Glad to see so many youngsters taking advantage of the outdoor rink at the plaza . . . all that fresh air and exercise is just what we need but don't dare go after. The older one gets the less strenuous exercise appeals.

Oh for a return to the old cook stove that had an oven door to let down to rest the feet upon. On these cold nights, though the furnace keeps the house snug and warm, we miss that old stove. The odd time, of course, some one would forget to close the oven door and the shins would suffer a stunning blow . . . but is was worth it for the pleasure is gave atother times.

Always we hear the spoiled plantive cry of the teenager; "What can we do; where can we go?"

I can make some suggestions. Go home!

Paint the woodwork. Mow the lawn. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub some floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job!

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your village deos not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents.

Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army. Visit the sick. Assist the poor. And when you're through - and not too tired - read a book.

It was the last day of the psychiatrits' convention. One of the doctors at the closing lecture noticed an attractive woman psychiatrist being molested by the man next to her.

"Is that man bothering you?" the doctor asked the woman.

"Why should I be bothered?" she replied. "It's his problem."

The electrician was puzzled.

"Hey," he called to his assistant. "Put your hand on one of these wires."

The assistant did as he was told.

"Feel anything?", asked the master electrician.

"No."

"Good," said the electrician. "I wasn't sure which was which. Don't touch the other one or you'll drop dead."

A surprised motorist suddenly found himself at the Pearly Gates, being issued a harp by Saint Peter.

"But I don't understand," said the motorist. "How did I get here?"

"Don't you remember?" answered Saint Peter. "Your wife said, "Be an angel, and let me drive."

Youngsters Discuss Sermon After Service

Parents should not bring out liquor in front of their children, according to teenagers themselves. This was one of the many opinions expressed by members of the Hi-C group of Iroquois United Church Sunday evening when they met after church to discuss the sermon "Youth Looks At the LiquorQuestion". The solution to teenage drinking should start in the home, the group felt.

The Hi-C group was in charge of the evening service, the second of proposed monthly youth services. Assisting the minister, Rev. J. Leslie Dean, were Judy Pulfer, Donald Fetterly and Betty Millar. Ushers were Brian Hodgert, Wayne Jackson, Dean McCurdy and Willard Duncan. Karel Hodgert and Wendy Leckie sang a duet, "Yield Not to Temptation".

Regulations Established For Rink

Skating and hockey enthusiasts will note in this week's paper that Council have laid down rules which will be enforced, to ensure all have equal oppertunity to use the outdoor rink, now ready at the shopping plaza.

Hockey will be allowed during week-days until 7 p. m. and all day Saturday. No hockey or playing tag will be permitted any time on Sunday. Sunday has been reserved as family day and a cordial invitation to parents to take advantage of the facilities, along with their children, has been given by Councillor Carl VanCamp, who is in charge of the rink.

Police Constable Garnet Loucks will be charged with the responsibility of seeing that the regulations are enforced. Anyone not complying with the regulations may be barred from using the rink.

NEW FACE in old role—CBC-TV has a new Maggie Mullins. She is eight-year-old Mary Long of Toronto, a little bundle of natural charm who is making her first public appearance in this role. Mary plays the little girl whose adventures with Fitzgerald Fieldmouse and her other puppet friends keep young viewers entertained each Tuesday afternoon on the CBC-TV network. Mary replaces Deanne Taylor who has outgrown the role.

Small World

Last summer in mid-July, a carload of visitors motoring on Victoria Street saw Herbert Jubb in front of his home. They stopped and started asking him questions about the house moving. Seeing he could give them the information they wanted, they said 'Come with us'. Mr. Jubb started explaining about the control dam and showed them the brick homes of Mr. C. V. Ellis and Mr. C. W. Hodgert that had been moved to the new town. While this was going one of the party was taking it down on a tape recorder while another was taking pictures.

While taking many pictures of interest, the photographer said to Mr. Jubb, "Here we want one of you too." He replied, "What's the idea?" He then was informed that they represented the British Television Co. and these pictures were to be shown in England to acquaint the people there with what the Seaway had done in Canada. Mr. Jubb, who has a sister living in England, sent her an air mail letter to be on the lookout for this showing.

She notified her family, who saw the picture and recognized Mr. Jubb in the film. They exclaimed "There's mother's brother standing there, looks just like her."

