Decked out in her bright red party dress, Mrs. Anna Jane Calvank was not only 100 years old on Friday, but chipper enough to enjoy every minute of the celebration held at the Community Nursing Home where she resides. Byelection called for Dec. 15

by Rod MacDonald

Premier William Davis announced Monday that voters in Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry will go to the polls December 15 to elect a successor to Tory MPP Osie Villeneuve, who died five weeks ago after nearly 35 years in office.

While the announcement caught Liberal and New Democratic Party organizers by surprise, local PC secretary Jim Cook said his association was prepared for an early election call.

"We laid our plans to cover all the possibilities," he said, adding he had been working on contingency plans for more than a year.

The party's nomination meeting is slated for November 10 at Tagwi Secondary School in Avonmore.

The Liberal association's president and former candidate, Dr. Gerry Rosenquist, said a meeting would be held tonight (Wed.) with key organizers and other officials to discuss strategy and set a nomination date.

"They caught us a little off base," he admitted. "We had planned to hold our annual meeting on December 7, but that must now be cancelled while we concentrate on the nomination."

Dr. Rosenquist said the timing of the election was bad for him because of a planned vacation at the end of this month, but did not rule out the possibility of seeking the nomination if another good candidate could not be found.

"It depends on what other candidates we get," he stated.

Williamsburg Township Reeve Johnny Whittaker, who contested the 1977 election and finished a strong second, 2,500 votes behind Mr. Villeneuve, is said to be seriously considering the nomination.

Dr. Rosenquist said he would support the reeve "100 per cent" if he decided to run.

In the 1981 election, Mr. Villeneuve tallied 12,017 votes, or 55 per cent of the ballots cast, Dr. Rosenquist finished with 7,846 votes, and NDP candidate Joe O'Neill garnered 1,836.

Mr. O'Neill has indicated he will not seek re-election.

NDP association president Trevor Tolley said no date has been set for a nomination meeting, and admitted the announcement came as a surprise.

"The date is not well placed for serious consideration by the voters, because of the unpredictable weather and most people's attention will be on Christmas,"

Alexandria's water supply may be in jeopardy

by Phil Rutherford

Alexandria's water supply could be in jeopardy during the winter months if there is not sufficient rainfall before freeze-up.

The town's water service depends entirely on rain and snow run-off filling Loch Garry, which in turn feeds Middle Lake and Alexandria Lake, where the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) draws its water.

Reduced snowfall last winter, coupled with a hot dry summer, has left the water level in Loch Garry 18 inches lower than normal, according to Laurent Poirier, PUC manager.

Mr. Poirier told The News on Monday, Alexandria could get by on the amount of water remaining, but Jay Currier, manager of the Raisin Region Conservation Authority (RRCA), said later the main worry surrounds the likelihood that freeze-up would cut the town off from the supply.

Water in the channel leading from Loch Garry to Loch Garry Dam is only 18 inches deep, half its normal level, he said, and without substantial rain to raise the level, it will likely freeze to the bottom.

But "it's not a panic situation" said Mr. Currier. Should the channel freeze over, alternatives will be used to keep the water flowing to town. These could include pumping or syphoning the water from the lake into flowing water farther downstream, or keeping the shallow channel open through use of a "bubble" system.

Unfortunately, any one of the three alternatives being considered is expensive, he said, with costs estimated at anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000.

"It's expensive for a short-term solution," he said.

A long-term solution involves raising the water level one foot in the channel and Loch Garry, by raising the height of the Loch Garry Dam, but this would cause flooding problems for cottage owners on the lake.

A final, engineering report on the matter is expected to be completed this winter and a decision on the future course of action will be taken subsequently, said Mr. Currier.

"We're still working out engineering and land acquisition details," he said. "We'll find the answers this winter."

The project has already been included in the authority's 1984 budget, but its final approval depends on precise cost estimates and the availability of grants, he said. Work would include placing more stop logs in the dam and modifications to the earth embankment.

Without substantial rainfall before freeze-up, the best hope for the town's water supply would be for another mild winter, similar to last year.

"If it's mild, we could get away with it," said Mr. Currier. "But if we have a couple of weeks of 30 below weather" the channel will freeze.

The little rain that has fallen in the area this fall "has at least kept the water at the level it had six weeks ago," said Mr. Currier.

"It's not deteriorating, but it's not improving, either. It entirely depends on precipitation."

The conservation authority is planning to blow up beaver dams that are now holding back water flow into Alexandria Lake. The work is to be done next week.

Though he says Alexandria Lake is "not hard to fill up," the PUC's Mr. Poirier has "never seen it so low.

"We need a lot of rain soon," he said.

The town experienced a similar problem in 1978, he said, but it seems still worse this year.

He said the problem may be alleviated by taking stop logs out of the Kenyon Dam, allowing more water flow into the Garry River and Alexandria Lake.

PUC promises water will taste better

Low water levels and the breakdown of two machines at the water filtration plant can be blamed for the unpleasant taste of Alexandria's water in recent weeks, PUC manager Laurent Poirier said Monday.

The problem should be eliminated in about a week, he said. The equipment was to be repaired Tuesday and the Raisin Region Conservation Authority (RRCA) is planning to blow up beaver dams next week to increase the flow of water into Alexandria Lake, where the town takes its water supply.

"The main trouble is low water and beaver dams blocking the flow from Middle Lake and Loch Garry," he said. "There is no flow. We're taking swamp water now. We're draining the swamps as much as we can."

The poorer quality water requires 40 per cent more chemicals to purify, he said, adding to both expense and taste.

"The water is safe," he said. "It just uses more chemicals. This creates a different taste"

The water is tested regularly, with three samples a week forwarded for tests by the Ministry of the Environment in Kingston and Toronto.

Two new "feeders," machines used by the PUC to add lime and carbon to the treated water, have been broken down for some time and the American company which supplied them has had difficulty obtaining replacement parts.

Carbon is used to control the taste and odor of the water. Without an operating feeder, carbon must be added by hand, with reduced efficiency.

Man dies following accident

A Vankleek Hill man died early Friday following a single-car accident west of Alexandria, despite a valiant attempt by a Maxville OPP constable to save him.

Rolland Kirkey, 32, of 56 Main St. in Vankleek Hill, died at Glengarry Memorial Hospital a short time after the accident, which occurred shortly after 1 a.m.

Mr. Kirkey had been travelling east along Highway 43, about one kilometre west of town, when his car left the road and struck a culvert, somersaulted, then burst into flame.

OPP Constable Dennis Chevalier was driving by a few minutes after the accident. After attempting unsuccessfully to extinguish the fire, the policeman managed

Legion has best year ever for poppy blitz, $1,000 raised

Alexandria Legion's annual poppy blitz held on Sunday was the most successful in Branch 423's history, Service Officer Don Collin said Tuesday.

Twenty-six volunteers canvassed the town door-to-door, bringing in more than $1,000. Combined with the annual sale of remembrance wreaths, Mr. Collin expects the campaign will meet or surpass a goal of $2,500, "which is pretty darn good."

The largest amount collected the day of the blitz came from Marie Aubin, he said. Helen Kaufmann came second during the day, but by returning to the rounds a second day, managed to bring in the largest total overall. Don McDougall came in third.

Mr. Collin said the money is deposited into a trust fund which is used solely to assist veterans, wives, widows and dependants. The assistance may cover a wide range of needs, including eye glasses and dental care, not normally paid by social services.

The fund is governed by a special assistance committee headed by Jack Reid. Members of the committee include John Grant and Mr. Collin.

The Alexandria Legion is planning its annual Remembrance Day services this Sunday, November 6.

The parade will form up in front of the Glengarry District High School, at 1:30 p.m. and will march to the cenotaph at 2 p.m.

Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and Cub Scouts are expected to join veterans and Legion members in the parade. The Legion has also extended an invitation to the public to join in.

Life difficult for CF children

by Anna Margaret

A spell-a-thon held at Iona Academy in St. Raphael's had special meaning for the children there. Earmarked for Cystic Fibrosis research, the money may in a small way help two of their classmates currently afflicted with the disease.

The two students, Diane and Bobby, are children of Rene and Noreen Richer of Martintown and they had the problem since birth.

Both children must consume massive amounts of the Cotazym drug to help them digest their food. CF children need more calories because the body does not absorb as much as normal children.

The disease affects children in varying degrees and some respond to therapy better that others. With medication and treatment, Diane and Bobby have been getting along fairly well; they have attended school on a regular basis and Bobby also plays minor hockey.

Up until last year, Diane had been taking highland dancing lessons in addition to her school work but this year, she has been set back by severe problems. Since July she has been in and out of the Children's Hospital in Ottawa and at this time is a patient there. She has been unable to return to school this term and has recently been diagnosed as diabetic.

Because the child's strength has so diminished, her mother must administer all her physiotherapy, in treatments that last more than an hour and which must be repeated four to six times a day, sometimes during the night. The treatment consists of applying electric vibrators called percussors to the lung to loosen the coating which gathers on the lungs. This is followed by beating the same area with cupped hands to further the program and then coughing up the process.

Following each treatment Diane must wear an oxygen mask and at this stage must even sleep with it on, so it means wearing it 16-18 hours a day.

All the medication is extremely costly. At one time the family had Blue Cross which paid for the 80 per cent of the drugs necessary but the company limit is $5,000. Since that time the Ottawa Children's Hospital has been funding the medication as it became an impossible drain on the family resources.

"We were brought up to pay our own way and it is not easy having to accept this situation so we do what we can. With the premiums we were paying the Blue Cross and our share of the deductible the amount came to about $110 a month. So we donate that much to the hospital per month to help compensate, explains Noreen.

For the mother it is a 24-hour-a-day concern and almost constant daytime nursing care, a task she accepts with a smile. "We all do what we have to do."

After seeing Diane's acceptance of her condition, we can understand the love expressed by her teachers and classmates. "She was in my class last year", says Mary MacDonald, and she was the kind of student a teacher dreams about having, loving, responsive and pleasant. It breaks my heart to see her suffering so much."

When most of us express thanks for blessings, it is usually sight, or hearing or speech we first think of. For some reason or another we don't reflect that "to breathe" should be our first priority because without this, we can't live. Yet at this point, Diane's daily problem is to do just that.

PUTTING UP ADMIRABLE FIGHT—Diane Richer was able to remove her oxygen mask only long enough to have her picture taken when a News photographer called at her home on Saturday. Her mother, Noreen holds the life giving apparatus which is operated by the oxygen machine. Cystic fibrosis had made breathing a daily challenge over the past few months as the disease has intensified.

he said.

Mr. Tolley also said many people "have expressed disquiet" that the election had been called so soon after Mr. Villeneuve's death.

The by-election call has precipitated a flurry of activity among potential PC candidates, interested in representing a riding considered to be one of the safest Tory seats in Eastern Ontario.

