Feis Glengarry

Celebration of people and tradition produces great tribute to Glenelg settlers who arrived 200 years ago

By Ken McKenna,
News correspondent

It was a week-long celebration of a people, a culture and an event.

And by the time Feis Glengarry was over, capped off with a moving pageant commemorating the emigration of Scottish families from highland Scotland to Lochiel Township in 1794, it was a feeling.

It was a Gaelic feeling to be sure, one very much enveloping the warmth of Scottish Glengarry's kin and ancestors, and the customs they brought with them during that historic voyage to Canada which began in 1793.

The week of August 22 to 27 saw some 700 people from ages 8 to 80 take part in a variety of events, from a five-day summer school at Laggan Public School, the Grand Ceilidh, the Glengarry Feis itself and the Glenelg pageant on Saturday, August 27.

Appropriately, the week-long variety of Scottish events began with classes teaching Gaelic, followed by elective classes in various aspects of Highland tradition, from piping and drumming, highland dancing and step-dancing and Scottish violin (see related story). It attracted 40 students.

As the busy week wound down at Laggan school, the Grand Ceilidh, supper and dance was held at the Bonnie Glen on Friday evening, kicking off Feis Glengarry.

It opened with pipers of the Glengarry Pipe Band led by Pipe Major Ann McCuaig leading in the MacCulloch Dancers, who performed with their usual professional verve and vigour. Meaghan Curran sang beautifully in Gaelic, and Ian Mann played virtuoso violin. Lorna Chapman sang a solo and the Gaelic choir filled out the rest of the program, with Celtica taking over for the dance.

Gaelic songs were interspersed throughout the evening, with Fiona Fraser, Sine (Sheena) McKenna, Muriel Aiken performing solos and the Gaelic choir providing back-up.

The following day, Saturday, August 27, saw Feis Glengarry in full swing as booths were displayed throughout the school selling books and articles, including pottery made from Glengarry clay, and every variety of material of interest to visitors.

Gaelic singing and readings took place throughout the morning, with adjudicators Linda Morrison (music) and Archie MacDonald (Gaelic) giving constructive criticism and suggestions for improvement in music, language and presentation.

Those taking part included Fiona Fraser, Lorna Chapman, Judy MacLeod, Geraldine Tibbals, Carole Leblanc, Muriel Aitken, Heather Whitbread, Gerald McGillis, Professor Colin Blyth, Laggan school Gaelic choir, Alexandria St. Joseph's School Gaelic Choir, Meaghan Curran, Michelle McKendrick and Lindsay Coleman, as well as the three adult Gaelic Choirs. Spirited readings in Gaelic were given by Michelle McKendrick and Michael Sandy McKenna.

At noon, to a background of piping and highland dancing, the Glengarry Caber Club gave a demonstration of the heavy events featured at Highland Games, including tossing the caber.

Saturday afternoon workshops were led off by Dr. Michael MacConaill, 'The Link Between Irish and Scottish Gaelic.' Among many interesting similarities brought out by Dr. MacConaill (the Irish spelling of MacDonald) was the fact that in Donegal, the farthest north area of Ireland, native speakers use many of the same words and phrases used by Gaelic speakers from the Hebrides, and have more in common with Scottish Gaelic than they sometimes have with the Gaelic of areas such as Cork.

At 2 p.m. the Glengarry Gaelic Choir gave a sometimes hilarious

Farmers gather for county plowing match, 26 enter competitions

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Adam Lancaster of North Lancaster, should have brought more than just a plow with him to the annual Glengarry Plowing Match on Saturday.

A wagon to go behind his tractor would have been handy as well, to cart away all his silverware.

The county youth, plowing in the 16 years and under age category, took home four of eight trophies awarded at the furrow-turning competition.

Lancaster was the only junior involved in the competition. But according to Doug Sova, secretary-treasurer of the plowman's association, the trophies were well deserved.

"Even though he was the only one, he did a really good job," Sova said yesterday.

Twenty-six people took part in this year's competition, down from the usual total of 30 competitors the plowing match attracts.

The drop in the overall total seemed to result from a shortfall of competitors in the junior categories. In the 17 to 25 age class there were no entrants at all, meaning the category had to be scrapped.

But Sova was still pleased with the Glengarry farmers' late summer ritual, held this year at the farm of Jean-Noel Campeau and family of North Lancaster.

"(There were) just ideal conditions — perfect. (We) couldn't ask for a better day or better field conditions."

"It was rewarding for our effort putting it on."

There was a strong antique plowing class again this year, with eight entrants competing. There also was a good showing in the horse plowing class, Sova said.

"The horse class seems to be picking up."

Local man stabbed after argument at party

An Alexandria man was injured in a stabbing after an argument at a party on Aug. 23.

Steve Sabourin of Alexandria suffered a four-inch gash to the back of his right thigh, when a party-goer stabbed him after being asked to leave.

Several people were attending the party at a Catherine Street residence when an argument began, said Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau.

When the argument was settled, one man was asked to leave and did so.

Deveau said the man returned a short time later with a knife, swinging it at others attending the party.

The incident ended with the stabbing.

Sabourin was brought to Glengarry Memorial Hospital and later transferred to the Hotel Dieu in Cornwall.

Joseph Lavigne, 37, of Main Street, Alexandria was charged with aggravated assault and will appear in court on Sept. 1.

We're closed this Monday

The Glengarry News will be closed this Monday, Sept. 5 as a result of the Labor Day holiday weekend.

As a result the advertising deadline for the upcoming issue will be 3 p.m. this Friday, Sept. 2, for both display and classified ads.

Columnists and correspondents are asked to submit copy as early as possible prior to Monday, Sept. 5.

Alexandria man left quadrapalegic after one-car crash

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

A young Alexandria man is now facing life as a quadrapalegic after an Aug. 1 car accident near Hawkesbury.

Marcel Carriere, 21, is still in intensive care at the Ottawa Civic Hospital after suffering a broken spine, neck, shoulder and broken ribs in a one-car crash with two of his friends.

The Pontiac Firebird Carriere was a passenger in, left County Road 4, rolled over into the ditch and came to rest after striking a culvert.

The driver of the car, Nicko Charbonneau, 22, of Alexandria suffered minor injuries and was charged with dangerous driving in the accident.

The other passenger, Guy Cholette, 22, was also treated for minor injuries and released from Hawkesbury General Hospital after the accident.

The jaws of life had to be used to pry Carriere out of the wreck.

"It's an accident, there's nothing we can do," said Carriere's mother, Francine who added it's difficult to accept her son is paralyzed from the neck down.

"Sometimes I don't know what's holding me up. I guess it's because he needs support."

Francine added her son remains in intensive care because he "cannot breathe by himself," and relies on life support to help his lungs which often collaspe.

And over the past few days his heart rate has also been low which causes the doctors some concern, said Francine.

But despite his serious condition, doctors do expect her son to recover and be able to breathe on his own in the near future.

Francine said there is no way to know how long it will be before her son returns home.

She said the family is doing it's best to cope, making the trip to the hospital everyday, and Marcel seems to be dealing well with the situation.

Marcel is having a little trouble to talk when friends visit right now, said Francine, and so his visits are kept short and to a minimum for the next while.

Francine said the family is not laying blame for the accident.

"I don't have nothing against his friend," said Francine. "It's an accident."

Rank of police constable resolved in conciliation hearing

Alexandria officer awarded over $31,000 in back pay plus first-class constable rank and salary

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Alexandria Police constable Marc Carriere is smiling a $31,000-back-pay smile these days, after winning a conciliation hearing that has brought him up to a first-class constable's rank and pay.

"The meeting went well," said Alexandria Police Association President Roger Levert. "We're happy Marc got his just dues."

The Aug. 25 hearing, chaired by provincially appointed conciliation officer James W. Kilgour, ended with a settlement that gives Carriere back pay, a salary increase and updates his rank from fourth- to first-class constable.

He is also entitled to full benefits afforded to Alexandria Police officers under their collective agreement.

"We're pleased we did settle with the Police Association," said Alexandria Police Services Board chair Jean-Paul Touchette.

"Marc is an excellent officer and I'm pleased for him."

Both sides agreed the four-hour meeting, which had the conciliator visit each side in a separate room with demand lists, was an efficient process.

"There were no problems," said Levert.

"It didn't last very long," said Touchette. "And the letter of the law was followed."

The dispute over Carriere's rank and pay has been ongoing between the Alexandria Police Association (the police union) and the Alexandria Police Services Board (the town of Alexandria) for more than three years.

Talks between the two sides on the issue broke down last year during contract negotiations and a letter threatening to make application for a arbitration hearing was sent to the board last August.

Carriere, 27, was hired by the Police Services Board in October 1990 as a part-time officer.

The local services board felt it could keep Carriere to the original part-time agreement, paying him the lowest possible salary, but the association disagreed.

"He was hired part-time and an agreement was signed to that effect," said Touchette.

The police association argued Carriere's rank should have been moved up annually since 1991, in accordance with the federal Police Services Act and pending a satisfactory annual performance review.

"From the start he should have been paid his rightful salary," said Levert.

Another point of contention from the association was that Carriere was working more than part-time hours and should have been compensated.

"He has been working 2,000 hours per year for four years," said Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau.

Deveau added Alexandria's full-time officers have only been working 80 hours more per year than Carriere.

Touchette said that by giving in to the association, the board saved on lawyer's fees and avoided a possible higher settlement as has been seen in similar disputes in other towns.

The settlement also puts to rest a long-time dispute, said Touchette.

"It's settled."

As of Aug. 26, Carriere, a native of Alexandria, is a full-time first-class constable. He will be paid $31,351.16 in back pay, payable over three years and his annual salary will increase nearly $10,000 per year to $48,152.

Carriere will also receive full benefits including life insurance, a dental, drug and retirement plan as well as sick leave.

Marc Carriere, a four-year member of the Alexandria Police Service, is pleased with the recent conciliation hearing settlement that now recognizes him as a first-class constable with full salary.

GMH Auxiliary sale

The Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will host a community-wide trunk sale, flea market and craft sale on the hospital grounds on Sept. 17 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Area residents are invited to fill up their trucks with leftovers from recent garage sales, the stuff filling up the basement, attic or garage and all other stuff they don't know what to do with and sell it off as part of a fundraising drive for the hospital.

Local artisans and crafters are also invited to show off their talents.

In case of rain, the sale will be held on Sept. 18.

Participation fee is $10 and sellers can register by calling Carol Bellware at 525-4969 or Lenore Corey at 525-5393.

Golden Glens

It's September and time again for meetings and line dancing.

The first meeting will be on Sept. 7 at 11 a.m. in the Legion Hall.

Line dancing will begin on Sept. 12 at 10:30 a.m., also in the Legion Hall.

Dancers are asked to be there by 10 a.m. to register.

Brownies

This year the Brownie meetings will be held on Wednesday evenings from 6:30 p.m. until 8 p.m. at the Church on the Hill.

Registration will be held on Sept. 1 at the church.

Opening the new social services office on Main and Kenyon streets in Alexandria last Friday, August 26 are, from left, SD&G Warden Charlie Sangster, social services board member Douglas Leighton, case worker Anna Boisvenue (rear), board chairman Bruno Massie, Alexandria Mayor J.P. Touchette, department administrator Susan Lefebvre and board member Edward Thompson.

New welfare office opens in Alexandria

A new satellite office of the United Counties Social Services department opened Friday in the old Royal Bank building at the corner of Kenyon and Main streets in Alexandria Friday, Aug. 26.

Aimed at improving services and accessibility to social services for Glengarry residents, the office has been in full-time operation since April 1994 and was necessary with the increasing rise in social assistance caseloads in the Alexandria area in recent years.

Staffed by two full-time case workers, it will offer a full array of services including general welfare, special assistance and supplementary aid, domiciliary hostel assistance, homemakers and nurses services including room and board for needy homeless people, battered women and children, municipal employment services and a variety of related information.

On hand for the ribbon-cutting were counties Warden and Lancaster Township Reeve Charlie Sangster, social services committee chair and Alexandria Reeve Bruno Massie, town Mayor J.P. Touchette, Administrator Susan Lefebvre and other members of the United Counties social services committee.

Caring for Life By Dr. George McKiel

How Would YOU Spend $15billions?

Given the only restriction in spending $15B you must restrict yourself to outlays for human health where would you splurge? More hospitals and better equipped? Better pay for nurses and Dr's? Medical research? The list could go on but $15B is currently being spent by drug companies each year in the search for new antibiotics. And the rationale for this extraordinary budget is that we are losing the war, though we gain a battle or two, in controlling infectious diseases.

Yes, we do have vaccines that are highly effective in preventing epidemics. But, interestingly, only one disease has been completely eradicated, smallpox. It used to be so common that posters for Wanted Criminals carried a sketch but always stipulated "poxed" or "not poxed". The elimination of smallpox was the combination of a number of unusual conditions including the fact that the vaccine can be stored without refrigeration. Also, smallpox is strictly a human affliction, unlike rabies or tuberculosis which we share with other mammals and birds, according to Dr. Jay Keystone, director of tropical disease unit in Toronto General Hospital. Speaking of t.b., the resurgence of infectious diseases which the medical experts told us were well in hand with modern antibiotics, the very recent two cases of t.b., one in Edmonton, the other closer to Glengarry in Kingston, exemplify the increasing risks we face. Both instances involved doctors who acquired t.b., did not recognize they had it until after they'd transmitted it to a number of their patients. Despite this, public health authorities and the medical fraternity, continue to make soothing noises that there are other antibiotics, more powerful antibiotics available. The facts are that viruses and bacteria have built-in mechanisms that allow for mutant strains to evolve which are penicillin or other antibiotic-resistant. The optimism, and complacency, that were bedfellows of the dramatic discovery of W.W.II antibiotics have led to their overuse which then sets the stage for new mutants. Take the example of t.b. which used to be so common until we recognized the principal carrier, certain mosquito species, could be controlled by spraying programs which killed the mosquitoes. We went all out until it was established that D.D.T. was an environmental and persistent threat back in the 1950's and 1960's. Today 3 million people die annually from t.b., mostly from impoverished regions or developing countries. Yet the statistics are showing a growing number of North Americans and Europeans are getting t.b., especially those with AIDS. Mutant strains of t.b. are part of the reason for they are immune from existing antibiotics. Earlier this year, the American Association for the Advancement of Science were told by Alexander Tomasz, prof. at Rockfeller University in New York, that a "powerful worldwide resurgence in microbial diseases in this decade could pose Nothing short of a medical disaster." Tomasz backed up this warning with specific examples: a new antibiotic-resistant pneumonococcus now kills off many hospitalized seniors; Staphylococcus aureus, the most common cause of skin, wound and bloodstream infections - the dread hospital-acquired infection, is now resistant to all antibiotics except vancomycin. And that may not last long for Enterococcus faecium is already resistant to vancomycin.

