Miss Ileen Heasley Laid To Rest

Friends were sorry to hear of the death of Ileen Eunice Heasley, eldest and only dearly beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heasley, which occurred at the home of her parents on Tuesday morning, May 13th, at 12.22 at Finch.

Born at Cornwall Hotel Dieu hospital on February 1st, 1944, she was 3 years, 3 months and 12 days old. An invalid since birth she was in good health until three weeks ago, when she became seriously ill, and weakened fast. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her parents, one brother Ernest, 12½ months; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heasley, Finch; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moss, Morewood; and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins.

A large number of friends and relatives called at the home and attended the funeral.

The funeral was held on Thursday, May 15th at 3 p.m. from her home to St. Bernard's Church, Finch. Rev. M. J. O'Brien, pastor of St. Bernard's conducted the service.

The pallbearers were, Leo Curran, Rheal Lamoureaux, Roma Moss, Gerald Moss. Burial was made in Finch cemetery.

Friends and relatives were present from Ottawa, Morewood, Finch, Quebec, Cornwall, Vernon, Chesterville, Berwick and Avonmore.

NOW IT'S WHITE ROBINS

As we ambled down the Finch road the other night, it fell to our lot to see one of those freaks of Nature that we read about, but seldom see. In a fence corner, busily tugging at a worm was a white or albino robin. The bird was normal in every way, to all appearances, except for its color. Instead of the bronze-black back and head, our albino was a pale peach with white feathers at odd places in its plumage. We wonder if anyone else has seen the "sport?"

SEEDING OPERATIONS RETARDED BY TOO MUCH MOISTURE

This area is suffering from too much moisture. Seeding operations are very much behind other years at this date. Farmers here and there have made a start at seeding their fields but as a general condition the inability to get on the land is becoming, in fact is a very serious condition. In four more weeks midsummer will be upon us and the new crop will not be in the best of condition to withstand the usual heat of summer. Gardens are no better situated than are the farm lands. Where potatoes and vegetables are usually above ground at this time, many gardens present a sheet of water. An occasional gardener who has been lucky in early planting of lettuce, peas, raddishes and spinach may have it showing on the high spots but it is not the rule.

DUNDAS FEDERATION OF AGRICULTURE

In the mails this week is the seventh Bulletin of the Dundas County Federation of Agriculture, and a fine piece of work it is. Compiled and written by the members of the Executive, the Bulletin makes interesting reading for all those interested in the growth of the county of Dundas, and its right to the use of the phrase "the land of Milk and Honey."

Particular attention is called to the article on the proposed Bangs Free Area for Dundas. Calfhood vaccination has been in progress for a year now, and all reports are favourable for continuing the work. As is pointed out in the Bulletin, calfhood vaccination in itself is not a complete control of Bangs disease. The Ontario Department of Agriculture has an Area Plan for the control of the disease that works well in a vaccinated area. Dundas has many firsts to her credit, and this is another improvement that would prove a boon to the county if it were adopted. With the demand for disease-free vaccinated cattle on the rise, with the export market calling for more and more clean cattle, it will be of much benefit to make our herds conform to the standards desired by the buyers.

Under the title "Cash Crops" will be found an interesting review of the possible sources of income at a farmer's command apart from the dairy end of farming. Seed Grain takes first place on the list for an increased income, with only a small increase in the work involved but a lot to be gained from the resulting clean-up of the fields used for the crops. Dundas County has a great deal of unrealized wealth in her fields and only till more varied crops are grown will the full benefit be gained.

RATS

Do you know how far a rat will travel, in search of food and a warm place to hole up for the winter? Ask some of the farmers who live within a couple of miles of the village dump, and you will get a fairly good idea. Ask some of the village people, when fall comes around, where their unwelcome cellar inhabitants arrive from. Not that we think the dump is responsible for all the rats in the Community. That would be foolish. What we do think is that there needs to be some control of the vermin population, where-ever it gathers, either in our cellars or granaries or in the garbage heaps of the village. The collection and disposal of garbage and refuse by the village, has proved a boon to the cleanliness of Chesterville. The next thing on the list is to take care of the by product of the refuse dump, the vermin that are a natural result. There are several good and efficient methods of controlling the rat populations of any place. The Record printed a description of one of the war-developed rat-killers a few weeks ago. We would suggest that council investigate and take steps to limit the increasing numbers of the dump population. We have tried to emulate the system of the late John Fulton, but the rats are too numerous and our patience too scarce to do an adequate job.

