Sees Lake Front Area Rivalling New York State Tourist Centres

Glengarry's Lake St. Francis area will become as important to tourists as Lake Champlain in New York State, predicts Raymond Rock, MP for Montreal's Jacques Cartier-Lasalle riding.

The prediction was made Labor Day at the opening of Mr. Rock's Lancaster Park, three miles east of Lancaster.

We intend to create one of the most beautiful, modernly equipped picnic and trailer parks in Canada, he told an audience that included members of Lancaster Township and Village councils, mayors and aldermen from several municipalities in the western part of the Island of Montreal. Lancaster Township Reeve Alex McNaughton cut the ribbon to officially open the new park.

The park consists of a sandy beach with 200 trailer and tenting lots, change houses, restaurant, laundromat, flush toilets and showers, fireplaces and picnic tables, children's playground and sports field.

Mr. and Mrs. Rock term this their personal centennial project and he believes facilities such as this are needed to serve the residents of the Montreal area.

NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald Here Tuesday To Open Campaign

Ontario goes to the polls on October 17th and the unusually short campaign was kicked off Tuesday when New Democratic Party leader Donald C. MacDonald visited the riding.

Accompanied by Tom Aitken of Martintown, NDP candidate, and Archie McRae, Glen Nevis, association president, Mr. MacDonald visited several sections of the riding and spoke briefly to an assembly of students at the local High School.

In a brief press interview in this office Mr. MacDonald expressed confidence in the success his party will achieve at the polls. We have candidates in all 117 ridings, he declared, and our objective is 67 in '67.

We are better organized and better prepared than ever before, declared the NDP leader and we will not be satisfied with second place.

Tom Aitken was as hopeful of victory in this riding on Oct. 17th. "You'd be surprised at the swing to NDP that is developing", he suggested. The farmer has had enough of empty promises from the old parties and this time he is voting NDP.

Mr. MacDonald outlined a nine-point program he calculates will give an equal opportunity to Eastern Ontario. Limited space in this post-holiday issue does not permit our reporting this NDP program until next issue.

The general election, expected last spring, was announced by Premier John Robarts on Sept. 5th.

Already in the running in this riding are Mr. Aitken, Liberal candidate Gerard Brunet and incumbent MPP Osie F. Villeneuve, Progressive Conservative.

Noel Casgrain of Summerstown, again will serve as Returning Officer in this riding.

Canoe Brigades Added Color To Scene As Nor'Westers' Museum Was Opened

TO BE GUEST SPEAKER—Mrs. George Raymond of Brockville, president of the Ontario Hospital Auxiliaries Association, will be guest speaker at the first anniversary dinner of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. The dinner will be held Wednesday, Sept. 27th. at 7 p.m. in the Hub hall.

Church bells pealed, thunder flashes boomed from the banks of the Raisin River. Saturday, Sept. 2nd, as the canoe brigades rounded the bend and headed for a landing below the Nor'Westers' museum at Williamstown.

This was a realistic re-enactment of the days of the fur trade as the bearded, colorfully-clad canoeists came ashore to be welcomed by Hon. Keiller MacKay, former Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, and a throng of people gathered to participate in the official opening of the Nor'Westers' museum.

Descendants of the Nor'Westers manned the two canoes which had paddled and portaged their way over the water route from the Grand Portage in Wisconsin. With them was a canoe brigade from Illinois and arriving later were the men from BC who had paddled their way across the continent following the route of Alexander MacKenzie.

With Mr. MacKay to greet them were Keith Landell of Montreal, a direct descendant of David Thompson the explorer and cartographer and Charlottenburgh Reeve Archibald MacDonell, counties' warden.

Mrs. W. A. MacKinnon of Alexandria, president of the Glengarry Historical Society, acted as chairman for the ceremony of unveiling a plaque placed in the museum grounds by the Ontario Archaeological and Historical Sites Board. Greetings were offered by Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP for Glengarry. Prof. W. S. Goulding of the University of Toronto, spoke on behalf of the Historic Sites Board, mentioning that this was the 500th such plaque placed by the board.

