Radio Forum News

Fifteen members of S. S. No. 10 Farm Forum turned out to the first Forum of the season held at the home of Oscar Foster.

Discussion under the leadership of John Sutherland on the topic of the night ,'Why do farmers leave the land?" was very interesting. It was discovered by actual count that there are 11 farm homes in a three mile radius that are vacant. The farm is farmed by an absentee owner. This is rather a startling situation in such a good farming district. If such is the case, why do farmers stick to their land in the poorer farm sections?

It was the general opinion that the young people are leaving the farms as they have no desire to work from daylight to dark, as their parents have done to earn an uncertain living while their town cousins appear to have a much easier life and more comforts and conveniences. Also discussed was the fact that, in the majroity of cases, farmers who have quit farming and are still active, bettered themselves in their new surroundings.

Forum next week at the home of Angus Smith, convenor H. R. Johnson. Topic for discussion "'Is our soil worn out?" We hope that all of our last year's members will turn out; also that anyone outside our Forum will consider himself invited and visit our forum and then start one in his own neighborhood.

Mrs. N. W. Beach Dies At Winchester

One of Winchester's best known citizens, Emma Jean McIntosh, wife of Norman W. Beach, died Sunday morning after a brief illness. Born at Cass Bridge, Winchester Township, 72 years ago. Mrs. Beach had lived in Winchester where she made many friends in church and social activities. Her parents, the late Peter McIntosh and Ellen Thornton, were well-known in the district as early pioneers, leaving a large family, all of whom are widely known in the area.

Mrs. Beach, is survived by one sister, Mrs. Fred Henderson, of Vancouver; two brothers, Rev. Dr. G.A. McIntosh and J. Albert McIntosh of Winchester. Her sister, Mrs. Ida Durant, and brothers, John H., Edwin and Joseph McIntosh died some years ago.

In addition to her husband, Norman W. Beach, of the Beach Manufacturing Co., Winchester, whom she married in 1911, is one son, Major Harold N. Beach, formerly of Pembroke and now serving overseas in Europe with No. 4 Coy., Canadian Dental Corps.

Mrs. Beach was a prominent W. C.T.U. worker holding many offices and serving at one time as county past president. She was a leading worker in Winchester United Church where she held office in the Sunday school, choir and the Woman's Missionary Society. The various organizations in the community will also feel her loss for both she and her husband who has held many municipal honours and appointments, have a very wide circle of friends and relatives.

The funeral was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. to Winchester United Church where service was conducted by the former minister, Rev. W. S. Atchison, of Cornwall. Interment was made in the family plot in Maple Ridge cemetery.

KICKED BY HORSES

It is reported from Kipling, Sask., that Bernard John McCadden, who went west to assist in the harvest was severely kicked by a team of horses, breaking six ribs and sustaining several cuts and bruises about the legs and body. His condition is reported as serious. "Bernie" McCadden as he is better known by is the only surviving son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCadden of Berwick.

LACK OF RAIN FALL BECOMING VERY SERIOUS

With an unusually dry fall throughout this district the water supply on farms and in the villages is becoming an alarming problem. There has been no big rains this season. Water course and swamps are as dry as they can be. Farmers for some time have been compelled to draw water from any available source for their stock and if the freeze-up comes before copious rains are received the situation will be more serious. For some time Nestle's have been pumping water from the deeper pools upstream in the Nation, to keep a sufficient depth in their reservoir in the village to carry on their operations. It is rumored that it may become necessary to shut down the condensery if conditions do not improve within a short time.

Pte Eric "Dick" Fyke Writes His Teacher

Italy, October 22nd.

Hello Mr. Dillabough:

I just got out of the hospital and am feeling better after having been wounded at the front. This war isn't all sunshine as I think you already know.

I have looked back on those school days when you were my teacher and said, "well, Mr. Dillabough wasn't such a bad egg after all and if I had followed his instructions more closely it would have been better for me." When you are in the lines fighting it makes every soldier think of home and his loved ones. I want you to bear in mind that I still think your tops and the best school teacher I ever had. How is your wife and Douglas and Ronnie getting along. I hope fine. Please tell them I was asking about them.

I have seen Mt. Vesuvius, the Pope in Rome and I've been all through the Vatican city. I fought at Cassino, Rome and Florence. I have been at Pompii and have seen the ruins, also that old bake shop. Well it was all true because I've seen it. Well I guess I will close now as the paper is short but will write again soon. Good-bye, good luck and God bless you all.

Your former pupil,
Eric Fyke.

It Doesn't Cost to Advertise in The Record—It Pays!

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2ND.

