$3.50 Per Year in Advance — $4.50 in U.S.A.

There's one day in the year when Pop shines in all his glory. He may not show it, or even say anything about it, but after all Father's Day is no doubt the finest planned day of all 365 we use yearly.

In many homes it will be just like any other, although it shouldn't be that way. When we think back to our young days we recall with fondness the many happy hours we had with our dad. No doubt there are many of our readers who have similar recollections.

In remembering, we are reminded not only of the good times but the times when his influence was impressed upon us with a switch or other tangible instrument, but now we can easily understand his reasons.

We grew up with a great deal of respect for elders, not because we were forced to, but because it was right and proper that we should. There were, in those days, youngsters who didn't know the word "respect" as there are today. Times aren't really that much different.

Nor are fathers any different today. There are some who take an interest in their children and there are some who don't. Perhaps there's a connection somehow between this lack of interest on both sides and the lack of respect that should be prevalent between father and son or daughter. We just don't know.

We do know however, that we'll only have one Dad . . . and then we feel it has accomplished its purpose.

If nothing else is derived from this short column but a feeling of our respect for our own Dad, then we feel it has accomplished its purpose.

Here's to all Dads on Father's Day!

Dundas Milk Committee Meeting

The second quarterly meeting of the Dundas Milk Committee was held on June 3rd in the agricultural office at Winchester with a good attendance of members, and the President, Malcolm MacGregor presiding.

The Secretary read the minutes of the two preceding meetings and they were adopted as read.

It was moved by John Wells and seconded by Keith Holmes that $150. re expenses for the Dairy Princess Contest be sent to the secretary of the Junior Farmer's, who are the sponsors of this event.

Three delegates — Milburn Robinson, Delbert Link, and Keith Holmes were appointed to attend a meeting at Freeman Millar's on June 10, to plan a dairy picnic in conjunction with the other neighbouring counties.

After a discussion re trucking rates of milk, it was moved by Mahlon Zeron, seconded by Howard Mellon, that they be negotiated and set up on a zone basis instead of at the present plant levels. The secretary was instructed to forward this recommendation to the provincial Board.

After considerable discussion re the milk industry in general the meeting adjourned 'till at the call of the president.

Minor Baseball

Mr. Lee Merkley has been appointed Supervisor of Minor Baseball.

All children wishing to play junior baseball, should contact Mr. Merkley at the earliest possible date and register their names in order that a league can be organized and hours of use of diamonds scheduled.

The play parks, both East and West End of the village, will be ready for opening July 1st, 1966, under supervision.

Watch the Iroquois Post for the next two weeks for further particulars on these two recreation subjects.

Miss Linda E. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Thompson, has graduated from Ottawa Teachers College and is now employed with the Ottawa Public School Board.

Lions Club Street Fair Starts Here On Wed., 15

Starting Wednesday evening, Iroquois Lions Club will bring its annual Street Fair to the community, again featuring the Allan Shows, with kiddies and adults rides, games, bingo and fun for all.

During the past week or so members of the local service club have been hard at work erecting and repairing their booths and a new coat of paint has made quite a difference in the appearance.

Following Monday night's regular dinner meeting, the members adjourned to the shopping plaza parking lot to erect a few of the booths needed for the four-day event running until Saturday night.

All that's needed now is good weather and a large crowd to help the club raise what has become their major fund-raising event of the year for service work in this area.

Dedication Service At South Mountain Church

After six months of preparation for and construction of a church-hall, for the use of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Mountain, the Presbytery of Brockville will conduct a special Service of Dedication of this new "Fellowship Hall" in the St. Andrew's sanctuary, Wednesday evening, June 22nd, at 8 p.m., and to which the congregations of the area are cordially invited to attend.

Participants in this Service will be the Host-Minister and present Moderator of the Presbytery, the Rev. John J. Hibbs; and the Reverends A. D. Sutherland of Cheshamville; R. W. Johnson of Cardinal; L. R. Renault of Brockville; and J. M. Anderson of Kemptonville. The Rev. Anderson will deliver the dedication sermon.

Following a year of discussion and consideration of this project, the congregation embarked upon this addition to the present church structure at its annual meeting in January, and awarded the construction contract to Hubert Whey, RR3, Spencerville, who excavated the basement of the church, and just recently completed this new premises for youth, church-school, and congregational use in the days and months ahead.

Of stone-block construction, and finished with a very attractive interior wood-siding, the new "Fellowship Hall" includes kitchen and washroom facilities, and entrances from both within and outside of the sanctuary.

Members of the Planning Committee, appointed by the Board of Managers, and who supervised the past six-months of this project, are: Messrs. Russel

Beggs, Gordon A. Cumming, Arnold Shaver, Donald Scott, and James Skelly.