The plaque was unveiled by Mr. Landell and dedicated by Rev. D. B. McDougald of St. Mary's parish.

The ceremony of opening the museum was under the chairmanship of Mr. MacDonell. Greetings were offered by Ian MacMartin, a member of the museum board, and Hon. Keiller McKay addressed the gathering. "If we pass by the opportunity to preserve these reminders of our past," Mr. MacKay remarked, "then in the impartial assize of history we should be held responsible."

The flag of the North West Company, a red flag with the letters NW linked together in gold, and hoisted at the flagstaff by canoe captain Allen Bell, and a Loyalist flag of George III vintage was presented to the museum by Stanley Loucks of the United Empire Loyalist Society. It was accepted by Keith MacIntosh, a local representative of the UEL.

Viateur Ethier, MP, was among the invited guests and Canoe Brigade organizer Hugh P. MacMillan acknowledged his hospitality to the canoeists on their arrival at Ottawa.

Rev. Douglas MacKay of St. Andrew's United Church, dedicated the museum and Hon. Keiller MacKay snipped a red ribbon, after which the public was invited to enter and view a number of pictures and temporary exhibits.

During the afternoon the Junior Optimist Club Pipe Band of Cornwall provided appropriate music.

After the tour of the building, the canoeists and a great many of the general public enjoyed a barbecue of buffalo meat arranged for the occasion by Mrs. Duncan Grant, who was chairman of the program committee. A dance in the nearby agricultural hall concluded the evening.

Historical Society Heard Talk On Family Trees

The September meeting of the Glengarry Historical Society was held in the Board Room, Agricultural Office, on the evening of Sept. 12th with a fair attendance representative of some six areas of the county. It was decided that two delegates be sent to the Ontario Historical Society Museums Branch Workshop should it be held within reasonable distance from Glengarry. Ian MacMartin of Martintown, reported on the official opening of the Williamstown museum (Nor'West Co.) Treasurer of the Historical Society, W. A. MacKinnon, reported on the financial standing of the Society. Curator of the Dunvegan Museum reported on the 1967 attendance to date, and urged that the matter of flyers and brochures be attended to, since much opportunity has been lost for publicity due to a lack of material. H. P. MacMillan of Toronto, offered suggestions regarding style and price lists for brochures.

A committee was appointed and plans were formulated for the holding of the annual Fiddlers' Contest. Further information will appear in the press in connection with these plans.

An interesting program is planned for the November meeting and all members are urged to make plans to attend it.

A special guest at the meeting was Clark Barrett of Wilmington Delaware, who was born in Dominionville and whose hobby is Geneaology. This gentleman has compiled family trees on the clans "MacIntyre. McRae, Munroe, Clark, Cameron, Campbell, and has partially completed several other trees. He is also compiling plans of the various early cemeteries in the United Counties. His address was inspirational and challenging, and he stated that it is a full-time hobby.

Clarence MacMillan reported on a gift offered the Historical Society for the Dunvegan site, a pioneer log house. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. K. MacLeod have offered the pioneer house on their property, for the purpose of a tea-room, where side-walls could be used for display purposes. This matter has been referred to the property committee and their meeting is forthcoming.

Mrs. Cecil MacRae, recording secretary, dealt with several items of correspondence, with new business arising therewith.

Winner Of Cottage

Steven Doychak of Cornwall, was the lucky winner of the cottage drawn for on behalf of Glen Nevis parish Sunday night. The draw was made by Cornwall Mayor Nick Kaneb at the Savemart parking lot in Cornwall, following a parish supper attended by some 900.

The injured men were conveyed to Glengarry Memorial Hospital here.

Police said the 1957-model car driven by Hamelin was wrecked.