Within hours of the announcement, no fewer than five Tory hopefuls officially declared their intentions.

They include Moose Creek real estate appraiser and farmer Noble Villeneuve (no relation to the former MPP), Lochiel reeve Ron MacDonell, former Alexandria mayor Bruno Massie, Lancaster resort-owner Raymond Rock, a former federal Liberal member of Parliament who crossed the floor to join the Conservatives in 1972, and Mountain Township councillor Ewart Simms, who contested the Tory nomination in 1981.

Also rumored as potential candidates were Dunvegan resident Donaldson MacLeod, a federal government employee, and Morrisburg lawyer Doug Grenkie. However, Mr. Grenkie said yesterday he had decided against seeking the nomination this time.

Noble Villeneuve, considered by some the frontrunner in the nomination race, officially announced his candidacy Tuesday in a press release, complete with accompanying brochures.

"I believe that as a government member on the Bill Davis team, I can lobby very effectively for the needs of our area farmers and I would take a firm stand on important rural issues, such as municipal tile drainage funding for our region," he said.

He told The News he had approached Alma Villeneuve, widow of the late MPP, about the possibility of an early election, and indicated Mrs. Villeneuve welcomed the idea.

He said she had expressed concern the riding lacked proper representation in order to provide a follow-up to a number of projects her husband had been involved in.

Former Mountain Township reeve Ewart Simms said he didn't feel there had been "much of a mourning period," but agreed such a sizeable riding should be represented.

Mr. Simms had served as reeve for eight years, on United Counties Council for 12 years, and was elected Warden in 1978.

Ron MacDonell was elected reeve of Lochiel last year after serving 11 years on council. He also represents SD&G and Leeds-Grenville at the Rural Ontario Municipal Association.

Bruno Massie has been involved with the PC association for 35 years and is a past president of both federal and provincial organizations.

The Alexandria businessman has 16 years' experience in municipal politics, having served alternate terms as mayor, reeve and councillor.

A summer resort owner and permanent resident of Lancaster since 1972, Raymond Rock was first elected to Parliament as a Liberal in 1962, representing the Montreal riding of Jacques Cartier-Lasalle, later changed to Lachine. Prior to his election, he had been a city alderman for 13 years.

In 1972 he crossed the floor of the House of Commons to sit with the Conservatives, but was defeated as the Conservative candidate in the next election.

As a sitting member, he served on 11 different parliamentary committees.

He told The News Monday he had decided to run prior to the election being called because he had been encouraged to offer his parliamentary experience.

While some PC candidates have been "unofficially" declared for several weeks, one conservative spokesman said the race was "wide open" and no one candidate had a power-base support at the local executive.

Osie Villeneuve, dean of the Ontario Legislature, represented the area both federally and provincially during the last 35 years, 29 of them at Queen's Park.

CF, what is it?

Cystic fibrosis is a disease with which babies are born. It occurs when certain glands do not function properly. The mucus glands secrete an abnormal, thick, gluey mucus, and the sweat glands produce an unusually salty sweat. It is the mucus glands which cause the main complications.

Normal mucus is thin and slippery and helps keep the lungs and air passages clean, carrying off germs and dust particles. It also transports chemical substances from one part of the body to another. The sticky mucus of cystic fibrosis clogs the small bronchial tubes in the lungs and makes it hard for the child to breathe. Air gets trapped in some of these tubes, and parts of the lungs may be blocked off by mucus. Then bacteria which collect in the clogged bronchial tubes multiply and create infection.

Similarly, mucus plugs the tiny ducts of the pancreas, an organ lying along the intestine just below the stomach. The pancreas supplies chemicals called enzymes to the small intestine, to help digest foods. When the openings from the pancreas are blocked by mucus, the enzymes cannot reach the small intestine to do their work. Food passes through the bowels only partially digested.

The sweat glands do not ordinarily create any major problem for the person with cystic fibrosis. In hot weather, however, or during a high fever or intense physical activity, the body may lose excessive amounts of salt.

Primarily, cystic fibrosis involves the lungs and digestion. In some children it is the lungs which are mainly affected, in others the digestive system. Many youngsters, however, have problems with both; symptoms may start showing up at any time in the early years of life.

The disease gets its name because the thick mucus which blocks the flow of natural secretions from the pancreas often causes little cysts to form in that organ. The obstruction leads to scarring, or fibrosis, of the pancreas.

Diane's morale could stand a lift. She is currently at Ottawa Children's Hospital, 401 Smyth Road, Ottawa, K1H 8L1.

The Alexandria No.2 4-H Club, the Energetic Health Hustlers, are well on their way towards completing this club, "Looking Great, Feeling Great". The elected officers are Helene Lauzon, president; Sylvie Girard, secretary; Nathalie Paquette, treasurer; Monique Levac, press reporter to Le Point; Diane Lefebvre, Achievement Night coordinator, and Devina Janack, press reporter to the Glengarry News.

At their Skin Care Clinic, they steamed their faces, used abrasive scrubs, and applied facial masks.

At their Hair Care Clinic, they gave themselves hot oil treatments, then they washed, conditioned, blow-dried and either curled or French-braided their hair.

They were taught to be smart consumers, and to tactfully return any unsatisfactory item. They all now know how to give themselves a manicure and a pedicure. They learned the role of a proper diet and exercise and they learned to care for their eyes and teeth. Also, many facts and myths were uncovered through quizzes and puzzles.

They have one meeting left when they will summarize this club by preparing for Achievement Night, and by discussing their Special Projects.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR YOUTH

On Friday, November 25 there will be a dance at the Maxville Senior School for students in Grades 7 to 10.

This will be sponsored by the Maxville Senior School Committee, and members will be in attendance. Refreshments will be provided by the student council.

This is one of the activities planned in response to the need for entertainment for village youth. Two such events were held in the summer, a swim day at Alexandria, and a dance at the Complex, and other interested groups will be sponsoring more activities during the winter months.

GLAMOR GIRLS

The second meeting of the Maxville Glamor Girls was held at the United Church Hall. That night there were two visitors. The first was Marilyn Blair, who demonstrated the correct application of make-up.

The second was the resident bat. An exercise period followed.

The topic of the third meeting was skin types, and skin care products were experimented with for cleansing, astringents, moisturizing, steaming, abrasive scrub and applying facial masks, followed as always by the exercises.

The fourth meeting was at the shop of Helen McGillis, Maxville, for a session on correct hair dressing. Helen answered such questions as how often to wash hair, what kind of brushes to use, and blow dryers, and the different styles of hair setting.

The meeting ended with the usual exercises in the church hall.

The fifth meeting dealt with eye care, protection and make-up, and also how to evaluate a bargain in purchasing. The last meeting was in the church hall this week.

DANCE

Remembrance Day Dance, sponsored by the Maxville War Veterans Club in Maxville Sports Complex on Friday, November 11, 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Lunch served. Everyone welcome.

Fall fashion show was held at St. Elmo

An historic building has to be used for something practical. The more practical and imaginative the use, the brighter the future for the building.

The ancient log hall at St. Elmo was the scene of a capacity gathering last Saturday afternoon, an audience come to view the first public showing of a fall collection by Merydie Smiley, a local designer just now making her entrance onto the Ontario fashion scene.

The event was sponsored by the St. Elmo Ladies Guild, women from the dozen member families who organized and carried out the renovation of the old hall last year, including Merydie's parents who have a home nearby at Athol.

Merydie and her daughter Jennifer live near Moose Creek. She commutes to Ottawa, where for the past three years she has studied at the Richard Robinson Academy of Haute Couture, and presently teaches at this establishment.

The fashion show was a thoroughly professional presentation, with graceful models, detailed and audible commentary, background music, and a busy photographer, Stewart Kohnen of Ottawa, capturing each successive feature of hat or gown.

A Wednesday night rehearsal helped to account for the smoothness of the performance.

A friend, Ruth Mills of Ottawa, gave the commentary for the first half of the show, which was devoted to a stylish collection of hats, in a variety of warm fall and winter colors.

Some were designed to accent a particular costume, others could be worn on many occasions. A tiny Peter Pan felt was succeeded by a sport cloche then a wide-brimmed velvet. Her daughter, Jennifer, modelled a child's hat, gaily trimmed with fur. After the modelling, all the hats were fetchingly displayed on their separate wooden stands about an old-fashioned three-mirrored vanity that had been set up on the stage.

During a short intermission one of the few, but appreciative, males in the audience of over 80 women remarked, "Say! This is great. Certainly brings some class to the old neighborhood!"

The second half of the show, with Margaret Billinghurst doing the commentary, was even more exciting, featuring 10 different fall and winter outfits.

There were two lovely wool dresses, one a soft green, the other classic navy, both showing the unique talent for detailed tucking that was evident in several of the hats.

Merydie's mother, Kay Fjarlie, modelled two outfits her daughter had designed for her; practical, and very attractive for the older woman.

One was a vertically striped grey wool with a subdued overlay pattern of roses, effectively touched up with a bright red trim on the yoke. There was a smart Harris tweed car coat, dashingly trimmed with white-dyed coon fur cuffs and matching fur trimmed hat. There was a classic navy blue wool, a younger style, also made striking with red fox lapels, and an accompanying whole skin fox muff.

A different design was a plain beige tunic over plain black skirt, but the tunic was perked up with a vertical border of small designs appliqued in black lace.

Another unusual use of fabric was seen in a dress of fall pastels, which featured a large square check pattern in the back, and this somehow became a diagonal pattern on the front.

As a finale there was an evening gown, a stunning creation that drew gasps from the audience; a full black velvet skirt with a rhinestone sparkling here and there and a single piece top swathed in folds of a beautiful striped pale gold chiffon.

All the models were called on stage to enthusiastic applause—Rachel Leduc, Heather Marjerrison, Kay Fjarlie, Milly Vlastaris and Jennifer Smiley.

Representatives of the Ladies' Guild, Wilma MacGregor and Katalin Kennedy, presented Merydie and Ruth Mills with bouquets of flowers in appreciation of the show.

Door prizes were won by Lynn Mainville, Julie Crites, and Mrs. J. D. MacLennan.

A lively social hour and lunch followed, with all the ladies trying on the hats.

EOSSA—Glengarry's Marion Lawson moves in close for scoring chance near the Hawkesbury goal as the Gaels apply pressure. Both Gaels' junior and senior girls soccer squads captured the Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools soccer titles last Wednesday at Glengarry District High School. Gaels EOSSA champs

by Peter Conway

Glengarry District High School girls' soccer teams put the finishing touches on an outstanding season last Wednesday by capturing Eastern Ontario Secondary Schools Association (EOSSA) titles on their own turf.

Both the junior and senior girls left little doubt in anyone's mind en route to the titles as they overwhelmed their opponents.