HERITAGE, a new series of religious dramas, started Sunday, January 10th on the CBC-TV network. This interdenominational series shows the work of the Christian church in the modern world. One episode, The Great in Heart, dramatizes the training of a Salvation Army officer. Rosemary Palin (left) portrays the sergeant, with Antoinette Bower and Roberta Kinnon as two of her trainees.

Restaurant Holds Open House

An Open House Saturday night marked the opening of the newest business addition in the district when The Continental Restaurant opened its doors for the first time. The opening also marked the culmination of a dream for a Rumanian couple, who a few years ago became Canadian citizens.

Constantine and Anna Petre, both born in Rumania, having lived in England and the United States at intervals during their lifetime, chose Canada as their home and the place in which to plan their future. The couple's only child, Maryanna, is 10 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Petre have travelled considerably in their lifetime and Mr. Petre has learned to speak six languages in his travels. Hired by the Rumanian diplomatic service, the couple spent 14 years in London, England, and with the fall of the Rumanian government and dissention in the diplomatic service, Mr. Petre applied for citizenship in England. After a deferrment, the couple decided to come to Canada in 1952. A few years ago they applied for and received their naturalization papers and became Canadian citizens.

In their earlier days, Mr. Petre told The Post of a ten-year stay in the United States, first landing at New York, and then going on to Detroit, Michigan, where he operated a restaurant. In 1930 they went back to their native country, Rumania: then on to England and finally to Canada. During their stay in England, Mrs. Petre was chef to many diplomatic banquets and brought with her many fine examples of the culinary art she developed while in this service.

Landing in Canada in 1952 the couple bought a farm in the Second Concession of Matilda Township where they lived until their new restaurant was finished this year. Living accommodation was built in conjunction with the restaurant.

Beautiful Interior

A striking interior finish, with panelyte walls and soft-glowing electric lantern lighting, and arborite counters, provides a pleasant atmosphere to the new restaurant. Individual dining room tables are used in the main room.

The business community and residents extend a welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Petre into business and wish them every success in their venture.

Cardinal Loses An Esteemed Resident

On Tuesday morning, January 12th, the residents of Cardinal and district were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Robert Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong was making his usual morning rounds and in the local post office he collapsed and died when stricken with coronary thrombosis.

He was a lifetime resident of this community, and being a good neighbor always ready to lend a helping hand he had many friends.

He was 73 years of age.

Born in the Second Concession, Matilda Township, he was a son of the late Duncan Armstrong and his wife, Mary Jane Shaver.

Being a successful farmer he retired about 11 years ago and moved with his wife to Cardinal.

They quietly celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary on September 6th, 1959.

Surviving, besides his wife who was formerly Lyda Hume, are one son Howard of Cardinal, three brothers, Edward Armstrong of Seattle, Washington; Henry Armstrong, Mainsville, and Andrew Armstrong, Toronto; two sisters Mrs. Chas. Flett, Cardinal, and Mrs. Helen Cronk of Theresa N.Y. as well as several nephews and nieces.

The numerous beautiful floral trlbutes and the many who called, gave testimony to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Armstrong was held.

The remains rested at his late home, Middle street, until 2 p. m. Thursday January 14th, when service was held in St. Paul's Anglican Church. Rev. Charles Staples officiated and spoke comforting words.

With Mrs. John Wells at the organ, the choir led in the singing of the hymns, "Abide with Me" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus".

The bearers were: J. C. Sim, William Gamble, Charles Smith, Wilbert Safford, Merton Smith, and Walter Murphy.

The remains were placed in the vault to await burial in the family plot St. Paul's Anglican Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Murphy, of Star City, Saskatchewan spent a few days last week with the former cousin, Ronald Murphy, and Mrs. Murphy.

St. John's Guild Had Prosperous Year

The regular meeting of St. John's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Fitzsimmons on Thursday evening last with a good percentage of members present.

Everyone was amazed and delighted to see Mrs. Fitzsimmons the new President, who so recently suffered a painful accident, presiding at this the first meeting of the New Year. Rev. Weegar took charge of the devotions.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The only activity scheduled for December was catering for the December 28th dinner of the Lions Club, which was cancelled.

The Treasurer reported that the order for more dishes to match our set had been received and checked.

The treasurer's report showed a substantial bank balance as a result of a successful year's work. During the year equipment for the kitchen had been purchased also extra banguet tables and drapes for the hall.

It was moved and carried that a cheque for $450.00 be given to the Wardens of St. John's Church for church expenses.

