MOUNTAIN FAIR WAS HUGE SUCCESS

GREATEST CROWD IN HISTORY OF SOCIETY VISITS GROUNDS

Approximately twenty-two hundred people thronged the fair grounds at South Mountain on Friday last in spite of threatening weather to enjoy one of the best exhibitions ever staged by the Mountaiin Agricultural Society. The fancy work and domestic science departments were very pleasing to look at, filling the large house to its capacity. The cheese exhibit alone surpassing any other year, and the judges required the greater part of the afternoon to declare the winners. Numbers of cheese on exhibit were twenty-eight. The cattle on exhibition numbered one hundred and fifty-seven. made up of three breeds, Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey. The horses made a lovely exhibit in front of the stand, numbering ninety-two in all. One of the outstanding exhibits was the poultry department. This year special efforts were made to increase the exhibits. A large department tent was secured with coops and tables and the exhibit which turned out was one of the best Mountain Fair ever had. Special compliments are due the directors over this department for their efforts.

The swine club for boys was a real education, there being fifteen boys winning prize money.

The weather interfered some what with the softball games but the other sports, especially the horse racing was very pleasing to the race lovers. The names of the horses, classes and different heats were as follows.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The opening fall meeting will be held next Tuesday. Sept. 19th, at 7.30 p.m. in the Town Hall. Members are urged to attend. "What is a Home?" will be the answer to roll call. There will be a demonstration on "Bound Buttonholes."

A report of the trip to Guelph will be given, also a paper on "Jasper Park Lodge." There will be special music, refreshments and a collection.

Sacred Band Concert

CITIZENS' BAND WILL PRESENT PROGRAM ON SUNDAY EVENING, SEPT 17.

The Winchester Citizen's Band will render a sacred band concert from the balcony of Hotel Winchester, on Sunday evening next, following the church services.

Owing to the fact that the Band is playing an engagement at Metcalfe Fair on Saturday afternoon, the regular band concert has been with drawn.

Meeting At Hallville

ONTARIO PREMIER TO SPEAK

Premier Henry, Hon. T. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, besides the local parliamentary representatives, will be at Hallville on Saturday night at 7.30 next to address a public meeting. It will likely be a crowded meeting as many from this section have signified their intention of being present. It is also likely that some important announcement will be made by the premier with reference to party matters.

WINCHESTER OLD HOME RE-UNION MEETING

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Winchester Old Home Re-Union Association will be held in the Council Chamber on Friday (tomorrow) night at 7.30 o'clock, and all members are earnestly requested to be present, as preliminary arrangements are to be made for the complete organization of all committees, and get the program for the Old Home Re-Union well in hand.

Metcalfe Fair This Friday & Saturday

On Friday and Saturday of this week the annual Metcalfe Exhibition will be in full swing with all indications pointing to a bigger and better exhibition than ever before in the history of the Society. Entries have been pouring in to the Secretary during the past weeks and a much larger and finer display of exhibits than last year is assured in all classes. Keen interest is being shown by the horsemen in the various races to be conducted on Saturday and large fields are expected in each class, with many of the fastest horses in Eastern Ontario already entered. The special prizes offered for horses, cattle, swine, poultry and ladies' work are attracting large numbers of exhibitors.

The concert and dance on the last evening of the Fair are looked forward to by many and are of highest quality. A real time is promised to all who attend the district's largest and leading exhibition—Metcalfe, on Friday and Saturday.

HON. G. H. FERGUSON IN KEMPTVILLE NEXT WEEK

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner to London, will be in Kemptville, his home town, next week before returning to England. On Wednesday he will address the Women's Canadian Club, and on another day in the week yet to be decided on will speak at the meeting of the 100 Club of Kemptville. While he is there Mr. Ferguson will stay with his sister. Mrs. Marion Storey.

HIGHWAY HALF COMPLETED

In less than one month from the time the actual construction was started, the Harvey Construction Company will have completed the cementing of the west half of the stretch of King's Highway No. 31 between Morrisburg and Williamsburg. It is expected that the cement will be laid to Highway No. 2, in Morrisburg, in a day or so. The company will immediately commence building the east half, and it is estimated that in less than another month, traffic will be flowing over the 20-foot wide cement road for the entire six miles between the two communities.

Y. P. A. Annual Outing

EVENT HELD ON SATURDAY WAS LARGELY ATTENDED. CARDINAL WINS SOFTBALL TROPHY, WHILE DRAMATIC HONOURS GO TO OTTAWA

The Field and Dramatic Contest, conducted by the United Church Presbyteries of Glengarry, Dundas-Grenville and Ottawa, in Winchester on Saturday afternoon last, was one of the most successful events of its kind to be held since becoming an annual affair three years ago.

In spite of threatening weather a large crowd gathered early in the afternoon to witness the final softball matches for the championship of the Presbyteries. Teams representing Cardinal, Vancamps, Finch, Summerstown, and Parkdale. Ottawa, were on hand, and as all teams were champions of their own district, interest was very keen among both players and spectators.

The first contest for the cup was played between the Cardinal and Vancamps teams and was a battle royal from the first man up. Neither team could run up a substantial lead on their opponents although Cardinal seemed to have a slight edge on the play, winning the game by the score of 11-9.

The second game was fought between the Finch and Summerstown teams and proved to be an interesting battle. The spectacular work of the three young ladies on the Finch nine put the game in the bag for their team the score being 10-6.

The semi-finals started off with a bang when Finch met Parkdale team of Ottawa and both outfits worked their heads off right from the start. The Ottawa nine maintained a slight lead from the start, to win 8-4.

Cardinal team, champions for the last three years, played sparkling ball in the final game with the Parkdales and emerged on the long end of a 12-7 score. It was a real battle from start to finish. with Cardinal demonstrating their superiority in the field. This contest gave Cardinal the silverware for the third year in succession, their captain being presented with the cup at the close of the Dramatic contest in the evening.

The line-ups for the various teams were as follows:

Cardinal—H. Shortt, B. Shortt, C. Comstock, Sampson, Running, Armstrong, Keillor. Levere and Armstrong.

Vancamps—L. Marcell, Williams, L. Render, Boyd, W. Williams, A. Sampson, V. Marcell. K. Richardson, Lang.

Parkdales—Patterson, Baker, Percival, Reid, Begley, Durant. Langdon, McLeod and Campbell.

Finch—Allan, Edna Nephew, Jack, Swerdfeger. Shaver, McLeod, B. Ouderkirk, Eva Nephew, Jean Ouderkirk, subs: Higgs, Casselman.

Summerstown—Bentley, McLean, G. Morrison. McLean, W. McLean, Bentley, Margaret Christie, Baker, Smith.

The umpires—J. Nickels, McMonagle Burns and Johnston.

In the evening, Lannin's Hall was filled to capacity with an attentive audience, to witness the presentation of three one-act plays in the finals of the Dramatic contest for the Presbyteries.

The Young People's Society of the Spencerville United Church. winners in the Dundas-Grenville eliminations, opened the performance with their play "The Bone Spoon." Two periods in Canadian History were depicted most cleverly by the cast. The first being a scene at the downfall of French Canada. Three French sol-

Many Attend 100 Club Luncheon

JUDGE McKINLEY, OF OTTAWA, DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS AND TELLS OF HIS WORK WITH BOYS—GENEROUS OFFER TO HELP UNDERPRIVILEGED BOYS

One of the most successful supper meetings in the history of the local 100 Club was held at Hotel Winchester on Friday evening last at 6.30 p. m. Being the opening meeting for the fall and winter season, enthusiasm ran high among the thirty-odd members present and everyone entered enthusiastically into the proceedings. President Centurian Albert Johnston was in the chair, while Centurian Chester Timmins sent the meeting off to a good start with a rousing sing-song preceding the splendid repast laid by Centurian Jack Singleton and served by his efficient staff.

Following the supper, Centurian W. J. Stewart introduced a group of new members to the club. He emphasized the necessity of increasing membership in such an organization and in particular stressed the aims upon which Centurianism is based—service to others. He hoped that those entering the Club would add to the spirit of the organization as real Centurians, and thus insure unqualified success to all their undertakings. The new members were then received with hearty applause by the Club as a whole.

Those men, joining the Club as new members include Centurians Charlie Cross, Gordon Johnston, Doug. McLean, Norman Stanley, Carl Rice, H. Lannin, Erle. Helmer, James Utman, Dr. Richard Gross, Leonard Porteous and Benson F. Smith.

After a few words of welcome by the president, Centurian Magistrate John McCormick was called upon to introduce the guest speaker of the evening, Judge McKinley, of Ottawa, Juvenile Court Judge for the city and chairman of the Parole Board of Ontario.

In opening his remarks on the subject of The Relation of the Juvenile Court and the Domestic Relations Court to each other, and to the community, Judge McKinley paid a glowing tribute to Magistrate John McCormick, of Winchester, for the manner in which he was lending his time to the problem of juvenile delinquency throughout this district. He felt that Magistrate McCormick understood the object which the Court of Domestic Relations had in view thoroughly, and as a result, was rendering valuable assistance worthy of fine recognition, along that line.

The question of juvenile delinquency, he said, was a problem which was more acute at the present time than in previous generations, due to the age in which we live. In spite of the fact that this generation is undoubtedly better in a great many respects than previous ones, home life is suffering. Social activities and business affairs are tending to occupy the time of parents formerly given to their children, the result being juvenile delinquency in many cases. What children see, that they will do, said Judge McKinley, and the majority of the time, parents may thank themselves for the unfavorable results. He pointed out that the church had done more towards adjusting itself to present day conditions than any other body, but one must not expect the church to undertake problems which should be the duties of the parent.

The Juvenile Court, he stated, was founded on the principle that it is better to correct the child than to punish the criminal, and went on to show that in any cases it was not the community that needed to be protected from the child, but the child that deserved protection from the community. 90 per cent. of the cases appearing in this court can be traced to the lack of attention to the child on the part of the parents.

The problem then arises, of the best manner in which to handle such cases. The Judge emphasized the fact that the best results were obtained by turning the boy back on the boys themselves, and referred to certain cases in the City of Ottawa where such actions had brought about extremely gratifying results, no further complaints being received from the parties concerned.

It is not surprising that boys get into trouble when one realizes that of the 4000 hours the average boy is awake during the year, he is only occupied for 1000 of them, said Judge McKinley. Therein lies a real problem. The solution lies in treating the boy squarely for you cannot bluff him, and in remembering that boys are boys.

In turning to the Court of Domestic Relations, Judge McKinley pointed out that it had been founded to deal with all problems arising in the home, in an effort to reduce delinquency. 78 per cent. of the cases coming before this Court. he said, were over the discussion of money matters in the home. The Court undertook to handle the budgets in such cases with excellent results and a material decrease in recurrences of the trouble in the homes.

The "eternal triangle" was another great cause of domestic upsets, and was one which should be rigidly handled by those in charge of the Courts, as was indeed the case.