NEARLY ALL FOODS MUCH HIGHER

It does not require formidable statistics to convince the average housewife that the cost of living has increased enormously since war was declared. She has to bear the brunt of the battle, harassed by rationing cards and the scarcity of staple articles which she would dearly love to buy. A recent survey made by a trade journal into food prices prior to the start of the war in September, 1939 and this year's prices shows that some retailers have advanced prices all the way from 32.5 percent to 65 percent on the average. Dealers, it must be remembered, have had a strict rule to conform with Wartime Prices and Trade Board regulations and the increases conform with Board requirements since the base period of September--October, 1941. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics calculates that the cost of living as far as 45 food items are concerned has increased 31.2 percent. Its basic period covers the years 1935 to 1939 inclusive, the index for these years being considered at 100. The Bureau deals with a weighted index which takes into consideration the frequency with which the various 45 items are purchased whereas the trade paper presents the prices actually charged regardless of this frequency. Dealing with the cost of living items themselves its survey of prices shows an average increase between the two years of 49.5 percent. The range of increases in butter, for instance, was found to be from 48 percent to 60 percent with an average of 54 percent; cheese runs from 18 to 38 percent with an average of 31 percent; grade A large eggs, 27 percent to as high as 87 percent and an average of 50 percent; sirloin steak, 43 percent to 74 percent and an average of 58 percent; round steak, 43 percent to 81 percent and an average of 66 percent; lamb leg, 52 percent to 87 percent and an average of 69 percent; lamb fronts, 44 percent to 105 percent and the average 87 percent; lard, 55 percent to 58 percent and an average of 56 percent; bread, 15 percent; tea, 21 percent to 40 percent and an average of 33 percent; coffee, 16 percent to 52 percent or an average of 30 percent; an average increase in prunes of 48 percent; lemons, 72 per cent with one firm up 112 percent; oranges, 67 percent with one charging an increase of 108 percent. Dealing with items not in the cost-of-living index prices between 1939 and 1944 show several big advances and some declines. Puffed wheat, for instance, sold this year at 23 percent less than just before the war, but canned lobster higher by more than 200 percent. Average increase in macaroni has been 50 percent in honey, 153 percent. Olives are higher by 35 percent, soap chips 19 percent, fresh grapefruit up to 44 percent; evaporated milk from 44 percent to 56 percent with an average of 48 percent. The increase in bananas has averaged 147 percent, but baby foods showed an average reduction of 14 percent and one retailer sold cornflakes at 8 percent less, whereas another had an advance of 15 percent. Increase in grapefruit juice averaged 61 percent and halibut steaks 63 percent. Bran flakes are 17 percent higher and roasting chickens 48 percent.

TESTING OUT RELIGIOUS TEACHING

The first test of the program of religious education authorized by the Ontario Department of Education is being made in the London public schools. As with all new departures the program is somewhat handicapped as it has been found necessary to restrict it to grades one and two owing to a shortage of guide books. Religious education will be taught in all public school grades as soon as the books arrive, but teaching of the subject in high schools has been deferred for a year. A total of 2½ hours per week will be devoted to the subject. School teachers exclusively will supervise religious education classes, although at the present time London ministers are in charge of senior public grades, studying the subject under a program introduced locally. The new classes would follow a general religious theme in which doctrines will be eliminated. Parents wishing to have their children excused from the classes may do so by writing to the school principal. Provisions have also been made to excuse teachers from supervising the classes if they so desire. While the new program has been generally endorsed by Protestant Churches there has been a somewhat lukewarm withholding of approval as certain Ministers of the Gospel are loathe to relinquish a control which they feel should be vested in the churches.

STRIKE MAY BE DEFERRED

There is a fairly grounded hope that a strike in the Packing Industry may be averted or at least deferred until the congestion in the large processing plants has been partially cleared. Any interruption in the meat business at the present time would press heavily on farmers, many of whom are practically obliged to sell their stock with the approach of frost. The strike vote being taken up by the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) affiliated to the Canadian Congress of Labor, may just resolve itself into a threat for future action. Color is lent to this belief by the action of Trades and Labor Congress which announces that its no strike pledge still hands. It will take no part in the strike action of the C.I.O. and has discouraged its members from participating in the strike vote. It is claimed that the I.L.C. Federal Unions are certified to represent all meat industry workers in the Province of Quebec, employees of the Swift Canadian, Canada Packers, Ltd., Gainers Ltd. in Edmonton and all the big plants in Calgary.

STARLINGS CAUSE EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

While open war was waged on the starlings this season under a committee headed by Professor Buchanan of the Ontario Agricultural College, the success attained was nothing to write home about. Professor Buchanan admits that only by united action continued throughout the year can the control of starlings be effected. The professor, who evidentally feels strongly on the matted, declares the starlings are an active audacious, prolific and often very destructive bird. He says individual farmers are known to have lost hundreds of dollars worth of crops in a single season, and the total annual loss caused by starlings in Ontario has become enormous.

NUTRITION IMPORTANT SCIENCE

If all persons were rational nutritional education would be very simple. They would learn promptly and act wisely after observing the ill effects of deficient diets and the benefits to health and development brought about by the eating of the right kinds of foods.

But in this respect people have not always behaved as rational beings. Many have read and are reading about deficiency diseases and the rewards in health and welfare that fall to those who eat balanced meals. But they cannot be bothered to make the effort to break away from their old habits.

Some know the kinds of foods that the diet should contain and yet they deliberately persist for years in eating what they prefer rather than selecting the nutritious foods they need and finally end up with undermined health.

