QTP chase driver into county

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

A high-speed chase involving a suspected smuggler and Quebec Tobacco Police near the Brown House Corner ended suddenly Monday when the motor blew in the fleeing suspect's car.

It turned out that the driver was not a cigarette smuggler. But he did have a trunk full of contraband liquor in his car.

The QTP, a recently-created enforcement arm of Quebec's ministry of revenue, had tried to stop the vehicle in Quebec, not far from Curry Hill. But the driver, instead of pulling over, headed for the Ontario border.

Four QTP vehicles, three cars and one mini-van, chased the vehicle until its motor blew and its driver pulled in to Beriault Farms, on County Rd. 18 about one km. east of Brown House Corners late Monday afternoon.

The four QTP vehicles were unmarked, but did have flashing red lights. And the QTP officers were not uniformed.

Eric Lacombe, 10, one of a handful of curious onlookers at the scene, said he saw the cars drive by at high speed from the east with their lights flashing.

It was right around that time that the suspect car's motor blew, forcing the driver to pull over. "It was full of smoke in the black guy's car (the car being pursued)," Lacombe said.

Robert Labranche, the head officer in the QTP group in the pursuit, said QTP first tried to stop the driver on Route 340 in Quebec.

The driver made a U-turn and fled back to Ontario when two QTP cars tried to stop him, believing him to be a cigarette smuggler.

When the car broke down and stopped near Brown House Corners, Labranche called the Ontario Provincial Police to come in because the driver was out of the QTP's jurisdiction.

The OPP then called the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to come in and handle the siutation.

Labranche said he is surprised the driver tried to flee from the tobacco police. "Usually they stop."

He said his men never attempted to stop the driver or force the vehicle off the road, preferring just to follow him until his vehicle broke down.

"It's too dangerous. You're not on a big highway here," he said of the winding and hilly County Rd. 18.

He said the driver told him he fled to Ontario because he thought he would be safe from the Quebec police.

The driver's assessment may not have been that far off base actually.

RCMP seized about eight cases of contraband liquor from the trunk of the car but said there was little else they could do because there were no probable grounds to stop the suspect in the first place.

Guy Ethier, head of the QTP's special investigation unit in Montreal, had told The News that QTP does not pursue suspect smugglers across the Ontario border.

"We call the RCMP or OPP to give them the licence plate and information because we can't cross over. We're authorized to work in Quebec only," he said in an Aug. 4 edition of The News.

But contacted yesterday, he said there is no rule prohibiting QTP officers from pursuing suspected smugglers in Ontario. It is up to the officer in charge to decide whether to continue a pursuit into Ontario, he said.

The high-speed chase was second in the area within the past month.

On July 29, a Glengarry resident got caught up in a dangerous high speed chase involving a supected cigarette smuggler and Quebec law enforcement officers on Glen Roy Road.

The van being chased turned into a private driveway and was stopped after the chase vehicles attempted to force it into a ditch.

Earlier in the chase, there was a near collision with an oncoming car when two chase cars tried to force the van off the road, according to a witness.

There also have been incidents in recent weeks involving people posing as Quebec Tobacco Police stopping drivers in Glengarry and demanding to look into their vehicles.

Three Quebec residents have been charged with impersonating Quebec Tobacco Police in connection with an incident last Tuesday on County Road 18 near Brown House Corners.

Police impersonator suspects arrested

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Charges have been laid in connection with an incident where three men impersonating Quebec Tobacco Police officers stopped a vehicle on County Road 18 (King's Road) Tuesday afternoon to check for smuggled cigarettes. Each face two criminal charges.

Mario Duguay, 34, of Laval, Daniel Imbeault, 34, of St. Leonard and Andre Lagarde, 32, of Oka have each been charged with conspiracy to commit an indictable offence and impersonation of a peace officer.

The driver of the car was pulled over by men who claimed to be QTP officers, a special branch of Quebec's Ministry of Revenue aimed at combatting cigarette smuggling.

They told the driver they were conducting a routine spot check for smuggled cigarettes and let the driver go when their search turned up nothing.

The driver called Lancaster OPP who caught up with the threesome late Tuesday afternoon.

The arrests come on the heels of several similar incidents that took place in Lancaster Township over the past three weeks. Reports of QTP impersonators began in early August.

Province okays establishment of Alexandria BIA

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The Ontario Municipal Board has approved a request to set up a Business Improvement Area in Alexandria.

The decision allows the town to go ahead and set up a BIA which will use a special tax on businesses to raise money for promotions to entice shoppers to spend in Alexandria.

A copy of the decision on the BIA, which comes at the end of more than two years of debate on the issue, has been received by the town and was to be presented to Alexandria council last night.

A hearing on the BIA proposal was held Aug. 5 with only 13 people in attendance. And although a day and a half was set aside, lack of organized opposition allowed the process to finish before lunch on the first day.

"I'm glad that it's been passed. But now the work will begin to form an organization that can effectively work for the benefit of the whole town," said BIA proponent Sheila Olson.

"It's a new beginning where everyone has a vested interest. And we hope that they will take an interest and participate in helping improve the business community of this town."

Olson dismisses claims by BIA opponents that the organization will only benefit Main Street businesses.

"If the whole town improves, their business will also improve, no matter if they are insurance or hairdressers, or whatever. The more people, the better business community, the more everybody prospers."

"Some don't think that way. Some are very narrow in their thinking and think: 'They can't do for me, I'm off of Main Street. There's nothing they can do anything for me.'"

Chamber president Sheila Olson

Francine Richer, Alexandria council's representative on the chamber of commerce, said it is time now to work to save the town's beleaguered business community.

"I'm glad because I think that we have to do something," Richer said Monday.

"I think it will be very good for the town -- everyone."

Olson was surprised that a decision was reached so quickly by the OMB.

OMB Chairman E.F. Crossland had told hearing participants it would probably be two months before a decision was reached. But it actually only took two weeks.

"We're all surprised it came through that fast," Olson said.

Olson expects the BIA to be up and running by next year. Anyone who wants to be directly involved in the association can notify the chamber of commerce.

The chamber will be submitting a list of names of people it proposes to sit on the BIA board.

Town's smoke detector bylaw in effect Sept. 1

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria residents have one more week to get smoke detectors required in a town bylaw passed in February.

The town's smoke detector bylaw comes into effect Sept. 1 and people who fail to comply with the bylaw face a maximum $2,000 fine.

The bylaw requires owners of residential buildings to install at least one smoke detector per building storey, including basements.

The bylaw was brought about by the tragic deaths of two Alexandria residents in an early morning fire July, 1991.

Reg Quenneville, fire prevention officer for Alexandria Fire Department, said enforcement will likely be only on a complaint basis.

But there is a chance that random

Boudria 'calls' election by opening riding headquarters

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Don Boudria has done something that Prime Minister Kim Campbell hasn't done yet — he's called a federal election.

Well, not really.

The longtime Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Liberal MP served notice Monday morning when he officially launched his re-election campaign by opening his campaign headquarters — located in Rockland.

Campbell, who stepped in to the prime minister's office as Brian Mulroney's successor, doesn't have to call a federal election until early September. Still, that hasn't stopped Boudria from throwing down the gauntlet.

"I've sent Miss Campbell a press release informing her of this opening. Symbolically, I feel I've called the federal election," Boudria said in a telephone interview Monday morning.

Campbell has been in office as prime minister for two months. Boudria is outraged that she hasn't called an election yet because "she doesn't have the mandate of the Canadian people."

In 1968, Pierre Trudeau called an election just six days after stepping in to fill the prime minister's shoes. In 1984, John Turner called an election about eight days after he won the Liberal leadership race and took over Canada's top job.

Campbell should have officially called the election a long time ago, Boudria maintained.

Boudria has been especially vocal about Campbell's use of the prime minister's jet to conduct a pre-election style campaign as she criss-crosses the country.

Campbell maintains that she's trying to get in touch with the average Canadian. However, Boudria says the cost to jet across Canada has already totalled $1.4 million and the meter is still running.

"You can't be half pregnant. She says she's not campaigning but she really is campaigning.

"Hopefully this (opening Boudria's headquarters) will pressure her and may lead to the call of an election which, as far as I'm concerned, can't come soon enough," Boudria said.

"If she does make the call, I'm here to say 'Ready or not Kim Campbell, here we come.'

"Let the Canadian public decide who should lead this country and my hope is it won't be her."

Up With People:

County teen selected to tour with international production

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

When Neil Emberg saw the charismatic production Up With People in Cornwall recently, he knew he had to become part of the production.

Just months later, his dream has come true.

Emberg, of Munro Mills near Martintown, has been selected as one of 700 people who will be in one of the cross-cultural music and dance production's five groups next year.

"I saw it. I was really impressed," said Emberg in an interview last week.

"I said: 'I want to do this. This is what I want to do.'"

The 18-year-old high school student was one of 8,000 people that applied for a spot in the Up With People production.

Starting July next year, he will travel more than 48,000 km., visit more than 80 towns and cities on two continents, meet hundreds of diverse people, perform countless acts of community.

Basically, he will experience more than many people do in a lifetime.

"Just the list of cities is amazing," said the enthusiastic musician.

Up With People was formed to build understanding among nations and to spark people to action in meeting the needs of their communities, countries and the world.

It also serves to equip young people with the leadership qualities of global perspective, intregity and motivation to service.

And it is a great way to see other parts of the world and experience different cultures.

"That's the best way to discover a country or a place," Emberg said of the program.

"You meet a lot of people and you make a lot of close friends."

The Denver, Colorado based Up With People was formed by J. Blanton Belk, who envisioned a way to channel the idealism of committed youth into an ongoing program to build world understanding.

Beginning with a single cast created out of a summer youth conference "hootenanny" in 1965, Up With People incorporated in 1968 as an independent, non-profit educational program.

It has since grown to have five in-

Correction

A Lancaster Township council brief that appeared in last week's edition of The Glengarry News inaccurately stated that council opposed a provincial government program that would install feeding stations on farms to reduce damage. The program is actually a federal government initiative.

A gospel concert will be held on Sunday, Sept. 12 at the Kirk Hill Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. to benefit Matthieu Thibault and not on Wednesday, Sept. 12.

The News apologizes for these errors.

Ron Masson of Masson Insurance Ltd. (second from left), presents a cheque to Reg Quenneville, chief fire prevention officer for Alexandria fire department, to equip Sparky the fire dog. The $524 donated to date has been used for materials to build Sparky and to purchase uniforms for the fire prevention officers, for use in the fire department's educational Learn Not to Burn program. Looking on with Sparky is Richard Rozon, a fire prevention officer with Alexandria Fire Department.

Meet Sparky the firedog

The Alexandria Fire Department is proud to announce a new arrival to its force, "Sparky."

Sparky goes back many years in the fire service. In the late 1800's and early 1900's Dalmations (Sparky) were used to chase away stray dogs from the path on which the horse drawn fire brigade was travelling.

Through the years though, the dogs became obsolete, and only Sparky remained as a token of that era. He is used by the Fire Prevention Department as a mascot.

The Alexandria Fire Prevention Department is proud to have Sparky helping it to implement the "Learn Not To Burn Program."

He will be of great help during presentations to young children in Pre-Kindergarten and up to Grade 4.

The Learn Not To Burn Program was introduced last year and was very successful.

Smoke detector bylaw in effect Sept. 1

inspections of homes will also be done.

However it is enforced, town residents are playing a dangerous game if they don't comply.

If there is a fire, they, without smoke detectors, face a greater risk. And if they do manage to escape, they may face a fine for not having the necessary smoke detectors.

They may also be forced to come up with an explanation for their insurance company as well.

"I don't think I'd take a chance (not complying)," said Quenneville. "Especially with the insurance."

"As long as everbody gets out, you always know the insurance will cover the damages. But if you don't have a smoke detector and the company decides to give you a hard time about it, you're taking a risk."

The smoke detector bylaw was passed to ensure the safety of town residents from fire.

"That's the bottom line. It will save lives and save property also," Quenneville said.

Smoke detectors give building occupants that necessary early warning to help them get out before it is too late.

Once a flame starts in a room, the occupants have about five minutes to get out before the total room is engulfed.

If the fire starts in the bedroom and there is no alarm to waken the sleeping occupants, they can die of smoke inhalation.

If they do awake, they may become so disoriented from the effects of the smoke that they cannot escape, Quenneville said.

who claimed or were suspected to be QTP officers.

The first incident was reported in the Aug. 4 edition of The News and detailed a dangerous high speed chase between suspected QTP officers and a suspected cigarette smuggler along the Glen Roy Road.

The second incident took place about a week later and was reported in the Aug. 11 of The News. A Cornwall resident was intimidated into showing QTP imposters the back of his pickup truck to prove he wasn't smuggling cigarettes.

In previous interviews, Guy Ethier, head of the QTP's special investigation unit in Montreal, denied that the QTP were involved in either incident.

Any residents who have been detained by men claiming to be QTP officers while driving in Ontario are asked to call Lancaster OPP at 347-2440.

Duguay, Imbeault and Lagarde will appear in Alexandria Provincial Court on Thursday, August 26.

Flying high in France:

Glengarry Air Cadet one of only five Canadians invited to participate in glider exchange program

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

There is a heaven on earth and Lianne Paquette found it 5,000 feet above the nearest landing strip.

Paquette spent three weeks of her summer flying through clouds, skimming mountaintops and getting away from the hustle and bustle that surrounded her on the ground.

The RR 5 Alexandria resident returned from France about three weeks ago where she participated in a glider exchange program.

The 18-year-old high flyer is a cadet with the 379 Glengarry Air Cadet Squadron and was one of only five cadets from Canada invited to participate in the exchange.

"All I remember is they asked 'Hey you, do you want to go to France for three weeks?'

"'Yeah. Sure. Okay. No problem. I'll take that,'" Paquette says while opening her mouth and eyes wide open to imitate the shock that swept over her when she received the invitation.

Lianne, the daughter of Michel and Denise Paquette, went up in a Mariannes (a high-performance glider) nine times and spent nearly eight hours in the air.

"When your glider is in tow behind the other airplane, it's really noisy. But when you're released, everything goes silent. It's a great way to relax," she says.

> "All I remember is they asked 'Hey you, do you want to go to France for three weeks.'"
> Lianne Paquette of 379 Glengarry Air Cadet Squadron

Paquette, who joined the cadets only two years ago cuts loose by doing rolls and other stomach churning manoeuvres. But in France, the object was to stay airborne as long as possible and travel as far as possible.

"You could fly straight towards the mountains and a wind current would push you up and over. It was an incredible feeling," she says.

Now that Paquette has her feet firmly planted on Glengarry soil, she has plenty of tales to spin for her family and friends. She reminisces about her three-week journey while flipping through a scrapbook filled with photos, postcards and strange mementos.

When Paquette and the other four exchange cadets arrived in France on July 13, they realized this wasn't going to be just another assignment. They touched down in Lahr on the eve of Bastille Day (France's equivalent to Canada Day) and took in the music, fireworks, parade and merriment associated with the festivities.

Paquette must have wondered if this was what the military was all about.

"When I arrived at Carleton University a few days before we left for France, I figured this was going to be tough. I slept a lot during those two days because I figured I would get little sleep during this assignment," Paquette says.

Her instincts proved to be right. However, it wasn't the tough flying regimen that kept her awake for long periods. Instead, it was her travels.

In addition to Bastille Day, Paquette experienced the French Riviera, climbed 320 steps to get to the top of La Cathedrale in Strasbourg, enjoyed sit down dinners in an army and navy mess and visited L'Eco-Musee - France's equivalent to Upper Canada Village, an attraction which showed tourists how 19th century people lived.

