Going to New Brunswick

Mr. E. P. Bradt, Morrisburg, Ont. who has been District Representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for Dundas and West Stormont during the past six years, has accepted the position of Deputy Minister of Agriculture with the New Brunswick Government with headquarters at Fredericton. He leaves to take up his new duties about January 15th.

Prospects Good for a Rink

Prospects look pretty good in Chesterville at present for skating and hockey for the coming season. A strong Committee with Mr. H. Hooks as chairman and B. C. Watson as treasurer backed up by W. H. Casselman, Ed. Flynn, J. O. Corner and F. Dwyer have the matter in hand and have secured a site for the rink and arranged for the lumber with which to build it. A regulation hockey size sheet of ice, 80x180 feet will be provided which is expected to be ready, with favorable weather conditions before Christmas. It is not the intention to monopolize the rink for hockey, but provide time for pleasure skating for all who desire it A proposition is on foot to organize a hockey league with Avonmore, Finch, Chesterville and Winchester as members, playing a double schedule during the season. There is a good supply of hockey material in town and a team can be put on the ice which will stand some beating.

About eighty per cent of the money needed to build the rink has been secured and it is hoped that those who have not taken a five dollar share will see their way clear to help the project along.

To Our Subscribers

On and after January first, the subscription price of The Record will be $1 50 per year to any address in Canada and $2.00 to any address in the United States. Until January 1st. renewals and new subscriptions will be received at the old rate. After January 1st, all now in arrears for three months or longer will be charged at the present regular rate of $1.25 for such arrearages up to that time.

The Record, clinging to the belief that circumstance over which it had no control would adjust themselves satisfactorily, so that the old subscription price of one dollar a year might still be retained, is now one of the very few weekly papers left at that rate. The struggle to keep it there has been a hard one and it is getting harder with almost every issue. Every thing required in the production of a paper has advanced very materially during the course of the past four years, until the margin of profit has come to the vanishing point. Not only have the necessary paper, ink, type and rollers gone sky high, but the revenue produced will not go half as far in purchasing the necessaries of life as it formerly did. The advance contemplated of one cent per week from each subscriber looks so small to the individual that it is hard to realize that the getting or doing without it by us, means success or failure of that part of our business. It is so small that publishers have hesitated to ask it when they should have done so and have carried the burden to the point where many papers have had to give up the struggle. When we ask the dollar-fifty rate we feel that it would be under-rating the intelligence and fair mindedness of our subscribers to even suggest that it would not be as willingly paid as the old rate.

Auto and Horse Collide.

Almost the last days of the auto season produced the accident on our streets which has been looked for all season. Monday evening just at dusk, Pat Flynn in his runabout, turning from King street up Main street ran full tilt into George Riddle's horse and rig in front of the post office, causing a bad mixup and throwing Riddle from his rig. The horse went almost over the car receiving quite a cut in the neck. The glass in the front of the car was badly smashed, but Flynn and Len Clement who were in it came off practically unhurt. Riddle was badly shaken up.

MURDER AT WINCHESTER

Tuesday night at Winchester station a foreign laborer working for the C. P. R. was apparently foully murdered by one of his companions. It is reported that two of the gang of laborers occupied a car by themselves when some time befor midnight one left the car and was proceeding along the track when the other man came to the door of the car and shot him dead with a revolver. Any motive for the crime is not known as the men are said to be chums.

The accused made no attempt to get away before being arrested. He was given a preliminary trial before the village magistrate and committed to Cornwall gaol until his trial at the assizes.

An Urgent Appeal

An urgent appeal has been sent out for the suffering refugees of Belgium and France. In order that the people of this community may have an opportunity to help, the Town Hall will be open on Wednesday, Dec. 18th, from 9 o'clk a. m. until 6 o'clk p. m., to receive contributions. Everything is needed,—quilts, blankets, sheets, pillow slips, underwear, boots, coats, etc., etc. We are particularly asked that the second hand things be in good repair. If any of the merchants have any out of date clothing of any description it will be most thankfully received. Surely we who have plenty will be able to spare something to help make these brave people more comfortable.