MARK SILVER DATE—Mr. and Mrs. Rheal Henri of Green Valley, were feted by relatives and friends, Saturday night, to mark their 25th wedding anniversary. A nephew, Rev. Rejean Lebrun, chanted an anniversary mass at 5 p.m. in St. Mary's Church and this was followed by a dinner and dance in Green Valley Pavilion. An address was read by their daughter, Norma, Mrs. Edmour Lapierre and a purse presented by their younger son, Donald. Mrs. Henri is the former Cecile Menard and they were married Aug. 15, 1942, at St. Raphael's. They have a third child, Robert.

IT'S OUR OPINION

We Go To The Polls Again

Ontario Premier John Robarts stayed studiously out of the national picture while his fellows were selecting a new leader for the Conservative party at Ottawa. He did, however, choose the eve of the party convention to announce his decision to go to the people on October 17th.

The timing of that announcement was probably calculated to divorce him entirely from any obvious participation in the wheeling and dealing that goes on at leadership conventions. His aloofness may or may not prove an asset among young Conservatives who see a new hope for the rejuvenation of the party nationally.

The fact that we in Ontario must go to the polls next month comes as no surprise. The pundits were preparing for a spring election but the political climate became murky to a degree and the decision was made to chance it in the fall.

In the new riding of Glengarry which has been enlarged to take in East Hawkesbury and two townships to the west of us three candidates are already in the running. Incumbent Osie Villeneuve is to be opposed by Gerard Brunet, Liberal candidate, and Tom Aitken, New Democratic Party standard-bearer.

There is still time for Social Credit or other hopefuls to enter the fray but at this stage it seems the choice for riding voters will be between these three. The campaign will be unusually brief but it actually got underway some weeks ago. NDP leader Donald C. MacDonald was here Tuesday for the second time this summer. Liberal leader Robert Nixon addressed party workers less than a month ago.

Short, but not necessarily sweet, the election promises to be in this riding. Mr. Villeneuve has more than 20 years of Conservative rule to defend. Mr. Brunet is running in a county which once was considered Liberal but which has gone Tory at the provincial level for two decades. Mr. Aitken is a successful farmer who will be heard from.

The question is how last week's Tory federal convention will effect provincial voting. Or will it?

Expo Is Too Successful

"When are you going to get to Expo", we have been asked through the summer? "We want to read what you think of it."

Well we got there finally last weekend; and we're not fooling when we use that word finally. We do not intend to go back in the foreseeable future.

Mind you, we have nothing of criticism of Canada's World Fair. We haven't the words to portray its magnificent setting, the architectural gems that are its pavilions, the genius of engineering that was required to reclaim a second island from the St. Lawrence and provide such easy access over and under the waters.

Those seventy or more pavilions are eye-catching from the outside and eye-filling as one files through, if we can judge from the seven we ventured. Toward evening the eyes may be filling from feet that are throbbing, but that is to be expected even when one has by-passed the long line-ups by way of a press pass.

It's not the aching feet that got us down. Rather it was the hordes of people one must run into, both literally and figuratively, if one tries to cover any ground on the Expo isles. The walks are plenty wide if the vogue was "Keep to the Right". But that's not the rule at this Fair. People are trotting ahead, falling behind, veering left or right, often clutching a phalanx of kiddies calculated to dam the flow of traffic in both directions. You can't blame the parents for keeping a firm grip. Just let junior get one pace behind and he may be lost in a sea more terrifying than the weedy Sargasso.

Let's face it, we liked Expo but we can't take crowds of faceless strangers and there were some 340,000 of them at the Fair on Saturday. We're strictly small-town and most at home among people we know. At Expo we could appreciate the throng only as we looked down on it from the minirails. That horde of hurrying people was a wonder of the world to be seen from afar, like Niagara Falls — we had an antipathy to entering the flow.

Readers have asked for our opinion on Expo and we have tried to express our reaction with accuracy. Like everyone else, we think it the biggest, most colorful, most diversified and well-organized show man has ever conceived on this earth. If you have not been to Expo yet you should make a point of seeing it. It will leave you with a new concept of what Canadians can achieve, a pride of citizenship that is at its highest as one leaves the Telephone building. There is entertainment for you through the pavilions and at the bandshells, talent drawn from every corner of Canada and the wide, wide world.