In January, 1992, Paquette was one of only 75 people who received a glider pilot licence scholarship to attend the Central Region Gliding School in Trenton. She scored an impressive 90 per cent on her admittance exam, which 600 other wannabe gliders wrote.

In August, 1992, she earned her wings and the rest is aviation history.

"When people think of an air cadet they don't think there's opportunities like this one. I didn't think so either until I joined,"

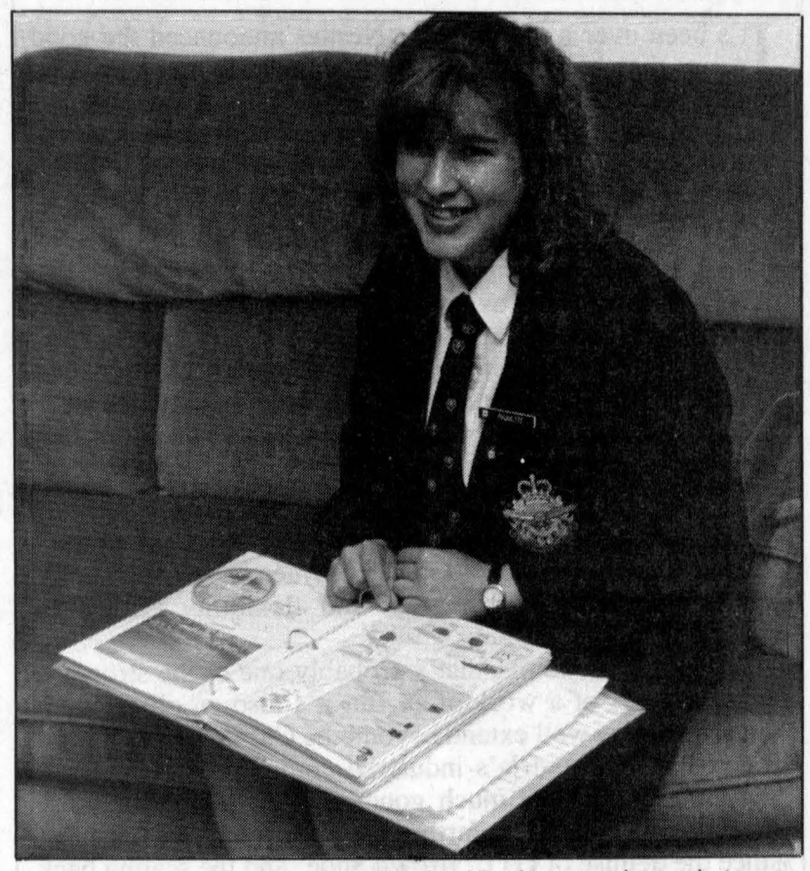
Although there were a wide variety of dialects and slangs of French, Paquette had no trouble communicating. She only suffered from a slight case of culture shock.

"Their yogurt has no fruit on the bottom. They use a lot of coins so that weighs you down and everybody eats bread and cheese. Breakfast, lunch and supper."

The always smiling teenager shows off some of the yogurt tops from France that are a treasured piece of her scrapbook. She also collected a few gum wrappers.

"Hollywood Gum isn't as good as Trident," she laughs.

The glider exchange was the first of its kind between France and Canada. It was created in an effort to promote friendship and goodwill between the young people of participant countries, encouraged Canadian Air Cadets to develop in international affairs and rewarded air cadets who have rendered outstanding service.



Lianne Paquette filled her scrapbook with photographs and strange momentos following a glider exchange program to France.

Glengarry inspires poet's latest work

Henry Beissel's 'Stones to Harvest' strives to join earth to humanity

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Five years ago, Henry Beissel would never have penned Stones to Harvest.

But the death of his father in 1988 and his own brush with mortality this year forced the accomplished poet and playwright to re-examine his life.

"I was in the Intensive Care Unit at a Winnipeg hospital recovering from a heart attack. I had to rethink my life when I returned home in June.

"I've always been a workaholic. The more I do, the more I get done. But sooner or later the system lets us know we're doing too much. I acted as an immortal but I now know better," says the Maxville area resident.

"I don't write to pass on my wisdom. I write to get past my ignorance and it helps me gain a better understanding of things. To me, this book is a reconciliation of mortality and an affirmation of life through love."

> "I write to get past my ignorance and it helps me to gain a better understanding of things."

His latest literary feat is Stones to Harvest, a paperback book featuring 47 lyrical love poems that revolve around the great outdoors and the relationship between man and nature.

But the poems are written on a much more complex level depicting the relationship between men and women. It's something that isn't obvious on the first, second or third reading but the mystery reveals itself after much more thought.

He didn't set out to write a book of love poems. It just happened that way.

Beissel found his inspiration for his latest endeavor in his own backyard. The white haired whimsical author often bicycled or walked along the country roads of Glengarry near his home and brought back images and thoughts that he put down on paper.

Originally, he wanted to call the book Glengarry Sweet since the self-described "outsider" is sweet on Glengarry.

He decided on the more ambiguous Stones to Harvest which symbolizes the cycle of life.

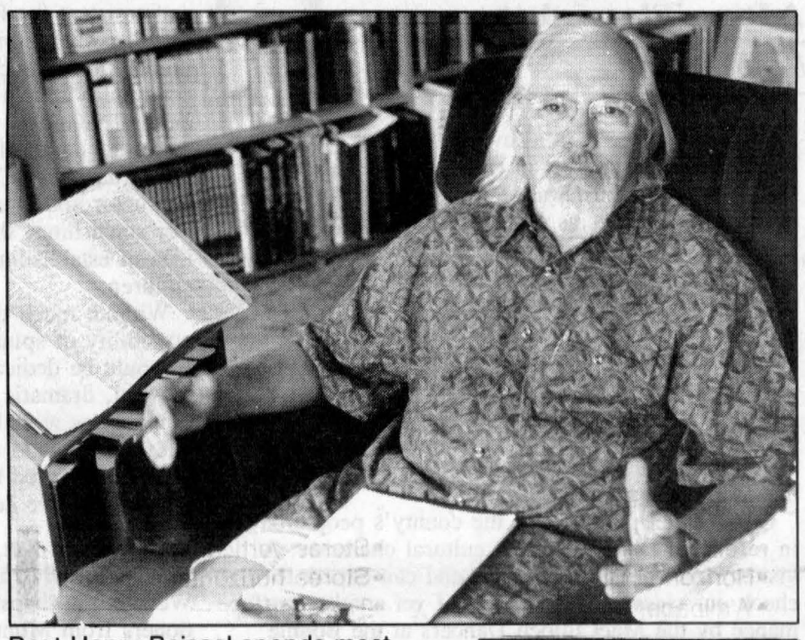
Huge rocks often wreak havoc for farmers. They are nearly immovable but they eventually break down and supplement the soil helping to feed the crops.

All of the 47 poems are based on his observations and experiences around the landscape in Glengarry.

Beissel has become more of a disciplined writer. He gets up early in the morning and writes at least a few lines. He aims for quality work and not quantity.



Poet Henry Beissel spends most mornings in the quiet solitude of his study. Surrounded by seemingly endless rows of books, the Maxville area writer penned most of the poems for his latest work, Stones to Harvest, here. Shown right, the cover of Stones to Harvest was painted by Beissel's wife, Arlette Franciere.

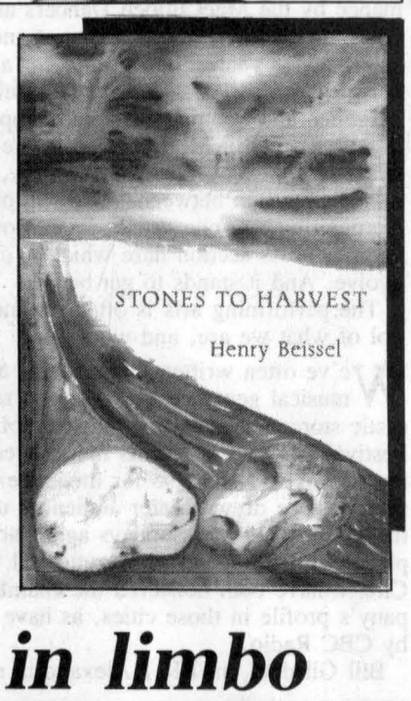
He has penned nearly 30 books including poetry and dramas. His first book was published in 1963 and has continued to write. He also works as a part-time teacher at Concordia University where he works in the dramatic arts department.

He'll be reading from his latest work on Friday, August 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Glengarry Book Store.



Cleary's pleas still falling on deaf ears

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Local MPP John Cleary is once again calling on the government to intervene in area cigarette smuggling trade to restore peace and safety.

Cleary's pleas come on the heals of a gunfight a week ago in which one suspected smuggler was injured with a gun wound to the stomach and dropped off at a dock in the Glen Walter area.

"Both my home and office have been deluged with calls from frightened residents all over the area who demand that your government take any necessary steps to restore calm to the area," Cleary says in a letter to Solicitor General David Christopherson.

And he is once again inviting Christopherson -- he has already refused one invitation -- to talk to police and residents and see first hand "the results of smuggling cartels."

"Again, I implore you to take action immediately in conjunction with your federal counterpart to restore peace to this area. I would be happy to arrange any opportunity that you might have to tour the area."

During the past several months, Cleary has made it clear that the smuggling of cigarettes and alcohol across federal borders has cost the government millions of dollars in lost revenue.

But he adds: "The issue is no longer just one of lost revenue; it is a matter of personal safety. The smuggling is badly out-of-hand and getting worse every night.

"The geographic area affected by smuggling is widening and smugglers' networks rapidly spreading."

Residents can no longer fish or go out on the river in boats at night because of the gunfire, which is affecting the tourism industry and taking its toll on residents, Cleary says.

"Many of the individuals I have spoken to are reticent even to give their names, fearing reprisals from smuggling organizations."

"I have been told that smugglers are boldy approaching property owners along the river areas to rent their garages to house the contraband cigarettes."

He says police officers have told him their hands are tied from lack of appropriate weaponry, insufficient officers and the unwillingness of residnts to report smuggling occurrences.

The situation has gotten so bad that reportedly the local Coast Guard volunteer search and rescue team has stopped night patrols on the river.

The team decided to stop the patrols after being caught in a gun battle on the river two weeks ago while responding to a call about a boat burning and adrift on the river near Glen Walter.

The smuggling situation on the river has gained national attention with an article on the problem in the July issue of Reader's Digest and a spread in the recent issue of Time magazine, which refers to the area as Smugglers' Alley.

Martintown sewer plan remains in limbo

By Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

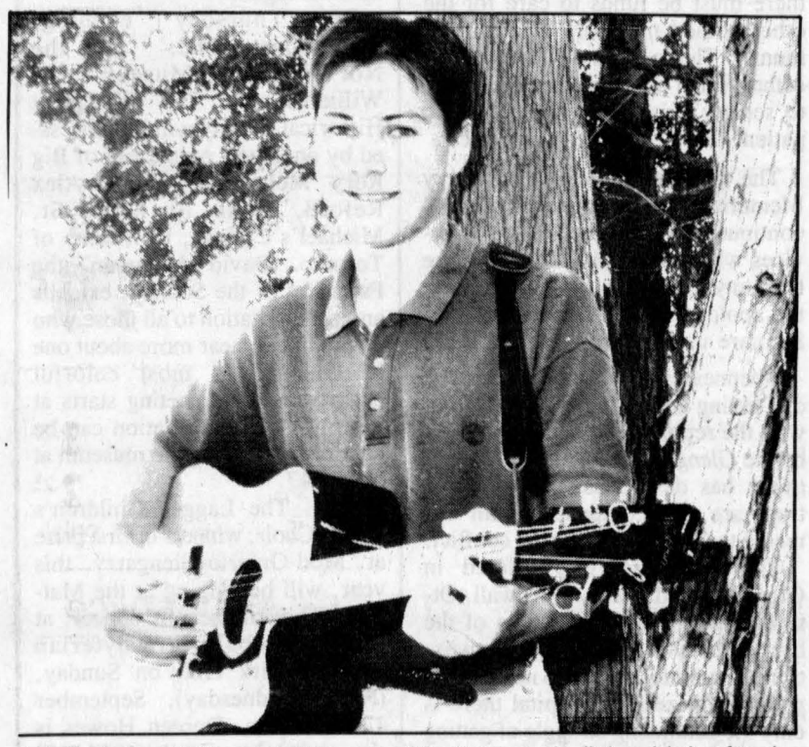
No date has been set yet for a public meeting of Martintown residents to discuss the possibility of a sewage works project in the hamlet.

At a regular meeting of Charlottenburgh council held August 17, Administrator-Clerk Marcel Lapierre, revealed that the township was eligible to receive 85 per cent funding for the engineering costs of the project. A letter from Environment Minister Bud Wildman, dated July 16, said that the province would award the direct grant, "for all eligible costs associated with the engineering of the project."

The letter further states, "You should not expect grant funds to be made available for the construction of your project without our further written commitment." The grant program also requires the municipality to obtain the Ministry's concurrence with the choice of the consulting engineer selected to undertake the assignment.

The choice of engineering firms for the project has been a source of controversy since water samples taken in Martintown in 1990 and again in 1991 revealed almost 34 per cent of wells in the hamlet had drinking water that was considered "unsafe." Following a presentation to council in September, 1991, McNeely Engineering was unanimously chosen to be the project's engineers. This decision was overturned in March of 1992, in keeping with the new council's commitment to adhere to the tendering process, and the firm of M.S. Thompson & Associates Ltd. was selected instead.

Council's experience with its other sewage facilities in Glen Walter and Green Valley has shown the benefit of meetings with residents



Neil Emberg of Munro Mills, near Martintown, is flying high after he was accepted to become part of the international educational music and dance group Up With People. ternational touring companies.

And more than 13,000 young people from 64 countries have travelled in 112 different casts, presenting 11,000 two-hour shows and 40,000 informal performances for an estimated 36 million people.

Emberg is hoping he'll be posted with the group that gets the plum assignment of touring Europe to promote unity and understanding of different cultures through music and dance.

"I'm sure I'll get a little homesick. But I'll handle it for a while," said Emberg, interviewed at his home last week.

The talented youth -- he plays the bagpipes and drums in the Glengarry Pipe Band, plays guitar in a local band and also plays the French horn -- had planned to take a year off on his own after high school to travel.

Landing a position with the Up With People group was just a fortunate coincidence.

"When I saw it, it was perfect," he explained. It was an opportunity to do the travelling he wanted to do so badly and also a chance to play music.

He is not too worried about learning the music he will have to play for Up With People performances. That he should have no problem mastering.

What may be difficult is coming up with the $14,000 that he will have to pay in two installments to become part of the group.

Since he is going back to school this fall to finish his OAC credits, he will have little opportunity to raise the money himself.

But so far, things are looking optimistic, Emberg said.

"People have offered $100 here, $100 there. It's great. I could use the help."

Right now, he is just concentrating on doing well in school and getting his OAC credits.

"If I've got something to motivate me, I'll do well (and) get good grades."

He has a little less than a year to prepare for it. "Hopefully everything will work out."

Carnation's good name could boost area fortunes

It's been over a month since Nestles announced the good news, that Alexandria's Carnation plant would be spared and in fact will receive a $5 million capital investment over the next three years. The preservation of jobs and the enhancement of the plant is reason enough for rejoicing. But what this move says about the quality of workers at Carnation has the potential to aid the greater community in its quest for industry.