The St. Andrew's Ladies' Guild recently completed two very worthwhile projects in connection with the new hall — the construction of sink and cupboard facilities in the kitchen, and the purchase of new chairs for seating accommodation. The contribution of an electric stove and curtains from within the Guild was also gratefully received.

A time of touring the new premises will follow the Service of Dedication; and the ladies of the congregation will serve light refreshments to members, guests, and visitors. You are most cordially welcomed to share in this highlight occasion in the life of the St. Andrew's congregation, next Wednesday, June 22nd, at 8 p.m.

Joint Cemetery Service Sunday At Point Iroquois

Members and friends of the Iroquois and surrounding communities are reminded of the annual "Memorial and Decoration Sunday" observance at the Iroquois Point Cemetery, Sunday, June 19th, with a Special Service of witness beginning at 3 p.m.

Planned by two committees of the Iroquois United and Knox Presbyterian congregations, the Service will be conducted by the Rev. J. L. Dean, Minister of the Iroquois United Church; and the guest speaker will be the Rev. M. C. Young, Minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Gananoque. A Representative Elder from the Knox congregation will be in attendance, representing the Rev. John J. Hibbs, Minister, who will be out of town on this occasion. Assisting in the Ministry of Music at this Service will be choir members of the two congregations, with Mrs. Hugh Thompson as pianist. Guest soloist for this occasion will be Mr. James Morrison.

Members of the arrangements committees included Messrs. H. Gilmer, R. Fader, and I. Seeley of the Iroquois United Church congregation, and Messrs. S. A. Thompson, H. Linnen, and J. Linnen, of the Knox congregation. The Reverends J. L. Dean and J. J. Hibbs were ex-officio members of these committees. Ushers from both congregations were also appointed for this occasion, and Mr. G. A. Cumming of South Mountain will be providing the public-address system, with a prelude of sacred music being played from 2:30 p.m.

In the event of inclement weather, the Memorial Service will be held in the Iroquois Civic Centre auditorium.

This second annual Memorial and Decoration Service is commended to one and all in the community.

Bowling Notes

On Saturday last one rink composed of W. Hagarty, Ross Jamieson and Percy Robertson took part in the Trebles tournament at the Ottawa Club bowling green. They won two games and lost one but failed to get in the prize money.

Weather permitting, a Mixed Jitney will be held at the local bowling greens on Monday evening, June 20th. All bowlers are requested to be present as the Secretary would like to get a line-up of players for the Davis Trophy Competition which he expects to start on Thursday evening, June 30th. For this Jitney play a cordial invitation is extended to anyone who would like to try this interesting game. Anyone can take part in Jitney play. A fee of 25c per player will be charged and prizes awarded.

Members are reminded that the greens will be open for play this season on Sunday afternoon. Beginners welcome on Sunday afternoons.

Scouts Camp Out Over The Weekend

Members of the Iroquois Boy Scout Troop and leaders joined with Scouts of St. Lawrence district and their American counterparts for a two-day camp north of Prescott.

The boys were under the guidance of Scouters Cliff Bilyea, Ed. Orlicky and Bill Rumble, of Iroquois. Each Troop had its own leaders with District Commissioner Howard Countryman heading the group.

The camp was a prelude to a two-week camping expedition that close to 80 boys will be taking into the United States later in the summer. After they return, American Scouts will visit Canadian boys and stay in Canadian homes for part of their stay.

Tourist Booth Gets Face-Lifting

Not only has the Iroquois tourist information booth had a new paint job, but flower boxes have been added to make the building a little more attractive. It is located along No. 2 Highway at the shopping plaza and will be opening soon for the summer.

Sunday School Picnic

Iroquois United Church and White Church families joined together for the annual Sunday School picnic, held this year at the church's Rideau Hill Camp, near Kemptonville.

There were close to 150 people from both churches at the outing and the weatherman provided one of the best days so far this year to help make the occasion successful.

Many of the children went by bus, the rest by private car, and on arrival most of them took advantage of the new swimming pool for an afternoon of swimming.

There were races on the spacious grounds during the day and at the end a huge pile of sandwiches, topped with cookies and ice cream for hungry youngsters.

It was the largest number reported at the annual event in many years.

Independence

It was a lazy summer Sunday afternoon. The two old friends stood with their elbows on the snake fence, smelling sweet smells and watching the waves in a field of ripening wheat.

It was the first crop for one of the men who had only recently retired from his business and bought a farm.

