The regular meeting of Winchester Township council was held in the Town Hall, Winchester, on Monday, November 7, with all members present. The minutes of the last regular and special meetings were adopted as read and signed by the reeve.

Mr Walter Carlyle, Morewood, was appointed truant officer for the schools in the Township of Winchester, replacing W. N. Carkner who resigned to accept other employment. By-law No. 860, setting November 25 from one to two o'clock in the afternoon as the time, and the Town Hall, Winchester, as the place to hold municipal nominations and Township Area school trustees, was finally passed, signed and sealed.

It was decided by council that in case of a municipal election, the polls would be opened at 9.00 a.m. and close at 7.00 p.m. for the benefit of a great number of ratepayers who are working long distances from home, so that persons would not be denied the privilege of voting should they desire to do so.

A by-law of the Township of Winchester was finally passed for licensing and regulating and governing salvage shops, salvage yards, junk yards, second hand goods, shops and dealers in second hand goods, and for revoking such licence.

The road superintendent and clerk were instructed to advertise for tenders for a five ton truck to snowplow roads in the Township of Winchester for the winter of 1955-56.

Mission Band Holds Peace Programme In Sunday School Room

A peace programme took the place of the worship service at the Mission Band meeting on November 7 at Trinity United Church Sunday School. Wearing flags representing different nations, the children carried candles which were lit in a gesture of friendship by Bob Mitchell, representing Canada.

The German carol, "Away in a Manger," was sung during the programme and at its conclusion "O Canda" was sung by candlelight.

The collection was taken by Peter Merkley while the children sang "Hear the Pennies Dropping" and, in keeping with the programme, Mrs G. White read a chapter of "The Boy with the Busy Walk" which included girls and boys from different nations in Friendship House.

Kenny Baker read the minutes of the last meeting and Bob Mitchell called the roll. Twenty children answered.

Gifts, which ranged from a tiny plastic doll to a jis-saw puzzle, were put in the hospital bags and then plans were made for a Christmas party and songs practised for the Christmas concert.

THREE PERSONS INJURED, WHEN CAR HITS POLE

Three persons were sent to Winchester Memorial Hospital Saturday evening when the car in which they were travelling struck, and broke off a hydro pole.

Chas. J. Jacobs, RCAF, St. Hubert, Que., was travelling east on County Road No. 5 accompanied by Mr and Mrs Frank Salter, Inkerman. About half a mile west of Winchester Springs the car left the road striking the pole. Dr D. M. Robertson, Williamsburg, attended the three injured persons and had them removed to hospital.

Provincial Officer H. Meyer, of Morrisburg, investigated.

Rotary Clubs Work for Peace States District Governor

Rotary Clubs in 92 countries and geographical regions throughout the world are united in an endeavcur to promote international understanding, good will and peace. That was the message of Harry Ballard, of Carthage, N.Y.. Governor of District 250 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of Chesterville Monday night, following a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

Harry C. Ballard

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 8,830 Clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, Mr Ballard explained, Rotary International has spent more than $1,750,000 in recent years through its programme of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will. Since 1947, when this programme was established, 709 Rotary fellowships have been awarded to students in 57 countries.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 419,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of differing nationalities or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District Governor explained.

"In addition to the promotion of international understanding," Mr Ballard continued, "special emphasis is being placed by Rotary Clubs this year on activities of their own communities which will furnish leadership in youth programmes, raise standards in businesses and professions, promote traffic safety, develop good citizenship and build better rural-urban relationship."

Governor Ballard was introduced by President James Cunningham and thanked on behalf of the Club by Vice President Bert Gillard.

50th ANNIVERSARY

Final Tribute Paid Thomas Alexander Droppo

The funeral of the late Thomas Alexander Droppo, attended by people from all walks of life, was held from the Henderson Funeral Home, Chesterville, to Holy Trinity Anglican Church where the simple and impressive service was conducted by the Rev Canon Gordon Carryer.

The pall bearers were George Menzies, Harvey Barkley, Gerald Kearney, Neil Kelly, Francis Lynch and Leon Marcellus.

The many beautiful floral tributes testified to the heartfelt regret experienced by the community at the sudden death of Mr Droppo. Interment was in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Born in Goldfield in 1900, Alexander Thomas Droppo was the eldest son of the late Mrs Droppo and Peter Droppo. He received his education in local schools and Finch High School.