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN TO BE CAREFUL

We were idly watching the traffic pass our windows the other day, and witnessed a near-tragedy that fortunately only scared four people. An automobile was slowly passing north, through the lines of cars parked at the curbs, when without warning two small boys darted out from between the parked cars into the path of the moving car. For a split second, all the setting of a tragedy was there on that bit of street. If the driver had been going faster—; if the streets had been slippery—; if the brakes had been faulty—; none of these things happened. The children ran back to the curb unhurt, the driver went on feeling thankful and scared, and the writer saw the need for continual instruction to children by their parents of the safety rules of the streets and highways. Parents must remember that little people forget, because they have so much to learn, and the rules of safe playing have to be carefully repeated many times, to be of benefit.

BRITAIN GRANTS DIPLOMAS FOR HOUSEWORK PROFICIENCY

Britain has just opened a National Institute for training domestic workers which is authorized to grant diplomas to those who reach a recognized standard of proficency. The London headquarters was formally inaugurated by Mrs. Attlee and an immediate start is being made on the practical work for which this National Institute of Houseworkers has been organized. Training centres are to be set up in different parts of the country which will provide instruction both for women over eighteen and for girls under this age.

BRITAIN'S 50-YEAR REFORESTATION PLAN

Britain's forests are to be increased from 3 million acres to 5 million. The Forestry Commission have started work on a plan which will ultimately enable Britain to satisfy at least 35% of her timber needs from home production. Before the war imports supplied 96% of these requirements at a cost of $252,000,000 each year. Sacrifices during two world wars have made serious inroads on woodlands and in consequence the timber shortage presents quite a serious problem. The Government has, therefore, adopted a 50-year plan for extending and improving the country's forests in which the help of private landowners is also being enlisted.

TIME FOR DECISION

By George W. James
The Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville, Ont.

Article No. 2

In Article No. 1 of this series which is framed as a fair and independent appraisal of the leading political parties of Canada today, the central thought was to invite the electorate carefully to study, before elections are called, the many problems arising in our national government, and to determine in good time which leader is most deserving of support at the polls to assure stable, responsible government.

A great Liberal, Sir Richard Cartwright, was quoted that rural people were by far the best informed politically and it is to the farming population generally, which represents 31.7 percent of the population actively producing in Canada today, that our observations will be partially directed. As in the past, rural voters will still determine what government will direct the affairs of this country.

Rural Members

That this is true is shown in round figures which disclose that of some 663 members of parliament, Dominion and Provincial, (1946) only 145 come from city constituencies. These rural members keep in touch with popular opinion by reading the local press, hence this series will be fashioned with these facts in mind. Of first interest let us consider the present composition of the House of Commons and the leaders of the recognized parties.

Present Standing

In the House of 245 members the Liberal government is supported by 118, the Progressive Conservatives as the official opposition by 66, the CCF Socialist party by 29, the Social Credit party by 13, leaving a residue of 19 elected as independents of various shades. It will be seen that if a sharp division arose the alignment might result as 118 Liberals against 127 others, which may be taken to mean we are ruled by a minority government today.

One of Two

What are the prospects of the four parties should an election be called? It is conceded, even by leaders themselves, that neither the CCF nor the Social Credit can hope to draw enough support to form a government. The test therefore will be between the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives. Liberal strength has declined from a high of 189 to 118. Since John Bracken became leader, the Progressive Conservatives have gained 70 percent in House membership.

Prime Minister

A thumb-nail sketch of the leaders may bring out points useful in determining the issue at the polls. Prime Minister King has been a great political figure. As a bachelor he has been equally singular in keeping personally aloof from the rank and file of Canadians. Never mingling with those who toil, their problems have been gauged by him from the abstract reports and statistics which peculiarly have enabled him to maintain for many years a mystic power often accorded reclusive figures.