When this tyro was asked when he expected to cut the field, he replied, "Tomorrow." It might be wondered how he, a newcomer to farming, knew whether it should be tomorrow or tomorrow week. He had an explanation. "You know," he said, "when I was president of my company and I cut my wheat too soon or too late, I was answerable to the board of directors, and when I was general manager, I was answerable to the president. Now it's nobody's business except my own and my partner's." And after a pause he added, "Let's stroll up to the house and have a cup of tea with her. I can hear the kettle boiling."

And they did, and it was all most refreshing.

Political Science Can Be Impertinence

Legal Lights have on occasion answered questions as to the authority, the privileges, the scope, the rights, and the immunities of royal commissions. An opinion might be sought on whether it would be proper for courts to ignore them.

This gap in knowledge about royal commissions and their rights and privileges did not reveal itself until the Royal Commission on Biculturalism and Bilingualism approached members of the House of Commons with the thirty questions, nine fewer than the Anglican Articles of Religion. The Prime Minister, no less, said that he considered many of them irrelevant and some highly inappropriate. The leader of the official Opposition called the questionnaire "snooping."

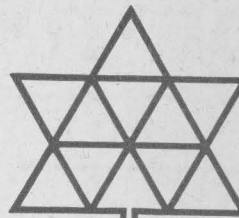

From time to time the House of Commons has been called the high court of Parliament and the inference is that it is superior to any other court, at least in the federal jurisdiction, for it is the creator of all others, including the Supreme Court of Canada. Would Messrs. Laurendeau and Dunton send questionnaires to members of the Supreme Court of Canada with the idea that there could be obtained some basic comment on what the courts are all about? Would they ask if courts are necessary, and whether most judges would learn more by keeping their mouths shut than by trying to prove how smart they are? And so on?

It is possible, of course, that some of the brilliant people who are on the staff of the royal commission are not known to the royal commissioners and are not performing a function that the royal commissioners know anything about. If this is so, it would not be the first time it was so, for all those thick reports of royal commissions are not compiled in detail by the royal commissioners. And in fact it is highly probable that most royal commissioners have neither the time nor the inclination to study everything in the report they are signing.

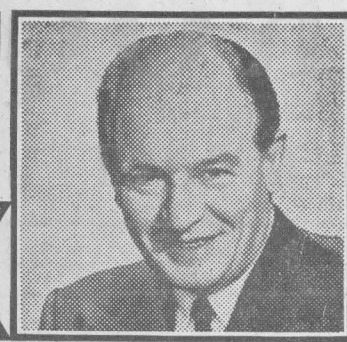

Perhaps the House of Commons would be well advised to send somebody around to question all the Bi-Bi royal commissioners to find out what they know about the questionnaires that are being sent out.

The House of Commons should be careful to maintain its position. It would be startling if a second interim report of the Bi-Bi commission recommended that the country get along without the lower branch of Parliament. After all, Charles the First governed without Parliament for eleven years before he lost his head altogether.

Centennial Report

by JOHN W. FISHER
CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONERREPORT No. 10

A young man recently asked me how I can talk with such enthusiasm about this Nation Canada and stir up patriotism when, he said, many of the world's ills are caused by nationalism.

That is a fair question from a young student who, perhaps for the first time, is taking a serious look at the world around him and finds so many discouraging problems.

The young student sees, on the one hand, some small nations with their recently-won "freedom" — jealous of their neighbors and wanting to develop power of their own — and on the other hand, some of the large established countries seeking to dominate the whole lot. Small wonder young people today are a little cynical about nationalism.

The best answer I could find at hand for the young student was in the text of a talk on Centennial celebrations for 1967 given by one of my own staff members to an Ottawa audience. A young man himself, the speaker reviewed some of our plans for Canada's 100th birthday and he closed his talk this way:

"Is it really worth living in Canada? Is it worth keeping Canada together? . . . Personally, I don't feel moved by nationalism or patriotism enough to become a flag waving extrovert extolling the virtues of my country. It's a thing of the past to want to become the most powerful country in the world.

"Nationalism," he said, "is not going to save the human race from destruction. In my view the direction of internationalism is the only one in which civilization can travel and survive. That means people getting along with people. It means our freedom is restricted by the freedom of others.

"I believe that the example of many peoples in Canada getting along well together and with others in the world is a worthwhile reason for our existence as a nation. It is with that in mind that I am an ardent Canadian, that I am working for a successful national celebration in 1967," he said.

How often I have criticized Canadians for lying on the psychiatric couch searching in a neurotic dreamworld for some imaginary purpose or identity! Here a young man expresses a worthwhile purpose so simply without the rolling of drums and the waving of flags. He doesn't need the old trappings of patriots nor does he need the contrived imagery of extraverted nationalism.