The success attained in the Court of Domestic Relations has a material effect on the Juvenile Court, he remarked, for the two are closely related. In 1932 there was an 11 per cent. decrease in juvenile crime over 1922, in the face of a 17 per cent. increase in population. Poverty and crime do not go together, declared the speaker, for present day facts go to prove the contrary. The peak of crime was reached at the height of prosperity in 1929. while a notable decrease is to be found in the number of persons sentenced to prisons during 1932 under conditions of economic depression and great unemployment.

JUDGE T. J. McKINLEY

In closing, Judge McKinley emphatically remarked that there are too many citizens in Ontario today who are ready to believe the man who capitalizes on his crime, rather than the officials placed in charge of our penal institutions, to see that the dictates of justice are carried out.

Following his address, Judge McKinley extended an invitation to the Club to send any underprivileged children from this district to the camp which was being planned for next summer, where they might enjoy from two to eight weeks healthful outing. Any child deserving such a holiday in the opinion of the Club would be enthusiastically received by those in charge of the camp.

Centurian Jack Singleton conveyed to the speaker the appreciation of the local 100 Club for his kindness in coming to Winchester and delivering such an inspiring and entertaining address. The motion was seconded by Centurian Will Rowat and heartily endorsed by all present.

The business meeting followed during which the reports of the various committees were read and adopted. The total net proceeds of the Field Day amounted to $159.49, which was most gratifying to the Club. for the funds are now available for carrying out the work of aiding crippled children throughout this district, several cases of which were discussed at the meeting and plans laid for immediate action on the part of the committees in charge. The meeting closed with "God Save The King."

"LITTLE BITS OF EVERYTHING"

SUCCESS

If one half of the population applauds you and the other half is knocking, you can figure that you are successful.—Galt Reporter.

BUT THESE WERE GERMANS

If you wish to live to be one hundred don't be a teetotaller, get married. and be a patron of Lady Nicotine. A German professor has been investigating the life history of a number of persons who have lived beyond the century mark, and he found that out of the 124 such people only three were unmarried, one spinster and two bachelors. There was not a teetotaller among the lot. And all the men smoked. —Hanover Post.

SOLD THE EGGS

The editor of a poultry journal received a letter from a woman reader. It read: "How long should a hen remain on the eggs?"

The editor replied: "Three weeks for chickens and four weeks for ducks."

"Three weeks passed and the editor again received a letter from the reader "Thank you very much for your kind advice." it said. "The hen remained on the eggs for three weeks and there were no chickens hatched, and so I did not care for ducks, I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."

THE POLITE MAN

The politest man in Boston has been discovered. He was hurrying along a street the other night, when another man, also in violent haste, rushed out of an alley-way. and the two collided with great force. The second man looked mad, when the polite man, taking off his hat, said: "My dear sir, I don't know which of us is to blame for the violent encounter, but I am in too great a hurry to investigate. If I ran into you, I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it." And he tore away at redoubled speed.—Hanover Post.

TO EAT YOUR FILL

An old gentleman who enjoyed the best of health was asked what he thought the reason for his good health was. He attributed it to always eating his fill of each fruit and vegetable as it came in season. It is a sound idea. To wait until each fruit and vegetable is at its best and then eat all you want of it. I always feel sorry for children who can only have a little fruit. It may not be possible to give them all they want all the time but it is wise to give them at least once "their fill" of each kind of fruit. There are few of us who eat enough fruits and vegetables.

SUNNY THOUGHTS

On the good that is wrought
With a sunny thought
Comes home to the hearts of all.
'Tis like that given
To earth from heaven
When the sun-kissed raindrops fall.

The happiness wrought
By a sunny thought
Is beyond all earthly ken,
Thoughts gloomy and wise
Fill the mind with surprise,
But they touch not the hearts of men

The gems that shine
In the distant mine
May be far more precious than gold,
But the blossoms sweet
That bloom at your feet
Have a wealth that is untold.

In the heaven afar
Gleams many a star,
And for these you may strive in vain.
But the daisies grow
In the grass below
All along life's winding lane.

When the roses gay
Turn to sombre gray
And the lilies grow black as night,
It is time to weep
O'er the gems that sleep
Or the gleaming stars so bright.

Like the sun that glows
In the heart of a rose
When kissed by a drop of dew,
Is the glory wrought
In the soul by a thought
If sunny. and pure and true.

Do not stop to sigh,
For the stars on high,
But gather the blosssoms rare.
Each little flower,
Though it live but an hour,
Has made the world more fair.

DISCONTENT

There are two kinds of discontent in this world—the discontent that works and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants and the second loses what it has. There is no cure for the first but success; and there is no cure at all for the second.

TIMES CHANGE

A hundred long, long years ago a wilderness was here,
And man put powder in his gun and went to hunt the deer.
But times have changed a lot since then— we've found a different plan:
The dear puts powder on her face, and goes to hunt the man.
—Kitchener Record.

FRIENDSHIP

The value of friendship has never been disputed. Platus, 200 years B. C. quoted as saying that "A friend in need is a friend indeed!" A true friend is a priceless possession. Money cannot buy one. The only way to get one is to be one. When you have a friend to share your pleasures, you get twice the happiness out of them. Success without someone to share it with may be empty. Time given to being a friend is never wasted. It is an investment in happiness, and if one you have befriended proves faithless. that is his loss, not yours. You gain by being a friend. You gain by having a friend.

NAME TRACED TO BLUNDER

The designation of a particular variety of worsted fabrics as "tweeds" is commonly. but erroneously, associated with the Scottish river of that name. The origin of the word "tweed" however, has no reference to the River Tweed, but is said to be due to an error on the part of a London clerk, who, in the year 1826, when writing out an invoice for these goods, inadvertently wrote the word "tweeds" instead of "tweels," the Scottish for twills. Orders were placed for more "Scottish tweeds," a novel description which immediately won the popular favor and became firmly established in the clothing trade as a brand of quality.

IT PAYS

It pays to wear a smiling face,
And laugh our troubles down,
For all our little trials wait
Our laughter or our frown.
Beneath the magic of a smile,
Our doubts will fade away,
As melts the frost in early spring.
Beneath the sunny ray.

It pays to help a worthy cause,
By making it, our own;
To give the current of our lives
A true and noble tone.
It pays to comfort heavy hearts,
Oppressed with dull dispair,
And leave, in sorrow-darkened lives,
One gleam of brightness there.

It pays to give a helping hand
To eager, earnest youth.
To note, with all their waywardness,
Their courage and their truth;
To strive with sympathy and love,
Their confidence to win;
It pays to open wide the heart
And "let the sunshine in."

IF YOU LOVE TO TEASE

Most of us feel like shaking the small boy who snatches away the baby's top and holds it out of his reach. Teasing has its root in cruelty. It is fun only because it distresses somebody else.

We may say the boy will outgrow it, and probably the time will come when it does not amuse him to make a baby cry by snatching his playthings away from him. The love of teasing often persists, however, in those who are old enough to vote. Young people of both sexes find pleasure in making others uncomfortable and happy.

Savages torture their enemies and find their contortions highly amusing. Teasing is the same characteristic softened down, but unchanged in essentials. If you love to tease, that means you are not yet civilized.

WESLEY'S GOLDEN RULE

Do all the good you can.
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can.

ON THE INCREASE

There were 2,734 factories in operation in Canada in 1932, comprising 1,219 creameries, 1,171 cheese factories, 317 combined butter and cheese factories, and 26 concentrated milk plants. The total number shows an increase of 32 compared with 1931.

FINANCIAL POST ON ADVERTISING

"Those business men who have not been advertising in the last few years are coming in again," says the Financial Post. "They find that they have to do so to get the business and that they have to advertise much more than they otherwise would to regain te ground lost as a result of their long silence. Every business depression of the past has underlined this lesson, but a lot of business men have to learn it anew each time."

PASTOR RESIGNS

Rev. H. W. W. Bromwich, pastor of the Gananoque East circuit of the United Church for the past three years, succeeding Rev. Alfred Bishop, has resigned his pastorate and will leave Gananoque on October 1st. He will probably locate at Galt for the time being. This step was rendered necessary on account of Mr. Bromwich's ill-health. He fell on the icy steps of his church at Maple Grove last winter, and has suffered periods of ill-health since that time.

CAPTURES BIG OWL IN NORTH GOWER TOWNSHIP

A fine specimen of an owl was caught in a trap Monday evening, Aug. 28th, in the farm yard of John O'Callaghan, on the second line of North Gower township, near Kars. The bird is a dark brown. a beauty, measuring four and a half feet from tip to tip of its wings. Mr. O'Callaghan had been missing his young ducklings and set the trap to capture the intruder. As he is a bird fancier, he intends keeping it for the present. The bird was caught by only one toe.—Kemptville Advance.

TELLING ABOUT HAY FEVER

The Cornwall Standard-Freeholder last week devoted over a column in telling its readers something about that awful, but little understood malady. hay fever. The writer says:

"In the early stages, the victim experences a stinging irritation in the nasal passages, which brings about frequent and violent spasms of sneezing. A little later, the nose becomes congested and a period of sniffling and blowing sets in. The victim feels wretchedly, physically and mentally, and all the pleasure goes out of life. As a final touch of cruelty. hay fever begins to affect the eyes. The eye balls sting and itch and become inflamed; a haze obscures the vision, particularly in the evenings, and tears course down one's cheeks.

Then the writer tells of the experience of a Cornwall man who has been a sufferer for over 30 years, and he says, referring to proposed remedies: "We have tried at least a hundred such remedies. We've swallowed liquids, powders, pills. tablets and capsules; we've rubbed on salves, ointments, linaments and astringents; we've pumped our nose-piece full of junk that came in tubes, bottles, jars and cans; we've dropped a score of preparations into those inflamed eyes. And still we suffer."

Yes. and the worst part of the suffering is that the majority of people look upon it as a joke. Just a little cold or influenza, they comment. Why make such a fuss about it?

A PRAYER FOR YOU

"The Lord preserves thy going out,
The Lord preserve thy coming in;
His angels guard thee round about
To keep thy soul from every sin.

And when thy going out is done,
And when thy coming in is over;
When in the dear and hallowed place
Thy feet can come and go no more,

The Lord preserve thy going out
From this fair world, from friends and kin,
While angels standing round about
Sing, God preserve thy coming in."

A SPORTSMAN'S PRAYER

"Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask but a field that is fair,
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
A courage to do and to dare.

And if I should win. let it by the code,
Of my faith and my honor held high;
And if I should lose, let me stand by the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

Lord, teach me to conquer, if conquer I can,
By proving my worth in the fray;
But if I should lose, let me lose like a man,
And not like a coward I pray.

Let me say "There they ride," on whom honor's bestowed
"Since they played the game better better than I."
Let me stand. with a smile, by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by."

HYNDMAN'S

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Howard Nesbitt in the death of his mother, Mrs. Duncan Nesbitt, of Kemptville.

Messrs. Clarence Brown and Allan McFadden each purchased a new car this week.

Messrs. Peter Grant and Hubert Futter spent Wednesday at Mr. Jack Ellis, Cardinal.