Good Supply of Whiskey Found

The superstition that Friday is not a good day to start an enterprise must surely be believed by some of the passengers on last Friday night's Toronto express on this line. This train is becoming noted, not for the distinguished people who make use of it, but for the fact that it is practically the "accomodation" for distributing to the thirsty ones along its route their favorite brand of liquor. Friday night a number of the passengers became very restless as two or three others manifested a decided curiosity as to the contents of many suit cases and travelling bags, which were casually handled by the curious ones in an apparent attempt to locate some lost luggage of their own. As the meddling went beyond a certain stage it got on the nerves of some of the passengers to such an extent that they decided to rid themselves of their suit cases and threw them from the train a short distance west of this station. Saturday morning as the section men were making their inspection trip twenty bottles are said to have been picked up, contained in two suit cases, beside a gallon can from which the spirit had fled through coming too forcibly in contact with the frozen earth. The find was handed over to the agent for proper disposal and the matter is being investigated together with certain other suspicious baggage which has recently attracted attention.

More than 300 large bottles were taken from the train at Smiths Falls.

The Letter

In a small village in Ireland the mother of a soldier met the village priest, who asked her if she had bad news. "Shure I have," she said. "Pat has been killed."

"Oh, I am very sorry," said the priest. "Did you receive word from the War Office?" "No" she said. "I received word from himself." The priest looked perplexed, and said, "But how is that?"

"Shure," she said, "here is the letter, read it for yourself." The letter read:—"Dear Mother,—I am now in the Holy Land."

"Say, pa!"
"What is it?"
"When you tear your hair, how do you mend it?"

Payne—Murray

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Delta, on Thursday evening, November 21st, when Miss Amelia Grace Murray, the eldest daughter of the Rev. J. Holt and Mrs. Murray, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Percy Ward Payne, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Payne of Brinston.

The bride was charmingly attired in a handsomely embroidered gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern.

To the strains of Mendlesohnn's wedding march, rendered by the bride's sister, Miss Retta Murray, who wore a gown of Burgundy silk and a gold sunburst set with pearls, the gift of the groom, the bride entered the drawing room which was decorated with roses, precisely at 5 o'clock, leaning gracefully on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. Lyman Murray of Queens University, Kingston.

The bride's father Rev. J. H. Murray, assisted by Rev. William Craig of Kingston, performed the ceremony.

After congratulations, the bridal party led the way to the dinning room which was tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums, and where a sumptuous repast was served.

Mrs Murray, mother of the bride, was gowned in black silk with trimmings of maiz satin and a corsage bouquet of red Carnations.

Mrs. Payne mother of the groom, wore a grey satin gown trimmed with old rose crepe de chene, and a cluster of pink carnations and asparagus fern on the corsage.

Amid showers of rice and confetti, the young couple left on the evening train for Toronto and other points, the bride travelling in a pretty brown cloth costume with a hat to match and sable furs, the gift of the groom.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple were held.—Leader.

Old Mystrey Solved

A commercial traveler, on leaving a certain hotel, said to the proprietor: "Pardon me, but with what material do you stuff the beds in your establishment?"

"Why", said the landlord, proudly, "with the best straw to be found in the whole country!"

"That", returned the traveler; "is very interesting. I now know whence the straw came that broke the camel's back."

Miss Prim (to fair maiden, who is about to bathe in the sea)—Really, my dear, I do think that costume's a little underdone. I know this is a lonely place but you never know who sees you under water with all these submarines about.

COUNTIES' COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The December Session of the Counties Council opened at the Court House, Cornwall on Monday evening, Dec. 2nd, the Warden, W. J. Fisher, in the chair. The Warden welcomed them back to their duties which he did not think would be very heavy at this session, as no contentious questions had to be dealt with, and he asked them to give strict attention to business and expidite the work of the Council. When Council last met the war cloud hung heavily over the world, but since then, he was please to say, it had been removed, much to the relief of every one.

The correspondence received by the Clerk since last session was read and referred to the proper commitees.

Resolutions of condolence were passed, expressing sympathy of Council with relatives of the following gentlemen, who have passed away since last session, copy of the resolutions to be forwarded to the relatives: John W. Forrester, late Public School Inspector for Dundas; Emerson Warner, Avonmore; Alex. R. McDougald, Lochiel Township; James Shanks, Moose Creek, and D. A. McArthur, Alexandria. On the vote being taken all members stood as a mark of respect to the memories of deceased.

There being no further business to be done at the time Council adjourned till Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Tuesday Morning

Council met at 11 a. m., and the minutes of the previous evening's session were read and adopted. Adjournment was then made till 2 p. m., when a deputation was to appear before Council on behalf of the Navy League of Canada, with a view to securing a grant.