A ''microscopic'' review was conducted by Nestles of its plants throughout Canada and the United States to determine whether they are cut out to compete in the highly competitive global market. Nestles looked at workforce stability, the community and the quality of product lines the plant is producing. Said company spokesman Michael Rosicki at the time: ''Alexandria came out in spades.''

Perhaps more significantly, about the plant's employees, Rosicki had this to say: ''Our employees have consistently demonstrated the commitment and flexibility critical to success.''

In today's economy, that's probably one of the strongest endorsements of a workforce. But it's also an observation that could very well extend beyond the Carnation plant, into the rest of Alexandria's industrial community.

There hasn't been much good news in that community recently, except that no further plants or jobs have been lost since the demise of GTL, Brown Shoe, and the scaling back of operations and other smaller companies which have come and gone.

But the one constant thread continuing through the years is the depth and strength of the area's work ethic.

Remember, while workers throughout the company's network refused to accept concessions, Alexandria's GTL workers voted to accept pay and seniority cutbacks when it was trying desperately to restructure.

The numerous workers already trained in sewing and piece work have made the town an ideal location for new and Quebec-based textile companies to escape the punitive tax and political policies of that province. They have consistently found workers here to be hard-working and extremely skilled.

It hasn't all been in a good cause. Still other companies who came and went took advantage of that ethic with pathetic wages and poor working conditions. Enough of those left or burned themselves out, leaving behind an existing industrial community made up of responsible corporate citizens and one that is still, despite the challenges of the economy, in good shape.

This is no coincidence. Some of the area's companies are boldly testing the free trade waters in fact, trying to shore up well-established domestic sales. This has only been possible as a result of the partnership of sound management, timely and rapid adjustment to the marketplace and the work of dedicated employees.

The Carnation announcement embodies all that's right with the area's work force. And the results of its international study should be used by economic development officials here as a centrepiece in a renewed program to attract new and dynamic industries.

Forget about Kim's frumpiness

In this strange, pre-campaign campaign in which the three federal political leaders are participating this summer, a bored media is trying to make Prime Minister Kim Campbell's weight gain an issue by reporting it a source of worry for her staff. Really, it is summer, but has the news scene really become that barren?

Apparently. A recent column in an Ottawa daily said ''it's important to the Tory election machine that Campbell appear trim and fit and ready to campaign in photographs in the newspapers and in television clips.'' Similar comments by the columnist left no doubt that she regarded it as vital, too.

There is no doubt that the power of television and the telephoto lens has made appearance a more important consideration for politicians than it was a half century ago. But voters today are sick and tired of the old rules generally governing who gets elected and who loses.

Trim leaders have let the country down just as surely as homely ones could have done. Brian Mulroney's stately chin did nothing to stop him from cynically rolling the dice or making that rash of patronage appointments before he left. Robert Stanfield by the media's measure was a thoroughly unattractive man, unable to compete against the dashing Pierre Trudeau. Today, they say he had the potential of becoming Canada's greatest prime minister. And what about Joe Clark?

Kim Campbell's heftier build makes her more human, more in tune with the appearance and quirky eating habits of ordinary Canadians. For somebody with her schedule and committments, she better reflects the everyday gastronomic pressures of the ordinary working stiff, female or male.

Leave Kim Campbell's appearance alone. Here's to substance.

How about a Glengarry Arts Council?

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

There are more than a few of us about who still take morbid interest in ridiculing our culture, or lack thereof. Is the phrase ''Canadian culture'' the ultimate oxymoron, as described by Montreal comedy team Bowser and Blue?

A European hosting a Kenyon man in his homeland recently told his guest directly that, ''Canadians have no culture.'' He may or may not have known that he was touching a nerve, our collective need to compare ourselves with others around the world.

The reality, however, is that Glengarrians routinely celebrate their culture; they just don't expend a lot of air doing it (that is, unless they happen to be one of the county's many fine bagpipers).

Quietly, yet perceptibly, the county's people have in recent times exerted their cultural character. A visitor here on any given weekend can expect to check our classifieds and learn of yet another performance by the MacCulloch Dancers at the Bonnie Glen, an agricultural exhibition at another fair, the Gaelic choir's latest appearance, or a francophone performance series at Centre Culturele in Alexandria.

French and Scottish Canadian happenings, from the highly successful Mod Ontario to the annual Glengarry en fete, both held in May, and all of the mixed events in between, have without any central planning by any one group, layed down a broad cultural cross section here which is continuing to evolve. And it stands to get better.

The performing arts is often the most outward symbol of what we are, and were.

We've often written this summer about the small musical gem that has taken up residence in a rustic storage shed on the outskirts of Alexandria. Festival Alexandria had its most successful season in the three years of its so far modest existence. Each performance drew greater audiences until the final of the season held two Sundays ago practically sold the place out. The Montreal Gazette and the Ottawa Citizen have both bolstered the chamber music company's profile in those cities, as have the live tapings by CBC Radio.

Bill Gilsdorf, an RR 1 Alexandria resident, ex-Montreal media teacher from Concordia University, and assistant for Festival Alexandria, dropped by Friday to pick our brains and mull over ideas in preparation for next year. He is seeking the greater community's help in getting behind this exciting cultural venture.

In the course of our talk, in walked another Montreal transplant, Concordia creative educational arts instructor and Dunvegan area resident, Cheryl Neill. For some time, she has been bouncing around the idea of establishing a local English theatre for children.

Without much thought, we chewed cud about the possibility of spinning off a county-wide arts council. It would be dedicated to promoting local culture be it musical, dramatic, literary or recreational. For it was obvious, as we talked that the efforts of Festival Alexandria could dovetail neatly with a live theatre that could be led by a genuine pro like Neill -- and others who live here.

There is in fact, a wealth of proven creative talent of considerable repute to draw from in the county. We listed perhaps a half-dozen top-rated arts practitioners from Montreal, now residents of the county. Some are academics with key connections to other valuable resources.

Hey, the thought extends, mesh these people into the richness of the traditional cultural celebrants, the Scottish and the French Canadian influences, and, well, the possibilities begin to take a wonderful shape.

Key to such a group would be its inclusiveness; no elitists allowed, thank you. The arts is for everyone. And that would be at the very root of such a council, to promote the performing cultural arts Glengarry now lacks from within, and to showcase the existing local culture with equal strength.

Money? Ah, the single most troubling five-letter word of 1993. We would favor a group free of the necessity of government grants, instead funded by the proceeds it earns from its activities.

Pie in the sky, Walden-like fluff? Maybe. But it has been done elsewhere. Arts councils dot the province, thriving in towns with populations as small as Alexandria's and as big as Toronto.

To steal a line from the late great John Lennon, a cultural icon himself, you may say I'm a dreamer, but I'm not the only one.

GMH a victim of centralization of service

To the editor:

Another Perspective re: Winds of Change at GMH etc.

Not everyone agrees with the harsh criticism with which you have judged the performance of the local hospital boards of the past. Most of their decisions were made on the basis of what's needed, what's available and what's affordable. Although my vocabulary lacks the preciseness of medical terminology, I would appreciate the opportunity of stating my opinions publicly regarding health care services in our area.

Many services have become centralized in treatment centres with teams of specialists and latest technology. Patients want the opinion of specialists and specialists want the support of colleagues and facilities. Hawkesbury and Cornwall have difficulty attracting this expertise. How can Alexandria hope for this? The referral practice is as good a practice as possible.

Lines of communication in Glengarry were established long before the building of GMH. So residents of the south built rapport with health services in Cornwall and residents of the north with Hawkesbury. The rapport is very difficult to change.

My grandmothers had all their children 12 and 18, at home but if I had lived in their day my life would have ended with the birth of our first child. For that occasion I was transported to Cornwall from GMH when it was brand new. The whole experience taught me that every mother-to-be should avail herself of a birthing centre with the most up-to-date expertise and technology.

Local doctors treat sick children on a regular basis but now doctors, parents and children have the support of CHEO, the children's hospital in Ottawa.

Very generally speaking young people respond to a variety of treatments more quickly than aging adults so that in any general hospital there are going to be more seniors than youth.

However, the system of funding a general hospital discourages the establishment of palliative care and chronic care units, the units that are most needed. The public image of a hospital is the TV version of an emergency unit with sirens blaring, bells clanging, lights flashing and a nearby surgical team with sharpened knives. Such is society's subconscious entertainment of violence.

Even with the present day development of the VON and homemaker services and nursing homes there is a great demand for hospital treatment of the aging and chronically ill persons. Providing care and treatment for these patients is emotionally and energy draining but also medically challenging.

In a society that rewards its strong, beautiful bodied entertainers with million dollar salaries, gold glittering arenas and stages, empty memorabilia bedecked halls of fame immortalizing moments of brilliant play, surely there must be funds to care for the other bodied members of our community. The modern-day demand for euthanasia in my opinion is a response to society's message to the chronic patient that he or she is worthless.

The present board of Glengarry Memorial Hospital must maintain and continually improve its existing services which are numerous but more than anything else it must eradicate the apologetic attitude of a continuing care unit.

Openness is always characteristic of a loving and caring community but with the reporting of board meetings by the Glengarry News a negative attitude has developed. Honesty and trust are not compatible with the media techniques of staging conflict.

The health services offered in Glengarry and nearby Cornwall, Ottawa and Montreal are some of the best in the world. For these I am extremely grateful. There is no glorious past to any general hospital there is only the continuing struggle of getting better and meeting needs according to funding.

The gentle giant of Glengarry

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

When he was 17 years old he leaped over three horses standing side by side. He could run faster and throw the hammer farther than anyone in Glengarry. Eventually, no one in Canada or the States could beat him at the hammer-throw. Scotland's greatest heavy-events champion, Donald Dinnie, refused to compete against him. He was proclaimed world champion several times. Because of his enormous strength and quiet nature, the sportswriters of the day dubbed him ''The Gentle Giant of Glengarry.'' He was Roderick R. ''Big Rory'' McLennan, the greatest athlete that Glengarry ever produced.

Big Rory McLennan's grandfather was Farquhar McLennan of Kintail, that legendary area of the Scottish Highlands opposite the Isle of Skye. The people of Kintail, mostly Macraes, MacKenzies and McLennans, were, with their Chisholm neighbors to the north, reputed to be the biggest and strongest of all the Highland people. The McLennans of Glen Donald, Charlottenburgh, were no exception. Rory and his brothers were all big and immensely strong, but coupled with that strength was an agility that is rare in very big men. They could run as well as they could put the shot or throw the hammer.

Big Rory's father was a veteran of the Rebellion of 1837, serving in the Glengarry militia. Although the uprising in Upper Canada was led by a Gaelic-speaking Highland Scot and first mayor of Toronto, William Lyon MacKenzie, there was little sympathy for the rising in Glengarry and the area remained loyal.

Big Rory's mother was descended from the Macdonells of Muineal in Knoydart and was the niece of Finnan the Buffalo. Big Rory inherited his remarkable strength from both sides of the family.

But feats of strength and fame in the heavy events at Highland Games were only part of Big Rory's life. He became a contractor and built rail lines through some of the most difficult terrain in Canada. He founded a bank and four newspapers. After several defeats, he was elected to the Toronto Legislature in 1892. His life was clouded with controversy and criticism as far as his activities as a contractor, banker, and politician were concerned, but no one ever questioned his athletic prowess.

Big Rory died in 1907, a very wealthy man, but all the fame and fortune in the world could not make up for his one great tragedy. In 1877, at the age of 35, he gave an exhibition throw of the hammer at the Queen's Anniversary festivities in Cornwall. The hammer struck and killed a young woman who had wandered onto the field. Big Rory never threw the hammer again.

On Thursday evening, September 2nd, at the Nor'Westers Museum in Williamstown, The Glengarry Historical Society will be addressed by an expert on the life of Big Rory McLennan. He is Alex Reford, Dean of Men, St. Michael's College, University of Toronto. David Anderson, the President of the Society, extends an open invitation to all those who would like to hear more about one of Glengarry's most colorful characters. The meeting starts at 8 p.m. More information can be obtained by calling the museum at 347-3547.

Note: The Laggan Children's Gaelic Choir, winners of first prize at Mòd-Ontario-Glengarry this year, will be singing at the Matthieu Thibault benefit concert at St. Columba's Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, on Sunday, (NOT Wednesday), September 12, at 8 p.m. Doreen Howes is organizing the concert, which will consist of many groups from the area Call 525-2942 for more information.

Councillor defends "five minute" meeting

To the editor:

In last week's issue, Mr. Ferrier expressed great disgust that I was expecting to be paid for attending two meetings on the same night even though I only attended the second meeting for just "five minutes." Mr. Ferrier has a great talent for exaggerating and distorting the facts.

To begin with, the hospital meeting was a special one that was supposed to end at 8 p.m. Unfortunately it ran to 10 p.m. and because of its importance, I felt it was better for me to stay to the end of this meeting and miss the council meeting altogether. On my way home at 10 p.m., I decided to bypass my house and continue to see if there was anyone left at the township office so that I could get caught up on what I had missed, even thought the council meeting might be over. It seems this was an error in judgment for when I arrived in North Lancaster, the meeting was not over. When the "last" motion was read, it was not specified that it was the "last" motion so I voted on it and I automatically had my name entered in the minutes by doing so. Only after this did I find out that this was the "last" motion and that the meeting was, for Mr. Ferrier, over. After Mr. Ferrier left, I went over every item discussed at this meeting with council members because it is up to me to keep well informed on municipal business. I walked out of the township office one and a half hours later.

Approximately two months ago, I was working late and could not attend our regular council meeting. When driving home, I passed in front of the township office and noticed that council members were still there. I went in and even though the meeting was over and my name did not appear in the minutes, I stayed an hour or so to get caught up on what I had missed.

The only difference to me between these two occurences is that I unfortunately got my name entered in the first one's mintues. Consequently, this states that I was present for said meeting and should be paid. Mr. Ferrier seems to think that in driving from the hospital meeting to the township office all I had on my mind was collecting another $95. So, what is my excuse for the night I worked late?

When Mr. Ferrier phoned and woke me up at 10 p.m. to ask if I was going to be paid for the "five minute" meeting, he found me "vague and evasive." I wonder how he sounds when he is half asleep. I only remember being very polite with Mr. Ferrier and telling him that I had not even thought about it. Council meetings are paid in December and it is not up to me to decide whether I get paid for one or two meetings. I do not tell council: "I attended X number of meetings and this is what I should get," — they tell me!

Whatever they decide, I accept! When I said to Mr. Ferrier that I dont' cry to get paid at every meeting I attend, I meant it. How would it have appeared had I walked in to the council meeting and before doing anything else I would have asked whether I was getting paid for this meeting or not. If council decides to pay me for all or some meetings it is not up to me to decide. I don't care if I get paid for the "five minute" meeting or not. If that fateful meeting had been over by the time I got there, no harm would have been done — my name would not have appeared in the minutes and I still would have gotten caught up on what I had missed. Or better yet, had the meeting lasted until 2 a.m., you would have all been impressed at how long council members can keep going. My timing was my downfall!

I have served on council for eight years. I am very proud to have missed very, very few meetings. I am at most meetings a full half hour before they begin and I often stay quite late after they are over just to make sure I fully understand the matters discussed. If the residents of Lancaster Township feel I have done them a disservice by trying to keep informed, it is up to them to tell me so. I have tried to be accessible to the residents of Lancaster Township. When they phone me with township problems, I listen and I take action. I have often displaced myself day or night to try to resolve municipal problems. I do not get paid for this nor do I expect to. If council decides not to pay me for the "five minute" meeting is the most trivial thing I am dealing with these days and if Mr. Ferrier has nothing better to do than make an issue out of this, then, I must feel sorry for him as he must have a very dull life.