However, the entire human race is not irrational and stubborn in its food habits and many have learned and are learning by experience and education to change their food habits. Even though most persons show stronge resistance to new ideas, many have learned much about nutrition-proper eating habits--in recent years.

For instance, numerous housewives now know the meaning of food groups. They have learned that fruits and vegetables should not be treated as relishes but as important components of the daily diet. They are conscious of the fact that milk is not merely baby food but should be included in everyone's diet.

It took scientists many years to discover and verify these simple facts and gradually the world at large is absorbing this New Science which, if allowed full sway by all humans and their economics would revolutionize a very big part of the art of living.

JACK PEACH.

Flight Lieutenant John S. Peach, RCAF, has returned to England to join the North American Service of the BBC. The former Vancouver producer and commentator went to England in March of 1941 as CBC correspondent and joined the RCAF "over there" in the spring of '42. He served in London as head of the RCAF radio public relations until his return to Canada this summer.

Severely jostled in the thundering herd of New York's subway rush hour, a fragile young lady was finally crammed among the standees. Her sense of humor was not impaired, however. She poked her face close to the ear of an adjoining male.

"Look," she demanded tartly, "my rib—is it crushing your elbow?"

WHY DO FARMS BECOME LESS PRODUCTIVE

Why are many farms becoming less productive? The answer is because of a feverish effort, says H. F. Murwin, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont. This can only result in the depletion of the life in the soil unless some of the farming practices in Southwestern Ontario are changed. The only solution is the proper replacement of adequate supplies of active organic matter to put new life into the soil and improve its physical condition.

More power equipment is in use now than ever before with the result that more land can be ploughed each year and the land that is ploughed is more thoroughly worked in an effort to produce larger crops. More commercial fertilizer is being used than ever before in an effort to stimulate plant growth. Disease resistant varieties as well as improved and larger yeilding varieties of all crops are being grown. All of these methods are being employed and yet the yields of crops in general are no larger than they were twenty-five years ago. It must then be assumed that the many improvements have simply supplied new means further to deplete the productivity of the soils.

In all of this advancement farmers have neglected to preserve the life of the soil. Experiments conducted on the Dominion Experimental Stations at Harrow and Delhi clearly demonstrate that adequate supplies of organic matter must be regularly and frequently added to the soil to maintain its productivity. There is evidence to show that the active organic matter content of the soil may be raised by properly incorporating all plant refuse with the soil along with a nitrogen fertilizer where necessary to hasten decomposition, by ploughing under crops of legumes, and by incorporating the available barnyard manure with the soil.

The specialized crop farmers in Southwestern Ontario have taken the lead in building soil organic matter because such action has been necessary at an earlier date on the lighter textured soils. Many details must still be worked out but the fact remains that we can improve our soils by changing some of our present farm practices.

RETAIL DELIVERIES RESTRICTIONS LESS

While general restrictions limiting retail deliveries to one a day per route remain in force, each retailer after October 30 may establish his own value limitations of deliveries and time limits on returns, funds and exchanges, the Prices Board has announced. Consequently, Board order 203, which fixed a $1 delivery minimum and a 12-day maximum for returns, refunds and exchanges of goods is beng revoked on October 30. Because of the shortage of labor and gasoline, however, it is expected that most retailers will continue current restrictions on trade practices.

Two veteran Marines were bragging about their respective outfits. "When we presented arms," said one "all you could hear was slap, slap, click."

"With us' it was slap, slap, jingle" said the other.

"Jingle? What was that?"

"Our medals."

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the Fourth in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

For complete information, write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

Home and Farm Ownership—
The Man Who Wants His Own Business

There are two ways in which Canada's service people can have homes of their own. One measure, the Veterans' Land Act, provides assistance in financing homes on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, while the re-establishment credit may be used for purchase or building of a home in town or city. Low cost financing is available under the National Housing Act. Under the Veterans' Land Act, assistance is given in financing up to a maximum of $4800 for land and buildings. The veteran must be prepared to pay down 10 per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the property is then sold to him for this down payment plus two-thirds of the cost. This balance may be financed, if necessary, over 25 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. A further grant may be made for purchase of equipment.

The veteran is given title to the property, including the grant of 23⅓ per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the money for equipment, after he has lived up to his agreement for ten years.

If the re-establishment credit is used for a home, the veteran must be prepared to put up one dollar for every two dollars used from it. This type of assistance may be applied for at any time within 10 years of discharge.

FARMERS AND COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN

Veterans qualified for full time farming and for commercial fishing may receive assistance in purchasing a farm or home under the Veterans' Land Act in the same way as the veteran wanting a home on a small acreage, outside the high taxation area. In the case of full time farming, an additional grant of $1200 is available for purchase of stock and equipment, and in commercial fishing the commercial fisherman may receive up to $1200 to buy needed fishing equipment. To benefit under any of the three provisions of the Veterans' Land Act, the ex-service man or woman must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada.

TO ASSIST BUSINESSMEN

One purpose for which the re-establishment credit may be used is to buy a business or to provide working capital for a business. Here again application may be made at any time in the 10 years after discharge.