Played on a soggy field, throughout a downpour most of the day, the seniors gave up only one goal in three games in the tournament. That goal was against VCI in their second game—an easy 5-1 win.

After blanking South Grenville (Prescott) 3-0 in their opener, Gaels then got a measure of sweet revenge in the final as they dumped Hawkesbury 4-0. Hawkesbury had ousted Glengarry in two previous EOSSA tournaments.

In the final, Glengarry goals were scored by Bridget Kippen, Diana MacBean, Guylaine Chenier and Debbie Charlebois.

Meanwhile, VCI's goal against Glengarry snapped a 10-game shutout streak by Gaels' goaler Betty MacLeod.

Glengarry juniors were just as impressive en route to the crown—posting three successive shutouts. Kirstie McCormick was between the pipes for all the shutouts, a 2-0 win over Brockville Collegiate, a 7-0 laugh over Kingston's Queen Elizabeth and a triumph over Char-Lan in the championship contest.

Both clubs may now compete for the all-Ontario championship which will be held at Toronto next spring.

Atoms win pair

The first game of the Lower St. Lawrence Atom Division League was played at the Sports Palace on Sunday, with Alexandria downing Char-Lan 4-2.

Glens goals were by Pascal Joanette, assisted by Steve Poirier and Luke Murray; Randy Gebbie, assisted by Pascal Joanette and Eric Lewis; Randy Gebbie, assisted by Luc Sabourin and Luc Duval assisted by Eric Lewis.

Char-Lan goals were by Shawn O'Farrell and Dan Desjardins.

The Alexandria goaltending was shared by Michael McDonell and Christian Bellefeuille.

An Atom exhibition game the previous day was played in Huntingdon with Glens victorious 4-1.

Pascal Joanette and Patrick Ravary had two points each. Ricky Latreille, Stephane Davidson and Luke Murray had one point each.

Steven MacDonell scored for Huntingdon.

Jr. C's in slump

by Peter Conway

Maxville Highlanders exploded for five first period goals en route to a 7-2 win over Alexandria Junior C Glens in an Eastern Ontario Junior C League contest Sunday afternoon at the Maxville and District Sportsplex.

Jeff Johnston and Andre Paquette tallied a pair of goals each for Maxville. Singles went to Eric Lamothe, Mike Wensink and Shawn Flannigan.

Both of Alexandria's goals were scored by Daniel Rose.

The win gave Maxville a 2-1 record while Alexandria is winless in three outings.

Last Thursday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Alexandria dropped a 3-2 decision to Chesterville Jets.

Darcy Last scored the winner as Chesterville scored goals in each period.

Dale Williams and Darren Kelly completed Chesterville's scoring.

Yvan Bedard and Wayne MacSweyn were the marksmen for Alexandria.

Alexandria travelled to Long Sault last night (Tuesday) for a game against Cornwall Township.

Bantam Glens win season opener

by Sheila Stewart

Mike Sauve opened the scoring at 3:36 of the first period. Other Alexandria goals were by Marc Sauve and Richard Willard. Assists went to Rodney Craig, Michel Duval, Luc Decoeur and Richard Willard. There was good goaltending by Stephane Landriault holding Cornwall to three goals.

Marc Guevremont scored twice and Shawn Martelle once for Cornwall.

Bantam Glens did well in their exhibition games winning four, tying one, losing one. The most exciting game being Friday, Oct. 28 at the Glengarry Sports Palace against Hawkesbury with the Glens winning 3-2. Goals for Alexandria were by Rodney Craig, Andrew Meth and Glen Campbell. Assists by Mike Sauve Leo Stewart, Richard Daniels and Alex Maclaren.

Both Hawkesbury goals were scored by Richard Soucy with Kevin Peerse and Eric Denis assisting.

Junior B's win

by Peter Conway

There's nothing like a couple of wins to restore a little confidence.

That's precisely what the Alexandria Junior B Glens got on the weekend posting a wild 9-8 home-ice win over Winchester Hawks, Friday night, and then returning the favor at Winchester, Sunday, with a dramatic 6-5 overtime win.

Glens' record is now 2-3 after losing their first three games of the young season.

"It certainly is a big confidence booster for us. The guys feel they can win now and the club might be turning the corner a little faster," said Glens' coach Barry MacDonald.

Kennedy MacDonald was the hero in Sunday's game—scoring only 15 seconds into the extra session.

However, Glens' coach Barry MacDonald felt there should have been no need for overtime.

"Winchester outplayed us in the first period and we were tied 2-2. The second period was fairly even and they led 3-2. But, it wasn't a great period for us. We didn't shoot enough and we were trying to be too pretty. We should have pulled away from them in the third period. We played a strong final period and that was our saving factor. We were a little unlucky—we hit four goal posts," said MacDonald.

Kennedy MacDonald's winner, his second goal of the game, was set up by Maurice Bellefeuille. Also scoring were Bellefeuille, Alain Menard, Charlie Giroux and Leonard Seguin.

Winchester's goals came off the sticks of Keith Moore, with a pair, and singles to Bourk Boyd, Steve McCormick and Ken Rose.

MacDonald was impressed with the play of Jean-Luc Menard, shifted from forward to defence.

"He made a big contribution on the weekend after we moved him back on defence. He played the body and was aggressive back there," noted MacDonald.

In Friday night's shootout, Maurice Bellefeuille and Yves Poirier paced the Glens with hat tricks. For Poirier, it was his first game in a Glens' uniform.

"He's a good addition for us and he's a good forechecker," says MacDonald.

Despite giving up eight goals in Friday's win, MacDonald feels the club's defensive play has improved.

"The biggest difference in our defensive play is that the forwards are coming back to help the defencemen. We're also moving the puck out of our own end as a unit now and that's encouraging."

Winchester fell behind by three goals twice in Friday's game, but the visitors kept coming back to make it close.

"You have to respect Winchester. They fell behind twice by three goals but they kept coming back to make it close. They worked hard and showed a lot of spunk. They're a good hockey club," says MacDonald.

Charlie Giroux, Kennedy MacDonald and Leonard Seguin with the winner, rounded out the Glens' scoring in Friday's win.

Keith Moore and Jeff Henry had two goals each for Winchester.

Singles went to Mark Smith, Vince Cousineau and Bruce Casselman.

Glens have a home and home series this weekend with Clarence Township Beavers.

Friday's game at the Glengarry Sports Palace gets underway at 8:30 p.m.

Gaels finish in third spot

Turnovers key to Raider win

by Peter Conway

Turnovers continue to plague Glengarry Gaels football team.

Thursday afternoon at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School, Gaels dropped a 24-7 decision to CCVS Raiders in the final regular season contest of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry high school football league.

The loss gave Jean-Yves Jeaurond's Gaels a disappointing 1-3 season record while CCVS finished with an impressive 4-0 mark.

Gaels finished in third place in the three-team league and will face second-place General (1-3) in a sudden-death semi-final game Friday at Cornwall. General Vanier was awarded second-place because of point differential between the club's two regular-season meetings.

CCVS will host the championship game November 11 and will be heavy favorites to win the league title.

Despite the point spread in the outcome, Gaels were in the contest early in the fourth quarter.

With CCVS holding a 10-0 advantage after three quarters, Gaels quarterback Brendon MacDonald hooked up with Sheldon MacDougall for a 60-yard pass-and-run major. Brian McCormick converted and CCVS held a slim 10-7 lead.

However, disaster struck on the next few series as Glengarry committed two turnovers. After a stingy Gaels' defence stopped CCVS, Allan Barton opened the door for the Raiders when he fumbled on a punt return at the CCVS 46-yard line.

CCVS quarterback Dave Watson then went to work and showed why he's the most valuable player in the league.

Watson marched the Raiders downfield with a mixture of short passes in the flats. Watson capped the drive when he found Jody Landon alone in the end zone for a 25-yard touchdown. It was Landon's third touchdown reception in the game. Landon's other two majors were from 15 and 35 yards out.

After Mark Nadeau converted to give a 17-7 advantage, Gaels turned the ball over moments later when Gaels' quarterback was intercepted by Raiders' deep back Shawn Cameron, who returned to the Glengarry 29-yard line.

The turnover set up Landon's third touchdown, grabbing a Watson pass at the Glengarry 10-yard line and racing in untouched.

After Raiders' Mark Nadeau booted a 37-yard field goal in the opening quarter to open the scoring, Watson then found Landon down the middle for a 25-yard major, sending CCVS into the dressing room at the half with a 10-0 advantage.

Despite losing their third consecutive game, Jeaurond received a solid effort from his defence.

Raiders' Jody Landon breathed a sigh of relief after an Allan Barton fumble and there was no doubt it was the turning point in the game as momentum swung in Cornwall Collegiate's favor.

"When it was 10-7 for us and they tumbled, that turned the game around for us," said Landon.

"We were coming on and our defence was playing well after we held them (CCVS) in the third quarter. After the fumble everything just went flat for us," said a disappointed Gaels' coach Jean-Yves Jeaurond.

Fumble or not, the day belonged to Watson and Landon. Both turned in outstanding performances. Usually, high school football consists of a conservative-oriented offence. But, with Watson at the controls, CCVS possesses a potent offence through the air.

Both Raiders' coach Don Kannon and Jeaurond praised the talented signal caller.

"Watson showed a beautiful arm today. He doesn't throw long, but he gets the job done," said Kannon.

Said Jeaurond, "Watson is good and he can pass rolling out right or left."

With a stingy and aggressive Gaels' defence containing CCVS' running game throughout the afternoon, Kannon felt his club might enjoy more success through the air.

"They did a good job blocking up the middle and they were stopping our sweeps all afternoon. We had to go to the air," said Kannon.

After three straight losses, Jeaurond is still confident going into this Friday's semi-final showdown with General Vanier.

"Take away the turnovers and if we play this way against General Vanier, we'll be okay. We'll meet them (CCVS) in the final, I hope," said Jeaurond.

Meanwhile, Kannon's Raiders will be heavy favorites in the final. But, the Raiders' coach hopes his squad doesn't go into the game overconfident, no matter who the opposition might be.

"If we can play the way we can, I'll be confident. But the final is a one-game affair and anything can happen."

And, who does he think will be their opponent in the championship game?

"I'd say right now it will be a toss-up between Glengarry and General Vanier. However, Glengarry might be a little hungrier after today's game," said Kannon.

Mrs. Calvank honored on centenary

A very lovely family birthday party was held at the Green Valley Pavilion on Saturday, October 29 when some 40 family members gathered to honor Mrs. Anna Jane Calvank of the Community Nursing Home, Alexandria, on her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Calvank was born at Dalkeith, October 28, 1883, a daughter of the late Hugh MacPherson and the late Catherine MacPherson. She was educated at the area schools, married George Calvank and they farmed at Dalkeith throughout his lifetime. Mr. Calvank predeceased her some 10 years ago but she continued to reside in Dalkeith until three years ago when she took up permanent residence at the nursing home.