We have 100 years of history behind us without the stigma of colonialism, without a reputation for aggression against others in the world and without quarrels in our own family that we could not overcome. Is not our young ardent Canadian right in claiming that the fact we continue to keep our country together, proving that a family of many ethnic origins and cultures can get along well, is reason enough to be proud of Canada?

F. M. CASS REPORTS

Finish Prov. Business

The hot June days in Toronto have finally convinced the Provincial Legislators that it is time to cease the annual speechathon and finish up the business of the province. The Estimates of the Provincial Treasurer were completed, those of the Department of Municipal Affairs passed almost without debate, and the House got well along with the huge spending program of the Department of Education.

In addition to asking House approval for the spending in the current year of more than half a billion dollars on Education, the Minister produced a bill which marks the introduction in our school systems of the three semester system, namely the fixing of the Easter Holidays without reference to Easter itself and thereby providing a winter school term each of a duration more conducive to good teaching practices and organization. In many other areas of the educational field there was money provision made for new approaches to the complicated problems confronting our educational authorities. The tremendous and pressing modern need for everyone to have a basic education as well as specialized training, whether this be academic or technical, has revolutionized our century and a half old school system and has been the cause for much new taxation both provincial and municipal.

Although some new Bills are still being introduced into the House and being referred to its standing Committees, most of the current Session's Legislative program has passed this stage. Hence it is not at all unlikely that the House will shortly convene in the mornings, which is not, of course, possible when the standing House Committees require morning meetings in order to perform their specialized duties of considering legislation referred by the House.

The new legislation with respect to ambulance services came in for discussion. For many years the provision of ambulance services has been a pressing problem, particularly on our highways. Ambulance operators all over Ontario have protested that they were unable to maintain proper services without the aid of public funds and have been exerting an active lobby at Queen's Park for some years. The Bill introduced by the Minister of Health transfers to his Department responsibility for all ambulance services in Ontario, provides for regulations to be made governing standards of equipment and training of personnel, gives municipalities the authority to make agreements with private operators to provide such services and to pay a subsidy therefor, and provides for provincial payments to municipalities up to one-half of the cost to the municipality of such service. While this would seem to be an answer to the problem it remains to be seen how effective it will be in providing proper ambulance service, especially for accidents on our highways.

The BIBLE Today

The President of the Malagasy Republic, Mr. Philibert Tsiranana, was presented with two copies of the Malagasy Bible, reprinted in Madagascar after 130 years, on March 10th, by Pastor Rajaonarivony, Chairman of the Malagasy Bible Society.

The President, in expressing his appreciation, stated:

"I have a Bible right here on my desk that never leaves me. Thank you for the good news of the printing of the Bible again here among us. That is one of the marks or proofs of our independence. Now independence in all things is returning to us, whether it be concerning the Bible or the Church. That is an important fact . . . May your work ever go forward to the fulfillment of your responsibility to our native land, and may God help you to accomplish this. There are still many Malagasy people who do not know the Bible, which it would be good for them to know, that we might forsake idol worship throughout Madagascar."

After accepting a Bible for his personal use, and one for the President's office, President Tsiranana donated 25,000 francs to be used to give free Bibles to those who need them.

The Malagasy Bible was first printed in 1835, but the persecution and martyrdom of the Christians made it necessary for printing to be done outside the island. The Bible was published last year in Tananarive by the newly independent Malagasy Bible Society.

SUGAR AND SPICE

by Bill Smiley

Those Terrible Teens

Those Terrible Teens are at it again. Riot in Montreal. Riot in Toronto's Yorkville. Teen-age boy charged with glue-sniffing. Girls nailed with bundle of marijuana. Students picketing everything but the public lavatories.

Searching articles by sociologists point out the obvious: that teen-agers are rebellious, resentful of adults, eager to experiment; anxiety-ridden, reckless, sensitive, moody. Any parent knows all that.

"Probing" and "sensitive" TV programs point out some more of the obvious: that teen-agers like power (boats, cars, motorbikes; but not lawnmowers); that they like music with a big beat; that they like members of the opposite sex. Anybody who is not blind and deaf knows all that.

What's all the fuss about, then? Is it a lot of overblown sensationalism in the mass media?

I'm no sociologist, but I have been a teen-ager, I have two of them under my roof, and I teach swarms of them every day, so I have some qualifications, however amateurish, to speak a piece.

Let's try to look at the whole thing coolly. They did inherit a pretty cruddy world. Their freshness and idealism is soured at every turn by the massive march of materialism. Man is aiming at the stars with his feet firmly mired in the mud. And over all hangs the threat of annihilation.

What do they want? They want to sweep away all the old shibboleths, and start fresh. They want to be their brother's keeper. They want to communicate. But every way they turn, they are confronted by a great, passive resistance from a society constructed by adults for the comfort and convenience of adults. Who wouldn't be frustrated?

