Two fire calls not serious

Alexandria firemen were called out twice late last week, on both occasions to fires in rural homes that did little damage.

The first call at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 2nd, was to the home of Dougald MacMillan, west of Laggan, where fire had caught in the ceiling of the kitchen. Members of the family kept the blaze under control until the firemen reached the scene and extinguished the flames.

Damage was light, it is reported.

The fire truck went speeding north again at 10 p.m. Saturday, called to the Havelock Denovan home at Dalkeith where a chimney fire was threatening. Members of the Dalkeith brigade had the situation well in hand by the time Alexandria firemen arrived.

The addition to the fire hall is almost complete and has been in use since early December. Members of the brigade and guests ushered in the new year at a party in the hall.

Good pasture and crop year could see a lot of milk

Inferior grain quality could result in lower milk production this winter but Glengarry dairymen will produce a lot of milk next year given good crops and pasturage. This forecast by J. Y. Humphries, ag. rep., Glengarry, is based on the fact that there are a lot of cattle in Glengarry stables, due in part to the lack of a U.S. market and to low prices.

The year 1974 was not as rewarding to Glengarry farmers as was 1973, Mr. Humphries reports. Farmers were hard hit by poor growing weather and escalating farm costs. Everything the farmer buys has increased in price, including machinery, fertilizer and feed. Some farmers are buying considerable grain feed, adding to the drain on their pocketbooks.

Yields and quality of corn were both down, the ag. rep. noted. There is lots of roughage on the farms but it lacks quality. Adding to the farmer's woes are the low cattle prices and the lack of the traditional fall market for Canadian livestock south of the border.

The farmer is faced with feed problems this winter, Mr. Humphries concluded, but we can hope for better growing weather and pasturage this year.

Alexandrian had 94th birthday

John Shago of 16 St. Paul Street celebrated his 94th birthday on Sunday, January 5th. Although he has recently lost his vision, his intellect is still clear and he was able to enjoy all his family who were home throughout the holidays.

Availability of a doctor at hospital in emergencies subject of discussion

The possibility of establishing a detoxication centre will be the subject of the next meeting of the Glengarry Interagency Group. This will take place at the Church on the Hill on Friday, January 17th.

The topic was chosen as a result of an ad hoc committee meeting held on Tuesday in Alexandria to discuss hospital emergency services. Present were Constable Brodie of the OPP, Alexandria Police Chief Cleroux, Peter Barkway of the Drug Addiction and Research Foundation, Mrs. Florence Davies who chaired the meeting and Dr. T. A. Jaggassar, Chief of Medical Staff at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

The police, who must very often rush accident victims to emergency care, were anxious to know exactly what they could rely on in the line of emergency services at Glengarry Memorial which is the focal point of a large area. All were particularly anxious to know if it would be possible to have a doctor available within the hospital 24 hours a day.

Dr. Jaggassar explained the procedure followed at the hospital at this time. There are five doctors on staff and they follow a rotating system agreeable to themselves, e.g. if one doctor is on holidays, another may take all his calls. The shortage of doctors means there are not enough to rotate a day per week and each one on call must also handle his own office calls.

Three steps are followed in each emergency case, explained Dr. Jaggassar. A diagnosis is made at the discretion of the doctor on call; all major accident cases are diagnosed, x-rays ordered and transfers arranged if necessary, by this doctor and he also assumes complete responsibility of the patient on treatment.

Many patients voice complaint when they find they cannot be treated on the spot by their regular family doctor.

However, due to the pressure of their work, the doctors feel they need some protection against calls that are not emergencies. Patients when admitted are examined by a qualified nurse who decides if it is necessary to call a doctor. While statistics are not available, the doctors feel that at least half of the calls they answer at the hospital are not serious, and patients could have arranged for an office call.

Any written complaints about the inadequacy of emergency services will be pursued, promised Dr. Jaggassar, as the medical staff are anxious to co-operate; but it was unanimously agreed it would require a staff of eight doctors to be able to provide the emergency service demanded by the community.

A drug addict is one of the most difficult cases to deal with in emergency, it was revealed. This type of person is adept at faking abdominal pain in order to obtain drug medication.

The police are also very concerned with the drunk they pick up on the street or otherwise run across in the line of duty. The hospital is rarely required, statistics show that only 5% require medical attention. But if the family will not accept him at home the only alternative the police have is to charge the person and lodge him in the cells. This means they must baby sit him for the night, a situation that is wholly unfair to the police department, because if for any reason this person became seriously ill or died, it appears to be lack of responsibility of the constable in charge.

Hence the need for a detoxication centre where lodging would be made available for the alcohol or drug addict while the metabolic process returns the patient to normalcy. This could be a couple of rooms in a house or hotel where a nurse or qualified person would be available if necessary, but police feel this should not be their responsibility.

Hospital addition may be occupied on 10th anniversary

Glengarry Memorial Hospital had its official opening on May 12th, 1965, and it is possible the large new addition to our hospital will have its opening exactly 10 years later, on Monday, May 12th.

The contract is 80 percent complete now, reports Hospital Administrator Jerry Adams, and might be even closer to completion except for some delays resulting from shortages of materials. M. J. Lafortune Co. of Ottawa, has the general contract.

Finishing work in the interior of the addition is now in progress and it will be occupied in four stages. Parts of the addition will be in use while renovations are being made to sections of the present hospital plant.

As an example the x-ray department in the new section will be activated while the one presently in use is being transformed into the constant care unit. Mr. Adams expects parts of the addition will be ready for use in another month.

The hospital's emergency department was reasonably quiet over the yuletide, reports Mr. Adams, with a minimum of accident victims.

Thief must have been strong

Lorenzo Lefebvre, who operates the Yamaha motorcycle and snowmobile agency on Kenyon St. West, figures the person who made off with his snow blower must have been muscular. Valued at $569.95 the snow blower weighed 280 pounds and yet it took off from his property one night last week without leaving a trail to follow.

Police are investigating.

Good year reported as new Council holds first meeting

"The past year was the only one in memory that we did not have to borrow at the end of the term," reported Don Collin, Alexandria's Clerk-treasurer as he addressed the inaugural meeting of the Alexandria Town Council.

"This was due to the check kept on the budget throughout the year and the fact that over 80% of the taxes have been collected. This reflects well on the management of the past council," he commented.

Invited guests, Rev. Lloyd Davies, Rev. Raoul Poirier and Rev. Leo MacDonell spoke words of encouragement to the newly elected members and stressed the importance of solidarity in the community.

Mayor Bruno Massie welcomed all the members of council and expressed the hope the pleasant atmosphere so evident at the opening meeting would continue through the year.

All members spoke briefly, all profuse in their thanks to just about everyone present, and most of them introduced members of their families in the audience. Deputy-Reeve Mrs. Villeneuve was unique in her introduction of two sets of twins in her family, her sisters and her 12-year-old sons.

Committees and other appointments were filled as follows, the first-named being chairman. Mayor Massie is an ex-officio member of all committees:

Finance and Administration: Mrs. Florence Villeneuve, Jean Paul Touchette, Fernand Seguin.

Public Works and Traffic: Fernand Seguin, Euclid St. Denis, Raymond Jette.

Recreation: Jean Paul Touchette, Euclid St. Denis, Archie McDougall.

Fire, Light and Town By-Laws: Euclid St. Denis, Bruno Lalonde, Fernand Seguin.

Planning and Development: Bruno Lalonde, Mrs. Florence Villeneuve, Archie McDougall.

Youth and Special Projects: Raymond Jette, Mrs. Florence Villeneuve, Norman Laperle.

Industrial: Archie McDougall, Jean Paul Touchette, Norman Laperle.

Sanitation, Building and Property: Norman Laperle, Raymond Jette, Bruno Lalonde.

Representatives to various boards:

Glengarry Planning Board: For Council, Bruno Lalonde; at large Laurier Lefebvre.

Raisin Region Conservation Authority: Adrien Filion.

Glengarry Memorial Hospital Board: Ranald J. MacDonald, Lloyd McHugh.

Seaway Valley Tourist Council: Duncan A. Macdonell, Jim Graham.

Speed charge on snowmobiler

A local 18-year-old will appear in court January 20th to face a charge of dangerous driving, involving a snowmobile. He will also face charges of operating an unlicensed snowmobile and with driving said sled without a permit.

The owner of the snowmobile, the father of the driver, is also charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his machine beyond his property limits.

Constable Bob Latreille was on patrol at 8 p.m., January 1st, when he came upon the youth and his snowmobile. His report indicates the snow sled went through stop streets at speeds ranging up to 60 miles per hour before he caught up with him.

While new snowmobile regulations are in abeyance, one of the strictures still in force is that no one under age of 16 or anyone not possessing a driving permit is allowed to drive a snow sled on roads or streets.

At police college

Constable Bob Latreille of the Alexandria Police Force, is currently attending a six-week course in police work at Aylmer, Ont.