Mr. Charles Kearns spent Tuesday a.m. in Spencerville.

RUSSELL AND DISTRICT NEWS

Following his induction on Friday, September 1st. Rev. Thos. McNaught began his ministry in the United Church at Russell on Sunday last. He gave two able discourses, the subject in the morning being "Prayer' and in the evening from the text "For without Me ye can do nothing," his leading theme being Christian Co-operation." Mr. McNaught is an able speaker, with a splendid delivery, this, together with the high recommendations from his previous charge, tends to assure a very successful pastorate with the congregation of the United Church at Russell.

Division Court Sittings take place at Russell on Thursday, September 14. with some dozen or so cases on the list for hearing, nearly half of which are Judgment Summons', which helps to indicate that the Depression Clouds are not lifting very rapidly.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, Russell, propose holding the 53rd anniversary of that Society on Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the church. Neighbouring societies are expected to attend and give ideas and thoughts on the workings of their respective societies.

Rev. Alex Nimmo will administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper in the Presbyterian Church. Russell, on Sunday, September 17th, next.

"Will we take $250 for the red bull?"

Young Tom Wilson had a string of cattle at the fair. A buyer took a fancy to the red bull, but Tom was afraid to take the responsibility.

"Why not telephone your father?" the buyer suggested, and in a few moments Tom was speaking with his father at the farm.

"Will we take $250? You bet!" the old man decided, and thanked his stars again for the convenience and value of the Long Distance telephone.

Electricity!

No tale of wonders and enchantments has ever been written that excelled the actual reality which is today at mankind's fingertips in the wonders and magic of electricity. Step by step the intelligence of man leads him on through the ages of civilization until to-day our most common utility is in fact far beyond the mere comprehension of even the dreams of our forefathers. The Hydro System brings all of this to the citizens of Winchester. There is no new development or equipment in the fields that is not available to the life and business of local citizens. The drudgery can be taken out of housework if you let electric energy be the slave.

Possibly your home needs re-wiring or the present wiring a little over-hauling. If so let us know about it. We are here to see that you get the best possible results from Hydro Light and Power.

THE DIFFERENCE

What happens to us matters less than how it happens. The youth who drowns, trying to save some one, goes out of life gloriously. Another who is drowned because in a fit of depression he jumps off a bridge, dies a coward's death. Both are drowned, but how vast is the difference.

Some young men and women are inclined to be cynical over the fact that right-doing does not protect them against hard experiences. Good men lose their money. Good women lose their children. An epidemic sweeping through a city does not spare the devout. Death is the universal lot; but though these experiences come all, good and bad alike, there is a tremendous difference in the way they come. The Christian with his money gone and his faith intact, stills feels rich. The mother who trusts her little ones to the arms of the Good Shepherd sees a rainbow against the cloud. Death comes to all but it makes a tremendous difference whether one cries "I am taking a leap into the dark," or says as Stephen did, "Lord Jesus, into Thy hands I commend my spirit.

Being a sincere Christian is not an assurance of escape from the ills of life. Grief and loss, sickness and death are inevitable. It does not matter so much what happens to us, as how it happens.

BRUCE BARTON

...writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every human trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

THE MASTER

SO WE come up to the end. To the final tests of a man's living—
How does he bear disappointment?
How does he die?

For two years it seemed almost certain that Jesus would prevail. He himself was sure of it. We have marked the dramatic success with which his work began. We have watched the crowds flock about him in the market-place; we have heard the cheers that greeted his victories over shrewd antagonists, and the murmured awe when a sick man rose and walked.

Bruce Barton

Reports of his triumphs preceded him everywhere so that men competed for the honor of being his host, and there was friendliness in his audiences that made almost anything seem possible. And why not? If, by accepting his message, men could be lifted up, transformed into sons of God, heirs of eternity, why should any be so stubborn or so foolish as to oppose? Surely such Truth must conquer.

If you read the story carefully you can see how his tone and manner grew in confidence. In hours of exalted communion he stood face to face with God, felt his own sonship, knew that he could lift the hearts of men as no other had ever lifted them. The knowledge thrilled him with ecstasy. "I am the Way," he cried, and he called on his friends to free themselves, to cast their burdens upon the Lord, to believe more, rejoice more, expect more of God. Those who listened in those days were profoundly impressed. Even the most callous yielded grudging admiration. "Never man so spake," said they. As for the multitude, its enthusiasm would brook no halfway measures. They would take him by force and make him king.

Then came the change.

His home town was first to turn against him. Picture, if you will, the enthusiasm with which he planned his visit to it. Nazareth was little and despised, a jest among the wits of the day. When he healed a sick man in Capernaum, it pleased him to think that the report would be carried back to Nazareth. When he drove the plunderers from the Temple he realized that, in the fame which had come to him, his home town would have a share. He had lifted the little village out of obscurity. And now, in the height of his glory, he was going back.

FINE FIELD DAY AND DRAMATIC CONTEST

diers, refugees from the Huronia Mission, are portrayed. One of them is in a dying condition, and beseeches the others to press on and leave him. They listen to his appeals and depart supposedly leaving him some meal and a wooden spoon, but the man had replaced the bag in their canoe before they set out, as his life meant nothing to those of his two comrades.

The scene is cleverly shifted to a picnic party on the same spot 300 years later. the story being related by one of the party concerning the three Frenchmen. The dramatic close depicts the discovery of the old wooden spoon.

The stage-settings, costumes, etc for the play were excellent, while the actors all portrayed their roles in a very effective manner. The audience gave hearty applause at the close of the last scene.

Moose Creek Young People's Society next staged their prize-winning play of the Glengarry Presbytery. "Soup, Sand and Sagebush,, which was excellently rendered by the various characters. The comedy in this play was excellent, the whole depicting life on the frontier missions, with its pathetic and amusing sides. Th role of Grandma Robinson was very cleverly executed, while the little squaw received much favourable comment.

The final play of the evening. "The Violin-Maker of Cremona," by the McLeod St. Young People's Society of Ottawa, was excellently staged. The parts were well handled by the various artists who were fitted to their roles. Filippo gave a fine characterization with clever acting in the climaxing scene. Tadeo Farrari, for an old gentleman was too energetic in spots, but was thoroughly acquainted with his lines. The grouping was good at all times and there was no lapse of interest. The dramatic exchanging of violins and the supreme unselfishness on the part of Filippo were the leading points in the portrayal.

This play was declared the winner after a lengthy discussion on the part of the adjudicators, Rev. C. J. Beckley. of Newington, and Messrs. T. P. Murphy, W. D. Cromarty and K. McNeill, of the Little Theatre Movement of Canada. The actors were well fitted to their roles and displayed splendid stage technique in the opinion of the judges, for which reason the play was awarded the cup. Rev. J. C. Eastcott, of Avonmore, made the presentation to Rev. Mr. Spence as a concluding feature of the evening. in conjuction with the awarding of the cup to the Cardinal Softball champions. Miss Ethel Betts, leading lady of the winning play was also the recipient of a bouquet of asters and gladioli at the close of the performance, the gift of the Association.

Following the program a short business meeting took place when the list of officers for the coming year was chosen, the installation being conducted by Mr. Scrivens, of Ottawa. Mr. Mervin Peters, of Spencerville. was elected as president of the District Associations, with Miss Laura Moorehouse being selected as secretary.

This annual event, sponsored by the Presbyteries of the United Church, has come to be looked forward to by many citizens of Winchester, and with each year interest is growing in the various competitions among the participants from all over the district. Such friendly contests are highly commendable. and should be given every encouragement on the part of all.

HONORING THE BRIDE

About 150 friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren near Williamsburg, last week to spend a pleasant time in honor of their grand-daughter, Miss Hilda Gallinger, whose marriage to Mr. Wm. Brownell, of Bush Glen takes place shortly.

When the gathering was called to order, a very suitable address was read by Miss Olive Warren and the presentation of a well laden basket of gifts was made by two little girls, Dorothy Gallinger and Audrey Russell. The address was signed by Mrs. Bernice Gallinger and Mrs Durham Wells. Miss Gallinger replied in a few well chosen words, thanking her friends for the gifts.

Following the presentation, a dainty lunch was served by a committee of ladies, after which dancing was enjoyed. An orchestra furnished the music for the occassion.

THIS WAS BEFORE HAY FEVER WAS KNOWN

The custom of uttering a benediction after a sneeze is universal. Its origin is obscure and each country seems to have its own particular legend concerning it. Among the Romans the belief existed that a sneeze expelled evil spirits The sneeze, therefore, was regarded somewhat in the light of a lucky effort on the part of the person to rid his system of evil spirits and those present at the time would say, "Good luck to you." There is also an old legend that before the time of Jacob men sneezed only once and then expired. But the patriarch interceded in the behalf of man and obtained a relaxation of this law on condition that prayer or benediction follow every sneeze. Some writers offer this old legend as an explanation of the modern sneeze benediction "God bless you."

Some of the "benedictions" by hayfever sufferers would have a very different meaning in these modern days.

POOR ECONOMY

Usually the merchant who says he saves money by not advertising, also saves clerk hire, as the business does not require much help.—Galt Reporter

CHURCH GIVING

I bought gasoline, I went to the show;
I bought some new tubes for my old radio;
I bought candy and peanuts, nut bars and ice-cream;
While my salary lasted, life sure was a scream.

It takes careful planning to make money go 'round;
One's method of finance must always be sound.
With habits quite costly, it's real hard to save.
My wife spent "ten bucks" on a permanent wave.

The church came 'round begging. It sure made me sore;
If they'd leave me alone, I'd give a lot more.
They have plenty of nerve; they forget all the past.
For I gave them a quarter the year before last.

DO SOMETHING AT ONCE

It has been said that we cannot do everything at once, but we can do something at once. We are often confused by the realization that there is much to be done. When the moving vans rattle off, leaving the furniture dumped all over the new house, pictures, books, chairs, bedding all in a huddle, our first feeling is that it is impossilbe to evolve any order out of this chaos. Instead of wringing our hands because we cannot do everything at once, we start at once to do something. Putting shoes in the closet, putting books in the bookcase, putting the dishes in the china cabinet are small tasks; but by keeping at them, the disorder disappears, and the new house becomes habitable.

Sometimes as we look around on the world we are overwhelmed by the number of conditions that are wrong. Lawlessness is rampant and many men and women seem to regard it as a joke. The old standards of right and wrong are questioned. Liberty has degenerated into license. Even those who are most anxious to be helpful are likely to be overwhelmed when they contrast the enormous need with that which they have to offer.

You cannot do everything at once, that is sure; yet that is no reason for standing idle. You can do something at once, you can attack some problem somewhere. You can improve something to some extent. Do not confuse yourself by emphasizing the vastness of the need. Concentrate on something that comes within the measure of your ability and tackle it without delay. If everybody started at once to do something, in time everything would be done.