Students would like to take over the universities. And remembering some of the deplorable professors and ridiculous courses I was subjected to, I don't blame them.

They'd like to have the vote at 18. And this might be a good thing. It would mean nobody over 25 would dare to run for public office. In this way we might get rid of vast numbers of the incompetent politicians we now have at every level of government.

They'd like to be able to drink legally at 18 (instead of illegally at 16). This, too, in the long run, might turn out well. The resultant slaughter on the highways might ruin a few insurance companies, but at least it would help control the population explosion we hear so much about.

They'd like to be able to non-conform (though they do cling rather frantically to the ultra-conformity of the teen cult). Well, there's nothing wrong with being a non-conformist. I'd love to grow a beard, if it didn't emerge as a grizzled stubble that makes me look like a Bowery bum on a binge. I'd like to have two mistresses and a pet tiger, but I can't afford it. I'd like to go in bare feet, but I have this terrible seed-wart on ball of my my right foot, that hurts like the dickens.

They'd like some direction in their lives, so they say, and blame the lack of it on their parents or adults generally. Did you ever try to direct a teen-ager to get to bed or mow the lawn? RIGHT NOW!

They'd like to be beautiful or handsome. They'd like to be loved and trusted. They'd like to be given responsibility. All these longings prove is that they are human beings.

You know, things haven't changed that much. When I was 18, I thought my parents well-meaning, but terribly narrow-minded. When I was 21, we used to call chaps of 29 in the Air Force, "Pop". When I was 25, people in their late 30's were completely incomprehensible. All they could talk about was furniture and fuel bills, children and chimneys, taxes and teachers. People over 40 were doddering, senile.

Don't try to understand teen-agers. Just try to put up with them. They want to fly. We want them to get on the treadmill with the rest of us squirrels. Remember, you too once wanted to fly. Yes, you, Mom, who necked in the back seat of a 1935 Ford. And you, Dad, who got drunk when you were 18.

WHY YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR DAIRY FOODS

Each year, Canada's dairy farmers get a smaller return for their investment and efforts. Increasing costs of operation, equipment and virtually everything a farm needs, plus a very serious shortage of farm labour, are putting dairy farmers out of business at the rate of about 10,000 each year.

Returns to the dairy farmer have not kept pace with increased costs of farm operation.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase to the dairy farmer was only 2 cents per quart for standard homo milk.

Consumer prices of dairy foods have not increased as much as most other food products.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase in home delivered milk (standard homo) was only 5 cents a quart.

Canada's dairy industry is vital to our economic and nutritional health. If dairy foods cost a little more than they used to, they'll still be your best food buy.

MRS. JEAN WADDS, M.P., REPORTS

Strikes Our Main Topic

Strikes and threatened strikes were the main topic on Parliament Hill this week.

Conservative Whip Eric Winkler led off the questioning on Monday. The Minister of Labour, Mr. Nicholson (Vancouver Centre) seemed to be relying entirely on the mediator. He said: "Mr. Speaker, the mediator, Judge Lippe, spent some hours in Ottawa yesterday. He gave me an interim report of developments up to the end of last year. He has returned to Montreal faced with some very difficult decisions."

Mr. Winkler asked if the Minister has considered or is considering bringing the parties to the Capitol. Mr. Nicholson answered that he has great confidence in the mediator and his ability to mediate and narrow issues.

On Tuesday, the former Conservative Minister of Labour, Mike Starr, from Oshawa, pressed the Minister who still merely expressed hopes of a settlement. Then the worried Western Wheat farmers' representatives began to make themselves heard. Eldon Woolliams from Bow River asked the Minister what effect this long strike has had on the fulfilment of the wheat contracts that were made by the Wheat Board with other countries.

Mr. Sharp replied that it is having a very serious effect.

Mr. Woolliams — "When the Minister says 'a very serious effect' does he mean that sales will be lost in respect of wheat agreements made between the Wheat Board and those countries purchasing our grain?"

Like his colleague the Minister of Labour, the Minister of Finance seemed worried and unsure. He said: "I do not know whether this in fact will happen. I do not think it need happen. All I can say is that this strike is having a very serious effect upon the delivery of grain that the Wheat Board has already sold, and it is beginning to back up the movement into the country, making it more difficult for the Wheat Board to

Mr. Archibald Irvine, of St. Thomas, spent one day recently with his mother and brother, Mrs. O. A. Irvine and Douglas, on his way through to Ottawa on business.

BORN — To Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hamilton, of Brockville (nee Margaret Fossitt) of Hanesville, a son, James Brent, at the Brockville General Hospital on June 7

Mrs. Earl Fossitt is spending a few days in Brockville with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hamilton and son.