In addition to using the re-establishment credit in this way, people who start their own businesses, or farmers, may draw maintenance grants, during the period they are awaiting returns from the business or the farm. These grants may be paid in the first 18 months after discharge, for the period of service, and up to a maximum of one year.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Plans Being Made For Collection of Milkweed

Mr. H. W. Graham, Morrisburg, Agricultural Representative for Dundas County, and Mr. W. J. Stewart, local inspector of Public Schools, Winchester, are making plans for the collection of bags of dried milkweed pods now awaiting transfer from a large number of the rural schools. Tentatively, the plan is to have the bags brought to any of the four incorporated villages, Chesterville, Iroquois, Morrisburg and Winchester and stored temporarily there. Later the bags will be taken to one central place for shipment by rail.

Payment at the rate of 20 cents per bag will be made on delivery of the bags to any of the villages named above. Specific instructions will be sent out within the next day or two with respect to the place in each village to which the bags are to be taken. Bags obviously not full (dried, they should weigh about five pounds), are to be paid for at a rate less than the standard price of twenty cents. Principals will receive further detailed instructions from the office of the Inspector of Public Schools.

Irven--Taylor

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 21st at Knox United Church, Reid's Mills, when Rotha Eleanor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taylor, Osgoode, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to James Emerson Irven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irven of Morewood. Rev. G.A. Beatty officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arms of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Doris Nixon. A daytime dress of turquoise blue crepe, a dark brown "off the face" hat with matching accessories and a corsage of bettertime roses was worn by the bride.

Mrs. J. R. Baulke attended the bride and wore an American beauty crepe dress with a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. Howard Irven was groomsman and Messrs. Dwiane Irven and Ray Taylor were the ushers.

After the ceremony the wedding party, together with about forty invited guests, motored to the home of the bride's uncle, where a buffet luncheon was served. On arrival at the house a number of telegrams of congratulations and good wishes were received by the bride and groom. At the close of lunch, Rev. G. A. Beatty was asked to be Master of Ceremonies. He spoke very highly of the bride and groom and then proposed a toast to them. The groom very fittingly replied thanking Mr. Beatty for his kind words and good wishes and also the guests for the many beautiful gifts which were displayed on the table in the drawing room.

At the ceremony, Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride wore a black wool suit, small black hat and a bouquet of roses and ferns. Mrs. Irven, the groom's mother, wore a black two-piece crepe dress embroidered with sequins, small black hat and a shoulder knot of roses and ferns.

Guests from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Baulke, Cornwall; Mrs. F. Ferguson, Kinburn; Mrs. J. C. Mason and the Misses Ada Gilbert, Diane Bailey and Alma Nixon of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irven, Howard and Dwaine, Morewood; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Irven, of Chesterville; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Paul and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Irven Crysler; and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Irven of South Mountain.

On their return a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Morewood, where many beautiful gifts and also a number of cheques were received.

They will reside on the groom's farm at Osgoode where he has been successfully engaged in farming and pure bred dairying.

● That old saying, so well known to farm folks ... "Plow to the end of the furrow" ... so aptly makes our duty plain. And the end of the furrow is beyond the horizon.

Our men on the fighting fronts have weary, trying days ahead of them. We, on the home front, must not waver nor falter. Our duty is clear, we must keep faith with our fighters. On Canadian farms we must maintain our efforts to produce the foods our fighters and our allies need. That work will reward us with increased incomes.

And we must save ... to have money to lend to our country to pay the increased costs that this war continues to pile up.

Money invested in Victory Bonds will help to buy the tools of war. They don't last long in action. They must be replaced. It's our job ... the home front job ... to see to it that our fighting men have everything they need.

Victory Bonds yield a double harvest. They provide our country with money to carry on the war. Later, they will provide money to buy things we will want and need, and which we have done without during the war. Victory Bonds will provide cash to pay for improvements for farm and home ... new buildings ... new machinery ... better stock ... new car ... furnishings and conveniences for the home.

MACKEREL.

On the North American side of the world the mackerel ranges the Atlantic from Cape Hatteras to the Straits of Belle Isle, and in Canadian waters it is taken along practically the entire east coast of the Dominion. In Europeon waters it is found from Norway to the Mediterranean and in the Adriatic. On this continent the mackerel first appear off Cape Hatteras in the spring, coming in from the sea from a southerly or southeasterly direction, and move rapidly northward to the Canadian coast. In the fall or early winter they return southwards. They travel in great schools, swimming at the surface or close to it and are rather erratic in their wanderings. They spawn from May to July, with June probably the month of heaviest spawning. Small crustaceans and fish and other small creatures which swarm the sea make up most of the mackerel's meals.

The mackerel is a comparatively small fish, trim, with an elongate, streamlined body. It is blueish in colouring and brilliantly marked with characteristic black stripes on the upper body. Colour is pale on the underside of the fish—varying shades of yellowish white. Small finlets stud the tail and the tail fin itself is narrow and tapered, with a deep "vee". The fish greatly resembles its big cousin the Bluefin tuna, a member of the same family—and sometimes known as the "horse mackerel". The tuna, in fact, has been said to be practically identical with the mackerel except for its giant size.