Tuesday Afternoon

The only business before Council on Tuesday afternoon was the hearing of a deputation from the Navy League of Canada in regard to securing a grant from Council. The deputation consisted of Rev. S. Boal, who had for some time been chaplin in both the army and navy. Col. R. Smith, K. C., members of the local branch of the League and members of the Daughters of the Empire. A short introductory address was made by Col. Smith, after which Rev. Mr. Boal addressed Council.

Chaplain Boal in the course of his remarks referred to the greatness of the British navy, and gave as an indication of its growth figures showing that at one time it consisted of 145,000 men and a tonnage of 2,5000,000, whereas to-day it has 475,000 men and a tonnage of 8,500,000. That the Empire was saved by the British Navy in the present war was beyond question. The speaker then referred to the Merchant Marine and the excellent work done by the men in that service, the transporting of the great numbers of troops overseas being due in great measure to the loyalty of the men of the Merchant Marine. Many men sailing on merchant ships had lost their lives at sea and the Government made no provision for their dependants, and it was for these that the Navy League was appealing for help. Mr. Boal made reference to the great part the British Merchant Marine had played in transporting American troops and munitions to France. Consider, he said, that in the face of submarines, mine fields, etc., the British sailor of the Merchant Marine never once refused to go otu. In concluding he asked Council to grant $30,000 to the League, and in doing so he impressed upon them the fact that were it not for the marine the products of the field, from which so many of the members of Council made their living, would have no market and prices would have been very low. He asked Council not to be afraid, when they were considering a grant, of leaving a legacy for the incoming Council. This was a matter of too much importance to allow anything of that natnre to interfere.

J. A. Chisolm, who was asked to speak, said he felt that no grant was more worthily deserved than that to the Navy League.

The Warden said that the matter would be carefully considered by the Finance Committee.

Asked as to how the funds were administered, Mr. Boal said that there were no expenses of any kind connected with their administration, the King, the Governor General and the Prime Ministers of the various provinces looking after that work without recompense.

On motion of Messrs. McNaughton and Robertson the request was referred to the Finance Committee.

Council then adjourned till 10 a. m. on Wednesday.

Wednesday Morning

Council met at 10.30. At the request of the Warden, His Honour Judge O'Reilly addressed the Council on behalf of the Salvation Army, who are holding a campaign to raise the sum of $1,000,000 in Canada for their work overseas. Judge O'Reilly went into the splendid work done by the Army in France and stated that he believed they were the first organization to be in the field of action on the outbreak of the war, as within two weeks they had worked giving soldiers drinks, etc., right in the battle line. Of the good work of the Salvation Army in the war too much could not be said. With the exception of one or two tag days they have financed their own work and this is their first appeal for a large amount from the Public. Not alone were they doing relief work for the soldiers, but they have supplied 45 ambulances for hospital work and over 90,000 of their members fought in the ranks.

It might be said, continued the speaker, that there is no necessity for money now since the war is over. This is a mistaken idea. The war is not over and we have to keep troops ready to handle the enemy should they at any time before peace is actually signed, cause an uprising. The Army have asked the Council for $12,500 and this money will be used to a certain extent in carrying out the Army's work among the soldiers in Russia, many of whom are Canadians. In concluding His Honor said that the grant was not a large one, and if put through by the Council would insure everyone contributing, whereas if a subscription were taken up, the load would fall on the same gentleman who have always contributed to every worthy cause.

On motion of G. A. Stiles and Dr. W. A. Munro a vote of thanks was tendered Judge O'Reilly for his address, and the request for financial aid was referred to the Finance Committee.

A petition was presented by H. S. Kinloch, for incorporation of Martintown as a police village.

On motion of Messrs. Robertson and McMartin the petition was referred to a special committee.

The Warden appointed Messrs. Kinloch, Robertson, Stiles, Davy and Kennedy, a special commitee to deal with the Martintown petition.

On the request of Mr. Casselman, J. H. Meikle, ex-Reeve of Morrisburg, who was present, was invited to a seat within the railing. Mr. Meikle thanked the Warden for the invitation and expressed his pleasure at again seeing many of the gentlemen whom it had been his pleasure to sit with in previous years.

There being no further business, Council adjourned till 7.00 p. m.

A report of the balance of the proceedings will appear next week.—Cornwall Standard.