Growing Old

In his years of full vigor he attained a lasting place in Canadian history. Honestly acknowledging the weight of years he has stated he will not lead his party in another general election. He sees clearly that to finish out the normal term of government and run the course of another like term he will be past 80 years of age. So it is believed he wishes to retire and write his memoirs. He has served Canada well. Accepting at face value his decision to retire before another general election brings up the question of who will succeed him.

No Successor

At the moment Mr. King has given no word of his preference of a successor. But Mr. Coldwell, leader of the CCF, indicated in the House last session he had been approached by leading Liberals to succeed Mr. King. Staunch, old-line Liberals noting the strong trend of the Liberal government toward socialist experiments are much disturbed. With Mr. King declining to lead in another election the prospect is one in which the party will be virtually leaderless.

Frank View

This is believed to be a fair and frank view and a reasoned conclusion from stated facts. Granted therefore that the coming test of strength will be between Liberals and Progressive Conservatives the next article will deal with the leader of the opposition John Bracken. Further articles will develop the picture of the policies of the contending parties. They will be based generally upon what is found in the official records of parliament.

Comment Invited

The feeling is becoming widespread that the next election will be one of the most important and decisive in the history of the country. It is truly a time for decision. If anything in these articles will arouse an informed public opinion, the purpose will have been well served. Comment from readers will be welcomed at any time.

Russell District Institutes Hold Annual Convention

Russell District Women's Institutes met in Annual Convention in Cumberland United Church last Friday with the President, Mrs. H. D. MacMillan presiding. Warm words of welcome were voiced by Mrs. E. Elliott, president of Cumberland Institute and fitting reply was made by Mrs. R. W. Gamble, president of the Russell Institute.

Splendid standing committee reports, were given and these were discussed by Miss G. Hamilton of Toronto, representative from the department.

The feature of the day was the Fiftieth Anniversary luncheon which also celebrated the Fifteenth birthday of the District, organized on June 6, 1932.

Mrs. H. D. MacMillan was chairman and greetings were brought by the secretary from former officers, who could not be present—Mrs. F. H. Tanner of Vars, first president of the District; Miss Jessie Stenhouse, who sent a telegram from High Grove, Calif.; Mrs. W. R. Mason of Billings Bridge, a former president and Mrs. John Rickerd of Vars the first secretary.

The history of the district was read by Mrs. A. J. Stewart of Vars, a former president. The toast to the District Institutes was proposed by Mrs. W. F. Hayes of Westboro and responded to by Mrs. John Moffatt of Leonard, vice-president. The Fiftieth Anniversary toast was proposed by Mrs. L. A. MacEwen of Russell and responded to by Mrs. A. Edwards of Navan, immediate past president.

The luncheon speaker was Mrs. Laura Rose Stephen of Ottawa, who delighted her audience with reminiscences of her work in organizing and spreading the gospel of the Women's Institute in remote places. She paid tribute to the beautiful luncheon arrangements which included pots of African violets and at the head table candles in candlesticks brought to Cumberland by a pioneer family in 1832. Interwoven through all were strands of the Institute colours in blue and gold. The center of all was the birthday cake whose fifty lighted candles were blown out by Mrs. Geo. Smith of Navan, a former president. She wished success to the future of the Institute and of the District and led in prayer. Miss M. Hitsman, one of the early presidents, cut the cake. Mrs. G. D. Campbell, was convener of the luncheon which was held in Maple Leaf Hall.

During the afternoon session a memorial service was conducted by Mrs. MacMillan, assisted by Mrs. R. H. Brown, president of Navan Institute and Mrs. E. Elliott, for members of their Institutes, who had passed on during the year. These were the late Mrs. F. H. McCullough of Navan and the late Mrs. Wm. Maguire of Cumberland.

The choice of the District in the offering of the Co-operative Program was "Health for the Family", and a Rally on "Programme Planning."