Mrs. O. A. Irvine spent one day recently with her daughter, Mrs. Eldon Francis and family of Prescott.

Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved families of the late Mrs. Annie Coons of Brinston, dear mother of Mrs. Charlie Fader (Ella) of Brockville; (Emma) at home and Mrs. Floyd Barkley (Dora), Cornwall; also to the families of the late Bert Flegg of Winchester Springs.

Mrs. Lloyd Cook spent a few hours each with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. A. Fader one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Keck of Sudbury, visited friends in this community one day last week also Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reynolds of Morrisburg, were Sun. visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reynolds.

On Wednesday, reports were more and more ominous. There were rumours of Special Cabinet Meetings to prepare a special Bill for the House of Commons. There were suggestions that the Minister of Labour favoured compulsory bargaining.

By Wednesday evening, Canadian Wheat Board Chief, W. C. McNamara admitted publicly that 30 million bushels of the export wheat goal had already been lost. Privately he felt that a 75 million bushel loss was probably more exact. This of course would mean practically a 100 million dollar loss to Western Wheat farmers. No wonder they are beginning to worry.

Similar worry was coming from the Montreal area where nations were threatening to cancel their Expo. participation if their shipments were held up any longer.

On Thursday the questioning was led off by the Hon. Tommy Douglas who pointed out that since the Longshoremen Strike had now been on for five weeks he wondered if the Prime Minister had any encouraging comment.

The Prime Minister was neither encouraging nor pleased. He repeated what Cabinet Ministers had been saying all week — that there is hope of success and that the Government has not by any means given up hope. He also added with red-faced temper that the Government's problems were made no easier by NDP statements.

Shanly

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Froom, Donna and Lyndon, spent the week end with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ewen McDougall and her mother, Mrs. Leslie Taylor, of Ormstown.

Mr. Charlie Thorpe is a patient in Winchester Memorial Hospital with a heart condition.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bennett and family were Toni Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gordon, of Maitland; Miss Peggy Kendrick from Nova Scotia and Rev. Malcolm Proffitt.

Sorry to report Miss Diane Riddell a patient in Brockville General Hospital with a badly wrenched and broken knee.

Donald Burnside of Brockville, visited his grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Burnside, during the past week.

Mr. John Froom has been accepted to begin a four year Apprenticeship Training Course for an Industrial Mechanic on July 4th, at the Alcan Aluminum plant at Kingston, Ont.

Rev. Malcolm Proffitt who has been minister on the Shanly charge since last October, and was recently ordained at Kingston, delivered his farewell sermon on Sunday morning. He has been posted to Luseland, Sask. Prior to his departure he was presented with a purse from the three congregations of Ventnor, Shanly and Pittston, and with sterling silver cuff links and tie pin from the Hi-C's. Mr. John Peters, a second year Theological student from Queens University, will take over the duties on the charge.

Brinston U. C. W.

The regular UCW meeting was held in the church hall on Thursday evening, June 2.

The president Mrs. Karl Bell, opened the meeting with a poem "Thoughts Have Power To Change Your Life".

Hymn 358 was sung followed with prayer by Mrs. Bell and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Psalm 706 was read responsively Mrs. Charlotte Small brought this part of the program to a close with a reading, "Experience Of Living In The Light".

Mrs. Helen Gilmer opened the devotional period with Hymn 361 followed by a reading "Be Careful What You Say" by Mrs. Gilmer.

Rev. Stewart gave a very interesting talk on "It Pays To Advertise" and he brought to our attention of the need and help of ministers and people needed in our churches of today.

Mrs. Stewart gave a reading, Mr. Stewart later joined her singing a duet ending the devotions.

Collection was received and dedicated by Rev. Stewart. Roll Call answered by 18 members. Minutes were read and approved. Correspondence concerning a letter from the OHS stating, they accept any Gold Bond Stamps or donations to help build a swimming pool for the retarded.

The meeting closed with hymn 582 and prayer by Mr. Stewart. Lunch was served in the dining hall by committee in charge.

CHRISTMAS TREE GROWERS' FIELD DAY

A forestry field day is planned for 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 18th, 1966, at the Mel Lee tree farm. Mr. Lee's farm is on Lot 2, Concession 6, Lanark Township and can be located by traveling north from Perth and east from Lanark village, or by turning north off Highway No. 7, about six miles west of Carleton Place. Field day signs will be posted along the route to assist those not familiar with the area.

A programme has been organized which should be interesting and informative to all present growers as well as those planning to enter the industry. Discussions and demonstrations will be presented on planting stock production, insect control, grading, packaging, trimming, etc.