A preacher who was in the habit of taking his wife with him on his preaching appointments, said on arrival at the church, in a country town: "My dear, you go in there, you will be all right, I must go round to the vestry." In the vestibule the wife was met by a kind-hearted sidesman who conducted her to a seat. At the close of the service the kind-hearted usher gave her a hearty shake of the hand, adding how pleased he would be to see her at the service next Sunday. Then, whispering, he said: "But let me tell you we don't get a duffer like this in the pulpit every Sunday".

United Farmers Large Membership

Toronto, December 9.—"Ten thousand new members have joined the United Farmers of Ontario since the big deputation went to Ottawa last spring over the conscription question," J. J. Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the organization, said to-day, "In the province of Ontario we now have 615 united farmers' clubs, with a total membership of 25,000".

"No; we are not forming a political party; we are forming a bundle of political principles," was Mr. Morrison's reply to a question as to the United Farmers forming a party.

"We will probably have candidates in all the constituencies where we have a good fighting chance, but we have not the organization yet. We feel it would be better for the present simply to place candidates in the constituencies where we have a good prospect".

The annual convention will open in Toronto, December 17.

The Growing of House Plants

The care of house plants is dealt with in an Experimental Farms Note issued by the Department of Agriculture:—

In caring for house plants it should be borne in mind that they are of two classes and that such plants as ferns, palms and rubber plant will do better in those parts of the room where the light is limited, while flowering plants, such as geraniums, tulips, narcissi and cyclamen, must have as much light as possible. Plants are more like human beings than like bric-a-brac and if grown to brighten the home during dull winter months they must not be left to take care of themselves or they will soon fail to fulfil the purpose of their presence.

There are not a large number of successful house plants and those which experience has shown are best suited for the purpose demand certain definite conditions. The fundamental condition relates to the atmosphere of the room. If this is suitable even the soil is of secondary importance. The atmosphere must be kept at a suitable temperature and also for success must contain plenty of moisture. A dry atmosphere, even when plants are well watered, is fatal to good growth. Regular watering is anofher important factor for success,

Plants will grow better in houses heated with hot water than they will in those heated by hot air or steam. The latter systems absorb the moisture from the atmosphere with the result that the plant either looses some of its leaves by withering or fails to make healthy growth. Pans of water stood on the radiators to give off moisture always improve the conditons for plants. The blooms will last longer when the atmosphere is kept somewhat cool and moist The ideal temperatures ranges from about 50 to 70. Higher temperatures necessitate more frequent waterings. Some plants need to be watered daily, others not more than two or three times a week.

A pot which rings hollow when tapped with the knuckle needs water. Over watering is bad for plants and only one or two varieties, like the spirea, will succeed if the pots are allowed to stand in water. All pots should be supplied with good drainage in the form of broken crocks filled in at the bottom of the pot when the plants are potted.

Fresh air is always beneficial, but not in form of direct draughts. A temperature of 40 degrees or lower will often seriously affect the tender house plants. Palms and ferns are the better for sponging once or twice a month. Never water a sickly plant too freely; it more often requires to be repotted. Most plants will be benefited by a yearly repotting. Healthy plants and plants in flower require much more water than those which are sickly. Soil should not be watered so often that it becomes soggy and always cold. A plant with cold feet and a hot head soon dies.

Another Battle Won for Dairymen

FOR months we have been experimenting—investigating—testing—fighting, to find a way to make the Empire Milking Machine, already the unquestioned leader, still more efficient for the dairy farmer.

THE BATTLE IS WON.

We have given the milking machine a new heart—the pulsator is the heart of the milking machine—and the result of our experiment, the new Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, is the most wonderful development since the invention of the Empire—the competent milking machine.

To be successful a milking machine must have a perfectly acting pulsator to cause the alternating action of suction and massage on the teats (to imitate the calf's "suck and squeeze") to occur with absolute regularity; and to make the change from suction to massage and back again instantaneous.

The Empire Super-Simple Pulsator, the pulsator without a piston, does that and more. It really is Super-Simple—so simple that it can be taken apart and put together again in less than two minutes. It has but five moving parts; nothing to wear out or "get out of gear." It cannot lose vacuum, so its action is perfect.

It places the Empire Milking Machine immeasurably in advance of all competition. Your cows should be milked by an Empire Milking Machine with the new Super-Simple Pulsator. It will milk them more rapidly than ever—it will solve your labor problem—it will increase milk production at a decreased cost; it will transform milking from drudgery into a pleasant chore.