Mrs. W. F. Hayes, County Coach, spoke on the Girls' Homemaking Club work and the Cumberland Club girls put on their Achievement Day skit.

Further pleasure was afforded the gathering by renditions of the Cumberland Institute Ladies Choir under the leadership of Mrs. C. D. Campbell. Sing-songs during the day were conducted by Mrs. John Moffat with Miss Bessie Hayes at the piano.

Mrs. L. A. MacEwen, provincial board director for sub-division No. 1 reported highlights of the Provincial Board meetings in Toronto.

Mrs. M. S. Bradley, chairman of the Nominating Committee read the slate of officers for the coming year and Miss G. Hamilton, presided for the election which resulted as follows:

HOLMES—ACRES

A May wedding of interest was solemnized in St. George's Anglican Church, Vernon, on Saturday when Elizabeth May (Betty), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Acres, became the bride of Woodrow Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holmes.

Rev. Robert Shannon officiated at the service conducted in a church tastefully decorated with Apple Blossoms and other Spring flowers. Accompanied by Miss Evelyn Hill, organist, Miss Murla Holmes sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Geraldine Acres. Lloyd Holmes was best man.

For her wedding Miss Acres chose a floor-length gown of white satin and net over taffeta with fitted bodice. The net yoke was trimmed with a ruffle, and long satin sleeves ended in a point over the hands. She wore a fingertip veil of embroidered net, fashioned in a halo and she carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will live in Winchester.

For travelling Mrs. Holmes selected a light blue suit with black accessories.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Misses Margaret Sullivan and Inez Acres, both of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rawson of Russell; Irvine Collins, of Beachburg; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Earl of Cass Bridge; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDiarmid of Osgoode, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Acres of Metcalfe.

Dundas County Calf Clubs Organize For 1947

Organization meeting of the Chesterville and Mountain Calf Clubs of Dundas County were held on May 6th and 7th. At this time officers for the respective clubs were chosen, new members enrolled and the 1947 programme detailed. Mr. H. W. Graham, Agricultural Representative for Dundas County acted as Chairman and extensively outlined the activities of the Clubs for the coming season. He stressed the need for young farm boys and girls to become acquainted with the types, care, and management of good live stock. Mr. Graham emphasized the importance of securing the executive experience offered by the various club offices and deemed it highly beneficial for young folk to learn to express themselves in public.

Following his opening address Mr. Graham called on several prominent men of the communities to say a few words to the boys and girls and introduced to the club members Mr. G. E. Summers, newly appointed County Weed Inspector and Mr. D. W. MacMillan, Assistant Agricultural Representative in Dundas County for the summer months.

The officers for the respective clubs for the 1947 season are as follows:—

Chesterville Calf Club

President, Hubert Merkley, Chesterville; Vice-President, Arnold Kittle, Chesterville; Sec-Treasurer, Agnes Robinson, Chesterville; Club Leader, Gerald Kittle, Chesterville.

Mountain Calf Club

President, Carl Gilroy, South Mountain; Vice-President, Gordon McVey, Winchester; Secretary-Treasurer, Marion Mulholland, South Mountain; Club Leader, Allison Fawcett, Winchesten.

The sponsoring societies of both clubs deserve commendable mention for their generous assistance—they are the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society and Mountain Agicultural Society.

It is expected that the final enrollment in the two clubs will be well over fifty members and it is encouraging to note the number of girls who have undertaken the club work in both communities.

At the organization meetings also, the dates and places of the regular meetings were decided upon.

The Chesterville Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kittle on June 11th at 8 P.M. EDST.

The Mountain Club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gilroy on June 4th at 8 P.M. EDST.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

By Ron Marsh

Few summer hobbies give their devotees more pleasure and healthful exercise than gardening. No other warm-weather past time is as economical to pursue and none offers greater satisfaction, either mentally or materially.

To a man who spends most of his days crouched over a desk—in an office filled with other men all crouched over desks with windows closed because Miss Murgatroyd has sniffles—an evening in the open air tending a few rows of brussels sprouts is as good a tonic as two weeks at Palm Beach.