Plans were made for a supper to be held on February 11th, 1960, in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Frank Bueley kindly agreed to be general convenor of the supper. It was decided to sell tickets at $1.00 a piece for adults and 50c for children. This supper will feature meats by Snyders.

Animals Sighted Believed To Be Wolves

It has been reported by at least three Iroquois and district residents that there are wolves in this area and that the animals have been sighted close to the village. So far, hunters have not been able to trace the animals.

Several hunters in the district are keenly interested in catching the animals—not alive, either. To help them, The Post asks that any person seeing what might be the wolves—whether you are certain or not—please contact Mr. Frank Sisty, Iroquois.

The wolves were last seen just east of the village limits.

OPINIONS

Ours and Yours . . .

Snow Removal A Problem

Last Winter and this, the amount of snow which has fallen has caused financial and other headaches to many communities. We in Iroquois and Matilda are no different; the cost of snow removal or at least of ploughing, has been exceptionally high through no fault of any individual. It came down and had to be moved.

In budgeting for the year ahead a council finds itself trying to provide funds for the necessities of operating its community and as well, make provision for such unexpected expenses such as heavy snow removal bills. Once the cost exceeds the estimate, then some other function of town administration must suffer . . or the town must borrow to maintain its budget.

Council are required to try to budget for their year's expenditures with an ultimate aim of keeping within it or at least ending up the year neither broke nor with too much of a surplus. In these days of yearly rising costs it is next to impossible to wind up the year in such a glorious position as having much of a surplus. Yet Iroquois and Matilda Township's governing bodies seem to have done an excellent job in this respect over the years.

Matilda and Iroquois roads have been kept as good, if not better, than our neighbouring communities. The heavy snows in late December and early January tied up the village at times, but not for long. The odd street is still not too wide, but all are passable and all better than any we have seen to the East and West of us.

We take off our mitts to you fellows for the fine job you've done.

Foresight - - - And Hard Work

The opening last weekend of The Continental Restaurant just West of Iroquois in Matilda Township and the openings of Iroquois Cleaners on Dundas Street and an Imperial service station opposite the shopping plaza mark another phase in the expansion of this area.

In addition to providing more taxation dollars to both communities, Iroquois and Matilda, and providing employment for several more people, the outstanding feature of any expansion is the foresight and initiative of the people behind such expansion.

Each in its own way helps round out a community . . . giving additional and extra service and a wider range of community facilities.

As each business opens we extend best wishes for success and growth in conjunction with the community. This is the type of initiative we need to progress.

Sign of the times:

There's the story of the dairy farmer who advertised for a farm hand: "Wanted, dairy farm employee. Must not have any bad habits--smoke, drink, chase girls or eat margarine".

One shouldn't do two things at the same time; that includes women who put on weight and slacks.

It seems that most knocking is done by folks who aren't able to ring the bell.

TODAY!

Mr. John H. Twentyman, Secretary of the North Andean Agency in South America recently related how he was flying to Ecuador over Auca territory. Here Rachel Saint is living in the midst of her brother's murderers. They were able to converse over the plane radio. Tranlation of the Scriptures is being worked on in this area.

When Mr. Twentyman visited Jivaro territory he met there a chief who had travelled six days on foot and by canoe from the borders of Peru in order to "hear more about the Word of God."

At Ayacucho, when the Quechau New Testaments, just received were put on sale, a small boy came running to the front of the church stretching up his little fist full of the right change to buy the first copy for his parents. After the service the garden was lined with readers, oblivious to all around them.

Hints For The Home

WINTER CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS

Short daylight periods and low light intensity during winter cause growing conditions for house plants to differ greatly from the rest of the year. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture offer the following advice on winter care of house plants.

Geraniums, fuchsias and chrysanthemums are sun loving plants and should be placed where the most light is available. African violets, philodendrons and most foliage plants require less light but must be moved to places where the light is sufficient. The north window often recommended for African violets may not have enough light for growth and flowering in these short, dark days.

When grown in windows, plants tend to become one-sided but this can be prevented by giving them a quarter turn each day. Most plants thrive when the day temperature is 65 degrees and the night temperature from 55 to 60 degrees. Since house temperatures are usually too high, it is best to grow plants in cooler parts of the room, usually near a window. Drafts should be avoided, however. When blinds or drapes are drawn, they should come between plants and windows, to prevent the plants from being in a very cold air space. Care should also be taken to keep plants away from the excessive heat of registers and radiators.