By the way, Mr. Ferrier, two meetings falling on the same night have been for me as frequent as solar eclipses — so keep your gaze skyward, Scott!

Don't forget about the dog show trials

To the editor:

Thank you for covering the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Dog Association's annual dog show in your newspaper. Our club really appreciates the attention you gave us, especially on such a busy weekend in our area.

However, there are a few points I'd like to correct. First of all, there are shows and trials, and this year, as well as last year, the trials part is nonexistant in your report.

Obedience trials, which these are, test the teamwork of trainers and their dogs in specific obedience exercises which lead to obedience titles. Competitors work hard to achieve these titles sometimes taking months or years to train the dogs to the level of their goal.

Your article mentions three judges. There were actually five, Mr. Charles Dowling from Halifax, N.S. and Mr. Richard Bucknell from Regina, Saskatchewan, travelled many miles to judge our obedience trials and worked hard throughout the three-day event to examine every team entered in the obedience trials. For the sake of the contestants and judges, and in appreciation for their hard work, they should be mentioned in your report.

Watching a dog show where dogs are competing in conformation — or the beauty pageant — can be interesting but at times confusing and perhaps, boring, for the spectator. Viewing dogs being put through their paces in the obedience ring, however, is always exciting and truly entertaining.

I hope that next year you'll afford the obedience people a little time and space in your paper. I know you'll enjoy watching the competition and it just might make a few people want to unhook Fido from that chain in the back yard and find out how much of a "companion" he really can be!

Sincerely,
Sandra Cooper,
Williamstown.

News thanked for coverage

To the editor:

As co-director of Festival Alexandria, I am writing to thank you for including us in your editorial of July 21st, 1993. As you can appreciate, any publicity is valuable to an organization such as ours, but your kind remarks and endorsement of our efforts is worth much more.

We do hope that our project will, in some small way, help to boost the economy of the region and Alexandria in particular, and we know that a number of our audience have patronized stores and restaurants in the area. We are also grateful for the support of local residents who have worked hard to make our series known in the community, and to businesses that have kindly provided us with refreshments each week. These tangible signs of encouragement make our task much easier.

I would however like to indicate to you that our organization is a non-profit one, and that we do receive funding from the Touring Office of the Ontario Arts Council. Their support makes it possible for us to ensure that the musicians who perform in our series are paid a fee for their services — something that could not be guaranteed without making our ticket prices significantly higher.

In closing, I would just like to say how much my partner, Laurie Altman and myself want to thank you for your recognition of our efforts. The newspaper coverage extended to us by the Glengarry News has been generous indeed, and I hope that we can continue to count on your support and that of the community.

Ruth Barrie,
Ottawa.

Man treated "like a king" at hospital

To the editor:

Having had recent experiences at three different area hospitals I can only tell the people of Alexandria that during my stay at Glengarry Memorial Hospital I was treated like a king. The food was excellent and the time and attention given by nurses and staff was tops. We should also be grateful for having our local hospital.

Keep up the good work.

Charges laid following two-car collision

Police Briefs

A 74-year-old North Lancaster man has been charged with a traffic violation following a two-car collision Tuesday morning at the intersection of Main and Lochiel Street.

Richard Burns, 68, of Alexandria was eastbound on Lochiel Street when Gyorgyi Telbisz, of North Lancaster, hit him. Telbisz was southbound on Main Street at 9:45 a.m. and, according to Alexandria police, ran the red light.

The 1991 Mazda, driven by Burns, and the 1984 Chrysler, driven by Telbisz, both sustained moderate damage.

Burns suffered minor injuries but didn't need to go to hospital.

Telbisz has been charged with running a red light.

Charges laid

An Alexandria resident was charged with a traffic violation after she hit a car while attempting to merge with traffic on Main Street Friday afternoon.

Gerard Paradis, 66, of RR 3 Alexandria was northbound on Main Street at 3:05 p.m. on Friday when Debbie Leroux of Alexandria attempted to merge from the parking lot in front of Giant Tiger.

Leroux's 1990 Mercury Topaz struck the left side of the 1988 Pontiac driven by Paradis.

Both cars sustained moderate damage. Neither driver was hurt.

Leroux has been charged with failing to yield the right of way from a private driveway.

Rollin'

An Alexandria resident was treated for minor injuries and released from Glengarry Memorial Hospital following a late afternoon single-car accident on Friday.

Carol Deguire, 40, was westbound on County Road 45, just east of Kenyon Dam Road, when she lost control of her 1988 Buick. The Buick veered into the north ditch but returned to the road and rolled three times.

Deguire was taken to GMH. Her car was a write off.

Bike-car mishap

A young cyclist was sent to Glengarry Memorial Hospital Thursday night following a collision with a passing car.

Julie Bissonette, 13, of Lancaster was southbound on Highway 34 at 9:30 p.m. when she attempted to turn on to Concession Road Seven. Her bike struck a southbound car — driven by Michel Brunet, 19, of Cornwall — as it attempted to pass.

Bissonette was sent to GMH where she received several stitches to her left elbow.

Car stolen

Alexandria Police are investigating the theft of a 1972 Dodge Charger stolen from a local garage sometime overnight on Friday.

The two-door Charger is dark metallic blue and is in good condition. The car is valued at $8,000.

That hurt

A Toronto man was treated for minor injuries and released from Glengarry Memorial Hospital last Monday following a single car accident.

Seaford Miller, 29, was southbound on MacMillan Road, just south of Concession Road Three in Kenyon Township, when he lost control of his 1988 Chevy van. The van flipped twice and came to a rest in a farmer's field on the west side of the road.

Miller was taken to GMH. His van sustained moderate damage.

Meaty theft

Thieves swiped a meat slicer and a variety of meat from a North Lancaster meat market sometime overnight on Friday.

Thieves forced the east door open. They stole $2,000 in meat, including pork and sausages, from a cooler and the front counter. A Berkel meat slicer, valeud at $500, was also stolen.

Lancaster OPP are investigating.

Walk away

An RR 2 Williamstown resident walked away from a single-car accident early Thursday morning.

Eric Lang, 29, was southbound on County Road 20 when he drove on to the west shoulder. His 1988 Mercury Topaz veered into the west ditch and flipped.

Lang was uninjured but his car sustained moderate damage.

Seatbelt check

Alexandria Police and Maxville OPP pooled their resources last Monday to conduct a random seatbelt check on Main Street in Alexandria.

Police officers from both detachments were stationed at the north end of town near the railroad tracks in the morning. A total of 57 cars were checked. Six tickets were issued and four warnings were made.

Slashed roof

The owner of a 1985 Chrysler received an unwelcome surprise Sunday morning when he returned to his car and saw the vinyl roof had been slashed.

The car was parked in front of a Main Street business. The roof was slashed sometime between 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. No damage estimate was given.

Landowner and neighbors agree on rezoning application

By Scott Ferrier
News reporter

Pierre Boucher got what he wanted.

His neighbors got what they wanted.

As a result, Boucher is free to continue the operation of several businesses - including the storage of eggs and lettuce, office space rentals and a possible fitness centre - on his Glen Norman property.

And his neighbors don't have to worry about declining property values.

Boucher applied to Lancaster Township for the rezoning of nearly 10 acres of his land. He wanted the zoning changed from Agriculture Restricted to Agriculture Restricted - Special Exception to allow a wider variety of businesses.

However, area residents confronted Boucher with their concerns at a sometimes heated public meeting held in early August.

Spokesperson Pat Carpenter said if the application was accepted as is then the property owner could open one of dozens of businesses including a possible flea market or light manufacturing operation. Homeowners in the area were concerned that the value of their property would drop.

Boucher, who made the zoning application about two months ago, told his neighbors at the early August meeting he didn't want to open a dozen businesses but just wanted to keep his options down.

He added that the rezoning would only apply to about two acres of his land where the existing buildings sit. The remaining land is zoned for agriculture and can't be changed.

Lancaster Deputy Reeve Steve Preston suggested that Carpenter and Boucher sit down and try to hammer out an agreement (as reported in the Aug. 11 edition of The Glengarry News).

Boucher and Carpenter agreed on a zoning amendment that will permit a retail store (no larger than 500 square-feet), personal services (such as office space rental), private club and a variety of light manufacturing and processing services in the existing building.

The pair informed council of their agreement at council's last regular meeting, held Wednesday, Aug. 18.

Carpenter also wanted an amendment added to the amendment stating that the landowner couldn't put signs near the road but only on the building and that any material to be stored outside of the building would be kept at the back.

Council referred the proposed amendments to Kay Stone, county planner.

Old issue comes back to haunt Lancaster Township council

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

For the second time this summer, Lancaster Township council received an earful of complaints from residents living on Concession Road Seven as well as Concession Road Eight.

A delegation comprised of residents living on the county roads attended council's last regular meeting, held Wednesday, August 18, and told counil about late night and even around the clock work at the nearby quarry.

"All we hear at night is beep, beep, beep, beep when the trucks are backing in and out of the quarry. They keep us all up at night," said one man.

"Trucks have been going in and out of there later and later every night."

Residents told council that work has been going as late as 3 a.m. and sometimes non-stop. Council expressed great surprise and told the delegation that they would look into the matter.

The subject of poor road conditions and speeding trucks again returned to council. The same issues were discussed at a regular meeting held in early May.

At the May meeting, residents complained about speeding trucks from Glengarry Aggregate and high dust levels making clean cars and outdoor picnics impossible.

Since then, council spoke to Glengarry Aggregate and their drivers have been obeying the speed limit. Council also ordered a double spray of calcium to help keep the dust levels to a minimum.

The delegations expressed gratitude for those two measures but told council that there are other trucks that continue to speed along the two county roads.

"When we lived in Alexandria, my kids couldn't ride their bikes because of so much traffic on Highway 34 (Main Street). That's one of the reasons we decided to move out to the country but we're finding there's just as much traffic out here," said one woman.

The delegation asked about the reduction of speed limits or the township's enforcement of the speed limits posted.

Lancaster Township Reeve Charlie Sangster has said at past council meetings that the United Counties Council looks after the reduction or increase of speed limits on county roads.

He has also said the township doesn't have the authority to enforce the speed limits. That's the job of Lancaster OPP.

Sangster told the delegation that, like it or not, the speeding trucks have every right to use county roads. The township receives money from the quarry based on every tonne that is removed but it won't cover the cost of restoring the roads.

"The Seventh and Eighth are in pretty rough shape because of those trucks. Shouldn't they be obligated to leave the roads in the same condition they found them? We're going to be left with the bill of refurbishing the roads," said another member of the delegation.

Some audience members asked why a half-tonne restriction couldn't be placed on the two county roads but that would do little good, council said.

The township also received a petition at the meeting calling for the reduction of the speed limit just east of the Brown House Corners. The petition was presented by members of another delegation who spoke to council a few months ago.

The document will be presented to United Counties Council.

Council criticizes inaction

A question from a Standard-Freeholder reporter prompted Charlottenburgh officials to blast provincial and federal governments for their inaction regarding smuggling on the St. Lawrence River in the Glen Walter and Summerstown areas.

Following a shooting incident earlier in the week, reporter Jacki Leroux asked council members at the conclusion of their regular meeting Aug. 17, whether they were going to make a statement.

"This happened in Charlottenburgh," said Leroux. "Aren't you going to say anything? Write a letter?"

Reeve Dave MacDonald intimated the helplessness which council feels in dealing with the situation. "We have lobbied our provincial member who took it to the house, with no results. What else can we do? People are living in fear and terror."

Deputy-reeve Leslie O'Shaughnessy pointed out that smuggling is a federal offence and the OPP have no jurisdiction.

"It's an issue of law enforcement. The government has to get tough. Give them 12 months for first time offenders. Remove the runners and smuggling will decrease."

Councillor Don Kannon agreed. "The fines are miniscule compared with their profits."

"Boudria and Cleary have to just keep hammering away," concluded Councillor George Shoniker.

Local resident serves tennis star

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

It's not often a celebrity is seen in these parts — an unpremeditated one, that is. There have been famous people, of course, but most of them were born in Glengarry, weren't they?

Then there are the name-dropping names who are invited specially to the area for puck-dropping purposes, ribbon-cuttings, and other gimmicks of official openings. And then there are the famous who dabble in geneology — back to seek their humble beginnings which ended in local cemeteries.

But on Sunday, a real live celebrity walked into Mac Edwards' Top Valu (formerly Wink's Express) in Lancaster. She was tall and blonde and the name on her American Express Gold Card said "Martina Navratilova."

The 17-year-old Williamstown resident who served this tennis great, did not say, "Wow! May I have your autograph, please?" Instead she calmly, behind the granite mask she reserves for occasions of special importance, said, "I'm sorry. We don't accept that card here," and watched in trepidation, while Martina groped in her wallet for an alternative piece of plastic.

That she was impressed is beyond doubt. Even called her mother long distance that night to tell her. And tucked away among her autographs of such diverse people as Carolyn Waldo, John Fraser, and Graham Greer, lies the throw-away copy of a Visa Gold card gas purchase.

It just goes to show. Even if you don't play tennis you can still serve!

There will be no service at St. Andrew's United Church in Williamstown this Sunday. Instead, members and friends are invited to a special joint service with St. Andrew's United in Martintown at 11 a.m.

Congratulations to Jake and Margaret Leonard (nee Hall) who will be celebrating their 55th wedding anniversary on Aug. 30.

Jake and Margaret, who now reside in Cornwall, were married at St. Andrew's United Church in Williamstown.

They have two children: Herb of Cornwall, and Brian, who lives in Markham, Ont. They also have three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Best wishes to you both on your special day!

Best wishes too, to Joe and Lydia Glover of the Street Road, who will be married 40 years on Sept. 3. The Glovers were wed in Coventry in England, and have four children and seven grandchildren.

It's only 25 years, and they haven't any grandchildren yet, but Liz and Lyall MacLachlan also celebrated their anniversary recently.

With six children (1. Jennifer, 2. Nancy, 3. Andrew, 4. Katherine, 5. Kim, 6. Donald), there's no telling how much space Williamstown's social correspondent will need when reporting their 40th or 55th anniversary!

Congratulations and hope you had a good day!

Help! Who is this man? I recently received some intriguing letters from a fellow by the name of Harold Ealden in Nanoose Bay, B.C.

Is he a former Glengarry resident? A Glengarry News junkie? Tell all please!

Former Glengarry residents (we will hope they are all News fans) gathered en masse at the Williamstown Fairgrounds on the weekend, as the Cumming family held a reunion.

Descendants of the late John Cumming who emigrated from Scotland to the area in 1832, more than 100 cousins attended from Florida, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, B.C., Alberta, and Manitoba.

On Friday evening, a pig roast was held at the home of Joyce and MacNaughton Cumming, followed by festivities at the fairgrounds on Saturday. Family entertainment was at its finest as singers and dancers took to the stage. Thee was also an impressive display of the Cumming family history.

The event was of special interest to an 80-year-old gentleman from the west by the name of MacKenzie, who had married a Cumming. It turns out his family also had Glengarry roots, living where Coleman MacDonald does now.

Highlight of the reunion for Dorothy Cumming was the fact she got to drive around town in a Rolls Royce, belonging to one of the relatives.

"He didn't milk cows for a living!" quipped husband, Ian.