Expo's only drawback, in our opinion, is the success it is. It's attracting too many people for our liking and our guess is that too many of them are Montrealers who have seen it all before and are merely putting in another weekend at this mammoth amusement park, using their passports for all they are worth.

If they could be barred some October weekend we might be induced to come back and take in so much we missed. Even then, though, there probably would be too many for our liking.

Let nothing we have said make you miss the exhilarating sight of Expo.

A New Hope For The Tories

Out of Toronto last week came a new hope for the revival of the two-party system in federal politics. It came at a time when we had almost despaired of a resurgence in the ranks of the Progressive Conservative Party and we are left with a new respect for the rank and file Tories.

They put on a show calculated to win back errant members and a host of young voters. They faced up to the facts of life in a country that does have two ethnical groups with a major say at the polling booths. They rejected the narrow appeal of an old warhorse who had once served them well but who had far too often kicked over the traces and now refused the halter.

The delegates to last week's Progressive Conservative convention appear to have chosen well among the many promising candidates for the mantle of party leader. Those candidates have been quick to pledge their support to the new leader. It may take time for the wounds of battle to heal but it seems the Toronto convention has sparked new life in a party which showed every evidence in recent years that on the federal scene, at least, it was bent on self-destruction.

The country as a whole knows little of Robert Stanfield who now leaves the premiership of Nova Scotia for the Ottawa arena. That he has qualities of leadership we gather from his successes on the provincial scene and his dominance of the Toronto convention. The television cameras no doubt over-emphasized the austerity of his features. He probably would never have won an election if he never cracked a smile; but Mr. Stanfield is not overly out-going, we are told, and that mien of serious contemplation may have been the factor which weighed most with the convention delegates.

They were determined to change the outlook of the Progressive Conservative Party and the choice of sombre Robert Stanfield may have been a back-lash from the too-colorful, emotional Mr. Diefenbaker. Fed up to their teeth with egomania, most of the delegates undoubtedly were. They opted for the quiet, controlled approach to party and national problems. Former cabinet members were by-passed in favor of two new faces on the federal scene and Mr. Stanfield won the support of sagging competitors in the home stretch.

Manitoba's entry, Duff Roblin, had been the favorite in early betting and his defeat may be hard to digest in Western Canada. The Prairie wheat farmer must turn from a Saskatchewan lawyer to a Nova Scotia businessman and he may feel his problems are more than a little distant to a Haligonian, however broadminded he be.

Premier Stanfield now must prove himself in the wider field and we think most Canadians will be wishing him well. His party was sick nearly unto death. Major surgery was a necessary last resort and we trust the patient will be restored to a state of health at least vigorous enough to keep pace with Canada's other ailing political parties.

The Liberals even now should be casting about for a new leader lest they be left out in the cold, without the protective covering a Stanfield affords.

Short But Sweet

Labor Day came and went and with it went a summer that was unusually short and inordinately hectic because of all the centennial events.

We knew a late spring but the warm weather finally arrived and Glengarry grass is still verdant after an exceptional year of growth. Sun and rain combined nicely to provide record yields on the farm and the only problem was that of harvesting the hay through weeks of daily downpours.

Sunny days we still enjoy, but darkness comes earlier and the nights have a chill that warns of worse to come.

This summer of '67 was short, but sweet. Would that it would decide to linger, even unto November's end.

Samuel Hearne On His Journey To The Coppermine 1770

He was the first man to reach the Arctic overland from Hudson Bay.

After working for three years as a mate on the ships of the Hudson's Bay Company, young Hearne was given command of the company's exploring expeditions inland from Hudson Bay. It was from Fort Prince of Wales at the mouth of the Churchill River on Hudson Bay, that Hearne set out in 1770 on one of the most remarkable journeys ever made.