Dry atmosphere is often one of the chief factors responsible for failure in growing house plants.

When watering, add enough to wet the soil to the bottom and then do not water again until the plant or soil shows signs of needing it.

Follow directions on plant foods and keep in mind that house plants do not require feeding as often in winter.

There's no need to apologize for left-overs when you use some of these suggestions from the Home Economics Service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture to make them appetizing.

Meat left-overs usually ends up as hash, which can be truly delicious and even a welcome relief from holiday fare at this time of year. Line a buttered baking dish with cooked noodles or rice, then put well-seasoned hash in the centre of the dish and bake until heated throughout. Turn the loaf out onto a platter, garnish with chopped parsley and serve with gravy, or musehroom or tomato sauce. No one can cast aspersions at this left-over dish.

Left-over vegetables are more of a problem because they are apt to lose color and flavor, and certainly food value, when heated a second time. Left-over cauliflower or cabbage covered with a can of cream soup or a cheese sauce garnished with sliced hard-cooked eggs and topped with bread crumbs, needs no apologies, however. Placed in a shallow vegetable dish, then covered with cheese sauce and sprinkled with grated cheese, left-over broccoli is delicious. Place the dish under the broiler until becomes bubbly and brown and serve a portion on a slice of ham or chicken.

Left-over treated in such a manner are so good some people plan to have enough left from the first cooking to use this way another day.

Sleet and Ice Blow To Nature

by Dorothy Barker

There were times during my experience as an editor when I was invited to eat my words by irate readers who were not in accord with a stand I had taken in my paper. I never thought I would feel that I should go right out and start chewing on the pathetically ice-coated branches of our trees. Only two weeks ago, I wrote about the beauty of such a phenomena of nature. Today, though the scene from my picture window is still the most spectacular show nature has staged in years, the broken branches and ruined shrubs grieve my nature loving heart.

It was during our safari into the ski country of northern Ontario, that we heard a broadcast warning of another impending sleet and ice storm. We decided to leave for home, though it was a sacrificial effort when we remembered the homemade lemon delights in the pie cupboard of our farmer friends and the goose that hung high for basting next day.

The children sulked all the way down, pretending to ignore the ice that already coated the train coach windows. The adults were warm and happy as we travelled along and had little, or no premonition of the serious trouble and discomfort that lay ahead for all of us.

Just as the winter sun slid behind a slate gray cloud and disappeared for four days, there was a sudden silence. The power had gone off and the rhythmic hum of the furnace was stilled for 60 hours, only minutes after my arrival home.

It is frightening how quickly winter daylight fades, especially when that servant of man, electricity, is as dead as last year's calendar. I groped around trying to remember where I had stored the candles when I put up the Christmas decorations. At this point I was quite cheerful. Power breaks in this modern age are usually only momentary, or at the worst, we might be without heat and light for an hour or so.

Going to bed with a few soda crackers under my belt, while clothed in ski underwear, socks and a granny nightie that had seen better days and was retrieved from the dust cloth bag, was only a minor inconvenience. I expected the power would go on any minute and as the hours wore on, I hugged a cooling hot water bottle tighter and tighter and felt my breath settling in little wisps on my upper lip with every exhaling.

Funny how the hours can drag when trouble is brewing. When I struck a match I found it was only 4 a. m. and the thermostat announced the inside temperature was now 35 degrees above zero. Something had to be done and fast before I completely congealed. I pinned a blanket around my shoulders and stalked through the house looking like a character from Shakespeare, trailing the blanket and holding on high, a flickering candle.

I built a fire in the fireplace, hung a candlewick spread at the archway, drew the chesterfield up close to the flame and while my face blistered and my rear side froze, I warmed a cup of soup held with the fire tongs over a sputtering blaze. Nothing I have ever tasted was more eagerly relished.

As the hours dragged into days my pioneer spirit rose. I invented ways and means of dishing up a most delectible meal from cans heted in the fireplace and then opened while still steaming hot.

I blessed the ingenuity of the person who had manufactured asbestos oven mitts, canned chicken a la King, candied sweet potatoes, button mushrooms and minute desserts that whipped up quickly when added to cold milk, and I do cold. Wrapped in wooly blankets with my feet perched on a ottoman, I almost enjoyed the shivering hours I spent with the complete works of Ogden Nash, a set of books I had found under my Christmas tree.

