Our Column

It is now an "Ice" problem with many farmers.

Business goes where it is invited. Let your newspaper carry your invitation.

"Whither are we drifting?" asks the Durham Chronicle. Oh, just drifting.

Watch your step. The rain to-day is making all walks and roads very slippery.

Of the six books banned from Canada in the January issue of the National Revenue Review, five were written by women. Three of the titles are enough to curl the hair of a wooden image.

Warning has been issued by the principal of the Smiths Falls Collegiate Institute that any pupil found smoking in that building or on the grounds surrounding it will be placed under immediate suspension.

The best thing to give to your enemy is forgiveness; to your opponent, real tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to your parents, deference; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity.

While the sensible man is helping to bring about prosperity by attending carefully to his business, the other fellow is standing still waiting for prosperity to come around the corner.

Mr. Robert Revie, Cornwall, in renewing his subscription, writes:

"The Press is like a weekly Letter and carries all the worth-while news and I am sure that the village of Winchester owes a great deal of its popularity to its witty Reeve and Editor. The last issue was one to be proud of. Wishing you many more years of continued success."

Someone has said that a capital New Year resolution for those living on the party telephone lines should be that they cut out listening to the conversation of others which is none of their business and which is strictly against the law. But this comes too late for this year's list of resolutions but it might be kept in mind.

A Toronto resident wants Parliament to restore to Canadians the right to receive "titles" from the British Crown. What for? So that some men who have no other title to distinction may be able to purchase a "Sir" or "Lord" before their name. Canada wants something more substantial than titles at the present time.

The word "Dime" is derived from the Latin "decem" meaning ten, or 'decimus' meaning one tenth In the 14th and 15th centuries "dime" was applied in England to the tithe or tenth part of one's income paid to the Church. The ten cent piece was called a dime because it represents the tenth part of a dollar, the national monetary unit.

If the modern pulpit has not lost its influence, there should be an anti-war spirit sweep over the world that would make war impossible. Not only is the pulpit almost a unit on denouncing war, but special prayer meetings are being held for the prevention of future wars. The world is in a queer mix-up, but outside those who see financial profit no one wants war.

The Arnprior Chronicle is "Fed-up" on newspaper birthdays. We don't wonder, because they really mean nothing, any more than a barber shop birthday or a grocery shop birthday. A newspaper is judged by what it is, not by its age. The Arnprior Chronicle is growing younger every day, and its new evidence of enterprise and vitality is apparent in each succeeding issue.

Queens University has decided on a five year Science Course, beginning this year. The changed course will not affect any of those registered at present but will apply to students registering next year. The requirements for a B. A. with honors will be equivalent of twenty-three courses. Each course will take three hours per week and will be divided into major and minor course groups.

Whatever goes by the board in these times of stress and depression, the man who is determined to fight along with the world back to normality, will maintain his life insurance as the most priceless asset he possesses. This is no advertisement, and we don't expect to get a "thank you" from a single local agent. But, it is good sound advice, and we offer it to our readers because we believe it.

So heavy have been the demands of transients begging for meals at the doors of Shelburne residences, that the village council has asked residents troubled in such a manner to call the constable, who has been given authority to allow those seeking food a half loaf of bread and either cheese, bologna or pressed meat not to exceed fifteen cents as total cost. This may be given twice a day.

The Perth Courier says: Clean-up of the country cemeteries many of which have long lain in disorder into which time throws everything when care is removed, is now obligatory upon the municipalities. Many burial grounds which had fallen into neglect in these parts will be redeemed to places of respect and beauty, and about them the imagination or the memory will linger of the good pioneer builders who laid the true foundations of this present Canada.

Relief work of the Ontario Government is providing many families with the necessities of life in a time when employment is hard to obtain. More than a million dollars will have been spent on wages in connection with road construction at the end of this month. The figure is a colossal one, but the roads will bring great returns in the form of tourist traffic at present and in years to come. Of the total expenditure since work commenced last fall $300,000 has been used for construction of the Trans-Canada highway through Northern Ontario. As a result of the favorable weather this winter, road work has progressed more than is usual for this time of the year.

One day last week Coleman Hutchinson of Winchester, driving a Durant sedan in Chesterville, skidded on the curve opposite the Baldrey Block and crashed head-on into the telephone pole in front of Bolster's store, smashing the front end of his car and the steering wheel and receiving cuts on the chin and forehead himself.

An Orillia couple last Monday celebrated the 74th Anniversary of their wedding day. Certainly a rare event, and they must be a very even-tempered and easy-going couple who could live so long together. Their name is "Irish." The husband is 94 and the wife a little older. Long live the Irish.

Stanley Hill, living just north of Orangeville on the old Joe Miller farm, has a Guernsey cow, coming 6 years old in the spring, that for a producer of calves can't be beaten. On February 4th, 1931, ten months ago, she gave birth to twin heifer calves and they lived and grew to be fine animals. December 3, 1931, she gave birth to triplet heifer calves, all healthy normal, and growing fine. That is a feat seldom heard of, five calves, all heifers, in ten months. Mr. Hill is taking splendid care of this increase to his herd and is looking forward to some good results from the calves.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

It is a wonderful record to be a member of one church choir for 45 years. It is a better record to have held the good will, respect and esteem of the fellow members of that choir, as well as the members of the church congregation. It was on Friday night last that choir practice for St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Choir was held in the comfortable home of Mr. and Mrs. William Quart. It was just after practice that the pleasing event referred to took place when Mr. and Mrs. Quart were asked to step forward in the circle, and on behalf of the members; Mrs. B. F. Smith read the following address:

Winchester, Ontario,
February 5th, 1932

To Mr. and Mrs. William Quart:

Dear friends—Years slip by and we accept kindness and service from our friends with no acknowledgment of our appreciation or gratefulness

The thirty-fifth anniversary of your wedding has given us the members of the choir of St Paul's Presbyterian Church, the opportunity to gather here to-night to convey to you in some tangible way our feeling of regard and esteem, both to you, Mr. Quart, for your untiring efforts, at great sacrifice to you, to keep our choir up to a high standard, and to you, Mrs. Quart, for your ever ready sympathy and co-operation in helping us at all times, although perhaps in a more silent, yet none the less effectual manner. Our sincere hope is that you will each continue to give us the help and encouragement we are so often in need of, and you may have the assurance of our love and appreciation although not always expressed.

This small gift we wish you to accept with our heartfelt wishes for many years of continued happiness, health and prosperity.

Signed on behalf of St. Paul's Choir.

This address had twenty-two signatures and the gift accompanying it was a beautiful silver vase, presented by Miss Clara Irving, Organist.

Mr. Quart is not easily disturbed or surprised, but he was on this occasion, and there was a slight quiver in his voice and a moisture in his eye as he looked into the friendly faces around him, and accepted the beautiful gift to his wife and himself. He replied in kindly and appreciative terms on behalf of both Mrs. Quart and himself.

It was only last month that Mr. and Mrs. Quart celebrated the 35th anniversary of their wedding day.

During the evening refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Quart, and a very pleasant social evening was enjoyed.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

J. F. Fraser, of Kemptville, was elected President of the Ontario Poultryman's Assn. that met at Toronto last week.

Mrs. John Barker, who has been receiving treatment at the Hepburn Hospital, Ogdensburg, for some time, has returned to her home at Mountain Station.

OBITUARY

Mrs. W. J. Cass has received word of the death of her father, Mr. George E. McIntosh, at Howell, Michigan, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Snyder. The late George E. McIntosh was born at Dundela, March 4th, 1847 Interment takes place this afternoon at Morrisburg. Mr. McIntosh was a life long Methodist and an ardent Liberal in politics. Until 1915 he and his wife resided at Morrisburg, then moved to Hoquiam, Wash., where four sons resided. Mrs. McIntosh passed away in 1927. Miss Gertie McIntosh, a former teacher at Vancamps, also predeceased her father in 1895. Four brothers, Edwin, George W., H. Wilfrid and Kenneth reside in Washington State, a daughter, Mrs. P. C Snyder, at Howell, Mich., and a son, Mr. H. W. McIntosh, principal of Ryerson School, at Toronto, and Mrs. Cass are the surviving children They treasure the fragrant memory of devoted parents who were constantly serving as loyal and zealous subjects of the Kingdom of God.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

The Ontario Legislature was opened yesterday with the usual ceremonies. The proposed legislation is of the greatest concern to every Ontario ratepayer. New revenue has to be found and it can come only from the people. It is proposed therefore to raise the amusement and gasoline tax and find other sources of revenue. The government is also doing its utmost to reduce expenditures, and many reductions in grants, in salaries, and in every way possible are being made. The Old Age Pension Bill is to be amended, and from remarks made by Premier Henry, it is likely there will be a thorough investigation into all cases now receiving pensions, and where they are able, children will be be compelled to keep their parents without the aid of the O. A. P. It is evident the government is fully alive to the needs of the people and intend doing all in its power to relieve the burden of taxation. It is not likley that much in the way of provincial road buildiug will be undertaken this year.

VALENTINE TEA

A Valentine Tea and Money Shower will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Parker on Saturday, February 13th, from 3 to 6, in aid of Mizpah Mission Circle. Come and bring your friends. Everybody Welcome.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The March meeting will be held next Tuesday, the 16th, at 7 30 p. m. in the Town Hall. In answer to roll call:—"A use for old papers and felt hats." Miss Glenna Durant will give a report of the Winter Fair she recently attended in Toronto. All young women from the age of 16 to 26 are especially invited to be present. Everyone is welcome. Do not forget the silver collection.

RAISED $150.00

Sponsored by the Municipal Council the Village of Chesterville recently put on an entertainment at which was raised $150. for the poor relief work there. The ladies of the town entered heartily into the scheme, and report says a very delightful evening resulted. It started off with an old time barn dance, and ended with a more modern kind of dance. There was a good programme of music and recitation. Reeve W. H. Casselman was the Chairman, and as usual, made a very efficient and entertaining one.

SLIPPERY WALKS

In these days of slippery walks it is up to every municipality to do all it can to prevent accident. No one can tell just where the responsibility will be placed in case of a person receiving an injury caused by a slippery walk. We notice in one place where a lady has brought an action against a groceryman who spilt some molassas in front of his door. A lady slipped on the slippery stuff, fell and broke her arm. She is now suing the grocer for damages.

DUNDELA MAN KILLED

A fatal accident happened Sunday night when Alfred Marcelluz, 18-year-old son of James Marcellus, of Dundela, was killed and Miss Luva Kennedy, of Hainesville, who was in the buggy with Marcellus, suffered a broken collar bone. Mr. Hugh Thompson, of Dixon's Corners, was returning home from Iroquois accompanied by his wife, and along county highway No. 2, about four miles from Iroquois, he met Marcellus' buggy and ran into it, throwing the driver to the ground, where he struck his head and died almost instantly. Thompson was driving an automobile without lights and Marcellus had a horse and buggy without lights. The accident was reported to Provincial Officer Rose, of Morrisburg, who immediately investigated. An inquest has been ordered by Dr. Louden, of Morrisburg, county coroner.

Imagination

To persons gifted with imagination, what is more solemn or more appalling than the pause which follows on any decisive action which is perceived to have within it the seed of a result—a result which even now is germinating in darkness, is growing towards the light, foreseen, but unknown? With what body will they come, we ask ourselves—these slow results that spring from the dust of our present actions? Faith sows and waits. Sin sows and trembles. The fool sows and forgets.—Mary Cholmondeley.

Age

To our mind, the venerableness of age made "the Old Man at the Gate" something like a spiritual presence. He was so old; who could say how few the pulsations of his heart between him and the grave! But there he was with a meek happiness upon him; gentle, cheerful. He was not built up in bricks and mortar, but was still in the open air, with the sweetest influences about him; the sky, the trees, the green sward, and flowers with the breath of God in them!—Jerrold.

SAGES

To know how to say what others only know how to think is what makes men poets or sages; and to dare to say what others only dare to think makes men martyrs or reformers—or both.

The head of the University of Tokyo asserts that the Japanese soldiers are the servants of civilization. They certainly seem out to break China.—Dublin Opinion.

"It is a truism that no nation can isolate itself economically in these modern times or prosper in a world in chaos."—Charles E. Mitchell.

"We must be regular about our meals, exercise, sleep; it is the same in our religion."—Bishop Wm. T. Manning.

The Human Body And Mineral Needs

Investigations Prove that Several Besides Iron are Necessary

Investigators have not only discovered what minerals besides iron are necessary to the welfare of the human body, but have determined the exact ratio in which they should be ingested.

"The story of the role of iron in nutrition has become familiar to the public as well as to the medical profession," says The Journal of the American Medical Association. "Red blood cells, with all that they represent for human well-being, and iron have become firmly associated in the public mind.

"Meanwhile there have developed evidences that certain mineral elements which occur in small quantities only in our natural foods may enter into the nutritive exchanges of the organisms in ways more important than has been heretofore believed. For many years, claims of the biologic significance of a number of such elements have been heard. They are almost inevitable contaminants of foods, so that it has been extremely difficult to determine decisively whether zinc, nickel, cobalt, manganese, copper and others are chance constituents of the animal organism, finding their way inadvertently into the tissues and fluids or whether one or more of them really function in some essential process.

Body Needs Copper

"Recently attention has been vigorously focused on one of these elements by the discovery that copper possesses the property of supplementing iron in forming hemoglobin in certain types of experimental anemia. Nutritional anemia apparently can best be corrected in several species by the addition of copper as well as iron to the defective rations. In fairness it should be added that while some investigators do not agree as to the specificity of copper for hemoglobin formation, it seems that copper occupies a unique and important position in this respect. Furthermore, although recent work has not assigned to manganese as striking a role as that given to copper, there is considerable evidence of important functions performed by manganese. In fact, several investigators have argued that manganese as well as copper plays a part in the regeneration of hemoglobin.

"This has made it more desirable to know some of the details regarding the distribution of these mineral elements in our common foods. Many analyses have become available. Most of them are expressed in percentages that call for mathematical calculations not easily adapted to our daily needs. Hodges and Peterson have recently pointed out that expression of the mineral content in a unit of cooked food or per serving translates into usable form figures that are virtually meaningless to the average individual. While it may seem that a serving of food is an indefinite unit, the plus and minus errors due to the use of this unit would probably compensate one another in the intake of food for a day.

