Fungus disease leaves seven youths critically ill

Clever diagnostic analysis by Dr. Donal Conway of Lancaster has pinpointed a severe and rare illness which has hospitalized seven young males from the Lancaster area.

In Hotel Dieu and Cornwall General Hospitals are Jeff Fisher, 21, and his brother, Randy, 19, sons of Arthur and Audrey Fisher of Summerstown; Roger Leblanc, 27, of Cornwall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leblanc of Lancaster; Michael Andre, 22, and his brother, Mark, 16, sons of Mrs. Helen Andre of Lancaster and Marcel DesGroseilliers, 16, son of Mrs. Gilles Bedard of Lancaster.

In Etobicoke General Hospital in Toronto is Gordon MacKay, 21, son of Keith and Violet MacKay of Lancaster.

The victims are seriously ill with a virulent fungus emanating from bird droppings. This has attacked their lungs and they are weak from fluctuating fever changes which sometimes reach 105°, loss of appetite and varying conditions of distress depending on the individual.

The patients are being treated with a rare and potent drug, which at this point is probably responsible for saving their lives, but which also has various unpleasant side effects.

Bits of information pieced together which led to the diagnosis by Dr. Conway sound like a good plot for a "Quincy" TV drama but the local real-life tragedy is one of community concern and sympathy for the families involved and is far from entertainment.

The victims suffered first from symptoms which appeared to be an ordinary flu virus but as their temperatures rose to alarming heights, one by one, they visited Dr. Conway. The co-incidence of so many suffering from the unusual symptoms and the fact that they were not responding to the usual treatment for fever, caused the doctor to probe further for a diagnosis and he inquired if any of them had worked around hen houses or poultry of any kind. It appeared they hadn't.

He finally learned that they had all worked together back on March 3, helping one of the group to dismantle the interior of a house on the King's Road east of Martintown. The building had been vacant for some time. Fungus on bird droppings was discovered in the plaster dust of the walls and from this the men had acquired the disease.

Gordon MacKay had gone to Orangeville to take a hydro lineman's course and he had been taken to the hospital in Toronto with symptoms similar to the men here. Doctors found the disease identical.

Steven Fourney, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fourney who had also worked on the project and left for a trip to Honduras had been reported to have had flu symptoms before he left and Dr. Conway was anxious to trace him down as he felt if he had inhaled the fungus, his lungs would not stand a plane ride home in such a condition. Fourney was not stricken, being the only lucky one of those exposed to the disease.

Dr. Conway said yesterday the condition is not uncommon in Glengarry in a milder form and the disease is often referred to as "Glengarry lung."

However, the disease in "acute" form is "extremely rare" and there are only a dozen or so recorded cases of outbreaks in North America.

The fungus is present in bird droppings. When the droppings dry out, the fungus forms spores which can be carried in dust and inhaled.

Birds, bats and other animals carry the disease, but it is only dangerous in concentrated form. It is not contagious.

The youths received "massive exposure" from inhaling dust all day from their demolition work.

Old, deserted houses and barns in the area are dangerous and people doing work inside these structures should definitely use a "good industrial type mask" to protect themselves, the doctor said.

Chicken houses are also a potential threat if they are not cleaned regularly and become dusty.

Dr. Conway's knowledge of this illness traces back to his days as a colonel in the Royal Army Medical Corps when he saw extensive service in the Middle East. A specialist in tropical medicine and public health, he served in Egypt, Cyprus, Malta, Libya and Jordan. Here, doctors became familiar with spores in old buildings and caves.

Archaeologists who died soon after exploring the interior of King Tut's tomb in Egypt in 1922 are thought to have succumbed to this type of fungus because the disease was not treated. The affliction was blamed on a famed curse which appeared on the tomb's entrance and warned of death to those who disturbed the pharaoh's sleep.

Ancient caves in Mexico were noted for similar incidents.

Dr. Conway meanwhile is maintaining a special vigilance over the latest victims and a network of prayer throughout the community is accompanying his efforts.

Staff given raise

Alexandria town staff were given an eight per cent raise yesterday.

Council will also cover 100 per cent of the cost of a new dental plan.

The pay hike will bring the clerk's pay to $22,332.95 and the deputy clerk's to $14,374.52.

The stenographer will make $10,832.42 and the roads superintendent will receive $9.03 per hour.

Pay range for public works employees will be $4.47 to $6.27.

Alexandria's fire fees up by 200 per cent

Adjacent townships will be hit with increases of up to 200 per cent if they use Alexandria's fire services in 1979.

Town council decided yesterday to boost the stand-by rates for Lochiel and Kenyon Townships from $1,000 to $3,000 per year.

The stand-by rate for Lancaster Township jumps from $800 to $2,500 and for Charlottenburgh Township from $600 to $1,500.

Townships who call on Alexandria firefighters for assistance will also see their equipment charges double.

For the first hour, town equipment will cost $250, compared to last year's rate of $125. For the second hour, the equipment charge will be $150, up from $75 and for additional hours, the rate is up from $25 to $50.

Council also agreed that any time a member of the fire department has to attend a hearing, he will be paid $50 a day, "which is to be charged back to municipalities when applicable."

The car allowance for attending fires is up from $8 to $10, the Sunday duty officer fee doubles from $10 to $20 and the fire chief's car and meeting allowance doubles from $600 to $1,200.

Council will also ask MP Denis Ethier to support a change in legislation that would increase the tax deductable portion of firefighters' salaries from $300 to $1,000.

Firefighters' pay rates will stay the same. Officers receive $13 per hour; a man with six or more years experience receives $9, a man with three to five years experience gets $7 and a probationary officer receives $6.

However, council decided the first hour on the scene will be paid at double time.

Town may appeal to federal cabinet

Town Council decided yesterday to hire lawyer Larry Filion to represent Alexandria in its appeal against Anti-Inflation Act Administrator T. H. McLeod.

McLeod ruled earlier this month that Alexandria must return to the federal government $23,000 overpayment in employees' 1977 and 1978 salaries.

Mayor Jean Paul Touchette said the order "didn't make sense" and said the town is prepared to take the matter to the cabinet.

Under the Act, the town has 30 days to appeal to the cabinet and 60 days to appeal to the Anti-Inflation Board Appeal Tribunal. It can take either route or both.

Although the town exceeded wage guidelines in 1977 and 1978, the major item of dispute is McLeod's ruling that accumulated sick leave benefits and overtime pay must be included in calculating income for the years.

In April, 1978, the town and staff agreed to terminate an old sick days benefit plan by paying the employees their accumulated benefits totalling $25,400.

Half the amount was paid in 1978 with the other half to be paid in 1979.

The administrator's office ruled these funds must be included as income for the year.

McLeod ordered the town to recover $8,000 from the employees, themselves, by December 31. The remaining $15,000 is to come from town coffers.

Truck rolls

For the second time in three weeks, a tractor-trailer has rolled on the curve on Highway 401 just west of Curry Hill.

Thursday the truck driven by Edward McCormick of Barrie, Ontario, went into the south ditch on the eastbound side of the 401. Three weeks ago a similar truck flipped into the median of the same corner.

McCormick suffered minor injuries, but the vehicle damage was assessed at $82,000.

'Everyone's a winner'

Canoe race on Sunday

"Everyone's a winner" is the theme selected for The Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race this year.

Everyone who finishes the 21-mile event—to be held this Sunday—will receive a bronze medal.

The Raisin Region Conservation Authority, which sponsors the annual event, said the Olympic-type medals are being awarded in an attempt to return the race to its original concept of being a participatory "fun day."

The event has become very competitive in recent years and semi-professional racers from out of the area continue to capture the top prizes, the Authority noted.

This year the first-place winners in the men's, mixed and women's categories will receive large gold medals; second place finishers will receive silver and third place finishers, bronze.

The men's event has been expanded to include 10 top awards. Those finishing third to 10th will receive the large bronze medal.

All other competitors who cross the finish line in Williamstown by the 5 p.m. deadline will receive smaller bronze medals.

A few other changes have been made this year.

The race begins at noon and registration at 10:30.

The 20-minute bonus formerly given to canoeists who jumped the Martintown dam will be eliminated. Winners will be picked on the basis of their straight time completing the route, regardless of whether they portage or not.

A warning system will be established at the dam and canoeists will only be held back from jumping if another competitor is trapped in the backwater.

The canoes will be launched three per minute from St. Andrews School and a meal will be waiting at the finish line for spectators and competitors alike.

The meal is sponsored by St. Mary's Parish and will be held in the school.

Last year, 119 canoes registered for the event. About 6,000 spectators turned out.

Participants may obtain a full list of the rules by contacting the Conservation Authority at 528-4584.

Glengarry doctors sticking with OHIP for now—Nadeau

Alexandria physician Dr. Jean Claude Nadeau told The News that the five doctors who practice out of Glengarry Memorial Hospital will probably stay with OHIP.

Dissatisfaction with the health insurance plan has driven some doctors in Ontario to opt out of the plan forcing their patients to pay the physician directly and bill OHIP later for part of the fee.

But in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties 98 per cent of the doctors are staying on with the government plan. This is the highest retention rate around.

In Renfrew 97.8 per cent of the doctors participate in OHIP—but in Leeds-Grenville 89 per cent of the doctors have stayed in.

"It's very difficult for doctors in small towns and rural areas to opt out of OHIP," Nadeau explained.

"If the rural doctor leaves, many of his patients will simply switch to another doctor who is under OHIP rather than pay the increased fees and go through the paper work of billing OHIP themselves."

Nadeau also felt that people would not take kindly to filling out their own forms.