Mrs. Calvank is a very warm, lovable lady, always pleased to see her old friends and meet new ones. Despite her years she is amazingly alert, always has a cheerful word for others and she does so much enjoy those birthday parties staged by the various organizations and other entertainments put on, as well as the church services held there.

She is the loving mother of two daughters and one son, Mrs. Henry Smith (Ena) of Scarborough, Mrs. Vera Carrie of Ottawa and Leslie Calvank of Dalkeith. She has 10 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren, and one sister Mrs. Linda Hendrie of Montreal. All members of the family were present at the party with the exception of her sister and one grandson.

The celebrant was presented with 100 beautiful crimson roses by the family and she has received over 100 cards and greetings from friends and well wishers. Among those attending were from Newmarket, Scarborough, Pickering, Ottawa, and other area points.

Friends from the community also joined Mrs. Calvank for a birthday celebration put on by the nursing home on Friday afternoon when Reeve Ron MacDonell, Deputy-Reeve Lynda Kennedy and Councillor John MacLeod presented her with plaques and certificates from Governor General Ed Schreyer, Prime Minister Trudeau, Premier Bill Davis, and Denis Ethier MP, as well as a silver locket from Lochiel Township.

Heather Kemp read a tribute composed by Elaine Lobb, Mrs. Beriza Courville read an address on behalf of the other residents and there were musical selections by Beverley MacQueen, Linda MacNaughton and Clara MacLeod.

The centenarian blew out all her birthday candles without any help and even used the microphone to thank all her well wishers.

The management and staff served wine, coffee and birthday cake.

Exchanged vows

van Berkom—Kippen

Brenda Kippen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kippen of Maxville, and Koos van Berkom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yon van Berkom of Glen Sandfield, were united in marriage at Maxville United Church on August 6.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Ann MacLeod as maid of honor and Lori McGregor and Bridget Kippen as bridesmaids. Neil Fraser was best man and Carey MacMillan and Leslie Fraser were ushers.

Reverend Frank Bailey officiated. Mrs. Catherine McEwen was organist and soloist was Jamie Wood. The couple were piped out of the church by Shawn Callon.

A reception was held at Maxville Sports Complex. Master of ceremonies was Robert Wilson, uncle of the bride. The couple are residing in Toronto.

Personals

Mrs. Wilfred MacDonald, Greenfield and Mrs. Beatrice O'Brien of Montreal visited Donalda MacDonald at the Palace on Sunday. Visitors this week are her daughters Mrs. Lucille Andrews and her granddaughters Mrs. Leslie Qually both of Winnipeg and Mrs. April Mackey of Guelph. While here they are guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Clingen.

Mr. and Mrs. Cormic Macdonell, Green Valley, have returned from a visit to Toronto with son Edward, his wife Marian, Beth and Allison and in Waterloo with daughter Estelle, husband Frank Antl and daughters Adrienne and Sheila.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus H. McDonell visited with family relatives early last week in St. Catharines. On Thursday they motored to London and attended the Fall Convocation at Western University.

Their grand-nephew, Rory McCormick, was among the graduates of the law class.

Lorraine Cameron, R.R. 2, Green Valley, and Audrey Pasco of Williamstown, received word on Thursday of the sudden death of their mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McOuat in St. Andrew's East, Quebec. Their families and several friends from this area attended the funeral which took place on Saturday in St. Andrew's East.

Are your hard-earned dollars going up in smoke?
Then take a few minutes now and discover how adding electricity to your oil furnace can dramatically cut the cost of heating your home.
If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, a dual-energy system combining oil and electricity may be just the answer. In fact, depending on how much electric heat you add, and how you operate your system, you could use as little as one tank of oil for an entire heating season!
An electric plenum heater, for example, will reduce the amount of oil your furnace uses by up to 75%. While adding a heat pump will cut oil use by 25 to 30%, and provide air conditioning in the summer for economical year-round comfort.
If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly efficiently and economically.
If you'd like to know more about dual-energy and all-electric systems, write to Ontario Hydro, 620 University Ave., 4th Floor, Toronto M5G 1X6, and ask for our free booklet "Electric Heating Options for Your Home."
The few minutes you take now could add up to big savings this winter.

McKay- Osborne

Ebenezer United Church, Courtice, Ont., was the setting for a lovely wedding on Saturday, September 17 at 4 p.m. when Catherine Louise Osborne was united in marriage with John Kerry McKay.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Osborne of Courtice, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McKay of South Lancaster.

The Reverend Mark Elliott performed the double-ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by a friend of the family, Mrs. Lloyd Down of Courtice, and an uncle of the bride, Murray Osborne of Courtice sang "Walk Hand in Hand," "Amazing Grace" and "How Great Thou Art." Mr. Edward Osborne, brother of the bride, acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother and father, wore a traditional, full length wedding gown of Chantilly lace, designed with ruffles at the neckline and cuffs. The gown was highlighted with a full skirt of Chantilly ruffles. A matching headpiece held a fingertip pearl veil and she carried a cascade of red roses and white baby's breath.

The bride was attended by the maid of honor, Miss Patricia Mackey, friend of the bride; Mrs. Deborah Dunham, sister of the bride; Miss Marilyn McKay, sister of the groom; Miss Dianne Osborne, sister of the bride. They were all gowned alike in full length red dresses with matching hats and each carried cascades of red and white roses. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Cheryl-Ann Cole, cousin of the bride, a small replica of the senior attendants with red roses in her hair.

The best man was Tommy Ross, friend of the groom and ushering were Glenn McKay, brother of the groom, Richard Osborne, brother of the bride; Gordon McKay, brother of the groom. The ringbearer was Master Britt Cole, cousin of the bride.

A wedding dinner was held in the Ebenezer C.E. Hall and a dance was held in Tyrone Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay left for a two week honeymoon in Barbados and later will be residing in Cornwall.

Lancaster

President Dorothy Croll welcomed members to the business meeting of the Glengarry Community Club.

Secretary-treasurer Joyce Irwin read the minutes, which were adopted, and presented the financial report.

Thanks were extended to Charlie Heath and Alda Major for arranging such an enjoyable trip to Quebec City.

It was decided to hold the December birthday party on the seventh. A pot luck dinner followed by film will be held on December 14.

All were reminded the next open euchre will be held on Monday, November 14, at the Charlottenburgh Arena.

Travel to Lanark County

by Sheila Urquhart

"We saw a lot, ate a lot and spent a lot!" was how one participant summed up the great October day spent by the Bainsville Branch of the Women's Institute and their guests.

The bus left Lancaster for Perth and surrounding countryside and, although the weather wasn't the best, the spirits of the ladies weren't in the least dampened.

The first stop was at the Hershey Chocolate of Canada plant in Smiths Falls where an excellent film was shown on the growing of cocoa beans and the manufacture of chocolate in its various forms.

A short tour of the plant followed and then the bus departed for Perth and Balderson, where the Heritage Silversmith Factory Outlet and the Balderson Cheese Factory were visited. After lunch, the bus headed on to the village of Lanark where the various outlets of the Kitten Mills and Naturalizer Shoe Co. were invaded by bargain hunters.

The entire village of Lanark is a lovely spot to visit, as shops displaying local crafts, homemade candy, etc. are strategically placed throughout the village and their exteriors restored to that of an earlier era.

The day ended with a delicious meal, efficiently served at Patterson's Dining Room in Perth. A great day, well planned by Gwelda MacRae, president, who rightfully deserved the vote of thanks extended to her en route home.

Had Thanksgiving meeting

The Thanksgiving meeting of the WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Martintown, was held at the home of Helen McMillan. Ruth Clingen presided and opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving poem. A cordial welcome was extended to all present.

A service of praise and thanksgiving was conducted by Dawn Blackadder and Emily MacInnes, assisted by Mora MacGregor, Mae Munro, Melba McDermid and H. McMillan.

Mora MacGregor referred to the death of Louise A. Reith who devoted her life to the Presbyterian Church in Canada and its mission work. She was the author and editor of mission studies related to work in Canada and abroad and was keenly interested in developing lay leadership in the church. Miss Reith retired from the WMS (W.D.) in December, 1976, after serving 35 years.

Mrs. MacGregor concluded her remarks with an anniversary prayer written by Miss Reith.

Members reported 21 cards and 21 visits to sick and shut-ins. Eighteen members answered the roll call.

Members were reminded that the mission project for the WMS Centennial closes November 30.

The offering was dedicated by Mrs. A. Scott and the meeting closed with a hymn.

Grant awarded

A community planning study grant of $500 has been awarded to the Township of Alfred and the Village of Alfred, Claude Bennett, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing, announced recently.

The grant will enable each municipality to prepare a separate official plan derived from the former South Nation joint official plan.

Community planning study grants are designed to encourage municipalities to review and update their planning programs, zoning bylaws and other planning documents.

They may also be used for special studies on local issues such as lakeshore development or commercial development along highways, and for energy-conserving planning measures.

Water problems are worst in centre of town

by Joanne Stevenson

A central area in Green Valley, stretching from the railway tracks to Second Street, has been singled out as requiring essential remedies to serious water and sewage problems.

An update to the report of A. J. Graham Engineering on the Green Valley water situation presented last week, focused concern on the village core.

"Green Valley is divided, let's forget about the large lots around the centre core," advised George Gagne of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Approximately 30 interested citizens showed up for the presentation of this report in a public meeting of the joint councils of Lancaster and Charlottenburgh townships held Wednesday evening in Williamstown.

While every member of Lancaster Township council attended the meeting, Charlottenburgh councillors Don Kannon, Bob Roth and Ernie szpivak did not.

George Gagne outlined the sewage situation, explaining the new residential developments with larger lots present no major problem.

"We are looking at older systems and smaller lots," he said. "If you have a shed and a swimming pool on a lot the size of my hand . . ." he started, leaving the audience to draw its own conclusions.

The only individual solution for 33 of the central lots would involve installing 33 holding tanks, he said. The health unit and the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) disapprove of such a solution, describing it as costly to operate and difficult to monitor.

Brian Boyd of A. J. Graham Engineering then explained the communal approach. A lagoon system could be set up to accommodate the 33 most affected lots, the 45 lots in the entire core area, all 152 existing lots in the village or a potential of 209 lots. The cost of such a system, while varying for the different sizes, generally ranges between $2,000 to $2,500 capital cost per lot, after deducting the 75 per cent MOE subsidy. A user fee covering maintenance and operation expenses would range between $15 and $300 per lot, per year, depending upon the size of system chosen. If this solution is found to be acceptable, councils must decide what size lagoon system to approve before subsidies can be granted.