CENTENNIAL ART PROJECT FOR 3 UNITED UNITED COUNTIES

To any individuals or groups interested in this project of pictures with historical interest from Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

There is so much historical lore passing from our knowledge that this project may arouse an interest in these old things and preserve them for the future. Many people now living in urban areas have a nostalgic memory of rural scenes and life as they knew it "in the old days" and will be interested in seeing such pictures.

Plans are in the making, so any suggestions from any source will be appreciated. We thought of having one big exhibition, out-of-doors if possible, in Cornwall during Old Home Week, but each locality could have their pictures for their own use if desired. It is hoped too, that this display might be exchanged with other localities in Ontario that have a similar project as many of them have.

I would suggest that each Institute or group select one representative to encourage this project and to act on my Committee.

Do not be hesitant about these drawings as we are not looking for a finished artistic production so much as an interesting "memento" of the past. I recommend using a soft pencil, pen or charcoal, for a start — in fact many of these subjects would look just as well, or better in any of these media as in paints. I would be pleased to visit central points a couple of times this summer to give ideas if such would be helpful but you must arrange and ask for this help if you desire it. School children would be a great help and should be interested in this project.

We must begin this NOW. The main thing is to get started, for enthusiasm only comes with action. Much of the work had to be done out-of-doors — and the warm season is a short one.

If you are interested I would like to hear from you by letter, phone or in person as I need moral support to keep me going. Your suggestions too, would be appreciated. Grace MacLeod Roberts 115 Power Dam Drive, RR2, Cornwall, Ontario. Phone: 933-2563

This is an opportunity to learn the latest techniques in Christmas tree management, and to discuss your particular problems with experienced growers and foresters.

Lands And Forests

LIVESTOCK & WOODLOTS

Many years ago, when the land in this area was first settled, one of the greatest obstacles to be overcome was the forest. The land was unworkable because of tree cover and as a result much blood and sweat was spilled trying to push back the woods to make room for agriculture.

One method of landclearing often employed was fire. Large acreages were burned and many landowners were forced to build new homes as a result of a sudden change in wind direction. Another method was to pasture cattle in the wooded areas, killing young growth and leaving only the older trees to be cut. With the advent of better methods and equipment the land soon became cleared and our modern form of agriculture gradually took over.

The practice of pasturing wood lots, however, is still quite prevalent and is becoming a very real problem. Cattle, when feeding in a bushlot prefer to eat valuable trees. They happily munch down young maple, ash, oak, elm, beech and birch and usually leave such undesirables as ironwood, prickly ash, hawthorn and blue beech. When the older mature trees are cut only these poor species are available to become the next crop for the owner.

In addition, cattle pack the soil so tightly that water runoff is increased considerably and erosion is the result. Large trees suffer in two ways. Firstly, they do not get sufficient moisture at the roots and a dead top may result. Secondly, the roots are exposed to the air and disease and insect damage becomes much more likely.

As far as food value is concerned, Agronomists agree that, on the average, wooden pasture will produce about one-sixth of the quantity and one-half of the quality of the same area in improved pasture.

Many woodlots serve as shade for stock or supply water from springs or streams located in them. If this is the case a small area for shade or access to water should be fenced off to save the woodlot proper from pasturing damage.

A farmer must decide in his own mind what the future of his woodlot is to be. If he wishes to retain it on the farm and benefit from its many aspects he must decide to fence it from cattle.

PARENTS! YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE!

This is the admonition on Red Cross water safety posters posted in Ontario's Provincial Parks. It is a reminder to all parents that they are responsible for the safety of their children. They, and they alone.

Parks and beach patrols do their utmost to keep the parks accident-free and provide a happy holiday for campers and visitors but they do not supply baby-sitting services. Their job is to maintain order, to avert accidents and injuries by preventing unsafe acts and conditions, and to render intelligent assistance when emergencies arise.

One of the worst, unsafe acts a parent can commit is to leave children alone in camp or on the beach. They may become lost, injured or drowned.

A child who becomes frightened at the long absence of parents starts out to look for them and can't find his way back to camp. Youngsters, sent out alone after dark to fetch water or go on errands, tend to become confused in the darkness, take the wrong path back and become lost. A missing child should be reported promptly, but keeping him under surveillance would have prevented the mishap in the first place.

Never leave children alone on the beach and expect the beach patrol to look after them. The beach patrol is not on duty to run a baby-sitting service, nor can he give individual attention to each child. His duty is to the people, in general, who are using the beach, to advise them when unsafe conditions exist, to correct unsafe acts, and give assistance in emergencies.