Following his marriage to Miss Edna Phillips, of Smiths Falls, the family spent some time there, later moving to Cornwall where Mr Droppo was employed by the Howard Smith Paper Co. until ordered by his physician to curtail strenuous physical activity. The family came to Chesterville and successfully operated a restaurant business for the past two years. He was a member of the congregation of Holy Trinity Church and also belonged to I.O.O.F. Smiths Falls Lodge, members of which, together with Chesterville brethren, held their service of farewell, prior to the funeral.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Alton, Camp Borden, and Glen, Montreal; his father, Peter Droppo, Chesterville; two sisters, Mrs Floyd Edgerton (Catherine), Chesterville, and Mrs Clarence Swayne (Thressa), of Smiths Falls, and one brother, Hosea, of Chesterville.

Just a year ago Mr Droppo's brother, Allen, was killed on the highway near Malton, while changing a tire, by a hit-and-run driver who has never been apprehended.

Morewood Hunter, W. Loughridge, 77, Kills Big Bear

"GRANPA'S BEAR" SAYS RICKY, 1½ years, as he carefully reaches for the paw of the big black bear Grandfather Walter Loughridge of Morewood killed last week up in the Chalk River bush. Mr Loughridge was hunting with the Egan Lake Hunt Club at the time. Returning hunters brought out the bear to Mr Loughridge's home at Morewood where his son-in-law, Walter Mattice, hung it up in the drive shed with block and tackle. The animal stretched over seven feet from nose to foot and weighed 259 pounds on the Department of Lands and Forests scales at Arnprior. It was hog-dressed. Inset is a recent snapshot of Mr Loughridge and pictured with the bear are his two small grandsons, Ricky, 1½, and Bobby, 7.—Record Photo.

Bears at Egan Lake Enliven Hunt Last Week "Davy Crockett" Specialists Bring Home Two Saturday

Out after deer last week, hunters of the Egan Lake Hunt Club ended up on Thursday with two large black bears in the bag, something they didn't expect.

Thursday morning, the hunters had left camp with instructions to meet at a central point on a ridge for dinner and a new run in the afternoon. Gord Lannin, Willis Cross and Sterling Liscumb were to put out the dogs and make the morning drive. The rest of the hunters were to spread in the usual pattern and cut off the chases if any.

One of the hunters was Walter Loughridge, of Morewood, old in the ways of the red deer, and with 77 years over his head. He took a stand below the writer in a cleared area and settled down to wait. When shooting started up on our right hand, we expected to see anything but a bear appear from the thick greenery, but out he came on the double chased along by some near misses from the gun of George Armstrong, of Elma.

The bear was 250 or 300 yards away from our gun but we opened up anyway. By the fourth shot bruin was really making knots, heading for a steep side-hill to the left. We finally connected with the last shot, the bear flipped into the brush and burst out on the other side, wounded and mad.

Mr Loughridge was out in the clearing and saw the bear before it saw him. Two well-placed shots from the old "thutty-thutty" settled its hash and bear steaks were ready for the trimming.

The bear set some kind of a record for Walter. It was just 60 years ago this Fall that he killed his first bear, up west of Morewood.

The carcass was weighed on Saturday afternoon at the Department of Lands and Forests checking station at Arnprior. It proved to be one of the heaviest male black bears they had ever weighed out of the Chalk River area. They had never weighed a bear of 300 pounds, and the Loughridge model tipped the beam at 259.

As if one bear was not enough, in the afternoon of the same day, Willis Cross and Arnold Windsor tangled with a female and finally Willis downed it, after nearly losing Lloyd Fyke's small black, but brave, dog in the process. When Willis came to the rescue, Mrs Bear was trying to decide just how to go about clobbering the small yipper. Willis Cross is answering to the name of "Davy!"

OPINIONS . . .
Ours and Others

A Time for Decision

Each year at this time municipalities in our part of the country take on the chore of deciding who will look after public affairs for the coming year. Municipal nominations are looming up and subsequent elections, if needed, are all the talk with those who care about their local governments.

Nomination day is just one week and one day from today for Chesterville and the township of Winchester, and for the other towns and villages of the county. Between now and then decisions will have begun to be formed, deals made and situations planned —in other words politics will flower in all their sudden show like a desert bloom, ready to die a quick death at the breath of public disfavour.