Minerals for a Family

"The average daily intake based on six family menus given by the same author is as follows: Manganese, 2.30 mg.; copper, 2.26 mg.; iron, 15.44 mg. On the reasonable assumption that such figures, based on estimated consumption of the conventional foods, represents a satisfactory intake of the debated mineral elements—and national well-being makes this seem warranted—the data cited may serve as general guides in cases for mineral therapy.

"A review of the composition of more than a hundred different foods indicates that the manganese varies from 0.005 mg. in butter to 3.64 mg. in wheat bran; copper from 0.003 mg. in celery to 4.41 mg. in calf liver; iron from 0.03 mg. in butter to 25 mg. in pork liver. Food portions richest in manganese are wheat, bran, blueberries, whole wheat, split peas and navy beans. Those richest in copper are calf liver, oysters, beef liver, mushrooms, currants and chocolate Those richest in iron are pork liver, beef liver, spinach, lima beans, calf liver and navy beans. Vegetables and cereals are the chief contributions of iron. Fruits are an important source of all elements. To the query, 'Have you had your iron and copper to-day?' the computations of Hodges and Peterson now make it relatively easy to supply an answer."

Frozen Fruit Keeps Well For More Than 12 Months

New York. — Pacific strawberries, packed and frozen for more than a year in a laboratory experiment, have maintained excellent quality and from 90 to 99 per cent. of the organisms in them that cause spoilage have been killed, the United States Department of Agriculture reports. Effective killing of these organisms is one of the chief problems in the frozen-pack method.

Microbiological studies on frozen pack fruits and vegetables were started last year in the recently established frozen-pack laboratory of the Bureau of Plant Industry in Seattle, Wash. The work has been under the direction of J. A. Berry, and preliminary results are now available.

Sound fruit, suitable packed and promptly frozen, was excellent in quality after being frozen for twelve months the report shows. Inferior or over-ripe fruit however, had a poor appearance when thawed, and was not in marketable condition. In the strawberry studies, microbiological analyses were made of 100 samples of Pacific Northwest, strawberries, chiefly of the Marshall variety. The samples were packed in the 1930 season in paper containers and in No. 2 tin cans, without and with vacuum, and in syrups of different strengths. Fifteen months after the fruit had been stored at 15 degrees Fahrenheit the fruit was thawed and again analysed microbiologically. This analysis showed that 90 to 99 per cent. of the organisms had been killed.

Silver Lining

BY HECK.

Everybodys goal in life is "Happiness."

"Anybody is happy
"who is able to play the role
"which best satisfies him
"in his own eyes."
—Van Loon in The N. Y. Tribune.

* * * *

To "play the role," means W-O-R-K. Rich or poor, he must work by brain or brawn, or there is no satisfaction, no happiness.

* * * *

Work, then, symbolizes Happiness. It brings wages or profit, which in turn bring food, fuel, clothing, amusements.

* * * *

Some would have us believe that in most countries, work, wages or profit are very, very scarce—if so, happiness must be on the decrease.

* * * *

NEWS, the kind that informs us why, where, when work can be had, will help to keep mankind working and happy.

A broadcast, a print, a speech, a wire or wireless to the effect that there is a scarcity of any one thing or commodity, helps, because capitalists will hire workers, start machinery to fill the scarcity, supply the demand; wages will flow again, and happiness be restored. If word is passed around that there is an overabundance of a product, means are, or should be, at hand to remedy the condition. That is the purpose of this Silver Lining. Through the medium of news, good news will keep a proper, sane balance of supply and demand—informing those who want profit, work, service, where they can get it and find the Happiness they want.

* * * *

Even news of this kind helps the shut-in, the cripple, the old, whose active minds derive satisfaction in the knowledge that those who care for them are in a position to get work.

* * * *

Gold—Ontario output has set a record in 1931. The total output for the Province is around $42,900,000 and peak was in December last.

* * * *

Radio Broadcasting—A. E. Leary, Assistant to the General Manager of broadcasting station CKCL, stated that their sales during the last two weeks were greatly on the increase. In fact, the sales for December were the highest in the history of the company, and already show a great increase over January of last year.

A Wanderer's Song

A wind's in the heart of me, a fire's in my heels,
I am tired of brick and stone and rumbling wagon-wheels;
I hunger for the sea's edges, the limits of the land,
Where the wild old Atlantic is shouting on the sand.

Oh I'll be going, leaving the noises of the street,
To where a lifting foresail-foot is yanking at the sheet;
To a windy, tossing anchorage where yawls and ketches ride,
Oh I'll be going, going, until I meet the tide.

And first I'll hear the sea-wind, the newing of the gulls,
The clucking, sucking of the sea about the rusty hulls,
The songs at the capstan in the hooker warping out,
And then the heart of me'll know I'm there or thereabout.

Oh I am tired of brick and stone, the heart of me is sick,
For windy green, unquiet sea, the realm of Moby Dick;
And I'll be going, going, from the roarin of the wheels,
For a wind's in the heart of me, a fire's in my heels.
—John Masefield, in "Piems."

What New York Is Wearing

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Furnished With Every Pattern

For little daughter of school age, why not this darling coat-like dress?

You can carry it out so charmingly in sheer woolen, now so modish. For the darling pleated collar, you could use pique, linen or self-fabric in a contrasting color.

The original dress used brown wool crepe. The collar was almond green wool crepe. The wide brown belt was shiny patent leather.

Spanish tile wool jersey with brown linen collar and brown suede belt is cunning.

A dark green tweed-like woolen with vivid yellow pique collar is another scheme you'll like.

Style No. 3465 is designed in sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

Size 8 requires 1¾ yards 54-inch material and ⅜ yard 35-inch contrasting material.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 20c in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap it carefully) for each number, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto

MIDDLE AGE

One of the problems of middle age is to avoid bad debts—bad debts to oneself, because it is in old age that the debts become payable, and it is not pleasant. Still, there are compensations for ageing. They say that a man is as old as his arteries, but it is truer to say that he is as old as his spirit. Let him get more interest and some spice of adventure, and join the society of the old and the bold. There is then the possibility of increasing your chance of being younger every day.

As a biologist let me remind you that there is no senility in the animal kingdom outside domestic animals. Senility is the prerogative of mankind, and one of the problems of life at the end is to submit to old age while avoiding senility.—Sir J. Arthur Thomson.

Spanish Melody

One of the most delightful things in Spain is its strange Eastern music, and of all the music by far the most magical is the "Malaguena." This is a plaintive little song or chant which is hummed under the breath, started by one, taken up and varied a little by another, carried right down the street like a thread of melody, everyone singing a few bars. Sometimes it is the veriest whisper; sometimes it rises to a wailing chant. It is quite bewildering, for you cannot place it; it often seems to die away altogether and begin again as a sort of echo, but with different harmonies and intervals and always in a minor key. The narrow streets of Malaga are full of this strange ghostly music, and the women washing clothes in the riverbed all hum it, each one improvising as she goes on, but it always stops suddenly if it is noticed that any stranger is listening.—From "Spanish Sunshine," by Eleanor Elsner.

Elephants' Burial-Ground

Most of the ivory we use is obtained by digging, and not by shooting as is commonly supposed.

Elephants have their own code of customs. One of these is that no member of the herd must die among his fellows. When an old elephant feels that his course is run, he separates himself from the herd and makes for a particular burial-ground —for each herd has its own place for burial.

This is always a swampy tract of land overgrown with trees and rank vegetation. Here he dies, and his great body buries itself by its own weight in the soft soil. Many of these elephant graveyards are known to the African hunters, who make journeys to them each year for the purpose of digging up the ivory tusks. Few white men have ever seen such a place, for the natives know that an elephant graveyard is as valuable as a gold mine, and they keep the secret.—"Our Dumb Animals."

THE LOVE TREE

Love is like a tree—vegetating of itself, striking deep-roots through all our being, and often continuing to grow greenly over a heart in ruins. And, inexplicable as it is, the blinder is this passion the more it is tenacious. It is never more firmly seated than when it is without a shadow of reason.—Victor Hugo.

Sun and Snow

Sunlight is curious about snow.
It glares intently,—wants to know
How flakes are made, and why the crust
Of snow can powder into dust.

The sunlight cannot hold aloof
When snow is dazzling on a roof.
It wants to know what makes it gleam,
And why the eaves should run a stream.

Inquisitively, sunlight peers
At beauty melting into tears.
It stares surprised, and does not know
That its attentions melt the snow.

"FATIGUE? I just postpone it!"

"No, I don't have 'nerves.' You can't have them, and hold this sort of position. My head used to throb around three o'clock, and certain days, of course, were worse than others.

"Then I learned to rely on Aspirin."

The sure cure for any headache is rest. But sometimes we must postpone it. That's when Aspirin saves the day. Two tablets, and the nagging pain is gone until you are home. And once you are comfortable the pain seldom returns!

Keep Aspirin handy. Don't put it away, or put off taking it. Fighting a headache to finish the day may be heroic, but it is also a little foolish. So is sacrificing a night's sleep because you've an annoying cold, or irritated throat, or grumbling tooth, neuralgia, neuritis. These tablets always relieve. They don't depress the heart, and may be taken freely. That is medical opinion. It is a fact established by the last twenty years of medical practise.

The only caution to be observed is when you are buying Aspirin. Don't take a substitute because it will not act the same. Aspirin is made in Canada.

BAYER

Surplus of $65,000 Shown by Report Counties Treasurer

Largest Balance In History of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Is Reported At Close of 1931; Statement Given To Council.

MANY EXPENDITURES CUT

Old Age Pensions Up $10,000 From Total For Previous Year; Roads and Schools Appropriations Are Reduced.

Exceeding by more than $2,000 the balance reported at the end of 1930, a surplus for 1931 amounting to $65,635, announced at Thursday afternoon's session of the United Counties Council, is held to be the largest surplus in the history of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. Receipts for 1931 amounting to $879,689, overtopped expenditures of $814,053. In 1929, the Counties had a deficit of $200, expenditures having been $786,853 as compared to receipts of $786,620.

There was a marked increase of $10,000 in the amount paid out in 1931 under the Old Age Pension Act and more than $4,300 under the Mothers' Allowance Act. County road expenditures were about $25,000 below those of 1930, but expenditures on roads and bridges not under the counties' road system climbed from $75,760 to $116,311. Indigent patient expenditures dropped by about $4,000; administration of justice was almost $1,000 higher; school grants were reduced by about $10,500 and the House of Refuge maintenace was more than $4,000 lower.

DETAILED REPORT

Detailed information regarding the financial standing of the counties was contained in a comprehensive report prepared by A. K. MacMillan, clerk-treasurer. The full report, covering a period from January 1 to December 31 1931, follows:,

To the Warden and Members of the Council of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, in session assembled.
Sir and Gentlemen:

It gives me pleasure at this session to present to you a financial statement of your counties for the year 1931.

Receipts

Your receipts for the above period amounted to $879,689.46 made up under the following headings, namely:,

Land Tax Account	$ 19,355.19
Licenses	1,118.00
Schools	82,556.12
House of Refuge	5,324.24
Hospitals	17,444.47
Old Age Pensions	420.00
Miscellaneous	62,957.42
Roads and Bridges	112,466.85
Administration of Justice	8,157.68
Bank interest	2,096.34
Magistrates' fines	94.00
Debentures and accrued interest	104,815.13
Division Court fund	190.06
County rates	462,708.00
Registry Offices	5.96
	$879,689.46

Expenditures

Your total expenditure for the same period was $814,053.94, summarized as follows, namely:

County Roads	$197,362.63
House of Refuge	13,929.55
County property	2,512.18
Gaol	5,320.93
School purposes	189,625.25
Miscellaneous	12,496.41
Printing advertising and postage	1,592.07
Administration of Justice	11,601.52
Municipal government	8,522.30
Roads and bridges (not county)	116,311.33
Registry Offices	1,176.37
Interest (Bank)	397.01
Division Court Fund	325.08
Mothers' Allowance	34,257.50
Miscellaneous grants	2,700.00
Land Tax account	18,556.92
Redemption of lands	708.14
Debentures	127,294.70
Hospitals	33,689.10
Old Age Pensions	35,285.57
Insurance, light, water, etc.	388.48
	$814,053.94
Total receipts	$879,689.46
Total expenditures	814,053.94
	$ 65,635.52
Outstanding cheques, December 31	126,147.92
	$191,783.44

Your credit balances in your banks on December 31, 1931, were as follows:

Bank of Nova Scotia	$ 95,387.00
Bank of Montreal	96,396.44
	$191,783.44

Cheque Went Astray

You will notice that our outstanding cheques on December 31 last were very large. This was due to the fact that a cheque payable to the Honorable Provincial Treasurer for $112,371.00 for the King's Highway acount, 1930, was lost in transit between Toronto and Cornwall, after same had been endorsed and deposited by the Honorable Treasurer. I hold a receipt for this cheque and as a duplicate had to be issued I also hold a letter from the Bank of Montreal accepting all liability in the matter of the duplicate cheque.

Due to the most rigid economy practised in 1931, I am able to show a surplus of over $1300.00 under the by-law for general county purposes. This is most gratifying when you take into consideration that approximately $3,000.00 under this by-law was also paid for expenses regarding the Appeal of Assessment and no provision having been made in the estimates for the year 1931, this $1,300.00 surplus will go a considerable way in paying for the other costs of the appeal.

I might also call your attention to the sum of $397.01 interest paid the banks on overdraft during the year 1931. This is a very small amount, in fact. I believe it is the smallest interest amount paid the banks in the history of these United Counties. We received from the banks $2,096.34, being interest on our daily credit balance as per arrangements with the banks. This is also the largest credit for interest you have received from the banks in a great number of years.

In the year 1931 $10,000.00 was levied for maintenance of inmates of House of Refuge, while the actual maintenance was only $7,-9972.65, leaving a surplus of $2,-027.35. This saving was also due to the rigid economy of your officials in charge and the board of management Your council will receive the benefit of this surplus in striking the rate for maintenance of inmates for the current year.