Another factor is that we are a global village and, though Sweden or Canada can boast of 99 per cent vaccination rates against common childhood diseases, we are so mobile that many travellers are exposed to population who are not protected. For instance WHO reports that less than 10 per cent of the infants in African Guinea have been vaccinated for ANY infectious disease. Or look at the former Soviet Union which had tight vaccination programs and now the break-down of their public health has suddenly brought on what amounts to an extremely serious epidemic of diptheria. Diptheria is an acutely infectious disease that had virtually been eliminated until this rebound and vividly illustrates how vulnerable we are. Another aspect of this dilemma is that our so-called benefit of, increasing longevity has produced a significant core of immunologic-, compromised individuals which can now act as a reservoir from which a major epidemic could spread to the remainder of the population. Scary!

Yes, spend the $15B on drug-related research, the dividends could be the saving of millions of lives.

demonstration of Gaelic work-songs, leading off with a 'spirited' rendition of 'Pulling Bracken' (Tha Mi Sgith) by Hugh Allan McDonald and Stanley McCaskill. The cow for the milking song gave Gerald McGillis some difficulties, but Annie MacFarlane, originally from Lewis and now settled with her husband Angus in Apple Hill, finally succeeded in milking it to a traditional song. A churning song was sung by Carole Leblanc and Bernice Coleman, and a spinning song by Fiona Fraser and Sine McKenna. The rowing song by the men of the Gaelic Choir, George Harland, Stanley McCaskill, Hugh Allan McDonald, Bob Lemieux, Gerald McGillis and Kenneth McKenna ran into some turbulent water due to the fact that there was no rumble seat on the canoe and the paddles kept folding up.

At 3 p.m., Dr. Charles Dunn of Harvard University's Department of Celtic Languages and Literatures reminisced about collecting Gaelic songs and poetry in Glengarry 30 years ago, when there were still some speakers here who remembered the old words and could still recite them. One of the men that he had interviewed at the time was Donald Fletcher of Dunvegan, who gave him several songs, among them a poem from a forgotten Glengarry bard on the difficulties encountered by the early settlers.

The poem tells of the shock of seeing fireflies, unknown in Scotland, and how the poet feared that the world was onfire! Dr. Dunn, the author of 'Highland Settler', continues to write on Highland settlements in the New World, and Glengarry holds a special place in his affections.

On Saturday evening, August 27, again at Laggan School, the Glenelg Bicentennial Committee sponsored a pageant commemorating the emigration of many families from the Glenelg area in the Scottish Highland to Glengarry.

The pageant began with skits performed by the children of Trish Hamilton's Glengarry Play Group, representing the grandchildren of the original people who had arrived 30 or 40 years before.

After the children skipped off the stage, one little girl stayed behind and mused: 'I wonder what it was like when Grandma and Grandpa left Scotland — I wonder what it was like.' The stage darkened, the Gaelic Choir with soloist Gerry Tibbals sang the lament 'Cha Till MacCrumein' (MacCrimmon Will Never Return), and the families of 1793 were seen shuffling down the pier at Glenelg and preparing to board the ship that would take them away from their native land forever.

The audience had been asked to use their imaginations as a reporter from today interviewed some of the people leaving. As they would have been Gaelic-speaking, an interpreter translated the questions and anwers. They told their names, where they were from, and why they were leaving. As the stage lights faded, the sound of the sea was heard and the spotlight picked up a young women on board the ship singing a Gaelic lullaby to her baby.

The next scene was in Charlottetown, where the ship had to put in for the winter. The passengers were in very bad shape, but a group of Highlanders who had come out the year before greet them, singing a lively song, and welcoming them to Canada. 'The next year they got to

Over 700 people attended the week-long activities, from Gaelic classes to the moving Glenelg settlement pageant

Glengarry, and they brought their language, their music, and their children with them' the narrator says. All joined in a spirited song to which some of the children danced a Highland Fling. Sad faces became happy faces as the new arrivals realized that they would have help in making a new life for themselves.

The narrator/reporter said before the pageant began that the scenes depicted did not necessarily all occur on the 1793 voyage but were inspired by incidents on similar emigrant ships from the Scottish Highlands during the same era.

At the conclusion of the pageant, Morlin Campbell, as president of the Glenelg Bicentennial Committee, invited all those in the audience who were descended from the 1794 settlers to stand and follow the pipers up to the front of the hall, where they joined with the cast and audience in singing 'Will Ye No Come Back Again' and 'O Canada'. Two huge anniversary cakes were wheeled in and all shared in a social hour.

People attended from as far away as Florida and British Columbia. The Laggan School Gym was filled to its 300-plus capacity; the cast of the Glenelg Pageant alone consisted of some 75 men, women and children.

The special lighting effects and the sound system were under the direction of Dave McCormick and his able crew, daughter Amy, Darrel and Judy MacLeod, and Bob Hardy. Dave McCormick also acted as stage director, with assistant director Ernie MacMillan and a crew of five.

The part of the translator was played by Archie MacDonald, originally from the Isle of Skye and now retired from the Bank of Montreal. Mr. MacDonald also acted as advisor on the language and accuracy of the script.

Members of the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, the Glenelg Bicentennial Committee, the children of the Laggan School Gaelic Choir, St. Joseph's School Gaelic Choir, Trish Hamilton's Glengarry Drama Group and the people of Glengarry portrayed the Glenelg settlers.

Costumes were all prepared by members of the cast, and props were devised under the direction of Judy MacLeod. Donald Fraser carried the 'slabhraidh' (pronounced 'slawree') that was brought to Glengarry by his Fraser ancestor from Stratherrick on the eastern bank of Loch Ness almost 200 years ago. It is a large wrought-iron chain and hook used to suspend the iron pot for cooking over an open fire.

On display in the lobby of the school was the shawl brought by Myles and Hugh Allan MacMillan's great great grandmother from Lochaber. Although still in good condition, it was too precious to be used in the pageant.

Highland women board the ship that will take them to Canada are interviewed by "reporter" Ken McKenna, far left, and Gaelic translator Archie MacDonald interprets the questions and answers, during the Glenelg pageant on Saturday night at Laggan school.

Summer classes drew some 40 participants

The summer school featuring classes in Scottish Gaelic, Gaelic singing and folklore, piping and drumming, highland dancing and step-dancing and Scottish violin at Laggan School was more of a success than anticipated, with maximum attendance of 40 achieved weeks before the classes began.

Many applicants who were too late to get in to the summer school this year, in fact, have already applied for admission to next year's courses.

Stanley Fraser, vice-principal of Glengarry District High School, organized this year's summer school at Laggan on behalf of the Glenelg Bicentennial Committee, which was celebrating the arrival of the Glenelg people from the Scottish Highland in 1794 who settled side by side in the area they called Glenelg, later Kirkhill, in Lochiel Township, Glengarry.

On Friday, August 26, at noon, ceremonies were held at Laggan School marking the conclusion of the week-long summer school. Students demonstrated what they had learned at the school and were presented with certificates. Fraser remarked on how much everyone had learned in such a short time and how well the students, ranging in age from 8 to 80, had worked together.

You're never too old to learn Gaelic, Stanley McCaskill confirms

By Joe Banks,
News Publisher

When Stanley McCaskill decided he wanted to start learning Gaelic at 80 years of age, it was not without a lot of thought ahead of time — about 45 years.

South Branch Road resident Mr. McCaskill, one of the 40 students enrolled in the Glenelg Gaelic summer school held at Laggan school last week, said during a break in Friday's action that his intent to learn the Gaelic language and customs started in 1948, when he attended his first Glengarry Highland Games. He is proud to say he has never missed a Games since.

Life got in the way, however, and it wasn't until he greeted his Gaelic-speaking neighbor with a greeting his father had taught him years ago that he could see the time had come to stop procrastinating.

"When I greeted my neighbor in a Gaelic tongue, he was shocked at it," Mr. McCaskill said. "So I said I better learn something or keep my mouth shut."

The Prescott County native began taking lessons in Gaelic last September. He found last week's five-day course, however, a little stressful.

"When you're no longer a teenager, this doesn't come easy," he said.

Anybody watching him stepdance during a Friday recital, however, might disagree. Mr. McCaskill took the elective lessons in highland dance and piping to further enhance his appreciation of what goes on at the Glengarry Highland Games.

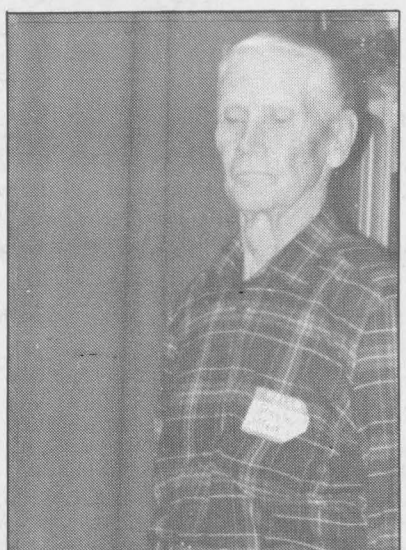
"As far as the stepdancing and playing the pipes go, I'll never be any good. But it gives you an appreciation for it."

Still, he intends to continue his lessons.

"Where there's life, there's hope. My goal is to enjoy the Celtic culture or help or encourage others to."

But in a quieter tone and with a twinkle in his eye, Mr. McCaskill confesses that the language of his ancestors may come in handy in the future.

"My father spoke Gaelic. And I'm not going to be here many more years, so I want to be able to greet my ancestors properly when I get to the other side."



Stanley McCaskill struts his stuff at Friday's graduation ceremony.

This merry band of workers, otherwise known as the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, performed at a fulling bee during the Feis Glengarry workshop on Highland work songs on Saturday at Laggan School. The Feis featured a variety of activities and entertainment that once again reminds Glengarrians of their highland heritage.

Canadian naval history becomes part of restaurant at Creg Quay marina

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Creg Quay's contribution to naval history has come in to port.

A 15-foot long model of Canada's most powerful warship ever built for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence was unveiled in front of 200 people at Creg Quay marina Thursday.

The model is of the H.M.S. St. Lawrence 1814, built by Greenfield resident Robert Nickerson, which now hangs from the ceiling at The Landings Restaurant at Creg Quay.

The St. Lawrence was chosen from a list of 15 potential models submitted by Nickerson to Creg Quay President David Hughes.

"This one seemed to jump out at the President David Hughes," said Nickerson.

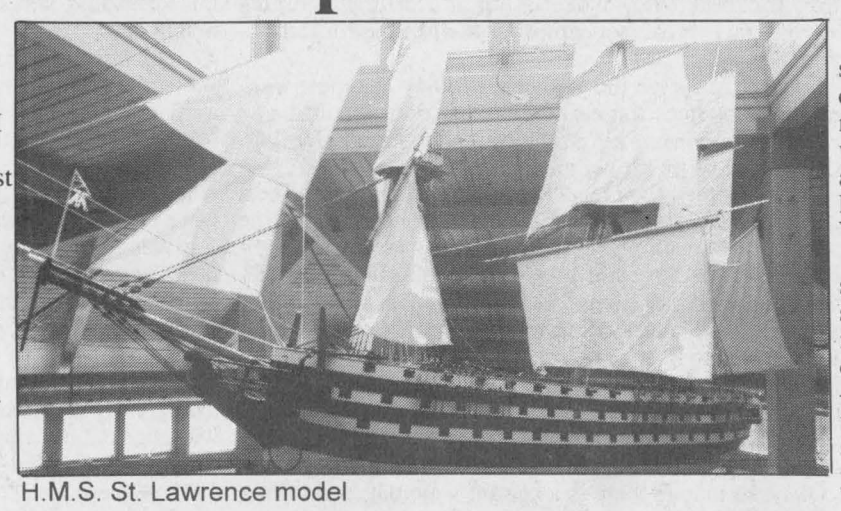
The model , built to a scale of a half inch to one foot, sports a hull length of 8 feet 6 inches, a total length of 15 feet three inches, and is nearly 10 feet tall.

The 230-lb work took over 1,000 man-hours of work to complete over a three-month period.

"This is the highest. I could say this one ranks first rate. I would say this one is the highest profile," Nickerson said yesterday.

"I'd say this is the one I'd have to be the proudest of."

The H.M.S. St. Lawrence was built at Port Frederick, Kingston in 1814, when relations with the country's southern neighbors were still, at best, tenous.



H.M.S. St. Lawrence model

And at her launching, she became the ultimate weapon of the day.

According to a short history describing the ship, no American ship ventured out against her in the latter months of the War of 1812.

In a single broadside — that is a simultaneous cannon volley from one side of the ship — she could hurl up to a ton of iron shot over 2,000 yards.

That almost equalled the firepower of the entire American fleet.

It is surmised the superiority of the huge ship may have saved considerable bloodshed and that she never had to fire a shot in anger, leading her to be dubbed "silent St. Lawrence" by historian C.H.J. Snider.

Her tremendous carrying capacity allowed her to move a large portion of what was then Upper Canada's Canadian forces from one end of the lake to the other within a day or two, discouraging any further American invasion for the balance of the war.

"A very large part of it (Canada's success) was because of this ship," Nickerson said.

"This was so much larger that they said, 'We don't need this,' and they gave up."

The ship from tip to tip measured only a few feet shorter than the 370-foot destroyer Haida moored at Toronto and with its mast and sails would tower as high as a 20-storey building.

The St. Lawrence, because of her size, was far too costly to maintain at war's end and in 1832, she was sold as firewood for the mere price of $75, a tiny fraction of the ship's $3 million cost.

Skin divers have brought up many pieces of timber and metal work where her remains rest in shallow water, near Kingston.