District manager at North Bay

A native of Glen Roy, Donald Shago was recently appointed District Manager of the Crown Life Insurance Office in North Bay. Mr. Shago had previously been with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for about 15 years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shago, St. Paul Street and his wife Lorraine is the daughter of Mrs. Angus McDonald, Kenyon St.

Higher post in government

A native of Alexandria, Bruce MacDonald has been appointed deputy secretary of the treasury board secretariates program branch, board chairman Jean Chretien announced Friday.

Mr. MacDonald, who has been assistant secretary of the program branch since July 1, 1972, replaces Arthur Kroeger, named deputy minister of Indian and northern affairs.

The program branch is responsible for the analysis and assessment of departmental expenditure plans and programs in light of the government's policy objectives and priorities.

The Carleton University and Columbia University graduate entered the public service in 1951 as an economist with department of agriculture.

Mr. MacDonald, 50, was appointed director of the planning and development branch in the office of the comptroller of the treasury in 1960, and joined the board secretariates in 1966.

He is a son of the late Angus Frank MacDonald and Mrs. MacDonald, who moved to Ottawa after residing in the North Lancaster area and, later, in Alexandria.

Start church improvements

Work started Monday on redecorating of the interior of St. Martin of Tours Church in Glen Robertson. An LIP grant in the sum of $8,220 has been awarded the parish for the purpose.

Three men will be employed in washing walls and ceiling and the application of two coats of paint. Pews and other woodwork will be varnished as well and if the money holds out there will be improvements to the sacristy and the priest's house, as well.

Paul L. Lacombe is overseeing the work on the church which was built in 1955.

Farm equipment business sold

W. T. Cooper of Glen Gordon, has sold his BG Equipment farm dealership and the business will be taken over at month's end.

The new owners are Phil Poirier of Cornwall, and Gordon Hodgins of London, Ont. The two men are sons-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Fraser, Williamstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins will reside in the apartment over the showroom while Mr. and Mrs. Poirier will continue to reside in Cornwall. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper plan to occupy their cottage on Tree Haven, west of Lancaster, and he will assist the new owners, at least for the present.

Mr. Cooper started his International agency seven years ago and erected his present showroom and garage shortly after.

Loto winners

Recent winners of $500 each in the Quebec mini-loto draw are Mrs. Aurele Lajoie of Alexandria and John Shago of Green Valley.

Holiday period accident-free

A pleasantly accident-free holiday period is reported by both the OPP and the town police. There were some minor accidents but few if any injuries were involved.

A charge of careless driving is faced by a local man as the result of a rear-end collision on New Year's day, reports Police Chief Cleroux. But there were no injuries.

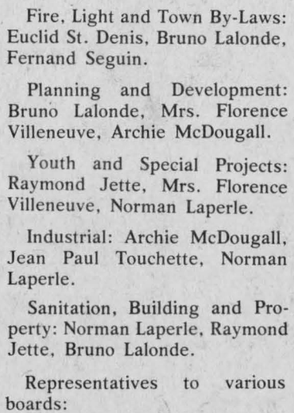
Mr. and Mrs. Michel Dupuis, Elgin St., escaped injury Tuesday, at 2:05 p.m. They had just left their parked car when it was struck by a Montreal truck that went into a skid. The 1964 Plymouth was a write-off.

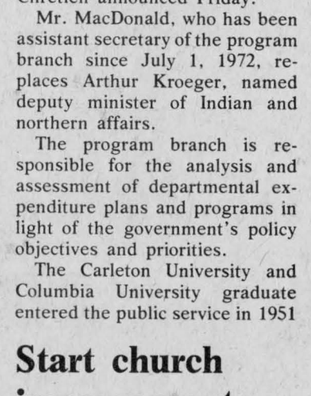
Cable damaged

A cable on the Marco line installed by the Bell Telephone last year between Montreal and Ottawa was damaged on Monday just east of Fassifern when a backhoe operator struck it while excavating.

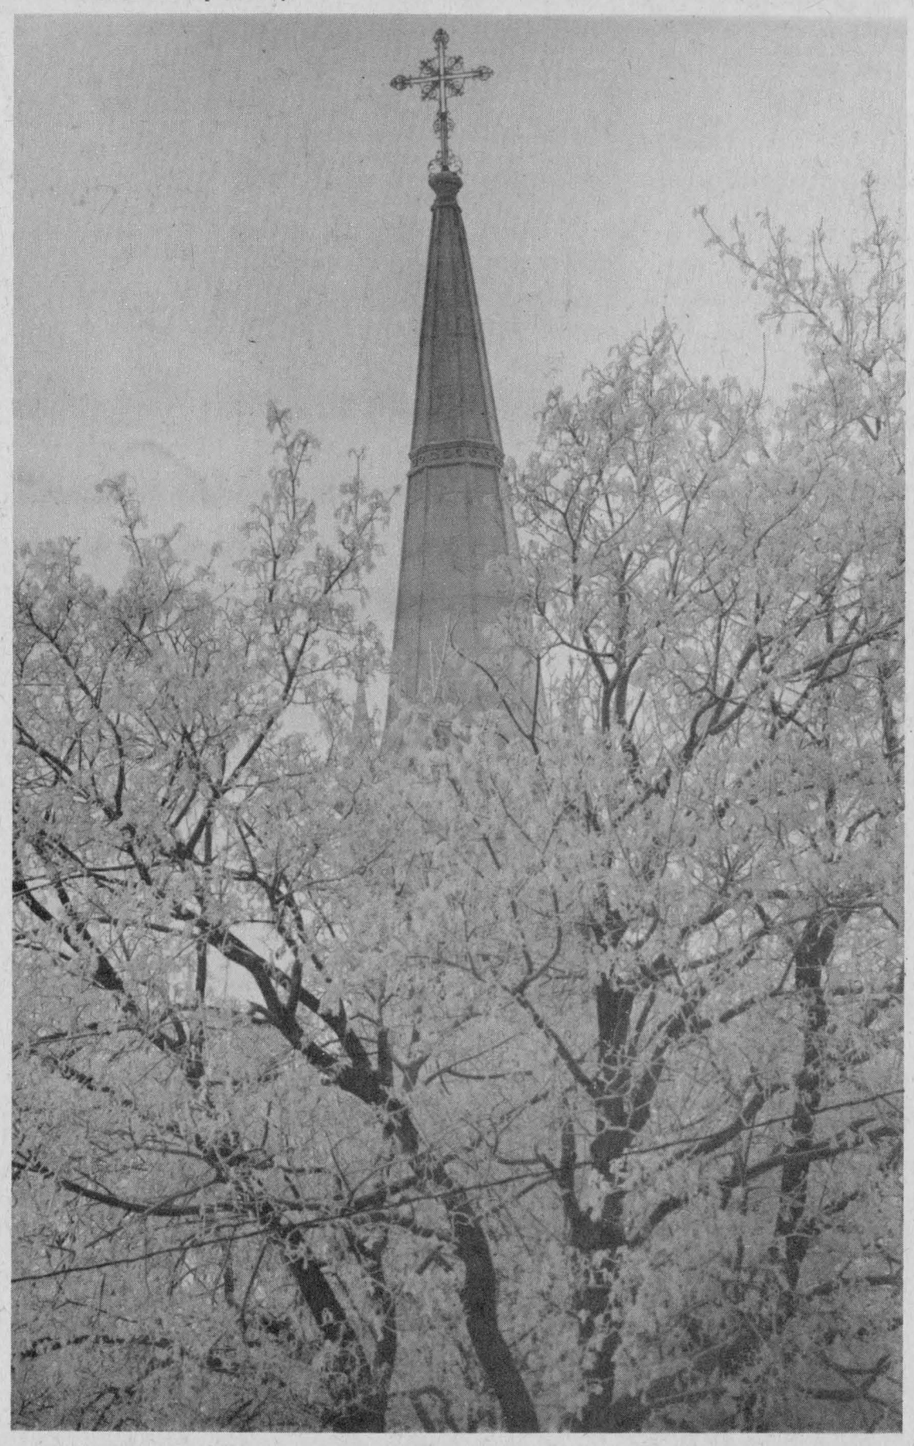
Luckily the line is not yet in service or the phone system in the area would have been badly interrupted as this line will be servicing about 20,000 circuits.

There are markers every 1000 feet indicating the location of the line and the Bell Company advise it would be well to contact them if any excavators have doubt as to its location.





VYING FOR TITLE OF QUEEN—Contestants for Queen of the Glen Robertson winter carnival are all 18 years old and students at GDHS. From left to right they are: Cecile Brabant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Brabant; Christianne Lacombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Marie Lacombe and Marie Renaud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benoit Renaud.



IN A MARSHMALLOW WORLD—Itself like a giant frost flake, the cross atop St. Finnan's Cathedral rises above the surrounding trees bedecked in a froth of feathery frost. It might have been damp on Sunday and Monday but the beauty of the countryside was apt compensation as every lowly weed and bush was adorned with the beauteous handiwork of Old Jack Frost.