In Canadian waters, the mackerel fishery is confined to the Atlantic coast, with virtually all of the catch taken in the inshore waters. Much of the greater part of the catch is taken by Nova Scotia fishermen. Quebec, Prince Edward Island, and New Brunswick landing rank in that order so far as size is concerned. The bulk of the Quebec landings are made by fishermen of the Magdalen Islands.

Two methods of fishing are utilized in taking mackerel in Canadian waters. Much of the catch is landed by gill net fishermen while the remainder is taken in traps of netting set up on the mackerel's migration route along the shore.

Mackerel are marketed principally as fresh and pickled fish, although some are canned and a few are smoked. The business in pickled mackerel and salt mackerel fillets has an important place in Canada's Atlantic fishing industry.

Outside the Dominion the main markets for mackerel, a fine food fish are the British West Indies and the United States. Most of Canada's output of pickled mackerel is exported to the Indies and the United States, though the latter country is also a buyer of substantial quantities of Canadian fresh and frozen mackerel.

LIST COMMON CAUSES MOST FIRES ON FARMS

Because of the comparative isolation of most farms, an outbreak of fire is a terrifying experience to farm folk, and fire prevention is a constant thought in the farmer's mind. At the same time there is consolation in the dictum of the Fire Marshal of Nova Scotia, who has made special studies of farm fires indicates that there are at least 13 common causes for fires in rural areas. They are: chimneys of sub-standard construction; sparks from dirty chimneys; smoke pipes and stoves installed without regard to radiation of heat; seasonal grass and bush fires; spontaneous ignition of hay through dumping badly cured hay; worn-out shingle roofs; lighted lanterns; misuse of electrical equipment; threshing operations with gasoline power; gasoline vehicles stored in barns; matches and smoking in out-buildings; trespass by thieves; and lightning.

With regard to spontaneous ignition of hay, most farmers are very careful in harvesting and storing the hay crop, but one crop of badly cured hay is a continual menace. In lubricants, spontaneous ignition does not occur, whether the lubricant is soaked in rags or not, but they burn fast when ignited. Grease, wax and oils of vegetable origin when smeared or soaked in rags are definitely dangerous. The rags should not be allowed to lie about. If they are not disposed of by burning, they should be washed.

Gasoline has to be used, but great care should be taken, because gasoline under certain conditions is highly explosive. All filling operations should be done in daylight, and it is better to keep gasoline in a strong locked building remote from other buildings. Plenty of ventilation at floor level and above is necessary. A gasoline container should never be overfilled. Gasoline expands and forces its way outside the container.

For fire prevention on the farm it is recommended to have a roof ladder always at hand. Keep a few water buckets full and ready for use; also it is good to have a few barrels of water ready for instant use. Keep at least one standard 2½ gallon soda acid fire extinguisher on the premises. In winter, keep the water buckets and fire extinguishers in a warm place.

Whatever other contributions John Bracken is making (and they are many) in the public arena, none are watched by political adherents of all parties more closely and with greater favor than this new leader's plans for agriculture. There are unmistakable signs that when the smoke of the next Federal contest blows away Canada will have for the first time a farmer as its Prime Minister. And why not?

Do Dogs Reason?

Is man the only member of the animal kingdom that reasons from cause to effect? Before commitment let the reader study the dog episode about to be related, for the truth of which I freely vouch, then answer his latest belief.

"Judge" was a pedigreed collie. He was called "Judge" because he came from Judge Smith's kennel. My friend Judge Smith, gave the dog to me to send to my father who lived on a farm in southeastern Illinois. Both parents of the dog came from the famous Pierpont Morgan kennels. So Judge had a good right to feel proud of his ancestors, and to high rank in dog society.

Judge had the markings of a high grade, well-bred collie. His new master was justly proud of him and built a comfortable doghouse in which Judge slept at night, and sometimes in the daytime when no cows were to be rounded up and nothing else occupied him. It may have been an oversight that no extra bed was provided for a guest in the doghouse.

A relative was spending a weekend with father and with the guest came his own dog, a very homely specimen. Before the sun had set the dog spied the vacant doghouse and, being tired pre-empted the house for a night's sleep.

The intruder could hardly have finished his first cat nap when Judge's bedtime came, and he made for his house to go to bed. But, when he got there, to his utter surprise and visible disguest he found his bed occupied by the unwelcome guest.

You will recall that Campbell in his Pleasure of Hope said:

"His faithful dog salutes the miling guest."

Now Judge cordially saluted the human guest on his arrival but up to this time he paid little attention to the audacious dog.

On this balmy mid-summer evening Judge's master and his guest were sitting in the approaching twilight in view of the doghouse, talking of old time incidents. Judge often disclosed traits of high intelligence and father was accustomed to watching for such traits to crop out. Father observed the situation that had befallen Judge, and quietly called his guest's attention to the predicament. Both watched to see what would happen.

Both took pains to avoid letting Judge know he was being watched because they did not want to make the dog self-conscious, and they wanted events to take a natural course.