Debenture Debt

County Roads	$153,949.76
The King's Highway	133,900.32
House of Refuge	7,450.19
	$595,310.26

Taking into consideration our equalized assessment of approximately $40,000,000.00, our debenture debt is quite small, especially when we read about so many counties who are in financial difficulty, having in prosperous times borrowed to the limit. A great deal of credit is due former members of council and officials for the efficient and economic manner in which the finances of these United Counties were handled.

It is impossible at the present session to hardly make an estimate of this year's expenditure. As you are fully aware a large amount of same lies beyond the control of your council. Your debenture levy for county roads this year will be $43,145.54, a decrease of $19,900.16. To finance the road programme for the current year and allowing $100.000.00 levy for county roads I would recommend the issue of $50,-000.00 debentures for construction of the King's Highway, for 1931. This would increase your debenture levy for the King's Highway $6,-475.23 and the balance of our $6,-000.00 King's Highway would be levied for directly, increasing our King's Highway debenture levy $12,357.05 for example, let me make the necessary comparisons:

	1931	Prop. 1932
Co. Rd. Deb.	$ 68,045.70	$ 48,145.54
The King's High. Deb.	19,425.69	25,900.92
Bal. King's H'y deb. levy	12,642.95	25,000.00
Co. Roads	100,000.00	100,000.00
	$200,114.34	$199,046.46

Providing you place $50,000.00 on the King's Highway account on debentures this year you will be retiring $42,153.97 of principal on debentures January 2, 1932, and as such the debentures debt of the United Counties will be increased only $7,846.13.

About Stationary

I hope the other items making up the County rate for 1932 will remain about stationary and you may rest assured that I will cut all unnecessary (for the time being) expenses to a minimum.

However, I think it is wise at a time of depression such as we have to fully consider your estimates for the current year and might I point out that a great deal of consideration should be given to "economy" and the term commonly used "false economy." We are liable in times of depression to economize too much and over a period of a few years our economy of today is quite liable to be false economy or a penny wise and pound foolish.

In regard to the issuing of any debentures this year, an important factor which you will have to take into consideration will be the per cent interest charge. At the present time 5% debentures would sell at approximately 90 or under. Since the City of Montreal have a bond issue on the market at present, six per cent. yielding par, counties would have a hard time to get on a 6 per cent issue.

I understand a neighboring county a few days age sold a 5½% issue at slightly better than 95, however I feel sure that later on in the summer the bond market will be much more favorable.

Outstanding Rates

The outstanding county rate on December 31, 1931, was $190,320.89 due from the following municipalities:

Alexandria	$10,890.28
Cornwall Township	63,834.44
Charlottenburg	25,113.23
Kenyon	18,517.51
Lancaster Township	34,574.42
Morrisburg	36.06
Mountain Township	16,381.13
Osnabruck Township	15,236.22
Winchester Village	5,736.75

Since December 31, the following amounts have been received:

Winchester Village	$ 5,736.75

On December 31. 1930, your outstanding County Rate was $203,-032.58, and same was all paid during the year 1931 except, approximately $14,000.00.

MARRYING AT LEISURE
(London Sunday Pictorial)

Two people, we have always been told, can live as cheaply as one. The skeptical young men of today, however, do not seem to believe it.

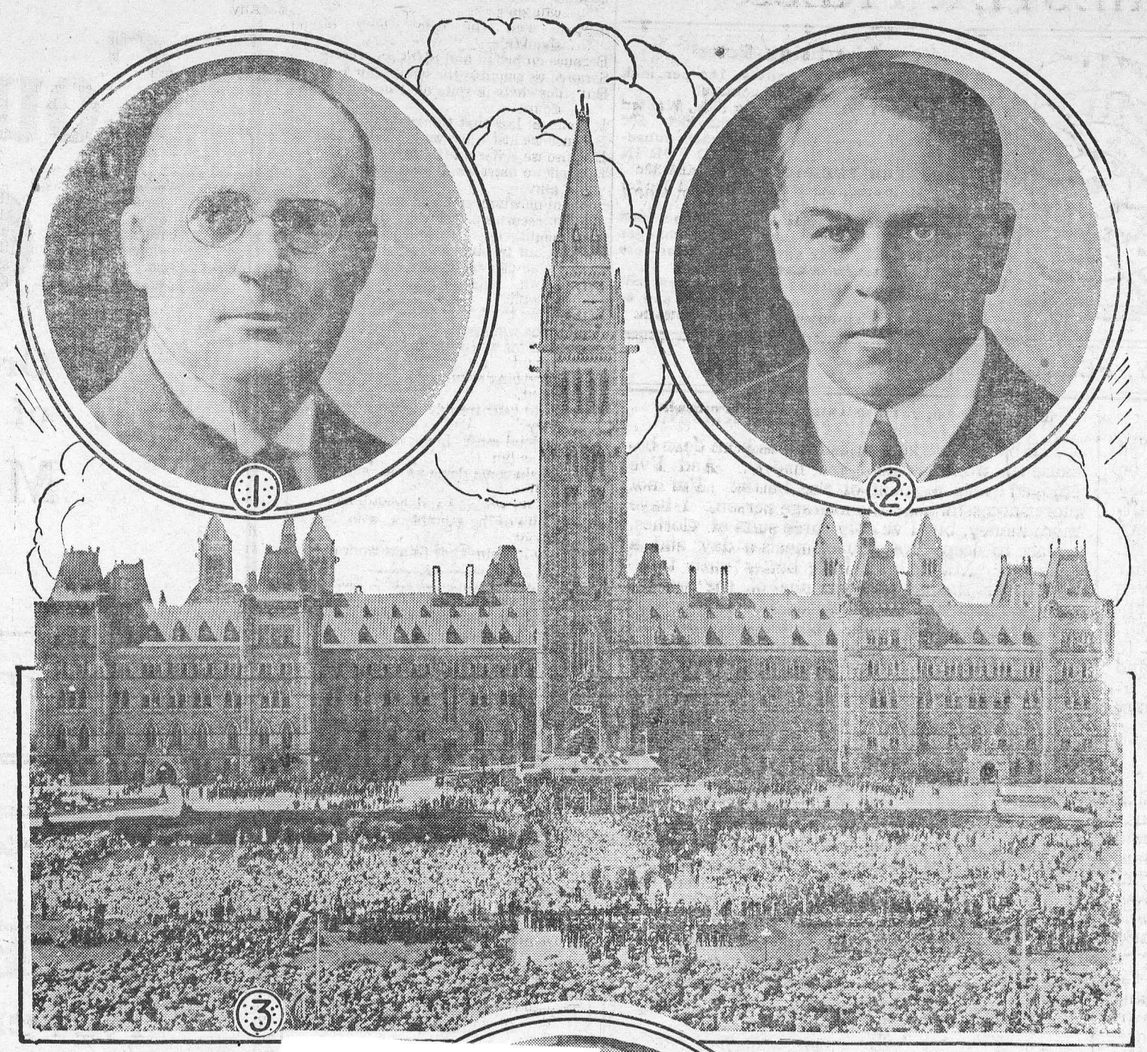
The reason given for this year's phenomenal drop in the marriage rate is that many young men in this country cannot afford to marry.

It may be a reason. It may be only an excuse. But it certainly reveals a caution which, in this matter at least, may be more audable than rashness.

To wed late but permanently and successfully is better than to wed early and impetuously only to find that a mistake has been made.

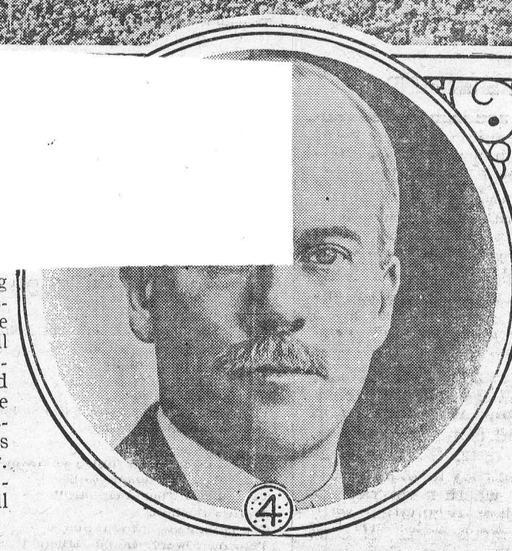
It is better, too, not to be able to afford marriage than not to be able to afford alimony.

The Opening of Parliament

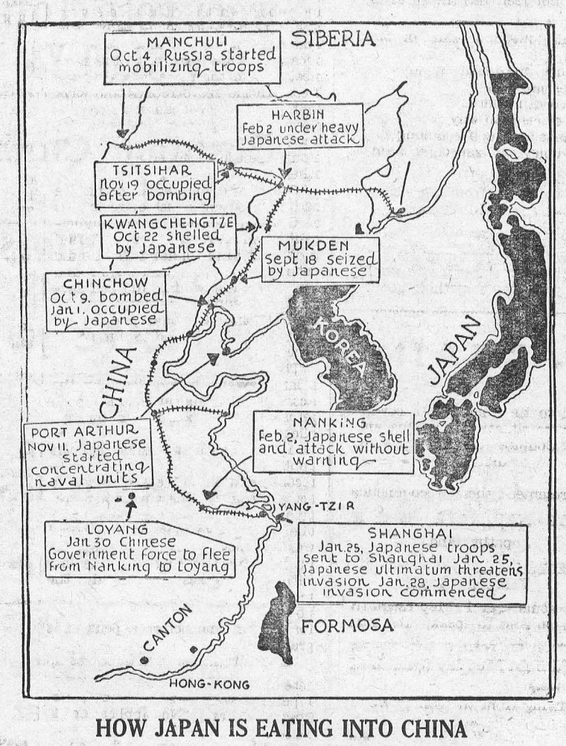


Ottawa, Feb. 4—Opening c more than a month earlier t that of last year, today saw curtain lifted on the 17th Pa ment of Canada when the cu mary pomp and ceremony mar proceedings on the hill.

Military orders for the opening provided for the usual cavalry escort for their Excellencies, the guard of honor on Parliament Hill and the salute of 19 guns on arrival and departure. 19 officers and men from the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards formed the escort. Only two new members will be presented to the speaker. They are Charles Borgeois, Conservative and Humphrey Mitchell Labor.



"All the King's 'Orses and all the King's Men" turned out in gala array today to mark the opening of the 3rd session of the 17th Parliament of Canada at Ottawa. The leading figures in the scene are shown: (1) Premier Bennett, leader of the House. (2) Hon. MacKenzie King, leader of the opposition, (3) Crowds assembled before the building during a similar ceremonial procession. (4) The Earl of Bessborough, governor-general of Canada. The ceremony incorporates the same traditional customs surviving a thousand years of parliamentary procedure in England.



HOW JAPAN IS EATING INTO CHINA

How Japan has pursued a steady course of conquest in China since August 17th, when demands were made at Mukden for an apology and indemnity for the slaying of a Japanese officer, reminiscent of a similar episode at Sarajevo in 1914, is graphically indicated on the accompanying map. North and south, inland and seaboard towns and cities have fallen before the invaders, leading up to one of the greatest crisis in the world's history. The great western powers, fearing a world conflagration, are today taking stern measures.

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

Imagiue an area 3-8 the size of of Ontario; and cram into it some 64,000,000 men, women and children and you have Japan. That is the crux of the eastern situation today. Japan reached the point where she had to find an outlet for her teeming millions and so jumped to the mainland, where she is carving out sizeable chunks of territory with the sword. The map shows relative areas of Japan and Ontario and relative populations.

VALUE OF FARMING

Canada's Biggest Industry Produces Four or Five Times as Much Wealth as All Others.

Agriculture is Canada's leading industry, the net annual value of agricultural production averaging double that of all other primary industries put together. It is from four to five times as great as that of either forestry or mining, which come next in order of importance. The farmer supplies the raw material for many of Canada's leading manufacturing industries, such as flour milling, feed and grist milling, bread and bakery products, slaughtering and meat packing, butter and cheese making, boot and shoe making and fruit and vegetable canning. The farmer, too, is a large consumer of the finished products of nearly all other manufacturing industries, more especially of such industries as agricultural implements, motor cars, binder twine, sawmills and fertilizers.

There are upwards of 700,000 farmers in the Dominion.

The census of the farms of the Dominion is taken for the benefit of the farmer. While the average farmer, however, probably does not make individual use of the statistics, they are used by the leaders of the farming community, by professors and teachers in agricultural colleges, by local agricultural representatives of Provincial Governments, by Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, by Members of Parliament and the Legislatures, as well as by the general press and agricultural newspapers.

Agricultural information has been collected by means of the census since the earliest times, but the amount and the variety of information secured has been steadily increasing with the growing complexity of the operations carried on by farmers in the Dominion. The questions asked in the 1931 schedules covered a greater variety of subjects than in any previous investigation. Not only was every outstanding expert in agricultural matters in Canada consulted in connection with the questions, but advantage was also taken of the work of the International Institute of Agriculture, representing some 60 countries, which had a staff of experts at work for the last four years making plans for an ideal census of agriculture.

THE SILVER FOX LEADS

Takes Premier Place In Canadian Fur Production.

The silver fox has been the pacemaker in the Canadian fur trade now for a number of years, but now has achieved the leadership of all furs in the value of its production. The fur trade year is measured from July to June, and in the last statistical year the value of silver fox pelts sold was $2,716,264. Nearly the whole of this amount was contributed by the fur-farming industry. Next in value among the furs for the last fur season came muskrat with $1,781,651. White fox was third at $1,238,917, beaver fourth at $1,025,033 and mink fifth with a value of $1,010,198.

The fur farm is playing an increasingly important part in the fur trade of Canada. In 1927-28 fur farms supplied 11 per cent. of the production value of the industry, and in 1928-29 it was 12½ per cent. In 1929-30 the proportion of the production value of the industry supplied by fur farms rose to 19 per cent.

HUGE ELM REMOVED.

Stood for Over Four Centuries In Fruit District of Ontario.

A huge elm tree, said to be over 400 years old, and an outstanding landmark near Vineland, Ontario, has been cut down in the interests of public safety. It stood right on the shoulder of the highway against the pavement. When the highway was laid, this tree, on account of its age and beauty, was left standing. It stood about 150 feet high and measured over five feet across. Lately, however, it was decreed that the monarch had to go.