Municipal cooperation leads to outstanding agreement

It's a positive example of what can be done when the spirit of cooperation prevails.

North and south — Lancaster and Lochiel townships and Lancaster Village — came together Aug. 18 to begin the process of establishing a joint fire department between the three municipalities, a recommendation made by the Office of the Fire Marshall in Kingston.

Their approach deserves congratulations.

At the moment, fire service to the two municipalities and the village is provided by Alexandria and Lancaster Village. The Fire Marshall suggested in a report released recently that the three municipalities build stations in Dalkeith, North Lancaster and Glen Robertson in order to better serve these regions.

The rationale in setting up this joint service is that the system would bring more residents within the "ideal response" distance of eight kilometres, thereby reducing response time and fire insurance premiums for area residents.

And, of course, those better response times could save lives.

The new fire department makes sense economically too. With three municipalities sharing the burden of building the firehalls and maintaining the equipment, costs are spread out among about 6,000 ratepayers. That's important, because the first fire station to be built in Glen Robertson — central to all municipalities involved — would cost as much as $200,000, with trucks costing $250,000 each.

Fortunately, an application for funding under the Canada-Ontario Infrastructure Works Program to pay for the construction of the stations will be submitted, and that may take a big part of the costs off the backs of local ratepayers.

Still, this is an entirely worthy undertaking not only for economic or security reasons.

This represents what can be done when municipal councils decide that everyone benefits when they share resources. This was a strong point made at the recent North Glengarry Economic Development Commission by a provincial expert.

Each municipality may not need a complete fleet of heavy construction and road equipment. There may be opportunities to share and in these times of tight budgets it makes more sense than ever.

Lancaster and Lochiel and Lancaster Village have discovered this. We hope their example will lead to more frequent and greater instances of material cooperation between Glengarry's municipalities.

Glengarry County's Guides need leadership help

The Girl Guide movement for decades has provided young girls with skills and values to prepare them for a richer, fuller life in their adult years. It's also a lot of just plain fun.

For these and other reasons, it is troubling to learn from the local district that "many girls will not be able to enroll in Glengarry simply because we do not have enough leaders to meet the demand."

In particular, the communities of Glen Walter, Glen Robertson, Lancaster and Williamstown are in dire need. The first two communities mentioned have no Girl Guide units at all because of a lack of leaders. Williamstown needs leaders for Guides and Pathfinders, while Lancaster needs leaders for Guides and Brownies.

The competition for volunteers these days and the general increase in work and living stress may be contributing to the lack of Guide leaders. Other non-profit groups seeking volunteers in the county are suffering similarly.

However, when it comes to our youth, which so often seems to be forgotten in the persuit for senior citizens' residences and the like, and when there are so few publicly-supported facilities outside of sports aimed at providing activities for youngsters, Guides warrant more attention.

Girl Guides of Canada is the country's largest organization for girls and women, and there are reasons for that. They include not just the act of helping to provide girls with a source of worthwhile activities, but the sense of achievement and giving the leaders receive in return.

In the end, however, it's all for the kids themselves. It would be a shame if any of the county's girls and women couldn't reap those benefits.

The Glenelg travail is remembered

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

The small rowboat drifted in no particular direction, swirling lazily in the warm August breeze, pushed more by the whims of the August breeze than by current or oar. Our eyes peered out to the hills lining the small lake, focusing on a stand of white pine trees thrusting majestically from the cedars and the shedding birch.

The scene is made bizarre by the presence of a huge inflatable dragon tied to the bow, upon which sprawls a six-year old girl languishing in the heat of a Haliburton summer. She is, in fact, just a few hills and one or two lakes west of Algonquin Park, but at the moment she might as well be lounging in Neverland.

"Imagine," I say, breaking out of a slumber, "Before people came to this country, the land looked a lot like this. Where we live back in Alexandria, years and years and years ago, people came to Canada from their homes on the other side of the ocean and saw nothing but this kind of forest."

There was no immediate reaction, as the information competed with the tickle of a drop playing off a little toe.

"You mean, where our house is, was this?"

"Probably," I answered, "and maybe worse than this, with swamp and mosquitoes and scrub brush so thick, a person couldn't walk through it without getting tangled."

"And trees like those?" she said, pointing a grouping of century-plus old pines that stood out among the others.

"Bigger than that. Nobody was cutting trees down before we came here, so they lived longer and grew bigger."

She was trying to imagine trees taller and broader than the biggest of them. She squinted and tilted her head and scratched her locks, but those trees just couldn't seem to be much bigger than they already were. My thoughts, as well as thoughts could organize on a day like this, were with some people who saw such trees not as majestic gifts of nature, but as daunting obstacles to their dreams, made only possible by the most incredible hardships. Yet they determined to carve an existence out of the primitive wilds of Lochiel Township exactly 200 years ago this year, from their 200 acre land grants, at the pace of about a quarter to a half-acre a year.

Thanks to some first-rate histories published over the decades including those by authors Royce MacGillivray, Ewen Ross, Mariane McLean and scores of others, we've got a pretty good idea of how this county evolved after their arrival.

But as we pondered the Shield forest in this other section of Algonquin country, I couldn't help but wonder, perhaps more baffled than mystified — what went through their minds when they saw what they faced, this veil of dark forest, swamp and hard climate, so coldly and mysteriously different than their own gentle hills and rock?

And then, to know that there was no turning back, that the hard voyage that was behind them was not an option...

That courage was honored this week by a devoted group of their offspring, the McLeods and the MacMillans and other devotees of the ancient language, customs and traditions of Gaelic, at one time a more common language in Glengarry County than English.

Anybody who was at the Glenelg Pageant Saturday night will have a better idea of what the emigrants went through. For it is easy to forget that their real problems didn't begin until they started to dig out their new homes.

Yet in Scotland, the clansmen felt their economic future threatened by a loss of some land to sheep farmers, especially since rents had increased and the population was growing fast. The landlords wanted these same people to take up new lives on other parts of the estates through fishing, kelping or laboring. But the fact that 130 of these people chose to leave Glenelg for an unknown fate in Canada tells volumes about their expectations of future at home.

And so they left, most expecting never to see their home shores or their kin again. False starts plagued the voyage; storms damaged the ships they were in and they had to return for repairs. When the McLeod emigrants finally reached Prince Edward Island, they were greeted by a howling snowstorm on Nov. 1. A foot of ice lined the deck.

Imagine.

They waited out the winter on PEI.

Finally in early June of 1794, the Glenelg settlers Quebec. They travelled to Montreal by schooner and then completed the last 60 miles by military bateaux to the Raisin River. The overland route north was the final hurdle, and perhaps the harshest.

The scale of this undertaking is barely comprehensible even by today's standards. Clearly, they were assisted by spiritual strength, and a will to find something they could not in their own country — freedom to work their own land.

Imagine.

I did, on that August afternoon near Haliburton.

And it is little wonder the tears flowed at the conclusion of the Glenelg pageant in the gymnasium of Laggan School Saturday night.

Neighborly at the campground

News to me

by Greg Kielec

Maybe it wasn't particularly nice of us to keep them up half the night loudly playing cards by the campfire. But heck, they woke us up at 5:30 that morning starting their breakfast campfire. It was time for retribution.

So play cards we did, rather raucously at times, wondering if perhaps the earlybirds next door would be so zealous in their morning ritual this time round after getting a taste of their own medicine.

It is funny how the great outdoors can bring out the best in people. We are changed people when we are out in the wild. Even seeking retribution against problem neighbors takes on a certain good-naturedness not normally found in everyday living.

Sure, it was aggravating that the people at the campsite next to us rose before the sun and soon after dusk laid their heads for the night. But it didn't really bother us that much.

Well, actually it didn't really bother me that much. The other campers in our party were not quite as forgiving.

Okay, so maybe there is a certain way that logs rolling off a pile can sound like a bone-crushing avalanche when you are still in the throes of a deep slumber an hour or more before dawn. But it's not all that bad after the initial heart-stopping shock.

And so the monotonous wheezing of a pump filling up an air mattress too big to fit even the grandest of king-size beds gets aggravating after about the hundreth pump.

But other than hope the ballooning device would have a close encounter with a porcupine, there was not much that could be done.

And who were we to complain, really. After all, not all our sleep loss was on account of our rather intriguing neighbors.

Sleep interruptions were also perpetrated by members (actually, mainly one member) of our camping party awakening with the notion that perpetrators had infiltrated our campsite boundaries and were in the process of stealing our bicycles.

Each time, a quick check revealed that our bicycles were not gone and that all the panic was for naught.

It was verified by an independent source — another member of our camping party — that there did seem to be strange goings-on at our campsite that night. But it was concluded that whatever it was, it was not of the sinister nature.

These interruptions are what you call "in-camp originating sleep disturbances." Those are not to be confused with the "out of camp sleep disturbances", like the sound of logs being rolled by our neighbors next door.

Then there are "chain reaction sleep interruptions." These generally occur when an "out of camp sleep disturbance" awakens one member of the sleeping camping party, who in turn awakens another member, setting off a domino effect of awakenings until everyone

Memories of last week

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

It's pretty hard to say "thank you" when you're all choked up with emotion. Writing it down is easier, so I'll try to express my thanks to all those who helped to make the Glenelg Summer School, the Feis-Glengarry weekend, and the Glenelg Pageant such a success. For the past few months, as we worked on the script for the pageant, we hoped that the message would come across as intended. We hoped that those involved would see the sadness of those leaving their native land forever, with no hope of ever returning to see again those they left behind, and that the audience would share some of that sadness and fear -- fear of the unknown, fear for their safety and for the safety of their loved ones that was always a part of any emigration, particularly in the days of sail. Here are some of the things that I jotted down during the week of the Summer School, Feis, and Pageant that moved me deeply. I know that some of you who read this will be moved as well.

First, there was the Glenelg Summer School, organized by Stanley Fraser, vice-principal of Glengarry District High School; Stanley McCaskill, who celebrated his 80th birthday recently, step-dancing on the stage at Laggan School, after attending his Gaelic class and the piping class every day for a week. All I could think of was how proud his forebears must be, to think that their music, their language and their joyousness is still shared and enjoyed by someone as dedicated as Stanley. Most other people his age would probably prefer to stay home and take it easy. How beautiful to see him take such pleasure in his Highland heritage, and what an example he is to us all. Thanks, Stanley. And there were the graduates of the Summer School receiving their diplomas on Friday, and the remark made by our grandson, Michael Sandy: "That was the best week I ever spent in my life" he said. The next morning, at the Feis, he recited his Gaelic verse in front of an audience. We have always been proud of him, but never so proud as we were on that day. Thanks, Sandy.

And Meaghan Curran, Hugh Allan and Bernice McDonald's granddaughter, singing so proudly and so beautifully at the Ceilidh on Friday night and again at the Feis. "I'll sing another song if you want me to" she said, and we did. Thanks, Meaghan.

And her cousin Ian Mann, introduced by a beaming Donald Joseph McPhee, the renowned violin teacher. "He's a really good player," said Donald, who ought to know. Ian is also an accomplished piper, and if he keeps up his Gaelic, will be a triple-threat. Thanks, Ian. To all those who took part in the Summer School or helped in other ways, moran taing.

All the members of the Gaelic Choir did a wonderful job, as well as those from the Glenelg Committee and the others who took part in the pageant. Once the script was read to them they needed no further explanations -- they got the message. At the dress rehearsal, they were all dressed exactly as they should have been. A member of the audience told me after the performance that the cast looked as if they had just stepped out of an 18th century painting. And the singing! If there was a dry eye in the house as Gerry Tibbals and the choir sang "MacCrimmon Will Never Return" I wouldn't believe it. Fiona Fraser conducted the choir not only in their singing, but in the stage directions as well, under the brilliant tutelage of Dave McCormick. Judy MacLeod's properties were wonderful indeed, from the canoe and collapsible paddles at the afternoon worksongs session, to the turnips presented to the Glenelg people in Charlettetown. Donald Fraser brought his own prop -- the wrought-iron hook that his Fraser ancestor had brought from the Highlands 200 years ago. It was used to hang the cooking pot over the open fire. I'll never forget how we all worked together in harmony for the pageant, and the sounds and the lighting and the words. I congratulated Muriel Aiken for her

Claim that river is dead disputed

To the editor:

With regards to M. Sullivan's letter in the Aug. 24 issue, I would like to take great exception to the statement that the river crossing the Dunvegan/Greenfield road is dead.

The Scotch River (not the Scout River) that crosses the Dunvegan Road just near the Eighth Concession road is a very active river. At the present time, the levels are high and the water does not look to be flowing. You don't have to have apparent motion to know that a river is live -- the number of waterfowl that nest and live near the river includes Canada Geese, Great Blue Herons, several types of ducks, rails, bitterns. The bush nearby supports a great number of songbirds. Hawks and owls nest nearby and hunt near the river.

The muddy banks show tracks of deer and raccoon; muskrats and beaver have their houses close by. Moose live in the area.

Snapping turtles and painted turtles are often seen and their eggs are laid near the river in well drained gravelly spots -- often right on the side of the road near the bridge. Frogs are numerous in the grassy areas close by. Pike and suckers live in the river and there are any number of minnows to be seen.

The plant life along the river includes such beauties as the cardinal flower, turtlehead, blue iris, sweet flag, ostrich fern, and marsh bellflower.

How do I know? We have the great fortune to have the river cross our property.

So, M. Sullivan, don't tell me the Scotch River is dead -- stop and take a look sometime when you are passing by.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Peggi Calder,
Dunvegan.

Parish congratulated for mass

To the editor:

Congratulations to St. Margaret of Scotland parishioners of Glen Nevis for the well planned Sunday, Aug. 14th.

Mass was celebrated at 10:30 a.m. A procession before into the church was headed by a piper and six young kilted men carrying banners, followed by Rev. Fr. Poirier, servers and lecters.

Following the mass was a procession to the cemetery to honor the deceased members of the parish.

The social followed in the charming setting west of the church.

It was good to have been there.

M. MacGillis,
Alexandria.

New Girl Guide leaders sought

To the editor:

A new Girl Guiding season will start soon and many young girls are looking forward to the activities the Guide movement can offer.

Guiding has programs to serve Sparks, ages 5-6, Brownies 6-9; Guides, 9 to 12; Pathfinders, 12 to 15 and Senior Branches, 15 to 25.