Last March, the engineer's report described 102 sewage systems on Green Valley's 133 lots as non-conforming to current standards. Seven were considered so potentially hazardous that prosecution could be initiated, 30 were seriously substandard and 65 substandard. In the update presented, 69 of 102 lots could seek individual corrections, leaving the central 33 requiring a communal solution. If Green Valley decides not to do anything, warned Mr. Boyd, the health unit will chase violators with vigor.

Sixty per cent of Green Valley well water is unsafe or substandard, according to George Gagne. Twenty-one new wells must be constructed and 28 repaired.

The March report noted 49 unsafe, 47 substandard and 37 satisfactory. The update shows 11 unsafe, 29 substandard wells in Charlottenburgh and 35 unsafe and 21 substandard wells in Lancaster.

Responsibility for safe drinking water rests with the owner, since no municipal water system can be installed in Green Valley. Individual solutions must therefore be sought.

Gerry McKenna of MOE stressed both sewage and water problems must be addressed in order to be eligible for the provincial subsidy. He explained the program as being designed to correct problems in individual communities, but not individual problems. A resident deciding on his own initiative to correct his water and waste disposal systems would not be subsidized. The joint township councils must accept the recommendations of the engineers' report in order to place the program in motion.

A public meeting will be held to hear the engineers' final, formal report. No date has yet been set.

CENTENNIAL REMEMBRANCE—The fountain project on the island in Mill Lake will be operated by electrical and mechanical equipment donated by Alexandria Lions Club. Presenting $10,000 of the $25,000 allotted for the project are Lions Club President Alex Spooner, left, and Special Projects Chairman Gaetan Ravary, right. Mayor Jean Paul Touchette received the payment on behalf of the town.

OFF AND ROLLING—The Oktoberfest celebration held at the Bonnie Glen on Friday evening was the occasion for a pleasant surprise for the sponsoring Glengarry Association for the Mentally Retarded, when Ronald Cholette of Alexandria Moulding, second from right, kicked off the new fundraising campaign with a $5,000 donation, presented here to the fundraising chairperson, Jane Dudley. At right is John MacDonald, president of the group and at left, Kitty Ewaschuk, vice-chairperson.

by Glengarry Christian Council

by Rev. Gordon Worden

This last summer the World Council of Churches met for 18 days in Vancouver, BC. The meeting was attended by more than 5,000 people representing 306 churches in more than 100 countries.

The assembly of the World Council of Churches was important. Many of you probably read about the meeting this summer or saw some of the events on TV. Most of the reporting dealt with the "politics of the WCC."

However, now that the delegates and the observers have had a chance to report back to the local churches, we hear that the political issues of the assembly were insignificant compared to the worship that occurred.

Those who attended the WCC assembly have come back with an abiding sense of worship. Through song, music of many different instruments, dance, symbols, color, preaching and sharing, they experienced worship as never before.

Perhaps the experience of the delegates has something to say to us in Cornwall and area. Perhaps it is this: Worship is our primary charge as Christians and it should be our primary activity as we seek Christian unity.

I know there are many who would disagree with this statement. They would say the different churches should first come to agreement about doctrinal differences and ethical practices. Certainly, there is truth in this. After all, one of the reasons that the Lima Liturgy at the world assembly was such a worshipful experience was because it was based on common statements concerning the Eucharist and Baptism.

But I say that worship is the root of doctrine, and if we are to settle our disagreements about what we believe, we must find the solutions in the context of worship.

Archbishop William Temple once said, "To worship is to quicken the conscience by the holiness of God, to free the mind with the truth of God, to purge the imagination by the beauty of God, to open the heart to the love of God, to devote the will to the purpose of God."

How then, could we even contemplate Christian unity and ecumenism without worship first?

The statements and the decisions of the WCC will be debated and discussed. They will be recorded in history. What will not be debated, or probably recorded either, because it goes beyond words, is the worship. The experience of worship at the WCC assembly is however, etched upon the hearts, minds and souls of all those who were present. And it is those spiritual drawings on people's lives—the sharing, the song, the scripture, the sacraments—that will continue to refresh and renew the spirit of unity.

In our own area, we must not forget the importance of worship in our search for unity. The ministers, priests and sisters that meet each month as the Cornwall and Area Christian Council have already discovered this truth. How much easier it is to see the spirit of charity and truth at work in our meetings when we have begun with worship!

As we have opportunity, as lay and clergy, let us worship together and so find our unity which is in Christ Jesus our Lord!

Liberal leader coming

Ontario Liberal leader David Peterson will be coming to Alexandria on November 22 for a dinner hosted by the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce.

The leader of the official opposition is the first of the three party leaders at Queen's Park to respond to the invitations, which were sent out about three weeks ago.

Vice-president Pierre Aubry said he still hasn't heard back from Premier William Davis or NDP leader Bob Rae, but now, with the by-election set for December 15, he said, the other leaders might take advantage of the opportunity.

The by-election in SD&G was called Monday by Premier Davis to elect a successor to the late MPP Osie Villeneuve.

"Nobody figured on the by-election being called," Mr. Aubry said, "but it might have some bearing on the responses we get."

This will be the third dinner sponsored by the Chamber this year. Federal Industry minister Ed Lumley and Canadian Chamber of Commerce President Sam Hughes were guest speakers at the previous functions.

The dinner will be held at the Glengarry Sports Palace at 7 p.m., November 22. Tickets are $10 a person and are available at the IGA, Priest's Mill and Bob Leroux Furniture.

Escape serious injury

Two local residents were involved in a mishap last Tuesday, October 18.

Germaine Vaillancourt of Alexandria was driving north along Highway 34 about 1:30 p.m. when her car collided with another vehicle driven by Pat Hammill of Lochiel, who was making a turn from the Fassifern sideroad.

Both drivers sustained only slight injuries but damage to the vehicles was extensive, estimated at $7,500.

Curb the slaughter now

The world is full of tragedy. Bombs kill hundreds asleep in their beds in Lebanon, more die during fighting in Grenada, Afghanistan, Central America, Africa and countless other trouble spots around the globe.

For most of us, not directly affected, a sense of numbness takes over. More die senselessly, but we become immune to it.

Then senseless death hits our own community and we all sit up in shock.

Two local people died recently in highway mishaps that could have been avoided. One was a young father, leaving a wife and children to manage without him. The other was a 16-year-old high school student with a promising life still ahead of him.

Two lives were wasted and two families left to mourn.

There may be precious little we can do about fighting in troubled countries around the world, but we can do our part to reduce the carnage on our highways.

A moving car can be a vicious weapon against both occupants and others who get in the way. Drivers are obligated to use the utmost caution, to avoid drinking and driving, to drive within the law and rules of safety, to keep their vehicles in a safe operating condition and to keep alert eyes out for those who may be less careful.

There is no need for people to be maimed and killed on the highways. We're the only ones who can curb the slaughter.

Drop the back-patting

How committed is the federal government to creating badly needed jobs in this country? Hundreds of thousands remain out of work.

Last April Finance Minister Marc Lalonde listed $1.48 billion as the total federal commitment to job creation in 1983-84, saying program details would come from other ministers.

Immediately after the budget, Lloyd Axworthy, who was then the employment minister, provided written explanations and a spending chart showing that Ottawa would spend $1.67 billion on its direct job creation plans in 1983-84 and 1984-85.

When John Roberts took over responsibility for employment in August he began to talk of a $1.5 billion total budget for the same two years. And when he sent out his own package of charts and explanations last month, the figure had become $1.34 billion.

The $332.7 million difference between the two ministers' figures is more than the entire two-year budget of $278 million for the government's two main youth job schemes.

The federal government's job-creation programs have long had a reputation of baffling nearly all who try to understand them. When Mr. Axworthy announced an overhaul of a dozen programs last April, he said the re-organization into four big programs would make them simpler to understand and more efficient to administer.

In September, Mr. Roberts, who had assumed the portfolio in mid-August with an admission that he found the old programs hard to understand, announced the re-organization once again. But in the second announcement, financing for the four programs had changed from Mr. Axworthy's spending estimates.

In particular, financing for two programs aimed at young people, for whom unemployment rates are among the highest, dropped by a total of $78.8 million in the second announcement. Career Access, a program of wage subsidies, and the Job Corps program, which finances projects, were both cut back.

Career Access is expected to create 33,000 jobs for young people in this fiscal year. About 1,300 were expected to get work under the Job Corps program.

However, officials now say few, if any of the jobs have yet begun because the programs did not start until this month.

In five months the amount of money Ottawa says will be used to create jobs has shrunk quietly by more than $300 million.

The difference, explain officials, will be used to cover administration costs. More money will be spent on administration than on two of the four programs to be funded. That's a lot of paper shuffling.

In the first six months the programs have barely begun and, naturally, have had no impact on the jobless totals. That's efficient administration for you.

It's time Ottawa dropped the back-patting and got serious about job creation. Little has been done. A lot must be.

Trouble for farmers?

As if farmers didn't already have enough to worry about along comes the issue of how they treat their animals. The humane movement has slowly been gathering strength in Europe over the last decade and now it's doing the same on North American shores. The farming community will ignore these groups at their own risk.

Basically the groups all make the same point: today's methods of intensive rearing of livestock—as opposed to the old McDonald way—cause behavioral problems for the animals and result in suffering. The groups—at least the rational ones anyway—agree there can't be a return to the farming methods of decades gone by, however they maintain steps should be taken to take better care of the animals.

To further complicate matters, the animal welfare groups have split into two factions: there are the ones who belong to Humane Societies and then there are those who belong to groups such as the New Liberation Commando Front for the Betterment of Every Living Thing. Unfortunately, it is these latter groups that have generated most of the publicity and have succeeded in giving the rational humane groups a bad name.

Perhaps the humane groups have some valid points, perhaps they don't. The issue farmers should concern themselves with is the fact that the groups are there and they won't go away if ignored. The east coast sealers tried that little trick and look where it got them.

Farm organizations should seize the initiative and begin working with the rational faction of the humane movement. Recently developed codes of practice, drawn up by the farming industry and the humane movements, are a very positive step. These codes are only voluntary now, but they provide important guidelines for those just starting to follow and they can also be used as ammunition against the fringe element of the humane movement. If those groups complain about how animals are being treated the industry can hand them its code of practice, reminding them that it was drawn up in conjunction with various humane groups.

It's unlikely that either Stormont or Dundas counties will ever have to deal with members of the humane movement, since by attacking agriculture they would be attacking the very foundation of these two counties. However, it wouldn't hurt for local farm organizations to become aware of what's going on and to be prepared just in case. The best defense is a good offense. —Chesterville Record

Our water's so bad, it's coming through the rye

Our rambling reporter

The price of a bottle of my favorite booze went up another 85 cents last week because of an added government tax bite. Your Rambling Reporter is wondering how much more taxes liquor or beer can bear before it goes flat.