Nadeau emphasized, "it's not to say we doctors here are satisfied with OHIP the way it is. We are dissatisfied with the

Damage by ice

The ice on Lake St. Francis broke up in the Curry Hill area during Monday night and the surging ice is battering many boathouses along the shoreline.

Mrs. Real Larocque, a resident of that area for 37 years, reports it is the first time the St. Lawrence ice has risen so damagingly. She says water now covers the ice on the lake and the ice cakes have been forced up to batter boathouses that normally are safe because of the high shoreline.

OMB to rule on by-law

The Ontario Municipal Board will conduct a hearing Wednesday, April 25, into Lochiel Township's proposed zoning by-law.

Over 60 residents sent comments into the township when the by-law was passed by council in 1977.

Clerk Elmer McNaughton said many people were simply seeking clarification of the points in the by-law, not necessarily objecting to it.

The by-law would implement the Glengarry Official Plan and place development controls on land in the township.

The open hearing will commence at 10 p.m. and the board will hear all people who have filed expressions of concern.

The board can then approve the by-law in its existing form or amend it.

NDP opens office and lists some election planks

Brian Peters, NDP federal candidate for Stormont-Dundas, has stepped up his campaign in anticipation of the upcoming federal election.

He is the first candidate in the riding to choose an election headquarters, to be officially opened next Friday.

In a speech to party supporters of the local provincial association, Mr. Peters outlined some of the issues on which he intends to concentrate during the campaign.

"The NDP's national platform to introduce a comprehensive energy and industrial strategy conforms with my own campaign slogan "Put people first," he said.

"The merits of every aspect of these programs are judged according to the benefits that will result to the people of Canada—not to big business, foreign governments or Imperial Oil. It is simply disgraceful, that we have lost control of our own economy to the extent that a multinational like Imperial Oil could actually reduce committed supplies of oil to us, without consulting the government of this country.

"How much more proof does the federal government need that Canada must become involved in production of our own resources? Simply becoming involved in purchasing is not enough, but even this is considered too bold a step by the Conservatives. And I suspect the Liberals tentative support of Petrocan is merely election posturing."

Peters said everyone in Canada should stop buying gas and fuel from Imperial's Esso stations.

"At least we can show them as consumers that we can't be pushed around like our present government."

The NDP candidate stressed that a comprehensive energy strategy is vital to Canada's future as an industrialized economy.

"Our only long-term solution to the falling dollar is through improved development of our secondary processes, which are presently falling behind world competitors.

"We should be processing our own primary resources for export and providing full support of research and development in specific areas. This would give us an edge in the international market and create jobs at home."

Peters told the audience that in his job as an Air Canada pilot, he has seen a terrible waste of our manpower across the country particularly among the young.

"Why can't we employ Canadians in Canadian companies, processing Canadian products?" he asked.

"Why do we have to rely on foreign-owned companies to process our food for example? Does this provide higher prices to the farmer or lower prices to the consumer? Certainly not. In fact the reverse is true."

Peters told the audience he supports NDP leader Ed Broadbent in his commitment to push for a Food Prices Review Board, with powers to rollback unjustified increases.

"We know that these increases are occurring after the product has left the farm and yet the farmer often gets the blame. Our rollbacks would finger the real culprits."

The candidate justified singling out one sector for controls by comparing the need with that brought about the introduction of provincial rent controls.

"Food is a necessity of life, and with housing, accounts for the major portion of the average Canadian's budget. It is too important to be subject to gross over-speculation."

Peters, who is also a lawyer, indicated he would be taking a leave of absence from Air Canada during much of the campaign period in order to meet with as many constituents as possible.

Federal government's auditor-general will open this year's Highland Games

J. J. Macdonell, auditor-general of Canada, will open the Glengarry Highland Games in Maxville on Saturday, August 4.

A native of Calgary, Mr. Macdonell has taken on a high profile since his appointment to the role of auditor-general. The auditor-general is the public servant who keeps a sharp eye out for waste in federal spending.

The Glengarry Highland Games is again expected to attract up to 40 pipe bands for the North American Pipe Band Championship.

Current champions are the Macnish Pipe Band of St. Thomas, Ontario. They are expected to be back along with such worthy challengers as the Guelph Pipe Band, the Clan MacFarlane Band of St. Catharines, the Toronto and District Pipe Band, the General Motors Band of Oshawa and the Toronto Scottish.

Also in attendance will be the Denny and Duniface Band of Washington, D.C., the Worchester Kilties from Massachusetts. Many of these are champion class bands which are familiar to Highland Games crowds in Maxville, Ontario.

This will be the 32nd annual edition of the Games in this village of 800. Crowds have been averaging 20,000 for many years. The grounds are spacious and there is plenty of camping and parking space.

In his letter of acceptance as Games guest of honor, Mr. Macdonell said, "I am proud of my Glengarry ancestry and I look forward to meeting you at Maxville."

Alexandria Library schedules events

The Alexandria Public Library has started scheduling the Spring-Summer "Special Programs."

The first program will be on Friday, April 20, at 7 p.m. with Farley Mowat. He is a distinguished Canadian author and wildlife expert. His story, "The Curse of the Viking Grave," is a gripping tale of four youths of different ethnic backgrounds who make an exciting trek across the barren lands of Canada's North in search of Viking relics.

Music, lore, friendship, history and geography of Canada's north are all woven together in this fascinating and entertaining play.

On Monday, April 30, at 7 p.m., we will have a program on wild plants with a demonstration, display and talk by two members of Rideau Crafts. People are invited to come and explore the woods and fields and enjoy what can be learned from what nature provides.

This program will cover the practical and decorative uses of wild plants with an ecological bias. A small display of books from Rideau Lakes Union Library will be displayed.

Town now has a bondsman

Alexandria recently acquired the services of a bondsman, good for up to $500,000 on the spot. Until now the nearest bondsman was in Montreal, Kingston or Toronto.

The service comes in the form of Ronald Masson, president of Masson Insurance in Alexandria. He was given the power of attorney to issue bonds by Dominion Insurance.

This all happened concurrently with Masson's appointment by Pauline McGibbon, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, as a commissioner of oaths and affidavits.

The town clerk is the other Alexandria person authorized to take oaths and affidavits.

government constantly meddling in our affairs."

Nadeau described himself as "a civil servant, and I didn't expect that when I went to medical school—but that monthly OHIP cheque makes me an employee of the government."

Nadeau admitted that belonging to OHIP "is certainly better for us financially. We don't have to go to the expense of billing the patients monthly, but it is the future which worries me as the government takes over more and more control of my profession."

"They pay—they call the tune," he said.

Nadeau said doctors fear complete control by the government because they don't want quantity and quality of patient care dictated by government committees.

Nadeau said that few local doctors have left in disgust over the issue. Only one specialist from Cornwall has shifted his practice to the U.S.

"But we miss his expertise."

Lancaster takes Intermediate B championship in four straight

Lancaster doubled Glen Nevis 6-3 in the fourth game of the Intermediate B Hockey League finals on Sunday to take the championship and the new trophy donated by the Glengarry Sports Shop.

The team also took the trophy for leading during the regular season. The award was donated by Jacques Legault.

The Lancaster team jumped to a first period four-goal lead that put the game away. Al Laframboise, Tom Ross, Mort Belmore and Kerry McKay were the first period guns.

At the half-way mark of the much closer second period, Belmore connected for his second to make it 5-0.

The Glen Nevis team, playing with only 13 men compared to 20 for Lancaster, came alive at the end of the second period with a goal by Finley McLeod.

They narrowed the gap to 5-2 at 7:53 of the final period on a goal by Lucien Brisebois.

The Lancaster squad was not letting up, however, and scored only 20 seconds later to make it a four-goal margin again. The marker came from Kerry McKay for his second.

The Glen Nevis players never gave up and ended the scoring two minutes later when Ian Sandilands slid a sharp angle shot under Lancaster goalie Marc Gareau.

Lancaster won the second and third games of the series in convincing manner. The third game was 8-2 and the second was 10-3.

Glens down 2 to 1, series resumes tonight

by Carl Rines

The opening game of the final series last Wednesday was not a happy occasion for the Alexandria Jr. B Glens as they dropped a 6-4 decision to the South Ottawa Canadians.

Perhaps the late hours are catching up to some of the players as the Glens just did not seem to be in the game.

Ottawa opened the scoring at 5:28 with a goal from Mike Maita. Andy Shaver and Ed Sunstrum picked up assists.

The Glens evened the score at 5:46 with Sandy MacDonell getting an unassisted goal. The local squad went ahead at 12:36 on a goal by Dougie Campbell with Lajoie and Poirier assisting.

The lead was short lived as Ottawa bounced back with the tying goal at 13:06 from Brad Jotham. The goal was unassisted.

Ottawa then went ahead, never to look back, at 15:26. Dave McDonell found the opening with help from Marc Martin. The period ended 3-2 in favor of Ottawa.

The second period belonged completely to Ottawa as the team held the Glens scoreless while scoring twice themselves. Ottawa's first goal of the period came at 4:39 from Ed Sunstrum. It was unassisted. Some sharp goaltending by Robert Hartley made the period a little bit respectful for the Glens as Ottawa set up a solid defence while carrying the play to the Glens.

Ottawa got its second goal of the period at 13:26 from Brad Jotham. Dan Meeker assisted. Four penalties were assessed during the period with two going to each team.

The third period was by far the Glens best period as they outscored Ottawa 2-1. Glen MacDonell got the Glens on the scoreboard with a shorthanded goal at 3:33. It was unassisted.

Penalties played a big role in the third period as the Glens ran into trouble trying to get back in the game.

The second goal came at 13:28 with Jacques Lajoie finding the mark. Poirier and Desautels scored.