Of course the ordinary dog way would have been for Judge to force the intruder out of his bed by a rough and tumble fight, which half a challenge to the unwelcome one would have brought on, but evolution has carried Judge to a state of doghood where he seemed to feel above such primitive rowdyism.

The onlookers saw Judge hang his head to one side as if in deep meditation, but his indecision lasted only a moment, when he pricked up his ears and trotted briskly some distance from the doghouse and there set up a vigorous barking.

The sleeping dog, naturally excited by the sudden outburst, rushed to the scene of the barking to find out what it was all about. When Judge saw that his trick had worked, he relaxed his ears and paced briskly back to the vacant doghouse, carrying a look of amused satisfaction. And well he might be satisfied, for he caused his bed to be vacated and now took possession of it without committing a breach of the peace.

I have related this event to a number of persons, some of whom made a study of dogs, and all concluded that no escape can be found from the conclusion that Judge reasoned from cause to effect. And, Mr. Reader, can you find any explanation of this episode without assigning to Judge the human faculty of reasoning from cause to effect? And, can any reader conjecture a more peaceful and practicable plan by which Judge could have taken possession of his bed than the one used?

I think it was Madam Roland who said: "The more I see of men the more I like dogs". And Madam Roland was a wise judge of both men and dogs.

BRITISH OFFENSIVE OPENS IN FRANCE.

Following a terrific artillery barr-age, British troops launched a new offensive in the Tilly-Caen sector on June 25. A bridgehead 2 miles wide was established over the River Odon, and soon a stream of tanks, guns and infantry was going across in preparation for one of the biggest tank battles ever fought in Europe. Caen itself was occupied by British and Canadian troops on July 9th.

Picture Shows: A Sherman tank passing across rough country during the tank battle in the Caen sector.

The Los Angeles street was teeming with people. A man, evidently late for work, ran past me, dodging swiftly through the throng. Just then the crowd ahead divided as if it had come upon some obstacle; and there was a woman, weighing at least 180 pounds, leaning over tying her shoelace.

Unable to stop, the sprinter had no alternative. He put his hands upon her hips, leapfrogged over and with an extra spurt disappeared into the crowd again.

The good doctor blinked and then in full professional dignity replied, "My boy that was two months ago. Science has made enormous strides since then."

CEILING PRICES ON HAY ARE NOW FIXED

Ceiling prices on hay grown in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces have been fixed by the Prices Board. The basic maximum price for growers and shippers is $18 a ton for baled hay loaded on cars at the shipping point nearest the area of production. Variations in price are allowed if hay is delivered to a shipping point but not loaded in a car or if it is sold at the farm. If a grower or shipper sells hay loose or unbaled at the farm, the ceiling price is $16.50 less the customary baling charges or $3 per ton, which is less. Provision is made for specified maximum mark-ups for sales of hay by wholesalers and retailers.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE To FARMERS and FARM WORKERS
from a MacNamara
DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE AND DEPUTY MINISTER OF LABOUR

"The summer crop from Canadian farms this year has been something of which any agricultural nation should be proud. I feel that every person in Canada will commend the nation's farmers on the production job they have accomplished.

"But with winter approaching, the time has come when once again we are going to ask our Canadian farmers and farm workers for their co-operation. The appeal is now made for farmers and farm workers not needed on farms this winter, to turn themselves to essential work during the winter months. There are jobs in the woods, cutting pulpwood, fuel and logs of all types. In undertaking any such winter time employment, Canadian farmers are not only guaranteeing themselves additional income but are contributing greatly to the all-over Canadian task of winning the war and making ready for the days of peace.

"The fact that any farmer or farm worker accepts essential work during the winter, providing of course he can be spared from the farm, does not alter in any way his postponement of military training, and also when needed he may again return to the farm."

GERMAN INTERNEES PRODUCE SUPPLIES

Six hundred carloads of supplies have been produced in the factories of a prisoner-of-war internment camp near Montreal, in the past twelve months. Canadian forests and textile mills provide raw materials daily, the internees convert them into a variety of products not used directly in prosecution of the war.

Several hundred prisoners of war are engaged in one woodworking shop on contracts for packing boxes currently exceeding 65,000. This shop also produces stretcher carriers, hospital chairs, shoe trees, naval lockers and other wood products.

In a sewing shop, prisoners of war sit at 28 sewing machines making doctors' gowns and masks hospital pyjamas, holdalls, ration bags and similar cloth articles.

In a boot repair shop, German cobblers rebuild 1,200 pairs of boots a week and salvage leather and other parts of the boots. Ten thousand pairs are presently on hand for stripping and rebuilding. A quantity of them will go overseas to countries occupied by the Allies.

Internees maintain their own hospital, barber shop, library, classrooms and recreational facilities, receiving the help of the International Red Cross in furnishing books, sports and other equipment.