From the Indians Hearne had heard of hills "composed of copper all in handy lumps like heaps of pebbles". Accompanied by Chief Matonabee and a group of Chipewyans he reached the mouth of the Coppermine River on the Arctic Ocean after an eight-month trek. The company had hoped to establish a permanent shipping port on the Arctic but this idea was quashed when Hearne saw the great ice-packs stretching from shore to horizon. He found no hills of copper, but only one recognizable piece of ore in an area that is now being re-explored by modern methods.

Hearne discovered Great Slave Lake on the return journey. In all he covered 1700 miles of some of the bleakest territory in Canada. Parts of his trail have yet to be trodden by any other white man.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

FORGETS THE PAST

Taber, Alberta

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

I was wondering as I read William Gauthier's letter, Aug. 17th: Has he lived in "Quebec" so long, that he has not heard of "The freedom of Speech".

We speak of unity in this our 100th birthday of Confederation. How can we have unity when there is so much unrest in Quebec?

So the great "Charles de Gaulle" came to visit 6,000,000 French Canadians, or should I say Canadians of French origin.

Age must surely have dimmed his memory of Canadians of many ethnic groups joining together as one in the 1939-45 conflict to help liberate "La Belle France" from the Germans. Many of these brave men were never to see Canada again. Charles de Gaulle was in England at this time a welcome guest of the British people. I'm all for looking to the future, but it seems sad when we see "great have beens" forget the past to serve their purpose.

Sincerely,
Edna Peterson

The Weeklies Say

HISTORY STUDY PUSHED

In a province so predominantly English-speaking, it is difficult to reconcile the fact that the French language is a subject on the curriculum at very early grades, yet the history of the nation is bypassed for an age group which could benefit from the knowledge of their national beginning and the vast changes which have taken place in the intervening years. Canadian history is too interesting and too important to be sidetracked as a subject item in school studies. —Melita (Man.) New Era

NOISE NOT ABILITY

Those (drivers) who equate noise with ability are headed for the loudest and worst of all traffic sounds — the crash of metal against metal.

—Rossland (BC) Miner

BOOKS SAVE MAN

Books are the chronicles of civilization. They record man's values, his dreams and aspirations, his achievements, his religion and his disappointments. And they prod man, into the future by preserving insights which contribute to new syntheses. Books, then are civilizing things. And the more time and money we spend in building and using libraries, the more civilized we are.

—The Campbellton (NS) Tribune

MUST USE GIFT

Automation is a gift from a fairy godmother; not a curse from a wicked witch. It is something that can bring us all better ways of living if we are willing to use it right and learn how to make it work for us. The only thing that is not automatic is education. Without education no one is going to be able to seize the expanding opportunities of the present and the future.

—The Lachute (Que.) Watchman

MORE TALK THAN ACTION

"Self-government now" is the cry and when the time comes to spread around the responsibilities, the thankless tasks that are "self government", too often it's found we're damfine at talking but no great shakes at doing.

HIGH LIVING

We were living it up in two of Canada's finest hotels last week and though there's no place like home it takes a bit of adjusting before one can settle down to the more sedentary everyday scene.

Ottawa's Chateau Laurier probably ranks with Quebec City's Frontenac as the oldest first-class hotel in this country still dominating its city scene. It may give points to the newer hotels in convention accommodation, modern decor and other new features but the Chateau Laurier has known extensive interior remodelling in recent years and its Victorian exterior remains much more impressive, to our eyes, than most of the mammoth skyscrapers going up these days.

In the quality of the service provided we'd say the Chateau Laurier outranks any other we've ever stopped at. Perhaps these older hotels have more veteran employees on staff to mould the newcomer in unobtrusive but competent service to the travelling public.

In Ottawa it was the Chateau Laurier we holed up in. On the weekend in Montreal it was the brand new Chateau Champlain and on this outing to Expo we were so seldom in the hotel we had no need for service. This was our second stay at what must be considered the most luxuriously appointed hotel Canada boasts. The rooms are spacious, the view from the giant convex windows is out of this world and the furnishings evidence the last word in public accommodation.