Ottawa got the final goal into an empty net as the Glens pulled their goalie in an attempt to get the equalizer. Brad Jotham who had the hat trick for Ottawa scored both the winning and insurance goals.

GLENS 4, OTTAWA 1

With some hot goaltending from Robert Hartley and some good forechecking from his teammates, the Alexandria Jr. B Glens evened the score with South Ottawa by defeating the visitors 4-1 at the Sports Palace before 900 partisan fans on Friday evening.

The first period saw the Glens get the jump on Ottawa with strong forechecking. Ottawa could not get anything started as the locals broke up play after play. Laurie McRae finally found the mark behind Mark Hoople and put the Glens ahead 1-0. The time of the goal was 15:41 and Mike Crack and Sandy MacDonell assisted on the play. The period ended 1-0.

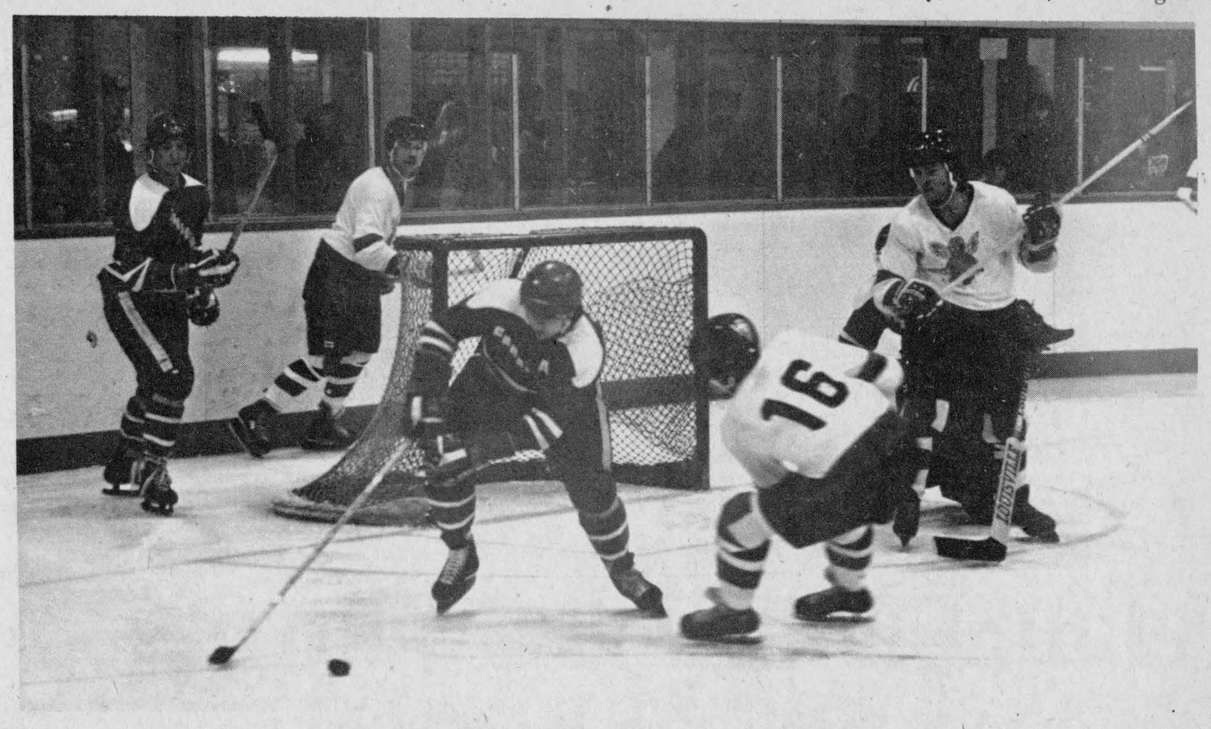
The Glens kept to their game plan in the second period and again carried the play to Ottawa. Leo Seguin made it 2-0 on a goal from Mike Zappia and Luc Poirier at 3:19.

Ottawa showed no signs of giving up and finally put one past Robert Hartley at 7:58. The period ended 2-1 in favor of the Glens.

With continued strong skating and forechecking the Glens were not to be denied their win. Ottawa was thrown completely off stride as the Glens kept up their relentless attack. Ottawa was kept off the scoreboard but the Glens tallied twice more to win the game 4-1.

Leo Seguin who scored the hat trick tallied at 6:24 with assists going to Kormanyos and Glenn MacDonell. His third goal came at 16:10 of the period with Kormanyos and MacDonell again drawing assists.

This ended the scoring for the game and drew the Glens into a 1-1 tie in the series. The next home game will be on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the Sports Palace.



GLENS DISPLAY TEAMWORK—Sandy MacDonell, left, Yvan Desautels (16), and Chris Kormanyos battle with South Ottawa at the Sports Palace on Friday night. The Glens won the game 4-1. Ottawa won on Sunday, however, to go ahead in the playoff series.

Rebels win series over Embrun

by Stewart Fourney

Our local Char-Lan Rebels eliminated the Embrun 72s in the Junior C semi-finals with a convincing 10-1 drubbing.

The Rebels pumped in six first period goals to start things off in style. Kevin Fontaine struck after only 38 seconds of play on a set-up by Marc Seguin and Lee Sheets.

A minute later, Mitchell MacDonald put one up high in the net to make it 2-0. Dale Lafave and Ray Bourdon assisted on the play.

Half-way through the period, Ray Bourdon sped in all alone after lead passes from Dale Lafave and Kenton Spink to pick up his first of three in the game.

With 3:50 left in the first, Harvey Primeau and Fontaine put on a fine display of passing, finally getting it to Lloyd Fourney for a back-hander up high in the Embrun net.

Only 35 seconds later, Mitchell MacDonald picked up his second goal, this one assisted by Bill McBean and Bourdon.

McBean and Bourdon teamed up to assist again on Kenton Spink's period-ending goal.

Coming out in the second period, Fourney picked up his second goal when he interrupted a clearing pass deep in Embrun territory and put it past the back-up goalie.

One minute later Bourdon got his second goal on a nice set-up by MacDonald and Primeau. Then with 5:53 left in the period, Bourdon made it 9-0 with his third goal and sixth point. Assisting on the play were Claude Bourck and MacDonald.

Embrun finally got on the scoreboard just 12 seconds later when Daniel Brayer set up Luc Dagnaise for the final marker in that period.

In the third period Embrun had plenty of chances to score, but Ricky Marleau in the home team net held the fort with some nice saves. Our Rebels weathered six Embrun power plays without allowing one goal, in a game that saw a total of 38 penalties.

Harvey Primeau ended the scoring on a set-up by Lee Sheets late in the period.

The Rebels now face Finch in the eight-point final series. Coach Wendell Lafave expects this to be a great series as Finch got to the finals by beating the Maxville Highlanders. The Highlanders lost only three regular season games.

The first game will be in Williamstown on Thursday, March 29, at 8 p.m. and the second will be in Finch on Saturday, March 31.

Lanc. Inn Peewees finalists in Russell

The Char-Lan Lancaster Inn Peewees were A finalists in the Russell hockey tournament last Friday.

In their first game they blanked Vanier 2-0. Roddie McKenzie did all the damage, with assists by Peter Kannon on the first goal and Mike Rose on the second.

The boys had to work a little harder in the second to edge Riverside 2-1. Rose and McKenzie were the marksmen, both with unassisted goals.

The Char-Lan players ran out of steam in the third game against the strong Alta Vista Peewees. The Ottawa club blanked the local team 4-0. Roddie McKenzie was chosen the MVP for Lancaster Inn.

Mike McDougall and Robert Hope each blasted two to lead the Dan's Place scorers against Wereley's. Adding singles were Brent McDonell, Kim Lapierre and Warren Murray. Shawn Casey got both of the gasmen's goals.

NOVICE

In Novice playoff action, the Martintown and Williamstown Fire Departments were the winners over Gadbois Graders and MacDonald's Grocery respectively.

In Martintown's 5-1 win it was Chris McPhail and Serge Carriere with two each plus a single by Christopher McBean. Jeff Legge netted the lone Gadbois marker.

Blake MacDonell led the Williamstown squad with a hat trick in their 6-2 win over MacDonald's. Jody Flaro added a pair and Devon MacDonald got one for the Fire Department. Jason Fraser picked up both of the Grocer's goals.

Midget Glens lose finals in overtime

The Alexandria Midget Glens lost in sudden death overtime to Cornwall in the Cornwall Tournament last Sunday.

The Glens won the first game against Gatineau 5-0. Andre Lortie, Wayne McSweyn, Grant Crack, Kieran McCormick and Sylvain Gareau picked up the goals. Assists were by Ronnie Allison and Andre Cholette with two, and singles by Grant Crack and Rob MacDonald.

The second game, against the Cornwall Minors, was a sizzler. After the third period it was tied 2-2, so the teams played a scoreless sudden-death overtime period. Next it was penalty shots and Grant Crack potted his second goal while Serge Prud'homme turned aside the Cornwall attempt.

The other Alexandria goal was by Rob MacDonald, assisted by Crack and Frankie Morris. Cornwall's two goals were by Norm Hurtubise and Steve Burke.

The A championship game saw the Glens take on the other Cornwall team. The Alexandria boys came from behind to lead 4-2, but with less than four minutes left Cornwall tied it up to send it into overtime.

Kevin Blue scored the winner for Cornwall in the sudden death situation for his second goal. Also scoring for the winners were David Vestra, Marc Lalonde and Bernard Cardinal.

For Alexandria it was Frankie Morris with two and Andre Lortie and Andre Cholette with singles.