This latest increase is about the third or fourth time this year that liquor prices have been raised. The Ontario Government takes another bite and that apparently is the trigger for Ottawa to do likewise. Last week's increase resulted from a 13.5 per cent hike in the federal excise tax in September.

That brings the indexed federal excise tax to $2.74 on a distiller's price of $2.38 for a 25-ounce bottle of Seagram's V.O. Not content with more than doubling the distiller's price, Ottawa also collects 61 cents in sales tax.

But that's peanuts compared with the $6.29 Ontario markup and Queen's Park is also collecting a sales tax of $1.44.

When I shell out $13.50 for that bottle of rye it pains to dwell on the fact those nasty politicians in Ottawa and Toronto are grabbing more than $11 of that sum to feed their much-too-generous give-aways of the hard-pressed taxpayers' dollars.

In fact, that feeling of oppression that hits me each time I fork over still more of my dough for a bottle of rye or a case of beer has me seriously toying with the thought of going on the wagon. I would, in a flash, if I wasn't afraid those tax-gatherers would tax the wagon.

There's such a thing as pricing a product off the market and the liquor interests are more than a bit afraid that process is already underway. They report a 10 per cent reduction in booze consumption since 1981 and that adds up to 24 million fewer (25-ounce) bottles of domestic liquor and spirits than were consumed two years ago.

That's a lot of alcohol that hasn't gone down the drain and the distillers have their suspicions Finance Minister Marc Lalonde's less interested in additional tax dollars than in curbing consumption on moral grounds.

If that's his aim it may be off target. A vendor at the local liquor emporium tells me business goes up after every increase in prices. Seems smokers and drinkers and drug addicts are going to keep right on to the end of the road—no matter how many obstacles are put in their way.

If taxing governments don't induce me to take a rye look at rye, maybe the local government has the answer. Its town water tasted so bad this week it spoiled the taste not only of a drink of rye, but of our coffee as well.

Halloween brings out the children in adults

Second look
by Phil Rutherford

Halloween brings out the crazies! It's supposed to be time for the children, but it brings out the children in a lot of adults, as well.

Monday morning found The Glengarry News office filled with unfamiliar characters, some of them amusing, some frightening and some simply ugly.

A witch sat at the editor's desk; a hockey player was typesetting ads; there was a clown putting ads together in the paste-up area, with a fireman assisting; a gypsy was working on subscriptions and a hillbilly was doing the bookkeeping chores.

Meanwhile, behind the publisher's desk there sat a very distinguished looking Arab gentleman.

The loonies had taken over and the few who did not dress for the day were the ones looking out of place.

While most customers found it amusing, a few hesitated at the door, wondering if they were at the right establishment. At least one lady took one look, shook her head and turned around, muttering something to the effect that the world had gone crazy. Her safety assured, she finally returned and renewed her subscription.

"It was far from being a normal Monday, but the work was done, with a little more clowning than usual.

We hear The News was not the only business dressed for the occasion, but most still thought we were more than a little unusual.

* * * * *

Continuing in the Halloween mood, my family and I attended a party Saturday night at McCrimmon's Corner.

Now McCrimmon is not what you would call a metropolis. There are about half a dozen houses, one store and a hall. But the population was increased many times over, Saturday, with hundreds of witches, goblins, cartoon characters and various other specimens on the dance floor. And that's not counting the children.

It's astounding what antics people can get into when their faces are hidden from view. I won't embarrass them here.

It was a lot of fun, for both children and adults, proving what most of our readers already know. The best people and the most fun can usually be found in the smallest centres.

About that barley; what's its weight?

From the rail fence
by Anna Margaret MacDonald

"Do you remember how many pounds there are in a bushel of buckwheat?" Paw asked as he came in from the field. It was the type of question where one detects an undertone. Not sharp, direct, expecting a quick answer.

In cases like this the questioner is fairly sure of the answer himself. His answer against yours. And maybe there is going to be a little discussion.

I thought I remembered the right figure. He thought he did too. But then it's been so long since we considered the weight of buckwheat we doubted our own calculations.

I was really provoked with myself for not being certain. I could visualize that page in the old arithmetics that recorded the weights of oats, corn, peas, beans, barley and the whole list of grains. We had to memorize the works. Why now was this particular item so elusive?

Paw decided he would call one of the neighboring houses to see if their memory was any better than ours. It wasn't.

It got to be an interesting evening. Paw called several of the neighbors and found they were all in the same boat as we were—they knew, well they thought they knew, well they weren't sure, they thought they had a book somewhere with the information . . .

And most of them exasperated because they felt they should remember. It turned out, we had seven households confused about the weight of buckwheat. And it wasn't even a Trivial Pursuit question.

It was a haunting question though. As it turned out, most of them pursued the idea and phoned us back. Our daughter-in-law, Mary, found the answer right off; she'd let Paw know. No way was she going to let him get away with taunting, "Well I figured you'd know, after all, aren't teachers supposed to know everything?" Paw likes to get his chuckles from ribbing Mary about the status of teachers.

As it turned out, however, we got our answers. And if you think I'm going to deprive you of the fun of looking it up for yourself, you've got another think coming.

You see, we have two different answers from very qualified sources. Neither one was from that page in the old arithmetic book. And that's the one I'd really believe.

Now that the teenagers are gone and our phone is more accessible, I would like to hear your answers.

If you can bear to wait a week to find out, I promise to let you know the weight next week.

How quitters become winners

by W. Roger Worth

If anyone doubts there are problems with Unemployment Insurance, they need only glance at the staggering cost of running the system: it has more than doubled to about $12-billion dur ing the last few years.

While most Canadians would agree that the jobless should, indeed must, be assisted, there are real concerns that the scheme has become overly generous, providing a disincentive for able individuals to find work, and costing taxpayers money they can't afford to pay.

Consider, for example, a few of the points made by the Canadian Federation of Independent Business in an Ottawa presentation.

•Across the country, more than 200,000 Canadians annually quit their jobs, then collect Unemployment Insurance. In Ottawa's convoluted bureaucratese, these individuals are called "voluntary quits."

The question, of course, is whether such individuals should be allowed the luxury of quitting.

We can all sympathize with the laid off worker, or an individual who had the bad luck to be employed by a company that failed. But quitting voluntarily is something else again.

As the Federation says: "There can be no social rationale for workers and employers who pay the cost of Unemployment Insurance to support a bill of almost $1-billion for these 200,000 individuals who quit."

•Our Unemployment Insurance benefit structures are generous indeed, when compared to other countries. In Canada, for example, some individuals qualify for up to four weeks of benefits for every week worked. Yet in countries such as West Germany, individuals can claim only one week of benefits for every two weeks worked. The Federation suggests Canada move to such a system.

•At the same time, Canadians can draw benefits for a full 50 weeks. Yet in 43 states, our wealthy neighbor to the south only provides benefits for 26 weeks. The other nine provide them for 28 to 36 weeks. The Federation believes the maximum duration of benefits in Canada should be reduced to 26 weeks.

•Canadian eligibility requirements for Unemployment Insurance are lenient by international standards, and this undoubtedly creates problems. When the number of weeks worked in order to be eligible was last raised, for example, the vast majority of claimants found they were able to find a few extra weeks of employment, allowing them to qualify.

The Federation believes individuals should have to work a flat 20 weeks before they qualify for benefits.

•Finally, Unemployment Insurance creates distortions in the system. An individual claiming benefits following work on a high-paying make-work project, for instance, will be reluctant to work at a lower paying job, even if one is available. What's more, unemployment benefits are now as much as $500 per month more than the minimum wages in some provinces.

There's little wonder, then, that the Federation is calling for a public inquiry into Unemployment Insurance. After all, the organization's members and their employees are paying a big slice of what has become a staggering Unemployment Insurance bill.

Williamstown has two new clubs

by Ruth D. Mowat

I was recently talking to a "newcomer" to the area, and we were discussing the variety of activities available to the Williamstown residents. There are the ladies church group, the seniors groups, Brownies and Guides and various sports groups. Many people belong to Cornwall service clubs, the Glengarry Historical Society, the Lancaster Legion and the Women's Institute.

Let's look this week at two of our newer clubs—the Reading Club and the Garden Club.

The Manor House Branch of the Canadian Home Reading Union was formed in Williamstown in 1977. Mrs. E. Edmunds from Martintown was instrumental in organizing this group. The first group was dedicated to the study and discussion of Eminent Victorians. Members involved in this were Mrs. D. F. Martin, Mrs. D. Harrington, Mrs. H. Gourlay, Mrs. G. W. T. Light, Mrs. L. H. Rose, Mrs. E. Edmunds and Miss E. Urquhart.

The object of the Canadian Home Reading Union is to encourage reading and appreciation of good literature.

The Home Reading Union first began in England in 1889, at the home of Lord Aberdeen. Among those present was Frederick Temple, who became Archbishop of Canterbury. The founder of the group was Rev. John Brown Paton, DD.

An Ottawa group began in 1931. John Buchan, Lord Tweedsmuir, when Governor General of Canada, took special interest in the group. His wife, Susan, Lady Tweedsmuir, became Patroness of the Union and remained so until her death in 1977. The funds of the CHRU are used to distribute books to such places a veterans hospitals, Arctic libraries, hospitals, Indian missions, children's libraries and school libraries.

The 1982 roster includes Marjorie Martin, president; Ethel Clark vice-president, Kay Conboy, Kay Arnott, Eileen McDonell, May MacGillivray, Margaret Dean and Thelma Rose.

On June 27, 1976, 14 people gathered together in Charlottenburgh Township Office to form a Garden Club. The name "The Green Thumb Horticultural Society" was chosen.

The first president was Gordon Turnbull; vice-president Margaret Leonard, secretary-treasurer Marjorie Martin, Public relations officer, Ed St. Jean.

It was decided to meet on the last Monday of the month. This is still the society's policy with no meetings in June, July and December, and a flower show held the third Saturday in August.

On April 16, 1981 the society became a chartered member of the Ontario Horticultural Association. To become a member of this association the society had to put Williamstown in the name. "Williamstown Green Thumb Horticultural Society" was chosen.

In 1976 the number of paid up members was 14. Now we have 70 paid up members, and we hope to continue to grow.

Through the years we have had many speakers. A great number of these have been from our own members. There have also been some workshops held on different subjects.

At the November, 1976 meeting the society began having a monthly activity for the members to enter. This was well supported, so the society has been doing this ever since. In August 1980 the society held the first annual flower show. This has become part of the year's program. We also hold a plant auction (from members donations) at our May meeting every year.

Each year the society has participated in community projects to help improve the looks of community buildings. Some of these have been—changing and replanting the bed in front of the Nor'Westers Museum, hanging baskets at the library, annual flowers planted at St. Mary's Church and St. Andrew's United Church.