Martintown Rumor Mill

by Art Buckland

A Martintown farmer paid his wife the ultimate compliment at the Bonnie Glen last New Year's Eve. Elaine the Yodeller was set to begin and the Brigadoons had just finished one of their fine reels featuring Bobby Taylor on his magical accordion. During this lull, the farmer in question stated emphatically, "Yep, she's the best foot warmer a man could ask for. My cold feet have never been warmed up so quickly since I was a boy fetching cows on a cold day in June in my bare feet. Then, I used to look for a fresh cow flop."

In a recent tug of war between Rhodes Grant, (Author of "Martintown: A Pioneer Village") and June Lalonde, (that good looking mother of good looking daughters, one of whom, Bernadette, is in charge of a Genealogical Research Company in Great Britain), June won. That meant that Rhodes had to pay for his groceries with the five dollar bill which had been used as the rope in the contest. "Rhodes", June exclaimed, "you have the deepest pockets in the county." "Yes, he has", piped in Ken McDermid, "and he has the shortest arms too". Never was a Scotsman paid a higher compliment.

Gordon Ross, local farmer of high reputation, told me that there may be cures for such diseases as cancer, goitre and syphilis, but he knows one disease which has no cure. That disease is called Horse Fever. Once you get horse fever that's it. Gordon's father had the sickness, and there is in the Ross parlor, a picture of a beautiful stallion (Prince Ormond) imported from Scotland to prove it.

I think my father has this illness. He works all week, and then all weekend he spends out at Rideau Carleton as he puts it, "buying hay for the nags."

At Fred Booth's last concert at St. Joseph's Villa I was very impressed with Andy Cunningham's art work on the backstage mural. As Santa's sleigh flew over the paper mill chimney, one of his reindeer got singed on the tail. The scene depicts Santa pouring water on "Comet's tail" to douse the flames.

Brian MacDonell's grandfather was telling me that same day, that Brian probably gets his musical talent from him although he kept it as a latent talent after his first performance. No, they did not laugh when Hugh F. MacDonell sat down at the organ, but as he tells it, his dog began to howl when he began to play. So Hugh F. said, "that's it, I'll never play again, if my playing causes howling." And he never played again although the talent is still there.

The next concert is Jan. 19th at MacDonell Memorial, 1 p.m.

Dr. McKeown that great family practitioner, stopped me on my way through the emergency ward. "Say Art, have you lost any bullfights lately?" I replied a meek no, and he then asked how his mending job had healed. I told him that I couldn't remember who had done the sewing, but the work was excellent, reminiscent of my Scottish grandmother's darning. He laughed and said, "That's what we like to hear—come again". Not for the same ailment, I hope. Ahh, a great man; the last of a disappearing breed, I fear.

I must tell you the story of my brief matador's experience some other time.

Rae MacCulloch, that charming lady who lives in Martintown east, will begin the Adult Olde Tyme Dance Classes once again on Monday, January 13th, 8:30 p.m., in the Public School gym.

What a wonderful experience it is to live in Glengarry, and to have such good neighbors. Just before our first snowstorm, our good neighbors, the Taillons phoned to say that Wilfred had a wagon load of firewood to dump wherever we wanted it. On the way up to our place with his number three tractor, he found it impossible to get up the hill (it is only a Case) and so he returned home and came back with his Nuffield. We were almost at the desired spot when the tractor stopped. This did not phase Wilfred; he did a quick transmission repair in the dark and the cold and with a bitter chilling wind. "No problem" said he as I stood there in utter amazement.

The story ends happily because my wife was able to empty the wagon load and pile it in our basement. But, how did Wilfred Taillon know that she had not been to our bush to cut the usual supply of winter firewood?

The SSBR Campaign continues (Save South Branch Road). Can anyone believe that the provincial Legislature would pass a law which permits only roads with 100-foot right of ways to receive grants?

Expropriation notices have been served on the Wardens. A brief is being prepared, including a petition, to present to Osie Villeneuve, MPP.

Several times last year I was involved in a case of mistaken identity and it led me to ask such questions as: Who am I?, will the real me please stand up or try at least? On one occasion while visiting St. Joseph's Villa, a good looking lady jumped out of her wheel chair, clasped me hand and exclaimed "Ah, Reverend Clifford, here's my collection plate offering! Do you know that you're number two on my favorite list. Number one is, of course, Dr. Fraser." Now I just can't remember whether the lady was Mrs. Gauthier, or Mrs. MacDonald or Andy Cunningham incognito. But when she discovered I was not the renowned Rev. Clifford of St. Paul's, she ripped my beard off, stuffed it in her pipe bowl and blew red smoke rings. Now I said to meself, "Do I have an ethereal countenance?" I even checked the mirror for halos—(just in case).

Last year I was also mistakenly identified as a lover, a musician and even an educator. But those episodes must wait.

"Just Mary" is dead. Remember how she entertained us on Sunday morning radio? Just Mary and Alan Mills were important to youngsters growing up in the forties, or was it the twenties?

The Carnival is alive. Plans are afoot for a good time in February. The Clansmen have been hired.

Send in your news of people, events, birthdays and so on. Martintown Mac says be yourself, in spite of temptation.

Gaels on the Warpath

(by Ellen McRae)

The holidays are finally over at GDHS, and students and teachers are already settling down to school routine. The Christmas Concert at Glengarry District was a complete success, and for the second year running, Mrs. Fraser's choir of girls captured the prize for best performance, and won the 5-pound chocolate bar. The Teacher's Skit received honorable mention, however, for their onstage portrayal of the students at GDHS.

The Boy's Basketball teams have been active in their schedule, games being played against both Cornwall Collegiate and Char-Lan. On Wednesday, Dec. 11th, the CCVS teams were victorious over the Gaels in all three games. The score for the Seniors was 67-29; Juniors, 87-12; and Midgets, 54-16. The GDHS teams hosted Char-Lan on December 18th, when our Seniors posted their second win of the season. Andre Depratto was the star of the game, leading the team with 36 pts. in an exciting 67-50 match. The Junior team was defeated for the third straight game by a score of 77-17. The Midget boys lost a close battle against the powerful Char-Lan team by a 36 to 29 score.

The Midget Girls' basketball team, coached by Carol Hughes, won the SD&G midget girls' basketball tournament in Chesterville on Thursday, Dec. 12th. The girls showed a talent beyond their years, as they had no trouble in defeating the eight other competing teams. High scorers for the Gaels were Ann Morris, 22 pts., Sheila Danaher, 12 pts., Lorna McRae, 8 pts., and Susan Main and Laurie McDonald, with 6 pts. each.

CN and CP presenting plan to improve passenger train service

CN an CP Rail are to present the federal government a package proposal for upgrading and revamping inter-city passenger train service in Canada.

Garth Campbell, marketing director for CN, said at Ottawa, last week, the package—to be presented within two weeks—will concentrate on improving frequency of service, introducing new equipment and revamping the present un-coordinated scheduling.

The improvements will be centred on the most densely-populated corridors of the country, including the Ottawa-Montreal run.

He said CN has previously proposed running six trains a day between the two cities, scheduled to best serve business and commercial traffic. Five trains make the daily trip now—two in the morning within 15 minutes of each other, the Turbo at 11:30 a.m. and two during the supper hour.

Mr. Campbell said in the railways' joint proposal, CP would operate the Ottawa-Montreal service while CN would design it and provide new equipment.

The new equipment, he said, could be the Light Rapid Comfortable (LRC) train, developed in Canada and recently successfully tested in the United States. "But let's just say it will have a new generation label on it."

Mr. Campbell told a meeting of the American Marketing Association at the Talisman Hotel, existing Ottawa-Montreal train service can't compete with the STOL air shuttle, but improved train service "certainly could."

He said the railways can no longer sit back and wait for industry or government to act. They must be prepared to provide the service the public is demanding "or we'll be found wanting."

Some of the improvements the railway suggest—including upgrading of track and new equipment—could be accomplished for less than the $500 million which will be spent on the new rapid-transit link between Mirabel airport and Montreal, he said.

In fact, better train service could make costly new airports like Mirabel and Pickering, outside Toronto, unnecessary. It also could curtail new road building.

He said some 20 to 30 per cent of travel in and out of Dorval and Malton airports, in Montreal and Toronto respectively, could be "syphoned off by a good train service."

Most of the proposed improvements will take place in the Montreal to Quebec, Ottawa-Montreal and southern Ontario corridors, he said.

He said the railway will be improving track and upgrading equipment gradually, improving average train speeds all the while.

The current average speed of 50 miles per hour, could be increased to 75 or 80 with only minor adjustments in existing track equipment.

Mr. Campbell said trains are one of the only forms of public transit in which all costs are collected in a visible, and complete form.

Other forms—notably the private car and air travel—are subsidized indirectly through the taxpayer in the form of airport construction and maintenance and roadways.

These modes, therefore, appear to be more economical since they can make money on a profit-loss basis, but in fact they are not any cheaper than a well-run train service in real terms.

"If you have 10 people on a train, it is the most expensive means of transport; if you have 500 it is the cheapest," he said.