Chesterville went through the painless childbirth of acclamation last year and was presented with a council and reeve. Granted the process is painless, but is it the best way to appoint a village government? All through the past year, criticism, and there has been some, has come from the ratepayers as if it was all the other fellow's fault that council was other than perfect. It is so easy to pass the buck in criticism without accepting any of the responsibility for the positions the public servants hold. It should be remembered that each member of the voting community must accept his share of the authority that put the councillor or reeve in his or her position, either by the negative process of acclamation or by the positive expression of a secret ballot.

We must have expressed ourselves in the above vein for many seasons now through these columns; we are repeating the refrain again because each year finds the situation the same: Apathy towards public office in our small towns and townships is a sad and dangerous thing. If we do not make use of our right and lawful heritage to choose members of local government by their debated merits, then we are nearing the wash of central government that will slowly etch away those rights in the guise of Big Brother help.

Does Chesterville need a change in her councillors and reeve? That is the $64,000 question that will be answered a week from tomorrow night when the reports are in. That will be the time for men of good intention to allow their names to remain on the nomination lists and stand the stringent decision of a ballot. Withdrawal is for mice when they see the cat. Let's have a strong infusion of ballot blood in the council, for a change, in Chesterville.

Safe Driving and Saner Living

The daily papers are full of dire warnings. about the dreadful fate to befall unwary drivers who break any of the traffic rules; tough measues are being taken to tighten things up on the highways so that accidents will lessen and lives will be safer. Vendors of beer and liquor have been told to be on the watch for drinking patrons and refuse to serve them. Vendors, that is, in govenment stores.

All these measures should lead to good and positive results, except for the boss telling the employee not to serve a customer who has already spent hard-earned money in the store to buy goods offered for sale and then consumed. If the government sees fit to sell a product for general consumption and use, who are they to pass the word to their employees to act as policemen or magistrates or medical men. If the beer and liquor that is being freely sold under government sanction is one of the contributory factors to accidents on our highways, then control the sale by some other means than smelling the customer's breath.

We are heartily in favour of certain controls as are now being practiced on our highways. It is about time policemen were put into unmarked vehicles and sent down the line after the bully-boys of the road. A driving permit is a sign that at least a rudiment of knowledge of traffic laws has seeped throuh the owner's skull. He knows exactly when he is breaking the law. Put a Holstein car in sight and see how fast he conforms. Has he any more right to break the law because the policeman can't see him than the policeman to use a camouflage to waylay the lawbreaker? Does a detective close in on a suspected murderer with a placard on his breast proclaiming his presence? Hit and run drivers are little better than murderers in nearly every case.

By the same token, we believe the law should have enough teeth, enforceable teeth, that drinking citizens would know enough to stay away from the steering wheel. Agents of the law hold a peculiar position in our society; they have a tough job to do, they are respected because of that job yet 90 per cent of the public who are caught by their authority feel injured. Give him means to put the bite on the drinking driver so it sticks, and make full use of the authority invested in the badge. For Pete's sake, don't make the merchandising members of our Civil Service into a bunch of part-time Keystone cops.

Bits and Pieces

Home again after a good week of hunting—and a brand new crop of hunting stories with which to bore our friends. We got our buck, we pecked away at a large black bear and our small daughter liked us much better after we had removed a week's growth of grizzled beard! Our friend Gene MacDonald, of the Glengarry News in Alexandria, had his tongue in his cheek last week we think, though. He reported a native of the town downing a large deer with a slug from a 16-gauge shotgun at a mere 900 feet. What a smoke pole! We couldn't stop the bear at that distance with a high powered rifle and telescopic sights; all we did was take out one leg and slow him up a little.

That Morning Egg

Whether a person likes his morning egg fried or boiled may depend as much on where he lives as whether he wakes up fit, fussy, or otherwise.

Residents of Providence, R.I., despite a nationwide trend toward more fried eggs, prefer theirs boiled. Other egg habits also vary from area to area.

As many as half the shoppers in Mansfield and Columbus, Ohio, and Wichita, Kan., still buy their eggs by the bag rather than by the carton. Housewives in Chicago go for the light-yolkeggs, while those in surrounding towns hold out for orange yolks. Bostonians will pay several cents more for a dozen of brown-shelled eggs, but New Yorkers pay more for whites.