The Society started by meeting in the Nor'Westers Museum and during the winter months the Char-Lan High School. But since the membership has grown we now meet in St. Mary's Parish Hall, Williamstown, with our annual flower show held in St. Andrew's United Church Hall. The society has also organized a bus trip every year to many interesting places.

This year the society had the honor of being the winners of the Ontario Horticultural Association District 1 Directors Cup. This is won by the society that shows the most achievement and improvement for the previous season. In September 1983 the Williamstown Green Thumb Horticultural Society had the privilege of being the hosts for the 1983 District 1 annual meeting.

Injured in accident

A young Alexandria resident is reported in critical condition in an Ottawa hospital, following a single-car accident early Sunday which injured three others.

Michel Gareau, 17, of 293 Main St. S., was a passenger in a car that went out of control on Kenyon Street near Harrison Street, skidded onto a sidewalk and spun into a fire hydrant.

He was transported to Ottawa General Hospital, where he is reported to remain in a coma.

Another passenger in the car, Sonia Maisonneuve, 12, of RR1, Alexandria, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall following surgery for internal injuries and cuts sustained in the accident. She remains in intensive care.

A third passenger, 13-year-old Brigitte Roy, of RR3, Alexandria, escaped with minor injuries.

The driver, Dale Dumouchel, 17, of RR3, Alexandria, also suffered minor injuries.

He has been charged by Alexandria Police with criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle and with two counts under the Highways Traffic Act.

The accident occurred shortly after 1 a.m. Sunday.

Constables Bob Latreille and Paul Deveau are investigating.

Exchanged vows

Buczynski—Vander Byl

The marriage of Tecla Helena Vander Byl and Raymond Michael Buczynski was solemnized in St. Hedwig's Roman Catholic Church, Oshawa, on August 13, 1983.

Father J. Furman officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vander Byl, RR1, Alexandria.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Buczynski of Oshawa, Ontario.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white full-length wedding gown of chiffon with lace trim and in a Victorian style. Her headpiece was a chiffon hat brought up on one side with an attached veil.

The bride's bouquet contained three orchids, two dozen roses, and an arrangement of stephanotis, baby's breath and greenery.

Monica Burks of Toronto was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Laura Dunk of Toronto, Carolyn Buczynski of Oshawa, sister of the groom, Connie Vander Byl of Alexandria, sister of the bride, and Sandra MacPherson of Toronto.

Both the maid of honor and bridesmaids wore full-length gowns in dusty rose.

Rick Wojnar of Oshawa was best man.

Ushers were Ed Wielgos of Oshawa, Henry Vander Byl of Alexandria, brother of the bride, Frank Erschen of Milton and Lino Natoli of Kitchener.

All male attendants were dressed in gray tuxedos with dusty rose accessories.

The reception was held at General Sikorski Polish Veterans Hall. A customary Polish supper was served to over 300 guests, including visitors from Holland, Poland, America and Korea. The reception featured a very entertaining Polish band.

The couple plan to spend a belated honeymoon in Southern California.

The newlyweds will live in Whitby, Ontario.

Four days for fighting

An Alexandria man whose indecent gesture towards a young lady sparked a fist fight at Alexandria Park July 1 has been given four days in jail to reflect upon his actions.

Henry Lacombe, 22, was handed the short jail term when he appeared in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday charged with causing a disturbance by fighting in a public place.

Court was told the accused approached a young woman during the Canada Day celebrations last July and attempted to "grab her" in the chest area. Two other men who were accompanying the woman intervened and a fight ensued.

Defense counsel Roger Bellefeuille argued his client was under the influence of alcohol and simply having a good time. He said his client attempted merely to touch the woman's shoulder rather than grab her and the fight was started by the other two individuals who objected to his approach.

In his arguments, Mr. Bellefeuille prompted a strong reaction from Crown Attorney Alan Ain when he suggested his client had been treated to some physical abuse by police officers while being arrested and handcuffed.

Mr. Ain interjected the allegations were "totally repugnant" and asked the judge to reject the statement, saying such accusations "could get out of hand."

Judge Reginald Levesque agreed, and warned counsel against making "blanket" statements.

He told the accused he had the option of filing a complaint under the Police Act or swearing out a complaint himself if he wished to pursue his charge.

In imposing sentence, the judge told the accused that he couldn't "go around doing these things" and that his sentence would serve as an example to others.

He then rejected the Crown's suggestion of a fine and sentenced the accused to four days in jail.

Fined for impaired

A Cornwall man was fined a total of $250 and had his driver's licence suspended for three months when he appeared in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday.

Percy Willard, 35, of 413 McConnell Ave., had been charged with impaired driving and failing to comply with a demand for a breathalyzer.

The accused was stopped by Lancaster OPP on August 28 on Highway 2, west of Lancaster, for driving erratically.

He pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $150 on the impaired charge and $100 for refusing the police demand.

He was given four months to pay the fine.

Glance at the Hill

with Denis Ethier, MP, Parliamentary Secretary to Minister of Environment

THE END OF THIS SESSION IS IN SIGHT

In the Speech from the Throne of April 14 our government committed itself to meet the challenges of the '80s. In our view, these challenges were to reduce inflation, to patriate the constitution so as to include a charter of rights and liberties guaranteeing minority linguistic groups the protection of their language.

To us this was crucial for the unity of this country, since the separatists were threatening the anglo minorities in Quebec, thus encouraging other provinces to threaten franco minorities. We had also committed ourselves to introduce legislation providing us with a Long Term National Energy Policy for the Canada of the future.

Notwithstanding the world wide recession that brought severe economic problems to all industrialized countries, including Canada; notwithstanding the strong opposition by our two opposing parties to all the legislation we introduced; notwithstanding the delaying tactics used during those 3½ years, we were able to have Parliament adopt most of our programs. The remaining legislation to be adopted before this session ends is the proposed change to Crows Nest Pass freight rate.

Because of our determination we have reduced inflation from 12.8 per cent to five per cent, the direct result of our "6 and 5" program, which again was opposed at length by our opposition.

We have patriated our constitution, we have included in it a Canadian charter of rights and liberties providing guarantees that minority linguistic rights would never again be threatened such as they were in Quebec and many other provinces. We have adopted a National Energy Policy for the Canada of the future.

It is my hope that by the time my next message gets to you, we will have adopted the legislation to upgrade our rail system in Western Canada, paving the way for a sustained economic recovery, and move in to a new session.

Have a good week!

Man fined $1,000 for stealing liquor

A Maxville-area man who participated in a May 21 break-in at the Angus Gray Hall, which netted $1,016 worth of liquor, was handed a substantial fine when he appeared in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday.

Barry Gorman, 24, was fined $1,000 and placed on probation for one year, during which time he was ordered to abstain completely from alcoholic consumption.

The accused and another individual were arrested by Maxville OPP following the theft of 30 cases of beer and 30 bottles of liquor from a locked cooler, which had been pried open.

All of the liquor, except for one bottle, was subsequently recovered by the police.

Court was told the accused had staged the theft to feed his drinking habits, but efforts had been made to cure his drinking problem.

Judge Reginald Levesque said the court must consider deterence because of the accused's prior criminal record and the planning involved in the break-in. But he said the sentence should also reflect attempts by the accused to change his lifestyle.

Instead of a period of incarceration, the judge said a substantial fine was warranted.

He gave the accused one year to pay the fine.

Keep your kids in their place.

It's always been a good idea. Now it's the law.
On Nov. 1, 1983 toddlers come under the law which requires everyone from newborns to senior citizens to be properly restrained when travelling in a car.
For children this means:
• Infants, up to 9 kilograms (20 pounds) must be properly secured in a rear-facing car seat;
• Toddlers, 9-18 kilograms (20 to 40 pounds), must be in a front-facing car seat in their parents' or guardian's car; otherwise they must be secured by a lap belt;
• Preschoolers, 18-23 kilograms (40 to 50 pounds), must be secured by a lap belt.
• Older children must use the full seat belt assembly.

The funeral was held on Friday, October 28 for mass at St. Alexander's Church, Lochiel at 11 a.m. Rev. Raymond Dumoulin was the celebrant. The parish choir attended.

Burial was in the family plot in the parish cemetery where Father Dumoulin read the graveside prayers.

Pallbearers were six nephews: Ian and Ron McCormick, Danny and Allan O'Brien, R.D. and Allan Chisholm.

The Alexandria Branch Royal Canadian Legion 423 attended in a body Thursday night to pay their last respects to the late brother Comrade Duncan MacDonell when they conducted their service at 8 p.m. Relatives and friends attended from Ottawa, Chesterville, Lancaster, Cornwall and other area points.

George A. Black

A resident of Cornwall, George Arthur Black died on Saturday, October 8, 1983. He had been in declining health for the past two years.

Born May 17, 1919, he was the son of the late John Arthur Black and his wife Florence Hawkins.

On June 21, 1941, he married the former Dorothy McKie and they resided on the family farm in Bainsville, Ontario.

In 1954, he sold the farm and took up residence in Lancaster. He joined the staff of Eastern Breeders Inc. and worked from his home until such time as a branch office opened up. He then became supervisor for the Alexandria Branch office and then transferred to the Chesterville office, until he became ill and had to take early retirement.

In December 1969 he took up residence in Rosedale Terrace, Cornwall.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife Dorothy, one son, Gordon of Nepean, three daughters, Mrs. Wayne Ferguson (Beverley) of Orleans, Mrs. Douglas Britton (Flo) of Mississauga, and Mrs. James Rorison (Bonnie) of Langley, BC, and nine grandchildren, Trevor, Tracey and Tanya Black, Dhana, Shawn and Sheldon Ferguson; Kaelin and Candace Britton; and Tyler Rorison. He is also survived by one brother, Harold of Cornwall; two sisters, Mrs. Muriel McLachlan, Williamstown and Mrs. Wilbert Orr (Irene) of Ormstown, Quebec.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, October 11 in the Chapel of McArthur and MacNeil Ltd. Funeral Home, Cornwall, with Rev. Bill Smith conducting the service. Organist was Mrs. Lillian Cyrcuk and soloist Edwin Waldroff, who sang the favorite hymn: When the Roll is Called up Yonder, I'll be There.

Burial was in St. Andrew's United Church Cemetery, 2nd Concession, Bainsville.

Pallbearers were his six nephews, James Black, Lyall and Wayne McLachlan and Arthur, Melvin, and Mervin Craig.

Honorary pallbearers were F. C. McLennan, Glenn Bender, Russell Craig and Art Rankin.

The many floral tributes and Alzheimer Society contributions received by the family attested to the high regard in which Mr. Black was held.

Friends and relatives were from Kemptville, Brockville, Etobicoke, Ottawa, Kingston, Ormstown, Georgetown, and many points from Western Ontario.