THE SMALL CHILD UNDERSTANDS

Parents who are very proud of their small child's intelligence at times under-rate it. They do not seem to realize that the child understands all that is being said about itself. Half the behaviour trouble with small children comes from suggestion. They will talk about the bad things a child does before them. I saw a case of this the other day. Went to see a friend who has a three-year-old girl. The girl has arrived at a self-conscious stage and behaves badly before strangers. She was not friendly to me but was not misbehaving, until her mother proceeded to tell about the way she behaved before strangers, how she kicked and screamed and was generally naughty. What could the poor child do but give a demonstration, which she did. If parents would only learn not to talk about their small children, to tell about the clever things they say, the naughtiness and the good behaviour,, in their presence, it would be so much better for the children. Even the most intelligent parents do it, not realizing that the child is drinking in every word they say.

GIVES YOU MORE and SAVES YOU MONEY..

WHY is it that Chevrolet leads all other cars in popularity? Why has Canada given this car nearly 50% more sales than its closest competitor? The answer is easy: Canadians are quick to spot a bargain. Motorists have learned that no other new automobile gives you so much for your money when you buy it—and saves you so much every mile you drive—as a Chevrolet Six.

No other car priced so low offers you the style, beauty and safety of Fisher wood-and-steel bodies . . . the comfort of full-size interiors and Fisher No-Draft Ventilation . . . the driving ease of the Starterator and Syncro-Mesh gear shifting . . . the smooth, quiet, powerful performance of a cushion-balanced six-cylinder engine . . . and the matchless economy achieved by the Octane Selector and valve-in-head design.

Chevrolet gives more for the money—more of everything you want for pleasant, care-free, enjoyable motoring. And Chevrolet offers you this quality at the lowest price ever placed on a full-size, six-cylinder closed automobile—with the lowest cost for gasoline, oil and upkeep of any car you can buy! That's why Canadians have elected the Chevrolet Six to be Canada's Great Sales Leader.

Low Delivered Prices and Easy GMAC Terms

PREMIER BENNETT'S MESSAGE

Premier R. B. Bennett, speaking at the Toronto Exhibition last week, said "I tell you here and now that in every corner of the world there are unmistakable evidences of returning prosperity—it is a slow movement, naturally, but it indicates the ultimate return of a prosperity such as you have never known before."

It is an encouraging and helpful message, such as Premier Bennett delivers. And there is evidence that there is some ground, for there is unmistakable evidence in all industrial centres in Canada of a revival of trade. That evidence of prosperity is not so evident in the rural sections, and some of those sections have been hit so hard that it will require a lot of reviving before they return to normality. However, there is a decidedly more hopeful and buoyant spirit in rural sections, and while the return to prosperity may be slow, it is, without doubt, on the upgrade. Premier Bennett is further reported as saying:

"It is a matter of satisfaction and joy to realize that, among those who live outside of Canada, there is a firm conviction that Canada's position is better than that of any other country across the world. Sometimes we, who are too close to the situation, are less able to judge our position relatively with other situations in other lands."

"I bring you a message of hope and good cheer. I believe, as firmly as I can believe anything, that there has been a great upward movement throughout the world. With our sparse population and vast area, it will take time to register; nevertheless, the trend indubitably is upward, and the movement is toward the end of the depression."

Whatever else may be the difficulties of Governments in these days, I say to you that no Government has ever existed in this country that is more prepared to use the resources of this wide land to meet the situation—in terms of needy people wherever they may be—they will be fed and clothed and cared for as long as this Government functions on Parliament Hill."

ACCIDENTS AT RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Obituary Notices are difficult items for any editor to write, but they are increasingly so when the deceased proves to have been an individual who failed to use common sense at a railway crossing and as a result has taken his place among the departed.

Sixteen of such notices occupied the time and attention of editors throughout this country during the month of June 1933, to say nothing of the 157 injured in accidents at crossings during the same month. These are disagreeable figures yet they silently point to the fact that there are few things as utterly relentless as the front end of a locomotive, particularly at highway crossings.

A well-known car owner from this district narrowly escaped having his obituary on the front page of this paper recently, when he crossed the C. P. R. tracks at the local station a few inches ahead of a fast express. A few split seconds were all that kept, "the late Mr." from the front of his name. While we are always anxious to carry items of news which will be of interest to our readers, the tragic passing of some citizen in a violent manner is one type of news that we are able to do without.

The risk involved is so great, not only for the driver but for everyone in the vehicle, that one would imagine such accidents to be rare, instead of common occurrences. It is true that a driver's chances of crossing in safety are nearly all in his favour, but the odd chance against him is very often the one that was uppermost—just sixteen times during the month of June was that the case in this country.

The railway companies give ample warning of the approach to their right-of-way, in almost every instance, through signs, wig-wag signals, and on more dangerous crossings, gates and even subways. They do their part toward keeping down accidents, while their engine crews are under rigid regulations with respect to warning motorists of the approach of the train. Non-observance of these rules leads to immediate dismissal. They leave the rest to the sane judgment and common sense of the "crew" of the motor car. A lack of the above qualities in the driver led some poetically-inclined sage, with a taste for morals, to write the following epitaph which it would be well to remember when approaching a railway crossing:—

"Here lies the bones of Henry Jones,
He's resting here because
He'd cross again, there'd be no train;
The fact remains—there was!"

SUMMER RESORTS CHANGING

The automobile and the aeroplane have so completely revolutionized transportation that the once popular summer resorts are now, in many cases, being completely forgotten. Summer watering places, large summer hotels and popular island resorts that ten and fifteen years ago were the scenes of much activity and profit to their owners, are closed up and almost completely abandoned. Many beautiful islands of the St. Lawrence, with their palacial homes and summer hotels, are to-day either almost forgotten and are closed up, or visited only occasionally and by the few. A striking instance of depreciation in value of such was recorded only last week when Iroquois Island, situated near Alexandria Bay, was sold in federal court in New York City to Aaron L. Palmer, of Brooklyn, for the sum of $14,000, although it was given a book value of $75,000. The estate, previously belonging to Harold E. Witteman, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy a year ago, consists of 15 acres, a 16-room house, a caretaker's cottage, and three boats.

THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS

Do you remember those good old days when the lad on the farm got a day off, the use of the horse, and a dollar bill, and set off to attend the County Fair. What a happy lad he was, and what a happy day he spent. Oftentimes he was accompanied by his dad, and they inspected the vegetables, the cattle, and watched the horse races, and forgot what trouble was, and knew nothing of depression. After all, notwithstanding our wonderful progress, there was "in those good old days," something that, in many respects, the present generation would do well to follow.

THE CHILDREN ENJOYED IT

Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, like Henry Ford, understands the value of advertising and publicity. They also understand the art of getting five dollars worth of free advertising by doing something big and handsome in a general way. Last week 500 boys and girls, selected from all parts of the province, enjoyed a free trip, and a full day at the Toronto Exhibition at the expense of the Wrigley Gum Company. There were no conditions attached, only that the children selected from the different towns and cities were to be under a certain age, and had never before visited the exhibition. They were sent under the protection of the railroad authorities, met at Toronto by those who were appointed for that purpose, and conveyed to the exhibition grounds where they spent one glorious day. The children were addressed by Premier Henry, and others. The account does not state whether or not each child was presented with a package of the famous gum, but that goes without saying. Anyway, it ws a happy ideal and gave 500 children a very happy day's experience.

STEELE—JOHNSTON

The marriage of Ruby Beatrice Johnston, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston, of Cass Bridge, to Vincent Steele, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Steele, of Toyes Hill. was quietly solemnized at the Presbyterian Manse, Winchester, on Wednesday, at two o'clock, Rev. W. D. Turner officiating. The bride. who was unattended, wore a charming dress of beige silk lace, her hat, shoes and gloves were in blending shades, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele left on a motor trip to Niagara and Buffalo, the bride travelling in a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories.

BAD FIRE NEAR AVONMORE

Fire completely destroyed all buildings on the farm of Angus Campbell. three miles north of Avonmore. Monday afternoon. It is thought that a spark, caused by a faulty motor in connection with a threshing machine, ignited hay in one of the barns. The fire made considerable headway before it was seen by Mrs. Campbell from the kitchen of the house. The men, who were busily engaged threshing, failed to notice the flames or smoke which fanned by a heavy wind were soon beyond control.

House, barns, sheds and a large silo fell prey to the flames. All cattle and horses were saved. Insurance covered $1,200 worth of the loss. Forty cords of cut hard wood which was lined up near the blazing buildings was destroyed.

GOLF CLUB FOR MORRISBURG

Several enterprising citizens of Morrisburg met on Thursday morning last and oganized a Golf Club for that place. Vacant land north of the Canadian Railway tracks has been utilizedall summer as a practice ground and it has been decided to construct a course there.

It was decided to wait until spring to begin a drive for membership, in the meantime plans are going apace to acquire the land necessary. The executive of the club is:—Hon. G. H. Challies, A. C. Casselman, M.P., and John H. Meikle, honorary presidents; Jack Toshack, president; J. Hotson Meikle. vice-president; Leonard Leishman, Secretary-treasurer; Graham Casselman, Harry Meikle and Greville Toshack, committeemen.

FINDS NO FRAUD IN CASE OF MORRISBURG MEN

Three Morrisburg men. charged in Ottawa Police Court Tuesday with fraudently obtaining board and lodgings amounting to $81.40 from Rene H. Petitclerc, 82 George Street, were allowed to go, Magistrate G. E. Strike dismissing the charge. The charge was laid by Mr. Pettitclerc, who was told by the magistrate to sue the men in Division Court for his money.

The men. William McAuley, William Henry and Ralph Locke, were arrested at Morrisburg by the Ontario provincial police on a warrant sworn out before Magistrate John McCormick, of Winchester, on Sept. 5th.

Evidence was that the accused had promised to pay Petitclerc as soon as they could get the money. The plaintiff said they had paid fairly when they had the money. The magistrate held that in the agreement entered into there was no fraud and dismissed the case.

THE LATE JOHN WESLEY DURANT

There passed quietly away on Sunday last at his late residence, Winchester Township, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the district in the person of Mr. Wesley Durant. The late Mr. Durant had been in failing health for some time yet his passing was learned with regret by those who knew him.

He had farmed nearly all his life with the exception of the last few years when he did not actively engage in the work.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence to the United Church, Winchester, where service was conducted by Rev. W. D. Turner.

Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Those surviving to mourn are his wife; six sons, Emery, of Watertown. N. Y.; Ernest and Fred, of Harrisville, N. Y.; Myron, of Gouverneur. N. Y.; Isaac of Mountain, and James, at home; six daughters, Mrs. Henry Rice, of Harrisville. N. Y.; Mrs. Leslie Simzer, of Mountain; Mrs. Thos. Hext, of Ottawa, Mrs. Robert Fowler, of Winchester, Mrs. Joseph Harper. of Cloverdale, and Miss Mary, of Mountain.

GARAGE DESTROYED

A small shed at the rear of the home of William Forsythe, Finch, and used as a garage, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early this morning. Members of the Forsythe family were aroused by the barking of their dog and found flames shooting from the loft of the shed. The village fire brigade succeeded in confining the blaze to the one building.