The next action for the Midget Glens will be in Long Sault for the second game of a two-game total goal series. The local boys hold a 6-1 edge after their 6-1 win here last week.

Schedule for tourney

The arrangements for this weekend's Minor Hockey Tournament of Champions is nearing completion and the town of Alexandria is gearing itself for the upcoming invasion of Peewee and Midget teams.

The Alexandria Peewee Glens play their first game early Saturday morning. They face Richmond at 8:30 in the semi-finals for Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec. All games are at the Sports Palace.

The second Peewee game is 9:35, when Petawawa faces I[illegible] frew for the right to play in the finals.

At 10:40 the Midgets take over, Vanier taking on Perth. Petawawa, the only place to enter two teams, then sends its Midgets against Osgoode-Rideau at 11:55.

The finals in the Peewee division will be played at about 6 p.m. At 7 p.m. the Midget finalists will battle it out.

Hope's take championship

Hope's Auto Parts defeated Starr Taxi 1-0 in overtime to take the A championship of the Alexandria Ladies' Broomball League.

In the other final series game last Wednesday, Sealtest took the B championship by edging GTL 2-1.

Hope's lone goal came from Suzanne Dupuis. The team ended up third in the standings in the regular season behind Starr Taxi and Sealtest.

Sealtest got both of its goals from Pam MacCulloch, with assists by Karen MacDonald and Carol Riley.

Consolidated Textiles moves to finals

Consolidated Textiles defeated ABS 2-1 last Thursday to win the semi-final soft puck series four games to one.

The first period was scoreless, but both teams scored in the second, John Dumouchel for the Textile men and Robert Decoste for ABS.

Edward (Butch) McFadden scored the winner for Consolidated at the 4:22 mark of the third period. ABS had numerous chances to tie the game, but goalie Doug Meldrum held them at bay.

BETTY BREAD LEADS

Betty Bread has taken a three to one lead in games in the semi-final series as a result of their 3-2 overtime win over Trottier-Ford.

Mike Vaillancourt provided the scoring punch for Trottier by scoring a goal in each of the first two periods to give them a 2-0 lead.

With 10 seconds left in the second period, Robert Quesnel blasted a blueline slap shot past the tractor men's goalie, Bruno Depratto, to give the breadmen their needed lift.

With only 3:31 left to play in the third period, Robert Quesnel scored again on a play similar to his first to send the game in to overtime.

Trottier-Ford went into the overtime for the third time playing one man short.

Goalie Mario Chenier was able to keep his net clean until his captain Robert Quesnel broke away on a two-man break and score his third goal of the game, to give Betty Bread the victory.

Further playoff games are being played at 9 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays.

Reforestation plan explained to WI

by Mrs. Mackie Robertson

Members at the recent Bainsville Women's Institute meeting and guests answered the roll call with several good ideas: What is one way to stretch a dollar? Don't shop when you are hungry. Try to make it, bake it or grow it yourself, rather than buying it. Watch for those specials and of course—want less.

Did you know that some parts of plants and foods are poisonous? Mrs. E. Urquhart replied to this motto and explained that information on these common plants was not readily available in gardening books, and that when these plants and seeds are sold—castor beans, poinsettia, etc.—the poisonous parts of the plant should be explained and this attached to the package.

Mrs. Rena Upton gave a report on the recent district executive meeting. Mark May 14 on your calendar for the district annual meeting.

The guest speaker for the evening was Art Marvin, the private land forestry representative from the Ministry of Natural Resources. Several ladies brought their husbands along for this meeting as Mr. Marvin's talk included many aspects of forestry of interest to farmers and landowners.

Mr. Marvin briefly outlined his own interest and education toward forestry then went into the basics where the forestry ministry can serve the public.

If a landowner has at least five acres of land suitable for reforesting, the ministry will give considerable help to assist him in getting this land into a very valuable and certainly useful crop.

The ministry will help with questions on any amount of land where reforesting is considered—grass and insect control, the type of trees to plant, how to order them at a very economical cost, and when and how to plant these seedlings.

A question and answer period followed Mr. Marvin's talk.

Our next meeting will be held April 4 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd McRae. This will be our branch annual meeting.

Seniors receive grant

Another area group will receive a grant under the federal government's New Horizons Program. Stormont-Dundas MP Ed Lumley has announced that Health and Welfare Minister Monique Begin has approved a grant of $5,997 for a senior citizens group in the Township of Cornwall called the Evergreens.

The Evergreens will use the grant to furnish and equip a room in the new Bonville Community Centre which has been provided to them on a rent-free basis by the Township of Cornwall.

The group hopes to acquire equipment and supplies necessary for the various activities the Evergreens plan on organizing.

In announcing this grant, Lumley congratulated the Evergreens "for their initiative in applying for and obtaining this grant. Moreover, I want to recognize the municipal government's contribution of the space in the Centre.

The addition of the New Horizons grant to the township's assistance provides a splendid example of how the different levels of government can co-operate to enrich the lifestyles of our respected senior citizens."

New Horizons grants are made available for retired citizens groups to create projects of their choice which benefit themselves and others in their community.

To date 49 grants amounting to over $380,000 have been awarded to 41 area groups under the New Horizons Program since its inception in 1973.

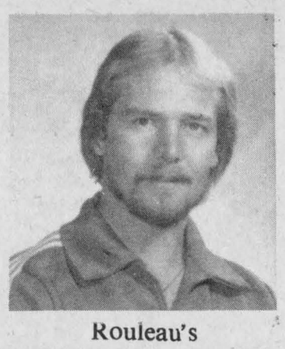
These representatives have chosen Marc Brunet as president and Linda Ramsay as vice-president. Both Marc and Linda will represent our school during Education Week. Our best to you both!

Our thanks go out to Miss Julia Lombardia for filling in for Miss Agathe Seguin during her week of illness.

On March 13, Marc Renaud joined our school. He is in Grade 7 and belongs to Group 11. Welcome Marc to our school and much success.



Rouleau's Teacher of the Week

Mr. Theo Oetelaar needs very little introduction as he has become a well-known figure through his participation in many sports activities, particularly in the Glen Robertson area, but also on the Glengarry scene.

Mr. Oetelaar is also well-known for the evening courses in badminton that he dispenses to adults at GDHS.

Mr. Oetelaar has been with the Rouleau School staff since its opening in 1972 and has fulfilled the duties of physical education and history teacher.

He also organizes intra-mural and extra-mural activities for the Grade 8 boys who have benefitted from his many sportsmanlike qualities during all these years.

Ontario publishes survey on recreation activities

Publication of a major survey covering 10,230 Ontario residents has been announced by Provincial Secretary for Resources Development Rene Brunelle.

The publication, entitled "Tourism and Recreational Behavior of Ontario Residents" is comprised of eight volumes. Each volume covers a different aspect of information derived from the Ontario Recreation Survey.

The Ontario Recreation Survey, launched in 1973-74, is probably the most comprehensive of its kind in Canada. It was undertaken by the province's Tourism and Outdoor Recreation Planning Study Committee which is directly responsible to Brunelle.

"The primary purpose of the survey was to provide information on the recreational behavior of Ontario residents," Brunelle said. "The results will allow the provincial government to gain a better insight into various aspects of recreational behavior of Ontario residents."

Brunelle said the survey results should be of value to recreation and tourism planners and managers at all levels of government and the private sector.

The survey was initiated with a 24-page questionnaire covering 73 different activities. It was found that swimming, recreational driving, picnicking, attending an annual event, walking, attending a spectator sport, visiting a private cottage, attending a live theatre or concert, fishing and visiting a museum or art gallery were the most popular recreational activities.

The Tourism and Outdoor Recreation Planning Study committee's members represented six ministries with principal interests in various aspects of recreation or tourism: Natural Resources, Industry and Tourism, Culture and Recreation, Housing, Transportation and Communications, and Treasury and Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs.

Brunelle said the planning committee's study when totally completed will be contained in the eight reports, six of which are now available. The remaining two are scheduled for publication later this year.

"The complexity of this important survey indicates the Ontario Government's special interest in tourism and recreation" said Brunelle.

"It will considerably help the government in its present and future planning of recreational opportunities for provincial residents and visitors."

Each report deals with a different aspect of tourism and recreation. All may be purchased from the Ontario Government Bookstore, 880 Bay Street, Toronto.

A list of titles, prices and brief description of the report follows:

Geographic Dimensions (Vol. 1) $2.50: An overview of four major areas covered in the more detailed reports. The areas are activity participation, weekend and vacation travel, activity preference and free time.

Demographics (Vol. 2) $3.50: Describes how age, sex, and income affect participation in various activities.

Travel and Tourism (Vol. 3) $3.50: Indicates what kind of people go where, what people do at their destinations, and the time it took to get there.

Free Time (Vol. 4) $2.50: To be released this winter. Describes what people do in their leisure hours and how much time they have to do it, and how leisure time is influenced by commuting, working days and a second job.

Preference and Constraints (Vol. 5) $3.50: This larger report analyzes not what people do in their leisure time, but what they'd like to do. It outlines reasons why they can't spend as much time on their favorite activity as they wish.

Special Groups (Vol. 6) $3.50: Not yet released. Contains in-depth assessments of special groups: people on low incomes, elderly, single parents, those in special housing, and the very active.

Profiles and Participants (Vol. 7) $2.50: Provides concise descriptions of participants in all 73 activities in handy reference form.

User's Guide to Analysis (Vol. 8) $2.50: Explains how to analyze results contained in the other volumes.

The complete set of data from which the analysis in the reports was derived, is stored on computer tapes which can be assessed at the Leisure Studies Data Bank, University of Waterloo, Waterloo, and the Institute of Behavioral Research, York University, Toronto.