Unfortunately, many girls will not be able to enroll in Glengarry simply because we do not have enough Leaders to meet the demand.

Sign up now as a leader for the experience of a lifetime. For more information contact Diane Finnerty at 538-2680 or Claire at 525-0725 after 6 p.m.

Yours in guiding,
Claire Hambleton,
Highland District P.R.

Enforcement needed to reduce car accidents

To the editor:

I am a concerned citizen who lives along Hwy. 43. I think that with all the accidents that have occurred in the region this summer, our police force should enforce our laws along the highways more. There are way too many speeders out there and too many people drinking and driving still. If they need to do more road blocks, then they should do it, and they should have a constant patrolling to remind the public the safety rules.

Mrs. Linda Lapointe,
Hwy. 43,
Alexandria.

Being neighborly at the campground

in the tent can no longer sleep.

These sleep interruptions were generally perpetrated by members of our camping party whose sleep had been interrupted by the commotion next door, and felt it necessary not only to awaken, but also to complain to all other campers in the tent about being rousted without cause.

Half way between never-never land and Charbot Lake, Ontario, sleep-starved minds began not only to seek an answer for these apparent awakenings without cause, but for other questions as well.

Who were they? What were they like? What were they doing there?

Certainly it appeared it was their first weekend together. This theory was floated by one of the campers in our party, who offered as support the fact that the woman asked the man how many sugars he takes in his coffee that morning.

She overheard this quite undeliberately after being awakened by the morning pumping-of-the-air-mattress ritual. Only the most astute observer would pick up such an idiosyncracy, and pick it up she did.

If the magic bullet was the basis for the one gunman theory in the J.F.K. assassination, the coffee question was the basis to her theory that our neighbors were near strangers on a daring weekend rendezvous.

That is as much as we were able to learn about our intriguing campground neighbors. In a whirlwind of activity Sunday morning, they were packed and gone, as suddenly as they come.

Who were they? What were they doing? What tales do their lives have to offer? We will probably never know.

And as they headed off into the distance, I could almost hear them saying: "Strange neighbors we had, eh?"

Who were they? What were they doing? What is their story in life? And boy, do they love playing cards.

Foreign Affairs Minister to guest speak at Knights of Columbus Red Leaf Dinner

The tenth annual Red Leaf dinner of the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Liberal Association will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, St. Philippe Street in Alfred, Wed., Sept. 28, according to Don Boudria, MP for Glengarry-Prescott-Russell.

This year,the guest speaker will be the Honorable Andre Ouellet, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Ouellet was first elected to the House of Commons in 1967.

He has served as Postmaster General, President of the Privy Council, Government House Leader, Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Minister of State for Urban Affairs, Minister of Public Works, Minister of Labor and Minister of State for Regional Economic Development.

He has graduated from the University of Ottawa and the University of Sherbrooke Faculty of Law.

Ouellet and his wife have four children.

Several members of Parliament and senators will also be in attendance at the dinner.

A complete list of the names of these guests will be published at a later time.

Admission for the event is $100 per person and part of the amount will qualify as a political contribution. Official receipts will be issued for income tax purposes.

Said Boudria: "I am pleased that the 1994 Red Leaf Dinner will have someone of such high calibre as our special guest Andre Ouellet; no doubt that all those in attendance will enjoy the opportunity to listen to this fine speaker."

Guest speakers at previous Red Leaf Dinners were the Right Honorable Jean Chretien, prime minister of Canada; former prime minister John Turner; the Honorable Paul Martin Jr., Minister of Finance; the Honorable Sheila Copps, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of the Environment and the Honorable Frank McKenna, Premier of the Province of New Brunswick.

Some 410 people were in attendance for the 1993 dinner.

St. Lawrence River cleanup meetings set, residents invited to give input on process

After several years of study, members of the St. Lawrence River Public Advisory Committee RAP Team have developed preferred options for the cleanup of the St. Lawrence River.

Open houses and a public input session have been planned to provide the public with an opportunity to question and understand the options, and to provide the team with meaningful comments.

Open houses will be held at Creg Quay, Cooper Marsh and the Civic Complex in Cornwall on September 13, 14 and 15 from 5:30 to 9 p.m. A public input session will follow in Aultsville Hall on September 28 from 7 to 10 p.m. During this session members of the public are invited to make five minute presentations and are asked to submit their comments in writing.

Over the last 60 years, industrial pollution has contributed to a loss of water quality and a degradation of fish and wildlife habitat in the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes basin. In addition, poor land use practices and uncontrolled release of toxic substances have caused considerable degradtion to surrounding aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems.

Increased awareness of water pollution lead the International Joint Commission, a body that advises the Canadian and U.S. governments, to designate 43 of the most severely affected areas in the Great Lakes as Areas of Concern (AOCs). The governments of Canada and Ontario are working with the local communities to restore and protect Great Lakes water quality by means of cleanup plans called Remedial Action Plans (RAPs).

Public opinion is an important contribution to the discussion on remedial options. Don't miss this opportunity to provide input to the process. For more information, please call Andy Code at (613) 528-4823.

Chamber plans in the works

Business Beat

By Joe Banks, 525-2020

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce met on August 10, with five of 14 board members attending.

President Dean Picher briefed the board on summer student Jean Vaillancourt's activities which included a day a week in the Seaway Valley Tourism Association's tourist booth in Lancaster, two mornings a week helping out the Youth Action Jeunesse group at the park, a day a week working on the golf tournament fundraiser, a day a week working on the information package project and a day a week divided between the last two items and miscellaneous activities.

Plans for the golf tournament, Jean reported, were proceeding well. Roughly two dozen prizes for the prize table had been secured, as of the date of the meeting and numerous foursomes had registered. The tournament is planned to be held at the Glengarry Golf and Country Club on Sunday, Sept. 25. It is using a scramble or "best ball" format.

Registration includes 18 holes of golf, a chicken-a-la-king buffet-style meal, tournament momentoes and of course prizes.

The registration deadline is Friday, Sept. 9. Anyone interested in registering can call Dean Picher at 525-3463.

House's golf-a-thon a success

And while we're on the subject of golf, Mount Carmel House Treatment Centre at St. Raphael's informs us that for the first time since it sponsored its annual golf-a-thon, it was able to raise $3,600 in corporate donations. That meant that along with the donations it received from the donors who sponsored its 54 golfers, it exceed its goal of $8,000, collecting over $10,000 in gross receipts.

In the past 10 years in fact, the event has raised close to $79,000 for its programs and activities.

Thanks for the help

Reynald and Monique Theoret, owners of Ski-Hi Video, were the first recipients of the youth group, Youth Action Jeunesse's business trophy at the group's closing dance Friday night at Centre Culturelle. RVA Steel Works donated the award, which will be given quarterly by the group to the business or individual(s) who contribute to the betterment of youth in Alexandria and area. From left, are Reynald and Monique, and group coordinators Glenys Bartlett and Carole Deguire.

Alcohol suspected in crash that killed Maxville woman

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Alcohol is suspected as a factor in the Hwy. 43 accident that killed a Maxville area mother of four.

Marlene Sauve was killed in the Aug. 15 accident when her car collided with a pick up truck driven by Marcel Sauve east of the Apple Hill turnoff.

"We do suspect alcohol," said Maxville OPP constable Shawn Gilbert in a telephone interview on Monday.

A warrant was issued for blood samples from Marcel Sauve. The samples have been sent to the OPP forensic lab in Toronto for testing.

Gilbert said the blood has already been tested at the hospital and that it's "over the limit," but police are awaiting conclusive tests from the police lab.

The results "could be a month or more," said Gilbert and charges will "be considered at that time."

Marcel Sauve sustained serious injuries to his arms and hip in the accident and was taken to Ottawa General Hospital.

During his two-week stay in hospital after the accident, Marcel Sauve underwent up to seven different surgeries on his left arm, right hip and right elbow.

Doctors were able to save his left arm, which they feared would have to be amputated, using steel pins and plates.

The two accident victims are not related.

1994 ...It's our year

Small shop with a great future

Wood heat without chopping wood seems like a miracle, but that's what you get with the new wood pellet-burning stoves that began to revolutionize home heating a few years ago. The manufacturers of Whitfield pellet stoves introduced the world's first home pellet stove in 1984, and they are still the leaders in the field. And the local dealer for Whitfield pellet stoves is Future Energy Products, located on Highway 2 about 1.5 kilometers east of Glen Walter.

"Wood pellet stoves are a step above the wood stove, even modern air-tight models," says Future Energy Products store manager Jody Watson. "They are easy to install and operate, clean, efficient and environmentally advanced."

Pellet stoves require no expensive chimney systems (though a conventional chimney may be used). Rather, burning as cleanly as they do, they are simply vented through the wall like a common home clothes drier. A conventional wood stove produces about 60 grams of particulate emissions per hour. The Whitfield Renaissance pellet stove, the world's cleanest burning, releases only 0.4 grams per hour. The result? No visible smoke and no creosote. And Whitfield pellet stoves are approved for masonry and zero-clearance fireplaces.

Best of all, they are super-simple to operate. They feed themselves automatically, and rarely require, even in the coldest Glengarry winter, more than one filling a day. The Whitfield line monitors room temperature, adding more fuel when extra heat is required and temporarily shutting down when the desired room temperature is reached. A thermostat option allows Whitfield stoves to operate via wall or digital wall thermostats.

The pellets that pellet stoves burn are made from sawdust, lumber industry byproducts that would otherwise be wasted in landfills. This waste sawdust is dried, pelletized, and packed in 18-kilogram bags. A year's supply of about 150 bags takes up as much in the woodshed as two cords of wood. And, of course, there is no chopping, splitting, hauling or piling firewood!

"But you can still see the fire," notes Future Energy Products' Jody Watson. "There are glass doors, just like an air-tight stove. It's very cosy."

Future Energy Products sells three models of Whitfield pellet stoves, as well as Whitfield propane and natural gas stoves. They also represent and stock Jamestown pellet and gas stoves, as well as Canadian-made Envirofire pellet stoves, a total of 16 models in all. Stove prices range from $1700 to $2700, which clearly makes them competitive with conventional air-tight stoves. There are also pellet furnaces in the $3000 range.

"We started selling pellet stoves last October," says Watson, "and I must say the first year has been tremendous. In some ways, the pellet stove has taken over from the corn-burning stove. The corn stove is a lot dirtier than the pellet stove, and of course, when you're storing a lot of corn at home, mice can be a problem. We used a pellet stove at home last winter, and we were completely satisfied."

Jody, along with his parents, Ray and Ann, have operated a craft store, the Country Cob Craft Shop, at their site just east of Glen Walter for the past five years. The shop specializes in dolls, ceramics and other mostly locally-produced crafts. A restaurant on the same site is leased out. The craft shop and the Future Energy Products stove store are open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Municipality urged to use planning seminars

Kenyon Councillor Gwen Morris, long pushing for increased cooperation between local municipalities, sponsored a resolution at Kenyon council inviting the other 19 United Counties municipalities to take advantage of roads planning seminars offered by the province.

Chesterville and Iroquois expressed interest, Kenyon Clerk Mary McCuaig reported last week, and more replies are expected by the end of the month.

"The Ministry of Transport (MTO) is offering free engineering consultants and seminars to help municipalities plan future roads strategy," Morris told The News.

MTO officials at this summer's Good Roads convention in Toronto, stressed sharing expensive machinery between neighboring municipalities, to keep soaring road maintenance costs down.

Morris says the ministry is offering a menu of helpful workshops which it will set up and staff if municipalities show any interest.

"We're being offered workshops with expert guidance on roads priority planning, worker development, systems review, and roads cost/benefit studies," Morris explained.

"Small municipalities like ours need all the expert help we can get to keep our roads in shape," she said.

It is often difficult to calculate what roads to pave, and to choose the type of surface which will last longest for the cost involved, Morris explained.

"Now we've got this offer of free help from the ministry, I think townships and villages should get together in Glengarry to get help from the experts," she said.

Ted Jacobs of Brooklin, Ont., visited for a few days the past week with his aunt, Mary deHaas, St. Elmo West.

They came from the east, Dunvegan and Alexandria, the west, Moose Creek, Newington, Richmond and Stittsville; the south, Cornwall and Maxville; the north, Fournier, Riceville and Ottawa, to join with the congregation of Gordon Church on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. for the special anniversary (130) and memorial worship service and for a fellowship hour with refreshments served by the Ladies of Gordon Church in the church hall following the worship service.

The Rev. Bert de Bruijn of Chesterville preached a sermon on the theme "what is the meaning of these stones?" from the story in the book of Joshua with regard to the people of Israel crossing the River Jordan into the promised land and gathering stones from the river to set up a memorial of the crossing over the Jordan River to their future homes.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Garry Van Bruchem with the organist, Elgin Bowan of Winchester, Ont., and the St. Andrew's Church choir of Maxville leading the service of praise to God.

Wine and cheese successful

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

Lap-tops don't travel particularly well in Nor'Westers canoes, so as you have no doubt already surmised, I didn't have to ride out into the sunset after all. Yes, so many smiling faces showed up at the Museum's annual wine and cheese evening held last Wednesday that my fears were quite unfounded.

So who all were there? The Gouda family was well-represented -- sons "Smoked" and "Speckled" (nick-names, of course) attended along with clan patriarch, old Dutch.

Ronnie Rondele was a terrific hit with the ladies -- in fact you could say he was quite wiped out by the end of the evening.

The Bries and their cousins, the Camemberts flew over from France especially for the event. The trip took its toll on "Frenchie," who wasted away long before some of the local predators had a chance to gobble up his every move.

Moving down the social ladder, the Cheddars were there en masse, attired in the usual ho-hum colors of curdish orange and lardy white -- colors which do absolutely nothing to disguise their uncarved soapstone shapes -- (why doesn't someone tell them?).

In keeping with the multicultural fad of the moment, the Wines were there in two different colors, representing the two separate branches of the family. And while they didn't exactly mix, there were no unpleasant incidents to speak of.

Highlight of the evening was the recognition of two people whose contributions over the years to the museum have made it, in the words of Chair Joan MacDonald, "as fine a museum for a small town as I have ever seen."

Clarence Fiske was honored as one of the founding members of the museum, and after Joan had delivered a glowing introductory tribute to him, Clarence quipped something like, "I don't think you've got the right person," or other Fiskean words to that effect.