I listened gratefully to the splash, splash of taps as they kept running to save them from freezing, felt a warm glow when my neighbour arrived with his arms full of hefty logs for the fire and had a moment of sheer regret as I gazed on the once proud array of African voilets. They were as black as the inside of your hat and as limp as old lettuce, but not half as tragic as the mutilation of hundred year old trees. It will I can grow a violet again in a matter of months from a little leaf.

A car horn is intended to be used solely as a warning device, the Ontario Safety League reminds all drivers. When used as a substitute doorbell, it irritates. When used to disperse a traffic jam, it is both irritating and ineffective.

* * * * *

Professional drivers have a deservedly high reputation for the way they handle their big vehicles. But their steady skill does not mean they can be treated as automatons by other road users. A bigrig driver can make a mistake, and he can lose his temper . . . and both are a lot more likely to happen when he is treated with lack of consideration by private car drivers. One of the discourtesies from which bus drivers, in particular, suffer is the failure of automobile drivers to dip their headlights, when following or approaching a bus. The Ontario Safety League asks drivers to extend low-beam courtesy to all other road users.

* * * * *

Cleaning all the snow off the rear window of your car helps other drivers, as well as yourself. The Ontario Safety League points out that a surprising amount of information about traffic conditions can come from observation through the rear windows of the cars ahead.

Two interesting safety developments in the U. S., reported by the Ontario Safety League:

After September 1960, sixteen-year- olds in Maine will have to graduate from a state-approved driver education course, or wait until they are 17 before they are allowed to have a driving licence. Two other States have similar legislation - Michigan and Connecticut.

New York's Governor Rockefeller is insisting that all state employees use the safety belt, when riding in state-owned vehicles.

Should A Car's Engine Be In Front Or In The Rear?

It makes quite a difference. Driving a rear-engine car is not like driving a front-engine car at all. Automotive engineers have been testing many cars lately to get all the facts. The results of those tests are of importance to every driver in Canada.

To begin with, all the rear-engine cars tested were decidedly back-heavy. Such unbalanced design produces a dangerous driving characteristic called "oversteering", which causes a car to exaggerate the effects of cross-winds and even road-crowns. On the wide-open straightaways of our modern highways, where cars are often buffeted by powerful crosswinds, the rear-heavy automobile is exceedingly difficult to control.

On the other hand, front-engine cars like the SIMCA react in the opposite way. They actually tend to compensate for the slope of a road-crown, and fight back against cross-winds. The difference in handling is due to the difference in weight distribution.

And since front-engine cars are so much easier to control, it follows that they produce less driver fatigue than rear-heavy cars.

Compared with SIMCA, the rear-engine imports leave much to be desired. SIMCA outweighs them overwhelmingly. SIMCA is longer, wider, and much more powerful. SIMCA is bigger inside, with room for a family of 5 in even the lowest priced models.

In overall performance there is no comparison at all. Speed Age magazine said, "SIMCA's fantastic road-holding ability is second to none". Motor Life magazine said that SIMCA "sticks to the turns as if it were on tracks". Sports Car Illustrated said, SIMCA "will outperform anything else in its price class."

But there's a lot more to the SIMCA story than this ad. can tell. Look, why not get all the facts?

Mr. and Mrs. R. Baykley Hosts To Farm Forum

On Monday night, January 18th, the Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barkley with eleven members present in spite of the bad weather.

The third in the series of forum topics—"Adjustment—the key to the future" was discussed.

This particular topic, the problem of adjustment through farm credit seemed to be one which we have little experience in our area. However, some interesting facts were expressed by the panel. One farmer told of his experience — having taken over the family farm and needed a loan of $1500 to help out with live stock and machinery which, he said, if he were to do the same today, $10,000 would be needed to put the same farm in operation. Seems hard to believe but those who have had the experience should know. It only goes to show that the price of farm produce has been allowed to drop to a very low level while the price of farm equipment and labour has been allowed to soar almost to the clouds. The majority of people feel on the safe side when they can keep from credit while a few others seem to like to venture into the unknown future. One member of the panel said the present farm credit policy passed by the Federal government in 1959 was fine except he thought the 20-year system was too short. It could be extended to 60 years which in our way of thinking would be one way where the sons of the fathers would be visiting the children of the third and fourth generation.