However, before a would-be gardener saunters into the hardware store to buy a half dozen tools—that's all that's necessary—he'll find a little forethought will prevent a lot of disappointment.

The first matter he has to decide is the location of the proposed garden. The nearer it is to his home the better it will be. Not only is a neatly laid out plot of up-and-coming vegetables an asset to the surroundings but, while the expert is away, his wife can keep a weather eye on the prize tomatoes. If the ground at home is unsuitable, he can usually secure a plot in one of the community gardens that are to be found in most municipalities. It may be five or ten minutes' walk from the house but that slight discomfort is more than compensated for by the friendly and co-operative spirit that follows men who dig and sow and rake within talking distance.

Next, he must never forget that vegetables, like photographers, are sun worshippers. The practical gardener makes sure to select a plot that receives at least six hours of full sunshine a day. Besides the quality of the soil, he must watch out for and avoid any ground where water lodges—else he'll have a swamp in rainy weather.

The size of garden depends on the amount of working time available and how much food for the family it is expected to provide. A garden of 50 feet by 100 appears to be most popular and should supply plenty of fresh vegetables for a family of four or five all summer long with enough left over to last until the next spring.

Experienced gardeners always plan before planting. "Put your vegetable rows on paper first," they maintain, "and you'll be putting them on your table three months later." For a well-balanced garden, vegetables with the highest nutritional properties are recommended. The experts say there are three types of vegetables essential to a healthy diet. These are leafy vegetables, such as lettuce, cabbage, chard and spinach; root crops, such as beets, carrots and turnips; and fruit and pod vegetables, such as tomatoes, cucumbers, peas and beans. An excellent selection for a small garden is tomatoes, beans, beets, lettuce, radishes, carrots, onions and spinach. It's important to choose crops so as to get early and late production from the same space. Directly an early crop is out of the ground another crop should replace it. The seed catalogue shows the number of days crops take to mature.

Well, Mr. Beginner has his plot, he has an idea of what he intends to plant, but just what tools does he require? Not many. If his garden has been cultivated before and is fairly free from grass, a spade, hoe, trowel, rake, sprayer or duster and watering can will do the trick. If the land is freshly broken, a digging fork should be used instead of a spade in order to shake out the grass. A flat 10-inch file by the way, is handy to have as from time to time the hoe and spade need sharpening. It's well to remember that better-quality tools cost only a few cents more in the first place but save plenty of trouble later on.

About the most important thing in the garden is the soil. It's from this that plants must draw their nourishment. To improve the soil, stable manure is useful but it should be thoroughly rotted. Garden peat moss is a good organic material for conditioning heavy clay soils. For further conditioning—and the richer the soil the redder the tomatoes—well-rounded diets are provided in a number of mineral plant foods that are packaged for sale.

The plant foods include nitrogen, which is known as the leaf and stem growth element. Lack of nitrogen stunts plants' growth and makes their leaves pale. Too much of it results in excessive leaf growth and inferior quality of produce. Phosphoric acid stimulates root growth and is essential to the formation of plant cells. Plenty of this is also essential to flower, fruit and seed production. Potash makes plants more resistant to disease; calcium gives strength to the stem; magnesium is necessary for the green coloring of the leaves. Normal soils usually supply other plant foods in sufficient quantity.

Dates for planting vary with location and time of season. Crops not easily injured by frost are lettuce, spinach, radishes, onions, peas, beets and carrots. They should be planted as soon as the ground is free of frost and sufficiently dry to permit working. Plants liable to serious injury from frost are beans, corn, cucumbers, squash and pumpkins. The earliest safe date for their planting is May 24.

It's a good idea at planting time to be equipped with a ball of stout twine and a yardstick for the correct lining up of the rows, which should run north-south. This prevents one row of plants keeping sunlight from the other. Vegetables like cabbage and cauliflower require wide spacing between rows. Considerable space can be saved by sowing early maturing crops such as radishes, spinach and leaf lettuce between the rows. These will be ready for eating before the other vegetables are large enough to need more room.