For this reason CN-CP's new proposal concentrates on heavily-travelled corridors, while existing service in other areas will remain much as it is, outside of some technological changes which will improve costs, he said.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Mogens Jensen is presently spending some time in the Kingston hospital.

Gordon Campbell is home from Western Ontario and spending some time with his mother Mrs. Annie Campbell.

The Lions' 50-50 draw is proving as popular as ever, the lucky winner last week was Mrs. Eileen Colbourne.

What about starting the New Year off right by taking a bit of time to do something for somebody else? There are residents in the Maxville Manor who need a "Sister" or a "Brother" to read for them, write the odd letter, or just be a friendly visitor. If you'd like to do this call Gordon or Lorna Winter, 527-2888.

Last Saturday was the big Curl and Ski-Doo party at the Maxville Curling club, organized this year by president Ian D. MacLeod. The curling got underway at noon, and at eight in the evening about sixty ski-doos set out for a run over the trails. The evening ended with a buffet supper and dancing to the music of the "Tartans" from Cornwall. Winning team in the curling was that skipped by Bruno Besner, with Karen Campbell, Bill Ramsbottom, and Lori MacGregor. Second was Al Malcolmson, with Margaret MacRae and Helen Hanson, and third Ovila Doth with Bruce McDonald, Allan MacEwen, and Thelma Colbourne. Consolation rink, Ian MacRae, with Helen McBain, Donald McIntosh, and Shirley MacGregor.

This has been a week of ecumenical services in the churches of Maxville, Rev. Henderson preaching at Tuesday night's Evensong in St. Michael's; a Wednesday service at St. Andrew's, Thursday at the United Church, and Friday, Rev. Durett is preaching at Saint James Catholic Church. The regular service at St. Michael's next Sunday, January 12, will be Holy Eucharist at 9:00 a.m.

The regular Euchre Party resumes at the Manor next Wednesday, January 15th, in the auditorium at 8:00 p.m. This one is sponsored by the executive of the Auxiliary.

BUSY AND HAPPY—Members at Fraternity 73 in Alexander Hall are all busy at one thing or another, and here we caught some of them finishing off some lawn chairs, not exactly a new line of work for some of them. Miss Francis is one of the four to be selected for the scholarship from across Canada.

Her name was chosen from more than 30 nominations received for zone two east, which covers Kingston, Brockville, Cornwall, Ottawa and Ottawa Valley.

The selected riders will next May take a five-week training session at the Chiguacousy Country Club in Inglewood, Ont., under the direction of Lt. Col. Michael Gutowski.

The scholarships from the cigarette company are awarded annually to young riders in each of the Canadian northeast frontier zones.

Last year there were six winners, all girls, who came from Quebec, B.C., Manitoba, Nova Scotia, Alberta, and two from Ontario.

This year only four have been selected so far. The names of the other three winners and their respective areas were not immediately available.

Col. Gutowski has been conducting the training for several years.

Hay scored four goals as Glens netted as many in six minutes

On Friday night at the Community Centre a crowd of 325 was on hand as the Glens and Metcalfe Jets played to a 4-4 tie.

Brian Reasbeck opened the scoring for the locals at 17:51 of the first period. Jets bounced back with three quick goals by Jeff Smith, Hugh Doyle and Marty Kelly and held a comfortable 3-1 lead going into the 2nd period.

Doug Harvey beat Delaney from close in early in the second and it looked as if the Glens were beaten. At 16:12 Brian Filion narrowed the count to 4-2 and 48 seconds later Roch Lajoie made it 4-3. Filion tied the score with only 3 minutes remaining in the middle frame and then both teams battled through a scoreless final period as the game ended 4-4.

Referee Bob MacLeod handed out 30 minutes in penalties with Alexandria accounting for 17 of these. Glens outshot the Jets 41-32.

In Morrisburg on Sunday, Ray Poirier's Glens scored four goals in the final 6 minutes of the game to down the hometown Lions 10-7.

Tom Ross, J. T. Hay and Brian Filion scored for Alexandria in the opening period as our locals built up a 3-1 lead. Chuck Lawlor replied for the Lions.

The second period saw Alexandria score three unanswered goals as Filion, Shepherd and Roch Lajoie tallied giving the Glens a commanding 6-1 lead going into the final period.

Morrisburg fans were thrilled in the final frame as Poirier's club fell asleep and watched the Lions score six goals in 9½ minutes to take the lead 7-6.

However the Glens' J. T. Hay tied the game again at 14:32 and then scored what proved to be the winner with only 3:12 remaining in the game. Robert Boisvenue made it 9-7 at 18:06 and Hay notched his 4th of the day at 18:42. Final score, Alexandria 10, Morrisburg 7.

Referee Tom Quilly handed out 46 minutes in penalties with Alexandria getting 22 of these.

Glens play host to the Lions Friday, January 10th at the Community Centre. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Men are after Corby's as curling gets into full swing

The ice lanes are busy at Alexandria Curling Club after the yuletide slowdown, reports Ken Brown, chairman of the Match Committee.

This week the men are immersed in the Corby trophy play; the ladies are after the Habitant (poor fellow) and mixed play is for the Lancaster trophy.

First play for the men was for the Hiram Walker trophy. Winning team was made up of Camil St. Laurent, Lionel Glaude, Grant Cameron and Roger Roy, skip.

The Christmas turkey bonspiel was a mixed affair and for the first time four rinks were skipped by girls. Arlene Adams skipped her rink to the "B" event win—as it happened the prize was hens, or perhaps chickens.

Winners of the turkeys in the "A" event were the foursome of Claudia and Ken Jones, Carole Larocque and Jack Trudel, skip. The "B" event champs were Edna Peterson, Howard Armstrong, Janette Abbey and Arlene Adams, skip.

Membership has been good reports Mr. Brown and should improve now that the yuletide is over.

A New Year's Eve party was both enjoyable and successful, he reports.

Area schoolmates in 1905 mark 21st wedding date

Mrs. Henri Lortie of Cornwall, marked her 85th birthday on Christmas day and on Tuesday, January 7, she and Mr. Lortie were 21 years wed.

The former Salome Quenneville of Glen Robertson and Alexandria, Mrs. Lortie was married to the late Stephen O'Connor for 43 years.

It is interesting to note that she and her present husband were schoolmates at SS 11, located four miles east of Alexandria on the Glen Robertson road, in 1905, when their teacher was the late Mr. O'Connor.

On January 18, 1909, Stephen O'Connor and Salome Quenneville were married and they lived at Glen Robertson until 1934, coming to Alexandria on his appointment as Registrar.

Mr. Lortie had been married to Marguerite Dupuis and it was following the deaths of both spouses that Mr. and Mrs. Lortie were married in Sacred Heart Church, here in 1954. They resided in Glen Robertson until moving to Cornwall in 1961.

During her marriage to Mr. O'Connor, Mrs. Lortie became the mother of 13 children, 11 of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Joyce Dugas, Wilfred and Andrew O'Connor of Ottawa; Mrs. Mary Rose Campbell of Lansdowne; Stephen and Mrs. Florence Borris, Alexandria; Mrs. Margaret Robb of Osgoode; Joseph, Toronto; Mrs. Nick Mulikow, in Germany; Mrs. Theresa (Terry) Southgate, in New Zealand and Mrs. Simonne Lacroix of Oakville.

Her descendants number 125, to the fifth generation. In addition to 13 children, there were 64 grandchildren, 47 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild. Lisa Marie Mancuso of Port Credit is the great grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell of Lansdowne.

Among her Christmas and birthday gifts, Mrs. Lortie received a floral arrangement from her daughter, Mrs. Terry Southgate of New Zealand as well as flowers from two of her granddaughters.

Entertained at Florida home

Mr. and Mrs. Angus H. McDonell entertained former Glengarrians on New Year's Eve at their Vero Beach home. The following guests were present. Rev. Father Jack Wick, Houston, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wick, (nee Violet Cuthbert, Alexandria), Gerry Wick, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Caddell, (nee Agatha Weir, Alexandria); Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, (nee Joan Hill, Williamstown, from Edmonton); Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cuthbert, Finch; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hill, Williamstown; Mr. and Mrs. Moe Gendreau, (nee Alexandra Kilkerry, Alexandria from Chomedy, Que.).

Seniors' group was busy

Prior to Christmas gifts were distributed to senior citizens, to Glengarry Memorial Hospital, and to 40 shut-ins in their homes.

The Christmas party for senior citizens was held on December 22nd in Alexander Hall. Mass was celebrated in the afternoon by Rev. Denis Vaillancourt. The congregation participated in the singing, led by the Ladies' Choir. A total of 180 members and guests was served with a buffet. The honored guests included Father Denis Vaillancourt, Rev. Raoul Poirier, Chaplain; Rev. Leo MacDonell and Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Davies.

Mr. Lanthier extended greetings on behalf of the Fraternite and expressed his pleasure in being president of such a large family.

