedar, aluminum or fibreglass canoe is still used by prospectors, surveyors and explorers in the regions beyond the reach of modern transportation.

EVERYBODY EATS TRY THESE

HURRY! HURRY! HURRY!

EVERYONE SEEMS TO BE IN A HURRY these days and I dare say that is the reason for the popularity of instant foods. Well! there are no instant recipes today I am afraid. But I do have three excellent fruit cakes and an equally excellent plum pudding. And the hurry is, that you should make them as soon as you can to have them close to their peak of flavour by Christmas time.

RIBBON FRUIT CAKE

Black Part

- 1½ cups sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 6 egg yolks
- 2 cups flour
- 1½ lbs. raisins
- 1 lb. currants
- ½ lb. citron
- ¼ lb. nut meats
- 2/3 cup vinegar
- 1 tsp. soda
- ½ tsp. cloves
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- ½ tsp. allspice

Cream the sugar, add the butter and cream together until well blended. Use a little of the flour to dredge the fruit and nuts; sift together the remainder of the flour, spices and soda. Add flour mixture and vinegar alternately; blend well, add the fruit and nuts.

White Part

- 6 egg whites
- 1 cup white sugar
- ½ cup butter
- ½ cup milk or cream
- 2½ cups flour
- 3 tsps. baking powder
- 1 lb. finely chopped almonds
- ½ lb. citron
- ½ lb. cocoanut
- 1 tsp. rose water
- 1 tsp. lemon juice

Cream the butter and the sugar; add the milk or cream, then sifted dry ingredients, nuts and fruit; mix well, add flavouring and lastly fold in beaten egg whites.

Bake in a greased tin,; put in first a layer of black, then a layer of white and so on until it is all used. Bake in a slow oven.

Plum Pudding

- 3 lbs. raisins
- ¼ lb. lemon peel
- ½ lb. candied cherries
- ¼ lb. citron peel
- ½ lb. blanched, slivered almonds
- 1 lb. suet
- 1 lb. brown sugar
- 4 cups bread crumbs
- ¼ cup flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. cloves
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- ¼ tsp. allspice
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 8 eggs
- ½ cup grape juice

Chop raisins; cut peel into very thin slices, sprinkle with flour. Remove the membrane from the suet and chop fine. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and spices. Add sifted sugar. Add bread crumbs, suet and fruit. Mix well. Add grape juice and well beaten eggs. Pour into three greased molds; cover tightly. Steam four hours. If cooked in one large dish, steam six hours.

Light Fruit Cake

- 16 oz. mixed fruitcake fruits
- ¼ cup chopped candied pineapple
- ¼ cup preserve or candied ginger
- ½ cup dates
- ½ cup chopped dried apricots
- ½ cup chopped moist figs
- 2 cups light raisins
- 3 oz. pkg. blanched almonds, cut in slivers
- 2 cups flaked cocoanut
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ tsps. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup butter or shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. rum extract or sherry
- 5 eggs
- ½ cup unsweetened pineapple juice

Mix all fruits, nuts and cocoanut. Cream butter thoroughly. Add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flavouring and eggs one at a time. Beat thoroughly. If the mixture curdles slightly do not be alarmed as it will not affect the finished cake. Sift flour then measure it and sift with remaining dry ingredients. Use ½ cup of flour mixture to dredge fruits. Add flour mixture and pineapple juice alternately to egg mixture. Stir in fruits and nuts. Pour into two loaf pans which have been lined with foil and greased. Bake at 275 degrees for 3½ hours. Place pan of water in bottom of oven during baking.

Rich Fruit Cake

The following recipe will make four medium-sized cakes:

- 1¼ lbs. butter
- 1¼ lbs. light brown sugar
- 13 eggs
- 5 cups flour
- 2 tsps. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- ½ tsp. cloves
- ½ tsp. mace
- 2 lbs. currants
- 3 lbs. raisins
- ½ lb. dates
- ½ lb. almonds
- 1 lb. citron peel
- ½ cup orange juice
- ½ cup strong coffee

In making a large fruit cake, it is best to prepare the fruit one day and bake the cake the following day. To do this, pick over, wash and dry the currants; wash, seed and cut the raisins; wash, dry and stone the dates; cut the peel into very thin pieces; blanche the almonds and cut in small pieces. Mix the fruit and nuts and dredge with 1/3 cup of the flour. Also dredge the citron peel with the flour. If you neglect to dredge the fruit and nuts with flour they will stick together in lumps and it will be almost impossible to mix them thoroughly with the other ingredients.

In mixing the cake use the following method: Cream the butter thoroughly. Add sifted sugar slowly; beat until very light. Add one-quarter of the flour and spices mixed and sifted together. Add yolks of eggs, well beaten, then whites, beaten; stir; beat the mixture until very light. Add fruit juice and cofee alternately with remaining flour; beat well. Add fruit, one-third at a time. Pour mixture into pans which have been carefully lined with three thicknesses of paper, of which the top layer has been buttered. The pans should not be more than two-thirds full. Bake in a very slow oven 3 to 4 hours. If steamed for 2½ hours and baked for 1 hour the cake will be more moist.