The first step in actual planting is to open a drill with the hoe to the required depth. The drill should be straight and of even depth to prevent uneven germination of seeds. The planting depth should be about four times the size of the seed and seed should not be sown too thickly, because it's wasteful. A handy method of applying fertilizer, if it's being used, is to put a quantity in a flower pot. Then, as it runs out of a hole in the bottom, run it along the seed row.

Complete details on seeding and all phases of the hobby can be obtained from handy—and reasonably priced—garden guides on sale anywhere where seeds are sold. And if you have never yet dug into moist earth at the close of a spring day nor sat down to a table piled with fresh vegetables that you yourself have planted, nursed and tended until maturity, then you have missed some of this life's most pleasant experiences.

GARDEN CHATS

By Mrs. Harry Allison

Hello Neighbour!—Where were you at eight o'clock on May 15th? If you were not at the Horticultural meeting, you should regret it. "Home Beautification" was the subject discussed by Mr. Class of Kemptville Agricultural School, and illustrated by a number of interesting coloured slides. His ideas were both possible and practical. A number of the slides showed "before" and "after" views of homes. Sometimes the place was so changed by a little cleaning up, painting and planting, one could scarcely believe it was the same one as in the "before" picture. He mentioned juvenile delinquency, and pointed out that if we wanted to keep our children at home—and off the streets, it was the duty of parents to provide an attractive environment for them. But if you haven't any children and need a motive for planting, listen to this. The Experimental Farm at Ottawa says that $40 worth of shrubs and perennials properly placed and cared for, will in ten years time, increase the value of your property up to $400. Think that over, Brother Scotchman, and see where you could improve on interest like that. Indeed, Mr. Class and his attractive slides were certainly an inspiration to go home, and as he said in closing, "Clean up, paint up and plant up."

But that wasn't all on the programme. Miss Una Merkley sang two delightful solos and Mrs. G. Merkley and Mrs. G. Barton played two selections as violin duets which were most enjoyable. The plant exchange, too, was a decided success. Almost everyone brought something and went home with something else. (In fact one man caught another man going home with his wife!) There was everything from geranium slips and rhubarb to a maple tree. I didn't even hear of anyone getting hurt in the scramble to get his own choice. There was a delicious cup of tea and some sandwiches served too. Resolve now, neighbour, that you'll be at the next meeting of the Horticultural Society.

You know, the tragedy of the week, for my money is about the woman—why, oh, why did it have it be a woman?—who wrote to a farm paper asking how she could get rid of the earthworms in her garden. How could anyone—even a woman—be so stupid? Those poor, innocent little "wigglers" never did anyone any harm. Of course, perhaps the thought of "fish worms" makes the chills run up and down her spine, but brace up, lady and grit your teeth, they're your best friends. While you sleep these industrious little fellows cultivate and fertilize your garden and lawn much better than you can ever do it. So thank your lucky stars for earthworms, don't poison them or feed them to fish, they're just what the doctor ordered to do your garden work for you. They deserve a medal for efficiency too.

I suppose this week, if it stays nice, we can plant our vegetable gardens. Try something new this year,—some vegetable that you never grew before. Who knows?—you might like it. I'm trying sweet marjoram. That is an herb, of course, not a vegetable. I have no idea how to use it, but I read one time that it is impossible to be a good cook until one has mastered the use of herbs. So, goodness knows what concoctions my family will be eating as I experiment with sweet marjoram. I am planting summer savory and dill too but I know how to use them. Last year I tried rutabagas, or swede turnips and they are superior to the regular turnips, I think, and have kept exceptionally well. So try something new for a change—you might possibly like it.

Before we end this chat, I want to say that I've been reprimanded by a neighbour for calling dandelions "nasty little things." She says the poet calls them "the children's gold". Well, here's wishing the children would gather all their "gold"—roots and all—and get them out of our lawn and border. So long.