A monthly pay cheque of approximately $3.000 from the Canadian government compensates internees for their works program. This cheque is converted into tokens which they exchange at their Kantino (canteen) for tobacco, cigarettes, soft drinks and other sundries. Their income is bolstered four times annually by German pay which their paymaster explains as, "A sum of $13.29 per prisoner received quarterly from Germany via the Protecting Power—from German shipping companies taxed for the purpose by Adolph Hitler."

FRED ASTAIRE.

The famous American dancing and singing film comedian, who arrived in Britain recently to entertain American troops in this country, broadcast in the British Broadcasting Corporation's "American Eagle in Britain" programme, before a large audience of United States servicemen, at the Rainbow Corner American Red Cross Club, Piccadilly, London.

Fred Astaire has not been in London for five years and this trip has given him the opportunity to see his sister and first dancing partner, Adele Astaire (now Lady Charles Cavendish) who is working with the American Red Cross at the Rainbow Corner Club.

He has sold several million dollars' worth of war bonds during tours of the States and auctioned a pair of his dancing shoes for $20,000. A few months ago he completed a record bond-selling tour throughout Ohio selling more than £4,500,000 worth of war bonds.

COMMON COLD BAD FOR POULTRY FLOCK

During the fall and early winter the most common cause of trouble in the poultry flock is the common cold. This ailment will cause losses by interrupting egg production and by predisposing the birds to more serious diseases such as roup and bronchitis. It pays to take precautions in the autumn to prevent colds. The common causes are exposure to draughts, dampness or a sudden drop in temperature. Poor ventilation and dirty quarters are also contributing causes. The prevention of colds is less costly and more effective than medicinal cures.

In the treatment of colds, the first action should be directed toward correcting the faulty condition that gave rise to the trouble. A mild physic should be given, consisting of one-half to one pound of Epsom salts per hundred birds. The dose should be repeated if necessary. A ten percent solution of argyrol is an effective antiseptic agent in the treatment of colds. By the use of a medicine dropper, or a sewing machine oil can, a drop of the solution can be placed in each eye and each nostril, and in the cleft in the roof of the mouth. Drinking vessels may be the means of spreading colds. A few grains of potassium permanganate, sufficient to colour the water a deep purple, will act as a disinfectant and reduce the danger.

HITLERISM
(On reading the verified reports of Fascist persecutions.)
By Allen Eastman Cross.

I saw a trail of terror on the earth—
A creeping horror crawled to spawn and feed;
From out the slime where fetid creatures breed
A monstrous swarm of hyprocrites had birth.
Into man's holiest temple they came forth,
Keepers of rights and ministers of need—
They only kept their own unholy greed,
Making intolerance the test of worth!

There is a word broadcast from star to star,
There is a force flung hurtling into space,
But whosoe'er its burning path shall bar
Leaves but a name and ashes in his place—
That word is Justice, and its lightning wrath
Shall blast this viper swarm tha bars its path.

SALE! Dollars at Half Price!

Sounds like a sure-thing bargain. But how many of us realize that in Canada we're getting dollars at less than half the price of other years ½ PRICE ½ SALE! ...at a fraction the price in many other countries to day. Here's what we mean. A dollar is worth as much $100 as it will buy. And to day your dollar buys at least twice as much as it did in the last war 1918 1944. For instance, your 5¢ buys a bar of laundry soap that cost 15¢ SOAP in those days. To day, you can buy the same quality felt fedora for $3.50 that set you back $8.50 then. Truly your dollar is half price since it buys twice as much. Price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have kept its value HIGH! And you protect your dollars worth every time you buy a bond VICTORY BOND.. pay off a debt BILL PAID.. refuse to hoard goods or frequent black markets. That's how to make dollars count MORE!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! The taste for apples is enthused by their mild aroma and the satisfaction of good munching. However, the various ways in which apples can be used are numerous and can be served often if you watch the proportions of sugar.

Nowadays we don't buy apples by the barrel—at least most of us don't. Our recent purchase of a basket of Duchess apples and our quota of one pound of sugar has been used as an experiment to find out what could be done with them. It was found that a family of six could have five different desserts which used every apple and one pound of sugar. Of course, there could be no guesswork allowed in the sugar measurements; yet we agreed the foods were sweet enough.

Applesauce was made from six apples cut up and cooked in one cup of water, then put through a sieve to remove skins and cores. Three tablespoons of sugar were then added. (We believe that all stewed fruits, fresh or dried, should be flavoured with sugar after being cooked, but while hot.)

Apple pie could not be forgotten among the favourite ways to use them. It took nine apples and two-thirds cup of sugar. By the way, we grated a little cheese over the apples before we put on the top crust.

Apple dumplings are on a par with pie as to popularity. Six apples were peeled and cored. These cavities were filled with sugar—it took four tablespoons. A square of plain biscuit dough was then folded around each, dampening the edges to seal in the juices. They were steamed over boiling water for 50 minutes and served with a diluted honey syrup.