The shell-colour prejudice persists fom days when it was difficult to ship eggs without damaging their quality. Eggs laid nearest home — browns in Boston, whites in New York—thus became equated with best quality.

Today it matters little whether hens lay their bids for immortality in Iowa, California, Pennsylvania, Minnesota (the four leading egg-producing states among the states of our neighbour south of the border) or elsewhere. Their eggs will likely travel far to the frying pan—and in great number.

Americans ate more eggs last year than ever before, an average 414 per person—almost half again as many as 40 years ago. Not all were marketed as shell eggs. Some were transmuted into bakery and grocery products. Others were frozen or dried.

Though egg-drying patents were sought during the Civil War, the business didn't boom until World War II. Then production of frozen and dried eggs reached 29.7 percent of all eggs sold off United States farms. Since, with the end of Government buying, the total dropped to seven percent.

Today nearly half of all dried eggs end up in consumer-size packaged mixes. Called egg solids now, they are made by a completely new technique. Sales of ready mixes might never have tripled in the last seven years had egg solids not been made more palatable, more reliable in baking, and better able to keep at room tempeature.

Until scientists breed a hen whose eggs will keep for weeks at room temperature, it is still vital to the shell egg that it be kept cool. Hot out of the nest, it has a temeperature of 105 degrees F. Unless refrigerated. and kept that way, it deteriorates fast. An egg held three days at 70 degrees loses as much "freshness" as one kept two weeks in a refrigerator.

Light Along The Way

Cyrus, king of Persia, was a mighty monarch. As he drove westward across the lands of his rivals he successfully put down all opposition. People were filled with fear and trembling at news of his approach. A dramatic summary of his prowess appears in the book of the prophet Isaiah:

"He gives up nations before him, so that he tramples kings under foot; he makes them like dust with his sword, like driven stubble with his bow."

Where can men turn for help? Again the prophet describes their desperate searching:

"Every one helps his neighbour, and says to his brother, "Take Courage!"

So one goes to encourage another, praising his work and seeking solace in his company. Thus they hope to find the strength to meet the future, and the courage to carry on. But relentlessly the foe pursues a steady advance, and men have little hope.

It is the Israelites alone who find ground for courage and hope. The Israelites, who in the person of Abraham, were summoned from Mesopotamia by Jehovah and are, therefore, truly an instrument of His. In Him they can trust, and so are able to find aleviation for their fears. Cyrus may attain military victory and fame, but only Jehovah is from everlasting to everlasting and holds final victory over the life of men.

This faith is well set forth in one of the great hymns of the Church:

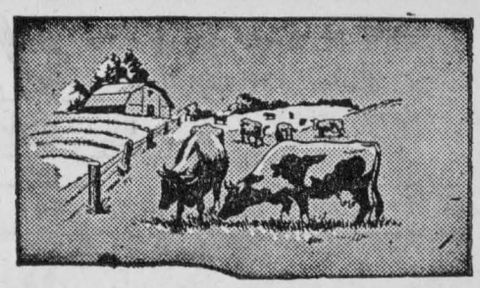

"Fear not, I am with thee; O
be not dismayed!
I, I am thy God, and will still give thee aid;
I'll strengthen thee, help thee,
and cause thee to stand,
Upheld by My righteous omnipotent hand.

"When through the deep waters I call thee to go,
The rivers of woe shall not thee overflow;
For I will be with thee, thy troubles to bless,
And sanctify to thy deepest distress.

"When through fiery trials thy pathway shall lie,
My grace, all-sufficient, shall be thy supply;
The flames shall not hurt thee;
I only design
Thy dross to consume and thy gold to refine."

So, in the face of evil and fright, man has taken courage in God the Lord. Whatever may come, whatever may change, He who is eternal will not change. His love and care are shed forth to protect those in need, and with His hand He will gently lead them on.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

I think it's about time I brought you up to date on what is going on around Iroquois. In August I told you about the big house-mover out there but much has happened since then.

We followed the rough, country roads, of course, on our drive to Iroquois last Sunday and left the highways for the more venturous souls. Our follow-the-nose route took us through some of Matilda Township's best farm districts and eventually we found ourseleves on the tar-top road that leads into Iroquois from the north. And from the Second Concession Road on to the Point things are really happening.