Sincerely

"Jolson Story" Lavish Musical In Technicolor

Columbia Pictures' "The Jolson Story", with Larry Parks, Evelyn Keyes, William Demarest and Bill Goodwin, opens on Monday, May 26 to Thursday, May 29, at the Community Theatre, Chesterville. Filmed in Technicolor, this is the long-awaited extravaganza based on the music, the magic and the times of America's greatest entertainer.

Proclaimed as a colorful and rhythmic panorama of American show business, the screenplay, written by Stephen Longstreet, carries through nearly forty years of Jolson's remarkable career. Dramatically revealed are the steps leading to his success. In New Orleans, he has become tired of the traditional routines of a minstrel show; the new-fangled "blues" music fascinates him, and deep inside he is developing a technique all his own to fully capture the rhythms of jazz. Audiences excite him—he wants to get ever closer to them, to make them feel what he feels in his blood. When he gets his first crack at Broadway, he is ready with his new-found style and creates a sensation.

"The Jolson Story" is largely told in music, as might be expected, for no other entertainer has had so many beloved melodies associated with him. We can expect to hear them all in the film, tunes like "Swanee", "You Made Me Love You", "April Showers", "By The Light of the Silvery Moon," etc.

Much praise has be heaped on the broad shoulders of Larry Parks for his spectacular performance in the title role. Virtually unknown when the film was born more than three years ago, he is being acclaimed today as a top-flight star. The way he has cloaked himself with Jolson's personality in the film is said to be uncanny.

Gorgeous Evelyn Keyes has the romantic lead opposite Parks, and enjoys the flattery of Technicolor once again, having recently appeared in "A Thousand and One Nights" and "Renegades". William Demarest and Bill Goodwin play associates of Jolson who aided him in reaching the top, and should add much to the stature of the film.

Remember the dates, Monday to Thursday, May 26-27-28-29.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! When is a spot not a spot? Answer: When it has been removed by someone who knows how. Even spilled milk, cocoa and ink can be taken out of white or fast-dye fabrics if you use the following remedies at once—with a little persistence and caution.

Milk, grease and oil stains should be sponged with benzine or tetrachloride.

Ink spots should first be blotted with blotting paper and then soaked with clear warm water or sour milk, but in turn must be sponged out with carbon tetrachloride.

A chocolate stain must be scraped off with a dull knife. then pat with borax which has been moistened with water. Let dry, then wash in clean water.

Chewing gum is sometimes difficult. Try to rub into a ball with a piece of ice; next, remove stickiness with carbon tetrachloride.

Whether to soak soiled clothes or set the machine immediately in motion is a moot question. If you do not use a water softener, you should soak white fabrics.

What about using homemade soaps for the new fabrics? Well, this is usually a very strong soap (often, not aged)—and since there are a number of tested laundry cleansing agents, it is wise to use these in the washing machine.

How long should the washing machine operate? We recommend 5 to 8 mins. for lightly soiled things, 10 to 12 mins. for dirty clothes, then a change of water if necessary. There has been some controversy over this point, but it was agreed that a short wash period and two or three warm rinses produced better results.

Should clothes be whipped or shaken when wet as they are hung on the line? To shake or pull gently after the garments are pinned will save much ironing work. You know too, that if clothes can be taken from the line and folded as they are placed in the basket the ironing will be much easier.

The family must eat on washday and we suggest dishes that can be cooked at a "low" temperature and served without much trimming. We recommend the Well Cooker of the electric range, or grandmother's Dutch oven for the suggested meals.

(1) Pot. Roast. with. Potatoes
Onions,Carrots
Steamed Pudding
Time: 2 hours.

Directions: Sear meat (3 lbs.) in skillet until brown on all sides; place trivet in well, add 1 cup water and put meat on trivet. Put pudding in tall mold; cover, place beside meat. Cover cooker; turn switch to High until steam escapes; then turn switch to Low and continue cooking for 1 hour. Place vegetables around meat; turn switch to high until steam escapes; turn switch to Low to finish cooking for about 1 hour.

STEAMED PUDDING

3 tbsps. melted shortening, 2 cups flour, ¾ tsp. soda, 1 tsp. ground cloves, 1 tsp. cinnamon, ¼ tsp. allspice, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup milk, ¾ cup molasses, ½ lb. dates, stoned and cut.