Ten to fifteen foot pieces were cut from the top at a time, chain blocks and anchor lines being used to prevent damage to the telephone and power lines. The limbs measured up to two feet in diameter.

A 95-year-old old lady living at Vineland recalls having milked the cows under the shade of this big tree when a young girl.

Only one accident is known to have happened at the tree since the highway was laid years ago. In that case a man was killed when he drove his car into the tree.

SMOKE AND CANCER.

Meeting at Glasgow, the Royal Sanitary Institute Congress made two startling disclosures with regard to that most dreaded disease — cancer. One was the evidence that soot is directly responsible for the most deadly forms. The other that the soot in the atmosphere is equal in weight to three days' output from all the British colleries. As one delegate pointed out, the "penalty for the romantic coal fire is twofold. It first implants the disease and then robs the sufferer of the means of combatting it by creating a fog which virtually shuts off the vital rays of sunshine, and thus lowers the powers of resistance."

THE AUTHOR'S REWARD.

It is true that authors write for the sheer love of it. But at the same time, the construction, plotting and execution of a worth-while story involves much hard plodding work. And no divine enthusiasm is going to drive the most inspired fictionist into this labor when the most he can expect from a Canadian magazine for his effort is from $25 to $75—if he is lucky. With ordinary energy in the same length of time, the author could earn as much or more selling peanuts or peddling apples.—Winnipeg Tribune.

SHIFTING RESPONSIBILITY

Simcoe County Council has requested all Municipal Councils in the County to report on all Applications for Old Age Pensions before they are approved by the O. A. P. Board. This is shifting responsibility with a vengeance. The Board is appointed, and are paid for every day they sit. It is their duty to deal with applications, not that of any other body. It is presumption to even ask the Reeves of Municipalities to report on applications. If applications are properly made out, sworn to, and signed, the Board has no right to refuse them. It is the system that is wrong, and open to all kinds of abuses, and unless soon amended or substituted, will prove a very heavy burden on the taxpayers.

ABOUT CAR LICENSES

The Brockville Recorder-Times suggests that if the government would send the car license plates to the issuers a month earlier, there would not be the annual scramble for markers in January and February. It seems that anything that is done, some objection can be found. Does the Recorder-Times imagine that the people who wait until the last minute to procure their markers would act any different if the plates were available a month earlier? Not at all. Every car owner knows, or ought to know, that they should procure a license at the beginning of the year. The Government grants two months indulgence, and yet at the end of that indulgence there is the usual scramble. It's the same with taxes. The R. and T. is becoming a great fault finder with present day conditions. It needs a tonic.

CEMETERY IMPROVEMENTS

After all it requires something drastic to stir up the general public to a sense of their duty. For years the Government of Ontario, and the newspapers, have been urging and insisting on the better care of rural cemeteries. The Government was blamed for not taking some action and compelling the better care of cemeteries. Apparently nothing resulted until the government did take action, and now, some of the newspapers that a year ago were denouncing the government for what it neglected to do, are to-day finding fault because the government, in a sense, took their advice. Weeding them out, however, the fault finders are not now, and never have been friendly toward a Conservative Government. It is not likely the Ontario Government will be diverted from the plan laid out to improve cemeteries by such one-sided criticism.

PARLIAMENT IN SESSION

The Dominion Parliament is now in session at Ottawa. The speech from the Throne, which is usually debated on for three or four weeks, was adopted without amendment after two days. There are indications that it will be a lively session, and considerable cross firing. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, a former Prime Minister, is now a Senator and Leader of the Senate. Evidently he and the leader of the government, Hon. Mr. Bennett, are in close sympathy with the policy of the government, and some interesting developements may ensue. A committee of the House of Commons has been appointed to investigate the charges made by a former member of the House. Hon. Mr. Gordon, of Peterboro, that the honeymoon trip of the Prime Minister's sister, Mrs. Herrigde, was financed by the government. Premier Bennett feels that the honesty of the Prime Minister of Canada has been publicly questioned, and is demanding the fullest investigation. A ten per cent. cut is to be made in the wages of all civil servants, of members of Parliament and of the Senate, and in fact all government officials. The St. Lawrence Waterway Project is to be dealt with in the near future. The proposed reduction in the salaries of the Civil Servants was severely denounced by all three opposition leaders.

WRIGLEY, WEALTH AND ADVERTISING

"What I have accomplished has been done because the work has kept me happy. And I've enjoyed every moment of the battle. I'm not more successful than the average person. I have more money, but I've only three suits of clothes, a place to sleep, three square meals a day and a bath tub. Maybe it's a little better bath tub."

This is the philosophy of one of the world's most sccessful and most wealthy business men.

Wrigley told his son, "no matter what the condition of business is never stop advertising." And this is from a man who had spent $100,000,000 in advertising.

Once when travelling on a special train with a friend to California, Wrigley was discussing advertising and told his friend that he expected to spend over one million dollars that year in advertising. His friend remonstrated and told Wrigley that with the reputation his gum and other goods had, he could afford to cut out all advertising for a year and save that million dollars. Now note the reply of thls successful business man. He asked his friend how fast the train they were riding in was travelling, About sixty miles an hour replied his friend. How fast and how far would the train continue to travel if the steam was shut off the engine,? asked Wrigley. His companion saw the point, and said no more about Wrigley cutting out his advertising.

THE OLD AGE PENSION FUND

During the "depression and high taxes" agitation that seems to be sweeping over the rural sections of Eastern Ontario during the past few months, no subject has been more discussed, more severely condemned, and less understood, than what is known as the Old Age Pension Act. The intention of the Act was, and is, most worthy. No human with a soul will deny or try to prevent an aged and helpless person receiving necessary assistance. No doubt that was the original intention of the Act. But the Act is so framed that it is being taken advantage of by too many, and particularly during the past few years. The Act provides that a person, man or woman, a British subect, resident of the province, seventy years of age, who has not transferred property in the preceeding five years, and is not receiving a regular income of $300. and over, is entitled to receive a pension. Of course they have to give a list of their living children, whether married or single, where they reside, their occupation, etc. but that information is not much help. If sons or daughters are married, they have their own families to look after. If single and are earning, they are not likely to allow their parents to live on charity. To deal with such cases the O. A. P. Board, appointed by the Counties' Council, have to be satisfied with the information furnished them in the replies to the questions on the application blanks, and information received through the reeve of the municipality from where the application comes. Sometimes an application has been turned down by the board, and the applicant has then the right to appeal to the head office in Toronto, and too often that means that the local board has to grant the pension. It is well known that there are many receiving assistance who ought not to be. Not that they cannot legally claim it, but because they should be looked after by their children or near relatives. There are those receiving assistance from the O. A. P. fund who are well able to work, but they think they have as much right to assistance as others receiving it, and as a matter of fact they have. There should be a more thorough scrutiny of all cases by one who is not in any way connected with local affairs. In fact no pension should be granted until the merits of the applicant is thoroughly investigated by a government official and reported on by him. By this means the O. A. Board, as now constituted, could be done away with, and the saving thus made would pay the expenses of the government inspector.

ORANGEMEN MEET

At Dundas County meeting held at Cannamore Feb. 2, 1932. it was unanimously carried that the Orange Celebration be held at Morrisburg on July 12th this year. All officers and members are uniting to make this Celebration the largest and best we have had for 40 years. We also had two distinguished visitors, viz., Most Wor. Gr. Deputy Master, H. C. Shipman and Deputy County Master Cochrane of Ottawa. They both gave us an inspiring and helpful address. We also had two of our officers nominated for offices in County Lodge, viz., our Chaplain, A. L. VanAllen, as Chaplain, and Bro. Cecil Hanson was awarded County Marshall. They both passed. As this is such a good beginning for a new lodge let everyone put their shoulder to the wheel to make this year in which we have just entered the banner year for L. O. L. 3127.

M. W. Casselman,
R. Sec. L. O. L. 3127.

• • •

The Loyal Orange County Lodge meeting of Dundas was held in the Orange Hall at Cannamore on Feb. 2nd, with a large number of members present from the various Lodges throughout the County. The following resolution was passed and forwarded to the Minister of Education, the Orange sentinel and the local Press:

We understand that the Roman Catholic Church is putting forth an effort before the Provincial Legislature to secure a greater amount of taxes for the Separate Schools of Ontario from Corporated Company.

Therefore we resolve that we, the Loyal Orange County Lodge of Dundas County, register a protest against any further concessions being given the Separate Schools of Ontario in the way of taxation.

We believe that we have in Ontario a Public School system second to none in any Province open to all classes and all creeds.

We believe that the Separate Schools of Ontario are a hindrance to the unity and in bringing together in mutual understanding and ideas of the two great races of our Dominion of Canada, the English and French people.

Lennox Baker, William Hillis, Comm.

Probably no murder trial would have taken place in Ottawa recently, and certainly there would have been none in Hull last week, but for the existence of those well-nigh useless implements known as revolvers. The revolver has been productive of a great deal of harm in the world; the good it has done is negligible. It is of little or no us in warfare and is of small account in hunting. As a protection against men of evil intent its value is low because of the difficulty of shooting accurately with it. In the estimation of bad men it stands high, which feeling on their part for it is its own condemnation. The world would be much better off if every revolver factory were closed forever and all existing revolvers seized and dumped into the deepest section of one of the seven seas. —Renfrew Mercury:

Of course the man who blows his own horn always thinks the rest of the band is playing the wrong piece.

The Alliston Herald certainly has a very optimistic vision of the future, and gives, in its last issue, this cheering piece of news It says:—

"No one need expect prosperity to come back with a rush. Nor need too much attention be paid to those who keep telling us how prosperity is coming back, and why, and under what form. What is clear, however, is that the depression appears to have spent itself, that confidence is being restored and that 1932 is almost sure to be a better year than 31."

There are still a few people who forget that there is a penalty attached to the issuing of a cheque, for amounts over $5.00, on which a two cent stamp has not been placed. It is not necessary that it be a revenue stamp. An ordinary postage stamp to the value of two cents is sufficient. Obeying the law may save a great deal of trouble.

THINGS WORK OUT

Because it rains when we wish it wouldn't
Because men do what they often shouldn't,
Because crops fail and plans go wrong.
Some of us grumble the whole day long.
But somewhere in spite of the care and doubt
It seems at last that things work out.
Because we lost when we hoped to gain
Because we suffer a little pain,
Because we must work when we'd like to play,
Some of us whimper along life's way.
But somehow as day always follows the night
Most of our troubles work out all right.
Because we cannot forever smile
Because we must trudge in the dust a while
Because we think that the way is long—
Some of us whimper that life's all wrong,
But somehow we live and our sky grows bright
And everything seems to work out all right.
So bend to your trouble and meet your care
For the cloud must break and the sky grow fair
Let the rain come down as it must and will,
But keep on working and hoping still
For in spite of the grumblers who stand about
Somehow it seems that things work out.

PREFERRED THE CASH

Now that the cold weather has brought to an end the epidemic of barn fires, there may be some who will see a bit of humor in this joke:

A Garafraxa farmer had his barn burned, and the insurance adjuster was around making a settlement.

"There's a clause in your policy," he said "which allows us the option of rebuilding your barn, or paying you in cash for your loss. We've decided to replace your barn."

"My goodness," said the farmer, "I hope there isn't any clause like that in my wife's life insurance policy."

'Tis not the tale of years men tell
That counts, but how they're spent;
Not what we get, but what we give,
Is our just measurement.

And what we give we never lose,
And what we lose we gain,
We live but once, and may not choose
To pass this way again.

SAY SOMETHING GOOD

Say something good!
You've said too much that was gruff,
A little of that is enough,
Too much, I opine,
For the little vine
Of love can't grow on such.
You could alter your words if you would
And—say something good!

Praise the man!
You've told him all that was wrong,
So bridle your bitter tongue,
Say, "Fine! That was right,"
And see the light
Of thanks come into his eye.
Your own heart would warm if you would,
If only you'd say something good.

Kiss the hand
That has toiled for you through the years,
The cheek of too many tears,
And o'er your lip
New love will trip
To kiss the soul of you.
Life would be new if you would,
If only you'd say something good.

Say something good!
Living would rise from the coarse,
From bitterness and divorce
If only we
Might come to see
That people hunger for praise,
They'd be your slaves if you would,
If only you'd say something good.

HENRY'S SHORTHAND SCHOOL, OTTAWA.

No school in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa Schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising thet business men, in advertising for stenographers should specially say, "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

"It's Lucky you have a Telephone"

Jim Ross hadn't noticed the broken fence until his favorite roan mare got caught in the barbed wire and cut her leg.

It didn't seem a bad cut at first, but blood poisoning set in and Jim thought he was going to lose a valuable horse. A hurried telephone call brought the veterinary surgeon.

"I think we can save her, Jim," the veterinary said, "but another couple of hours might have been too late. It's lucky you have a telephone."

A LITERARY MARVEL

British Novelist and Editor Produces Tremendous Volume of Writings.

That he writes one million words per year, has written one hundred and thirty novels and many plays and finds time between whiles to edit a Sunday newspaper with a million circulation was part of the confession which Edgar Wallace made on the witness stand in London. He has offered $25,000 to anyone who can prove he has ever employed a "ghost" to write his works, and now he offers a like sum to any one who can prove all his plots and ideas don't originate in his own mass production brain.

All this formed part of the evidence in a libel suit which Wallace brought against one Lewis Charles Glodfiam who declared Wallace cribbed a plot and dialogue from his novel "The Lucky Fool," and made of it a successful play, "The Calendar."

Goldfiam sent a letter to the newspapers and theatrical people declaring that Wallace was a "mean cribber" and one who had cribbed all he required from the "Lucky Fool" to make up "The Calendar". Wallace in his evidence, said actually he wrote "The Calendar" in four days at the request of Sir Gerald Dumaurier two years before Goldfiam's novel was published. Part of it he scribbled on the back of telegraph forms in Berlin and produced manuscript to prove it.

FLEECED OF SAVINGS

Confidence Game Worked on Toronto Shoemaker.