On the west side of the road is a new cement plant where they make pre-mixed cement and lined up in the yard were several big trucks to haul it away. The space is fenced off and the bush cleared for the new 401 Highway and farther on for the railway right-of-way too.

On the east side we noted that some bush had been cut, fences erected, land levelled and winding roads built. The area seemed to take in several acres. Yet we were half a mile from the site of the new town. We guessed that this space was for all sorts of things. Then we saw a sign that said, "This is the new Home of Caldwell Linens"—or something like that. So the new mill will sit with its back to the bush in a very unusual but picturesque setting. And along the road ditch hundreds of pipes were lying end to end to prove that the factory would have water before long.

Over the hill was New Iroquois. What was a raw, bare field in August is quite a sizeable village now. The streets run in curves and crescents like most modern suburbs. But unlike the new areas of today which contain only houses that look quite similar New Iroquois is a collection of houses of every possible shape, colour and design. It is a unique combination of modern streets and old houses.

The big sign at the entrance to the village said that we must travel at our own risk but it wasn't too risky. The main streets were covered with a foot or more of crushed rock. And although it was like driving a bicycle through an oat bin it wasn't dangerous.

Although the fifty or more houses there were at different stages of completion they looked very well. Some had been freshly painted and boasted grass and walks. Others still had the holes in the foundation where the beams had gone through.

Out in old Iroquois many changes were evident. Trees by the dozen had been cut and the wood laid in neat piles. And on every street we saw where the houses had been taken away. But the streets aren't lined with old cellars and foundations. Every basement had been filled and the site levelled until it looked like a garden plot. An occasional sign "We have moved to New Iroquois" reminded us that once there had been a house in that particular spot.

Point Iroquois had changed too. We crossed the bridge early before most of the interested and curious arrived. The signs there directed us to the parking area and lookout built especially for folks like us who want to see what is going on.

The observation platform was high but very sturdy. We puffed up its many steps and looked around. Below us to the south we saw the new canal that cuts its way through the Point. It seemed that the ground removed from the canal was being hauled to the north of the Point to build a wall around the cemetery.

Across the water. on the U.S. shore, ground has been levelled and preparations have begun to build a coffer dam as soon as the canal is complete and the water can run through it. It was indeed quite a view from that lookout.

Coming home we turned off No. 2 Highway onto a side road that goes north near the Williamsburg locks. There we saw the best view of the new highway and railroad beds. We had no idea so much work had been done.

Iroquois and the district around it have certainly changed. I wonder what they will look like next year at this time.

Outdoor Roundup

with Joe Foster

Over the years sportsmen have been building up a fine reputation in the avoidance and prevention of forest fires and yet every fire during the hunting season is invariably blamed on hunters. And hunters actually do cause forest fires; some by accident and many through carelessness. The record is good when you compare the number of fires with the number of hunters, but when you consider the total number of fires, the record is bad.

Here's What It Costs

Ever stop to think what can happen when even a little fire starts? Well, first it takes nearly an hour to get an adequate crew of fire fighters to the average fire. In that hour, with a dry woods and a good wind, that forest fire could increase from a match, cigarette, pipe ash or warming fire to an 80-acre fire. It would take 36 men, working as hard as they can, four hours to put a control line around that fire. It would take six cars to haul the men and one truck to transport fire fighting tools to the fire. It would take half of these men eight hours the following day to put out all the smokes inside the fire. It would take $95 worth of food to feed the fire fighters on the fire. If everything went smoothly—the fire jump the control line—that one little match or cigarette would have cost about $500—of your money—to put out. As hunters we have too much of an interest in the forests to let this sort of thing happen.

What About That Motor?