BROWNELL—GALLINGER

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place in Aultsville Anglican church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Miss Hilda Gallinger, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Gallinger of Archer, Williamsburg township. became the bride of Mr. William Brownell, of Bush Glen, Williamsburg township. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Dorothy Gallinger, R. N., of Brockville. and Mr. Gallinger, of Archer, brother and sister of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. S. Clarke, rector. The bride was attired in a travelling suit of navy blue with hat and accessories to match.

Immediately after the ceremony they left amid a shower of confetti and good wishes to spend a week's honeymoon at Toronto, Niagara Falls and other western points.

Mr. and Mrs. Brownell will reside on the groom's farm at Bush Glen.

KEMPTVILLE CAR IN DITCH

Six people escaped with minor cuts and bruises and a shaking up when the automobile in which they were driving on the Ottawa-Prescott highway, two miles north of Carsonby, at 9.40 o'clock Saturday night, over-turned in a seven-foot ditch after a collision.

According to a report of the accident an automobile, driven by Alfred Leeson. of Kemptville, was side-swiped by another car, in charge of William York, of Osgoode, when the latter is alleged to have turned out to pass another machine while approaching the Leeson car. Although Mr. Leeson attempted to avoid the crash, his car ran into the ditch and turned over. with his five passengers, all of whom made their escape through the windows of overturned car.

The other car, which was only slightly damaged, carried besides the driver, one passenger. Gordon York. No one was injured in Mr. York's car.

KEMPTVILLE COUPLE 63 YEARS MARRIED

A happy occasion was celebrated in Kemptville on Wednesday, when Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Streight, Kemptville's grand old couple, celebrated the 63rd anniversary of their wedding. They were given a busy day receiving the good wishes of citizens of the district where they have lived their entire lives.

Mr. Streight who was born in East Oxford settlement 93 years ago, spent the most of his earlier life there in agriculture. Twenty years ago they retired to Kemptville where they have been central figures ever since.

Mrs. Streight was born 84 years ago in the vicinity of Patterson's Corners. She was a teacher before her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Streight are Presbyterians. He is also a supporter of the Conservative party and a friend of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson. On the occasion of their diamond anniversary this couple received a basket of 60 roses from Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, which were presented by Mr. Bennett's sister, who motored from Ottawa.

CHESTERVILLE W. M. S. ENTERTAINS SISTER SOCIETIES

The United Church, Chesterville. was the scene of a pleasant gathering yesterday afternoon when their W. M. S. entertained the societies of the Presbyterian Church, Chesterville, of the United Church, Morewood, and of the Winchester United Church. Miss Bertha Merkley, President of Chesterville W. M. S. presided. and Mrs. (Dr.) Clayton extended a welcome to all. Greetings from the visitors were given by Miss Nell Jamieson, Mrs. Walter Coulthart and Mrs. Geo. Earle.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Wesley Smith, of Morewood, and Mrs. Carmen McIntosh, of Chesterville. Mrs. W. N. Fulton and Mrs. Geo. Merkley were the soloists with Mrs. Geo. Reaburn as accompanist. The guest speaker was Mrs. (Rev.) H. E. Warren, of Ottawa, who gave an interesting talk on her recent trip to Palestine. which was illustrated by slides.

Dainty refreshments were served, after which Mrs N W. Beach, of Winchester, Mrs. A. B. Allison, of Morewood, and Miss Jamieson, of Nation Valley. expressed the appreciation of their societies for this hospitality.

DRIVERS TO BLAME

Some level crossing fatalities may be due to obstruction of the view. but most of them are caused by the negligence or haste of the drivers. No amount of warning will avert fatalities of crazy drivers in trying to beat a railway train.

METCALFE LADIES' GUILD HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. E. H. Ralston presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Metcalfe, which was held at the home of Mrs. F. T. Latimer recently. The rector, Rev. C. H. Roach. conducted the devotions. There was a good attendance and one new member present.

Plans were made for the decorating of the church for the harvest home service on Sunday, Sept. 17th. Final arrangements were made for the annual chicken supper which will be held in the town hall on Monday evening, Sept. 25.

After the meeting was closed with prayer by the rector, Mrs. Latimer served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

o

In spite of the tremendous death toll by motor accidents. careless driving appears to be as common as ever. One never goes for a drive without observing some motorist doing a careless stunt that might result in an accident. Pedestrians are just as thoughtless. Jay-walking flourishes. It might be well to introduce in our Public Schools a course of lessons on careful driving and points for pedestrians so that in a few years at least we may develop a generation of motorists who will be adept in taking proper precaution.

Mr. Arnott Johnston of Madrid, spent the week-end in the Valley.

Some from here attended the open meeting of the Women's Missionary Society held in the United Church, of Chesterville.

OSGOODE STATION

Mrs. Thos. Robinson spent a few days of last week visiting friends in Belleville.

Mrs. Dave Blair, of Winchester, was a week-end guest of Osgoode friends.

Mrs. Nancy Logan, of Ottawa. is the guest of Mrs. A. P. Wilson this week.

The villagers were thrown into a panic on Sunday afternoon when the fire alarm call came over the telephone and were genuinely alarmed when it was discovered that Mr. Geo. Kerr's barn was on fire, as it is situated in the middle of the village on Main street, and with the strong wind which was blowing, it seemed as if the fire was sure to spread to near-by houses. It was thought the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion, and from the first the barn was doomed, but the Fire Brigade worked heroically to save the other farm buildings and house. also the nearby houses, keeping up a steady stream of water all the time. Mr. Kerr was milking at the time the fire started but managed to release all the cattle and horses who made their escape to safety, but the season's crop was lost.

Mr. Elmer Taylor returned home on Sunday from the Civic Hospital, Ottawa, where he recently underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Helen Reid left on Monday for Ottawa where she has secured a position as stenographer. We wish her success in her new position.

Mrs. E. Scanlon spent the week-end in Ottawa with friends.

Mrs. E. Hunt returned home recently from spending a week in the Capital.

Mrs. Melissa Code, of Smiths Falls, was the guest of Mrs. Johnston Allen on Tuesday.

Mrs. Carrie Allen spent the past week with friends at Leitrim.

VENTNOR

Mrs. George Dobbie, accompanied Mr and Mrs. Clifford Holmes, to their home in Belleville to stay for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. David Gray and son, Gilbert. motored to Ottawa, where they were the guests of the latter's brother over the week-end.

A large number from this community attended Mountain Fair on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cumming and family of Glensmail, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cumming on Tuesday.

Mr. Floyd Anderson and Pauline Flett, of Cardinal, were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gray.

Mrs. George Cummings is staying for a few days with her mother, Mrs. George Connors, who is ill.

Little Miss Shirley Timleck, of Brockville. is visiting this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gray.

Mr. Gordon Taylor, of Prescott, preached a very impresive sermon at Knox Presbyterian Chuch Sunday evening.

Membes of the congregations of St. Andrews' Presbyterian Chuch, Spencerville, and Knox Presbyterian church of Ventnor, held their 98th anniversary dinner in the Masonic Hall Sunday, evening when a large number gathered to partake in the sumptuous meal during which time orchestral music was furnished by local talent. The program. which was presented in the church auditorium, was highly entertaining. Addresses were delivered by Dr. C. McLeod, of Brockville, moderator of the Synod of Montreal-Ottawa. Rev. C. A. Mullin, of West Flamboro, Rev. W. P. Wornell. of United Church, Spencerville; Rev. Dr. J. Taylor, Prescott; Rev. R. C. Archer, Cardinal; Mr. John Petlon, of Montreal. The musical program was provided by Chief of Police John Brown. violinist; Miss Betty Carrol, pianist; Mr. John Suzuki, elocutionist; Mr. H. Campbell, tenor soloist; Mrs. W. L. Dunlop, accompanist. Every selection was heartily applauded by the large audience. The sum of money realized during the anniversary amounted to $245.00.

GOING OUT OF HOLSTEINS

T. J. Davison, manager of Avondale Farm, said to-day that the celebrated Holstein-Friesian herd long associated with the farm is gradually being dispersed by private sale in order that attention may be concentrated upon the breeding of Jerseys. a large number of which were recently imported from the island of the same name. There are now 90 Jersey animals at the farm, which in the late May Echo Sylvia long boasted perhaps the most celebrated Holstein-Friesian animal in Canada, one of whose sons were sold from $106,000 at public auction in Milwaukee.—Brockville Recorder-Times.

ACCIDENT AT VENTNOR

(Staff Correspondent)

We are sorry to report this week that Mrs. George Connors had the misfortune to fall into the cistern. She had been dipping water and, forgetting to put the top down, walked into the cistern a short time after. Mr. Connors, who has been ill. was not able to help her out, the cistern being almost full, but he was able to give her help by putting a board under her arms until he ran to the nearest neighbour and got help. Mrs. Cnnnors is bour and got help. Mrs. Connors is suffering from bruises and shock, but is making excellent recovery.

POWER OF SINCERITY

There is nothing which will add so much to one's power as the consciousness of being absolutely sincere, genuine. If your life is a perpetual lie, if you are conscious that you are not what you pretend to be—that you are really a very different person from what the world regards you—you are not strong. There is a restraint, a perpetual fighting against the truth going on within you, a strugge which saps your energy and warps your conduct. If there is mud at the bottom of your eye. you cannot look the world squarely in the face. Your vision is not clear. Everybody sees that you are not transparent. There is a cloudiness, a haze about your character which raises the interrogation point wherever you go. Character alone is strength; deceit is weakness; sham and shhddy are powerless; only the genuine and the true are worth while.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

If there is any organization under the canopy of heaven that is expected to do something for nothing it is a newspaper, exclaims the Almonte Gazette, and it adds the people who read the sheet, no matter how big or small it may be, seem to have the idea that the generating force behind it savors of perpetual motion. This is contrary to the facts. Everybody seems to think that the publisher of a weekly newspaper is a philanthhropist. So he is. But the time comes when the philanthropist can go no further. Money talks. The philanthropist can't pay his printers out of the questionable showers of blessings that descend on his head. And even if he could the printers might appreciate much more a small financial donation. So. as Gilbert and Sullivan said about the policeman, the lot of a publisher these days is not a happy one.

NEEDLE BROKE IN TOE

Mrs. Kathryn Berry, of Detroit, who was visiting friends at Ventnor, was unfortunate enough to step upon a needle protruding from a crack with the result that it broke off in the large toe of one of her feet. Dr. P. A. McIntosh, of Spencerville, probed for the broken piece but without result and Mrs. Berry left for her home. where she will undergo further medical treatment.