Nicholas Kowalski, a Toronto shoemaker, fell victim to a time-worn "con game" worked from coast to coast. Two men walked into his store. Both were well dressed, and pretended to be strangers. One of the men inquired for a Dr. Bull. He said his father had robbed the doctor of $10,000, went west, and through good luck in investments, made $100,000. Upon his death, he asked that the doctor be located and paid back the money. In the event of his not being found, the money was to be distributed in Toronto to charity.

The flimflam trick was for each of the men to make deposits of $250 as a bond of good faith that they would help dispose of $10,000 for a reasonable cash consideration. Kowalski sought time to go to the bank and draw his money. A meeting was arranged and Kowalski handed over his $250. He was then asked to go on an errand. When he returned the two strangers were gone, and so were Kowalski's savings.

THE BOON OF HEALTH

About Half the Sickness Is Preventable, Doctor Believes.

The value of health is realized to some degree, at least, by every thinking individual. But not everybody has imagination enough to appreciate the tremendous monetary loss to the nation caused by sickness and deaths from disease. The loss to the nation represented by the deaths from preventable diseases yearly is estimated by Dr. Gordon Bates at more than a billion dollars and the loss due to sickness, of which 45 to 60 per cent. is preventable, at $300,000,000. The upkeep of our hospitals, sanitoria and asylums costs $50,000,000 yearly and the buildings and equipment involved an investment of $200,000,000.

During the four years of the great war the names of 160,000 Canadian soldiers appeared on the list of wounded, the number including some men several times. Yet on any given day across the Dominion no less than 180,000 Canadian citizens are temporarily disabled because of sickness. —From the Toronto Star.

NORMANS IN CANADA.

French and English In Dominion Have Common Origin.

Four-fifths of French-Canadians are of Norman blood, being descendants of the very Normans who in 1066 conquered Britain. Dr. Emille Vaillancourt, of the University of Caen, France, submitted this argument in a lecture at Montreal. He explained that originally there were 1,350 individuals from Normandy who took part in the conquest of Canada following the discovery by Jacques Cartier. Of this number 1,150 were men and the remainder women. They had 501 descendants in the following generation, according to Dr. Vaillancourt, who is a noted historian, the progeny of these families form the majority of French-Canadians, or Canadiens, today. Thus, it may be said that the French and English in Canada have a common origin.

PROVING OWNERSHIP.

Rooster Joins In Chorus to Convince Judge.

When a rooster under his very ears harmonized the chorus of "Old Black Joe" as Reese Dupre crooned the words, Recorder Peter F. Dodd of Detroit decided that the bird belonged to the crooner. Dupre, a negro concert singer, had gone to court to claim ownership of four fowls which, he said, had been stolen from his yard.

When the Recorder asked Dupre to prove his claim the singer bent low toward the rooster, while the three other birds, each a hen, watched attentively, and started to sing "Old Black Joe." Without any prompting the rooster blended its voice with Dupre's. Recorder Dodd gave him the four birds without asking for an encore.

Burden of Taxation Must Be Relieved Ratepayers Declare

Delegation of More Than One Hundred Rural Ratepayers From All Portions of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Waits Upon Counties Council.

PRESENT EIGHT RECOMMENDATIONS

Ask Reduction of Salaries of Counties Officials, Suspension of Road Construction and Lowering Per Diem Allowance of Councillors.

Seeking a drastic reduction in the salaries of counties officials, complete suspension of the counties' road construction program until times improve and cutting of the per diem allowance of councillors to $5, and presenting five other recommendations which they believed would tend to lower expenditures, a deputation of more than 100 ratepayers from a majority of the rural municipalities of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry waited upon Counties Council in session here Thursday afternoon.

For more than two hours, members of council listened to discourses upon depressed conditions in the agricultural industry and the necessity for a reduction in taxation. Dr. J. Howard Munro (Maxville), and other members of council replied, pointing out that a small portion only of counties' expenditures is controllable by council and assuring the deputation that everything possible is being done in the way of economy.

The deputation, formed at the suggestion of the Matilda and Mountain Township Farmers' Club, was made up of ratepayers from a majority of the rural municipalities. Delegates from each township met Thursday morning, with A. J. McRae, Lancaster Tp., in the chair, and W. E. Graham, Mountain Tp., as secretary. At this meeting, resolutions passed by various township organizations were consolidated and eight recommendations were drawn up for presentation to council. Spokesmen for the deputation were Samuel D. Thorpe, Matilda Tp.; Duncan McDonald, Cornwall Tp.; W. E. Graham, Mountain Tp.; A. J. McRae, Lancaster Tp.; and W. J. Blanchard, Charlottenburg Tp.

Although council had not been scheduled to meet until five o'clock Thursday afternoon, Warden Nugent called the session at 2.15 in order that the deputation might be heard. He extended a cordial welcome to the ratepayers and called upon Samuel D. Thorpe to speak.

No Dictation

"We are not here with the intention of forcing the Counties Council into anything," Mr. Thorpe declared. "We believe that the voters of the various municipalities have picked the best men available to represent them, and we all believe that you will do the right thing. We are here to back you up, as we felt that you would be better prepared to take the plunge in the matter of reducing expenditures if you knew that public feeling is behind you.

"We have an organization in Matilda and Mountain townships, known as a farmers' club. We drew up a resolution at one of our meetings and decided to call a mass meeting. This was done, the meeting was largely attended and the resolution was approved. Today, we got together with representatives of other municipalities, redrafted our various resolutions and present them here today in the form of eight recommendations.

"We all know that if one has suffered more than another under the depression, the farmer has got the worst of it. We know that the Counties Council has had plenty of advice from everyone, from the laborers to the higher-ups, but we ask you to listen a little to the farmers. Things have taken such a turn that taxes are a real burden upon the farmer, and something must be done. At a recent meeting, one man told us that a laborer could not live on 30 cents an hour. Show me the farmer who is getting that for his work. We are not trying to trample the laborer; we are after the man who is eating up money through high salaries and the present system of doing counties' work.

"Now, let us take our recommendations one by one. We ask, first of all, that no new construction be done on counties' roads until times improve. We do not mean by that, that you should not keep up the roads we have. No farmer would let his buildings go back at times like these, but there are none who would think of putting up expensive, new buildings today, for the simple reason that they haven't the money. At nomination time, our councillors tell us this and that about their work, and then wind up by telling us that we are facing a big debt. A big debt means big interest and we must put a foot down and stop this spending somewhere.

Graded Salary Cuts

"We asked a graded reduction in the salaries of counties' employes, and you will notice that the biggest cut affects the high salaried man, while we recommend that the laborers continue to receive $2 per day. We did not touch labor, but we did try to get after the other fellow, and the only way we can get after him is through you men."

Mr. Thorpe stated that the Agricultural College at Kemptville has discontinued its model farm operations because the appropriation of the Department of Agriculture has been reduced by $500,000. In addition, the Dairy School at Kingston is closed nine months of the year for the same reason. He pointed out that the farmers would like to see some method introduced which would lower taxation, as they feel the burden so much, and have so little, that they cannot even afford a hired man.

"Even a man of my age, and I am no longer a boy, has to pitch in and do his own work." Mr. Thorpe declared. "We haven't the money to hire a man."

Loaf On Job

Mr. Thorpe declared that the men employed to cut weeds and brush along the highways loaf on the job. He thought it was a shame that these men should be allowed to draw pay without earning it. He recommended that a tender system be introduced, by which council would let brush and weed cutting on a mile basis, at a fixed rate.

The speaker was glad to note that council had already petitioned the Department of Education to reduce the two year Normal School, required before teachers may secure a first class certificate. He felt that a teacher who is not a success after four years of teaching would do better to turn to something else, and felt that the second year at Normal School is unnecessary if the teacher has ordinary common sense. He felt that teachers would not mind a cut in salary if the second year course were abolished, as the $1,500 to $2,000 they would save in this way would make up for the reduction in their pay. In Matilda Township, teachers' salaries have been cut from $100 to $300, and the teachers had taken it good naturedly.

"The reason we are here today is that we are suffering from heavy taxation," Mr. Thorpe concluded. "By adopting what we ask of you today, we feel that you can ease the burden a little. Matilda Township last year cut its road-making program, and did reduce taxes a little. But there are so many taxes these days, that we do not know where it will stop. I keep four hives of bees on my farm, and I even have to pay a tax for the privilege of getting stung."

Burden of Taxes

Bright Spots In Speeches At Counties Council Thursday

Taxes, taxes, taxes. It seems that there is a tax on everything. I have four little hives of bees on my farm and I have to pay a tax for the privilege of getting stung."

* * *

Political speaker, after outlining the various types of taxation—"Now gentlemen, I am going to tell you something that will tax your imagination."

Weary voice from back of the hall—"My gosh, has it come to that?"

Youthful Speaker

Duncan A. McDonald, youthful secretary of the Cornwall Township Farmer, Labor, Businessmen's Association, followed Mr. Thorpe. He congratulated Mr. Nugent upon his election as warden and spoke highly Cornwall Township in Counties Council.

"We are not here in the role of dictator but on the basis of the old saying that two heads, or many heads, are better than one," Mr. McDonald said. "The Cornwall Township association did not initiate this movement, but we have fallen in line. We are appealing to your reason, judgment and sense of justice.

"The effects of the depression on ths rural districts cannot be estimated," Mr. McDonald went on. "Half of the farms in this province are losing propositions today. Since 1921, we have been living in hopes that times would improve, but they have not done so. We had fair years until 1925, when the country assumed a measure of prosperity, in which the farmer alone did not share. Since then, the farmers have barely got by. They have barely made expenses, and, in some cases, are in debt. Now things are at their worst.

"We always used to look upon the farm at the Kemptville Agricultural Farm as a pattern to follow. If a farmer wanted to make money out of his farm, he was supposed to follow the methods employed on the model farm. Today, that farm is closed because it was too great a drain upon the provincial treasury. If the model farm will not pay, how can a privately owned farm be expected to do so? If a provincial treasury cannot stand the strain, is it possible for a private treasury to do so? The farmer is taxed to the limit of endurance. I would say without hesitation that the gross income from the average farm unit, large and small, in Eastern Ontario, will not exceed $500 this year unless something unforeseen happens. Today, No. 1 dairy butter is quoted in Montreal at 13 cents, while creamery butter is under 20 cents. And everything else is accordingy."

On Old Age Pensions

A. J. McRae, Lancaster Township, expressed pleasure at the cordial manner in which the delegation had been received by council. He outlined the various recommendations and said that he was heartily in accord with the principle that no new county roads should be built until those already constructed have been paid for.

"So far as salary reductions are concerned, we do not presume to tell you how much they should be cut," Mr. McRae said." However, our own earning power has been sharply reduced, and we felt that it is only fair to ask some reduction in the salaries of counties' employes. In connection with the per diem allowance of councillors, it seems that they were willing to come here in good times for $5 per day, but when times got bad they raised it to $8.

"The ratepayers feel that the Old Age Pension Act is becoming a real burden because numerous abuses have crept in," the speaker declared. "Whether it is the fault of the law or of the board, we do not know. We do know that there are people receiving pension who should not get it. If the law is so open that anyone can get pension, what will happen? There must be something wrong. We have asked that the names of recipients of Old Age Pensions be published, because we feel if they were given publicity, there would be little need of further action. By keeping these names hidden, the Act is being left open to abuse. We also feel that there should be stricter investigation, especially by an outside inspector, of all applications for pension.

"It seems that an irresponsible element is getting control of our governments, Dominion, provincial and municipal," Mr. McRae concluded. "They cannot be paying the taxes which the other fellow must bear."

Can't Pay School Grant

W. J. Blanchard, Charlottenburg Township, reiterated that the deputation did not assume to dictate, but merely waited upon council to show the members that the ratepayers are behind them.

"We know the conditions which are facing the farmers, and we know that they are hard up," Mr. Blanchard stated. "In Charlottenburg Township, we received a letter in our school section from the township council, stating that the usual school grant could not be paid, because there was insufficient money in the treasury. Now, I was a tax collector in Charlottenburg for a number of years, and I never had any difficulty in collecting the necessary money. Of course, those were in the war years when the farmers were fairly prosperous. Today, many of the farmers who used to pay when called upon, are three or four years behind in their taxes, not because they are holding back but simply because they have not the money. We are hoping in some way to get better times and better prices for our produce."

Mr. Blanchard proceeded to review the recommendations of the delegation. He dealt with Old Age Pensions.

"There is a general feeling that all is not well in regard to Old Age Pensions," Mr. Blanchard pointed out. "I have not heard a single person approve the pension act, the way it is being carried out. I wish that I was as well off as some of the people who are drawing pension, even without the pension. It certainly is not fair that we should have to put up the money for pensions which go to people who do not deserve them."

Teachers' Salaries

Mr. Blanchard said that reductions in salaries of school teachers is only just. Many a girl of 18 or 20 draws a salary of $1,000 a year while few farmers, despite their heavy investment and hard work every day, the year around, are getting anything like $1,000. At the same time, he thought that there was a limit to salary reductions. If the pay were reduced too far, there would be no inducement to young people to become teachers, and the day might come when teachers might demand $1,000 to $1,500 for their services. If the ratepayers could not pay them, the schools would be closed.

He thought that clearing of roads in winter is a real injury to farmers. They are unable to use wheeled vehicles from their farms to the highways, and cannot use sleighs on the pavement. The farmers pay 20 percent. toward the construction of highways and then cannot use them. He did not feel that the rural ratepayers should be called upon to pay one cent toward building or maintaining provincial highways, because not one-tenth of those who pay ever use them.

"Our own income has been reduced 50 per cent. so why shouldn't the same principle apply among counties' employes?" asked William E. Graham, Mountain Township, fifth and last spokesman for the deputation.

Mr. Graham spoke briefly, reviewing the recommendations and giving his views upon them. Touching upon Old Age Pensions, he said that it had often puzzled him how quicksome people got from 65 to 70 years in order to get in on the pension.

John F. McRae made a few remarks, expressing sympathy with the rural ratepayers.

Dr. Munro Replies

Dr. J. Howard Munro, Maxville, replied to the delegation, covering the entire situation from the angle of the Counties Council. He congratulated members of the deputation upon the manner in which they had presented their recommendations and assured them that council appreciated the spirit of co-operation, sympathy and assistance which had been offered in dealing with counties' affairs.