An Alexandria native and long-time resident, Mrs. Aldina (nee Leboeuf) Bourget died on March 14 at the age of 84.

Born in Alexandria to Midas Leboeuf and Rosanna Doutre, Mrs. Bourget had been living in the Community Nursing Home for some time prior to her death. She was predeceased by her husband, Adrien Bourget.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Bertha Gauthier of Alexandria, Mrs. Beriza Courville of Alexandria and Mrs. Yvonne Durocher of Montreal.

The funeral was held on March 16 to Sacred Heart Church.

Reverend Roger Desrosiers officiated at the funeral and the pallbearers were Denis, Jean and Yves Duroches, Leo Beaulieu, Georges Dumouchel and Laurent Courville.

Area native dies suddenly at 81

Kenneth Kenzie McDonald of R.R. 2, Alexandria, died suddenly on March 17 at the home of his niece, Mrs. Charles Anderson, Winchester.

Born in 1888, he was the last member of the family of the late Margaret Wharry and the late Thomas MacDonald of Glen Andrew.

As a young man, he worked in the lumber camps in Northern Ontario, and then homesteaded in Alberta with his brother, George, who died in 1943.

Also predeceasing him were his brothers, Sam in 1927, Lorne in 1952, Duncan H. as an infant, Thomas Duncan in 1954, and his sisters, Sarah Jane, Mrs. Peter McDougall in 1916, and Margaret, Mrs. Duncan Fraser in 1977.

Upon the death of his brother Sam, he returned home to take over his farm at Kirk Hill where he had lived until going to make his home with the Andersons two years ago.

Endowed with a great sense of humor and a wonderful memory, he was popular with all age groups, and loved to visit with his friends, and with all his nieces and nephews who mourn the loss of a dear uncle.

Rev. Lloyd Hylton of Kirk Hill United Church conducted the funeral service during which a grandniece, Ruthanna MacPherson played the old hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

The pallbearers were Norman MacLeod, Allister MacGillivray, three nephews, Thomas MacDougall, Lewis Fraser, Harold MacDonald, and a grand nephew, Robert MacDonald.

Interment will be in the family plot at East Hawkesbury United Church Cemetery in the Spring.

Plants, Greens and Things

THE ROSE

Today you have a wide choice of roses, in fact, over 5,000 varieties commercially grown. The most common definitions are a "single" blossom which has one layer of 5 to 7 full petals and the "semidouble" having 10 to 20 petals in 2 or more rows.

Around the 3,000 mark B.C., rose gardens became so popular in China that the Emperor of the Han Dynasty condemned rose parks as they were endangering agricultural lands by using food production land for flowers. Emperor Nero would import roses from Egypt by galley for his Roman feasts. By today's standards his rose bill could run as high as $100,000. During World War II, the children of Britain were fed rose hip syrup as a source of Vitamin C as citric fruits were just not available. After the petals have fallen away the small, round bulb, usually red, what is left is your 'rose hip'.

Yes it is true you can eat roses and should you want to try, simply wash and drain 8 ounces of rose petals (preferably the newly opened ones) and add them to a solution of 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, 1½ pounds of sugar and a cup of rose water (rose water is available in most drug stores). Simmer your mixture for 30 minutes or until the consistency is thick and jamlike. After it cools put it in jars as you have just made rose petal jam.

To keep your fresh cut roses fresher, longer, cut the stems on an angle daily and add one-eighth of a teaspon of floral life powder to the new water.

Enjoy their beauty and fragrance and until next week.

Martintown Rumor Mill

Art Buckland—528-4261

Area residents were prominent at the farm show. Ron MacRae, Bainsville, won a first for his shelled corn. Corrie Van Loon (Dutch Hill Farms, Martintown) won third for oats and fifth for cob corn. Daughter Anne was also a 4-H prize winner in grains. Donald Ross (Allis-Chalmers) and Al Laplante (Belarus) were displaying their latest and biggest farm equipment. Billy Cooper, formerly of Street Road, was spotted holding forth on the values of steel farm structures.

Two St. Lawrence College Cornwall Campus graduates seen in the farm show exhibits, are doing well in the farm business world. Peter Babcock, a business administration graduate runs the Surge dealership and Rinn Van Gilst, a civil engineering graduate, helps area farmers put money underground as a tile drainage man.

Henry Beissel, who lives in Ayorama Cottage near Greenfield, visited St. Lawrence College Cornwall campus last week. Dr. Beissel is a well known Canadian playwright, his works being performed around the globe.

He spoke to the students and teachers about the need for language in our technical society. His knowledgeable, eloquent address pointed out that more vocabulary leads to greater knowledge of the world, greater knowledge leads to greater understanding of the complexities of existence and thus one is led to a more compassionate view of fellow man. A great man and we are fortunate to have such a celebrated soul in our midst.

SATE WITH SCOTCHOGRAMS

J. Shuttleworth wrote a book with this title. The idea is to organize words, letters, sounds so that you may send a telegram which says more than the words you are charged for. Certainly a delight to the "Scottish soulen purse." Try these for fun:

—I think yacht to evaded awhile.

—Love encases foreign ice girl.

—Artisan jail again wormy alimony yukon to bailem out.

Thanks, ultimately, to Ruth Mowat for this material.

Met two professional transport drivers late, late last Saturday night. At least, I assume that they were such because they were sitting in the "Professional drivers only" preferred section at Cornwall's 5th Wheel restaurant. Besides driving, Nick Fougere and his wife (St. Andrews) spend some time preparing meat for our plates and palates. Nick passes on this tidbit: Make a wife jealous and you make a better man and a better wife. I think, that is, assuming the husband survives.

Thanks to John Wood, Charlottenburgh VII, instructor at Cornwall's new Transport Canada Training Institute, for a tour through this magnificent new complex.

EARLY RETIREMENT

I received a letter from the township recreation director stating that since our land borders Charlottenburgh, but is not in it, that our boys will be unable to play hockey next season without a per capita contribution of $55 or so.

Originally we were invited to play as part of the community of Martintown at a time when the area youth went to Maxville. I never thought of hockey as Charlottenburgh lads only, even when we moved to the new, new rink in Williamstown.

By sheer geographical coincidence we sit at the extreme end of a dead end road, the only house not in Charlottenburgh Township. Demographically, we are in the Martintown area; legislatively, we are not. Strange that wasn't a consideration when we volunteered to help out here and there. Sure hope the snow plow doesn't find out. And I remember that year the dog catcher gave us such a fine talk that we bought a dog licence from his township.

Actually I am happy that the boys are now retired from hockey. The other rink is too far and I tallied up the financial savings from our present routine.

Two-way trips to the arena four times per week; never no more. The savings here alone will make Ford and Exxon weep. In addition, the family junk food diet will disappear—gone forever, the hotdogs, chips, pop, gum, candy and coffee—those post game snack bar treats. Oh, the thought of savings on skate sharpening and capital expenditure for hockey paraphernalia. Well, no Gordie Howes in our family anyway. Ejected from the game and thank you.

The Glen Falloch ditch report makes interesting reading. One imaginative term in the report is "workmanlike manner" and the next higher level "good workmanlike manner." Who would, who could define this manner? The landowner? the contractor? the engineer? the workman? What will the feminist movement suggest as equal to consideration and sensitivity of the two sexes?

My Spring contest continues. Listen to the brook and the birds, then write from your heart about Spring. Send entries to me at Glen Falloch, K0C 1S0, or c/o the world's greatest paper, The News. Books will go to the winners.

The pike are running, the geese are flying north, the killdeer have returned, the last beaver is trapped, and the last snowbank slowly leaves us. The spirit of Spring renews us; as the sap stops flowing, things green begin growing.

MARTINTOWN MAC

Martintown Mac says let Spring come to your soul. Try to see life anew, as though you were seeing things for the first time.

Principal resigns

Louis Tremblay, principal of St. Lawrence College's Cornwall Campus, has resigned to enter private practice as a mechanical engineer.

The college's board of governors accepted his decision, which becomes effective June 30, at its regular monthly meeting.

In his new venture, Mr. Tremblay will be offering specialized engineering services in heating, ventilation and air conditioning, and energy management to government, business, institutions and industry.

"My 12 years with the college have been extremely rewarding and fulfilling," Tremblay told board members. "Few men ever get an opportunity in life to get in on the ground floor of something brand new. I'll always be proud of having been part of building St. Lawrence College, but now it's time for a new challenge."

Frank Quaife, chairman of the board of governors, while expressing his regrets that the college was losing one of its most experienced and ablest administrators, wished Tremblay well in his new business.

College President W. W. Cruden praised Mr. Tremblay for his role in helping start St. Lawrence College.

"Louis Tremblay was one of our originals. Starting with the first classes in 1967, his enthusiasm and drive have helped make St. Lawrence College, and particularly our Cornwall Campus, one of the most progressive community colleges in the Ontario system."

Born in Montreal, Tremblay is a graduate of Royal Military College in Kingston and Ecole Polytechnique in Montreal in mechanical engineering.

Following his graduation, he served as an officer in the Canadian Army's Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers Corps. After leaving the service in 1963, he attended Queen's University where he earned an MBA.

Prior to joining St. Lawrence College in 1967, he worked for Ontario Steel Products in Gananoque as plant engineer and production manufacturing supervisor.

Tremblay was director of business and applied arts at St. Lawrence College's Kingston and Cornwall Campuses from 1967 to 1969. He then became the Cornwall Campus' first principal.

Tremblay is married with six children. He and his family will continue to live in Cornwall.

Dies after lengthy illness

A longtime resident of the Ninth of Lancaster, Therese Decoste, died on March 20 at Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall.