Last weekend, St. Mary's Centre was the site of another family reunion. Approximately 100 members of the Lucien Periard, Sr., family gathered on Sunday from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Following their meal, those in attendance were able to socialize or take in the music of the band with some lively dancing.

This Friday, Aug. 27, is Charlottenburgh Township night at the Rideau Carleton Raceway. Reeve Dave MacDonald, who has issued a challenge to the Mayor of W. Carleton and a Buckingham councillor, will be driving in one of the races.

Seventy-five cents from the $1 general admission tickets will be donated to local Optimist Clubs. Buses heading to the raceway will leave from Green Valley, Lancaster and Martintown.

Apologies yet again to Ernle Chatfield, who for the eighth or ninth time, became Ernie in this column last week. I remember once apologizing to him personally for our over zealous proof-reading, and like the true gentleman he is, Ernle replied, "Never mind. There are people in my own family who can't seem to get it straight!" (Or words to that effect. Do you ever wonder how trial witnesses can remember exactly what was said so many years after the fact?)

Joshua Harrington left Monday for a two-week visit to London, England. While there he will be the guest of his uncle, Robert Harrington, meet assorted cousins, and get a look at the house where he spent the first few months of his life — 3 Portman Ave. East Sheen, SW14 — (near Barnes and Mortlake, just in case there are any former "right around the corner" neighbors now living in Glengarry.)

Williamstown Library re-opens on Tuesday, Aug. 31, with a fresh selection of books and a brand new back room. Gone are all the old magazines for reference and cutting, and in their place is . . . a computer!

We joined the age, I guess. Come see how it works!

The library, like all the branches in the SD&G system, has been closed for two weeks as a cost-cutting measure.

Frank McKenna to be guest speaker at Grit fundraiser

Frank McKenna, premier of New Brunswick, will be guest speaker at the ninth annual Red Leaf dinner of the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Liberal Association to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, St. Philippe Street in Alfred on Wednesday, September 29.

Mr. McKenna was first elected to the New Brunswick Legislature in 1982. Chosen as leader of the Liberal Party in May of 1985, he then led his party to successive victories in the 1987 and 1991 provincial elections. Mr. McKenna, who is fluently bilingual, practised law prior to his election to office. He and his wife are the parents of three children.

Several members of Parliament and senators will also be in attendance at the dinner. A complete list of the names of these guests will be published at a later time. Admission price for the event is $100 per person and part of the amount will qualify as a political contribution. Receipts will be issued for income tax purposes.

Guest speakers at previous Red Leaf dinners were the Honorable Jean Chrétien, Leader of the Opposition; former Prime Minister John Turner; the Honorable Iona Campagnolo, ex-President of the Liberal Party of Canada; Paul Martin Jr., MP for LaSalle-Emard and Sheila Copps, MP (Hamilton Centre). Some 350 people were in attendance for the 1992 dinner.

A delightful evening was enjoyed by 50 some family, friends and neighbors at a shower held for Shannon Aubin on August 7.

Another joyous occasion with the presentation of red roses to Leona's mother Ellen Anne Dupuis and Leo's mother Rose Aubin on their 83rd birthdays.

Leona was so pleased that Mrs. Periard was able to attend Shannon's bridal shower, as this great neighbor had given Leona a baby shower when she was expecting Shannon. Leona presented Mrs. Periard with a bouquet of pink roses.

We wish Shannon and Adam Kubelka all the best on their road through life together.

Celebrations for 40th anniversary

Congratulations to Lydia and Joe Glover, who will be celebrating their anniversary Friday, Aug. 27.

Among the out of country guests will be Rev. Fred Glover from Christ Church, New Zealand, Joe's sister Mary Davonport of Blenheim, New Zealand and George and Muriel Glover from England.

Something new and beautiful

Dave Irwin notes the contribution of talented and warm parents of the community who put so much work into erecting the playground equipment at the Martintown Public School. Bob Periard, Brian Flaro, Michael Flaro, Len Noort, Gary Wagar and Gary Atchison all helped Heather Flaro get this fine job done.

After Dave's busy time at the Williamstown Fair and going home with quite a pile of ribbons, he took off for a few days of canoeing and fishing in the Adirondack Mountains, and really had a most enjoyable time, and certainly looks refreshed.

Speaking of fishing, this is one of my grandson Jonathan's favorite pastimes as well. Jon is 12 years and he spotted plans for a 15-foot, two man kayak, in the Popular Mechanics, do-it-yourself encyclopedia, at our library. Grandpa said he would help him build this kayak. It's coming along great and is just about ready for the fiberglass cover.

Corey Van Loon has had another great summer at the canoe races. He has picked up the gold medal in the mixed sprint event as he teamed up with Joanna Falloon from Merrickville, at the Marathon Canoeing World Championships at Jersey Shore, Pennsylvania.

Cory's next race will be Labor Day weekend, which will be the 200 km trip along the St. Lawrence between La Tuque and Trois Rivieres, when he will be teamed up with Bernard Beausejour of St. Michel, Quebec.

All the best Corey!

Sarah Kinloch won the Onagh Ross trophy for having the most points overall and it will be on display in the post office.

Diane Lunan was the show judge for the juniors and Eugene Kyer judged their gardens.

To Nancy Colbran who was show chairperson this year, a job well done. John Peters, Jo Van Loon and Ann McDonald helped to collect donations for prizes and Onagh Ross, as president also deserves mention.

Next meeting will be Wednesday, September 1 at 7:30 p.m. with guest speaker being Eileen Johnson from the Apple Farm in Prescott. I believe she will be speaking on dried flowers.

Sorry to hear that Annie Chisholm of St. Andrews is in hospital. She looked so well at the flower show. Get well wishes are extended your way Ann. Also get well wishes go to Myrtle Christie.

Congratulations and best wishes

Birthday wishes go out to Charles Kinloch on his 45th and Joe Glover for his 84th on Sunday, Aug. 29.

Things were sure a hoppin' at the community centre Saturday night when a surprise birthday was held for Don Ross for this 50th.

I understand Art Buckland in top hat, tails and decorated baton conducted the choir.

It took Donnie about an hour to get over the surprise because his birthday isn't really until November.

I understand a really good time was had by all, especially at the roasting of Don.

Lefebvre — Massia

A lovely wedding took place May 7, 1993 at Nativity Church in Cornwall when Deneene, daughter of Leo and Hattie Massia of Alexandria, became the bride of Jacques (Jake), son of Lucien and Vanite Lefebvre of Pennellville, N.Y. The ceremony was performed by an uncle of the groom, Father Sylvester Theoret. A largely-attended reception followed at St. Columbus Hall. Out-of-town guests came from Sudbury and the United States. The young couple honeymooned in the Poconos and have taken up residence in Cornwall.

Success spells S-E-C-C-E-S

Local information workshop attracts budding entrepreneurs

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Sometimes, the best business ventures are launched during the worst of times.

And the recession is as good a time as any for would-be entrepreneurs to take the plunge, says Helen McIntosh.

"Entrepreneurs who start up a business in a recession are often more realistic. They start up as a lean mean business. Hopefully, they tough it out and stick around long enough to enjoy the good times.

"Businesses that are launched during the fat times may not fare so well when a recession hits because of mismanagement or other problems," says McIntosh, project manager and trainer at Self Employment Counselling Centre and Educational Services (SECCES).

"Anybody who has a truly entrepreneurial spirit where nothing can keep you down and wants to get into business for themselves should get into this course."
Business owner and SECCES graduate Deborah Fogarty

"In general, it's really tough out there. The challenge for today's entrepeneur is to find a good business idea and successfully develop it."

Five entrepreneurs-in-the-making attended an information workshop held last Wednesday afternoon at T.R. Leger School in Alexandria. The 90-minute workshop outlined how the SECCES program works and its benefits.

Helping hand

SECCES is a non-profit organization, based in Cornwall, where Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry residents can attend a 16-week-long course aimed at providing assistance to people who want to start up their own business.

The course teaches such business basics as good management, marketing and communication skills and helps develop business plans. Students can network with one of many speakers from the business world or government who visit the classroom.

Students must also conduct extensive research into the viability of their business venture and talk to the competition to learn some of the dos and don'ts.

All five Glengarry residents attended the workshop for different reasons.

Fassifern resident Andre Lalonde has his eye on buying an existing business. But he wants to know the ins and outs and figured SECCES may help.

"It's nice to know that there's people out there who will help. This program was presented very well, in an up front manner. Besides, the price is right," Lalonde says, referring to the free course which requires a refundable $40 deposit on textbooks.

McIntosh advises that the course is like a full-time job. It requires lots of work and many hours, Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. plus work outside the classroom.

But the course pays off big dividends in the long run.

Satisfied graduate

Deborah Fogarty completed the SECCES program about two months ago. The Apple Hill resident says it provided her and husband Dan, co-owners of Heritage Hardwood Flooring, a new lease on life.

Deborah, a former business teacher in the Quebec secondary school system, didn't have the necessary qualifications to teach in Ontario when the couple moved to Apple Hill. Dan worked as an elevator technician with the same company for nearly 15 years before being laid off almost two years ago.

"I kept thinking that Dan would only be out of work for a month or two. Things had to get better," Deborah recalls.

Helen McIntosh, project manager/trainer at Self Employment Counselling Centre and Educational Services (SECCES), conducted a workshop at T.R. Leger School Wednesday afternoon. Future entrepreneurs such as (lower left going clockwise) Heidi Johl, Michael Johl and David Leishman attended the 90-minute workshop.

"A year and a half later he exhausted his unemployment insurance and things didn't look very good. Things were pretty desperate."

Dan had worked with his brother, who owned a hardwood flooring business in Montreal, over the past 15 years. His brother decided to move out west and that left the business open.

The couple had their sights set on taking the business over and moving it to Apple Hill. The only thing that held them back was their lack of business savvy.

Secret of their success

"Without the course, we would have muddled through government regulations and taxes. The course answered our questions at every corner," Deborah says.

But Deborah says the investment of time and energy is well worth it.

"Things are going really great here. I owe a lot of my success to SECCES.

"Anybody who has a truly entrepreneurial spirit where nothing can keep you down and wants to get into business for themselves should get into this course."

Only one or two people who attended the workshop will be in business one year after they open for business. According to government statistics, 70 per cent of all small businesses go belly-up before their first birthday.

SECCES gives an edge that could mean the difference between profit and bankruptcy, McIntosh says.

The four-year-old organization is funded by the Canada Employment and Immigration Centre and the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education.

Anyone interested in SECCES or for more information call 936-1825.

New Optimist members sought

North Lancaster
Bernadette Campeau
347-2572

The North Lancaster Optimist Club is sending an invitation for new members to join the club.

The purpose of the organization is to help youth and if you have kids at our school, you might want to see what's happening.

Meetings will be starting this fall and the first one is on Tuesday, Sept. 7 at the school. Please feel welcome to attend. For more information call 347-2530.

A couple of weeks ago I informed you about the kids' baseball on Wednesday nights and the names of adults in charge were given. My apologies to Diane Glaude whose name was left out by mistake.

It is beginning to smell pickles around our country homes; dill, bread and butter, ketchup, relish.

It sure looks nice all in a row on the countertop. It makes a very welcome hostess gift for those city relatives who live on the pavement or so to speak.

The last half of August is always very busy; ask any mom. There's getting the kids ready for school, taking inventory of what clothes fit and what's too small.

For those going to college or university, I hope you have by now found a place to stay. It's time to pack some dishes, pots and pans, linens, cleaning products; the list is endless. Oh, and don't forget the fan.

To all you young adults leaving the comfort of parental homes, I wish you a successful school year.

Patrick Campeau started his first year of college this week in Ottawa and Marie Josée Samson is also attending the same college.

We offer our sincere condolences to Germain and Marina Gareau and Carmen Roy who lost a nephew, Denis Gareau, son of Rita Gareau and the late Fernand Gareau of Cornwall.

He was only 35 years old and served in the forces of Croatia. He was also a cousin to Donald and Diane Roy. A military service was held on Monday in Cornwall at Nativity parish.

* * *

On a happier note, we wish happy anniversary to our Optimist president and his wife Gilles and Betty Glaude on August 25. Also to Richard and Carole Loyer on the same date. Happy birthday to Pierre David who celebrates on Sunday, August 29. Best wishes to all of you.

Seniors sought for provincial coalition

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

There were 51 members and guests at the 39'ers meeting at the Church on the Hill hall on Aug. 18 for the regular monthly luncheon meeting. President Stella Kingston welcomed everyone most graciously.

After the plentiful meal, Muriel Moore led a short sing-song. Special entertainment was provided by Doreen Howes and her sisters, Linda MacNaughton and Isabel MacLennan and they were joined by Gerald McGillis on violins and piano.

They played for a good while and had everyone tapping their toes in time to the well loved melodies. They retired, at the end of their program, with most enthusiastic applause. Everyone really does enjoy the violinists.

The president opened the business portion with the singing of O Canada, with Bessie MacLennan at the piano. The correspondence included several thank you notes, and a newsletter from the Ontario Coalition of Senior Citizens. It is looking for new members.

A most encouraging financial report was given by treasurer Elisabeth Groot. The 39'ers have been asked to present a birthday party at the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria on August 31 and there will be eight celebrants.

One special birthday will be that of Mrs. Legault, who will be 104 years old. Gerald McGillis will look after getting some fiddlers for the occasion and the entertainment committee will put together a program. Members will furnish the birthday cake and appropriate gifts for each celebrant.

The fall bazaar was discussed next and Dot Burnett asked anyone who would like to bake for the "tea-room" to speak to her after the meeting. Jane Wightman will coordinate the mini-concert at 12:30 p.m. on bazaar day, in the church sanctuary. This has become a tradition over the years. The people who come in may come and enjoy the music and sing along until the bazaar opens. Bazaar times are 1 to 3 p.m. with the musical program being presented at 12:30 p.m.

Six-year-old Beth MacLennan, daughter of Stewart and Joyce, came in second in the walk/trot division at the Williamstown Fair on August 7. Congratulations Beth.

Timmy Brun has returned to his home in Montreal after passing a week at the home of Mrs. Gerry Fralic and family.

The Gaelic choir will meet at the home of Ranny McDonald on August 30 at 7:15 p.m. for the first of the fall practices.

Hockey broadcaster and author Brian McFarlane will be the guest speaker at the Hall of Fame induction dinner on Sept. 8.

McFarlane to speak at Hall of Fame dinner

It's hard to imagine a more perfect guest speaker than longtime hockey broadcaster and author Brian McFarlane for this year's Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame induction dinner.

His distinguished and varied hockey background is sure to inspire some of the great hockey yarns for which McFarlane is famous. On top of all that, the 62-year-old New Liskeard native also knows a couple of this year's inductees.

Like inductee Carman Marshall, McFarlane is a ex-member of the Inkerman Rockets hockey team and has also made the acquaintance of Ralph MacSweyn, the former Philadelphia Flyer who is being enshrined into the Hall on Sept. 8.

A former All-American centreman at Canton's St.Lawrence University, McFarlane played in the Glengarry Gardens, whose seven founding members are also among the 1993 inductees.

McFarlane needs no introduction to the Canadian hockey fan.

For 28 years, McFarlane worked as a color commentator and host for Hockey Night in Canada. His involvement with HNIC has continued in recent seasons with the production of an intermission segment called Inside Hockey.

When expansion introduced hockey to new markets in the United States in the 1970s, McFarlane created Peter Puck, a cartoon character which helped explain the basics of the game to newcomers.