Melt shortening. Sift flour, measure, add dry ingredients and sift again. Mix molasses and milk, add to dry ingredients. Add shortening. Fold in dates. Pour into a greased mold and steam for 2 hours. Serve with cream.

(2) Veal Stew with Noodles
Celery and Onions
Spiced Bread Pudding
Time: 2½ hours.

Directions: Cut 2 lbs. breast or neck of veal into individual serving pieces. Flour and brown them in hot fat in a waterless cooker or deep kettle over High heat; season and cover with cold water. Cover, turn heat to Low and simmer for 1½ hrs. Add 6 whole medium-sized onions, 1 cup wide noodles and 1 cup of celery cut in short lengths: Set pudding in covered pan, place on rack above the meat stew, cover and continue cooking for 45 mins. Serve stew with meat surrounded by noodles and celery. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with cress. Serves 6.

SPICED BREAD PUDDING

1 cup toasted bread crumbs, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tsp. soda, ½ tsp. ground cloves, ½ tsp. nutmeg 1 tsp, cinnamon, 1 cup sour milk, 1 cup raisins.

Combine bread crumbs with the brown sugar, soda and spices. Add the milk and raisins. Pour into greased pudding mold and cover.

TAKE A TIP

How to use the modern Irons and Ironers

Four new irons have striking features: (1) One has a wide sole plate curved for either forward or backward ironing, side rests to avoid lifting and a slanted handle to grasp easily. (2 To reduce fatigue caused by constant lifting, another iron has been designed with rest-stand incorporated into sole-plate. The button on the handle both releases and holds rest-stand in place. (3 A third iron has the outstanding feature of a stand with the heating element incorporated in it—heat is transferred to the iron whenever it is in position with the current on—no more wrangles with the cord. (4) Thermostat control on the steam irons means that they can be used for pressing or ordinary household use.

Methods used with electric ironer: With the exception of woollens, iron fabrics until they are dry. Take time to arrange garment carefully on board to avoid unecessary wrinkles. Parts of garment to iron first: extra inside pieces such as inset pockets, shoulder pads and facings, and parts of garment which are attached such as trimming and ruffles. Iron bodice of garment, then skirt. Finish with collars, cuffs and front. Wide articles such as sheets, tablecloths, bedspreads should be folded lengthwise and ironed on one side; then folded double and the top surface ironed; and so on until the article is completely dry.

1. Try to improve ironing skill; use long sweeping rhythmic, graceful strokes.
2. Iron with weave of fabric, not on the bias.
3. Iron all articles which require the same temperature before starting on next group.
4. Arrange the work efficiently.
5. Dress neatly, attractively and comfortably for the job.

CLEAN UP

As a chain is as strong only as its weakest link, so, say the public health authorities, sanitation provisions are as effective only as the least scrupulous citizen. The health leaders urge general observance of community rules of hygiene and cleanliness. They remind Canadians that washrooms in restaurants, toilets aboard trains, and lavatories in offices and factories, must be kept tidy and clean if danger of spread of infection is to be avoided. "The golden rule applies in quarters which we must share with others" it is emphasized.

EATING OUT

Even if you must eat all three meals a day in restaurants, you can still select healthful foods, according to the health authorities. They suggest that Canadians study cafe menus with health in mind, and warn that, no matter how they are priced, too many sweet or starchy foods aren't bargains in the long run.

As a tip for eating out, the experts point to whole wheat, rye or "Canada Approved" bread. These are necessary for health maintenance.

Restaurants will stock healthful foods if there is a regular demand for them.

TEMPLE CHOIR RENDERS BEAUTIFUL PROGRAMME

An audience that could have been larger in the Community Hall, Monday evening has very happy recollection of the programme presented by the Temple Choir of Ottawa. It stands as one of the outstanding events of many months and it is to be regretted that every seat was not occupied. There was a good attendance and the Rotary Club in sponsoring such an opportunity is to be commended for its effort. The small amount realized for community service while not large will help such efforts.