Born in Ste. Anne de Prescott in 1917 to Joseph and Valentine Miron, she married Rheal Decoste in 1942 in Alexandria.

Mrs. Decoste and her husband, who survives, lived until 1978 in the Ninth of Lancaster.

Also mourning the loss are daughters, Edna Decoste of RR 2, Alexandria, and Pauline Dumouchel of Richmond, and a son, Gerard Decoste of RR 2, Alexandria.

She has three surviving brothers and two sisters. They are Jean Miron of St. Catharines, Rolland Miron of Alexandria, Gerard Miron of Montreal, Cecile Leger of Green Valley and Jeanne Deguire of St. Catharines.

Mrs. Decoste also leaves two grandsons, Roch Decoste and David Dumouchel.

The funeral was held on March 22 from the Marcoux Funeral Home to Ste. Marie Church in Green Valley. Reverends Gerald Poirier and Raymond Dumoulin officiated at the ceremony.

The pallbearers were Wilfrid Leger, Robert Leger, Roger Massie, Jacques Jeaurond, Jean-Paul Miron and Gilles Decoste.

Cattle being surveyed

Agriculture Canada and Foss Electric Canada Ltd., distributors of automated, electronic equipment for the analysis of milk, are co-operating in a pilot project which could change herd management and planning for ROP (Record of Production) Dairy herd owners.

The six month project, Record of Performance Program for Dairy Cattle, dubbed "Cow to Computer," will involve up to 90 ROP herds within a 30-mile radius of Cornwall, Ontario. The project started March 20, 1979.

Agriculture Canada will provide the overall supervision of the project while Foss Canada will be offering the use of its Cornwall laboratory, sophisticated analytical equipment and such technical guidance and assistance as may be necessary for the duration of the project. Both parties will be involved in the final assessment.

The project will study the feasibility and accuracy of ROP inspectors, automatically analysing not only the fat, but also the protein content of individual cow milk samples both in a centralized laboratory setting and through on-the-farm analysis.

The feasibility of a direct data transfer system of the results to Agriculture Canada's computer system will be evaluated. An important aspect of the project will be the reactions of the dairy farmers themselves, and surveys will be carried out to ascertain these.

The ultimate aim of the project is to provide the dairy farmer with speedy, accurate information on his individual cow milk samples within two to three days of the ROP inspectors' visit, thus providing him with immediate data for the planning of his herd's development.

Such information is becoming of increasing importance to the competitive future of the Canadian dairy farmer and industry. At the moment there is a downward trend in the protein percentage in milk produced by dairy cattle.

This trend is beginning to effect the international sales of Canadian breeding stock, semen and processed dairy products. The aim of the project is to reverse and stop this by providing fast, accurate information to the dairy farmer to assist him in his herd managerial planning.

Impaired driving is serious

Last week an elected official in this area was charged with impaired driving. The charge was laid after the person swerved and crashed into another car before coming to a halt.

We don't normally print impaired driving stories, so it would be unfair to single out this particular individual at this time. Besides, he's not the first elected official to be charged with that offence.

Many newspapers ignore impaired driving charges, considering them to be minor offences.

"Everybody gets caught on that charge sooner or later," is one comment we have heard.

How minor an offence is it, though? A car in the hands of a drunk is a lethal weapon. Countless people—including children—have died or been permanently maimed by drunk drivers. And yet, while most newspapers do not hesitate to publish every insignificant fender-bender that occurs, many avoid the much more serious impaired driving charge.

Many editors and publishers insist they do not want to harm an individual's reputation by printing his or her name. What about the harm that can result to the innocent victims of these drunks? How can we deter drunk driving when we tacitly condone it by protecting those who indulge in this dangerous practice?

Indeed, one wonders whether this policy of see-no-evil, write-no-evil on the part of the press is motivated by a genuine concern for journalistic ethics or whether it is a device for self protection—a self-serving policy that allows the members of the press establishment to keep their own names out of the paper.

How many of us are haunted by the reminder that "everybody gets caught on that charge sooner or later."

Judge living in glass house

Last month, a Toronto family court judge railed against television and the press as agents of violence.

Speaking to a provincial government-sponsored conference on the management of difficult adolescents, Judge Lucien Beaulieu argued that everything from Walt Disney movies to newscasts is filled with violence.

Newspapers often use headlines which "blow out of proportion and distort the content of the story."

And on and on. We've heard it all before.

While it is fashionable—and not altogether unfair—to criticize the media for their role in encouraging violence, Judge Beaulieu need not look so far afield for villains. He can start by thoroughly examining the role of courts—and particularly the lenient sentences given out for crimes of violence.

No one knows more than Allan Grossman, chairman of the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board, how serious the problem has become.

Grossman has become so appalled by some of the minimal penalties imposed on violent criminals that he has compiled a personal file containing some of the most flagrant examples.

Typical is the case in which a man was robbed on the street, then attacked viciously with a chain. The attacker was sentenced to one month in jail or a $250 fine.

In another case a 58-year-old man was knocked to the ground and kicked by three assailants. He now suffers a permanent loss of the sense of smell, has blurred vision in both eyes, possesses a speech defect and has frontal lobe damage. His kidney and bladder were also damaged.

Only one attacker was caught. He pleaded guilty to common assault and got 90 days.

In another case, a 35-year-old man was playing his guitar for his mother and another man. When he stopped, the man asked him to continue and when he refused, the offender kicked him unconscious.

The victim was left with paralysis in his right arm and a permanent injury to his right leg. The attacker was given a suspended sentence and placed on two years' probation.

A nurse, who asked a fellow tenant in her rooming house to stop making noise at 2 a.m. ended up having boiling water poured over her face, was dragged by her hair and assaulted with fists.

The man got 10 days in jail and a $100 fine or 20 days in jail.

Such penalties only encourage violence, Grossman believes, and we tend to agree. After a while, the thugs just laugh at the courts.

Although leniency and rehabilitation are the fad these days, it is time we started worrying about the victim as well as the criminal.

Grossman is dead on when he says, "The greatest disincentive to crime is the knowledge of a potential criminal that he can't get away with it."

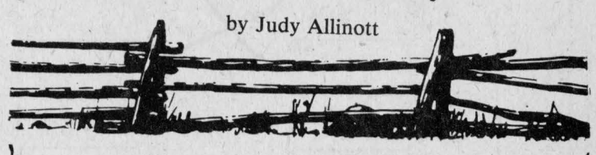
'From the old rail fence'

by Judy Allinott



To everything there is a season . . . And once again a new season is upon us complete with new life bursting forth everywhere. And new chores.

It is a time for bursting forth at the seams. And mothers breathe a sigh of thanksgiving that the snowsuits and boots make it thus far, that the springy nylon thread and zippers held out. Now, what to do with the lot—to store for someone to grow into, to give to the rummage sale for someone else to store until next winter, or to chortle with glee as it is chucked in the garbage knowing there will be no more wrestling matches trying to stuff protesting little bodies into this outfit.

It is a time to discard. To throw out all the stuff everyone else has been hoarding. (A place can always be found for our own little valuables.)

It is a time for lawns—they not only look messy but are in places where everyone can see they look messy. Can't shut the cupboard door on them. Build the fence higher? No, more work.

It is a time to plan. To gloss over the seed catalogues and farm brochures. Such great expanses of corn and grains, such luscious-looking strawberries and tomatoes, so many beautiful roses. How canny the publishers who never let a weed inch through the pages to wither our dreams.

It's a time to listen—to the gurgle of little streams of water, to the birds practising their new hymns, to the do-re-mi of the breezes as they swoop and swirl.

It's a time to stroll—to see the sap running into little cans, to see the buds bursting on the branches, to see the squirrels darting, daring the cats to catch them.

It's a time to be born and all over the countryside the farms pulse with new life, with wobbly calves and colts, with baby chicks, furry ducklings, lambs, does, pups and kittens.

We shared in the joy of another new life in a special family ceremony on Sunday as Ed and I stood for wee Brandi Ellen, the precious new addition to the household of Brother Barry and Wife Mary.

Father Gary's remarks were so in keeping with the occasion as he likened the welcome freshness of the season to the welcome Brandi Ellen was receiving in the waters of baptism.

How privileged to be just starting a whole new life, surrounded by loved ones! Would that all the babies born in this International Year of the Child would be so lucky!

Perspective

by Bob Roth

Joe Clark's folly

While many Canadians have responded with enthusiasm to some of Joe Clark's proposed reforms, there is one change a Tory regime would bring that would not be beneficial to Canadians—the dismantling of Petro Canada.

The value of having a publicly owned oil company was clearly demonstrated very recently when Exxon—the world's largest energy conglomerate—decided to divert oil destined for Canada.

This infringement on Canadian sovereignty came via Imperial Oil, an Exxon subsidiary. Imperial imports oil into Canada from Venezuela. It does not import from Iran. Exxon, however, does import from Iran and when that country's oil flow ground to a halt recently, Exxon diverted the Canadian oil to its U.S. customers to make up for the shortage.

In the crunch, the American multi-national corporation has shown it will treat Canadian oil supplies as if they are American supplies. And of course they are. The oil is owned by Exxon via Imperial and he who owns, gets to call the tune. That's why Petro Canada is so important to Canadians. With our own oil company, we can begin to establish a sensible energy policy through control of the vital resource. Just as important, we will have access to information.

To date, we have had to rely on American firms for information about our own reserves right here in Canada. When the companies want to increase exports to the U.S., they tell us we have a surplus of oil. When they want to raise prices, they tell us we have a shortage. With a vertically integrated company of our own—controlling oil fields, refineries, exports and imports—we won't have to rely on companies whose only motivation is self-interest.

Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie has indicated Petro Canada will begin making purchases of foreign oil and eliminate the middle man. It makes a lot of sense and the Conservatives would do well to retreat from their indefensible position of mothballing the crown corporation.

The PC position is not that surprising considering the party has as one of its candidates and strategists, a former Imperial Oil senior vice-president, Ronald Ritchie.

The general PC policy of non-governmental interference in business is sound. However, it makes the mistake of equating all forms of "private enterprise" with "free enterprise." When you consider that 95 per cent of Canada's oil and gas supplies are in the hands of seven giant foreign owned multi-nationals, that's not the most competitive set-up in the world.

The survival of free enterprise lies not with the monopolistic multi-nationals—whose sheer size controls the marketplace and eliminates meaningful competition—but with small and medium-size business.

Through the formation of selected crown corporations and with anti-combines legislation, it is essential that the government protect our natural resources and keep our economy competitive.

The drift towards centralized economic power grows stronger almost daily.

Hudson's Bay Company is a prime example. First it bought out its competitor Zeller's Ltd. Then it purchased its rival, Simpsons Ltd. Prior to that, The Bay eliminated some local competition in Ottawa by purchasing the A. J. Freiman department stores.

Currently, this mammoth conglomerate represents 35 per cent of department store sales in Canada. If you include sales by Simpsons-Sears, which is half owned by Simpsons, The Bay's share of the market is 60 per cent.

The growing food monopoly is another example. Dominion and Loblaw's now occupy almost 50 per cent of the retail food market.

Such an economic set-up is neither free nor enterprising.

PLAZA TO BE BUILT—Construction is expected to commence May 1 on a neighborhood shopping plaza at the north-east corner of Main and St. George Streets. Mac's Milk has already agreed to lease 1,800 square feet of the building, leaving room for four 800 square-foot stores, according to Sauve Real Estate, the rental agent. College has new principal

W. W. Cruden, president of St. Lawrence College, has announced the appointment of Jack Butt as principal, College Administrative Services.

Butt, who will assume his new duties April 1, will be responsible for the following college-wide services: Finance, personnel, purchasing, planning, computers and data processing, and information.

Butt is currently the chairman of the Campus Services Department on the Kingston campus. He is one of only two staff members who have held administrative and teaching positions on all four of the college's campuses.

He joined the college at its formation in 1967 as a civil engineering teacher in Cornwall. Later, he became the chairman of the Applied Sciences Department. In 1971, he moved to Brockville as chairman of the Business and Technology Department. During 1976 and 1977, he was acting principal of the Brockville campus. He moved to Kingston in 1978.

Butt graduated from the University of New Brunswick with a civil engineering degree, following which he was employed by a firm of Montreal-based consulting engineers. He travelled extensively as their representative to oversee construction projects in third world countries.

Using this experience, Butt has been instrumental in negotiating contracts with Venezuela and Nigeria to educate their students in Ontario. Students from both these countries are enrolled at St. Lawrence College campuses.

Butt is married and has two children.

ONTARIO FOODLAND NEWS BULLETIN...

Read how buying 'Ontario' saves you food dollars

Ontario's good summer crops of vegetables and fruits are in the stores now. Many are fresh—cabbage, carrots, apples, potatoes, parsnips, rutabagas and more. Others are canned or frozen. But all of them bring you the good taste for which Ontario produce is famous. If you compare the prices of these Ontario foods with prices of imports, it's easy to see why Ontario fruits and vegetables are one of the good food bargains in your store.

And not only do you get good value when you buy Ontario products, you also help strengthen Ontario's economy.

SPRING LAKE APPEARS—The Beaudette River has turned into a half-mile wide lake where it goes underneath Highway 34 near Green Valley, as a result of the spring run-off. The week of warm weather caused the water on most of the area rivers to rise quickly, already blocking some roads. Geese were spotted resting from their spring migration on the large body of water.

Farm seminar to be held

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food will be sponsoring a seminar on Farm Family Business Arrangements at Glengarry District High School on April 5.

The seminar, held in cooperation with Lough & Lewis Chartered Accountants, is free of charge and will be at 8 o'clock in the GDHS cafetorium.

The seminar will be in three sections. First will be general comments on three basic business arrangements—sole ownership, partnership and corporation.

The second part will be the spousal partnership. This includes how spousal partnership is affected by the Income Tax Act, general understanding and reasons for the partnership and the advantages and disadvantages.

The third part will be a practical example of a spousal partnership, tracing it from initial meeting to discuss a business arrangement to forming the partnership and operating it for four years. At this time a visit is made by the income tax department to review whether or not the taxpayer has a genuine partnership or not.

The last part of the seminar will be an opportunity for participants to ask questions.

Farmers to get more for milk

Ontario dairy farmers are to receive a price increase of 75 cents per hundredweight, ($1.70 per hl) which is a 5.4 per cent increase, for the milk they produce for table use, effective May 1, 1979.

This increase amounts to slightly less than two cents a quart.

In announcing the increase, Ontario Milk Marketing Board Chairman, Kenneth G. McKinnon stated that the board has been using an economic formula as a guide in setting the producer price for fluid milk for several years.

"The most recent information," he said, "indicates that milk producers' costs have shot up quickly over the past few months."

He also noted that formula projections easily justify a higher increase at this time.

"However," McKinnon said, "after consulting with industry and consumer representatives, our board decided to implement a smaller price increase than was originally proposed."

At the same time he issued a warning that a further price increase may be needed within a few months.

"Because we are not moving the price up to the level indicated by the formula and, if costs continue to soar, we may be faced with another price adjustment sooner than would normally be expected," McKinnon stated.

As there is no government regulation controlling the consumer price for milk, the amount of the increase at retail outlets is dependent on the forces of competition.

"For this reason," McKinnon concluded, "we do not know what the final consumer price will be."

The $1.70 per hectolitre increase raises the farm price for raw milk in Southern Ontario from $31.33 per hl to $33.03 per hl and in Northern Ontario from $32.62 per hl to $34.32 per hectolitre.

Farm costs may rise 37 per cent

Recent statistics have indicated that farmers may expect to pay 10 to 35 per cent more for fertilizer, seed, machinery and farm labor, says Ralph Barrie, first vice-president, Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA).

Speaking to the annual meeting of Prince Edward County Federation of Agriculture, where Governor-General Ed Schreyer was the honored guest, Barried added, there might also be a shortage in many products.

"All of this could quickly erode any advantages made in agriculture in recent years, with our better production techniques and higher output."

The big problem could be in petroleum products, Barrie explained. Price increases, both in diesel and gas, are expected and there could be serious shortages. Allocation has already been declared in some areas in the U.S.

Barrie said estimates indicate increases in fertilizer costs could range from 15 to 20 per cent. In fact, increases of 30 per cent over last year could be anticipated for potash, because of the low supply and transportation problems.

Small seeds —alfalfa, clover and timothy—are going to be expensive and in short supply, he added, because of the low yields of last year and because European dealers have bought up much of the supply.

Chemical costs are expected to increase by 15-20 per cent. Coarse grains—oats, barley—are the only products where the price might drop slightly, he added.

General farm supplies will increase by 10 to 35 per cent, depending on whether they're from Canada, the U.S., Europe or Asia. The main reason for the rise is the devalued Canadian dollar.

"As Ontario farmers, we must be very conscious that we are in the spotlight as consumers grope for someone to blame for the so-called high food prices. We must give them a true picture of our problems."

"At the same time," he added, "farmers must be careful not to rest on their laurels as honest, hardworking, high productive producers. We must strive for even greater output, expanded markets, increase and improve research and new managerial techniques."

With this approach, we should be able to gain the support of consumers in our attempts to obtain the proper legislation to enable farmers to produce more efficiently and economically.

"We must look for initiative and resourcefulness from our own people," he added. "Farmers helping farmers has been the motto of OFA for a long time. I think it's even more important now than ever before."

Safety standard urged

A standard which would make the workplace safer and reduce accidents should be legislated by provincial governments according to Arthur Bray, manager, Occupational Section of the Canada Safety Council in Ottawa.

The standard, published by the Canadian Standards Association (CSA) is called "Signs and Symbols for the Occupational Environment," and standardizes symbols warning workers of dangers.

For instance, emergency-related information signs should appear in a green rectangle while the caution symbol is a yellow triangle. The signs stand for such things as no smoking, slippery floor, poison, open flame and first aid by using various symbols.

Bray is the Chairman of a CSA committee which wrote this national standard, the first of its kind in Canada.

"The use of these standardized signs would certainly cut down on accidents," he explains. "It took three years to produce this standard and we are disappointed that it is not being used, so this is why we are urging provincial governments to make it mandatory."

At the present time, warning signs may differ in each work area. This can lead to confusion and serious accidents says Bray.

"What we need now is education so that the federal and provincial governments are aware that this standard exists and we need legislation. If this standard were followed, the same signs would appear in every workplace in Canada. When workers such as in the construction industry move from site to site, they would become accustomed to the same signs and their meanings. There would be a greater awareness of dangers and accidents would be reduced."

Focus on food — from label to table to you

Do you know what you're eating?

A lot of pre-packaged foods are taken for granted. Shoppers accept the product's name on the can or box without ever wondering what's inside it, says Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada.

"It's easy to find out—just read the label. The ingredients are listed there in descending order of proportion.

"Here's an example. See if you can guess the name of the product from the list of ingredients: beef broth, potatoes, beef, carrots, modified food starch, corn flour, beef fat, salt, tomato paste, sugar, caramel colorings and flavoring.

"If you thought it was called beef broth or beef and potato broth, you were logical but wrong. The manufacturer calls it beef stew, even though it contains more broth and potatoes than beef. So it makes good sense to read the label carefully."