Back in February static electricity was a major problem in the Champlain. The carpeting must have been changed for we got nary a shock this time.

We were in for a bit of a surprise at noon Sunday, though. We had invited some weekly types to join us on the 34th floor, in L'Escapade, the lounge and dininground that boasts a bird's-eye view of Montreal and Expo. The view is superb, but they were not destined to take it in.

They were dressed for the visit to Expo and that wasn't up to L'Escapade standards. Two fellows from Western Ontario had to borrow ties before they'd be admitted to this sanctum sanctorum. The female member of another couple was wearing slacks, and these were frowned on. The Maritime editor and his wife just wanted a cup of coffee, but we found coffee went only with a full-course meal.

It's a high-class joint way up there on top of Chateau Champlain and we can understand their insistence on high standards of dress and decorum. But in Expo year, in Montreal, we hadn't expected one would be made to tie one on before proceeding to tie one on.

That's when we decided this high living on the Chateau level was over our head. And so we came down to mingle with the madding throng at Expo.

Money still talks, but today a dollar doesn't have enough cents to say anything worthwhile.

SHOE ON THE OTHER FOOT

For decades the Ontario Department of Highways had a built-in excuse for delaying provision of modern highways in this neck of the province. It had to wait for its Quebec counterpart to meet it at the border. This we heard year after year as narrow No. 2 continued to take its toll in dead and injured.

We're still hearing the same malarky concerning the Glen Robertson Road extension of Highway 34. The DHO will give us this shorter route to Montreal as soon as their contemporaries across the border agree to do their part.

Saturday morning we travelled by bus from Ottawa to Montreal down 17 and we got the surprise of our life when we were met at the border by a fine divided highway. The shoe is on the other foot in this instance. Ontario has the narrow two-lane, death trap leading into a modern four-laner in Quebec.

On the eve of the election the Robarts Government talks glowingly of plans for four-lanes through Casselman to link Ottawa with the border. They have the plans but the plan is to start building only in 1970, probably on the eve of the next election.

And all that time the twin pavements on the Quebec side will be waiting to be joined up to a decent highway this side of the border.

Perhaps we'll have to organize a World Fair at Ottawa before Queen's Park can be moved to give us modern roads way down here in the East.

"Do you qualify for OMSIP Premium Assistance?

Your medical coverage could cost you less than you think!

If you have no medical services insurance and because of your income you felt that you were unable to afford the premiums, you can still afford to join the Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan—because OMSIP gives premium assistance to persons who have lived in Ontario for 12 consecutive months or more, based on the amount of their taxable income.

What is Premium Assistance?

By Premium Assistance, OMSIP means either a greatly reduced cost of coverage, which you pay in low installments once every three months, or where applicable, complete payment of your premium by the Ontario Government.

How to tell if you are eligible for Premium Assistance:

Premium assistance is based on the amount of your taxable income for the year ending December 31 last. Check your completed Income Tax return for the past year under "Taxable Income" (that's the reduced amount of money on which you pay tax after taking off any exemptions for your wife, dependants, charitable donations, etc.).
You may be eligible on the following basis:
(a) Single: You are eligible if your taxable income was $500 or less. Your OMSIP premium will be $7.50 every three months.
(b) Couple: You are eligible if your combined taxable income was $1,000 or less. Your OMSIP Premium will be $15.00 every three months.
(c) Family: You are eligible if your family's total taxable income was $1,300 or less. Your OMSIP premium will be $15.00 every three months.
If you had no taxable income at all last year, your OMSIP coverage may be paid in full by the Ontario Government.

When to apply for Premium Assistance:

You may apply for Premium Assistance when you join OMSIP, or during the annual renewal period. Premium Assistance is not automatically renewed. Even if you had no taxable income, you must still reapply annually when you receive your personalized application and renewal form which is mailed to every contract holder prior to the July renewal date.
So if you have no medical services insurance and because of your income you felt that you were unable to afford the premiums, then obtain an application from any bank, or from OMSIP, 135 St. Clair Avenue, West, Toronto 7. A free brochure "Premium Assistance" is available from OMSIP.