Before you retire your outboard motor to the mothball fleet for the winter, there are a number of things you can do which will prolong its life and lessen your make-ready cares in the spring. If you can't take your motor to an authorized service shop for winterization you can do the job at home by following these suggstions:

Six Steps for Winter Care

First, place your motor on a stand in an upright position. Take out the spark plugs and GROUND THE SPARK PLUG LEADS. Failure to do this may result in serious damage to the coil in some engines. Pull the starter cord slowly several times to drain out any water trapped in the water pump. Second, drain and clean the carburetor bowl, filter bowl and fuel lines. Third, drain built-in fuel tanks and discard the gasoline mixture since it is likely to deteriorate before spring. You can save the fuel in pressure tanks if you maintain the pressure. Fourth, squirt enough good grade motor oil in both cylinders to provide adequate lubrication. Don't use penetrating oil which might cause corrosion. Pull the motor over several times to distribute the oil. Utilize the old spark plugs for winter storage. Fifth, after replacing the motor cover, open both plugs in the lower gear-case and drain the gear lubricant. Check it carefully for traces of water which will appear in the form of bubbles in the oil. If you find numerous bubbles it's possible that a gasket or seal in the lower unit is leaking. Have this checked by your local outboard service man. If the lubricant is water free, refill the gear-case with new lubricant. Force the lubricant from a pressure can through the lower plug until it runs out the top vent. Sixth and last, grease all external moving parts of the motor. Then go over the entire surface with a cloth soaked in gasoline and oil. This will prevent corrosion from forming on the outside of your motor during the winter.

Coloured Slides Shown at Meeting Of Finch W.I.

The November meeting of Finch Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs James MacMillan, with a large number in attendance.

The motto for the evening was "Don't work all your life to make a living, but work to live all your life," and the president read a very appropriate poem to illustrate this entitled "Lucy Anne."

The roll call was answered with a health rule.

The meeting was opened with the Ode, Mary Stewart Collect and the Lord's Prayer in unison, led by the president, Mrs Donald Casselman. She was assisted by Mrs E. Montgomery, as secretary.

A letter from George Challies, of the Ontario St. Lawrence Development Committee, about articles to be placed in a museum in the Centrla Park Seaway Area was placed before the members for consideration.

Also a letter was received from the St. Lawrence Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Association and it was decided to support this appeal as in previous.

Young Immigrant Girl Wins Locke Trophy For Public Speaking

A young Dutch immigrant, Jenny Blok, daughter of Mr and Mrs H. Blok and a pupil of Boucks Hill Public School, took first place in the annual Williamsburg Township Public School public speaking contest held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Williamsburg.

The contest, open to all rural schools in the township, was sponsored by the Williamsburg Women's Institute.

Speaking about a trip "From Netherlands to Canada," she was awarded annually by Mrs M. M. Locke.

Sharon Wells, representing Colquhoun school, placed second, speaking on "Canada's Changing Scenes." Third place was won by another Colquhoun pupil, David Gow, who chose the topic, "Rideau Hill Boys' Camp." Fourth spot was taken by Frances Archambault, of Mariatown, who spoke on "Autumn."

Donald Kyle, reeve of the township, was the master of ceremonies, and the programme included several musical selections by pupils of many of the rural schools. Pianists were Mrs Murdock, of Morrisburg, and Mrs Clifford Casselman, of Williamsburg.

The judges were Rev Mr Mitchell, Hosea Droppo and Mrs L. Marcellus, all of Chesterville. Rev Mr Mitchell gave the judges' decision, especially complimenting the teachers of the schools who sponsored the speakers.

Prize money was presented by Miss Nina Casselman, president of Williamsburg Institute. Miss Blok, who has lived in this country only five years, now advances to the county finals which will be held later this month.

Cook: "I'm leaving in exactly three minutes, so give me my money."

Mistress: "Three minutes? Fine! Put the eggs on to boil, and we will have them right for the first time since you came.

She: "I consider sheep are the stupidest creatures living."

He (absent-mindedly): Yes, my lamb."

Dundas County L.O.L. Honours H. A. Graham

Officers and members of Dundas County Orange Lodge, with the ladies, assembled in the Orange Hall at Winchester Springs to spend a social evening and to honour H. A. Graham, of Kingston, grand organier of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East.

W. J. L. Boyd, county master, presided for a programme which included several musical numbers by local talent. The guest of honour, H. A. Graham, was introduced and addressed those present. H. H. Nesbitt, PCM, was asked to reply to the address of the grand organizer.

Later County Marshal Clifford Wylie escorted Mr Graham to the front of the hall where Herbert Wallace, county recording secretary, addressed the guest of honour and Gordon Simzer, county deputy master, presented him with a well filled purse.