An invitation was extended for more to join the group and share in the various activities: knitting, sewing, woodworking, card games in afternoon and evening, yoga, lessons in jewelry making and ballroom dancing. A weekly bingo and dance are also held.

The evening program was opened by Santa (Francois Major) who distributed candy and gifts to the members. Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Jacqueline Fraser and her choristers and Gerald McGillis. Singing and dancing continued throughout the evening.

The afghan donated by Mrs. George Lanthier was won by Mrs. W. Ravary of Montreal.

Special committee to evaluate Counties education centre

An ad hoc committee of the St. Lawrence College board of governors presented its first report at the board meeting concerning the establishment of a college education centre for the Cornwall area. The initial report covered the committee's terms of reference and operating procedures under its responsibility to evaluate all the ramifications of such a centre so that the SLC board may make recommendations to Colleges and Universities Minister James Auld.

The 14-member committee, including representatives from the community, Ottawa University and St. Lawrence College was established by the SLC board as a direct consequence of the brief submitted earlier this fall to the minister by the Citizen's Committee on Post-Secondary Education for the United Counties of Stomont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The brief recommended the formation of a college education centre to provide the Cornwall area with both a community college and an accredited university under one roof, plus the provision of adequate finances to actually build such a roof. (As envisaged by the citizen's committee, the education centre would be developed around the existing St. Lawrence College campus on Windmill Point.)

After study of the brief, Mr. Auld informed the citizen's committee that he had accepted in principle its recommendation to establish the centre, and that he would make available the funds necessary for capital development. Subsequently, Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, citizen's committee chairman, proposed formation of a new task group to carry on more specific studies and to make any recommendations needed to bring the college education centre into existence.

Rev. Villeneuve's suggestion included provision for as wide a representation as possible on the committee of institutions and groups which would have an interest in the successful establishment of a centre catering to all user requirements, including those of the community at large.

Citing legislation which permits a community college to enter into negotiations with a university in order to provide degree programs in its area, plus other precedents authorizing St. Lawrence College to take the required action in such a case, the minister requested that the SLC board of governors appoint the new committee as recommended.

Members of the committee as it is originally constituted are: Raymond Lapointe, representing the United Counties; Rosaire Leger, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education; Yvon Martin, Separate School Board; Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, City of Cornwall; Pierre Landry, French Advisory Council; George Harrop, Labor; Gordon Bryan, Ottawa University; R. Martel, student, St. Lawrence College; Mrs. Cecile Lavigne, St. Lawrence College board; Ernest Schaefer, SLC faculty; and an Ottawa University staff member yet to be nominated by the rector.

Ex-officio members of the committee are W. W. Cruden, college president, and R. F. Browne, chairman of the board.

With Rev. Villeneuve as chairman, the ad hoc committee has been charged by the SLC board with responsibility for investigating and making recommendations on the following:

*the orginizational structure necessary to establish the centre;

*the desirable organizational relationship between the centre and the institutions responsible for its component constituents;

*the educational, financial and personnel implications of establishing the centre.

Rev. Villeneuve pointed out that the new committee has a more specific goal-orientated task than the citizen's group which submitted the original brief on post-secondary education. The latter had achieved its aim by setting out a base case for an education centre, recommending its establishment, and then having its recommendation accepted in principle by the Minister of Colleges and Universities.

The SLC committee, he said, will produce definitive recommendations which the board of governors may present to the minister in order to make the college education centre a reality.

Target date for completion of the committee's work is March 1, 1975.

School break to come one week before Easter

About 26,000 students flooded back to classrooms across the United Counties as the two-week Christmas holiday came to a close.

Schools closed for Christmas Dec. 23.

SD and G Roman Catholic School board administrator Charlamagne Lamarche said 6,516 students in the 28 school French section and another 3,187 in the 15 school English section will get their next break in March.

The winter break comes the week before Easter and coincides with the break for public school students. Juvenat du Sacre Coeur is the only exception with a week-long break at Easter.

Mr. Lamarche said the coinciding of holidays was arranged to facilitate holiday plans of parents who might otherwise run into problems with two different holiday periods.

SD and G county board director of education Rosaire Leger, meanwhile, said the next break for 7,800 elementary school students and 9,000 secondary school students is at the end of January.

The three-day break for students on the semester system comes as the new semester is about to begin and coincides with a two-day professional development period for other students.

Five schools are now on the semester system.

But the next real holiday, he said, begins on St. Patrick's Day—March 17—with the mid-winter break. The four-day Easter break begins the next week on March 28.

IT'S OUR OPINION

No more spurious secrecy please!

Alexandria's new council, sworn into office on Tuesday night, has six new faces among its nine members. That is a big influx of "tenderfeet", although Reeve Touchette's is not a new face in the strict sense of the word. He had served at the council board and as its head in past years.

The addition of so many newcomers involves the departure of as many citizens who served in various capacities. We have not seen eye to eye with the council on more than one occasion, most recently over the arena issue. Nevertheless it is a fact that these men devoted considerable of their time and talents to serve the community and they deserve our thanks.

Several retired from the political scene voluntarily and they may have been motivated at least in part by the acrimony and bad feeling that were so often evident around the council table. It is to be hoped that personalities will not enter into the picture to the same extent in this new term of office and that decisions will be reached on their merits and after calm, informed deliberation. This will depend to a large extent on the qualities of leadership demonstrated by the chair.

We can hope, too, that this new council will prove more co-operative with the press than was the case over the last two years when councillors and civic staff worked under a council-imposed "gag" rule. By an unfortunate coincidence council meets on Tuesday night, at a time when our limited staff is busy making up tomorrow's paper. As a result we have had to resort to skimpy council minutes or even street talk at times, for a last-minute report on Wednesday morning. Citizens are not getting the responsible report on council activities they deserve.

A council that adopts any such gag rule is evidencing the belief its members individually lack common sense and good judgment. Nothing council does in open session should be hidden from public view and any member of council should be responsible enough to discuss civic affairs openly. That gag rule breeds gossip; and distorted stories in turn breed suspicion and enmity around the council board.

Troublesome times may be just over the horizon and the members of our new town council may have diverse problems with which to contend. We welcome the "new blood" and trust the transfusion will result in a healthy body politic; a council so capable of working together for the common good its members will be proud to talk of its doings.

May Alexandria's new council not swear itself to a secrecy that will result in its suffering in silence.

In union there are crooked usurpers

Our holiday reading has us half-way through the two-volume report of Judge Waisberg's inquiry into violence in Ontario's construction industry. We may have more to say about it when we have digested the full report of the commission.

Certainly it discloses a sordid situation the senior governments should long ago have dealt with firmly. The crime syndicates have moved in on many of the largest unions at the international level and one of the first to succumb was the Teamsters' Union. That giant organization has tentacles right in Alexandria plants and a reading of the anarchy the crime syndicates have wrought among construction workers in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and other cities provides a hint of the loss of individual or collective freedom that has resulted to members of area locals.

This inquiry report discloses how crooked union officers edge their way into honest labor locals. Their tactics are fraud, threats of physical injury or death, bombings, fire and other means of dominating or taking control over small businesses among the lathers, carpenters, bricklayers and other artisans. Contractors have been shown to at times work with the crime syndicates and pay them handsomely to freeze out competitors for a building contract.

Once the crooked labor leaders have organized these trades they are in position to enrich themselves through bribery and corruption. The labor pool is a principal victim but all of us pay by way of inflated cost of construction, much of it government contracts.

The crime syndicates and their minions at the lower levels are reaping millions in secret pay-offs and these must be recouped by the contractor when he tenders on a job.

Glengarrians have been reading the revolting reports from Quebec's inquiry into labor racketeering. We in Ontario have the same problem, in spades, and it appears the crime leaders are synchronizing their illegal take-overs in both provinces.

Crime marches on. And politicians fearful of the Labor vote, do nothing even when it is union members who are being victimized.

Open season on policemen

Canadians were shocked and angered this week to learn about the slaying of two policemen in Moncton, New Brunswick, notes an editorial in the Carillon, a weekly published at Steinback, Manitoba. The meagre details at the moment are grim: the two men evidently had to dig their own graves, then were shot in the head.

The event follows another similar event in British Columbia a month earlier, when two men decided to go out "and shoot a policeman". They loaded a rifle, drove up to the police station, and when squealing their tires didn't bring out a man one threw a bottle through the window. This attracted the attention of a young officer. When he stopped the car, he was shot in the chest and died. Shortly before, his parents arrived in Vancouver airport to meet him and his fiancee. It was a most glaring example of cold blooded murder.

For shooting RCMP Constable Roger Pierlet, with malice aforethought, John Miller and Vincent Cockrell have been sentenced to hang by the neck on Tuesday, Jan. 28, 1975, at one minute past midnight.

Together with the murder of the two policemen in Moncton, the Trudeau cabinet may be faced with the most painful decision in the past seven years in which only the murderers of policemen and prison guards could suffer the death penalty. However, so far cabinet has commuted every death sentence to life imprisonment.