Two Overtime Periods Needed As Lochiel Won League Championship

(by Maurice Sauve)

Friday night's soccer game may well have been the most exciting and closely fought of the past few years.

It was the final one of the five-game series for the Glengarry league title. Both McCrimmon and Lochiel entered the fray with two wins apiece.

It was 1-1 early in the game as Kay Hay and Campbell MacGillivray scored. McCrimmon added two more in the second half as Gordie Fraser and Cecil Robinson booted goals. Kay Hay put Lochiel back in the game with a drifter and rookie Bruce McDonald forced the game into overtime.

McCrimmon seemed destined for a win as Benton Goodman scored in the 20-minute overtime period but with only 10 seconds to go Brian MacMillan got the equalizer to make it 4-4.

In the sudden death overtime Kay Hay got his third of the night at the six-minute mark to end the game and ensure Lochiel a hard earned victory.

The crowd went wild.

Laggan Girls Are Soccer Champs

After a two-week lay-off the Laggan girls played host to the Dalkeith girls at the Lochiel Recreation Centre on Tuesday, September 5, at 8.00.

Due to the lack of time before the banquet, the final was sudden death.

In the first half there was only one goal scored and that came on a high kick by Karen MacSweyn.

In the second half Laggan's defence was again very strong and the goaltending of Shirley Grant earned a 3-0 shutout giving the Laggan team the honor again. Scoring in the second half were Karen MacSweyn, Phyllis MacMaster. This girls' team won nine and tied one in ten games. Three scores were allowed by the goaler all season.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Last week while the Rambling Reporter and his staff were enjoying a much deserved holiday, we strolled down memory lane as apparently is our custom when the News presses stop each year for a rest.

So let us start our reminiscing by saying to the gals, "Gee but you are getting up there if you wore the semi-mini skirts with fringe or frills and danced the Charleston" and weren't the boys quite the dudes with the bell-bottom trousers?

You could have been the Belle of the Ball (Armouries) or a Beau Brummel if you danced to the music of Ben Kokea's orchestra or when Larry O'Dair's troupe played, "Three o'clock in the morning" for the moonlight waltz . . . And O'Dair's piano thumper and singer, Dextras, with that catchy ditty, "Where, oh where has my little dog gone . . .?"

You are really up there if you recall the circus parade complete with elephants and the steam caliope organ . . . and the big top tent was pitched in George Sandfield's field just north of the Glen motel and in later years where Jean-Paul Touchette's IGA store is now.

You are really ageing if you remember George Shepherd and his Grand Trunk staff handling the local railway traffic in an express and passenger coaches following the fire and while the present station was under construction.

You have been driving a team of horses for more than two score years if you hauled a load of cheese from your factory to a refrigerator car on the siding and while there you noted that the morning trains didn't bother Clem Depratto's horses one bit as Munro and MacIntosh carriages were loaded in a freight car close by.

Getting away from the horses, you are aging. Buster, if you remember that first two-tone paint job (Ford) that "Mike" Morris drove around town and wasn't that teacher he escorted quite an eyeful . . . and don'tja remember another Ford with the boat body style and topless . . . you don't, eh, well then Tom Gormley didn't have you as an insurance (life) prospect . . . and wasn't "Missouri" an amazing driver when he delivered groceries for Donald John "Boots" with the high-wheeled Dodge in the middle of January . . . and wasn't Bert Larocque the up and coming taxi driver with the 1923 touring Studebaker and Dave Lalonde his best customer as this was Dave's blossoming auction sale era.