He has penned over 40 hockey books as well as a song about former Toronto Maple Leaf Eddie Shack.

He's still very much involved in hockey today, hosting the American Hockey League game of the week as well as operating a hockey museum in Colborne, Ont.

McFarlane still plays old-timers' hockey two or three times a week during the winter.

It's Dunvegan's turn to take shot at Laggan

Rachel Denner's goal with 10 minutes left broke a tie and gave Dunvegan a 2-1 win over Alexandria ''B'' in the third and deciding game of the Glengarry Soccer League women's semi-final series last Thursday at Island Park.

There was little Bees keeper Nathalie Seguin could do as Denner broke loose on the left side and kicked in the the series-winning goal.

The Bees - who had good pressure throughout most of the second half - pressed hard in the remaining minutes to get the equalizer but Dunvegan netminder Bonnie MacLeod steered enough Alexandria shots wide and scooped up enough rebounds to kill off the remaining time.

Alyson Graham had opened the scoring for Dunvegan less than two minutes into the game when her hard shot from well out took a bad hop on the hard field and bounced over Seguin's shoulder and into the net.

Alexandria's Debbie McIlwain tied the score later in the first half.

The Bees had forced a third game in the series by edging Dunvegan 3-2 on Tuesday.

Julie MacDonald, Kelly Lavigueur and Cynthia Wilson scored for Alexandria while Alyson Graham had both Dunvegan tallies.

Graham scored a total of five goals in the series.

Dunvegan's trip to the final represents the first time that Laggan will face someone other than Alexandria ''B'' in the championship series since kicking off their current three-title streak in 1990.

Laggan completed a two-game sweep over Greenfield in the semi-finals with a 5-3 victory last Tuesday.

Bonnie MacLeod fired home a pair of goals with singles being added by Carol MacLeod, Sandra Barton and Danielle MacLeod.

Julie Aube scored twice for Greenfield while Louise Villeneuve had a solo marker.

Glen Nevis draws first blood versus Greenfield

Glen Campbell scored late goals in both the first and second halves on Monday to lead Glen Nevis to a 3-1 win at Greenfield in the first game of the best-of-five Glengarry Soccer League men's division final.

The goals were virtually carbon copies of each other with Campbell using his speed to catch up to lofted passes and beat charging Greenfield netminder Alex Munro.

David Wood opened the scoring for Glen Nevis when he banged in a loose ball seven minutes into the game.

Campbell doubled Glen Nevis' advantage with five minutes left in the first half.

Greenfield finally broke through 20 minutes into the second half when Kevin Villeneuve completed a pretty passing play by rifling the ball past Stuart MacDonald.

Seconds later, Greenfield's Robert Wensink broke loose with a chance to get the equalizer but his shot went just wide.

With five minutes to go, Campbell scored his second of the game to ice Glen Nevis' victory.

Brooms busy in semis

The semi-final series were decidedly one-sided, particularly when you consider that the playoffs were coming on the heels of the closest regular season race in league history.

Glen Nevis and Greenfield both swept their first round opponents and only one of the four semi-final games had any significant amount of suspense.

Glen Nevis finished off Alexandria with a 1-0 victory last Thursday as Bobby Bowles scored the game's only goal.

Alexandria dominated the second half but a combination of solid goaltending by Stewart MacDonald, inaccurate shooting and bad luck kept the Drillers off the scoreboard.

Glen Nevis was an easy 6-1 winner in Game One of the series as Phil Poitras netted a pair of goals.

Sheldon MacDougall, Glen Campbell, Mike McDonell and Andy McRae also scored for Glen Nevis while Trevor Marley provided Alexandria's only goal.

Meanwhile, Greenfield eliminated the Stars with a 3-1 victory in Lochiel on Friday.

Jeff MacLean, Rodney MacKillican and Robert Wensink gave Greenfield a 3-0 lead at the midway point with first half goals. Alain Decoste cut the lead to two goals with a second-half tally but that's as far as the Stars' comeback attempt went.

The Marauders took the series opener 7-2 as Benny Phillips and Rodney MacKillican each scored twice.

Tom Johnson, Robert Wensink and William Keurentjes were the other Greenfield scorers while Brian Cameron and Scott McPherson replied for Glengarry.

Marc's mauls toothless Sharks

Marc's Canteen wrapped up a third consecutive Alexandria Men's Ball Hockey League championship last Tuesday by thrashing the Baribeau Service Centre Sharks 11-1.

Marc's wins the best-of-five series in three straight.

Canteen led 3-0 after one period on goals by playoff MVP Leonard Seguin, Leo Seguin and Mark Just.

In the middle frame, Baribeau's Yvan Bercier scored to cut the lead to 3-1 but Marc Sauve and Frank St.Pierre answered for Marc's to make the lead 5-1 after two periods.

Marc's didn't let up in the third, icing their championship-clinching victory with six goals including four by Luc Sabourin.

Stephan Nadeau and Jean Lauzon also scored.

Seguin gets nod as playoff MVP

Leonard Seguin, who had eight points in the three final games, was chosen as playoff MVP following last Tuesday's game.

Seguin scored four goals against Baribeau including the first goal in each of the three games of the finals.

Other individuals honored by the league on Tuesday were Marc Sauve (top scorer), Guy Quesnel (best goals against average) and Gilles Sarault (voted as best defenceman by team reps).

Tents are ''B'' champs

The Mc-Mac Tents are the consolation division champions after winning the best-of-five ''B'' final against the Brodie Bombers three games to one.

Mc-Mac wrapped up the series with an 8-1 victory last Wednesday night.

Todd Cameron scored three goals for the Tents while Dave McDonald and Shane McDonell each added a pair. Phil Poitras also scored.

Sandy MacLeod scored the lone goal for the Bombers.

Brodie had kept the series going with a 4-0 victory in Game Three on Tuesday.

Dan Fourney scored twice while Richard Deschamps and Ray Robinson added singles.

Sam Sabourin picked up the shutout.

Crusaders are up to News soccer Challenge

Jason Struthers and Phil Poitras scored late in the second half to give the Char-Lan Crusaders a 2-0 victory over the Glengarry Gaels in the 2nd Annual Glengarry News Centennial Challenge soccer game on Saturday.

The co-ed contest featured current and former students from the county's two high schools.

The teams played an entertaining and scoreless first half with the solid goaltending work of Char-Lan's Mike Laframboise and Glengarry's Johnny MacSweyn very much in prominence.

Glengarry fullback Dave MacDonald and the entire Char-Lan midfield also distinguished themselves.

If Char-Lan had a territorial advantage in the first 35 minutes, it was the Gaels who came out charging in the second half.

Glengarry's forwards, most notbaly Glen Campbell, buzzed the Crusader net but Laframboise stood his ground and made several big stops.

One of the Gaels' best chances didn't even result in a shot on goal as Jennifer Wilson's kick from 25 feet out sailed just over the crossbar.

Char-Lan opened the scoring with 10 minutes left in the second half when Jason Struthers completed some fancy Crusaders' passing to score what would prove to be the game-winner.

Phil Poitras added to Char-Lan's lead a few minutes later by charging up the middle and putting a bullet shot past MacSweyn, who got a hand on the ball but couldn't keep it out of the goal.

Top players honored

Mike Laframboise's shutout performance and Dave MacDonald's outstanding play in his own zone earned them the most valuable player medals for Char-Lan and Glengarry respectively.

Cindy Gordon, who had a stellar day on Char-Lan's backline, and Jennifer Wilson were selected as the top women players for each school.

Here are the line-ups each team fielded on Saturday:

Char-Lan: G-Mike Laframboise, 2-Michelle Owen, 3-Bruce Tessier, 4-Chris Smith (captain), 5-Jason Struthers, 6-Vicky Peacey, 7-Andy McCuaig, 8- Ben Pregent, 9-Jeff Robertson, 10-Carol Gordon, 11-Cindy Gordon, 12-Benjamin Pye, 13-Malcolm MacDonell, 14-Garry Benson, 15-Katharine MacLachlan, 16-Phil Poitras, 54-Cheryl Proctor, Coach-Rudi Payer.

Glengarry: G-Johnny MacSweyn (captain), 2-Steven Cameron, 3-Nathalie Seguin, 4-Cynthia Wilson, 5-Alison McIlwain, 6-Brian Cameron, 7-Jennifer Wilson, 8-Dave MacDonald, 9-Glen Campbell, 10-Bridget Cameron, 11-Jewel Morrison, 12-Scott McPherson, 13-Anne Ferguson, 14-Lisa MacDonald, 15-James Addison, 16-Todd MacDonald, 17-Isabel Campbell, 18-David Filion, 19-Harry Wilson, Coach-Brian Filion.

Hockey nomad finds home in Glengarry Sports Hall

This article was written by Marion MacMaster before her death on August 1.

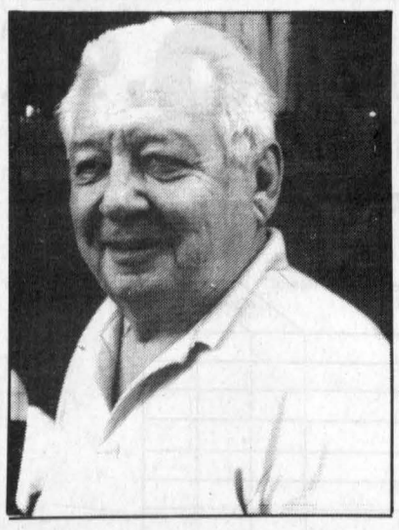
Carman Marshall was born in 1929 at Woodlawn, west of Ottawa. His father was a railroad employee, and one of his many transfers took the family to Brockville where Carman played peewee and bantam hockey.

Two transfers later, the family was in Maxville where he played for three years with the Maxville Millionaires, although he was still a junior.

During the 1947-48 and 1948-49 seasons, Carman played with Lloyd Laporte's highly successful Inkerman Rocket Junior team. During the first season they defeated the Ottawa Senators for the ODHA championship before being eliminated by Halifax St. Mary's in Memorial Cup quarter-finals. And in the second season they eliminated the Ottawa champs, St. Pat's Juniors, and went on to defeat Halifax St. Mary's, the Maritime champions. The Rockets were then defeated by the powerful Montreal Royal Juniors.

Having been recruited in 1949 by the Hull Volants, who played in the Eastern Ontario Senior League, Carman accompanied the team on a successful European tour to Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, Sweden, France and Switzerland. During his second year with the Hull Volants, he was selected for the second all-star team.

With the Cornwall Colts in 1951-52, his team won the league championship, only to be eliminated by Matane in the first round of the Allan Cup playdowns. The next two years were spent with the Colts in the



Carman Marshall

OHA Senior League competing against the Kingston Canadians, Belleville McPharlands, Whitby Dunlops, and Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadians. Coach Frank Mario described Carman as a dedicated hard-working team man, a solid defenceman who could move the puck very well, particularly out of his own end.

After playing the 1955-56 season with the Cornwall Chevies, Carman gave up competitive hockey. However he stayed with the game by playing with Cornwall old-timer teams.

After forty years of service with CN and VIA, Carman retired Jan. 31, 1990. A widower, he resides in Cornwall, and has two sons, David and Paul.

It is fitting that his hockey abilities, and his successes, be recognized.

Sports nuggets

Bellemare returning to Rebs

The Char-Lan Rebels got some good news on Monday when centreman Marc Bellemare announced he'd be returning to play for the junior B club this season.

Bellemare was Char-Lan's best player in the last two-thirds of the 1992-93 season, scoring 114 points in 29 games. He had been drafted by the Central League's Brockville Braves but Bellemare has decided to pass up a shot at Tier II in order to concentrate on his stuides at Cornwall's La Cite Collegiale.

The Cornwall native joined the Rebels 13 games into the season last winter after a brief stint with the Tier II Cornwall Colts and formed an effective line with wingers Denis St.Jean and Cory Maxam.

St.Jean could return as an overage player for Char-Lan this season while Maxam's hockey future is in the hands of the Colts, who placed the right- winger on their protected list this past summer.

MacDonald wins playoff at Alexandria Open

Ken MacDonald survived a four-hole playoff to win the overall title at the Alexandria Open golf tournament at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club on Saturday.

MacDonald finished in a four-way tie for first place after 18 holes with a score of 76.

Don MacLean, Pasquale Mongillo and Bob Johnston also shot 76's and participated in the playoff.

The overall low net winner was Claude Gallant Jr. with a score of 65.

Class winners included Bob Johnston (76) and M. St.Aubin (68) in the ''A'' class, Luc Sabourin (77) and Jacques Quenneville (67) among ''B'' golfers and Rosario Lacasse (95) and Rene Valade (73) in the ''C''.

A total of 87 golfers participated in the event.

Twilight playoff underway

The four division winners teed it up last night as the Heritage Twilight Golf League got their 1993 playoffs underway.

Glengarry Overhead Doors (North Division), Glengarry Aggregates and Concrete (East), Rozon Insurance (South) and Glen Services (West) won division titles and will fight it out for the ''A'' championship, which concludes next Tuesday.

The league's eight other clubs will contest the consolation title.

O'Brien has lock on Speedway title

Laurent Ladouceur's hopes for a third Cornwall Motor Speedway track championship all but disappeared on Sunday as Kingston's Dan O'Brien won his fourth race of the 1993 season on Sunday.

O'Brien has a commanding 81-point lead over Ladouceur — who finished 13th on Sunday — with only two races remaining.

Dave Bissonnette of Dunvegan won the semi-pro event at the Long Sault oval on Sunday.

Hearts back on winning track

The Hearts of Glengarry have set the stage for winner-takes-all game with the Brass Booters at Laggan this Sunday.

The Hearts will wrap up the women's second division championship in the Ottawa-Carleton Soccer League with a win over the Booters, one of only two teams to defeat Glengarry this season.

On Monday, Jenny MacDonald, Elaine MacDonald, Debbie McIlwain and Bonnie MacLeod scored as the Hearts defeated Trillium '77 4-1.

Hope to compete at Myrtle Beach

Alexandria's Wally Hope Jr. will be competing at the DuPont World Amateur Handicap Championship golf competition in Myrtle Beach, S.C. next week.

The event is billed as the world's largest on-site tournament with 3,500 golfers competing on 50 courses.

Hope will play four different courses over the Aug. 30 to Sept. 2 period in which the tourney runs.

Locals take five titles at Open

Local lifters performed well at the Ottawa Open powerlifting competiton in the Nation's Capital on Saturday.

Five Glengarry competitors - Rick Chapman, Taralynn Chapman, Gerald Theoret, Jacon Laplante and John Baxter - won their respective weight classes at the event.

Rick Chapman won the 52 kg event with a total of 270 kg while Taralynn Chapman won her competition debut with a total of 227 kg in the 82.5 kg category.