POUR MASH INTO CREEK—ANIMALS GET DRUNK

A barnyard spree took place Tuesday on the farm of Herbert Hewer, Aberfoyle, Ont., when four large vats of seized mash were dumped into a nearby creek. Pigs staggered, cows cavorted and ducks squawked hilariously. The animals had lived a respectable rural existence prior to the arrival of Sergeant Frank Samson, R.C.M.P., and Constables. Barr, Bailey and Warner. The mounties later emeged from the barn carrying several cans of pure overproof alcohol. A still capable of producing a 100 gallons a day was found in a secret compartment under the hay mow. Part of the cow barn had also been partitioned off as a vast underground mash manufacturing plant. Four vats were bubbling over with sugar mash when the mounties arrived. The mounties had no thought of consequences when they allowed the spoils to flow into the creek. The answer came when a herd of cows wallowed in for a drink.Then one cow threw her head back and bellowed hilariously. A second jumped a fence. Then the pigs staggered away from the bank and flopped into mud. The officers also watched sparkling ducks attempt to walk.

THE OLD LADY

We simply can't understand the get-up of some people, remarks the Durham Chronicle, which goes on and tells of an old lady out in Saskatchewan, 76 years of age, who walked 70 miles from Preeceville to Yorkton in the hope that she would get a pension Her two sons didn't want her any more, she said, and she was penniless. Although a resident of Canada since 1913 she had never become naturalized. and was therefore not entitled to government assistance. With the Chronicle we join in asking, but what of the two boys. What can be done with them? Any man who will allow his mother to want, providing he is able to supply it is not deserving of any consideration in a court of law. No leniency should be shown, and in this Saskatchewan case it is to be hoped the government will make every effort to force these two sons to support their mother. Ontario laws are very plain on this, but at that there are too many who will allow the old folks to forage for themselves. Saskatchewan should put more teeth in its law.—Enterprise Bulletin.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

By Charles E. Dunn
SOLOMON
Lesson for September 17th. 1 Kings 5-8
Golden Text: Psalm 100:4.

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

Under the leadership of Solomon, the Wise King, Israel reached a high point of material splendor. He began his reign with noble ideals, as indicated by the impressive story of his dream at Gibeon where, in answer to the divine request, "Ask what I shall give thee," he did not beg for long life, or riches, or victory over his foes, but for "an understanding heart."

What is life's best gift? Some insist it is gold. Others claim it is fame. Still others answer in terms of health. But Solomon's dream makes it clear, to quote from the book of Proverbs, a book ascribed to Solomon, that "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom."

And be it noted that with wisdom come, in inevitable sequence, the lesser gifts. God gave Solomon not only what he asked for, but, in addition, prosperity, honour, length of days, and a reign of peace without a parallel in Jewish history.

Solomon was a splendid politician and administrator. He consolidated the kingdom, welding together its disorganized tribes into a temporary union. He realized, too, the value of foreign alliances, through the promotion of which he stimulated international commerce and good-will, as indicated by the famous visit to Jerusalem of the Queen of Sheba. But his greatest claim to fame arises from his successful completion of the spectacular Temple.

But Solomon's extraordinary wealth and fame proved, in the end, his undoing. "His wives," says the narrative, "turned away his heart after other gods. . . . And the Lord was angry with Solomon." Self-indulgence and pride of possession brought about, at last, unmistakable deterioration in the fibre of his character. With all his wisdom, he lacked self-control. We do not wonder, then, that the glory of his reign was followed by the disaster.

The wisest man in history was made a fool of by his women and his wealth, and his splendid kingdom crashed into ruin. What a commentary on human weakness and divine judgment!

Fourth Installment

SYNOPSIS: . . . Ruth Warren, living in the East, comes into possession of three-quarter interest in an Arizona ranch, left to her in the will of her only brother, reported to have died while on business in Mexico. With her ailing husband and small child she goes to Arizona to take possession, thinking the climate may prove beneficial to her husband's weakened lungs. Arriving at the nearest town, she learns that the ranch, "Dead Lantern", is 85 miles across the desert. Charley Thane, old rancher and rural mail carrier, agrees to take them to "Dead Lanter" gate, which was 5 miles from the ranch house. As they wearily walked past a huge overshadowing boulder in a gulch in coming to the ranch house, a voice whispered "Go back! Go back."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Snavely pursed his lips thoughtfully, then shook his head. "No—no use to see any more lawyers—they'll jest gouge us, stir up somethin' so's they'd have to be hired to straighten it out ag'in. No use in that. You've seen your lawyer an' you've got the will. The will's what counts—jest as long as I recognize it as bein' what it says it is, there's no need messin' around with law." A queer light came into his eyes and his voice took on a curious hollow lift and fall.

"All right," said the girl quickly. She was glad to settle all conversation relative to the law.

"I'm mighty sorry I didn't know you was coming," remarked Snavely. "Me an' Ann ain't exactly fixed for company. But I'll be seein' what I can do. Between now an' supper I'll just be fixin' up the place out back in the old house."

"That old ruin? But—it's falling to pieces!"

For an instant the man's body tensed, then he laughed—a thin, dry little laugh which had in it something of the sound of crumpled paper. "The old place has seen its best days, lady, but it's all we got. There's two rooms that's as good—jest about—as they ever was. Your brother has slept there—it's plenty comfortable—jest a little mite dirty right now."

"But it's full of great cracks—one of those walls might—"

"No, no. Nothing ever falls in this country without there's a rain or a big wind. When it storms, you can come in here in case anything wants to fall. Otherwise, you'll be plenty safe. We don't have more'n a couple of storms a year anyways."

After supper the adobe itself was visited. Huge and dismal the great bulk towered above them in the night. Yet, once inside, the walls looked quite safe by the light of the oil lamp on the table. The adjoining rooms were certainly more spacious and conveniently arranged than anything in the ranch house. As Snavely had said, the place was dirty. But the dirt was the dirt of earth—clean, dry dust. Ann, the giantess, had just finished arranging the bedclothes on three canvas cots.

Ann had picked up a lighted lantern, left the room and took the path which led to the barn, the lantern swinging in long arcs from her arm.

Back in the living room of the ranch house Snavely remarked that he had sent Ann to the gate in the buckboar[illegible]ne baggage.

"Oh, but that wasn't necessary," said the girl. "We could get along until to-morrow—it's such an awful trip in the dark."

Snavely shrugged. "She'll be back in a couple of hours.

Snavely sat near the fireplace, half facing the man and woman who were seated near the cot. His attitude was that of one who is waiting to be asked foolish questions—as though he were about to be quizzed by a pair of children. Ruth's first question changed this attitude.

"Who is Ann—is she your—"

"No, by God!" The man thrust his body forward and his hands gripped the arms of the chair as if he were about to spring to his feet. His pale eyes glittered. "She's nothin' to me! Do you get that? She's a nigger half-breed I'm hirin' to take care of the house an' help on the place. Anybody says different is a—" he paused.

"I was only going to ask what you have just told us, Mr. Snavely." The girl's heart was in her throat.

Snavely settled back in his chair and his fingers strayed to his forehead. After a moment he spoke casually. "Ann's a queer creature. Strange. Her blood, I reckon. Her father was a heavyweight nigger prize fighter an' her mammy was an Apache squaw. 'Big' Jackson, her daddy, was born a slave. He was in the army durin' the Indian trouble in this country—stationed at San Carlos. I reckon Ann's the result of a raid on some Apache village. Mostly she's called 'Indian' Ann—you can see she favors her mammy's folks—straight hair an' that Indian face. Must have got her size an' color more from her daddy, though. Ann don't get along with towns—this here civilization. Down in Texas she run a dance hall an' saloon, but she got in trouble an' drifted out this way. I'd seen her before, an' when I runs onto her in town one day, she was broke an' lookin' for a job. That was just after your brother went to Mexico." Snavely paused, his eyes on the girl's face. "So—I hires her. Knowin' her like I did, I felt sorry for her. There's nothin' bad about Ann. She jest can't stand bein' in town—spends most of her time in jail when she is in town. It ain't her fault—but folks give her liquor, you see, an' when she's drunk she's a God-a-mighty terror."

"How much do you suppose she weighs?" asked Warren.

"Close to three hundred, I reckon—solid as a rock. She's powerful. You'll look a long ways before you find a man as strong as what Ann is."

"I'll subscribe to that," said Warren. "What kind of trouble did she get into down in Texas—did she just prove too destructive to the city hall?"

"I was only going to ask what you have just told us, Mr. Snavely." The girls' heart was in her throat.

"Well, no. She killed a man—beat him to death with a chair. But it was his fault." Snavely paused. "He wasn't no small man, neither," he added as an interesting afterthought.

For quite some time the conversation hung fire. Snavely sat as before—waiting.

Ruth began by asking about the ranch. To all of her questions Snavely returned prompt and pessimistic answers. It was soon evident that there would be no need of any one working out the exact value of three-quarters

"But couldn't we get some new cattle if that's what we need?" asked the girl.

"We could if we had the money. But it wouldn't be no use—not enough water for more stock. We've got some water, but it ain't close enough to where the feed is."

"How could we get more watering places?"

"Havin' it rain would help. In this country a waterin' place is a repress, a dirt tank. You take an' dig a basin in the ground where a gully runs. When it rains the water comes down the gully an' fills the pond. We got plenty of them ponds but they're so silted up an' shallow they don't hold water long an' it don't rain anyways. It rained just enough last winter to fill the biggest pond on the place; that an' the well here, is all the water we got. There's four other ponds but they're powder dry. An' all the grass is sunburned an' wispy-like."

"Mr. Snavely," asked Warren, "perhaps we should wait until to-morrow to see the books—but could you give an idea of the earnings?"

Snavely observed the young man for a moment. "Yes, Mr. Warren, I can. There ain't any earnings. You can see the books any time you want—they ain't complicated, neither. We sell twice a year, after the fall an' spring round-ups. An' we buy twice a year—stock up the commissary. Grey took his share of last fall's sale with him—an' some of mine too, if it comes to that. This spring I sold all I could an' got enough to a little more'n stock up the commissary. If you folks aim to stay on I reckon I'll have to go to town again before fall." Snavely spoke as though nothing could be more distasteful than going to town.

"But, Mr. Snavely," asked the girl, "isn't there any money?"

Snavely stood up and took an old daybook from the mantel. Slowly he turned the pages, wetting his thumb at every page. He looked up. "There's a hundred an' fifty-one dollars an' eight cents of pardnership money in the bank."

Closing the book with a snap, he returned it to the mantel, reseated himself and waited patiently for more questions.

"Mr. Snavely," said Warren, "when we were coming along the road shortly before we saw the house, we heard a—well, we had a queer sensation, as if some one who was very close by spoke to us—"

"You did?" Snavely leaned forward and watched Warren's face keenly. "Was it by a big rock down in the gulch?"

"Yes—yes, that's where it was. At least that's where we thought we heard the whisper—it was rather weird."

"Tell me about it—what did it say?"

"It's hard to describe. We stopped at the rock a moment, and when we were leaving, this voice told us to—

to go back. The unaccountable thing about it was that the words seemed to have been spoken just a few inches from our ears. We were rather tired and a bit unstrung, though, perhaps our imaginations—"

Snavely frowned and shook his head. "No—you heard it all right."

"But what is—who was it and how in the world was it done? Why was it done?"

Snavely thought a moment. "Oh, it's a superstition—I guess you'd call it."