You are a senior citizen of Ourtown if you recall when Mayor Ray Periard's mother Alma Proulx and Mat. Anthony's mother, Maud Lamabe, were top salesladies and next in line to carry on were Peg Tobin, Ella Larocque and Huetta Pasher . . Did I hear someone say you forgot Mollie Simon and the Huot girls? . . . better check out the male staff of those days with Sebastien Laporte and Willie Periard.

Wasn't Peter Charlebois quite the Yousaf Karsh hereabouts when he said s'long to the books at Munro & McIntosh's and took over the photography stand and the black shroud from Duncie Donovan.

You have been a long distance runner fan for more years than you like to admit if you remember when Tom Longboat jogged from Lancaster along the River Road to Williamstown and then a few laps around the Fair Grounds' track and wasn't Joe (News' pressman) Sabourin quite a runner in those days or a bit later matching strides especially in Montreal with the Boston marathon gallopers at Delorimier Park.

You are a lot younger if you can tell us, quick now, what year did Pine Grove's Archie MacGillivray win the goalkeeper medal in the Glengarry Football League; and was that the same year that D. R. O'Brien led the goal scoring race . . . if you recall that year you remember that Grant MacMaster was voted the most valuable player, and right next in line were Eric Reasbeck and Keith MacDonald . . . Did Pine Grove or Glen Gordon win the league crown? . . . that is an easy answer, o.k then, what year did D. R. O'Brien again lead the goal scorers and Ewen MacPhee was right on his heels?

You knew your "grain" in those high school days if you can tell us the year R. D. MacLeod and Corbet MacDonald ran one-two in judging barley at the Maxville Fair, closely followed by Arnold MacRae and Jackie MacGillis as oats' appraisers.

From a Maxville Fair to a church social, you will have to stand up and be counted if you attended Father Gauthier's social when one of the feature events was to drive a new car around the track in the slowest time and in high gear . . . quick now wasn't the driver Bennie Villeneuve; but not his father's car, wasn't it "Doc" Morrow's Buick? . . . by this time you know your "brew" if you had Donald Duperron serve you a mug of 4.4 in his rebuilt hotel the posh "King George".

You had been using a straight razor long before Gillette started its radio broadcasts if you played hockey on the rink just west of the station in Maxville or in Apple Hill back of the new post office when Paulie Lauzon was an import goalie and Horace Marjerison was the Hill's Gordie Howe . . . and in summer time when Hector Sauve operated the picture show machine for Dancause Bros., and you are heading for the old-age pension group if you remember when there was a picture show where Lyall Costello has his auto parts shop and of course you remember the serials in Hector's and then came the re-opening of the local picture houses when Johnnie Alex (School Master) MacDonald and partner John "Stoppin" MacDonald built the new Starr theatre over the river. next to Joe Lalonde's barbershop and Agnes "Sandy Ranald" MacDonald tickled those ivory keys accompanying the flickers, . . . and while we are back on Ourtown's Main, you are aging buster, you sure are, if you bought your first felt hat from Willie Simpson; and didn't your sister think she was the Cat's Pyjamas if mother took her to Mrs. Belcher's millinery shop and she came home with a real store-bought Easter bonnet . . . oh, shucks, since we started with the gals we better close out this stroll on this note to the fair sex . . . but isn't it just great growing old when you can turn back the pages of time at least once a year and recall pleasant memories?

Avonmore Fair This Weekend

All is in readiness for the opening of the 108th annual Avonmore Fall Fair, scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week, Sept. 15th and 16th. Extra effort has gone into the planning of this year's fair to ensure that this year's edition be worthy of Centennial Year.

Calvin S. Grant, president of the Roxborough Agricultural Society, the sponsoring Society, with the full co-operation of other executive members and directors, have worked hard in recent weeks in revising the prize list and in planning program details.

A major item this year has been the revision of the printed prize list. In all sections there was a generous increase in prize money for exhibitors and a general rearrangement in all sections.

Emphasis will continue to be placed on the cattle and horse shows. A feature this year will be the introduction of riding horse classes. According to J. F. McRae, superintendent of the horse show, entries in this new class will be particularly large.