The Liberals in Ottawa who are opposed to capital punishment are supported by MP's of all parties. Men like Dave Orlikow, the socialist from the North End, and John Diefenbaker, on the other extreme of the political spectrum, are both strongly opposed to capital punishment.

In commuting death sentences to life imprisonment, the government is breaking its own law which pretends to give special protection to policemen and prison guards. A great many Canadians, and particularly those involved in law enforcement, are convinced the capital punishment law is a farce because the Liberal government will not allow another execution in this country, no matter what the circumstances. The next few weeks should prove whether these charges are true.

The Canadian government has made a very big thing out of its concern for the public by banning the use of DES as a chemical agent to produce heavier beef animals with less food, even to the point of open trade warfare with the U.S. because American cattle fed with DES are not permitted entry here.

The claim is that the chemical is a cancer-causing material and our vigilant authorities are looking out for our welfare. It gives one a comfortable feeling to know that Uncle Eugene is so mindful of our health.

In a recent conversation with a highly-trained research chemist at the Canada Packers plant in Toronto, we asked about the gravity of the danger posed by DES. The man to whom we spoke has his doctorate in chemistry and his everyday job is the constant checking of foods for nutrient value as well as harmful contents. He said that a person would have to eat several whole steers to absorb as much DES as is contained in one "morning after" birth control pill . . . and that same person would need to consume another dozen or so animals to equal the same dosage if he was thoughtful enough to by-pass the livers and kidneys.

Another known cancer source is a chemical necessary to the preservation of meats over an extended period—and which is still used in many products such as hams and bacon. However, saltpeter has been used by humans for over 4,000 years. Draw your own conclusions.

The editor,
The Glengarry News

The happenings in the agricultural industry over the last month are very interesting and also pose some questions. The National Farmers Union requested the following three-point proposal from the federal government to alleviate the present economic pressure on the beef farmers:

That the federal government implement a beef purchasing and processing program for lower grades of beef at 1973 average prices. This meat to be canned and used in a food-aid program.

That the federal government institute a stabilization program which would be indexed to proper cost-price relationships in food production.

To establish a National Meat Authority.

Mr. Whelan obviously gave these requests serious consideration before instituting the following:

A 10 million dollar canned beef purchase for food-aid.

The introduction of new income stabilization legislation.

A support price of $23.21 per hundredweight for Grades D1, D2, D3 and D4 cows, effective Nov. 16, 1974 to April 30, 1975.

Mr. Whelan is urging meat retailers to undertake special promotions to encourage the use of ground beef during this period of heavy marketings of cows.

The extension of the one-year stabilization program for Grades A, B and C steers and heifers beyond August 1975.

That if the producers want a beef agency the legislation is already there.

The NFU requested the establishment of a National Meat Authority, not to be confused with a marketing board for beef, a total authority with the power to control imports and exports, find new markets, etc. This idea of a meat authority has been part of NFU red meats policy for at least Want a tip on how to beat the income tax—Take a tip!

NOT ONLY OUR DOLLAR IS SOFT

Things have changed over the past 140 years, and not always for the better. For instance, the purchasing power of the dollar has been drastically reduced.

If proof were needed we might produce as evidence the cost of a dinner at the world-famous Delmonico Restaurant in New York City, in 1834. That meal would have set you back 12 cents, according to a reproduction of an old menu brought into the office of an exchange weekly.

In contrast, our mind goes back only a week or so to a Christmas night dinner outing at Toronto where the beef steak was listed at $12 a plate—and we waited two hours before being served an unpalatable substitute, at the same steep price.

That's an increase of one hundredfold, from 12 cents to 12 bucks a plate, we estimate. And we're as certain the service was a thousand percent better at that 12 cent price in 1834 than the almost complete lack of it featured in that restaurant at the Toronto airport, Christmas night.

On that 1834 menu at Delmonico's, a regular dinner priced at 12 cents was the costliest item listed on the menu. Other items on the bill of fare included a cup of tea or coffee, one cent; fried or stewed liver or heart, 3 cents; half a pie, 2 cents; beef or mutton stew, 4 cents; corn beef and cabbage or pigs head and cabbage, 4 cents. Pork and beans cost 4 cents while the price was a nickel for liver and bacon or roast mutton.

If you didn't fancy any of those plates, a serving of ham and eggs, hamburger steak or roast chicken might set you back a whole dime.

No doubt the decor of that 1834 eatery couldn't compare with the dim-lit steak houses of today, but the service must have been with a smile in that earlier era. The water was running in a miniature Niagara Falls, in that Christmas night restaurant, but the waiter wasn't exactly running. To put it charitably, he had more tables to serve than he could handle comfortably. And so we sat, and we sat, gnawed at a roll and after more than an hour were regretfully informed the beef that had been ordered had run out—possibly heading back west to Weston.
arrived an hour later but it had evidently come out of the freezer. It was cold comfort for wasting two hours of Christmas and a heap of dollars for a meal that might be described as less palatable than a mess of pottage.

We have enjoyed meals in some satisfactory steak houses in Toronto but it seems Christmas night is not the time to plan on eating out. Most of the eateries are closed that night and those that remain open are apt to take on more reservations than they can serve. We now know at least one that should close—not only for Christmas.

That 12-cent meal Delmonico's served way back in 1834 seems more than a little incredible in a day when as many of our inflated dollars may be demanded for no more satisfactory a meal in a city steak house. A cup of coffee at one cent might not pay for the water in today's coffee. In the interim we have polluted our water to such an extent it requires costly chemicals and filtration before we can drink it.

Of course, coin of the realm was hard to come by in those pioneer days and they probably described the dollar as "hard" because it was hard to earn one. We wouldn't want to go back to an era when money wasn't easier come by, but surely a happier medium could be attained; one in which the dollar wasn't as soft as the people who spend so much time plotting how to live comfortably without bringing sweat to their brows.

Somewhere between that 12-cent meal of 1834 and that $12 frustration of 1974, we the people have lost our sense of values. Integrity, honesty, a willingness to work and many other attributes that were served up with that dinner at Delmonico's are becoming as hard to find as a one-cent cup of coffee.

Last Friday night we wandered down to the Community Centre to take in the regular scheduled St. Lawrence Hockey League Jr. B encounter. Metcalfe Jets, a serious contender for the title this year, were in town to meet our Glens.

An interesting talk with the Glens' manager, Gerry Simpson, in the ticket office before the game, enlightened us on several matters concerning the Jr. B team. The conversation covered the years from the club's inception in the Ottawa Valley Jr. B. League 1968-69, to the present day status of the "Big Green Team" or "The Big Mean Team" as the Glens are known throughout the St. Lawrence League.

Anyone who has been around minor sports in the area will remember the major role Gerry Simpson played in promoting same. Father Gauthier, our great all-time sportsman, who saw Gerry promoting minor soccer in the Lochiel area, encouraged him to extend his influence into minor hockey. Gerry seemed to have the time for this winter sport, (he practically lived at the arena). He knew every kid in the system but favored working with the Bantams and Midgets.

Minor hockey was struggling at that time and almost came to a stop in 1967-68 when Alexandria was without an arena. The arena had been rented to the Carnation plant as a warehouse. Limited ice time was made available for minor hockey at Maxville, but transportation proved to be a headache. That year the midget team showed well in several tournaments. At Drummondville, Michel Boisvenue shared top honors with Marcel Dionne (now a super star in the NHL).

The 1968-69 season saw the re-opening of the arena. The first recreation director John Chornaby, was hired, and organized sports flourished at the arena as well as on the park. A Jr. B franchise was activated by 10 shareholders with Gary Shepherd as president and acceptance in the Ottawa Valley Jr. B Hockey League was announced.

A youthful team, made up mostly of the previous year's Midgets, had a rough year. Playing a 35-game schedule, it managed but a tie and three games won by default for a seven point total. Entries from Perth, Renfrew, Arnprior, Buckingham, Ottawa 67's, Hull and Hawkesbury, made for a lot of travelling. Michel Boisvenue showed well in this league and was invited to the Cornwall Royals camp the following year where he enjoyed two good seasons of Jr. A competition.

The Jr. Glens were accepted in the weaker St. Lawrence Jr. B League for the 1969-70 season and produced a team that included two bantam-age players (one a first year bantam) and several midgets. It soon gained recognition throughout the league for its discipline and dress (two sets of sweaters), also the only team to travel by bus. A third-place finish was better than expected from this team.

In 1970-71 the Glens had a successful year with a second place finish and won it all in the playoffs. The "Big Green Team" has not looked back since. The 1971-72 season saw them win the league championship but lose the playoffs. The following year saw a repeat performance; won the league title and lost in the playoffs.

Last season, with a combination of youth and experienced players the Glens commanded a lot of respect, winning it all. The team also placed five players on the all-star team: Roch Lajoie, captain; J. T. Hay, Ralph Humphries, Mike McCormick and goalie Robert Lajoie.

The Glens are counted on again this year to repeat their winning feat. The loss of only two players has not affected them, with replacements such as John Malkin, Norman Laliberte, and Paul Seguin, just out of Midget ranks. The goalkeeping duo of Delaney and Lajoie is the best in the league.