Dr. Wilfrid Johnston was recognized posthumously for the tremendous work he did on behalf of the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum over the years. Les Rose of the Museum Committee outlined the accomplishments of this well-known and greatly respected man.

Eavesdropping on the conversations throughout the evening was the exhibition of artwork which could be seen hanging around the room. On loan from various local collectors, the scenes featured the best of Williamstown/Martintown area landmarks, as they looked throughout the years.

Of special interest were the prints of former Williamstown artist, Robin Wall, now living in British Columbia.

Besides the Museum Committee, thanks goes out to student curators, Sherry Sloan and Shona Fraser, and helper Steve Laframboise, for ensuring that the thirsty were slaked; to Don Kannon for once again auctioning the leftovers; and to Audrey Blair and Catherine Miller for their impromptu line-dancing!

Hugh and Audrey Blair are off to Perth and they will be greatly missed. The grass will grow long on local links; dust will settle on the mystery section at the library; and line-dancing in Martintown just won't be the same.

All the best to you both on your big move!

Besides the cheeses mentioned above, another big one was at the gathering on Wednesday. Local MP, Don Boudria, was there and guess what? Mr. Boudria was recruited to speak to the Glengarry Historical Society at its next regular meeting being held at the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum on Thursday, Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. (Did I get it right this time, Frank?)

Please take note that Mr. Boudria will be speaking about history, not politics, and will be accompanied by his son who is doing graduate work in history in Ottawa.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Tonight is the Sports Hall of Fame Dinner in Alexandria, and it is hoped that there will be a good turn-out from the Williamstown area.

Among the young athletes being honored as the guests of Laura Hill are several from this area. The Proctor brothers, Steve, Jeff, and Don, will be recognized, as will Chris Lumley, Michelle Owens and Lisa McEvoy.

Catherine Gordon and her husband, Steven Marsh, visited Catherine's parents, Grace and Ralph Gordon recently.

Cathy and Steve were married Aug. 13 in Toronto, where they are now living. Among those of local interest in the bridal party were Cynthia Gordon, Cathy's sister, and her long-time friend from Williamstown school days, Tanya Blumel.

Best wishes go out to the newlyweds for a wonderful and dramatic life together!

Professional time-planners were needed this weekend to sort out the comings and goings of several locals who were flitting from wedding to wedding, reception to reception, and trying to take in as many of the Laggan events as possible.

Still it could be done, and those who did it profess to having had a wonderful time.

Here in Williamstown, the wedding party of Ellery Lafave, son of Donalda Lafave and the late Melvin Lafave, and Jennifer Lochhead, daughter of David and Ann Lochhead, took place at St. Mary's Church on Saturday.

Members of the wedding party were Dale MacMillan of Vancouver (formerly of Alexandria) and Andrea Craig of Vancouver. Flower girl was Katie Pelley and ringbearer was Scott MacDonell, niece and nephew respectively, of the groom.

Ellery and Jennifer have had a ten year courtship --they met as teenagers working at Katimavik, and even though the geographic distance between their respective homes (Williamstown and Maple Ridge, B.C.) was a little long, their relationship endured.

The Lafaves will be residing in Coquitlam, B.C., where Ellery is working and Jennifer is attending Simon Fraser University.

Although not strictly-speaking from Williamstown, another couple married on the weekend has so many connections here, we have to send our congratulations.

To Kim McRae, daughter of Carolyn and Ron, and Rodney Craig, son of Bev and Art, we extend our warmest wishes.

The last of her family, Edith Grant of Williamstown passed away on Saturday in Cornwall. Edith was the daughter of Donald and Laura Grant, and was employed for many years at movie theatres in Cornwall.

She was predeceased by her brothers, Milton and Munroe.

There are still places available for the upcoming term at Charlottenburgh Nursery School. The school is held in the mornings from 9 a.m.to 11:30 a.m. and parents have the choice of sending their child/children aged two and a half and over to either the two-day or three-day per week program.

Jane Grant is the lady to call for more information: 347-7165 (home), or 347-3354 (nursery school).

Guides and Brownies to register on Sept. 1

Martintown
by Lillian Rouleau

Parents and girls are invited to register for Brownies (7 to 9 years of age), and Girl Guides (9 to 11 years old), on Thursday, Sept. 1, from 6:30 to 8 p.m., at the Martintown Community Centre. Registration fee is $25.

The meetings will begin later in September. For more information, contact Brownies leader Cheryl Renaud at 528-4673, and Girl Guides leader Darlene Donaher at 528-4744.

Fall classes

The Glengarry School of Piping and Drumming will begin fall classes Sept. 24th, and are looking forward to welcoming new members. Please look for the ad in next week's newspaper for more details.

Horticulture Society outing

A reminder for members to contact Pearl Murray (528-4967) before Sept. 2, if you plan on attending the group outing at Cooper Marsh on Saturday, Sept. 10.

Anyone wishing to attend the district #1 annual meeting, Sept. 17 in Morrisburg, must reserve by contacting Vicky Pollock at 528-4359 or Onagh Ross at 528-4488, before Sept. 5. The cost of $10 for the day is all inclusive.

Fitness class meeting

If you're interested in joining a low impact/low intensity exercise class, please attend an information meeting, Thursday, Sept. 8, at 10 a.m. at the community centre. Enquiries may be directed to class instructor, Beverly Hincks at 347-2729.

Log chinking workshop

The McKinnon Forestry Interpretative Centre is offering a weekend workshop, Sept. 10 and 11, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at its facility on Boundary Road, off the Apple Hill Road (Rd. 20).

This is a hands-on workshop led by master log builder Rob Filliol of Glengarry Log Restorations Ltd., who will teach the techniques of chinking a log building.

The cost is $150 per person, including three meals (two lunches and barbecue). There is a limited number of places available, so please pre-register. For more details, call 938-4664, or fax 938-4684.

Among the over 600 STAADS (Saber Pilots Association Air Division Squadrons) recent 40th reunion in Moncton, N.B. were Sam and Monique McCracken.

These are all Canadian RCAF pilots who flew the Saber jets during the Korean war, and were on NATO duty in Europe, where Sam McCracken served.

He met one chap there that he had not seen for 37 years, and they recognized each other immediately.

During the ceremony at the Canadian Airforce Base in Chatham, Sam McCracken was decorated and received a medal. The three days spent down east were wonderful and they both enjoyed it all very much.

There will be another reunion in Calgary in two years time. Congratulations on your decoration from all your friends. That's quite an honor and long overdue, if I may say so!

The 39'ers met at the Church on the Hill hall on Aug. 17 with 40 people present.

July and August birthday celebrants were Albert Brewer, Dot Burnett, Denny Van Loon, Mary Harker, Mora Cunnings and Gerald McGillis, Kurt Persike, Nancy McMenamin, and Jean Eleanor.

Lucky cup winners were Ruth Paige, Gerald McGillis and Agnes Robinson.

The guest speaker was Diane Legault of Lifeline, and she had a wealth of information for her listeners.

She explained the device that can be worn as a bracelet or a pendant, how by pressing a button, help can come by way of the telephone.

The device makes contact with the base and one of the respondents are called to go and see what the trouble is with the user.

They are waterproof, and are good within 200 feet to 300 feet of the unit monitor.

The unit that makes it all possible is small and neat and must be connected to the phone jack, but does not hinder the phone from normal usage. There is a battery backup in case of a power failure.

It had many possibilities, and by pressing the button, may also be used as a speaker phone, should one not be able to get to the telephone after a fall, heart attack or injury.

There is an outlet at Hotel Dieu in Cornwall where one may obtain more information. Such a device could enable an elderly or disabled person to remain at home and feel a sense of security at all times.

The listeners were really interested in her talk, as all the questions they asked her afterward showed.

The date for the Christmas dinner has been set for Dec. 15 at the Pizzeria at noon.

Elisabeth Groot gave an encouraging financial report.

The Fall bazaar will be held on Saturday, Sept. 10 from 1 to 3 p.m. but there will be a mini-concert in the sanctuary at 12:30, presented by the members, of songs and hymns, solos and duets.

A letter from former member Chris Gill was received by Ruth Paige asking to be remembered to the group.

One member, Margaret Dow, has now gone to live with her son in Halifax. She will be missed.

The day finished with bingo and cards.

Congratulations to Dawn MacNeil and Michael Borris on their wedding in Alexandria at the Church on the Hill on Saturday, Aug. 27.

She is the daughter of Claude and Ethel MacNeil. The reception was held in Cornwall.

May you always be as happy as you are right now. Best wishes from your Glen Sandfield friends and neighbors.

Happy anniversary to Jackie and Tom Brown. May we extend our very best wishes from your friends and neighbors.

The first ever Feis Glengarry has come and gone, and what a simply huge success it was.

The week of workshops were very well attended, and all those who went have only high praise for the teachers. They said that they all enjoyed the classes no end.

The sold-out ceilidh, dinner and dance on Friday evening at the Bonnie Glen was everything the organizers had hoped it would be.

After the meal a one-hour concert, featuring fiddlers, the Glengarry Gaelic Choir, various solos, and impromptu numbers, just sped by.

The Celtica Band then took over for the dancing. When they had a break the ladies of the choir took the floor to sing a series of Gaelic work songs that had everyone clapping in time.

On Saturday morning the participants of the recitals did their songs and were praised by both of the judges for their command of the language and their fine presentations.

The favorable comments were a great encouragement to the solo singers as well as the three choirs. The children taking part were a delight, and they really know their songs well.

The judges remarked on their remarkable pronunciation of some of the very difficult words. There were a few suggestions on how the performances could be improved for some of the adult participants, but were very minor.

The able adjudicators were Linda Morrison and Archie MacDonald.

The two interesting afternoon workshops were led by Michael MacConaill, who spoke on the link between Irish and Scottish Gaelic and Professor Charles W. Dunn of Harvard University on preserving the Highland story.

Both were at ease before the audience, knew their topics very well and had no trouble communicating their love of their languages and heritage.

They were most kind in answering a myriad of questions at the end of their presentations.

The spinning song was sung near a spinning wheel for effect, two women sang a butter churning song, while actually depicting the churning process.

The Gaelic Boatman was sung by the six men of the choir, while sitting on chairs, behind a cardboard canoe. However, it only hid four chairs, but there were six men paddling.

The cardboard paddles collapsed under the strain of the paddling, and bent off in several directions.

It may have started out as a serious demonstration of a rowing song, but it became so much fun that the fellows had a hard time to keep on singing, they were laughing so hard.

The ladies choir's waulking song followed this, as the women demonstrated how the woolen cloth was stretched and pulled into shape. One chap was so tired "pulling bracken" that he took a nip of the good stuff (pretend of course) and began to dance a jig as the choir joined him for Ha Me Skee.

The last presentation was a milking song, which could not begin until the cow was caught by Gerald McGillis who chased and finally caught her and put a "bridle" on her.

She was led to the milking stool where the milkmaid began to milk her, and she almost could not sing for laughing.

One of the choir gals had dressed up in a black and white cow suit, complete with pink udder, and got down on all fours to be milked, mooing all the while.

It was really hilarious. No one was bored that afternoon, for sure.

There were a lot of interesting booths scattered around the halls and many people took advantage of the displays after the workshops had concluded.

In the evening it was quite different. The first half of the program was presented by Trish Hamilton and the Children's Theatre Club.

It was a variety program of skits and music that was very well received. They are really talented youngsters, with a devoted director, and the audience just loved them.

The mood changed for the presentation of the Glen Elg Pageant. The cast included the children, members of the Glen Elg Bicentennial Committee and the Glengarry Gaelic class and the Gaelic choir.

The pageant told the stories of the Scots who were evicted by the landowners who felt that there was more profit to be made in keeping sheep.

The people boarded a ship to sail to Canada with great hesitation, many had never been on a ship.

It was a sort of "You are There" format, wherein the interviewer asked the women who they are and why they were leaving their homes.

They answered in Gaelic and had it interpreted in English for the reporter.

The first scene was introduced by the choir with a poignant song of farewell. On slowly entering, the women were interviewed as they were to board the ship for Canada. The next scene was at the pier in Halifax where they had landed. Many had died on their voyage.

They lived in conditions far worse than on slave ships, they ate rotten food and drank poisonous water.

The immigrants were sick, saddened by their hardships and the loss of many of their loved ones. They entered with heads bowed, one woman fell, weakened from illness and was helped up and comforted by another.

The reporter was moved by the tears of the lady who answered that she had lost two children on the voyage. In the distance we heard softly, the sound of a gay song.

"What is that? she asked in Gaelic, and was told it was the Scottish people who came over to Canada last year.

At this point the choir entered, carrying food baskets, blankets and clothing for the newcomers, the singing grew loud and joyful now.

As the choir went onstage to gaily greet the new arrivals they all began singing a mouth-music set of songs, together, and the children started to dance.

The end of the set was the end of the pageant. The piper then escorted any of the people in the audience to the front of the hall, who are descendants of those who were mentioned on the ship's list, and almost half of the audience came to the front.

Three big birthday cakes (one with candles) were divided among the very large crowd. The cast received a great many compliments on their performances.

It is not hard to realize how the people felt during the drama. Folks said that they were so moved that they couldn't join in singing "Will Ye No Come Back Again" and "O Canada" at the end.

Many were in tears as they became completely involved in the story and the plight of the people. It was a far greater success than ever expected and everything went of without a hitch.

One lady from Florida said that if the committee puts on the same drama next year she will come again to see it.

There were people on hand from amazing distances, such as B.C. and Scotland and the U.S.A.

It was a real pleasure to take part in so poignant and lifelike a pageant; one that made history unfold right there before your eyes.

The cast loved doing it, and were truly delighted at the crowd's enthusiastic response.

Valley boys win "B" championship

Green Valley
Margo Pepin
525-3581

Our Green Valley boys' baseball team was victorious in pulling off the B championship in the playoffs held on Saturday at the arena ballfield.

The team, consisting of Green Valley boys 11 to 15 years old, defeated Denis Roy's team.

Michel Gauthier and Marc Menard were the winning coaches and Dominic Poirier won most genial player in the playoffs while Jean-Francois Menard received MVP in the playoffs.