Members of LOBA No. 817, Winchester, served lunch. Herbert Wallace expressed the thanks of the committee to the ladies who catered.

An Aberdonian visiting a friend overstayed his welcome by a month. Finally he said: "You're guid to me. I'll send ye a hen when I get hame.

Weeks passed but no hen appeared. The host wrote and asked what happened.

He received this reply: "She's very sickly, but as soon as she dies ye'll get her."

FIFTEEN YEARS IN SHOWBIZ!—Canada's best known and most popular comedians, Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, have just started their fifteenth season in showbusiness with their new television series on the CBC. It all began while they were at the University of Toronto; from there they moved to "The Army Show" during the war, and started on CBC networks in 1945. Soon after that the first Wayne and Shuster show made its debut on radio and, as we've said, is now in full swing on Canadian television.

Most Travelled Family of Bell(e)s

WHEN IT COMES TO TRAVELLING—by telephone wire that is—you'll go far to match the accumulated record, of the five Martin sisters of Montreal. Reading from left to right, Marguerite, Raymonde, Lillian, Yolande, and Huguette, all work at the Bell Telephone Company of Canada. They share a mutual interest in providing fast, courteous Long Distance Service to thousands of telephone customers. Marguerite, an assistant chief operator, was the first to join the company, ten years ago. She must have said some nice things to her sisters about the Bell! Huguette, the youngest, completed the quintette just over a year ago. We like having more than one member of a family sharing in telephone work. It says more forcefully than we ever could that "The Bell is a good place to work." We think, too, that as long as we have employees like the Martin sisters, you'll have the kind of telephone service we want you to have always.

Morrisburg Taxi Driver Beaten and Robbed

A police dragnet was out last week folowing the vicious beating and robbing of Morrisburg taxi driver Elmer Janack on a lonely concession road three miles northwest of Morrisburg.

Janack, 51, was removed to Cornwall General Hospital with shoulder and facial injuries. Police say he was robbed of almost $200.

A World War I veteran, Janack received a call to pick up a fare on the Second Concession road shortly after midnight. Police said Janack told them he encountered rails across the road on a curve and he saw two men beside an old model car.

Janack told police he attached no significance to the fence rails lying across the road at thetime. But he said he was slugged from behind after he got out of his car and knocked unconscious. The men and their car, along with about $195 and anack's wallet, were gone.

When he recovered consciousness Janack said he went to a nearby house where medical aid and the police were summoned. Janack was rushed to hospital in Cornwall by ambulance.

Investigation into the incident is being conducted by Csts. Herbert Myers and Earl McDougal.

FOR THE POULTRYMAN

Even well-grown pullets are not COMPLETELY developed when they begin to lay. They continue to fill out, adding another 1 to 2 lbs. Trying to grow, manufacture eggs, and maintain body condition, all at the same time, puts heavy demands on them, and on their feed. Without feed fortied for this 3-fold job they may lay themselves into a false or partial moult and en expensive rest period.

PURINA BOOSTER CHECKERS are made to supply extra proteins, vitamins, minerals, antibiotics to deal with that situation. Feed 6 lbs. per 100 birds per day, on top of the regular ration.

Disease germs, mites, lice can upset your poultry plans and turn your expected profits into losses. It's sensible to take sensible precautions against them.

PURINA INSECT OIL is a real help. Painted or sprayed on wooden surfaces, it kills germs with which it comes in contact, repels mites for a year, and helps preserve the wood. Apply when the house is empty. (If you have much wood to paint, of earth floors to disinfect, INSECT OIL CONCENTRATE will prove more economical).

PURINA POULTRY INSECTICIDE will help you get rid of lice. Paint it on the roosts just before roosting time. Repeat in 10 days. It's good practice to inspect birds for lice at housing, and after that at least once a month.

Did You Know?

It has been estimated that in Canada and the U.S. combined the northern pike devours almost nine million wild ducks annually and that the legal bag for both countries runs around nine million ducks a year.

*Outdoor Writers Association of America.

Eggs should be brought from a refrigerated case and stored as soon as possible in a home refrigerator. Put them in a covered container to keep the porous shells from absorbing strong flavours. And be sure that the eggs are standing big end up so their air cells will be on top. z

A candler looks for the air cell in grading an egg's IQ (interior quality). A Grade A egg has a smaller air cell than a B egg. It also has more thick white and a well-centred yolk.