Donald Urquhart

The community was shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Donald Urquhart on Saturday, October 22, 1983, at his home at Dunvegan, at the age of 78.

A lifetime resident of the area he was the eldest son of the late Robert Urquhart and Mary MacLeod.

He is survived by his wife, the former Sarah MacLeod, a sister, Catherine (Mrs. Rodger Hartrick) of Maxville, a sister-in-law Ilene (Mrs. William D. Urquhart) of Cornwall, and a nephew and niece Keith and Irene Urquhart of North Gower.

He was predeceased by two brothers, William Douglas and Gordon.

The funeral was held on Monday, October 24 at the Munro Funeral Home where the service was conducted by Rev. Gordon Fresque. Interment was in the Kenyon Presbyterian Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Robert Urquhart, Rae MacLeod, Angus John MacLeod, Ross Fraser, Lloyd Nixon and Weldon MacIntosh.

Laura Grant

A funeral was held Saturday, October 29, 1983 for Laura Grant, who died October 27 in the Cornwall General Hospital at the age of 99.

Wife of the late Donald A. Grant, she was born in Williamstown and remained a resident of that village until shortly before her death.

She is survived by one son, Milton of Cornwall, and one daughter, Edith of Williamstown. She also leaves one brother, D. R. (Robert) Ferguson of Calgary, Alberta.

Mrs. Grant rested at McArthur Brothers and MacNeil Funeral Home. The funeral was held in St. Andrew's United Church, Williamstown, with interment in the church cemetery.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Ross MacDonald.

Pallbearers were Don Martin, Ed O'Brien, Alpin MacGregor, Ian Kennedy, Raymond Daoust and Stuart Blackadder.

Correction

In the obituary of Stephen Wylie which was published in the paper last week it was reported that he was predeceased by one sister, it should have read "two sisters." The name of Eva Helena Wylie was omitted.

DIFFERENT USE FOR JACK-O-LANTERN—The pumpkin was the subject used for the prayer service at Iona on Monday. We can all hide behind our masks, Father Thomas Villeneuve, left, told the children as Principal Sue Larosa removed the cutouts from the pumpkin revealing the light inside, comparing it to the senses through which we reveal our individual lights, or personalities.

Dunvegan

By Betty Kennedy

Skeletons have taken over the roadside scenery. It has nothing to do with Halloween just past, it's simply that time of year again when so many beautiful trees doff their leaves and bare their branches to the skies.

A few brave leaves still cling around, but soon they too will join the colorful carpets of leaves on lawn and field.

Other signs of winter's onset are denuded gardens, the planting of spring bulbs and, perhaps, one of the most important items, winterizing your car and/or truck.

Sympathy is extended to the family of D. D. MacKinnon, formerly of Dunvegan, who died at the Glengarry Memorial Hospital last week.

Glad to hear John Loewen is improving and home from the Ottawa General Hospital. In the meantime Joyce MacKinnon has been "holding the fort" each morning at the Post Office.

Mary Fraser returned home Sunday after spending some time in Detroit visiting Alex and Jean MacRae, Murdie and Iris MacRae and Jack MacRae.

She also visited her sister Ann and Ewen MacMaster in Weston, Ontario and Isabel Marshall in Toronto.

The regular W.I. meeting was held last Thursday evening when 20 members answered the roll call.

Elizabeth Stewart introduced the guest speaker, Mel McCormick, who gave a discourse on computers and their function in the school curriculum.

Hostesses for the meeting were Dorothy Fresque, Elizabeth Stewart and Kaye MacLean.

In Memoriam

SEGUIN—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ernest Seguin, who departed this life suddenly, Nov. 6, 1963.
This day comes with deep regret
You fell asleep without goodbye
But memories of you will never die.
—Always remembered by loving wife and family. 44-1p

BISSONNETTE—In loving memory of a dear father, Antoine, who passed away Nov. 7, 1979.
What we'd give if we could say
Hello, Dad, in the same old way;
To hear your voice, see your smile,
To sit with you and chat a while.
So you have a father,
Cherish him with care,
For you'll never know the heartache
Till you see his vacant chair.
—Sadly missed by daughter Victoria and son-in-law John Berry. 44-1p

MULLEN—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, John Mullen, who passed away October 21, 1978.
The leaves have fallen once again,
And the sky has turned to grey.
But the loving memories we have of you
Will never fade away.
—Sadly missed by daughter, Elaine, Michel and Roxanne. 44-1p

ROZON—Colette. In loving memory of my dearest wife, Colette, who died suddenly October 31, 1978.
No morning dawns, no night returns,
But that I think of you,
And today again I walk with you
Down through the years gone by,
And though unseen, I feel you near,
As ever by my side.
It seems you left me yesterday,
The pain is still so deep.
Friends may think I've forgotten,
When at times they see me smile,
But little do they know the heartaches
My smile hides all the while.
They told me the memories would dim
And time would heal the pain
But still my pillow is wet with tears.
And I still call your name.
—Forever in my heart, husband Leonide, children Rock, Sylvie. 44-1p

PUBLIC MEETING
Concerning A Proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment

TAKE NOTICE that the council of the Corporation of the Village of Lancaster will hold a public meeting on December 6, 1983 at 7:30 p.m. at the village municipal building to consider a proposed zoning by-law amendment under Section 34 of the Planning Act.

The proposed zoning by-law amendment would change the zone category of approximately 1,051 square metres of land from "Residential First Density (R1)" to "General Commercial (C1)". The lands are located on the north side of Monk Street, west of Highway 34, as shown below. The lands subject of the amendment, and adjacent land fronting Highway 34 (zoned "Commercial (C1), are presently the site of an automobile dealership. This amendment is intended to permit construction of an office building for an insurance agency utilizing both the lands subject of this amendment and the adjacent "Commercial" lands.

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed zoning by-law amendment.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed amendment is available for inspection at my office during regular office hours.

DATED at the Village of Lancaster this 31st day of October, 1983.

Youth addresses Ayrshire men

A young farmer who graduated from Macdonald College and is now associated with his father in Holstein dairy farming, Kevin McDonell of Bridge End was guest speaker at the Glengarry-Prescott Ayrshire banquet held Friday night in Vankleek Hill Anglican Church Hall.

Efficient bookkeeping is one of the keys to successful farming, Kevin said he learned in college, but now that he is in the business finds it is the one job easiest to put off. "However, this is the way to learn how to make every dollar count."

Kevin McDonell

College broadens the outlook and instills confidence in the young to look for a career in the farming community, he advised.

President Ray Newton welcomed everyone and introduced other head table guests: Glengarry Holstein President Alex D. MacLeod and Mrs. MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Howes, Stuart Hall, Dairy Princesses Karen Kennedy and Erin Ryan, and Mrs. Newton. Jeff Lintell proposed a toast to the ladies.

MILK FLOW PRODUCTIVE—Six certificates attest to high milk production in the herd of Malcolm Cumming and Sons, and here sons Alex, left, and Malcolm display the awards received at the Ayrshire Banquet, with a little help from wives Mary and Bonnie, seated. There was one ruby certificate, two gold and three silver.

NFU organizing group in Glengarry

At an open, introductory meeting of the National Farmers Union (NFU) held in Alexandria last Wednesday, Marie Bright, regional co-ordinator for Ontario, told farmers if they wanted to insure a future for family farms in Canada, "they needed to get their rear ends in gear and work to develop a strong organization."

"No group or government is going to do it without a strong lobby force of organized farmers," she said.

Bright said, in her mind, the only farm organization prepared to meet the membership needs was the NFU.

An organization funded by governments, multinationals, or other special interest groups, cannot and will not meet the needs of the family farm community, she said.

The NFU, a voluntary membership organization founded in 1969, is structured to allow for full participation of every member, she said. The Union is entirely funded by farmers. Memberships are $100 per year.

"Farmers have the ability to shape the destiny of agriculture and family farm policies within Canada if they are prepared to form as a united front and take the lead in saying to governments exactly what their needs are," said Mrs. Bright. "No longer can we sit back and let someone else do our work for us. It is not just enough to till the soil, reap the crop and generally be a jack of all trades any longer."

Mrs. Bright also presented the NFU concept of a National Marketing Authority for the red meat industry in Canada, based on the principles of supply management, and orderly marketing.

"We need a standardized grading system, control of imports and exports, along with a guaranteed cost of production formula," she said. "The NFU is the only organization that has developed and promoted pricing policies for agricultural commodities."

Mrs. Bright challenged any farmer, or farm organization, to show her a free market.

"You're free to go bankrupt and that's all," she said.

The free market system in the red meat industry is not working, she said.

There are few buyers in the market and corporations long ago agreed that the key to survival in the food industry would be co-operation and not competition, she added.

The dilemma of the red meat producers in Canada can only be solved in the long term with a controlled system, she said. "Farmers, if they want a viable income, must accept regulations on themselves, and through a government body, hire the best possible people to handle the product.

"Canadian people must soon be made aware of the fact that a cheap food policy of the Canadian government is fast leading Canada to corporate control of the total food industry, and we're well on our way to being a Third World Country," said Mrs. Bright. "If we sound like we are alarmists, it's meant to wake up consumers and farmers alike.

"In the 1950's consumers spent about 28 per cent of their disposable income on food, without all the fancy packaging and the convenience we have now. Today consumers spend approximately 18 per cent of disposable income on food; at whose expense? At the expense of the family farmers."

Mrs. Bright said it was horrendous to think of Canada, a country with the capability of producing twice the needs of the Canadian population, being a major importer of food.

"Farmers and consumers alike are going to have to work together to make the political policy changes to turn this trend around," she said. "It must start now. Family farms cannot survive many more years and if we continue in a split, disorganized manner, our children will read in history books about our rural communities and family farms. We can't survive another decade. The time for action is now."

Bright said the Union this year is going to go county by county, township by township, door to door, giving an opportunity for people to join and act within the NFU. To this end Dave Beevor, an NFU staff person and organization officer in Eastern Canada, will be committing full-time to assisting farm groups organize at the local level.

Mr. Beevor told the group an effective farm organization starts locally, but farmers must be prepared to work at developing their organization.

"We can help with workshops, programs, typing, photo-copying, canvassing, issue identification, member recruitment and other support services, but you must take the responsibility to develop the organization at the local level," he said.

Mr. Beevor gave each member in attendance membership applications and asked each person to recruit another member, and bring them along to a meeting scheduled Tuesday, November 1 at the OMAF Board Room, 7:30 to 10: p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to elect a local executive and begin a process for programs and action.

Following the meeting a membership drive will take place in Glengarry and the new local leadership will have the opportunity to participate in a leadership school.

People wishing more information are asked to write or call Mr. Beevor or Marie Bright at the NFU's Ontario office, (519) 836-2515, or write 5 Douglas St., Guelph, Ontario, or attend the organizing meeting, November 1.