Coach Raymond (Peewee) Poirier can rely on two six-year veterans in Rod Shepherd and Roch Lajoie and five-year man Robert Boisvenue for leadership. Ralph Humphries and J. T. Hay, all-star players last year, are also experienced veterans.

The Glens' management has indicated its desire to obtain a franchise in the Central Ottawa Jr. A League. But this plan has to be benched until better arena facilities are provided.

Anyone for Bridge . . .

Students of Maurice Lemieux's Bridge courses in Alexandria and Maxville will be happy to learn that they are now being taught by a Life Master. This is the highest rank awarded by the American Contract Bridge League and is earned by amassing 300 Master Points earned through winning a placing in ACBL sponsored tournaments. Maurice just made it "over the top" before the year end.

We remind you that the fledgling Alexandria and District Bridge Club is still conducting games every Sunday evening at the Legion at 7:30 p.m. They could stand more encouragement from local bridge players if the club is to be a success. Even if you've never tried Duplicate Bridge, they invite you to come out and try it; you'll find it's more fun and much more challenging than Rubber Bridge.

When Mr. Whelan was speaking to a farm meeting in Edmonton recently he asked, "should we look at supply-management geared to domestic needs only or should we try for more export markets?" The same NFU meats policy calls for the latter but states that farmers can't rely on packers to expand exports.

In late Nov. when a person from the federal department of agriculture was asked what the government was going to do about the beef situation he stated that the Canadian Cattlemen's Association was pressuring the government to stay out, that they had done too much already. On page 24, Dec. 14 issue of the Ottawa Citizen, Charles Gracey, manager of the CCA, is quoted as saying he supports the ground and canned beef programs and is still evaluating the support-price plan. Why the about-face you free-enterprisers?

When Dr. Burton of the food prices review board was speaking to the NFU convention he stated that he was a member of a marketing co-op which sold his beef but admitted that in 1952 he campaigned against a beef marketing board and still is opposed to orderly marketing, and supports the CCA. That appears to be contradictory to me. We farmers best keep an eye on these people who say one thing and do another, or talk with a forked tongue.

According to a news report in your paper, Denis Ethier, MP, and Osie Villeneuve, MPP, were signed up as members of the OFA at their recent county annual meeting. I hope these gentlemen don't feel slighted because NFU Local 326 hasn't asked them to join the Union.

Under Section 7 of the Constitution and bylaws of the National Farmers Union it states that to qualify for membership the person has to be engaged in farming or a retired farmer who has not acquired any other full time occupation. I believe this disqualifies both of these men, but if they wish to attend any publicly advertised NFU meeting I hope they will feel free to do so.

Joe O'Neill,

Mutual Aid members of 16 brigades had meeting here

Seventy members, representing 16 Fire Departments of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Mutual Fire Aid Association held their regular by-monthly meeting in the Alexandria Fire Station in early December.

Chief Gerald Charlebois of Alexandria welcomed the firemen and representatives of municipal council, along with special guests from the United States.

In the treasurer's report, Carl Robinson of Williamsburg reported a bank balance of $773.14 after all accounts had been cleared with reference to the annual banquet affair.

Chairman of the Sports Committee, Chief Merton Casey of Maxville, advised that the annual curling bonspiel would be held at Maxville on February 22nd and that further information and notices would be mailed out to each department at a later date.

Gib Raistrick, Secretary and Chairman of the benevolent fund, reported that he had information on two members who were sick and the appropriate cards and acknowledgments would be sent out.

Reporting for the Banquet Committee, John Benoit of Crysler reported that the annual banquet was a real success both financially and well attended at Cornwall last October.

Perry Tinkess of Avonmore, Point system chairman, requested that each Fire Chief should attempt to complete the point system forms at each meeting and make immediate returns for the records.

Maurice Roussy, Chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee, spoke on the regional Fire prevention school during the season of 1975 and suggested that the County Co-ordinator contact the Fire Marshal's Office to arrange for such a school to be held in Cornwall. He also mentioned that each Chief should arrange to add this in his financial budget to submit his estimates to the Municipal Councils.

A motion was passed by Garry Armstrong of Winchester, that the Association Fire Chief's make arrangements to meet in Cornwall and further discuss this school with regards to how many Firemen could attend a one week course.

The President, Albert Evans of Newington, had been advised that the Village of Lancaster was interested in membership and instructed the Secretary to correspond with the Municipal Council and the Fire Department.

County Co-ordinator, Chief, L. A. Carriere of Cornwall, advised that his committee had received the fire prevention reports for 1974 and the winner of this event was the Newington Fire Department. A beautiful plaque was presented at this time to Chief Cliff Rombough of the Newington Fire Dept.

Chief Carriere spoke on the number of Association crests that each department may require, resulting in a request that he order these immediately to be distributed at the next regular meeting.

Chief Carriere in charge of the program for the evening, introduced the following guests, County Co-ordinator of Malone U.S.A. Elton-Cappiello, Deputy Patrick Curran and Public Relations Officer John Tripony who addressed the members with regards to their activities on Mutual Fire Aid in the U.S.A. It was noted that all of their vehicles were equipped with radio communication which operate 24 hours a day. The cost of maintenance to these units was paid by the County. There are 765 firemen involved. Last year they received 3200 alarms for fire which involved 60,000 man hours on fire fighting. Chief Cappiello, reported that he had served in the fire services and County Co-ordinator for the past 32 years. Films and slides were shown which involved one fire where 36 fire trucks were in operation and property damage was estimated at over $1,000,000.

The Fire Marshal's representative, Maurice Roussy, thanked the guest speaker and his staff for the very enjoyable information and showing of the films to our Association.

Several other guests were introduced by Chief L. A. Carriere: Reeve and Deputy Reeve Edwin Walter and Stewart Hart of Newington and Township of Osnabruck. New Chief of Williamsburg, Lyle Keyhoe, Councilor Norman McRae of Maxville, along with the new Fire Chief of Apple Hill.

Lunch and refreshments were served by members of the Alexandria Fire Department.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Community Centre in Avonmore on February 17th, 1975.

Mrs O Brien died suddenly

Well known in the Greenfield and Alexandria areas, Mrs. John O'Brien died on December 30th, 1974. Although she had not been in the best of health her death had not seemed imminent and came as the result of a heart attack while she was visiting her son Bernard and his family in Whitby, for Christmas.

Mrs. O'Brien was born Sarah Catherine McCulloch, on March 6th, 1894, the daughter of the late Ranald McCulloch and his wife, Mary McPhee. She resided in the Sixth Kenyon following her marriage on November 14th, 1927, until moving to Alexandria about ten years ago. Her husband predeceased her in March, 1973.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons and four daughters: D. R. of Edmonton, Bernard of Whitby, Alex of Toronto, Bernice, Mrs. John Duggan of Pembroke; Hilda, Mrs. Melvin McPhee of Cobourg; Betty, Mrs. Frank Travers of Kingston and Isobel, Mrs. Bill Henry of Ottawa. There are 29 grandchildren.

She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Gordon MacGillis of Alexandria, and Mrs. Robert McCormick of Cornwall.

All her family were home for the funeral which was held on Friday, January 3rd to St. Finnan's Cathedral. Rev. Leo MacDonell offered the funeral mass and four grandsons acted as altar boys. Rev. D. B. McDougall was in the sanctuary.

Pallbearers were two grandsons, Barry Travers and David Duggan; Gerald and Garrett MacGillis, Rod and Edward O'Brien.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

As we write the bearded old gent with the bent 1974 shoulders has given way to the diapered youngster, 1975.

In retrospect 1974 was another great sport year in the Glens. The winter activities were varied, healthy and pleasant especially for Marc Lalonde and his colleagues who pioneered the skidoo trails. Spring was sprung by celebrating the 50th year of organized soccer in Glengarry. Summer brought us two new significant sports events, the Loch Garry regatta and the Dressage horse show at the Whitham farm. Then fall ushered in a new high school football league that ended Maxville High, but coaches Don Bond and Bernie Julien accompanied by several of their noted former players moved over to Tagwi in Stormont. Char-Lan and GDHS represented the Glens and Gaels went all the way to the finals.

Those were some of the highlights but the most notable of all 1974 sport events, in our opinion, was shown in the News issue of December 12th, when that hard working sportsman and capable football coach, Don Kannon, dropped the puck in the minor hockey game that officially opened the new Williamstown rink. We claim that no other community, comparable in size to Williamstown and immediate area, here in the Glens or all of Canada, has a more impressive and historic sport record. The following, we trust, supports our lofty appraisal and why we think Williamstown deserves a Sports Hall of Fame.