Our factory is overtaxed by the increased demand for Empire Milking Machines, so go to your dealer at once, see the new Super-Simple Pulsator and tell him to order your Empire outfit without delay; or write for Catalog.

REPAIRS—A full line of repairs is kept on hand by The Sanders, Soule & Casselman Co., Chesterville, and by A. Sweet & Co., Winchester.

Capt. Erric Johnston Died of Influenza

The following copy of a letter from Rev. A. E. Runnels telling of the death of Capt. Erric Johnston, nephew of Mrs. Allison was recently received by the latter, having been sent to the friends in Montreal.

My Dear Friends:—

By the time this reaches you, you will know that Capt. Erric Johnson has given up his life for his country. Through you, I want to send my personal sympathy to those who will, so keenly, feel his loss.

Captain Johnston and I were gazetted to proceed to France on the 1st of August. Together we journeyed by train and boat, reaching France together, rooming together and going to Gas school together. On the 5th of August we parted, Captain Johnston going to the Corps, I to the lines of Communication. He and I were plunged, at once, into the battle of Amiens (Usually men serve at the Base for a time) August 8th.

From that day till he was stricken with the "flu" he had no let up. It was practically one continuous battle until the cessation of hostilities. He was wearied from the continuous strain and despite the splendid medical skill and nursing, he died yesterday in No. 20 Canadian General Hospital at Camier. To-day he will be buried with all the honor becoming a great soldier, and his body will rest companied by eight hundred of his unconquerable fellow countrymen in the Canadian Cemetery at Etaples where the murmur of the blue waters of the North Sea will furnish an eternal requiem.

You may assure his loved ones that his body will ever sleep in consecrated ground for the soil of France has been consecrated by the blood and tears of many nations.

Captain Johnston was an ideal Chaplain. He was fearless in danger, unfaltering in his duty, a great lover of men and absolutely devoted to Christ. My first meeting with him, in service, was at Frencham Pond Camp where he had arranged a Sunday service for me last July. Every detail was so perfectly organized that I was led to ask who had done it. The Tommies greatly loved him. I think no greater honor can come to any Chaplain apart from the love of his own home.

In his untimely and sacrificial death I am grieved beyond what I can tell. The Chaplain Service here and the Church at home have met with a great loss.

He had lived here to see his sacrifice bring forth a glorious victory. I doubt not that in the hereafter he has united his Hallelujah with 60,000 Canadians who have washed their robes in blood and are victors before the great white throne.

When you have given the contents of this letter to the relatives in Montreal, whose addresses I do not know, will you send it on to her who must ever mourn the loss of a good and brave man I pray that her burden may be lightened as she finds in Christ Jesus great strength to bear it.

Believe me, dear friends,
Yours in great sorrow,
(Sgd) Arthur E. Runnells,
Capt.

It Pays to Take Care of Farm Machinery

Farm machinery represents a financial investment. Taking proper care of it results in a monetary gain; leaving it exposed in the open at all seasons of the year must mean economic loss, not only to the farmer but to the whole country. It is generally recognized by authorities on agriculture that, if exposed in all sorts of weather, farm machines depreciate more than they do from fair wear and tear. That is to say, the farmer, who is careless in this respect pays for more than twice the number of implements than he actually requires. At the same time great manufacturing plants and small armies of workmen have to be kept busy replacing these losses, which, in thousands of instances, are purely and simply the result of carelessness and neglect

To house implements properly, it may not be necessary to have a special implement shed. Many farmers can utilize an unused barn floor, or a part of some other building. Poultry or other live stock should never be allowed access to the building, or part of a building that has been set aside for machinery. On most farms, however, a special implement house is desirable. A suitable building, if carefully planned to conserve space, can be built at a reasonable cost. Plans can be obtained from the central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

Before implements are stored for the season they should be carefully cleaned and oiled. It is a good plan after removing all dirt, to wipe the entire machine with an oiled rag and to grease all wearing parts with tallow or axle grease. Further it pays to renew the paint on the machinery at regular intervals. Paint of good quality, applied to well-cleaned surfaces, is an excellent protection, as well as improving the appearance of the machines. Then, too, it is an advantage to attend to all necessary repairs during the winter when the machines are not required. This will save much time and annoyance in the busy seasons.

To sum up: Proper care of farm machinery necessitates a suitable building where the implements will be protected from the sun, wind, rain, snow and live stock, when not in use. In addition, it should be kept clean, well oiled (painted if necessary) and in good repair.