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada has made sure that labels provide vital information on specific foods as well as the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor.

Shoppers are becoming familiar with the "Best Before" label or tag which carries a date and is required on most dairy products, packed meats and baked goods. If the label says "Best before DE 15" it means simply that the item will be fresh at least until December 15.

If the date on the goods has passed, it doesn't necessarily mean the food isn't edible. Nor does it mean the storekeeper must remove it from the shelf. But it does mean that the food has passed its peak in freshness.

The grading labels found on meat, poultry and eggs can often save you money. When buying these items, think about how you're going to use them. Chances are you won't need the higher, more expensive grades. While the physical character of the goods may differ according to grade, the nutritional value is the same.

Beef, for example, is graded by government inspectors on the basis of color, firmness, grain and leanness. The most common grades seen at meat counters are Canada A and Canada B. Both are from youthful animals, but the B-grade beef is cheaper because the texture of the flesh is more coarse.

This makes a Canada B roast an excellent buy if you're planning a pot roast or any dish prepared by a slow-cooking method. Cooking it at a low temperature for several hours makes the meat very tender, and the results should be just as good as if you had used the costlier grade.

Poultry has three common grades: Canada Grade A (Red), Canada Grade B (Blue), and Canada Grade Utility (Blue). Grade B birds may not be as well fattened as Grade A, and Utility fowl may be missing a leg or wing but could be Grade A in all other respects. If you're not cooking for appearances, the lower grades can be a tasty bargain.

Eggs are graded too, but unfortunately many supermarkets carry only the top grade. If you want other grades, you might have to shop around for a store or farmers' market that sells them. You'll find them labelled Canada A1, Canada A or Canada B. All of them must be free from discolored yolks and blood spots.

The biggest distinction among the grades is the shape of the shell. Canada B eggs aren't as perfectly formed as the others, but if you use them for cooking purposes or scrambling, you won't find any difference in the final dish—and you'll have saved yourself some money.

Even the pictures on food labels must be honest. If, for instance, a package of frozen fish shows six pieces on the label, there must be at least six pieces of fish inside.

"Labels have changed a lot since the days when they were just selling devices. Now they can help you become a wiser, more economical shopper," the ministry says.

Church suppers checked

Eastern Ontario Health Unit inspectors aren't prying into pots at church suppers, but they do warn ladies to be wary in food preparation.

Preparation of food for these suppers are covered under public health legislation.

MOH Rudolph Peters of Cornwall told The News "we aren't exactly enormously strict about health regulations for these do's —simply because there are so few and we rarely hear about them in advance."

But Peters explained, "we do certainly move if there's a complaint."

He discussed a memo received by Ontario Health Units from Health Minister Dennis Timbrell which was a reply over a threat to crack down on church suppers in Durham Region, west of Toronto.

The memo said the intention of health regulations is to ensure sanitary food preparations. "I realize most of you appreciate the intention is not to discourage local community activities such as church dinner, pot-luck suppers or sale of food at bazaars," the memo said.

Timbrell urged "discretion when applying such regulations to community standards."

A letter from Metro Windsor-Essex County Board of Health warned health units across the province that staff and board members could be held liable for failing to apply health regulations universally.

Dr. Peters said there is no regulation which states churches must call in the health unit when they hold a supper.

But he pointed out that at all Fall fairs and gatherings where food is served to the general public, inspectors are on the job testing water and quality of preparation and storage.

"Once in a while there is an outbreak of salmonella poisoning at a wedding or church supper," he said, "and the difficulty is usually with the preparation of food brought in from private homes or lack of refrigeration before it is served."

Dr. Peters suggested that all food to be served at these gatherings should be thoroughly cooked beforehand and stored at 40 degrees Fahrenheit before serving.

AUDITOR'S REPORT — TOWNSHIP OF KENYON

The members of council, inhabitants and ratepayers of the Corporation of the Township of Kenyon:

We have examined the balance sheet of the Corporation of the Township of Kenyon as at 31 December 1978 and the statements of revenue and expenditure, capital operations, and reserve and reserve funds for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Corporation of the Township of Kenyon as at 31 December 1978, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in Ontario municipalities applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

ALMOST—Two competitors in last year's Raisin River White Water Canoe Race suffer the consequences of challenging the Martintown Mill Dam. The 1979 race will be held Sunday.

'Dial-a-Question' now in 2nd year

"What are the ratings for smoke detectors?" "How do you obtain an international driver's licence?" "Where do I get information on building a solar energy house?" "How can I obtain a birth certificate?" "What is the color of a Canadian million dollar bill?" "What was the buying power of the dollar in 1911?" "Do you have the amateur radio call numbers?" "Do you have recipes for making vermouth and sherry?" "Do you have stock quotations for 1900?"

These are samples of some of the hundreds of questions answered by the Eastern Ontario Library System's "Dial-a-Question" service now into its second year of helping Eastern Ontario residents find the answers they need.

Designed for long-distance callers—business, industry, teachers, students, agriculturalists—indeed, all Eastern Ontario residents who live in the 613 telephone area, the service provides a free, direct line to the reference department of one of the EOLS resource libraries in Ottawa, Cornwall, Brockville or Pembroke.

Toll-free Watts and Zenith telephone numbers are used for the information network and a bilingual service is provided at both the Ottawa and Cornwall public libraries.

Callers are urged to contact their nearest public library resource centre to obtain answers on a wide variety of subjects by just dialing one of these numbers: 1-800-267-8293 (Ottawa); 1-800-267-8151 (Brockville); 1-800-267-7144 (Cornwall); residents of Renfrew County dial "0" and ask operator for Zenith 16780 (Pembroke).

Persons living in areas where long distance does not apply should continue to use the regular phone number to obtain information at any of the public library resource centres.

"The Dial-a-Question service was well used during its first year of operation" said Larry Eshelman, director, Eastern Ontario Library System, "but, we know there are many more potential users who still may not be aware that it is available."

Eshelman said this free public library information network is the first of its type in Ontario. It was begun last year as a pilot project in Eastern Ontario in an effort to provide rural residents with the same access to information resources that city dwellers have always had by simply calling the Reference Department of their local public library.

Learn about government

Students in all areas of Ontario will have a chance to gain experience this year in the workings of municipal government.

"Through the 1979 Involvement in Municipal Administration program, these young people will learn about municipal administration and planning," said Intergovernmental Affairs Minister Tom Wells.

This will be the seventh year of operation for the IMA program. Under it, students enrolled in public or business administration courses, or in urban and regional planning courses, at designated universities and community colleges, are eligible to apply for summer jobs with participating local municipalities and planning boards.

Under the IMA program, the Ontario government reimburses the municipalities 80 per cent of the students' salaries, up to a maximum of $125 per student per manweek, for a maximum of 20 weeks.

In 1978, 376 students were employed by 214 municipalities under this program. Four associations, such as the Association of Municipalities of Ontario, and nine planning boards also participated.

"Both the municipality involved and a student's academic studies gain from this program," said Wells.

Tourist tax raised

SD&G residents will be paying 20 cents per head for tourism promotion this year.

Counties Council approved the five-cent raise Monday after rejecting a request from the Seaway Valley Tourist Council to hike the current 15-cent per capita grant to 25 cents.

Robert Scott, tourist council chairman, said the grant increase from $8,000 a year to $12,000 was needed so that a full-time manager could be hired.

The tourist council had made similar requests to its other financial supporters.

Although county councillors originally wanted to wait and see what Cornwall would do, they changed their minds Monday so that they could adopt their 1979 budget.

But the only way the county councillors agreed to increase the grant was by cutting it in half; that is, approving a 20-cent-per-capita levy.

This levy was about the only item that stirred any discussion as county council ratified an $8,016,700 budget, about $125,000 more than last year's.

The main new item in the 1979 budget is a $46,000 expenditure for the county's recently-created planning department.

The biggest expenditure in the budget is $4,101,000 for transportation services, which include road maintenance, traffic control and drainage.

The second largest expenditure is $2.4 million for social and family services, including $1.8 million for operating the county home for the aged.

Revenues expected this year, as in the past, are mainly from provincial government grants. They are expected to total $6,116,700. The remaining $1.9 million is to come from the 20 member municipalities.

But the municipalities' share is almost 12 per cent higher than in 1978 because of declining revenues. The major decrease is $200,000 less in provincial grants for transportation services.

The share that each municipality pays is calculated on the basis of total property assessment, and in this Charlottenburgh Township tops the list with a levy of $214,055, $22,900 more than last year.

Cornwall and Osnabruck follow with levies of $206,565 and $147,615 respectively.

Iroquois, on the other hand, has the lowest assessment and therefore its levy totals only $9,300. Lancaster village has to pay slightly more, $13,990.

But the increased levies do not automatically mean increased municipal tax rates, stressed George Crites, county finance committee chairman.

The local tax rates, noted the Roxborough township reeve, are set by the local municipalities and depend on local needs.

Rabid fox causes consternation

A fox in the chicken house is understandable, but in the dog house?

It was that question that gave the family of Archie O'Connor, First of Kenyon, some doubts recently.

The fox appeared one day and entered the dog house, so they shot the intruder. The corpse was sent by District Veterinarian Leo Kennedy for rabies testing and was found to have the disease.

Now the family dog has to be tied up for six months, says Mr. O'Connor, to be sure that it did not contract the deadly disease. The long time period is necessary because if the dog was bitten in the hind quarters, it could take that long to reach the brain and show up.

Dr. Kennedy, in a conversation with The News, said that although "a few cases" of rabies have been found in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry this year, it is not in "epidemic proportions."

A report on the presence of rabies will be released soon he said.