What more appropriate way to start than a brief on a deserving candidate for our Provincial Hall of Fame—"Big Rory" MacLennan. Just a short jog up the road from Williamstown this towering young man emerged before the turn of the century with a keen desire to compete in the field events at Highland Games of that era. His natural ability rapidly developed and soon "Big Rory" became the main attraction at Games beyond Glengarry. His combination of grace, skill and the swirl of the kilt when throwing the Hammer or tossing the "56" in record-breaking achievements, we have been told, was a colorful exhibition of muscular strength and co-ordination to behold. From a humble farm boy beginning, Big Rory moved along the athletic fields to Olympic status and international renown that gave Williamstown reams of early sports history.

Another nationally known athlete who played his first hockey and lacrosse in Williamstown was Ranald (Ran) MacDonald, before moving to New Westminster, B.C. There he played pro lacrosse with the famed Salmonbellies and pro hockey in the Pacific Coast league that had such hockey notables as Cyclone Taylor, Frank and Lester Patrick. Cyclone Taylor once told us that Ran MacDonald "was a rugged, goal-scoring winger who could break training rules as quickly as beating a goal tender."

Williamstown could match strides with any neighboring community in the pioneer days of Glengarry lacrosse and again we quote another nationally known athlete in support. The last time we chatted with the late Newsy Lalonde he told us of the fine lacrosse teams he played against in Williamstown before moving up to pro ranks in Montreal. Newsy delighted in recalling those days and told us of one game in particular that was a tough one to win, when Cornwall brought in a brilliant young lacrosse player from Alexandria, a student at Ottawa College—Charlie Gauthier (Father Gauthier). Williamstown's early lacrosse history just has to be top ranking to play against such greats as Newsy Lalonde and the then Charlie Gauthier.

Williamstown's early sport history was compiled by aggressive sportsmen as well as distinguished athletes. We relate two of several top bracket promotions. When the great Indian runner from Brantford way, Tom Longboat, had achieved Olympic status and international fame, he was brought to Williamstown by those sportsmen to give Glengarry an exhibition of his stamina and speed as a runner. Longboat started at the hotel in Lancaster then jogged along the River Road to Williamstown. About the location of the new rink, Tom Longboat was headed along the streets by one of the few cars then in existence locally. Entering the Fair Grounds, Tom Longboat increased his pace to Olympic time beside the car for a few laps to the excited and well deserved acclaim of the large crowd of spectators.

At that time Montreal had a noted, strictly amateur hockey club—Victorias. The players were financially independent and their class was close to the then Montreal Wanderers and Canadiens. This hockey team was brought to Williamstown to play an exhibition game with the obvious result. However, the important factor was that Williamstown sport fans deserved the best and tell us what other community, comparable in size, brought in the equal of Tom Longboat and Montreal Victorias.

Let us turn to football. Lancaster had given Rough Riders a fine young football player in Stuart Rayside and from Glen Sandfield "Big Dunc" MacDonald was the George Reed of Ottawa College. But Williamstown was in there, too. A young medical student at Queen's University, "Tupper" McDonald was vying with his Glengarry colleagues, Rayside and MacDonald for football honors on championship teams.

We saw our first lacrosse game away back on July 1st, 1919, at Ourtown's Fair grounds. Williamstown were the visiting team, helping to raise funds for the Glengarry War Memorial. We were too young to remember player personnel but you couldn't forget the difference in size between the Eddie Shore of that era, Clarence Cattanach, as compared to the Sullivans. Williamstown sweaters bore the letter "G" for Glengarrians. They were still the class of lacrosse following World War One.

Our next memorable sport event followed during that winter, our first hockey game. Williamstown again were the visitors. Alexandria had a fine hockey record to uphold as they were Lower Ottawa Valley champions before war broke out. Ourtown played well but in hockey, like lacrosse, Williamstown were the class. And no wonder. They had in goal "Tav" Larocque a net minder who could have turned pro but preferred his beloved home village. We don't remember the full lineup but we do recall that there was Johnson Raymond and, as we mentioned, the Eddie Shore of Glengarry, Clarence Cattanach on defense. Up front Bernie Sullivan centered his brothers, Ellis and Alex, in from Montreal, for the game. This forward line was a Glens carbon copy of Frank Boucher, Bill and Bun Cook. In our books the all-time great line in Glengarry hockey. Bernie Sullivan was a smooth-skating, play-making centre. He told us once in reminiscing, "If I had been as dedicated as Alex and Pat I suppose I could have gone further. But I settled for only one season away from home, that was in Grimsby with the OHA Peach Kings." Alex was a star in Montreal amateur hockey, especially in the Bankers League. But what of Pat? That is a story in itself.

Pat Sullivan, of this noted sport and tinsmith family, was the first Glengarry student athlete to acquire a high school and university education by combining his skill in handling a hockey stick with that of his class pen, pencils and chalk. His first move from home was at a tender age from Williamstown High to Brockville where he played hockey and obtained his matriculation certificate. (Grade 12-13 in today's terms). Mr. Sullivan, Sr., was a strict father as well as expert in roofing and tinsmith work. Pat told us one time that the Brockville hockey club had to guarantee his father Pat's cost of living plus his school attendance; if not he wouldn't consent to the deal. A deal that actually made young Pat Sullivan a pro hockey player while in high school.

Pat then joined his brother Alex in Montreal with the Bank of Montreal team but the lure to play hockey in Pittsburg while attending University exceeded this Williamstown youngster's desire to follow a banking career. Pat Sullivan enrolled as a dental student at the University of Pittsburg and once again his hockey skill commanded that his college living plus was to be paid by the hockey club the Pittsburg Yellow Jackets.

At that time Pittsburg iced an outstanding hockey club. So much so that the team later joined the NHL in its first expansion. Roy Worters was in goal and was the Gerry Cheevers or Ken Dryden of that era. The defense was headed by the immortal "Big Train" Lionel Conacher. Pat Sullivan centred Ottawa's Hib Milks and Harold Darragh. Among the alternates were "Duke" McCurry, "Baldy" Cotton and Sudbury's MacKinnon. This club turned pro in the NHL, all but Pat Sullivan who had first to graduate. Then he became Dr. James Arthur Patrick Sullivan. No less an authority than Bill Cook, after renewing friendships at a Lions club Sportsmen's Dinner with old friend Pat Sullivan, told us that, "Paddy Sullivan was not only a skilled professional hockey player like any of us but he could make better money deals."

Time and space is running out so let us skip along to the last decade of Williamstown sport. At Char-Lan Taylor Coombs has floored some fine championship basketball teams. They were a powerhouse in school football when led by Brian Gilmour. Ken "Jr." MacDonald had a whirl with Cornwall Royals but moved on to Loyola, placing a degree higher than hockey and today "Jr" cards an enviable score at our Golf Club.

We started with the Highland Games' records of "Big Rory" MacLennan. What a contrast in stature between Harold MacDonald and his pioneer counterpart Big Rory. However, Harold brought back memories of those first glory field days of Williamstown by tossing the caber in record fashion at the Glengarry Highland Games in recent years. Harold, now of Vancouver, won the caber award three, possibly four consecutive years, and you can throw in a couple more for good measure. He was given the trophy outright by the Games' officials.

Now, at last, Williamstown has a new rink. In view of this community's illustrious sport history, we have only given a thumb nail sketch, we trust that somewhere, possibly in the new rink, a Sportsman's Hall of Fame will be created to ensure for posterity the feats of great athletes and sport leaders from a great area of the Glens.

Are you listening Beavers Archibald MacDonell and Jim Hill? And top rank citizens like Cameron Kennedy, Father Bernard Cameron, Don Kannon and Reeve Adrian Gadbois?.

Less than a penny a pound for calves to slaughter

(by Peter Gibbs in the Ottawa Journal)

Selling three calves at a livestock sales barn was a losing proposition for Roland Shouldice.

The calves, weighing 90, 85 and 60 pounds sold for $3 each, or .3 cents a pound for the 90-pound calf.

The commission price charged by Leo's Livestock at Greely was $3 per calf.

Mr. Shouldice had spent $18 on milk replacer to feed the calves. There was also the cost and time wasted on shipping the calves to Greely, 35 miles from his North Gower farm.

However, Mr. Shouldice said he has learned his lesson.

He will slaughter calves produced by his cows, rather than sell them and lose more money.

Last year, the calves would have commanded a price of at least $50 each, he said. The excessive size of the cow-calf-herd has depressed prices far below the profit margin, for cow-calf operators for six months.

"But this is getting just a little bit ridiculous," said Mr. Shouldice, a fluid milk producer.

Cattle sellers must also pay 15 cents for every head sold at a sales barn to the Ontario Beef Improvement Association.

Mr. Shouldice said he knows of another farmer who wound up paying a sales barn $1.25 because the sale of his cattle failed to cover the commission charges.

His major beef is the unprotected position of the farmer in the production cycle.

"The farmer is always the last one to get paid, and the first one to lose money," he said. "The in between guy here was assured of getting his $3.00 commission. But I was in no position to bargain."

"When you return from a sales barn with nothing, this is just too much," he continued.

Mr. Shouldice supports demands from Eastern Ontario Cow-calf operators for a beef producers marketing board. This would guarantee them a floor price and not allow them to be victimized by the beef industry's boom and bust cycle.