Thrift and Industry

By thrift and industry the French people paid over the huge war indemnity of 1870 to Germany in an incredibly short space of time. The same thrift and industry, if exercised by Canadians now, will reconstruct and make Canada a prosperous country. To achieve this end there must be individual viligance. Watch food advertisements. There is always a best and cheapest place to buy any commodity. By watching the advertisements of foodstuffs in local papers, much can be accomplished. Merchants do not advertise unless the price and quality of the goods are attractive; they know they cannot retain the business of the public unless they "make good." Help the most progressive merchant in your locality by following his advertised prices and patronize him. Competiti n does more to regulate prices than anything else.

RED CROSS WORK

The Society shipped to Toronto this week a parcel containing 24 costumes for Serbian peasant women. The work of a group of ladies in the village, to whom the best thanks of the society are tendered.

We are especially grateful to Mrs. C. W. Casselman who, on several evenings placed her fine workrooms at the disposal of the workers— herself assisting every evening; and Miss McAllister, Mrs. Casselmau's assisstant, who also gave her time on all evenings of work.

To our knitters we would say—that quantities of knitting will be required for the Refugees in all the stricken lands of our Allies.

The general directions are almost the same as for socks that we have been knitting for the past four years—same number of stitches set up; but as the stockings are for women, and for children of all ages from tiny infants up to fifteen years of age, each knitter will use her own judgment as to the size.

For women's stockings, general sock directions are O. K.—except that stocking leg should measure 17 or 18 inches in length, foot of stocking 8 to 10 inches.

Could you not knit one pair of stockings before the New Year, even though it is a busy season?

A French woman or child will be grateful for our help in their time of need.

Junior Farmer's Ploughing Competition Dundas County 1918

The first Junior Farmers' Ploughing Competition in Dundas County was completed last week. The ploughing was all done on the home farm of the Competitors and the areas ploughed were judged by means of a score card. In spite of a very unfavourable fall for ploughing fourteen young men entered in the Competition. Mr. F. C. Nunnick. B. S. A. of the Commission of Conservation, Ottawa, judged the ploughing and was pleased with the general character of the work done.

The Fleury Plough Co. of Aurora, Ont. donated a general purpose walking plough as a first prize to the Competitor scoring the highest number of points. This generous donation was responsible for a great deal of the interest taken in this Competition. Four other cash prizes were given as follows:—2nd. $6.00, 3rd. $4.00, 4th. $2.00. The standing of the Competitors in this Contest were: —

Name	Address	Score out of 100.

It is expected that this Competition will be continued from year to year and it is hoped that a large number of the young farmers of the County will avail themselves of the opportunity of taking part.

Tragic Death of Capt. Lisle Casselman

(Huntsville Forester, Dec. 5th)—Many Huntsville citizens were saddened on Tuesday to learn that Capt. Lisle Casselman of Port Sydney had met a tragic death. In company with Mr. Robert Jenner of the "Cliff House," he was felling a tree in the woods owned by Mr. Jenner, and near the latter's home. Capt. Casselman ran in what he thought was a safe direction, but on looking back noticed that the tree was coming his way. He cut sharply across at right angles, but was struck on the head by one of the limbs. He was unconscious when Mr. Jenner reached him. The latter propped him up and put his coat around him and ran to the house for assistance, returning with robe and some stimulant. Mrs. Jenner Sr. followed immediately, and ministered to the unfortunate man as best she could, while Mr. Jenner secured a vehicle to convey him to his home, about a mile away. He did not regain consciousness, and breathed his last just as he was carried into his own house.

Captain Casselman was a son of the late Soloman Casselman, and was born 50 years ago at Chesterville, Ont. For many years after coming to Muskoka he lived with the family on Peninsula Lake. Marine work finally attracted him and associated himself with Mr. A. Sydney Smith of Port Sydney, and has been Captain on the Steamer "Gem" plying between Huntsville and Port Sydney.

Deceased was a member of Fairy Lodge 275, I. O. O. F., and of L. O. L. 393, Huntsville. The funeral this afternoon is in charge of Fairy Lodge.

Capt. Casselman leaves a young widow, formerly Miss Ida Jenner, and three children. The tragic occurrence has greatly depressed the community, and much sympathy is felt for the bereaved. (The deceased was well known to many in Chesterville and vicinity, being a brother of Mrs. Jno. Allison, of Maple Ridge.)