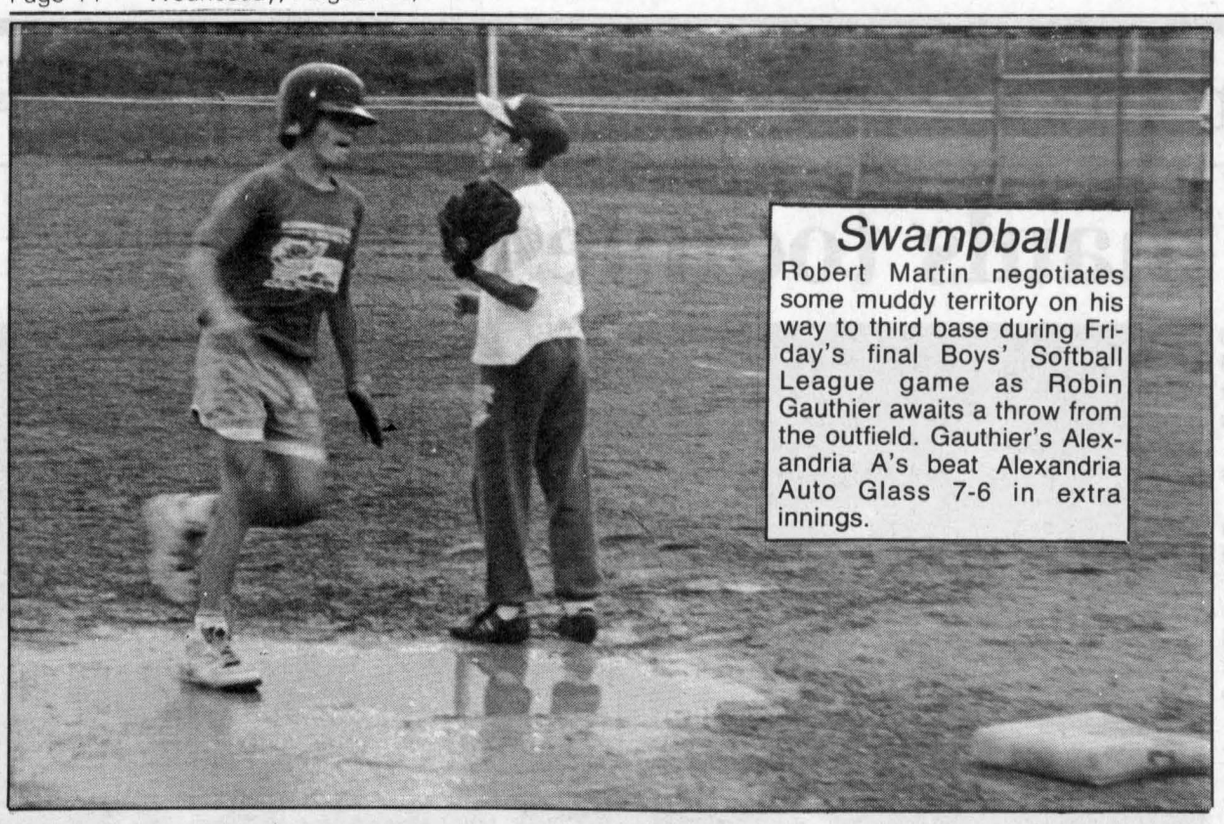
Theoret's 590 kg total was good for top spot in the 90 kg class while Laplante (125 kg) and Baxter (125 kg plus) won their weight classes with totals of 602.5 kg and 600 kg

In addition, former Alexandrian Raymond Gibbs hoisted 740 kg to win the 100 kg class and was named as the best lifter at the event.

Other local competitors included Jamie MacDermid (2nd in the 52 kg), Eddie Lacroix (2nd in 60 kg), Jeff Hovarth (5th in 75 kg) and Brian Dunham (3rd in 90 kg).

Rodger Chapman and Luc Leblanc took part in the competition as referees with Leblanc receiving his certification as an Ontario Powerlifting Association official.

Leblanc and the Power Plus club will serve as the hosts for the next major event on the powerlifting schedule - the Ontario intermediates on Oct. 2.



Swampball
Robert Martin negotiates some muddy territory on his way to third base during Friday's final Boys' Softball League game as Robin Gauthier awaits a throw from the outfield. Gauthier's Alexandria A's beat Alexandria Auto Glass 7-6 in extra innings.

Battle of Alexandria in finals

Sophie Boisvenue and Lucie Decoeur scored on Monday as Alexandria ''C'' and Alexandria ''B'' opened their six-point junior girls final series with a 1-1 draw.

Both teams won their semi-final series four points to zero.

Lucie Decoeur scored three times as the B's finished off their series win with a 4-1 victory over Laggan on Thursday.

Jenna Sauve also scored for Alexandria while Loni MacSweyn replied for Laggan.

Alexandria ''C'' beat Alexandria ''A'' 3-1 on Thursday and then edged the A's 1-0 on Saturday to clinch the series.

Sophie Boisvenue scored twice in Game One with Amelie Palmer scoring the other goal. Dawn Bray scored for Alexandria ''A''.

Jennifer Connah scored the only goal in Game Two.

Glen Sandfield and Lancaster Township battled for first place all season long in the intermediate division - Lancaster eventually won in a tie-breaker - and it appears that the same two clubs will fight it out for the playoff championship.

Glen Sandfield advanced to the final with straight victories against Laggan while Lancaster needs one more win against Glen Robertson to wrap up the other semi-final.

Tamara Hartrick accounted for the only goal as Glen Sandfield beat Laggan 1-0 in Game One and then Sharon Van den Oetelaar's hat trick was the key in a 4-0 win in Game Two.

Patricia Bedard had the other Glen Sandfield goal in the second game.

In Game One of the other semi, Cindy Laferriere and Beth Depratto each scored twice as Lancaster won 4-0.

Laggan loses in bantam final

After winning all 14 of their regular season games and their first three playoff contests, the Laggan bantams got their first taste of defeat on Monday as Glen Sandfield ''B'' took a 3-0 victory in Game Two of the bantam final.

Meghan MacPherson, Julie Vander Byl and Sandra Lacasse scored for the B's who even the six-point series at 2-2 with the win.

Laggan had a 2-0 series lead after shading Glen Sandfield 2-1 on Saturday.

Tammy MacSweyn and Becky Howes scored for Laggan while Sandra Lacasse replied for Glen Sandfield.

C-L makes CDSL final

Char-Lan United has advanced to the Cornwall and District Soccer League after taking their two-game total goal semi-final series with the Avonmore Pacers 7-2.

United won Game One 3-1 as Andy McCuaig scored twice and Phil Poitras added a single.

Nick Karitsiotis had two goals as Char-Lan won the second game 4-1. Angelo Karitsiotis and Greg Deschamps were the other Char-Lan scorers.

United will play the winner of the Cornwall City-St.Andrew's Saints semi- final in the best-of-three championship series.

Women's division

There's a chance that the women's division final will be an all-Glengarry affair as Char-Lan has a 3-1 lead in one total-goal series while the Dalhousie Bombers are tied at zero with City in the other.

Cheryl Proctor, with two, and Carol Gordon were the goalscorers as Char-Lan took a two-goal advantage over Moviola heading into the second game of the series.

The Bombers, meanwhile, need a win on home turf tonight to earn a berth into the finals.

Division II

Gilles Plourde was the only Char-Lan scorer as the U2's fell behind 3-1 to City III in a second division total-goal semi-final affair.

Game Two of the series was played last night in Williamstown.

Bantam semi-final takes ugly turn

Emotions are running high in the bantam boys semi-final series between Lancaster Township and Char-Lan.

Heading into the fourth game of the series last night, the tilt was not only the closest first-round series in the Glengarry Soccer League — each team had a win and a tie in the first three games — but also the most bitter and hotly-contested.

The teams were tied at two points apiece in the four-point series heading into Game Three last Wednesday, which ended in a 4-4 tie.

Lancaster's Toni Boos and Char-Lan's Kevin O'Farrell each scored three goals in the game while Jason Libbos and Reid Guest completed the scoring.

Alexandria is waiting to play the winner in the bantam final.

Peewee final starts with tie

Alexandria ''A'' played to a scoreless draw with Glen Sandfield as the peewee final got underway on Saturday.

The six-point series is thus tied 1-1.

Alexandria ''A'' knocked off Laggan five points to one in the semi-finals with a 2-0 win on Wednesday.

Cameron Lajoie and Daniel Lafrance scored for the A's while Daniel Boisvenue recorded the shutout.

Glen Robertson rallies

Glen Robertson and Glen Sandfield will square off in the sprite division final after wrapping up their semi-final series last week.

Glen Robertson lost the first game against Alexandria ''B'' but rallied to win the next two and take the series four points to two.

Mathieu Lalonde scored as Glen Robertson won Game Two 1-0 while Lalonde and Marc Sauve were the goalscorers in a 2-0 victory in Game Three.

Meanwhile, Glen Sandfield completed a series sweep over Laggan with a 3-0 victory on Wednesday.

Kevin Libbos scored twice for the winners while Mathieu Ranger added a single goal.

Hot dog! Boy lands monster fish

Here's a fish story you have to relish.

While fishing at Black Lake on Saturday, an 11-year-old Alexandria boy reeled in a 41-inch, 16-lb. tiger muskie using a burnt wiener as bait.

Jason Machell was on a weekend camping trip with buddies Thor, Kyle and Mike Varga when he decided to get a little fishing in.

Despite using a simple reel, a thin line and makeshift bait, the young angler wound up landing the catch of a lifetime.

Machell, who despite his tender age is a six-year veteran of the fishing wars, plans to have his prize muskie preserved and mounted by a taxidermist.

A large contingent of committee members and volunteers took part in the official opening at North Lancaster's new soccer field on August 13. A couple of teams from the North Lancaster Soccer Association also got into the act. The addition of lights was the final step which allowed the Glen Nevis senior teams to begin using the new field. Still in the works is the construction of bleachers, the lenghtening of the field and completion of a club house.

Field of dreams

North Lancaster pitch one of the sites for GSL final

After two years of work and preparation and over two decades of dreams, the soccer field at North Lancaster was officially opened earlier this month — on Friday the 13th no less — when the Glen Nevis men's team hosted Pine Grove.

The field is actually in its second year of use by the Lancaster Township minor division teams while the Glen Nevis men have been playing under the new lights for the past few weeks.

North Lancaster field is also one of the sites for the men's division final which is currently being played between Glen Nevis and Greenfield.

The Aug. 13 official opening gave everyone that was involved in the project a chance to get together and celebrate its completion.

"We just wanted a night where everyone who has been involved could come out," said Peter McLeod, a member of the Lancaster Township Soccer Association and one of the major movers and shakers on the soccer field project.

Many people have had a hand in the realization of North Lancaster's field of dreams — including 20 regular committee members, 30 others working in conjunction with the committee as well as numerous other individuals and groups.

"The collective effort pretty well takes in everyone in the community," said McLeod.

In fact one of the subconscious goals of the project was to bring the community together.

"I think for many years we've had the francophones and the anglophones living side by side without interacting too much," said committee member Don "Tiny" McRae.

McRae says both sectors pitched in wholeheartedly to help build the field, and the hope is that the teams that will use the field will have significant representation from both groups.

"That was one of our main objectives going in."

Cost was divided

The Ontario ministry of tourism and recreation provided half of the $46,000 for the project, with the committee responsible for the other half.

Many individuals and service groups donated time or money, most notably the Optimists, who are the main architects of the rest of the North Lancaster Park complex.

The Township of Lancaster and councillor Steve Preston also lent their support to the project.

The result of all that effort is a cozy field that has drawn some very good early reviews, particularly in regard to lighting.

"I think it's going to be like playing in Boston Gardens," said Glen Nevis player Mike McDonell, referring to the atmosphere-rich home arena of the National Hockey League Bruins.

For others, the major advantage in the new field is convenience.

"It's a lot less further to go than Lochiel," says Burt MacDonald, who was also on the committee. "Now you can get to the game in less than five minutes."

Work on the field is by no means complete.

The committee hopes to lengthen the field by 10 yards while bleachers will be constructed over the winter. Construction of an adjoining clubhouse is already underway.

It didn't take long for history to be made at the North Lancaster field.

When the Glen Nevis and Glen Sandfield men played in North Lancaster on Aug. 3, it was the first time in the 70-year history of the GSL that a senior game had been played south of Alexandria.

With the men's team in the midst of a dynasty and with high hopes for the women's and minor division clubs, the committee members are hoping that there'll be plenty more memorable moments to come.

Early explosion burns M&D Sports

Art Benton scored seven first-inning runs on the way to posting a 14-5 victory over M and D Sports in the first game of the Alexandria Women's Slo- Pitch League semi-final series last Wednesday.

Benton needs one more victory to win the best-of-three affair and earn a berth in the championship final.

Wednesday's victory was a team effort by Benton as 10 different players collected hits. Eight players scored at least one run and seven line-up members knocked in runs.

Marj Massia and Joan Filion scored three runs apiece while Helene Brossoit and Karen MacDonald each collected two RBIs.

Linda Van den Oetelaar had three hits, two runs scored and two RBIs for M and D.

In the other semi-final, Caisse Populaire has a 1-0 series lead after defeating BMR 8-5 on Tuesday.

BMR opened the scoring with a single run in the top of the first inning, but Caisse Pop took control of the game with three runs in the first, three in the third and two more in the fourth.

Carol Oetelaar drove in three runs for the Caisse while Chantal Legault and Jenney Bourbonnais each scored two runs and knocked in two more.

Sylvie L. Menard had a run and two RBIs for BMR.

"B" playoffs

The consolation round-robin tournament got underway last week with a couple of games.

In an offensive duel on Tuesday, Champions Roadhouse outscored Roy's Garage 20-18.

Lolly Cuerrier batted in four runs for Champs while Julie Montpetit, Lise Bourbonnais and Brigitte Lobb had two RBIs apiece.

Glenys Bartlett and Tina Robinson had three RBIs for Roy's while Diane Riley, Jackie Prieur and Bonnie Taillon each drove in two runs.

Champions took a step closer to clinching an automatic berth in the finals by edging Tapis Richard Ranger 12-11 on Wednesday.

Sandra Cadieux, Julie Montpetit and Lolly Cuerrier knocked in two runs apiece for Champions while Diane Larocque, Rita Levac and Diane Chenier did the same for Tapis.

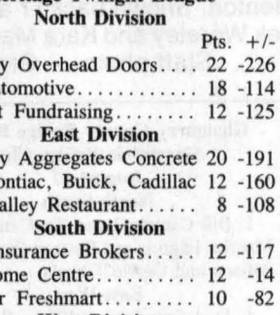
VOLUNTEERS OF THE WEEK



Maurice & Annette Chretien

This week we acknowledge a team of volunteers, Maurice and Annette Chretien. Annette was born in Glen Roy and Maurice, on Raisin River Road. Together, they now reside in the village of Lancaster. They have seven children, five boys and two girls, and seven grandchildren. Their grandchildren keep them very busy and provide them much joy.

Maurice and Annette were both children of farm families and went on to become farmers themselves. For ten years they worked at Upper Canada Village where Maurice drove the horses for the Carry-all and pulled the boat on the river. Now retired, Maurice enjoys woodworking, making little animals for his grandchildren, while Annette enjoys sewing and gardening. They belong to St. Joseph's Church.

As volunteers, Maurice and Annette serve at Chateau Gardens and with Meals on Wheels. They receive a lot of pleasure chatting with the clients with Meals on Wheels but regret that they only have a few minutes to stay and talk.

Maurice and Annette are two people who find time for others, be they family, friends, or neighbors.

Ex-Flyer MacSweyn had distinguished career

By Sue Harrington
News* correspondent

Ralph MacSweyn, one of the area's greatest hockey players, will be inducted into the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame at the annual Induction Dinner Sept. 8 in Maxville.

To call Ralph an "award-winning" athlete in an understatement. Ralph's sports achievement resumé is studded with most valuable player and other impressive awards. From winning the Glengarry Soccer League's MVP in 1961 while an 18-year-old playing for McCrimmon, to being presented with the Jim McCaffrey Memorial Trophy in 1969, Ralph MacSweyn has earned a multitude of honors.