"It might appear at first glance that some rural representative should be first to speak," Dr. Munro said. "However, we urban representatives are just as much in sympathy with the problems of the rural residents as those who earn their living from the soil. We are interdependent and our interests are closely bound. We should consider each other's viewpoint. I have been much struck by the moderation and expressions of confidence shown by the speakers and I hope that this day will mark a point in the history of this Counties Council, when we may feel that we have the support and backing of the ratepayers at home.

"The report of the treasurer is to be read a little later in this meeting. This report, covering the past year, was presented to the Finance Committee today. We hope that you will recognize therein our efforts toward solving counties' problems. In Counties Council, it is often necessary to turn aside local problems in the interests of the whole, and I feel certain that the ratepayers appreciate that if their particular municipality appears sometimes to be neglected, it is through no desire on our part.

"We began by the appointment of a committee yesterday, to deal with the major recommendations of this report. Five men are on this committee and will consider the whole matter of salary reductions and a cut in our per diem allowance, and I am sure that they will deal fairly with all concerned. Until this committee renders its report, probably tomorrow, we can take no further action.

"The Old Age Pension Act, to which speakers have referred, has caused just as much worry and trouble to the Counties Council as it has to the public at large," Dr. Munro continued. "It is a measure for which we did not ask but which was given to us by the Provincial Government. And we were told to operate it. A Board was appointed and, so far as its local powers are concerned the board has done its utmost to administer the Pensions Act. Any criticism you may have of the pension system goes higher than this Counties Council. My personal feelings are that a solution lies in a systematic inspection by an outside inspector, who will deal with the applications before they go before the Board.

"Weed and brush cutting has not been done by tender, but has been part of the duty of the patrolman hired by the month, under the Weed Control Act. If there has been any slackness upon the part of the men employed, I am sure that any complaint from any quarter that is made to the Advisory Roads Committee or to the road superintendent would be summarily dealt with.

Misapprehension

"A misapprehension has gone out regarding snow removal on the counties' road system," the speaker went on. "No motion was passed by this council, authorizing snow removal in any portion of the counties, at the expense of this corporation.

"Resolutions have already been passed by this council and forwarded to the government in connection with the Normal School term and the division of cost of provincial highways.

County Rates

Dr. Munro dealt with counties' financing in detail.

"Your county rates may look large at times, but have you ever inquired carefully into the proportion of expenditure which is controllable by this council," he asked. "There is really very little money at our disposal, which may be cut down. For instance, our last report shows that about $8,800 is directly controllable. The larger items, such as $334,000 for Old Age Pensions and $33,600 for indigent patients in the hospitals, are beyond our control. Where is there much chance for retrenchment within the limit of about $8,000? The larger items are beyond our control, and all we can do is to lay them before the ratepayers. You have our sympathy, and we sympathize with ourselves, in facing a difficult problem in difficult times. The best we can do is to approach the higher powers seeking relief and, if we get it, we pass it on to the ratepayers.

"You may be surprised to know that very substantial reductions have been made in the county rate in recent years. In 1928, the county rate was $519,000; 1929, $512,000; 1930, $503,000, and 1931, $445,000. If we can continue to reduce the rate by any means within our power, we intend to do so. I am certain that in this emergency, the members of council and the officials will be glad to meet your requirements. An honest effort is being made to reduce taxation."

No Fault of Board

Reeve J. H. Ross, of Winchester, a member of the Old Age Pension for 1931, spoke briefly in connection with the recommendation regarding Old Age Pensions.

"As a member of the Pension Board last year, I came in contact with a great deal of misunderstanding regarding the powers and operation of that board," he said. When the applications are made, they must be accompanied by a sworn statement as to the financial standing of the applicant, and, if possible, a birth certificate. When this application is received, the clerk notifies the reeve of the municipality in which the applicant resides and asks him to investigate the case and report whether it is a deserving case. If no report comes before the next meeting of the board, the application is laid over until the next meeting and the reeve is again notified. If the reeve replies and says that it is a worthy cause, we cannot reject the application. All who apply do not receive the full $20 per month pension; some get $10 and others $15.

"One of the speakers said that he had tried to get a list of recipients of Old Age pension in his municipality," Mr. Ross went on. " I find it difficult to understand why he did not receive it. I have always found our clerk most willing and self sacrificing in supplying information. I am sure that he would give the list to anyone who applied to him at his office.

"The Old Age Pension Board is to a large extent, bound down by the Act. Certain applications have been refused by the board, and the applicant appealed to the authorities in Toronto, with the result that the application was sent back to us for reconsideration. We are forced to act according to the government regulations. I would say that every one of the five men on the board was as conscientious and painstaking in investigating and dealing with these cases, as though the money was coming from his own pocket. Some cases are considered for a long time before a pension is granted.

"It is alright for a man to get up here and say that someone is receiving a pension who is not worthy", Mr. Ross went on. "No application is passed by the board until it has been endorsed by the reeve of the municipality in which the applicant lives, and it is on their recommendation that the board acts. I hope that I have made our position clear because there has been a great deal of misunderstanding. People think that the pension board is issuing pensions with a free hand, while we are actually very careful to have every application endorsed by some responsible person in the municipality before we grant pension.

"I personally think that the Old Age Pension Act is an outrage upon the community, Mr. Ross concluded, speaking with considerable emphasis. "I am fully in sympathy with old age, but I believe that there are men and women 60 years of age, 50 and even 40, who are more deserving of aid than many of those who are receiving it under the Old Age Pension Act. If you want that act changed, you should get in touch with your local members."

No Room For Cut

John D. McDonald, reeve of Lancaster Township, said that officials of the United Counties are paid much smaller salaries than those of other counties of comparative size and assessment.

"The salaries already are so small comparatively that there is not much leeway for a cut," Mr. McDonald declared. "I have been in council for nine years. Someone said here today that when times were good, we took $5 per day, and when times were bad, we raised it to $8. We found out that we couldn't afford to come here for $5 per day when times were bad. However, there is little doubt that the per diem allowance will be cut.

"This is the first year in which the Old Age Pension applications have been referred to me, and I don't know whom to thank for it. Anyway, I take full responsibility for any applications which I endorsed. There were some cases in which I knew the person was not in need or worthy of pension, but I endorsed the application as a matter of economy and recommended $10 per month. I knew that if I turned it down, and the applicant appealed to Toronto, they would probably receive $20.

"It cost $255 to cut the weeds on the Military Road in our county on the counties system. It cost $1,385 under the provincial system. If there were abuses under the county system, there have been some ungodly abuses under the provincial system."

E. A. Van Allen, reeve of Williamsburg Township, and W. H. Casselman, reeve of Chesterville, moved the reading of the treasurer's statement for 1931. Both members spoke briefly to the motion.

OPERATING COST HOME FOR AGED LOWER IN 1931

Reduction of Almost $2,000 In Cost of Maintenance In Past Year Report Shows

COUNTIES COUNCIL

Inmates Suffered No Curtailment of Comforts, Chairman Declares

Despite the fact that cost of maintenance of the United Counties' House of Refuge and Industry, at Cornwall, was reduced by more than $2,000 in the past year, inmates of the institution suffered no curtailment of the comforts provided, Reeve J. Howard Munro (Maxville) declared in presenting the report of the Board of Management to Counties Council Thursday afternoon. The total cost of maintenance in 1931 was $7,887, as compared to $9,991 in 1930 and $16,150 for 1929. However, there were 94 inmates in the Home in 1929, as compared to 30 in 1931.

The report of the Board of Management detailed assets at the House of Refuge, the amount of produce raised on the farm in connection, net receipts and expenditures for the past year. It was shown that there are at present 80 inmates, of whom 51 are male. The cost of feeding the inmates was 15.34 cents, a reduction of 1.70 cents from 1930. The cost of maintenance was 25.54 cents, a reduction of 5.52 cents from the previous year. The total number of days for inmates in 1931 was 30,871.

Since the Home was opened 20 years ago, the number of inmates from each municipality was as follows: Cornwall, 61; Cornwall Twp., 29; Winchester Twp., 11; Charlottenburg, 22; Roxborough, 21; Kenyon, 20; Osnabruck, 36; Finch Twp., 20; Lochiel, 23; Lancaster Tp., 14; Williamsburg, 18; Matilda, 23; Mountain, 10; Winchester Village, 1; Finch Village, 4; Lancaster Village, 3; Chesterville, 6; Alexandria, 16; Iroquois, 6; Maxville, 4; Morrisburg, 9; transferred from Brockville, 14; transferred from Hamilton, 1; residence not given, 8; born in institution, 1. Total 381.

Major items in the report were as follows: Value of farm stock and equipment, $3,043; value of furniture, $2,751; laundry machinery and heating plant, $2,516; kitchen equipment, $628; bedding, $1,382; supplies on hand, $1,424; produced on farm in 1931, goods to value of $1,049. Total, $14,844.

Expenditures amounted to $17,909, larger items being: debentures due March 31, 1931, $4,012; salaries and wages, $4,481; groceries, $3,014; light and fuel, $1,146; repairs, $1,086. Receipts included $5,172 from the Inmates Fund, $82 from produce sold and $69 from miscellaneous sources.

In placing the report before Council for approval, Dr. Munro said that although it had been possible for the Board to curtail expenditures in connection with the Home last year, this had not entailed any curtailment of the comforts afforded the inmates, who had not suffered in any respect. However, food and other products used at the Home had dropped sharply in price during 1931, and this had been largely responsible for the lowered expenditure.

Sub-Committee Report Referred Back To Finance

Counties Council Holds Brief Session On Friday

Following routine business at yesterday afternoon's session of the United Counties Council here, a sub-committee appointed Wednesday to go into the matter of reduction of expenditure, submitted its report. The various recommendations were read by Reeve J.R. McLachlan (Lancaster Village) and the report was placed before the warden. An amendment to the motion for adoption sent the report back to the Finance Committee, and it was considered at length at a meeting of that committee last night. It is probable that it will again come before council this afternoon.

Highlights of the report as read were that road appropriations be reduced, that salaries of counties' officials be left at their present figures and that members of council reduce their per diem allowance by 15 per cent.

The report of the Printing Committee, presented by Frank Casselman, Deputy Reeve of Williamsburg Township, chairman, was approved. The tender of the Morrisburg Leader for the printing of 1,400 copies of council minutes at $1.40 per page, and of The Cornwall Standard for publication of sheriff's notices re the holding of court at $3 per session were accepted.

A resolution of condolence, moved by J. R. McLachlan and seconded by J. H. Munro, was passed by a standing vote and a copy will be forwarded to the family of the late Alex Dixson, of Lancaster, a former member of the Counties Council.

ROUND-THE-WORLD

Four Hundred Years Ago Magellan Was Almost Three Years on His Trip Around the World.

Nowadays when aviators are flying round the globe in a few days it is interesting to note how distances seem to have shrunk since the days when round-the-world trips first caught the imagination of the people living on old Mother Earth.

Round-the-world travel seems to have begun about 400 years ago, when Fernando Magellan set sail from Seville in a tiny caravel, on his famous trip whose consummation he was destined never to see, for he was murdered by natives on a beach of the Philippines. Despite the recent voyage of Columbus many of the people of that day still thought that the earth was flat and that Christopher was in luck when he hit America before sailing over the edge. Many thought Magellan crazy to attempt it, but his ship crossed the Atlantic, rounded Cape Horn by the straits which still bear the great circumnavigators' name, angled northward across the Pacific, coasted China and was back in Spain after a voyage lasting 1,083 days. Almost three years was surely a slow voyage, but the distance was great, the navigators were feeling their way, the ship with her clumsy hull and sails made poor speed against the wind and the voyageurs lost much time one way and another.

For more than three centuries sailing ships had a monopoly on round-the-world voyages. Then the steamship slowly came into its own. In 1872 Jules Verne wrote his highly fictitious "Around the World in 80 Days," in which the equally fictitious Phineas Fogg, on a wager, broke all previous records.

Phineas Fogg's imaginary record so inspired a young woman of the newspaper profession that she beat Mr. Fogg's record. She circumnavigated the world from New York to New York in exactly 72 days, 6 hours and 11 minutes. And her name, commemorated on a Toronto Harbor Commission tug, was Nellie Bly.

Subsequent globe trotters, more interested in speed than sight seeing, clipped this record down by degrees until 1913, when John H. Mears, an American, girdled the globe in 35 days, 21 hours, 36 minutes, thus cutting Nellie Bly's time in less than half. But this great saving in time was not due so much to greater travelling efficiency on the part of Mears as to the faster steamers and faster trains, and to the presence of trains where none had existed in Nellie's time.

Then came the post-war era and the opening of the age of air travel ushered in by the America-Azores-Spain crossing of the Atlantic by American army airmen in 1919, the one hop journey of the Englishmen Brown and Alcock immediately following, and the notable first voyage of a dirigible across the Atlantic when the British naval airship flew from Edinburgh to New York in two days and a half. In 1924 American army flyers circumnavigated the globe in the actual flying time of 14 days, 15 hours, though it took them 175 days or nearly half a year to make the trip.

UNUSUAL ANIMAL KILLED.

Sea Otter Taken Off Vancouver Island Was Thought to Be Extinct.

The only specimen of a sea otter killed on the Pacific Ocean in modern times was brought to the Legislative Building at Victoria, B.C., by Bryan Williams, provincial game commissioner, and will be stuffed for preservation by the Government curator.

The animal was killed by an Indian on the west coast of Vancouver Island and confiscated because sea otters are strictly protected by game laws. Six feet, eight inches long, with hair of a dun color and remarkably silky texture, the pelt is unlike that of any other fur-bearing animal. It is valued at $2,000.

VALUABLE NEWSPAPERS.

Constantly Studied by Politicians and Quoted In Speeches.

The value of newspapers in providing fairly accurate and prompt indications of public opinion was related to the members of the Lambton County Council by J. T. Sproule, M.P. for East Lambton. Newspapers from all parts of the country, said Mr. Sproule, are placed on file in the reading rooms of the House of Commons, and are constantly used by the members of the House in the preparation of their speeches. It has been estimated that forty per cent. of the speeches delivered on the floor of the chamber are made up from excerpts from the newspapers of the nation.