Britain Did More Than she Promised.

In a speech at Bedford College Saturday night Lord Haldane gave the history of the British and French conversation in 1914, when there was fear of an attack on France by Germany. On that occasion the French said in effect, accordiug to Lord Haldane: "If you feel it to be to your interest to come to our assistance in order to prevent the invasion of Northern France by Germany, is it not advisable that your military authorities and ours should have full conversations, without binding anyone, but with the view of determining the extent of the military assistance you can give?

"Informal and unbinding conversations were initiated at once, and it was decided that the function of any British army might be to supplement the great French army with a force strong enough to hold the Germans should they try to break through some parts of Belgium.

"The French thought at that time that if we could contribute 100,000 men capable of concentrating on their left within 15 days of the outbreak of the war that would be enough to enable them to hold their position.

"We found all we could concentrate would be 80,000 men, and it would take us at least two and one half months to assemble that number. The French said to us: 'But we would be dead before you came', and they were right."

Passing to the British preparations for the war, more than four years ago, Lord Haldane said: "We had to make a revolution in our military arrangements, and it was made under the guidance of Sir D. Haig and a number of other officers.

"In the end 50 per cent. was added to the French estimate, and we put not 100,000, but 250,000, in the field, and not in 15 days, but in 12. We mobilized in August, 1914, 36 hours before we declared war. Within a few hours after the declaration of war our expeditionary force was across the Channel, before anybody knew it".

Hold Your Victory Bonds

Unprecedent success has again attended Canada's Victory Loan. The number of individual subscribers is a credit to Canada, but the investment of savings in this way may lead to many heartburnings unless the people are fully warned of the dangers of speculation and of fake investments to which they will be exposed.

Many bonds were purchased from patriotic motives; many, however, were taken for the higher interest they offered, 5½ per cent, as compared with the 3 per cent from the banks. This increased earning capacity of their money may make holders of bonds susceptible to the temptation of promoters and organizers. Advertisements are appearing offering to accept Victory bonds in payment for real estate. In the United States many owners of Liberty Bonds have been robbed by being induced to exchange them for worthless securities supposed to carry a much higher rate of interest.

Monseigneur Choquette, at the annual meeting of the Commission of Conservation in 1916, speaking on this subject of speculation, said:

"Few days pass when farmers, young and old, are not asked to take part in financial concerns, in speculations which dangle uutold riches before their longing eyes. The agents are clever and persevering. They have a thousand strings to their bow. Town lots, mining claims, natural gas, and oil wells, patents, are all means of enticement, all the more alluring since the risk which accompanies them is hidden more or less honestly under the name of some master of finance, or by an advertisement cleverly inserted in a conspicuous place in a newspaper of wide circulation. It is veritable scourge, a plague. One must live in t country and hear the wails of the victims, to grasp the whole situation. I do not think that I exaggerate when I declare that in the one county where I live, $100,000 and more have simply been thrown away by our farmers. Some of these, seized by a fatal frenzy, have not hesitated to sell their beautiful farms the heritage received from their forefathers, in order to barter the value for a scrap of paper which guaranteed them the ownership neither of inch of land or an ounce of silver.

"Can this evil not be remedied? Is it necessary to leave the farmer to learn wisdom at his own expense by becoming the prey of greedy plunderers?"

The Canadian Government strongly advises holders of Victory Bonds to keep them. They represent the savings of the people of Canada. They are a receipt for duty well done on the part of the owner, and should only change hands when it is absolutely necessary for the owner to to sell them to secure their value in cash.

War Savings Stamps Good For Small Investors

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, made the following statement today:

"The war savings stamp campaign has three very important objects in view—to raise money to assist in meeting the continuing heavy obligations of the war during the peroid of demobilization, to stimulate individual habits of thrift and benefit a large body of small investors. With some years of prosperity Canada has become largely a nation of spenders and has lost sight of the old-fashioned virture of saving. In order to reduce the debt of nearly two billion dollars, which we shall have at the end of demobilization, we shall have to greatly increase both our national production and our national savings.

"After the Franco-Prussian War Germany exacted an indemnity of $1,000,000,000 from France, which was paid in a few years, mainly out of the savings of the French peasantry After the war France had a marvellous recovery, due largely to the thrift of her people. It cannot be made too plain that the liquidation of our war debt will depend upon the ability of our people to produce and save.