"I wouldn't!" breathed the girl, with a shiver.

"But we heard something," said Warren.

Snavely rose and entered his bedroom. In a moment he returned and gave the girl a sheet of paper in her brother's handwriting. "Your brother was always interested in legends an' things about this country. He used to try to find somebody who said they'd heard the voice, but he had poor luck. Then some Indians come up in this neighborhood to gather acorns an' your brother got one old bush-head, who'd had education, to come up to the house an' tell about the legend. I was right here when your brother took down what the old buck said."

The girl read aloud from the paper:

"THE LEGEND OF THE VOICE

"In the long ago days a tribe of good Indian live in the San Jorge Valley. They grow what they eat and kill nothing. They do never fight other Indian for so long they forget how it is.

"One time some bad Indian come quick from the north. These Indian kill what they eat and fight much. All the village and all the field of the good Indian is burn up. All the young men become dead. They do not know how it is to fight.

"But there is one very wise old man. He is medicine man. He take the women and the little children away. He lead them in these mountains when the young men try to fight. But very quick the bad Indian are on the trail. When the wise old man come to the big arroyo with the women and the little children he look back. He see the bad Indian follow. Where the trail leave the arroyo he stop. The wise old man say to the women and the little children, 'You must go on. Go in the still places of of forty thousand dollars.

the mountains and wait. You must stay four days. Then go back into the valley and make again the village and the field.'

"The wise old medicine man go back in the arroyo and wait for the bad Indian by the big rock. He take a little breeze he find playing by the big rock. He make this little breeze

"Your brother was always interested in legends an' things about this country."

into a soft whisper. Then he do other things that medicine man can do. When all is ready he lay down by the big rock and let his life go away.

"The bad Indian come to the arroyo. The chief try to step over the dead old man. But he stop. Into his ear there come a little whisper. All the bad Indian hear the whisper. It tell them things and they are much afraid. They go out of the San Jorge Valley and they do never come back.

"Always there is the little breeze in the arroyo. Sometime it whisper. More I do not know!"

Beneath the legend Harry Grey had written, "The old man tells me that for centuries the Indians have used the big bowlder in the gulch as a council place. They believe that when the need is great the voice will advise them."

"What do you think now?" For the first time Snavely had asked a question. Neither the girl nor her husband found an answer.

"Can you tell us any more?" asked Warren at last.

Continued Next Week

THOUGHT GEMS

Most of our misfortunes are more supportable than the comments of our friends on them.

Happiness consists in activity. Such is the constitution of our nature; it is running stream, and not a stagnant pool.

If you can approve of yourself it makes but little difference whether the world approves of you or not.

Great men should think of opportunity and not of time. Time is the excuse of feeble and puzzled spirits.

It is labor which makes known the true worth of a person, as fire makes the perfume of the incense evaporate.

Here are two good rules—train yourself to practice them: Never lose anything, and never forget anything.

Carlyle says: "Show me the man you honor. I know by that symptom better than any other, what you are yourself; for you show me then what your ideal of mankind is. what kind of a man you long inexpressibly to be.

Act! The wise are known by their actions, fame and immortality are ever their attendants. Mark with deeds the vanishing traces of swift-rolling time. Let us make happy the circle around us—be useful as much as we may. For that fills up with soft rapture, that dissolves the dark clouds of the day.

"Pour in knowledge gently." Plato, one of the wisest men of Ancient Greece, observed that the minds of children are like bottles with very narrow mouths. If you attempt to fill them too rapidly, much knowledge is wasted and little received whereas with a small stream they are easily filled. Those who would make prodigies of young children, act as wisely as if they would pour a pail of water into a pint measure.

BORROWING MONEY EASIER THAN REPAYING

A Saskatchewan farmer, who, by the way, has little fault to find with Canadian banks, told the MacMillan Commission at Regina that he had had "some experience" in borrowing money and "a lot of experience" in trying to pay it back. This is the common lot of those who borrow.. Easy borrowing makes painful paying, and those who think the banks should be more ready to lend money and who denounce their caution in the matter of money actually held in trust for the depositors generally do not look far enough ahead to see the end of the transaction as between borrower and lender. Assuming the honesty and good intentions of the borrower and the lender will have due regard to his business capacity and to the situation, general and specific. Doubtless that is the principle that guides Canadian banks within the rigid regulations of the Bank Act now under review by Lord MacMillan and his associates. The banks cannot, as some people suppose, give us good times or bad times at the wave of a magic wand called credit. They are the custodians of people's money and in the Canadian banking code they have no function more important than its preservation in safety for the return to the depositor on demand. To blame the banks for the depression is as senseless as to blame the railway or the cheese factories or the fall fairs. To say that they could have lifted us out is to ignore the fact that they operate under rigid control of the parliament of Canada, which is to say, by the people of Canada and that they are governed on the principles of sound business. When the Commission completes its inquiry the country will be in a better position to say whether it wants its statutory regulations altered and lightened.—Alliston Herald.

"THE WORLD OWES ME A LIVING"

The world owes you a living, does it? Then I will tell you what I would do. I would go to work and collect the debt as soon as possible, before it gets outlawed.. I have noticed that it makes very little difference how much men owe me, if I do not attend closely to the business of collecting. There are men who owe me enough to make me richer than I have any prospect of being, but the trouble is that they do not like to pay; and I am of the opinion that the world is very much like them in this respect.

I will tell you what I would do, if I thought the world owed me a living. I would get me a hoe, and go out somewhere, where I could get a good chance at the world, and comence to dig, and drop a few seeds here and there. as I had opportunity; and I think if the world really owed me a living, by sticking close to it with my hoe, I could collect the debt in the course of the season. This seems the readiest way I can think of, to collect what the world owes. The fact is, there are so many creditors of this kind who claims that the world owes them a living, that some of them will lose their debts as sure as fate, if they do not begin early and work hard to collect their claims. The world is no doubt able to pay, provided it can have time, It generally takes the world about six months to get around, after the claims are presented and vigorously hoed in; but the man who delays and dallies about the matter, will find that, while the world may owe him a living, other people will have collected their claims before him, and there will be nothing left when he comes.

"The sluggard will not plough by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest and have nothing.'

BRUCE BARTON

...writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"

Supplying a week-to-week inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every human trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

EYES UPON THE GOAL

JUST what happened in the moment when the food was laid before Jesus in feeding the 5,000, is an impenetrable mystery; but there is no doubt at all as to what took place afterward. It was the event for which the people had waited, the unmistakable sign! Moses had fed their fathers on manna in the wilderness; here was one who likewise called on Heaven, and supplied their wants. Surely he was the son of David, long foretold, who would overthrow the rule of their conquerors and restore the throne to Jerusalem!

Bruce Barton

Joyously they shouted the news back and forth. The day of deliverance had come; the tyranny of the Romans was about to end. They were an army and had not realized it. Right there on the field they were enough to outnumber the garrison in Jerusalem; but they were only a nucleus of the host that would gather to their banners, once their southward march was formed. If they were five thousand now, they would be fifty thousand, perhaps a hundred thousand then. They surged forward toward the little hill where he stood—

And then—

Jesus had forseen their purpose, and even while they were perfecting their plan, doubt had raged through his spirit with the force of a tempest. Why not accept their nomination? Why not be their king? It would mean an alteration in his program, to be sure—a surrender of his vision of spiritual leadership. And yet it might not be such a surrender, after all. Solomon had been king, and a great spiritual leader; David had been king and had written the nation's highest ideals into his Psalms. He himself was better balanced than David, wiser than Solomon—why not?

It was as splendid a picture as ever stirred the pulses of an ambitious man. For only an instant Jesus allowed his eyes to rest on it. Then he saw the other picture—the vast dumb multitudes of men, his brothers and sisters, the blind being led by the blind, their souls squeezed dry of vision and hope by the machinery of formalism. He saw generations born and die in spiritual servitude which nothing could end except the Truth that he had come to declare. To put himself at the head of this army of fanatical patriots would be perhaps to risk his life and his message with it. But worse than the possibility of failure was the probability of success.

In a flash he saw it all and made his descision. Even as the multitude surged forward, he gave a few crisp orders to his disciples and disappeared. The Gospel story puts the dramatic climax into a single sentence:

Jesus, therefore, perceiving that they were about to come and take him by force to make him king, withdrew again into the mountain himself alone.

THE WIDE AWAKE WHOLESALE HOUSE

The following was taken from a circular sent to retail merchants by a large wholesale house: "The value of your local newspaper cannot be overestimated. It's worth all the support and co-operation you can give. For the newspaper is a mirror reflecting the life of the community in which you and your store have an important part. Your advertisement is the reflection of your store. If it is not there, the mirror is dark where your store should be. You are there but you cannot be seen. Your store is open for business as usual but "Out of sight; out of mind!" To keep in step with the progress of your community; to get your share of business you must advertise regularly. Take your newspaper publisher into your confidence; he can give you invaluable assistance. Establish an advertising budget. Plan a regular schedule for your advertisements. It's a policy that is followed by the most successful stores; it's an idea that will be profitable to you.

If you have an item of news send it to the Press. We are always glad to receive local news.

COW EATS HAY WIRE

The Gananoque Reporter says: "A valuable three-year-old Holstein bull, owned by Mr. Eldon Conner, became ill a few days ago. On Tuesday its owner found it lying in a dazed condition in a fence corner. He endeavoured to arouse the animal and get it on its feet, but it flopped over dead. Wishing to learn the cause of its death, he called Dr. G. R. Booth, veterinary, to make an investigation. It was discovered that the animal had swallowed a piece of hay wire about four and a half inches long, a portion of which had penetrated the heart and caused its death. "Food is so scarce that animals will eat almost anything" sad Mr. Conner. "A few days ago I lost a cow, which had swallowed a large spike, as shown when an autopsy was made."

Whether there will be a crop of wire-haired calves in this district next spring is not definitely known at present."

THE COST OF BEAUTY

The annual beauty bill in United States is $750.000,000, so it looks as though the ladies, whether they desire it or not, are running into big figures.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

ARE YOU A MIND READER

An arm protruding from the side of a car ahead, according to the Montreal Star, can signify anyone of the following things: "The motorist is (1) knocking ashes off his cigarette; (2) going to turn to the left; (3) warning a small boy to shut up; (4) going to turn to the right; (5) pointing to the scenery; (6) going to back up; (7) feeling for rain; (8) telling the wife he is sure the front door is locked; (9) hailing a friend in a passing car; (10) going to stop.

GOOD SHOOTING

"Hallo," said the neighbour, "back from your day's shooting? Have any luck?"

"Rather," said Jones proudly. "I got twelve ducks."

His neighbour nodded approvingly.

"Were they wild?" he asked.

Jones looked thoughtful.

"I can't say they were exactly," he replied. "But the farmer who owned them certainly was."

100 X $1.50 = $150
700 X $1.50 = $1050

One Dollar and Fifty Cents to one person is not a large amount One Dollar and Fifty Cents multiplied by 100 means One Hundred and Fifty Dollars. Seven Hundred Dollars multiplied by $1.50 means $1050.00

$1050.00

And more is due the Winchester Press to-day because of that $1.50 yearly subscription.