INVENTORS' SECRET SOCIETIES.

Members Sworn to Secrecy and Remain Members for Life.

Several secret societies for the mutual help of inventors are in existence in various parts of England. Working-class inventors who join one of the societies are given a guarantee that they will reap full benefit of their devices.

Everybody who becomes a member must take the oath of secrecy and remain a member for life. A council decides whether an idea for a patent is worthy of being worked out, and if the decision is favorable, technical and other assistance is provided.

THE SPRUCE TREE.

Spruce is exceeded in Canada only by Douglas fir in amount of lumber produced, and provides, in addition to its uses in the manufacture of pulp and paper, rayon, airplanes, musical instruments, food containers and medicinal preparations, a good structural wood at low cost.

Baldness.

Baldness is said to be more common in towns than in the country and among people who work with their heads than manual workers.

Hints to Motorists

Front wheels of all cars toe-in, or are gathered at the front, to compensate for the fact that the wheels taper from top to bottom.

MUCH POWER IN STOP LIGHT.

Stoplight bulbs are more powerful than many car-owners realize. They average around fifteen candlepower in brilliance. Unless the motorist is aware of this, he might, in just dropping around to pick up a bulb, get one of inadequate power. It takes quite a bit of brilliance in the signal to make certain the oncoming driver will catch the "stop."

AIDS TO VISIBILITY.

Two handy aids to visibility are: Keeping the windshield wiper blade back at the top of the arc, and wiping the dust from the glass before driving into the sun. Both are so easy that it is surprising more motorists do not see that they are done.

USE OF BRUSH HELPS.

A brush with bristles that are not overly stiff is really the ideal thing with which to clean the closed car top. It gets down into the material in a fashion that is impossible for a cloth or sponge. A little lukewarm water—and nothing else—is the thing to use on the brush.

CAUSES OF CARBURETOR POPPING

There are quite many causes of popping back into the carburetor, a condition that may cause the engine to catch fire, especially if the outside of it is dirty and covered with oil. The four most common ones are dirt in the carburetor, sticking intake valves, water in the gasoline, and an air leak at the intake manifold connections.

PUT WINDSHIELD DOWN.

Many a car owner is only partially locking his door these days by leaving the windshield open, making it a simple matter to reach through and unlatch a door from the inside.

Milk May be Sweetened With Corn Sugar Extract

Ubana, Ill.—A new use for more than 8,000,000 bushels of the nation's corn crop annually has been provided by a chemical discovery at the University of Illinois.

The process involves a new method of sweetening condensed milk with domestic corn sugar. It has been developed after a year's research by Dr. P. H. Tracy, associate chief in dairy manufactures, and R. J. Ramsey, his assistant.

They say their discovery is the first to overcome previous objections to use of corn sugar for sweetening condensed milk to preserve it. Heretofore the corn product has been considered unsatisfactory because it caused a browning of the milk and thickened it after a period in storage. A bushel of corn makes about 26 pounds of corn sugar.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

If I Were to Own

If I were to own this countryside
As far as a man in a day could ride
And the Tyes were mine for giving or letting—
Wingle Tye and Margaretting
Tye—and Sreens, Gooshays, and Cocerells,
Shellow, Rochetts, Bandish, and Pickerells,
Martins, Lambkins, and Lillyputs,
Their copses, ponds, roads, and ruts,
Fields where plough-horses steam and plovers
Fling and whimper, hedges that lovers
Love, and orchards, shrubberies, walls
Where the sun untroubled by north wind falls,
And single trees where the thrush sings well
His proverbs untranslatable,
I would give them all to my son
If he would let me any one
For a song, a blackbird's song, at dawn. . . . .

Then unless I could pay, for rent, a song
As sweet as a blackbird's, and as long—
No more—he should have the house, not I:
Margaretting or Wingle Tye,
Or it might be Skreens, Gooshays, or Cockerells,
Shellow, Rochetts, Bandish, or Pickerells,
Martins, Lambkins, or Lillyputs,
Should be his till the cart tracks had no ruts.

First Traffic Laws Instituted by Romans

Even the ancient Romans had to worry about parking near "the big game," and about driving the wrong way on one-way streets, according to Benjamin G. Eynon, Pennsylvania motor Vehicle Commissioner.

He has discovered that the first traffic law on record, passed in 396 B.C., gave women unrestricted right to drive their chariots through the streets of Rome.

"Motor vehicle operators who complain of one-way street regulations would have found the same condition confronting them in the Rome of the period referred to," he said, "for Rome had the first one-way streets in traffic history." He surmised that narrowness of Roman streets made one-way traffic necessary.

"Conditions in the Circus Maximus and the market places were so congested that Julius Caesar issued an order to his traffic policemen that every person entering the market place for 10 hours after sunrise must enter on foot," he said.

Particles from Outer Space Charted by Astronomers

Ithaca, N.Y.—A form of meteoric hail flying 100 miles a second has been observed recently by Cornell University astronomers in Arizona.

The "hailstones" are meteors, presumably tiny, and have been through telescopes set up at Lowell Observatory at Flagstaff as part of a joint study by Harvard University and Cornell to learn more about what is going on in space.

The speed of these particles indicates they are visitors from interstellar (outside the gravitational field) space, according to a report by Dr. S. L. Boothroyd, professor of astronomy at Cornell, in charge of the meteoric work. Mr. George Mussen, a Cornell Heckscher Foundation worker, is assisting Dr. Boothroyd.

The hail means that at least a little of the earth's surface is made of substances coming from vast distances in "outer" space, as meteors are known to turn to dust in the atmosphere and settle slowly to the ground.

"Pride and Prejudice"

Until two years ago I had never read Jane Austen. Mark Twain's pronouncement—"A very good library could be started by leaving out Jane Austen"—had been stencilled in my memory and I had, in consequence, avoided the works of Jane Austen with a particular distaste. Then there fell into my hands a copy of "Pride and Prejudice." . . .

I felt like shouting with the exultation of a discoverer, after ten pages. Here was, if not so vigorous a satirist, a much subtler one than Mark Twain himself, whom Mark had maligned in an epigram; here was a genius of characterization who could with one little word tell more about a person than most novelists, even great novelists like Balzac, could tell in twenty pages; here was, in fine, one of the most delightful artists in English prose fiction, from an enjoyment of whom I had been kept by a witty misrepresentation.—From "A Bookman's Daybook," by Burton Rascoe.

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 8

A discussion of the following question of a correspondent should interest all Auction and Contract players:

"First hand has bid no trump, second has passed, third has over-called his partner with two hearts and fourth has bid two spades. Under what conditions should the original hand (a) bid two no trumps, (b) raise his partner to three hearts."

This particular question opens up a very wide field of discussion and one that can be handled only in a very general way. For the purpose of this discussion it will be assumed that neither side has a score. Also assume that the dealer has bid one no trump with each of the following hands:

A
Hearts—Q, 8
Clubs—A, 10, 4, 2
Diamonds—K, 10, 9, 8
Spades—K, J, 7

B
Hearts—Q, 10, 7, 2
Clubs—A, 10, 4, 2
Diamonds—K, Q. 9
Spades—10, 4

C
Hearts—7, 2
Clubs—A, 10, 4, 2
Diamonds—K, Q, 9, 8
Spades—Q, 7, 2

D
Hearts—7, 4
Clubs—A, K, Q, 7, 6, 2
Diamonds—K, 10, 7
Spades—K, 7

Then assume that his partner has bid two hearts and fourth hand has bid two spades. With Hand A, the dealer should bid no trump. He has a double stopper in the spade suit and only two hearts. For this reason the no trump bid offers the better chance for game. If his partner has a strong heart suit, it is up to him to bid three hearts. The bid of two no trump indicates a strong hand but no particular help for the heart bid. Always hesitate to help your partner's suit bid with only two trumps or less. The only exception to this is when you hold ace or king and one other.

In Hand B, the dealer should undoubtedly bid three hearts. He has no stopper in the spade suit and yet very strong help for his partner's heart bid. This hand is a fine example of the type of hand on which to assist partner's suit bid.

In Hand C, the dealer should pass. He has only one stopper in spades and less than normal help for his partner's heart suit. For that reason, he should neither bid two no trump nor three hearts. It is a fine example of a hand that is just under the requirements for a two no trump bid.

In Hand D, the dealer should bid two no trump. He has only one stopper in the spades but his set-up club suit makes the hand a good chance for game in no trump. The fact that it contains only two small hearts makes a three-heart bid inadvisable. It is a fine example of a hand that is just over the requirements for a two no trump bid.

It is manifestly impossible to include in this discussion all of the various types of hands that might come under the conditions specified in the question, but the foregoing examples are typical and will act as a guide in the great majority of instances. As a general rule, bid two no trump if you have a double stopper in the suit bid or three hearts if you have three or more hearts to an honor and a sound no trump.

Barn Become Club-House

Birmingham, Eng.—A club-house and institute built by members of the Birmingham Allotments Association has been inaugurated by the Lord Mayor of the city. The "Cultivation of Lands Order" having come to an end, allotment holders who had been cultivating land held under the city parks department were given notice to quit. Instead they banded themselves together, took up £1 shares, obtained a loan from a bank and bought the estate of 80½ acres for £7000.

At the end of eight years, the bank having been repaid, an adjoining farm, with farmhouse and outbuildings was brought for £1000. By voluntary labor a barn was converted into a meeting and concert room, a cowshed into a billiard room, and a cartshed into a refreshment room. The association is now composed of 600 people who cultivate nearly 800 allotments.

Astronomers Will View Sun's Eclipse

Toronto—The Royal Astronomical Society of Canada have formed a committee to organize an expedition to Northern Quebec to observe a total eclipse of the sun on August 31.

Professor H. R. Kingston, London, Ont., suggested the possibility of broadcasting the eclipse by television from an airplane. He said the path of totality would be 100 miles wide.

Help for the Fruit-Farmer

Calgary Herald: A new spirit of optimism pervades the ranks of the British Columbia fruit growers as a result of the application of anti-dumping duties during the past year. The legislation passed at Ottawa has given this important industry a much-needed sense of security, formerly lacking. It has assured for Canadian fruit growers a definite share of the domestic market.

The Interdependence of Nations

Detroit News: Every great modern industrial country is dependent on world economy. Even we in the United States are finding out that our wealth is not simply the country's resources, means of production and population, but is conditioned by the international exchange of goods, services and capital. National self-containment is a pure political phantasy, as our own rapidly dwindling foreign trade with its terrible concomitants of bankruptcy and unemployment so tragically attests.

HER HUSBAND TEASED HER

But not for long!

"I started taking Kruschen Salts for biliousness, and for the last two years I have been perfectly free from an attack. Now I continue to take them, as I find they keep me in perfect health. My husband used to joke about me taking Kruschen Salts; now he takes them himself, so do my children. My sincere thanks."
—Mrs. G. P.

When your gastric or digestive juices refuse to flow, your food, instead of becoming absorbed into your system, simply collects and ferments inside you, producing harmful acids and gases which give rise to biliousness, heartburn and flatulence.

Kruschen is a combination of six mineral salts, which goes right to the root of the trouble. It first stimulates the flow of gastric and other juices to aid digestion, and then ensures complete, regular and unfailing elimination of waste matter every day. And that means a blessed end to biliousness, and a renewed and whole-hearted enjoyment of your food without the slightest fear of having to pay the old painful penalty.

British Films in Trinidad

Trinidad Guardian: Hollywood has too long held undisputed reign in Trinidad. It is time to give a part of our kingdom to Elstree. A few years ago this might not have been practicable. Today there is no obstacles to keep us from having British pictures. Great strides have been made in picture production in the United Kingdom, and the old argument of the inferiority of British films can no longer be applied.

When Business Is Slow,
Advertise More to Get Some.

If you can smile before breakfast it is very likely that you can smile the rest of the day. Love at first sight has a great precedent: Adam's for Eve. Many a man has lost his fight by stopping to pat himself on the back. Any wife knows that the ideal husband is one who can pay her compliments and her bills. A lot of the talkies are dumb. As soon as a husband is broken of one bad habit he acquires another. With airplanes and radios riding the air all the time it is no wonder the air bucks up occasionally. Putting your purse under your pillow does not necessarily mean that you have enough to retire on. Before leaving your present position for a new one, be sure the new one has more advantages than a mere advance in salary. Here's something for the girls to consider: When airplanes become common and take the place of autos, there will be no opportunity to get out and walk back home. He who laughs last laughs best, but he soon gets a reputation for being mighty dumb.

The Potato Harvest

A high bare field, brown from the plough, and borne
Aslant from sunset; amber wastes of sky
Washing the ridge; a clamour of crows that fly
In from the wide flats where the spent tides mourn
To yon their rocking roosts in pines wind-torn;
A line of gray snake-fence that zigzags by
A pond and cattle, from the homestead night
The long deep summonings of the supper horn.

Black on the ridge, against that lonely flush,
A cart, and stoop-necked oxen; ranged beside
Some barrels; and the day-worn harvest folk,
Here emptying their baskets, jar the hush
With hollow thunders. Down the dusk hillside
Lumbers the wain; and day fades out like smoke.

Bad Attacks of Flu

E. M. Ward Finds Wonderful Pick-Me-Up in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Brings Wonderful Vitality.

"I have had attacks of the 'flu' frequently since 1919, and sometimes very bad attacks, but always when on the road to recovery I take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I find them a wonderful pick-me-up."

So writes E. M. Ward, Saskatoon, Sask., who further states: "I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all sufferers from that rundown, listless feeling. I have taken the Pills on many occasions, and they seem to tone up my blood wonderfully. I have been anaemic for years, and find that, when I get rundown, after taking several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the color comes back to my cheeks and I have wonderful vitality."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills rebuild health by creating new blood and increasing the red blood cells which restore the wasted tissues and revitalize the exhausted system. They remove the cause of rundown or nervous conditions. Try them. At your druggist's. 50c a package. 271

Last Instructions

When I am dead, and ashes in your hand,
In a mild Virginia meadow take your stand,
And pause a moment, thinking of the past,
Those rare road-walking days that couldn't last.

Think, "This was her body that swung along with me,
The same road the same violets, the very locust tree."
Think, "God she loved, and the witnesses of God
And in especial the Virginia sod.