Inflatable objects such as water wings, air mattresses and toys are not welcomed in Ontario's Provincial Parks. Most inflatable objects were never designed for use in the water. Rough usage and exposure to the heat of the sun cause them to deteriorate quickly and tiny pin-prick holes develop. Off-shore breezes move them into deep water and your child is in trouble. If the beach patrol asks your child to take his inflatable toy, air mattress, etc. out of the water, he is doing it to prevent an accident and a possible drowning. Parents are asked to co-operate with the beach patrol, and to teach the child to realize the danger that does exist.

Parents have been known to tie a life jacket on a toddler and let him play alone at the water's edge while they napped on the beach. A life jacket is no guarantee of safety for a small child. He can drown in six inches of water falling flat on his face. Fright will cause him to gasp and breathe enough water into his lungs to kill him if he is not spotted immediately. If the beach is a busy one, the beach patrol's attention may be diverted elsewhere at that moment and he may not see your child in time.

Drive carefully through parks and camp grounds. Children are carefree and will run across roads without stopping to look

Mr. Bryenton, local presiding minister, has announced that 15,000 are expected for the convention. Witnesses in this area are making preliminary transportation and travel arrangements," he said.

According to Mr. Bryenton, the Montreal conference is to be one of 13 assemblies scheduled throughout Canada and the United States this summer. I was chatting not long ago with some of the people responsible for planning the Telephone Association of Canada Pavilion for Expo 67. And, I was fascinated with the project. The major telephone companies in Canada are working as a team in this project. Site of the pavilion, which is now nearing completion, "Man The Explorer" on Ile Verte, the man-made extension of St. Helen's Island in the St. Lawrence River. The main external feature of the pavilion, a large "drum" in the centre of the building, will house a theatre specially built to show a spectacular film of Canada and its people. The Walt Disney Circle Vision 360 degree technique will be used for the first time in Canada. The huge screen completely surrounds the viewer who will feel part of the unfolding panorama. Children will not be forgotten and special attractions are being planned for them in the Enchanted Forest. Visitors will also have a chance to see communications services of the future. I hope you are planning now to visit our Telephone Association of Canada Pavilion when you're at Expo 67 . . . I am.

Before you start on your summer vacation, whether it's for two weeks or two months, please be sure to phone cancelling all deliveries to your home. Milk bottles and newspapers on the doorstep tell burglars that there's no one at home.

It sounds incredible now, but back in the early days of the telephone, people had to shout to be heard at the other end of the line. And telephone lines didn't cover many miles in those days either! Today, you can phone all the way around the world, talk in a natural voice, and be heard clearly and easily. This kind of improvement doesn't happen by accident. It's the result of constant research and development in the communications field. In fact, improvement in telephone communications is a continuing process. Talking directly into the mouthpiece helps give your voice greater clarity and just the right voice volume. You can talk in a natural voice and make the most of the wonderful convenience and dependability of your telephone.

BEST YEAR EVER

There are many taxpayers in this land of ours who have never played the stock market, yet they are shareholders in one of the largest companies in the country. When Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, presented the company's annual report to the House of Commons he was actually, with well deserved pride, letting the people of Canada know that their publicly-owned railroad had enjoyed another very good year.

The good news, heralded by many newspapers across Canada with editorial praise, was the fact that for the year 1965, as a result of the year's operations, CN's net profit amounted to $28.5 million before interest. This is an improvement of $4.6 million, or 19.2 per cent over 1964. Though the gross revenue hit the $914.7 million mark from all services the report had to show a deficit of $33.4 million.

In reference to this deficit, the report states: "The company considers that a revision of its capital structure is essential to reflect the present-day conditions of its operational and organizational investment."

Now let me quote a statement made by Ben Dworkin, financial editor of the Ottawa Citizen . . . "The report, was the best in 10 years and indicates the CN may well be over the hump, and coasting to a profitable operation."

Passenger Services Considered

Jean Richer, vice-president in charge of passenger sales and services has stated that CN has increased its prestige because of its refusal to adopt a pessimistic attitude towards passenger services.

"In fact", Mr. Richer said, "under normal conditions rail passenger service can be made a paying proposition."

Evidence of the faith in this prospect is the increase in passenger revenue in 1965 by $6.5 million or 12.5 percent to reach $58.3 million. While the number of passengers carried in 1965 went up by 12.3 percent to 17.4 million. I was among some of those who waited patiently for reservations last summer, realizing all the while how fare adjustments and improved services were being reflected in the travel habits of the nation.

Because I have been employed in the promotion of 'travel by rail' for the past eight years I was naturally impressed by this portion of the report. The freight work load, however, which increased to an all time high of 101.1 billion gross ton miles leaves one rather breathless too. That means an awful lot of grain, minerals and automobiles were carried over CN rails during 1965.