"Another object of war savings stamps is to benefit the person who saves. The purchaser pays four dollars now and he gets five dollars in four years. It is a very simple and a very profitable investment. The Government hopes to raise at least $50,000,000 during 1919 from the sale of war savings stamps. This is only six dollars per head of population.

"Under the method of our war financing the proceeds of the stamps will be expended entirely in Canada. The merits from the plan are so obvious from every point of view that I look forward with confidence to a general response in the full spirit of the undertaking. In all the Victory loans and patriotic endeavors during the war, the Government has had the willing and enthusiastic co-operation of men in the various sections of Canada who organized and directed the various campaigns. The war has been won, but it cannot be said to be over until peace conditions are fully restored and the country is again on its normal course. The period of reconstruction presents problems almost as difficult as those of the war, and it is almost essential that our ability to finance and extend credits should be maintained. I therefore appeal to all the leaders of and workers in the various war movements to assist in promoting the campaign for national thrift and saving which we are now undertaking through the national war savings committee."

Saddest Sight of the War in Belgium

One of the saddest sights I have ever seen in any war zone was a band of Ostend children being taught how to laugh and cheer, a British officer writes. Four years under the Hun jackboot had crushed out of their tiny souls all capacity for expressing joyous emotion. Solemn-eyed, sad-faced, and almost dumb, they did not even chatter so one another as they trudged along the pavement.

All were boys of ages ranging from about ten to fifteen years. They carried small flags, and there were about a hundred of them. I asked the priest who led this woe-begone procession who they were and what they were doing.

"Orphans of the war, m'sieu," he answered. "I am teaching them how to rejoice."

Turning to the boys, he waved his flag and called, "Vivent les Allies!"

From the ranks there came only a listless response.

"Ah, m'sieu," exclaimed the priest sorrowfully, "they have forgotten how to do it."

The tragedy of it! Boys at their most irresponsible and care-free age who did not know how to wave a flag and cheer, who scarcely remembered how to smile!

My meeting with the priest and his charges occurred between the Rue de la Chapelle and the avenue Leopold. Noticing a small body of British bluejackets approaching, I stepped aside to watch what they would do. I was sure I should see a picture worth looking at, for I know Jack. He is the real Peter Pan. In his heart he never grows up. He remains a boy always, and has a large understanding sympathy with all boys of lesser years than himself.

The sailors stopped, looked at the boys and laughed merrily—and that laugh proved infectious. When one of the sailors waved his hand and called, "Hooray for Belgium!" the youngsters appeared suddenly to awake. They laughed too, fluttering their bunting, and tried to " 'ooray!" also.

"Cheer ship properly!" exclaimed the mentor as he led them off again. All this time the boys joined in with good will. They had found the right teacher. Somewhat puzzled, though plainly enough delighted the priest watched all this. When it was over he told the sailors who the boys were and what they were doing.

Apparently the sailors had taken them for a party of school children demonstrating. When they learned the truth off came caps—the bluejackets hold all—followed by deep searching of pockets. At this juncture the driver of an army lorry (Royal Air Force, I beleive) walked up.

"What's it all about?" he asked. One of the sailors told him.

"Wait a bit", and the driver, running up a side street, returned, breathless, with a tin in his hand. "Here's some toffee—give 'em that too!" he said.

The women of Britain know their men for their courage—and justly. They have equal reason for knowing them for their great-hearted kindliness towards the women and children of such war stricken lands as Belgium.

"Yes," said the cynical old sea captain, "when I was shipwrecked in South America I came across a tribe of wild women. Absolutely wild. They had no tongues."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the listener, "how could they talk?"

"They couldn't," was the reply, "that was what made them wild."

$25,000 Herd of Hogs From $25 Investment

Chicago, Dec. 6.—While saddle horses and prize steers are receiving much admiration at the international livestock exposition and horse fair, the once humble American hog is also there, and in money value the swine exhibits are not far behind their more aristocratic companions.

The case of Johnny and Billy Turner, of Dewitt, Iowa, illustrated the importance to which the hog industry has recently grown in the middle west.

Johnny is 16 years old and Billy 13, and the style of their firm is Turner Brothers. Four years ago their father gave them $25 to buy a bicycle but they bought a sow and went into the hog raising business instead. Today they have 600 in their herd of Hampshires valued at $25,000. They are exhibiting a prize boar at the show for which they refused an offer of $2,000. The firm has won 83 prizes, including three blue ribbons.