CHRISTMAS CAKES

AS THE DAYS GROW SHORTER and the first flurries of snow fall, our thoughts turn to Christmas, and Christmas means entertaining and, of course, food. We will want spicy, fruit-filled cake to pass when friends drop in to say "Merry Christmas."

There is nothing better than Grandma's tried and true old fashioned fruit cake, but perhaps you want something that takes less time to make so here is a recipe for an uncooked fruit cake. This is deliciously filled with fruit and spices and nuts, but don't expect it to be the same as a baked and steamed fruit cake.

Uncooked Fruit Cake

1 small can evaporated milk
12 finely chopped marshmallows
½ cup orange juice
6 doz. graham crackers
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. cloves
¾ cup dark seedless raisins
¾ cup light seedless raisins
¾ cup finely cut dates
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1¼ cups mixed candied fruits

Mix milk, marshmallows and orange juice. When cutting marshmallows, if you dip the knife in cold water after each marshmallow they will not stick to the knife. Allow this mixture to stand while getting other ingredients ready. Roll crumbs fine, add spices and fruit. Add milk mixture. Mix well with spoons and hands until well moistened. Press firmly into pan which has been lined with waxed paper, both bottom and sides. Top with more nuts and fruit, if desired. Cover tightly. Chill several days before using. This cake should be kept in a cool place. Of course it will not keep as long as an ordinary fruit cake but it is so good that that will not be a problem.

Rich Fruit Cake No. 1

The following recipe will make four medium-sized cakes:

1¼ lbs. butter
1¼ lbs. light brown sugar
13 eggs
5 cups flour
2 tsps. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. mace
2 lbs. currants
3 lbs. raisins
½ lb. dates
½ lb. almonds
1 lb. citron peel
½ cup orange juice
½ cup strong coffee

In making a large fruit cake, it is best to prepare the fruit one day and bake the cake the following day. To do this, pick over, wash and dry the currants; wash, seed and cut the raisins; wash, dry and stone the dates; cut the peel into very thin pieces; blanche the almonds and cut in small pieces. Mix the fruit and nuts and dredge with 1-3 cup of the flour. Also dredge the citron peel with flour. If you neglect to dredge the fruit and nuts with flour they will stick together in lumps and it will be almost impossible to mix them thoroughly with the other ingredients.

In mixing the cake use the following method: Cream the butter thoroughly. Add sifted sugar slowly, beat until very light. Add one-quarter of the flour and spices mixed and sifted together. Add yolks of eggs, well beaten, then whites, beaten stiff; beat the mixture until very light. Add fruit juice and coffee alternately with remaining flour; beat well. Add fruit, one-third at a time. Pour mixture into pans which have been carefully lined with three thicknesses of paper, of which the top layer has been buttered. The pans should not be more than two-thirds full. Bake in a very slow oven 3 to 4 hours. If steamed for 2½ hours and baked for 1 hour the cake will be more moist.

Rich Fruit Cake No. 2

Mix and bake this cake in the same manner as Fruit Cake No. 1. This one has molasses instead of strong coffee as the liquid and has a slightly different combination of fruits.

1¼ lbs. butter
1¼ lbs. light brown sugar
13 eggs
5 cups sugar
2 tsps. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. mace
1 lb. light seeded raisins
1 lb. dark seeded raisins
3 lbs. seedless raisins
¼ lb. green candied cherries
¼ lb. red candied cherries
¼ lb. candied pineapple
¾ lb. almonds
1 lb. citron peel
½ cup grape juice
2-3 cup strawberry jam
½ cup molosses

BERWICK

THE USE OF GLUE

Gluing is by far the strongest permanent fastening for fir plywood. Glue may be used with nails or screws. When glue alone is used pressure on the glued-up joint should be maintained. Use waterproof glue for exterior exposures. Extremes of dampness won't hurt the fir plywood itself because all fir plywood made in Canada is bonded with waterproof glue.

"Oh, yes!"

At that moment an alarm was sounded. At the first stroke of the gong the men rushed to their posts, the doors of the station opened, and within a few seconds men and engine were speeding down the street.

"Well," said our young man, "There ain't many places where they'd go to all that trouble to show a stranger what they can do."