The league, consisting of six teams, celebrated Saturday night with a dinner, dance and awards ceremony organized by Rejean and Rachelle Bourgon (Boucane) who also took charge of the league throughout the year.

Past President Andre Menard and wife Fernande, President Paul Mongeon and wife Diane, secretary Ronald Aubin and wife Ginette, treasurer Gilles Theriault and wife Julie, lieutenant governor for zone 6, Henri Jeaurond and wife Gisele, Marcel and Carole Brunet have all returned from an Optimist Convention in Sudbury.

While there they attended several workshops, had a tour of the city, and went to visit the mines. I wonder how many of them actually descended into the mines and visited the science north museum. Andre told me everyone enjoyed themselves.

Therese Lortie attended the baptism of her 16th grandchild on Sunday, Aug. 14. Nicholas Andre Liam, son of Andre and Carrie (Walsh) Lortie was baptized in St. Michael's Church in Belleville.

Godmother was Andre's niece Julie Seguin and the godfather was Carrie's brother Ryan Walsh.

Therese was telling me that at St. Michael's they have a baptism fountain. Baby Nicholas was baptized in the fountain as Jesus was baptized in the Jordan River by John the Baptist. She said it was something special to see, and Therese also considers herself a very rich lady, with 16 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The Green Valley Brownies are hoping to start their meetings again on Thursday, Sept. 15. They will be held from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. at St. Marie's School, Green Valley (subject to confirmation with the school principal).

Brownies are open to girls of 6, 7 and 8 years of age of all races and religion and meetings are bilingual. Registration fee is $25 and the weekly dues are 25 cents.

Arrangements can be made for girls from Iona Academy, St. Raphael's and St. Therese, North Lancaster to come to Green Valley by school bus, but please confirm this with your child's bus driver and school principal.

Mary would appreciate it if mothers of girls interested could please call her -- Mary Lambert at 525-3628 or Jeanine Legault at 525-4639 to give them the girl's name and telephone number so that they have a rough idea of how many will be coming. They also need to know to prepare their outings or trips.

For Green Valley girls who finish school at 3 p.m., please note that one of the leaders will be there at three so that the girls are not left unattended. They look forward to seeing their Brownies, new and continuing, on Thursday, Sept. 15.

VOLUNTEER OF THE WEEK

Marie Wilding

Although Marie Wilding was born in Scotland, her ancestral heritage is as rich as most other Canadians': she describes herself as an "Anglo-Irish-Italian-Scot" and lists her ethnic roots in alphabetical order so that one group may not feel appreciated less than another. Marie's father was a soldier in the British army and she spent several years in Egypt and in India. She first learned to read in French at a French convent in Egypt; but when her family moved to India, Marie had to learn to read all over again, this time in English.

Marie and her husband, Fred, have four children — Mary, John, Helen Rose and Bill; and eight grandchildren, ranging in age from two to thirteen — Louisa, Angela, Jasmine, Tristan, Jeffrey, Dan, John and Patrick.

Marie and Fred moved here after Fred retired. They attended St. Finnan's Catholic Church where Marie gladly helps out with baking for various church activities. However, her primary volunteer work is with the physio-therapy department of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital. She says she "thoroughly enjoys" her work and finds it both enriching and rewarding. "It's lovely," she says, "when you see progress in the patients."

All-stars in action

McLeod, MacLean suspended by GSL

For Findlay McLeod of Glen Nevis and Jeff MacLean of Greenfield, the 1994 soccer season is over.

Both players were suspended by the Glengarry Soccer League on Monday for separate incidents in the first game of the men's final last Wednesday night in Greenfield.

McLeod received five games for attempt to injure and four games for striking an opponent. In addition, McLeod will have to post a $300 bond before returning to action at the end of his suspension. He would forfeit the money in the event of another suspension.

McLeod's attempt-to-injure suspension comes as a result of a hard tackle on Greenfield fullback Phil Lewis.

Referee Lucien Lacombe issued a red card for the foul while two Greenfield players ran towards McLeod and started pushing the Glen Nevis player.

A melee broke out and several punches were thrown, the most damaging of which was a shot by McLeod which opened a cut above the eye of Lyndon Lewis.

In addition to the red card given to McLeod, both Phil and Lyndon Lewis were given yellows.

Meanwhile, MacLean was suspended for five games for an attempt to injure after taking a run at Glen Nevis defender Sheldon McDougall with a raised elbow.

MacLean had been given a caution by Lacombe for an unrelated incident in the first half

In other discipline-related news from the GSL, the league announced that Laggan coach Bruce Kennedy would not be suspended for his actions during Game Three of the women's final.

Kennedy came onto the field at the end of the second half and prior to overtime to argue a pair of controversial calls that went against Laggan during the final 10 minutes of regulation.

After some animated discussion between Kennedy, referee Shawn McClements and linesman Victor Denobriga, the Laggan coach was ejected.

Kennedy was expected to be at his post for last night's fourth game of the final.

Greenfield one win away from repeat

The Greenfield Marauders moved one step closer to retaining the Glengarry Soccer League men's division crown by defeating Glen Nevis 4-1 on Monday night in Greenfield.

The Marauders now lead the best-of-five final two games to one with Game Four scheduled for tomorrow night in Lochiel.

On a night when the Marauders were without three of their most dangerous forwards - Rodney MacKillican, Jeff MacLean and Robert Wensink - William Keurentjes stepped up to contribute a two-goal effort.

Both of Keurentjes' goals were back-breakers for Glen Nevis.

The first came late in the first half to put Greenfield up 2-0 at the midway point.

The second came eight minutes after Glen Campbell had cut the Marauders' lead in half with an early second-half goal.

Keurentjes' first tally was set up by little-known halfback Thierry Oger, who was a standout for the Marauders on Monday.

Oger salted the game away with a breakaway goal midway through the second half.

Greenfield's other goal was scored by Kevin Villeneuve. Villeneuve opened the scoring for the Redmen in the 38th minute of the first half by getting a head on a bullet drive by Benny Phillips.

Glen Nevis applied some pressure in the second half in an effort to get back in the game, but Greenfield goalie David Wensink made several big saves, most notably on Phil Poitras and Brendan MacDonald.

Glen Nevis - whose offence has suffered noticeably this year in the absence of suspended forward Andrew Meth - also had its share of bad luck on Monday as Mike McDonell went down with a knee injury in the first half and Glen Campbell hit the post on a second-half penalty shot.

Phillips puts end to Game Two

Benny Phillips scored both of his team's goals, including the game-winner early in overtime, to lead Greenfield to a 2-1 win in a weather-plagued Game Two last Friday.

After a scoreless first half, Phillips opened the scoring with a penalty-shot goal in the 24th minute of the second half.

The Marauders appeared destined for a 1-0 win until Sheldon McDougall forced overtime with a goal in the dying minutes of regulation time.

The weather played a factor in the scoring of the winning goal as heavy rain forced Glen Nevis goalie Stewart MacDonald to play without his glasses.

MacDonald hesitated on a long, hard drive off the foot of Phillips, appearing to be ready to punch the ball out before deciding to try and catch it. The shot deflected off his hands and into the net.

Glen Nevis had opened the series last Wednesday in Greenfield with a 2-1 victory as Dean Poirier scored the winner with five minutes left in the game.

The game was tied 1-1 at halftime as Brendan MacDonald scored for Glen Nevis and Willie Kippen replied for Greenfield.

Laggan foiled in sweep attempt

Dunvegan avoids elimination with wild overtime win in Game Three

Game Three of the Glengarry Soccer League women's division final between Laggan and Dunvegan was not an ordinary contest.

Need proof? All you really need to know about Sunday's game to be convinced of its unusual nature is that mild-mannered Laggan coach Bruce Kennedy got the heave-ho from referee Shawn McClements after regulation time.

Or, you could look at any of the game's five goals, none of which could accurately be described as routine.

In overtime, for example, a ball that normally would have rolled past the Laggan net got stuck in a mud puddle on the edge of the goal-line. Dunvegan sniper Alyson Graham wasted no time pouncing on the loose ball to score the game-winning goal.

The 3-2 victory keeps the Big Blue alive in the best-of-five championship series and ruins Laggan's perfect playoff and regular season. Laggan had been 16-0 in 1994 heading into Sunday's game.

Laggan had another chance to wrap up the series in Game Four last night in Dunvegan. If necessary, Game Five will be played tomorrow night in Lochiel.

Disputed goal sparks controversy

That overtime was necessary at all on Sunday is a story by itself.

With about five minutes left in the second half, Carol MacLeod lofted a ball that Dunvegan goalie Aidan Burgess caught while backing into her net.

McClements indicated a Laggan goal, but reversed his decision after consulting with linesman Victor Denobriga.

The final call was probably the correct one, but Laggan was irritated by the fact that just minutes earlier, Dunvegan had tied the game under a very similar set of circumstances.

On that play, Dunvegan's Tracy McNicol got her head on a ball kicked into the crease by teammate Vicky Peacey. The deflection fell at the feet of Laggan goalie Colleen Poirier, who covered the ball, but not before it had crossed the line in the opinion of linesman Kalidas Cappuccino.

Several Laggan players argued the call immediately, to no avail. Kennedy picked up the argument at the end of regulation time, at which point he was ejected.

And those weren't the only examples of craziness on this wild, windy night.

Laggan opened the scoring on a high floater from Wendi Lawson that danced in the breeze and eluded the grasp of Burgess, falling inches over the line.

Dunvegan made the score 1-1 at halftime when Rachel Denner's corner kick was headed into the net by a Laggan player. It's the second time this series that a Laggan fullback has put the ball in her own goal.

Dunvegan returned the favor 25 minutes into the second half when Nancy MacLeod's free kick ricocheted off a defender and into the back of the net, giving Laggan a short-lived 2-1 lead.

Lawson nets Game Two winner

Laggan took a 2-0 series lead with a 1-0 win in Dunvegan on Thursday.

The game's only goal was scored with 15 minutes left in the game when Wendi Lawson used the outside of her foot to deflect a crossing pass from Sue Stewart.

Defensive play dominated Game Two as both offences struggled to break loose within the cozy confines of the Dunvegan field.

The walking wounded

Injuries are taking their toll on Dunvegan as the Big Blue has become the Black-and-Blue.

Goalie Bonnie MacLeod hasn't played since going down in the first half of Game One. Juvenile call-up and senior division part-timer Aidan Burgess has played well in MacLeod's place.

Bobbi Jo MacLeod is on the limp but playing with a knee injury while halfback Lori MacMaster was knocked out of Game Three after coming out second-best in a head-on collision with Laggan's Karen McIntee.

MacMaster suffered a cut above the eye and was taken to hospital for stitches.

Dunvegan has also been without the services of speedy Linda Carriere, which has forced coach Bill Shields to use a variety of players on the forward line.

Finally, fullback Kelli Lewis was not in the line-up for Game Three.

For Laggan, Jennifer Terry missed the third game while Margaret Fraser (wrist injury) and Sheila Kennedy (work commitments) have yet to play in the series.

Roy's surprises Caisse in opening game of semifinals

Ten-run outburst leads BMR past HCS

Roy's Pontiac-Buick-Cadillac and BMR-Menard Lumber have jumped out to 1-0 leads in the best-of-three Alexandria Women's Softball League semifinals.

Roy's pulled a major upset on Wednesday at Island Park by defeating regular-season champions Caisse Populaire 12-8.

Roy's was led by a balanced attack as nine different players scored runs and six batters collected RBIs.

Sue Stewart - with three RBIs - and Tracy Grady, Connie Smith and Peggy Lafave - each with two runs scored - helped pave the way to the upset win.

Roy's had a 7-0 lead after two-and-a-half innings before Caisse Pop came to life with six runs in the bottom of the third.

Sylvie Menard and Carol Oetelaar each had two-RBI hits during Caisse's uprising.

Roy's extended its lead with three runs in the fourth and two in the fifth.

BMR clobbers HCS

Second-place BMR leads third-place Hawkesbury Chimney Sweeps one game to none after winning Game One 14-6 on Tuesday.

BMR exploded for 10 runs in the bottom of the fourth inning after HCS had scored times in the top of the fourth to tie the game at 4-4.

BMR sent 15 batters to the plate in the fourth and used five hits, three walks and four HCS errors to score their 10 runs.

Cindy Reilly had a two-run single while Julie Beriault and Elaine Oetelaar each scored twice in the inning. It was a productive night for Beriault, who doubled in two runs in the second inning.

Debbie McDonald scored twice for HCS and drove in two other runs with a triple in the fifth inning. Louise Sommers and Linda Menard also had RBIs.

Consolation playoffs begin

Champions Roadhouse has gotten off to a 2-0 start in the three-team double round-robin consolation playoffs.

On Tuesday, Champions defeated M and D Sports 14-9. Champions came back the next night to defeat Tapis Richard Ranger Carpet 14-3.

Sandra Cadieux and Darlene Flaro each had three RBIs for Champions in Tuesday's game while Christina Janaska batted in two runs. Bonnie Looney scored three times.

France St.Denis and Linda Van den Oetelaar each had two RBIs for M and D.

In Wednesday's contest, Champions was led by Christina Janaska who knocked in four runs.

Francine Fitzsimmons drove in three runs and Nicole Lauzon had two RBIs.

Aline Hebert was involved in all of Tapis' offence, knocking in two runs with a fourth-inning triple and eventually coming in to score the third run.

Lochiel sweeps juvenile honors

Lochiel captured Glengarry Soccer League championships in the juvenile boys' and juvenile girls' divisions last Thursday.

In the boys' division, Lochiel defeated Alexandria 1-0 in the third and deciding game of the best-of-three final.

Ken Sauk scored the game's only goal.

Alexandria had forced Game Three with a 2-1 win on Tuesday.

Jason Poirier and Alain Decoste scored for Alexandria while Craig Calvank replied for Lochiel.

Meanwhile, the Lochiel girls completed a 2-0 sweep of Glengarry South with a 4-0 win on Thursday.

Laura Urquhart recorded the shutout while Tammy MacSweyn led the offence with two goals. Tina Bond and Meghan MacPherson also scored.

In Game One on Tuesday, Lochiel escaped with a 2-1 overtime win.

Tammy MacSweyn scored the winner in OT after Meghan MacPherson had scored late in regulation time to tie the game.