Born in 1942, the third child of Ella and Donald MacSweyn, Ralph obtained his first pair of skates at the age of five. He learned to skate on the river that ran through the family farm, and on the outdoor rink that his grandfather, Dan (Mulligan) MacDonell was instrumental in making and maintaining each year.

Playing with boys much older than himself, Ralph was relegated to the position of goalie. He excelled in nets and remained a goaltender until the age of 17, when he started his career as a defenceman.

Perhaps it was his early net-minding that made Richmond Robins coach, Eddie Busch comment, "Having MacSweyn on the ice is like having a second goaltender, he blocks so many shots."

As a defenceman Ralph played for a variety of teams: Eastview in the Ottawa Jr. League, Lancaster Dodgers in the Ottawa Valley Senior League, and Johnston Jets in the semi-professional Eastern Hockey League. In the late 70's Ralph had the distinction of being selected to the Alltime Jets team as a first team defenceman.

During 1967-68, the Philadelphia Flyers offered Ralph a contract and assigned him to their top farm team in Quebec — the Aces — where he remained for four seasons. Called up by the Flyers on numerous occasions during these years, Ralph was named second star in games against the Chicago Blackhawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In 1972-73, Ralph was selected first in the World Hockey League draft by the Los Angeles Sharks where he played for two years.

Ralph ended his professional hockey career playing for the Vancouver Blazers, where he was clearly a crowd-pleaser. Known as "Big Mac" he won the "Fans' Favorite Player" award for his hard-hitting defensive play.

Today Ralph farms on the Dunvegan Road. He is still involved in hockey — as a coach for his daughter's team in the RCAFA Girls' Hockey Association in Cornwall.

For his excellence as an athlete, bringing honors to his family and his county, Ralph will become a member of the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame.

Local man served in medical corps in Croatia

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Paul Sinclair, his wife, Jackie, and sons John Allistair and Alexander were with his parents Clarice and John last week. The family has called Calgary home for the last eight years and a transfer to Cornwallis in Nova Scotia has been well received, especially for Jackie who calls Newfoundland, home.

Paul, who is in the army's medical corps, has seen three and a half months of service in Croatia and just recently was on the medical staff at Kananaskis for the Scout Jamboree.

It is good to see one of our local boys doing well with a happy family. We wish them all well in their new home in Cornwallis.

* * *

Speaking of a new home, Wendy and Bill Shields with Ryan, Robin and Megan will soon be moving to their new home in Strathmore which happens to be the farm home where Wendy grew up.

The new owners of their home on Peter Street are Terry and Ronnie Besner. The other move is that of Terry's mother, Mrs. Wilamowski, to the Besner's apartment on Peter Street.

The Shields family has lived on Peter Street since the early years of marriage and neighbors and all their other friends in the village will miss all of them. However, the new home is not far so associations with the village are expected to remain close.

* * *

We are pleased to be able to offer congratulations and best wishes to two families who have new babies. Last Tuesday, Bryce was born to Julie and Charlie Ewing and became a new brother for Shelby and Jessica.

Then on Sunday, Sheila Munro became a grandmother once again when Rhonda and Keith MacGillivray, Kirk Hill, had another daughter and a sister for Chelsea and Brendan.

Sympathy is extended to Romeo Aubin and his family of Dyer on the death of his brother Aime of Hawkesbury on August 4.

Also a well known resident of the Manor for many years, Tony Poulin died last week in Ottawa. For medical reasons, Tony had to move to Ottawa some time ago but retained good feelings for the Manor and all his friends there. He had always hoped to get back for a visit and to see the new wing at the Manor which is to become operable soon.

Mrs. O. F. Villeneuve celebrated her birthday on August 14 in a very special way by attending the wedding of her grandson Brent. Brent is the son of Joan and F. B. of Kanata and was married to Laurie Lambe in St. Mary's Church, Young St. in Ottawa.

Another special guest at the wedding was Ida Cowan, Brent's other grandmother, from Vankleek Hill, who once lived here.

The couple will be living in Ottawa where Brent is with the Post Office Department.

We wish the very best to this couple as we do to another, Melanie Blanchard and Larry Guindon who were married here last Friday evening. Larry is the son of Olive and Hilaire.

We are sorry to report that Amanda MacGillivray, Glen Garden Village apartments, has been sick and in hospital and we wish her a speedy return to good health.

* * *

It is good to have Sharon and Ken Johns home from their summer cottage. As daughter Heather prepares to become a student at McMaster University, we wish her success and the resulting happiness from her studies there.

* * *

Gwen Hamilton, Amherstview, was a weekend visitor with her mother, Eileen Scott.

Florence MacLennan spent last weekend with her cousin Eileen and Herb Halliway in Almonte. The couple moved there recently from Ottawa.

Peggy Cline has enjoyed a visit from her son, Eddie, who lives in Prince Edward Island and has been in newspaper work since he first began in Cornwall.

* * *

Eleanor Keeping and her family from St. John's, Newfoundland, have been home with Margaret and Keith Jack.

We wish Edgar Currier much happiness as he retires as manager of the LCBO store here.

During the opening ceremonies at the Highland Games, President Don Bond made reference to the fact that 1997 would mark the 50th anniversary of the Games and that plans were underway for very special celebrations.

The Glengarry Piping and Drumming School in Maxville is anxious to increase its enrolment so that there will be more students ready in 1997 for solo competition, mass bands and competition bands.

This year the Glengarry Pipe Band had 20 pipers on the field and for 1997 the aim is to have 50.

For complete details concerning the school, prospective students and parents are invited to contact Elizabeth MacGillivray at 525-3201, Sharon Blair at 346-2413 or Sybil MacPhee at 527-5357.

Gardeners are being hard hit by the Colorado potato beetle this year and pesticides seem to be having no effect in the control of these stupid beetles which may also attack tomato plants.

One garden we pass while out walking has its potato patch edged with bean plants. Beans are supposed to be the companion plant to help control the potato beetles. When I asked the gardener about the effectiveness of the beans, she sounded desperate. Her potato plants were being devoured by the beetles.

Apparently the beetles are building up an immunity to common pesticides. However I have read that rotenone should prove effective against them yet. A friend recommended poultry louse powder and its active ingredient is rotenone.

In a farm paper, I have read about a potato farmer who has built a giant vacuum sweeper to suck the bugs off his plants. There isn't one for the small producer but gardeners are advised to clean up their gardens thoroughly in the fall and to till the soil late into the fall. It might also help to not plant potatoes for one year.

We don't have the problem because our garden was flooded in the spring after planting the potatoes and not one survived these conditions.

Doug MacLennan, McDonald's Grove, was happy to report that the female wood duck that I wrote about in the spring hatched out another batch. On Highland Games day, Doug saw the mother on the ground making a fuss and within an hour, he watched nine young climb out of the same chimney and fall to the ground and the security of the mother. Perhaps we will be seeing more of these small ducks and especially the very colorful males.

I was very surprised to see a young robin just out of the nest on our lawn last week. It seems late for a second or perhaps third family of robins.

The activity around our finch feeder is attracting other birds. A pair of grackles has been coming regularly to the area on the lawn under the feeder, as has a mourning dove. The blue jays are moving in too and signalling the approach of fall.

Under beautiful skies last Saturday, the Knights of Columbus Council #9780 held its third annual golf tournament west of Lancaster at the Heritage Golf Course. Fun was had by all the participants.

For the third year, Bruno Besner was delcared the top golfer.

A supper in the Apple Hill Church hall with their ladies was enjoyed in the evening.

Sixty years ago, Henry Wilkes was a farmer in Dyer and had his barn levelled in a windstorm. Now all that remains are the cement silo and a small building, possibly the hen house.

Mr. Wilkes, married to the former Bessie Whyte once of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff here, lives in Brockville where the couple has resided for a long time. However, a return to the village is a must for the Highland Games each year.

On Friday, May 21, 1993, Karen McCallum, daughter of Muriel and Duncan McCallum of Glen Robertson, married Wallace Tyo, son of Gloria and the late Raymond F. Tyo of Cornwall. The ceremony took place in Cornwall, followed by a small reception in Alexandria. The couple honeymooned in Nova Scotia, and now reside in Alexandria.

THANK YOU

As president of Alexandria Aviation, it is my pleasure to thank the many people who came to enjoy our Annual Breakfast and watch the more than 100 visiting aircraft.

I also want to thank the many volunteer cooks including Lochiel Councillor Ron MacDonell and Monique and Mr. and Mrs. Armand Paquette; Alexandria Mayor J.P. Touchette and Councillor Garry Shepherd. We are grateful for their time so freely given. Thanks also to the Alexandria Air Cadets and their commanding officer, Wendy Turton who helped in so many ways to make the day run smoothly. We are proud to sponsor them.

Our thanks also to Summerstown Airport for providing two planes, once the fog cleared, for those who wanted to see our town from the air.

This year we added a new feature, an antique car display.

Once again, thank you people of Alexandria for your help and support.

In Memoriam

GUINDON-JANSSEN, Johanna (Ann) — In loving memory of a dear mother and Oma who passed away on August 29, 1992.
When I am gone, release me, let me go
I have so many things to see and do.
You mustn't tie yourself to me with tears;
Be happy that we had so many years;
I gave you all my love, you can only guess
How much you gave to me in happiness.
I thank you for the love we each have shown,
But now it's time I travelled on alone.
So grieve a while for me if grieve you must,
Then let your grief be comforted by trust.
It's only for a while that we must part,
So bless the memories within your heart.
I won't be far away, and life goes on
So if you need me, call and I will come,
Though you can't see or touch me — I'll be near
And if you listen within your heart, you'll hear . . .
All my love around you, soft and clear.
And then when you must come this way alone,
I'll greet you with a smile and say "welcome home."
—Sadly missed by your children and grandchildren. 34-1p

CAMERON — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and poppa, Billy, who passed away accidentally one year ago on August 28, 1992.
One year has passed since God has taken you away.
Gone dear Billy, gone forever,
He little thought when leaving home
He would no more return.
The blow was great, the shock severe,
We never thought the end was near,
And only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
Please God take him a message in heaven,
Tell him how much we miss him
And give him all our love.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife Cheryle, daughter Lori, son-in-law Jack, granddaughters Tracy and Kellie and sons Dean and Todd. 34-1p

In Memoriam

CAMERON, William W. (Billy) — In loving memory of a dear son who passed away August 28, 1992.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
—Sadly missed, Mom.
34-1p

O'CONNOR — In loving and cherished memory of my dearest mother — Mae, August 28, 1991, father Dan, June 9, 1972, sister, Margaret, December 3, 1980.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
Time may wipe out certain things,
But this it wipes out never —
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Sadly missed but sweetly remembered by Calvin and Cecilia Lloyd and family, Kathleen Hamelin. 34-1p

MacLEOD — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, William G., who passed away August 29, 1990.
Time slips by but memories stay,
Quietly remembered every day;
Happy thoughts of times together,
Memories that will last forever.
—Remembered with love by the family.
34-1p

O'CONNELL — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Brigitte, who passed away August 31, 1977.
Sixteen years have passed since you left us,
There's a sad, but sweet remembrance of watching you grow up.
You were a sweet little angel,
I'm sure you would have grown up to be a fine young lady.
So, God knew this, and took you by his side.
—Sadly missed by, Mom, Dad, Maureen and Wayne. 34-1p

LAPINE — In loving memory of a dear son, brother and uncle Richard, who passed away August 28, 1978.
Cherished thoughts of times together,
Will hold him in our hearts forever.
—Sadly missed and dearly remembered by Mom, sister Edna and niece Debbie.

Ian MacLeod held a showmanship clinic at his farm on July 15. Twenty-five junior members from Kenyon and Lochiel attended. Four senior members came to help. Mr. MacLeod provided six calves for the groups — to wash and then a clipping demonstration from Ian Fraser. After each group prerpared a calf, they had an opportunity to ''show'' it.

The final meeting was held on Aug. 3 at the farm of Greg and Joan MacGillivray. This meeting they were taught showmanship by senior members in preparation for the Achievement Day at Williamstown Fair.

The 4-H Horse Club Achievement Day was held at the Williamstown Fair and I am rather late in congratulating our local 4-H members who did well. Colleen Cleary placed second in Junior Showmanship. In the Senior Class Vickie Sauve placed first, Barbara MacLeod, fourth and Bruce MacLeod, sixth. The Grand Champion Horse Showperson was Vickie Sauve of Ste. Anne de Prescott. Congratulations to all of you.

Caring for Life
By Dr. George McKiel
VON CANADA

"I have a disease, but it doesn't have me"

This statement personifies Bernie Siegel, M.D., and I'd like to share more of his recent book so.o.o., come, peek with me o'er Karen Davison-Wood's shoulder at her Glengarry Bookstore in Alexandria.

Bernie Siegel, M.D. How to Live between Office Visits, Harper Collins Publ., 1993, 230 pp, $27.50.

This medical doctor tosses pretensions and authority to one side by insisting that he's addressed as "Bernie". That, together with a completely shaved head which he says gets him immediately acquainted with patients because they empathize with his "disability" puts Bernie on a more equal and comfortable footing so communication happens. It's a fresh new approach and this comes through in his book which is profoundly compassionate and humorous writing which carries you along with nary an opportunity to lay the book aside until you reach the "joyful end." Part of Bernie's compelling writing is that he draws not only on his own long medical, surgical and pediatric experiences but brings in much positive richness from the adversities in the lives of Helen Keller, Ghandi and other notables.

This very unusual attending physician has lectured and given workshops worldwide on communication skills, listening, caring and being human (in Bernie's words "we are perfectly imperfect"). So his central theme to caregivers, family or a terminally ill person is to be comfortable in asking for help when your limits are surpassed. When you reveal your vulnerability you help yourself as well as others. This refreshing outlook extends to sharing family anecdotes such as asking his 90+ year old dad for advice on aging, the answer comes back "Remember to fall on something soft", but then a pause and "But I once fell on my wife and broker her leg." Another pause, and his dad concludes: "Just fall up".

It took a quadriplegic to remind Bernie, "we're not disabled, we are enabled." To which he adds if you help a butterfly out of its cocoon it dies, it has to struggle. All of us, women, men, children — need to struggle to reveal our beauty, our humaness. For in the long run — Crazy, Refreshing, and Exceptional — together they spell CURE.

On child abuse and loving, perspicacious Bernie says, "I wish we could license parents. Perhaps when a child is conceived, the future parents could be assigned to a group in which they could share their feelings. We could insist that they attend as part of medical care just as we insist on other things in our society. So we could have groups of parents, therapists, grandparents coming together. Parenting then wouldn't lead to child abuse in difficult times, instead parents would express their anger and other feelings within the group and receive love back. And when a group is made up of people with a concern, be it cancer, AIDS or parenthood, we all know each other's troubles and can discipline each other to find ways to heal lives."

One quality, says Bernie, I've noticed that survivors always seem to have is a sense of humor, even in adversity. So he cites a cancer victim who has just been told "You have six months to live." "But I can't pay your medical bill within that time." "In that case, I'll give you another six months." And the terminal cancer patient and the physician laugh together knowing that in that laughter there is HOPE.

One entire chapter is given to the topic of listening and Bernie comes up with a revamping of medical schools so that physicians can be attentive, listen and learn from patients for he guarantees when you are capable of dealing with your disability, you become a teacher and a healer.

This book is such a powerhouse it should be in every physician's office, hospital and home. So,

Wanted: a DONOR (s)
to buy, read and share some life and then pass the book along to a friend, a hospital, a VON office (YES, we can even issue you with a tax-deductible receipt) so VON nurses can become even more Caring.