Here we walked together, the wind whirled
As on the first bright morning of the world.
Hungry, tired, and tremblingly in love,
And something sang, I think a brown wood-dove."

These thoughts will pass like summer. Pause no more.
I shall be there as happy as before.
I shall be there to watch you turn aside,
Remembering. Then fling the ashes wide.
—Virginia Dare in The Montreal Star.

French Scene

It is the most delightful of French inns, in the quaintest of French settlements. As you rush by in one of the innumerable trains that pass it daily, you may catch glimpses of tall trees trailing their branches in the still stream—hardly a dozen yards wide—of flocks of white ducks paddling together, and of queer punts drawn up on th shelving shore or tied to soggy, patched-up landingstairs.

If the sun shines, you can see, now and then, between the trees, a figure kneeling at the water's edge, bending ovr a pile of clothes, washing—her head bound with a red handkerchief.

If you are quick, the miniature river will open just before you round the curve, disclosing in the distance groups of willows, and a rickety footbridge perched up on poles to keep it dry. All this you see in a flash.

But you must stop at the old-fashioned station, within ten minutes of the Harlem river, cross the road, skirt an old gardn bound with a fence and bursting with flowers, and so pass on through a bare field to the water's edge, before you catch sight of the cosy little houses lining the banks. . .

I have a love for the out-of-the-way places of the earth when they bristle all over with the quaint and the old and the odd, and are mouldy with the picturesque. But here is an in-the-way place, all sunshine and shimmer, with never a fringe of mould upon it, and yet you lose your heart at a glance. It is as charming in its boat life as an old Holland canal; it is as delightful in its shore life as the Seine; and it is as picturesque and entrancing in its sylvan beauty as the most exquisite of English streams.—From "A Day at Laguerre's and Other Days," by F. Hopkinson Smith.

Bess—"Jack Timid has asked me if he might call to-night. I think he wants to tell me that he loves me."

Tess—"Oh, that goes without saying."

Bess—"Yes, and I'm afraid he will, too."

Yale University Party To Study Gulf Stream

Miami, Fla.—Planning to trace the path of a drop of water through the Gulf of Mexico, a Yale University expedition sailed recently from this port.

The expedition, headed by Dr. A. E. Parr, seeks to find what happens to cold water after it enters the gulf until it flows out again in the Gulf Stream.

Also, the party will seek the source of water with a temperature only eight degrees above freezing found at places in the gulf. This cold water is a mystery because the gulf is warmed the year around by a tropical sun and only the warm surface water of the Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean Sea is known to flow into it.

Dr. Parr's companions on the five months' cruse will be Mr. M. B. Bishop, Mr. Gifford C. Ewing and Mr. Drayton Cochran, owner of the schooner yacht Mabel Taylor, aboard which the party will sail the gulf. Havana will be the base of operations. Once each year for five years the party will return to check its findings.

Reduce the Acid

SICK stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated.

Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour. Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. For 50 years the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go, prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians in correcting excess acids.

Winchester Defeated Twice By Finch Team

The Local Senior Hockey Team suffered their first defeat on home ice when the Finch Black Hawks handed them a 5-0 defeat at the local arena last Friday night. The visitors showed their best form while the local boys seemed to have a decidely off-night. Inthe first period the Finch team counted three times when Gove, Robillard and Preston all scored from close in. They added one in the second off the stick of Preston and another in the third via of Preston. Both teams missed chances to score on several occasions, and had it not been for the goalies, especially "Chub" Workman in the local nets, a much higher score would have been tabulated.

Last night brought to a close, the regular C. O. V. League Schedule. Chesterville lost to Cornwall 2-1, but are at the top of the heap with 15 points. Finch won last night's contest at the local arena by a score of 3-2 This leaves them in second place with 14 points, and the playoff will be played between Finch and Chesterville. Winchester's two goals last night were scored by Art Siguin and Mel. Scott, while Robillard, Gove and Preston scored one each for Finch. The visitors got their first two goals within a minute after the game started. For the balance of the game Winchester outplayed their opponents, but tough luck and spectacucular work on the part of the Finch goalie robbed the local team of goals on several occasions.

Finch—goal, McMillan; defence, Stark and Ouderkirk; centre, Preston; wings, Robillard and Gove; subs, McIntosh, Dutt, McQueen and Casselman.

Winchester—goal, Workman; defence, Scott and Seguin; centre, McLean; wings, Carkner and Laushway; subs., Render, Pratt, Thompson and Williams.

Referee, "Happy" Hooper, Ottawa.

BESSINS AND RANGERS WIN HOCKEY CONTESTS

Two well played games in connection with the Town Hockey League were witnessed bv a fair crowd at the Arena on Monday night. A good sheet of ice made fast hockey possible and all teams took advantage.

In the first game Bessins handed the Speedboys their first defeat of the season, the score being 2-1. For the greater part of the game Hy's men had "Sab" Keyes' speeders all bottled up, and had it not been for "Chub" Workman in the losers' nets, the score would have been much higher. The first Buzzer goal was scored by Clifford Summers on a neat shot from right wing, the other was scored by Hugh Slater from close in. Bill Barnard was responsible for the Speedboys only counter.

Speedboys—H. Workman, G. Elliott, H. Kenney, A. Summers, S. Rennick, L. Kenney, W. Barnard, R. Summers, D. Poole.

Buzzers—G. Curry, R. Brown, H. Williams, C. Crowder, H. Slater, A. Collison, A. Hitsman, C. Summers, T. Vail.

In the second contest the Rangers decisively trimmed the High School "Jack Rabbits" three goals to two. The school team was without the services of Jimmy Stuart, one of their best players, but even had he been playing, we doubt if they could have stopped Chas. Cross and his fighting Rangers. Christie Briggs in the school nets was outstanding and stopped 35 shots while the Ranger goalie only had eight. Ran. Wylie, snappy right winger on the winning sextette, played a very effective game and was responsible for the first two goals, while Chas. Cross collected the third. For the losers Punch Gemeroy and E. Helmer scored the goals.

The Rangers showed much inprovement over the other games they have played and will make them all step before the season ends. For the High School team Harold Lee was most prominent, and although he didn't do any scoring, he stopped several rushes at the defence and also made some spectacular rushes. Punch Gemeroy, Ernest Helmer and Gordon Lannin also turned in good performances.

Rangers—K. Ault, J. Jacobs, G. McDonaid, C. Cross, R. Wylie, W. Render, K. Guy, J. McDonald, S. Curry.

High School—C. Briggs, D. Davidson, L. Vail, G. Gemeroy, E. Helmer, O. Summers, G. Lannin, R. Kinkaid. H. Lee, M. Coleman.

Melvin Scott, Referee.

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN, MOUNTAIN, HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church, held on Thursday, Feb. 4, reports reviewing the year showed that the church had enjoyed a most encouraging year. The current and missionary accounts showed the total givings as $742.80, Sundav School and Young People's Society $25 23. $115.00 had been transferred to the building fund. The report of the Building Committee showed subscriptions to the buiding fund for the year $763.00. The total indebtedness on the building at present is $1,100 00. Schemes were unanimously adopted whereby interest and principal could be paid year by year During the year the Sabbath School was re-organized and it is now functioning under a complete staff of officers and teachers. The Y. P. S., organized in October, is carrying on successfully. The W. M. S. contributed the sum of $33.00 to the missions of the church. The thanks of the congregation were conveyed to all officers and organizations of the church for their excellent services throughout the year. The year was said to have been an important one for the congregation in that the church was opened on January 4th and dedicated on April 24th by the Rev. Frank Baird, D. D., then Moderator of the General Assembly. Five new members were added during the year. Mr. A. H. Clark was re-elected Sec.-Treas. of the congregation and the following constitute the board of management, R. Hyndman, Chairman; A H. Clark, Sec'y.; W. H. Clark, A. Kerr, J. & G. Kerford, M. Hoy, R. Madden, S. Wallace, J. Smith, E. Bryak, W. Hoy and H. Crothers; the last four were elected at the meeting. The minister, Rev. W. McLean, occupied the chair.

CARD OF THANKS

Miss Lulu Barber desires to express her very sincere thanks, to neighbors, and friends, for their many acts of considerate kindness, and sincere sympathy, during the illness, and iu the death of her mother

OBITUARY

Again the angel of Death has visited our midst and called Home one of our most respected residents, in the person of Elizabeth M. Richardson, widow of the late John Barker, in her 69th year. Deceased had been failing gradually for the past three months, and spent nearly two months of that time in the Hepburn Hospital at Ogdensburg, and release came Saturday morning Feb. 6th, at seven o'clock, when she passed peacefully to the Great Beyond.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L Richardson, and a member of the Anglican Church, being of a kindly genial disposition. She had many friends in the cummunity, where her love of home and her unfailing devotion to her daughter, will long be remembered. Her husband predeceased her thirteen years ago.

Left to mourn her passing are: one daughter, Lulu Luella, at home; one adopted son, Willie, who resides in Cornwall two sisters, Mrs Henry Millar, of Cardinal, and Mrs. Jas Belway, of Winchester; three brothers, Robert of Cardinal, Colvan, of Drayton, and George, of Vancouver.

Her funeral service was held on Monday at her late residence, Mountain, and was conducted by Rev. Horten, of Ottawa assisted by Rev. Wornell, of the United Church, South Mountain. The Choir of the United Church, Mountain, sang the hymns, Rock of Ages, Lead Kindly Light and When our Heads are Bowed with Woe. The Voluntary 'Saved by Grace" was sung very sweetly by Mrs. Duncan Cameron. Interment was made at the Cardinal Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. E. Loftus, D. Cheney, G. Robinson. B. Workman, H. Feader and S. VanAllan. Friendship expressed in Flowers were:

Pillow—Miss Lulu Barker.

Wreaths—Mr. Andrew Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Belway, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Richardson.

Sprays—Willie Barker, Mr. and Mrs. O. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. H. Yubb, Dr. and Mrs. Whan, the Mission Circle of Mountain.

Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in their hour of sorrow.

"She suffered much, but murmured not."

THE UNITED CHURCH

(Contributed)

Sunday morning's message was on "The Unwritten Gospel," and the text was II Cor. 3:2. Jesus preached by His own life. His primary task was to set mens lives right. Christian lives are about the only religious book that the world reads. "Do they see Jesus in us?" asked the pastor. The world has a right to expect certain things of Christian men and women. Individual responsibillty to God, to ourselves and to our fellowman was shown to be a characteristic of the Christian life. "God help us to be doers of the word and not hearers only," said the pastor, as he showed that our lives are tested by what we are from day to day, and said that a true Christian is the finest kind of preaching we have. We can be living epistles by giving unbelievers the chance of believing through us and by giving help and inspiration to other lives.

A very earnest message was given in the evening from Rev. 3.20. As Christ knocks at the door of our heart for admittance. if we let Him in we receive His help and blessing. He desires to come into our lives and remain there. He can do exceeding abundantly more than we can ask or think. God touches our lives with many experiences. It is for us to decide if we shut Him out. In his closing appeal Rev. J. A. Waddell said. "Will you hear and heed His voice? Christ gives last knocks, respond to-night."

The Young People of the United church had a very fine program presented to them by the members of the Missionary Committee of which Misses Jean Stewart and Annie Walker are convenors. The topic, which was brought to the assembled group in the form of a questionairre by Miss Annie Walker, was most informative and helpful.

Mrs. Sherwood and Miss Alice Singleton rendered a very appropriate duet, while Mrs. Waddell brought several of Edgar Guests poems. She related the story of how one of the authors collection received the name "Harbor lights of Home." The devotional exercises were taken by Mr. Donald Edgerton. Mrs. C. Rice, President of the Society, expressed the appreciation of the group to all who had helped to make the meeting so successful.

The Trali Ranger group met in their weekly session on Tuesday night and had an usually interesting session. Bruce Armstrong, the Chief Ranger, presided. The Scripture lesson was read by Gordon Coons and prayer was offered by the Mentor, Rev. J. A. Waddell. The story of Col. C. W. Bishop, the wonderful Canadian ace who rendered such distinguished service during the Great War, was related by Bruce Armstrong pointing out the incident by which he gained the much coveted "Victoria Cross." This was followed by a brief message on the Geneva Conference by Mr. Waddell who appealed to the boys to be among the "Heroes of Peace." During the session, Wilfred Lannin was elected to the position of 'Cache" or treasurer. A fine service of song followed and a couple of group games concluded a fine program. The Bond-selling campaign for the Ontario Boys' Work Board is now in full swing all over the Province. Several of the local Trail Rangers are now out with the bonds, and it is hoped the friends will rally to the aid of the lads in their appeal in behalf of this splendid work. These bonds will bring even greater dividends in life and character than many of the bonds, government and otherwise now on the market.

The members of the Board of Management of the Sunday School of the United Church met in an adjourned meeting and completed the election of officers for the year 1932. Rev. J. A. Waddell presided. The staff for the year is as follows:

Superintendent—Mr. Milton Fennell; Associate Supt.—Mr. J. L. Mill; Supt. of of Junior Dept.—Mrs. Oscar Wallace; Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. Allan Preston; Librarian and Asst. Sec'y—Mr. Lloyd Dixon; Pianist—Mrs. Harvey Nesbitt; Supt of Cradle Roll—Miss Jessie Preston; Supt. of Temperance Dept —Mrs. N. W. Beach; Missionaay Dept.—In charge of divisional Superintendents.

The following teachers were also elected Miss Agnes Parker, Mrs. Keyes, Dr. Meredith, Mr. J. L. Mill, Mr. Arnold Duncan, Mr. N. W. Beach, Mr. Thos. Bailey, Mr. W. J. Stewart, Mrs. Arnold Duncan, Mrs. Sherwood, Miss L. Dukelow, Miss A. Walker, Mrs. Geo. Earle and Mrs. D. Nesbitt.

It was decided that the Board meet regularly every two months on Wednesday evening merging their service with that of the regular prayer and Praise service that month. Other important decisions relative to the work and progress of the School were reached, and parents and friends of the School are asked to lend their co-operation to this splendid work of Religious Education, A special service for this particular work is to be held shortly and the officers duly installed to their important task.