Janna Palmer had opened the scoring for South.

Laggan leads bantam series

The conclusion of the juvenile finals leaves only one division champion to be decided - the bantam boys.

The four-point final - which pits second-place Alexandria Co-op against regular-season champion Laggan - started on Monday night with Laggan taking a 6-2 win.

Dean MacGillivray netted a hat trick while single goals were added by Andrew Taillefer, Andrew Fraser and Jason Nixon. Jason Poirier and Mike Libbos scored for Alexandria.

Game Two was scheduled for last night in Lochiel.

Alexandria reached the final with a 5-3 series win over Char-Lan in the four-point semifinal round.

Alexandria won Thursday's deciding fourth game 2-1 thanks to goals by Mike Libbos and Nick Moffatt. Steven Alguire scored for Char-Lan.

Laser finishes ninth

Kingston's Danny O'Brien clinched the 1994 big-block track championship at Cornwall Motor Speedway with a second-place finish at Sunday's 75-lap Coca-Cola Classic.

O'Brien finished runner-up to winner Doug Hoffman of Allentown, Pa., but collected enough points to wrap up the overall title and collect $3,000 (U.S.) in prize money.

Two-time track champion Laurent "Laser" Ladouceur of Alexandria finished ninth in Sunday's race.

Ladouceur finished first in the second qualifying heat for the race.

Ovide Doiron, also of Alexandria, qualified for the main event by finishing first in a last-chance consolation heat.

Cedar Glen wins title at golf tourney

The Cedar Glen Golf Club of Williamsburg has been awarded first-place at the Junior Valley League golf tournament after original champion Morrisburg withdrew from the event.

Morrisburg had finished first at last Wednesday's tournament - held at Alexandria's Glengarry Golf and Country Club - with a combined net score of 383, but the club turned in its title when it was discovered that four of the team's members did not register their true handicaps. Net scores are determined by subtracting the handicap from the actual shot total.

As a result, the Cedar Glen team of Derek Rolls, Jason Desormeaux, Steve Cross, Robbie Desormeaux, Jason Denio and Mike Davidson wins the overall title.

Cedar Glen's net total was 439, 11 better than runner-up Summerheights of Cornwall.

The host Glengarry club finished third at 464 and turned in the second best team gross score of the day after Morrisburg. Iroquois brought up the rear with a 493 total.

Glengarry did well in the individual awards category as Joel Michaud won the Cedar Glen Trophy for having the best "A" division low gross score (82).

Lynn Wallace won the girls' low gross category with a score of 100.

Craig Hare, one of the two Morrisburg who accurately registered his handicap, had the best "B" net result with an incredible score of 50. Hare, a 40-handicap, shot a 90 on Wednesday.

Andre Carriere of Summerheights (best "A" net score) and Bradley Boivin of Morrisburg (best "B" gross score) also took home awards.

In addition to Michaud and Wallace, Glengarry was represented by Denis Levert, Jason Poirier, Guillaume Ouimet, Eric Leroux, Marie-Andree Ouimet and Mike Secours.

Farley wins "B" series

Farley Windows came all the way back from a 2-0 games deficit to defeat Alexandria Auto Glass in the best-of-five Alexandria Men's Ball Hockey League consolation final series.

Farley completed the comeback with a 2-1 victory in Game Five last Tuesday night at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

Auto Glass went ahead 1-0 on a first-period power play goal by Paul Vincent, but Farley scored twice with the man advantage in the second frame to take the lead and close out the scoring for the game.

Mario Dumont - who led the comeback effort with six goals in Farley's three victories - and Sylvain Lavigne each scored once.

Tapis Richard up 2-0 in softball semis

Tapis Richard Ranger Carpet needs only one more win to wrap up a semifinal series victory over Alexandria Moulding and earn a berth in the Alexandria Men's Softball League finals.

Tapis went up two games to none in the best-of-five semifinal with a 19-13 win at Alexandria Island Park on Monday night.

Remi Cardinal and Charlie Giroux homered for the winners with Cardinal driving in five runs and Giroux four. Giroux also scored five runs.

The Shags led 13-2 after three inning and hung on as Moulding - the defending league champions - scored at least two runs in each of the last four innings in an attempt to get back into the contest.

Doug Scally had three runs batted in for Moulding while Richard Hamelin had two RBIs.

In Game One last Thursday, Tapis won 9-5 thanks to four-run innings in the third and fourth.

All four runs in the third came courtesy of a grand slam by Marc Lauzon. Charlie Giroux drove in a couple of runs.

Other semifinal is even

The other semifinal is even at one game apiece as M and D Sports squared its series against Champions Roadhouse with a 12-5 win on Monday.

Marc-Andre Prieur had a three-run homer for M and D while Bob Humenick had a three-run double. Richard Prieur also knocked in a trio of runs on the evening.

Daniel Brunet, Michel Lajoie, Sylvain Lavigne, Marc Massia and Yves Decoste had RBIs for Champions.

In Game One, Daniel Menard and Luc Sabourin each drove in three runs as Champions won 11-7.

Menard had a two-run home run and an RBI double while Sabourin cleared the bases with a first-inning two-base hit. Sylvain Lavigne had three runs scored and two RBIs.

For M and D, Marc-Andre Prieur homered, scored three times and drove in a pair.

Both semifinal series are scheduled to resume tomorrow night at Island Park.

Char-Lan leads CDSL final

The Char-Lan United men's soccer team can clinch their second consecutive Cornwall District Soccer League Division I title with a win over Cornwall City tonight.

Char-Lan is up 1-0 in the best-of-three championship series after blanking City 3-0 on Monday night.

Randy Burke recorded the shutout while Jason Struthers netted a pair of goals. Phil Poitras also scored.

While Char-Lan's championship hopes are high heading into tonight's game, the team came very close to not making the finals at all.

Char-Lan lost 1-0 to the Winchester Sonics in the first game of the two-game, total-goal semifinal series and fell behind 2-0 at the halfway point of Game Two for an overall deficit of three goals.

United finally shook off rigor mortis in the second half, scoring five times to salvage the series.

Pat Clarke scored twice while single goals were added by Jason Struthers, Phil Poitras and Greg Deschamps.

Char-Lan women also in finals

The Char-Lan United women are also in a position to repeat as league champions after eliminating Cornwall City by a combined score of 5-2 in a two-game, total-goal semifinal series.

Katharine MacLachlan scored both goals as Char-Lan tied City 2-2 in game One.

Katharine MacLachlan, Nancy MacLachlan and Michelle Owen scored as Char-Lan won the second game 3-0.

Char-Lan will meet the Chumps Strikers in the finals. Chumps beat Dalhousie 6-5 in the semifinals.

After tying Game One 4-4, the Bombers lost 2-1 on Monday despite a goal by Andrea Villeneuve.

Leftovers clean up at Maxville tournament

The Maxville Hunt Insurance Leftovers won the "A" division title at the 4th annual Glengarry Three-pitch League Tournament this past weekend at the Maxville Centennial Ball Diamond.

The Leftovers entered the "A" division by defeating the Bonville Dew Drop Inn on Friday night and then claimed the title with wins over Monkland and the Apple Hilton on Saturday.

Quinn's Inn won the "B" division title by defeating the Dew Drop Inn and St.Andrews in the consolation round-robin.

In Friday's preliminary knock-out round, Monkland downed Quinn's Inn while the Apple Hilton beat St.Andrews.

Under-19 boys' team wins again

Garry Benson scored the only goal as the Cornwall Blazer-Glens defeated Smiths Falls 1-0 in the final game of the Ottawa Carleton Soccer League's under-19 boys' division season.

The Blazer-Glens finish the season with a 9-2-1 record and the team will get a bye in the first round of the playoffs.

Cornwall will play the winner of the Kanata-Gloucester first-round series in a two-game, home-and-home semifinal.

The Blazer-Glens' home game in that series is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 13 at 8:30 p.m. at Optimist field in Cornwall.

Big difference at Maxville Manor currently

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

There is another big difference at the Manor these days. First of all, the trailers belonging to the construction company are no longer there. Next, the extensive lawns have been contoured and levelled with grass seed planted. Since this is the ideal time for seeding, soon new grass should be growing to match the sodding done earlier in the summer.

Perhaps the work that has pleased residents the most was the levelling and seeding of the spaces between the wings. Since there had been work to complete, these spaces had grown up in weeds and had been an eyesore to residents who never could put up with weeds. These areas have been sprayed with a green material to promote germination apparently, and this new technique has created interest as well.

If you have a touch tone telephone and are experiencing difficulty in receiving an extension at the Manor after following Barbara Graham's voice instructions, check the base of your phone. There may be a small button that can be pushed to either "pulse" or "tone." For your phone to be compatible with the Manor's new system, have the button on your phone pushed to the "tone" position.

Ellen Baxter, 5th Con. Roxborough, recently celebrated her 85th birthday. For the occasion, daughter Jean Reynolds from Verona was home for a few days. Afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter returned home with Mrs. Reynolds and spent a very enjoyable week at her cottage on Eagle Lake with two shopping trips to the Gananoque Shopping Centre.

Myrtle and Elmer McDermid, Sandringham, also called on the Baxters one evening to bring birthday greetings.

Erin Blair has returned to his teaching duties in Iqaluit, Baffin Island after enjoying a tour of England, Scotland and Ireland and the remaining part of his summer holidays with his parents, Lorna and Gerald Blair.

Beverley and Donald Gormley were in Kitchener for a week visiting family members there.

Christie Grant, Boston, has been a familiar summer visitor to the area for many years. Miss Grant is presently here visiting her brother Malcolm and Helen Grant at the Manor and other relatives and friends in the area.

Darlene Guindon, Calgary, has been home visiting her parents, Mabel and Roger (Bud). Other guests of the Guindons were Pierrette and Andre Filion, Smiths Falls and Mrs. Filion's brother, Jacques St. Denis.

A well-known resident of Gravel Hill and later of the Manor, Laura Buell died last week in her 92nd year. Her husband William and his brother Howard had operated the well-known cheese factory in Gravel Hill for many years assisted by Mr. Montgomery who had won many awards for the cheese manufactured there.

Mrs. Buell served as pianist at the Manor while she was able but her health gradually declined over the last number of years.

A former village resident on Spring Street Carolyn (Cathy) Clay died suddenly at the Manor on Sunday. We extend condolences to her son, Peter, and his family.

Your correspondent hasn't counted the number of properties for sale in the village but people are remarking at the number of for sale signs that are up. There are many reasons why owners wish to sell and the number is certainly not indicative of people wishing to leave our village.

There are reports that four properties have been sold recently and two of them have gone to people from outside the village. Perhaps now is the time for some of the oldtimers who have a yearning to return, to visit the village and study the possibilities of purchasing a home or a Glen Garden Village apartment lease at the Manor.

Another local fair was enjoyed last Saturday under ideal weather conditions. Riceville Fair continues to prosper as the result of a complete community commitment. They all work together and the hall is well filled with exhibits because of the friendly competition that prevails. The directors try to have attractions for all ages and the tradition of attending for a good visit with friends and relatives continues.

The first fall meeting of the UCW of the United Church will be held on Sept. 6 at 8 p.m. in the church hall. A speaker from the Alexandria Health Unit will explain the safe handling of food and a cordial invitation is extended to all ladies of the church.

The winners in the Lions Club Calendar Draw last week were Bob Raymond, Moose Creek, Garrett McGillis, Alexandria, Robert Campbell, Dunvegan, Lynda Begin, St. Isidore, Albert Piette, Apple Hill and Janice and Donald Blaney, Maxville.

The next special event at the Pioneer Museum in Dunvegan is planned for Sept. 11. On this occasion, baskets and felting will be featured.

Registration for the First Maxville Scout program is scheduled for Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. in the public school. There will be Beavers for ages 5 to 7 years, Cubs for the 8 to 10 year-olds, Scouts for ages 11 to 14 years and Venturers for boys aged 14 to 17 years.

A leader is required for the Cubs before that program can get under way. Also, it would be very much appreciated if some parents would volunteer to help with the Beavers.

Contact persons are Beth Williamson at 527-2808 and Betty McIntosh at 527-5257 and these ladies would appreciate receiving offers of help as well as providing additional information.

Sept. 8 has been set aside as a very busy and informative day at the Manor. First, at 11 a.m. there will be a demonstration and introduction to physical fitness for seniors and it will be followed by the Diners' Club meal at 12:30 p.m. Last week, 17enjoyed the delicious meal and it appears that soon the dining facilities for this twice monthly activity will be taxed to accommodate diners.

Then from 2 to 4 p.m., Phyllis Burtenshaw and her assistant, Kim Aube will host an open house for the senior centre at the Manor. Seniors are invited to drop in and learn about the new centre which features many outreach services as well as day centre activities. There will be refreshments and opportunities to sign up for the various activities that the centre will offer this fall.

Seniors in the area truly wish to keep busy and involved. While the Diners' Club at the Manor is being very well supported, the Young-at-Heart euchre party last week had 17 tables of players. This number is just about the limit for the Anglican church hall.

Under stiff competition, Gladys Barton, Vankleek Hill, had high score for the ladies followed by Peggy Cline, Maxville and Helen Jackson, Monkland. Ellery MacMillan took first prize home to Finch with second and third prizes for the men going to Mac O'Byrne, Maxville and Kenneth MacLeod, Dunvegan.

Jean Chisholm, Maxville, won the draw for the door prize.

While she hasn't been feeling too well of late, Grace Doth, Maxville had good luck in winning the 50-50 draw twice. Other winners were Vina Brown and Jean Smith, Vankleek Hill, Alex Titley, Laggan, Muriel MacMillan, Finch, Clifford Losey, Lunenburg, Cecile Currier, Moose Creek, Wilfrid Sauvé, Avonmore, Eileen Johnson, Martintown and from the village, Gloria Rolland, Ethel MacKinnon and Mrs. Cline.

The next euchre is planned for Sept. 5 at 8 p.m. in the Anglican Church hall.

This is a reminder of the Memorial Service for the Maxville Cemetery that will be held this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican Church.

A report came in last week of the sighting of four or five turkey vultures devouring a road kill on the big 20th Concession. These huge birds seem to becoming more numerous.

During the same phone call, your correspondent learned some local geography. The little 20th is a short dead end road that runs westward just north of Highway 417. The big 20th is north of it and connects with Highway 138.