Apple crisp is a sugar delicious dessert, although it requires a little more sugar. Eight apples were sliced into a buttered casserole and covered with the following ingredients that were crumbled together: ¾ cup white sugar, ¾ cup flour, 3 tbsp. hard butter, ½ tsp. mace and ½ tsp. cloves. A half cup of water should be poured down the side and the pudding should be baked in an electric oven at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

There were then two apples and two tablespoons of sugar left and these were used to make a Dutch apple cake. The method used for the cake was: Measure and mix 2 cups flour, 3 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt. Cut in ¼ cup butter, stir in 2/3 cup milk and a beaten egg. Spread the mixture in a shallow greased pan. Peel, slice apples and place in rows on dough. Sprinkle top with 2 tbsp. sugar and ¼ tsp. allspice. Bake in electric oven at 400 degrees for 25 minutes. Serve with milk.

We are also publishing other recipes which will help to consume the Canadian fall apples which are not suitable for storage or export. These varieties are Duchess, Alexander, Wolf River, St. Lawrence and Wealthy.

Applesauce Orange Compote

4½ cups applesauce and 1 cup orange sections; add ½ cup brown sugar and few grains nutmeg. Chill in electric refrigerator and pour into serving dish; garnish with one cup orange sections and "apple" made of two green and six halved red maraschino cherries.

Applesauce Gingerbread

6 tbsps. shortening, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup molasses, 1¾ cups flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. ginger, ½ tsp. salt, 2/3 cup strained thick applesauce.

Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat egg, add molasses; mix well. Sift together 3 times, flour, soda, cinnamon, ginger, salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with applesauce. Bake in greased pan 8" x 8" x 2" in electric oven (350 deg.) 45 minutes. Cool slightly. (If desired top with softened cream cheese and decorate with candied cherries and citron.

TAKE A TIP

1. Enquire from the friends of the boy or girl in uniform in Canada when they are sending their Christmas parcel to him, then mail it on another date in order that too many parcels do not arrive at about the same time Label it "Christmas parcel." Write name on the package, having wrapped it in strong brown paper—do not use small gummed seals to write on.

2. Bind the frayed edge of the chenile bath rugs with bright coloured prints. Matching tie backs for curtains add a cheerful note.

THE QUESTION BOX

Answer: Wrap it in a cheesecloth that has been wrung out of vinegar. Put in a waxed box and store in a cool place. Wet the cloth with vinegar occasionally.

Mrs. A. asks: Is there any way to overcome the sulphur flavour of fruit stored with a preservative tablet?

Answer: Pour off the liquid and boil it rapidly for 10 minutes. Add the fruit and cook it until tender. Vitamins C and B are almost destroyed, but the flavour is better.

Hehir of Newington, performed at the Wesleyan Methodist Parsonage, Winchester at 3 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, October 25th.

The bride wore a street-length dress of powder-blue with matching accessories in black. Miss Erma Harper, sister of the bride was bridesmaid, and Mr. George Hehir, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper at the home of the bride's parents was served to about thirty guests. Later about forty friends and neighbours came in to spend an evening of games and dancing after which lunch was served.

At an appropriate hour the following address was read:

We, your many friends and neighbors have assembled here to-night to offer you our congratulations on your recent marriage and to wish you with deepest sincereity, the best of luck and prosperity in your future life's journey.

During the time you have lived among us you have always been ready to lend a helping hand to anyone and everyone in difficulty. You both have been jovial and full of fun and on the other hand, kind and sympathetic. These kindnesses are not soon forgotten.

As a small token of our esteem for and appreciation of you we ask you to accept these gifts hoping they will serve as a reminder of your old friends and also be of some use to you in your new home. Again, we would like to wish you prosperity and our hope that the years shall bring riches and happiness as they increase in number.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hehir will take up residence at Newington.

TRINITY UNITED WOMEN'S ASSN

The regular meeting of Trinity United Women's Association held in the Sunday School rooms yesterday afternoon with a fair attendance, was opened in the usual manner with singing and the repitition in unison of the Lord's prayer. The scripture reading was taken by Mrs. Maybee. In the absence of the secretary Mrs. Gilroy kindly acted in her place. Reports were given and several letters of thanks were read for flowers from members who had been in hospital. A nominating committee was appointed, Mrs. Gilroy, Mrs. Barnes and Miss McBee to present a slate for the new year. The canvass for the M&M Fund to date had resulted in the sum of $156 being collected with three canvassers to be heard from. The programme consisted of a solo by Mrs. Myles Merkley with Mrs. Gilroy at the piano, and a spelling contest of which Mrs. W. B. Hamilton was the winner. The meeting closed with singing followed by the National Anthem. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

CARD OF THANKS.

May I take this opportunity of conveying my appreciation and thanks to everyone who sent me cards, letters, flowers and magazines while I was a patient at the Civic hospital.

PEACE OF MIND

Only if you KNOW you are adequately protected by good automobile insurance can you drive with that peace of mind which makes motoring a pleasure. Only in this way can you protect yourself against serious financial loss through bodily injury to other persons or their property.

Because nowadays you are driving fewer miles than you used to is certainly no reason for being without the protection an Automobile policy will give you.

Remember that your car is older and, therefore, less reliable mechanically. And remember that it takes but a split fraction of a second for "something" to happen.

Let us plan your automobile insurance to give you the protection you need TODAY.