As we say, the One-Fifty is a small amount to you personally, but when we have 700 One-Fifties scattered about within a radius of 12 miles, and find that the paper dealers are pressing us for cash with delivery, that every week the wages have to be paid, that our bills for electric power, for rent, and a dozen more things have to be met each month, each week, each day, we ask you dear subscriber who have thought your little $1.50 didn't amount to much, and you who have allowed it to grow to $3.00, or $4.50, and still see no reason why the Editor should be so urgent, just to give this matter your fair, reasonable, honest attention, as man to man, and we are willing to allow you to come to your own conclusion.

All We Ask Is "A FAIR DEAL"

If you owe more than one year and you can't spare the full amount at once,

Do The Best You Can!

We are reasonable, want to be as lenient as we can. We find the wholesale firms are ADAMANT. They want their money when it is due. They have a right to it.

Look at the Label on Your Paper!

It will tell you just where you stand. So many of you who are "paid up" can smile, but we know that you know our urge is reasonable and fair, and we know that those who are not "paid up" know that our urge is reasonable and fair. And we know that you are reasonable and fair, and that you will not put the matter off any longer, but come right in, or send by mail, the amount due us. As we said at the beginning, it is a small amount to you, but in the total it means considerable to this office. Just address

Our Column

Get your geraniums potted before it is too late.

The next public holiday is Thanksgiving Day. Then comes Christmas and New Years.

A great many folk put us in mind of an automobile. They are always running people down.

No one has ever been hurt by the mean thing you thought. but didn't say—except yourself.

And now that the holiday season is practically over, we suppose our churches will settle down to business again.

Teacher: "Tommy, come here and give me what you've got in your mouth!" Tommy: "I wish I could. It's toothache!"

Some people are already planning for their next summer vacation. Many we know are planning to come to Winchester next August to the Old Home Re-union.

A beauty expert says a stocking tied tightly under the chin at night will improve the lines of the face. A sock on the jaw, of course, has a different effect, says an exchange.

Canada has about 350 million acres of land suitable for farming purposes, and of this total 163 and one-half millions are in occupied farms, of which nearly 86 millions acres are improved land.

Here's a tip from the postal authorities: "If Canadian visitors to the United States would put two-cent stamps on their postal cards home, they would make their friends a lot happier. Otherwise their friends have to pay two cents to get the cards"

Patience, according to the proverb, is a virtue; but it is well not to put too great a strain upon any virtue. It would be well for the rulers and leaders of the future to carry on the business in their charge in such fashion that there will be no more depressions. They are unnecesssary. and the fact that they are unnecessary is becoming apparent to everyone.

Talking about your good points instead of impressing listeners is likely to awaken their incredulity. The brilliant do not need to remind other people how smart they are. The honest do not brag about their integrity. If your life proclaims loyalty or truthfulness or kindness of heart. it is not necessary to talk about it. Be on your guard against praising yourself, for that is likely to awaken suspicion.

REAL VALUES

We call the attention of our readers to the list of week-end specials offered by Smith's Drug Store. For a complete list see the advertisement on Page. 1.

INSTITUTE PRESIDENTS AT GUELPH

Mrs. George W. Clark, president of the Morrisburg branch of the Women's Institute, in company with nine other Institute presidents from the Eastern division. was royally entertained in Guelph last week as guests of Hon. George H. Challies, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Game and Fisheries in Ontario.

The group of ladies, all residents of Dundas County, spent an interesting and educational few days in visiting the Ontario Agricultural College and the Guelph Reformatory in Guelph, each being presented upon leaving with unusual and interesting souvenirs of the institution. They were entertained at a luncheon in the guest dining room of the Guelph Reformatory on Thursday, and Hon. Mr. Challies was with them in person on Wednesday. From Tuesday until Friday the Institute presidents from Dundas were in Guelph.

STOLE JEWELLERY

Suspicions of O. Lemay, farmer at Green's Creek on the Montreal highway, regarding two men and a parked automobile near his farm Wednesday morning led to the arrest in Hawkesbury, Ont., later in the day of Gustave Mall, 22. and Roland Robbins, 28, both of Montreal, in connection with the robbing of G. Girouard's jewelry store in Buckingham, Que., about two a.m. Wednesday morning.

The men were seen to be burning little boxes all morning, and about two o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Lemay telephoned Chief McCarthy of the Carleton county police. Chief McCarthy called Inspector Phil Walter of the provincial police and Detective John Ritchie of the city police and the three set out for Green's Creek.

When the officers arrived at the Lemay farm. the automobile and the two men had just left in the direction of Hawkesbury. Sifting the ashes of the fire the men had built, the police discovered remains of little colored boxes such as are used to contain jewelry. They immediately telephoned to Hawkesbury to stop the car if it went there. On their arrival in that town, Constable Wilfrid Bertrand was holding the two men and the car, and in the vehicle was found more than $400 worth of jewelry. Mall and Robbins confessed robbing the Buckingham jewelry store early that morning.

The two confessed jewel thieves were then taken to Buckingham in the Ottawa police car and they were lodged in jail by Police Chief A. Raby. They will appear in Hull police court this morning before Magistrate H. Achim.

Buckingham police stated the two thieves gained entrance to the jewelry store through a side door and ramsacking the shop, made their escape unnoticed. Several gallons of gasoline were reported missing from three or four different places in Buckingham yesterday morning but it is not known if Mall and Robbins are responsible for this.

FAR BETTER DEAD

A despatch from London, England. says: "A clergyman who cooked his own meals on a gas ring, mended his clothes, did the household rough work, and generally lived the life of a hermit, was found dead in a back room of the rectory of Greatham, near Petersfield, Hants. on Saturday.

He was the Rev. O. F. Luttrell West, who had been Rector of Greatham for thirty years, and had never taken a holiday. The rector's lonely life was not due to financial difficulties, a member of his church stated, but may have been the result of a vow never to marry following a disappointment in love in his younger days. He was fifty-five years of age. His death was found due to natural causes

TO DO ROAD REPAIRS

The Mountain Township Council decided at their monthly meeting in Hallville to have the road between Hallville and Reid's Mills repaired. This road has been closed for some time owing to its dangerous condition, caused from being undermined by fire, which had been smouldering in the muck from early summer, and had destroyed the road bed.

Reeve John Crowder gave instructions to have the road repaired at once and the work is now pretty well completed under the supervision of the road superintendent, Robert Crowder.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Thomas Hall, Sr., a well known citizen of Cornwall, died last Thursday in his 57th year.

Born at North Williamsburg in 1875, Mrs. Sarah Ann Hollister McDonald, wife of John A. McDonald, passed away at her home in Ogdensburg after a long illness. She was a daughter of Hiram Hollister and his wife, Caroline Casselman, and is survived by her husband and two daughters, as well as by two brothers and two sisters.

A verdict of accidental death with a rider that in future greater protection be given to the public by ferries operating in the municipality of Cambridge, was given by the coroner's jury, investigating the death of Miss Margaret Landry. school teacher, who was drowned in the Nation river near Casselman on Tuesday of last week when her car overshot the ferry upon which the woman had intended to cross the river.

Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church on Tuesday at its meeting in Chalmers Church, Ottawa, elected Rev. John Hurst. Manotick, as chairman. Rev. Mr. Hurst is well known throughout this district, having occupied the pulpit of the Winchester Springs United Church as pastor for some years. Two new ministerial members of the presbytery were welcomed from this district, Rev. C. M. Stewart, of Kenmore, and Rev. T. McNaught, of Russell.

HEAVY FOGS

Fogs were so heavy along the St. Lawrence River last week that many steamers had to tie up at night, and motoring along the highway was extremely dangerous.

MINISTER'S WIFE DIES

Mrs. Tanner, wife of Rev. Dr. J. U. Tanner. superintendent of missions in the Montreal and Ottawa Conference of the United Church, died suddenly at her home in South Lancaster Wednesday morning. Born in Martintown, a daughter of James Rayside, at one time M.L.A. for Glengarry, Mrs. Tanner's maiden name was Janet Rayside. Her entire life was spent between Martintown and Lancaster, and during the long pastorate of her husband at St. Andrew's Church, Lancaster, she was extremely active in affairs of the church and acted as secretary of the Glengarry presbyterial of the W. M. S. over a period of 14 years.

BOYS WOUNDED; MAN CHARGED

Believing that boys were stealing apples from his orchard, Earl Rawlins, 30, of 237 Marlborough street, Cornwall, fired three shots from a shot-gun towards his orchard last night and as a result two boys are in the Hotel Dieu Hospital and Rawlins has been charged with shooting with intent to maim. He appeared in police court late last night and was given $1.000 bail.

When police investigated, Rawlins explained that he had been troubled with boys stealing in his orchard and fired the shots more to scare them when he heard them last night. The boys admitted that they were near the orchard, but maintained that they were going by there to "sneak" into the athletic grounds to see the box lacrosse match.

PATIENT, HOPEFUL PEOPLE

Winnipeg Tribune

Quite appropriately, it was from a Winnipeg pulpit, that the following gracious and timely words were uttered about the people who have suffered most by the depression which, let us hope, is now passing:

"The patience and lack of bitterness of the unemployed themselves and families is one of the inspiring things on which we can rely to bring us through. Not only has it been inspiring, it has been amazing."

Amazing. indeed. There was a time when it was taken for granted that there was not enough in the world to give all people the reasonable necessaries of life. But if even that was true it is not true today. There is plenty in the world for all the people. If every person willing to work does not get a chance to work and receive his own share of the result, proportional to his effort, the fault is not an individual fault, it lies in the general mismanagement of human affairs.

FAREWELL PARTY HELD

On Friday evening, Sept. 8th, a number of girls gathered at the home of Mrs. H. L. Lee to honor her daughter, Vivienne, prior to her departure to reside in Ottawa.

Miss Jean VanBridger read the following address during the course of which a very pretty rose boudoir lamp was presented by Miss Laura Dukelow.

Dear Vivienne:

This group of associates. whom you have known during your sojourn in Winchester, meet with you to-night on the eve of your departure. This gathering assures you of our continued friendship, and interest, even though sundered in association, yet welded in spirit.

We are happy to hand over to another group one who will contribute true friendship, sterling loyalty and undaunted enthusiasm for any and every effort in the best interests of the new friendships to be formed. We know you will speedily make friends and become a part of them just as you have of us.

The tangible expression of our affection we ask you to accept, and trust its presence may prove an asset in your further search for knowledge. We feel assured that sometime. somewhere, in the future our paths will cross and we anticipate the pleasure we will have in exchanging experiences and noting the change that these and time have made on each and all.

Looking forward to that time, we remain, Your Winchester Friends.

Although completely taken by surprise, Miss Lee expressed her thanks to her girl friends for their kindness. The balance of the evening was spent in games and music. Before dispersing, the girls signed in a very prettily decorated Remembrance Book.