How do you rid an attic of bats? This question was answered with some suggestions, but is there a sure way for keeping these flying mammals out of their customary abode? Some people are attempting to attract them to special bat houses in their yards while others consider them a real pest.

Ninety years ago, acetylene street lighting came to the village. The generator was housed in a small building along the track just west of the present chip stand. The gas was used in the Presbyterian Church and a few houses along Main Street. Ontario Hydro started to serve the village in 1915 but steam generators were producing electricity before that date. Therefore the acetylene system was relatively short-lived.

A fire 80 years ago destroyed a store at the corner of Mechanic St. and Main St., the E. R. Frith monument building and the Haggart home. The "new"Haggart home is now owned by grandson Robert of Montreal and Kelly's Sports Bar is on the corner.

About the same time, Peter MacGregor was having a milking machine installed. He was a granduncle of Gregor McEwen who sold the farm to Jack and Linda Fraser.

Cards Of Thanks

A special thank you, on behalf of Kenyon Presbyterian Church, to all those who supported our recent chicken barbecue. It was a tremendous success due to the efforts of many individuals and the committee is very thankful to all those who helped in any way. 35-1c

BRUNET, Rosa -- We wish to express our sincere thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors for many acts of kindness and sympathy, mass offerings and floral offerings at the time of our recent bereavement in the loss of a beloved mother, grandmother and great grandmother. Special thanks to the staff of the Alexandria Community Nursing Home, Dr. Varma, Father Cameron and Father Luc Bouchard.
-- Marie Jeanne Beauchamp and family. 35-1p

McKINNON -- The family of the late Douglas McKinnon wish to express their sincere thanks and deep gratitude to their relatives, friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness at the untimely passing of a dearly beloved husband, kind and loving father and grandfather "Doug". Special thanks to Sisters of the Holy Cross, Msgr. D. B. McDougald, V.G., Rev. B. A. Cameron, rector of St. Finnan's, St. Finnan's Senior Choir, organist and director for the beautiful mass and homily. Special thanks to Munro & Morris Funeral Home and to the pallbearers. Thanks to St. Finnan's CWL and to Legion Branch 423 and Ladies Auxiliary for the impressive service at the funeral home for their late Brother Comrade Douglas. Thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff at the Ottawa Civic Hospital, Glengarry Memorial Hospital and Hotel Dieu, throughout the three years illness; the VON, the Vital Air organization. Special thanks to all who attended the wake and funeral mass, for the beautiful floral tributes, the mass cards, donations to Heart and Stroke Foundation, for the generous donations of food. All these acts will never be forgotten. Gone but not forgotten -- your cherished memory will ever live in our hearts and minds dear Doug.
--The McKinnon family,
Alexandria. 35-1p

MASSIE -- The family ofthe late Berthe Massie wish to express their most sincere appreciation to their friends and relatives for their many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy, floral tributes, mass cards and donations to charity. Special thanks to Dr. Nadeau and Dr. Varma and Community Nursing Home staff for their excellent care. Your thoughtfulness at a time of need will always be remembered by us all.
-- Gratefully appreciated by the family. 35-1p

KINGSTON'S Flowers by Higgin's would like to thank the Glengarry Ladies' "Selects" for hosting an exhibition soccer match on Saturday, August 27th, 1994 at Lochiel. Our appreciation to all who helped organize this successful event, with special thanks to Ernie MacMillan for all his support.
-- Kristin Lawlor. 35-1p

DUBEAU -- No words can express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to all our relatives, friends and neighbors for kindness and support in the loss of a dear husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather, Ernest Dubeau. Thank you for the floral arrangements, sympathy cards, masses and donations. A very special thanks to Father Gerald Poirier, Munro and Morris Funeral Home, staff and Pastoral Care on 5th floor at Hotel Dieu Hospital and the Catholic Women's League for the lunch served. Your generosity and comforting words will always be remembered.
-- Rejeanne Dubeau and family. 35-1p

ONCE again, as president of the Alexandria Flying Club, on behalf of the Club, I wish to thank the many people who braved the elements to support us at our annual Fly-In Breakfast. Due to the weather, we had no visitors who came by air, next year we hope the weatherman will once again favor us. The weather also discouraged the antique car owners from bringing their beautifully restored antique and restored cars. There were, however three or four who showed up before the breakfast was over. Thanks again to the many workers, the organizers, and the people who came to have a wonderful breakfast. 35-1c

WE would like to thank Jill Murray for taking time to play Amazing Grace on her bagpipes for Alex McBain in his last few hours.
-- With thanks, the Kelly, McBain family. 35-1p

In Memoriam

MONTGOMERY -- In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Maimie, who passed away August 31/71.
In a quiet country graveyard
Where the gentle breezes blow,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Whom we lost 23 years ago.
We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our minds,
For the days we don't think of you
Are very hard to find.
-- Always remembered by Mabel, Roger and family. 35-1p

O'CONNELL -- In loving memory of our dear daughter Brigitte, who passed away August 31st, 1977.
Seventeen years ago today you left us
No amount of words could ever say how much we miss you,
But know you're always in our hearts,
Your memory we will treasure forever.
-- Sadly missed by Mom, Dad and family. 35-1p

LOBB -- In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Victoria Lobb, who passed away August 30, 1993.
Without a warning you were gone away
No chance to finish what you started
You left us so suddenly
We felt cheated and broken-hearted
A cluster of precious memories
Sprayed with a million tears
Wishing God had spared you
If only a few more years.
She left a beautiful memory
And sorrow too great to be told
But to us who loved and lost her
Our memories will never grow old.
No wonder the footsteps
Of angels drawing near
Who took from earth to heaven
The one we loved so dear
But she hasn't really left us
Nor has she travelled far
Just entered God's beautiful garden
And left the door ajar.
Her empty place no one can fill
If only we could turn back time
Without asking any question why
Just to take back those last few days
Because you left without saying goodbye
We miss her now and always will
Just a thought so very true
From those who thought the world of her.
-- Most dearly loved and remembered by your children. 35-1p

WILLARD, Hazel -- In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away Sept. 6, 1989.
You who have a mother
Love her while you can
You'll never know her value
Till she's laid beneath the clay.
-- Sadly missed by daughter Jean and Lucien, Sandra, Suzanne and Amanda. 35-1p

LAHEU, Gisele -- In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother who passed away August 24, 1993.
One year has passed, our hearts still sore
As time rolls on, we miss you more,
Your welcome smile and pleasant face,
No one can fill that vacant place.
-- Always remembered by Maurice and family. 35-1p

MacLEOD -- In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, William G., who passed away August 29, 1990.
Loving memories will never die,
As days go on and years go by.
Deep in our hearts your memory is kept,
To love and cherish and never forget.
-- Always dearly loved and remembered by all the family. 35-1p

GLENGARRY NEWS

In Memoriam

LOBB, Victoria -- One year has passed dear Mother, Grandmother, great grandmother, on August 30, 1993.
Your time came so sudden,
No time to say goodbye
It's that time of year when more than ever
We feel the pain.
We lost a mother with a heart of gold
Who was more to us than wealth untold,
Your love was true,
Your heart was kind,
We will never forget your smiling face.
Your happy, carefree ways
Our heart still aches with sadness
Our eyes still often flow
'For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
-- Sadly missed and loved by Therese, Marc, Lissa, Maxime, Marc, Lynn and Eric. 35-1p

Deaths

GRANT, EDITH ELLEN -- At St. Joseph's Villa on Saturday, August 27, 1994 in her 80th year, Edith Ellen Grant of Williamstown and Cornwall. She was a former employee of the Capital and Palace Theatres. Dear daughter of the late Donald Grant and Laura Ferguson. Predeceased by two brothers Donald Milton Grant and Munroe Grant. Glen Elg summer school was very successful

Dalkeith
by Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Recently on their way home from Sudbury, Helen and Roland Levac, and Yvette and Gerard Goulet travelled to Rouyn-Noranda, Quebec to pay a visit to Father Guy Levac OMI. They spent two days with him. At Buckingham they visited Sister Jeanne Levac, Sister Fleurette Ethier and Sister Jeanne Lefebvre. Also a resident there is Sister Marie-Emma who had taught Yvette and her sister and brothers when she was Superior at the convent at St. Eugene.

This weekend Yvette and Gerard Goulet visited her sister-in-law, Audrey Brunet in Laval, Quebec.

Last Wednesday Beth and Gordon Bodwell, his sister Carol and her husband Albert McKay, all of Red Deer, Alberta, spent the afternoon with Catherine and Clarence Fraser, Pine Grove. When Clarence had gone on a harvest excursion 43 years ago he had worked with Gordon and they have corresponded since then.

Recently Marian and Rae MacGillivray, Alexandria and Marion and Allister MacGillivray, Kirk Hill enjoyed a holiday trip as far as Labrador. They travelled by the north shore of Quebec by bus, a train ride from Sept Iles to Labrador City where they were "screeched in." At Tadoussac they were whale watching. and to top it off a tour of Quebec City.

Jenni Nixon, Spring Creek and Bridget Trepanier, Fiske's Corner were among the 13 Brownies from the 2nd Alexandria Brownie Pack that attended Camp Pioneer at Ste. Justine de Newton over the weekend.

On Saturday three generations of the Beaty family rode at Ste. Anne de Prescott LTM Kennels with the Lake of Two Mountains Hunt -- Don Beaty, Hilary Beaty-Nixon and Paul Beaty-Nixon. It was a first hunt for 8-year-old Paul with his pony Flossie.

Retirement

Employees will miss Ed Golden, president of Ken MacLennan Sawmill and Vice-President of C.A. Spencer Inc.

Ed, after being with MacLennan Sawmill for over 20 years, will be retiring in September.

Replacing Ed, as manager, will be Jim Renwick and Garry MacPherson. Both Jim and Garry have many years experience with this mill.

Ed's last official duty will be spent in Sweden where he will be representing C. A. Spencer, from Aug. 27-Sept. 5.

Good luck Ed and have a happy and prosperous retirement.

The Glen Elg Summer School held at Laggan School last week was a terrific success. The supper, ceilidh and dance at the Bonnie Glen was well attended and Saturday activities at the school were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Already there are registrations for next year!

Jean and Don Eldon who attended the Feis at Laggan on Saturday visited with us on Sunday.

Lake of Two Mountains Hunt will be at the Beaty farm on Monday, Sept. 5 starting at 11 a.m. Spectators are welcome to watch the riders take off and should be there shortly after 10.

Joint church services at Kirk Hill will be at St. Columba during September at 10 a.m.

Tuesday, the schools are reopening and I have been reminded that Laggan School will be all day.

Optimist news

Helen and Roland Levac, Juliette and Albert Quesnel, Yvette and Gerard Goulet attended a four-day conference of East Ontario District Optimist Clubs in Sudbury.

Don't forget the monthly bingo Sept. 3 at the Optimist Hall. Warm up begins at 12:30 p.m.

GET-UP & GO

Has your tractor's "get-up & go" gone? Use Ford New Holland oil. Then, watch it run! Our premium engine oil maintains its viscosity under heavy loads to keep you going. It even protects your engine against rust, corrosion, and carbon deposits.

Our superior hydraulic oil contains additives that prevent foaming, and enhance performance at low temperatures. Stop by for more information on our oil. And, don't miss our "Hottest Name In Parts" promotion going on right now!

Visitors 'drop in' on area residents

Glen Walter
by Ron Holla
931-2658

It appears the park in the Glendale subdivision was the scene for an unexpected visit by a balloon on Aug. 11. According to area residents, the ReMax balloon team from Ottawa was in the vicinity preparing for the Cornwall Lift Off, an event featuring demonstrations, races and tours by balloon teams.

Landing in the Glendale park in the early evening, the balloon team captain explained to a large crowd of interested subdivision inhabitants that balloons will always attempt to land in a farmer's field, a park or some clear area where little damage is done to private property. It seemed that the park was the largest piece of flat ground upon which the balloon could land in the area.

The balloon team was reported to have given spectators opportunities to see the balloon and then watch as they quickly and efficiently wrapped up their balloon and stowed their gear away in their trailer.

Jonathan, a seven-year-old watching the entire proceedings, said that when the balloon captain was questioned as to whether the cast on his arm had come from balloon trips, he had replied that it had come from a fall off his motorcycle.

The balloon captain, according to Jonathan, had tried to reassure every spectator that ballooning was very safe.

Work nearly complete

Residents along Purcell Road and Summerstown Road are noticing the difference fresh asphalt can make on car operation up and down their streets as road construction work ends.

The only work that remains to be done on Summerstown Road appears to be painting of new road lines while construction signs and gravel piles along the roadside appear to be the only work remaining on Purcell Road.

Fishing Derby results

A measure of the determination shown by participants in Glendale Tavern's third annual bass classic was shown by Michel Leger of Glen Walter.

"Mike was one guy who couldn't swim," Claude Bourck, classic organizer, said.

"He was trying to push their boat off some weeds and fell in."

Participants faced variable weather with good conditions on Aug. 27 and high winds on Aug. 28, but everyone went out, Bourck said.

First place for the smallmouth class went to McGill Landriault. Mike Larsky was second, Roger Thomas third and Jean Giroux fourth.

Leading in the largemouth class was Jean Morin in first and Mike Leger in second. Jacques Levert placed third and Brenda Leger fourth.

Club 65 gearing up for season

Speedy recovery wishes to Rita Chartrand who suffered several broken ribs and a broken arm in a car accident. She is recuperating at home and in good spirits and we wish her the best of luck.

Club 65

Club 65 is gearing up for another lively season with different activities.

Young and old are welcome to join for entertainment, exercise, meet old friends and make new ones and have fun.

Every Wednesday afternoon starting on Sept. 14, line dancing will start at 1 p.m. for beginners and at 1:30 p.m. for everyone who is interested at the very reasonable price of $2 per afternoon.

The first euchre will resume on Tuesday, Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. at the social centre.

For those who prefer playing 500, you are very welcome. A delicious lunch always follows the euchre.

Circle this date on your calendar -- Tuesday, Dec. 13 and come and celebrate the 20th anniversary of Club 65 with a supper followed by a dance.

On this coming Labor Day weekend, do be careful on the roads and have a very pleasant and safe week.