It is well though to feel that if absolutely necessary, loans can be attained very satisfactorily through the Federal government quite reasonably, to supply the needs of the individual.

The forum will meet next week on January 25th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Barkley.

The program will be presented by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, broadcast from the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, where their annual meeting is in session. An invitation is extended to anyone to attend our forum each Monday night.

Get The Big Picure

Cinemascope producers and driving instructors have one thing in common. It's a general piece of advice to customers . . . "Get the Big Picture".

Correct seeing is an acquired habit with motorists. The instinctive thing with an inexperienced driver is to glue his eyes on the car or the strip of roadway immediately ahead. This is small-picture viewing, which leads to jerky and unsure driving.

Smooth driving needs good timing, the Ontario Safety League points out. Good timing depends on good observance. That is, on recognition and understanding of all the factors in a broad field that are liable to affect the traffic situation. The convertible coming up fast behind . . . the flashing red in the far distance . . . the emty taxi that may stop suddenly for a pick-up . . . the car waiting to back out of a driveway . . . dogs eyeing each other across the street and considering to get-together . . . the new pavemarking just coming into view behind the truck ahead that is signalling a turn . . . the exhaust from a parked car that may be preparing to pull out into the traffic flow.

This is the Big Picture. It cannot be picked up by a single glance, nor a steady focus. The eyes should move constantly, scanning the whole traffic picture, to the sides and rear as well as ahead. Everything should be seen, but nothing watched in sharp detail.

The immediate control of every car is governed primarily by the contact between rubber and a few square inches of roadway. But the safety and correct handling of every car is dependent mainly on the contact between the driver's mind and traffic conditions over a wide area.

YOUR I.H.S. REPORT

by Gary Parmeter

Osnabruck (or Ingleside if you prefer) visited Iroquois Friday afternoon with their male Junior and Senior teams.

Iroquois Juniors scored an easy 45-24 victory over the weaker Ingleside team. Iroquois scorers were Bob Gillard—15 points, Arnie Fader—12, Tony Cummins—10, Alex Foster—6, and Billy Millar—2.

The Senior game proved to be the hardest fought, and most exciting game ever played in our gym. The score was tied at the end of the game thus causing a two-minute overtime period to be played which saw Iroquois take a hard 46-45 loss. Iroquois Seniors who contributed most heavily in the scoring department were — Wayne Barkley 14, Errol Coleman 7, Wayne Shaver, Graham Marcellus 2, and G. Parmeter 16. A great difference in the game was made by the accuracy of Osnabruck's foul shots; our team made only a small percentage of the foul shots.

This week the student body welcomed back our upper grade science teacher Miss Ranson. She had been recovering from an ailment which had her hospitalized in the Brockville General for the past few weeks.

Errol Coleman's Team Five won over Graham Marcellus' Team Five 25 to 19 on Thursday in Intermural Basketball. In other intermural competition Chick Barkley's Team Three won a 19 - 17 victory over G. Parmeter's Team Six on Tuesday.

Students are still selling tickets for the Annual Variety Night on the 28th of this month. An entertaining evening is planned by those in charge and we are expecting an excellent attendance.

In girl's basketball last Friday Iroquois' two teams visited Ingleside and split two games with them. The Junior team was victorious while the Seniors were less fortunate.

SOUFFLE-LIKE CASSEROLE CHEESE, RICE AND EGGS

What better time to try an eggs dish than now, when eggs are plentiful? Here's a recipe from the Home Economics Service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture for an egg-cheese-rice casserole which resembles a souffle but doesn't seettle as soon as it comes out of the oven, as a souffle does.

Here are the ingredients:

¼ cup rice
2 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
2 cups grated cheese
4 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
A pinch of pepper
A pinch of mustard

The method is very simple. First, ccok the rice in boiling, salted water. Then make a cheese sauce with the fat, flour milk and cheese. Next, seperate the eggs and beat whites and yolks separately until stiff. Combine egg yolks and seasoning with cheese sauce; add rice and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in an unbuttered baking dish for 40 minutes at 325 degrees.

Home-made street signs with big-city names are one kind of link between the people of the New North and the rest of Canada.

Banking service is another.

Canadian banks have, since the earliest days, taken part in the development of new areas, the opening of new frontiers. Today the chartered banks continue to bring banking services to pioneer settlements as the economic map of Canada is rolled back.

They have at the same time greatly increased the number of branches in established areas across Canada—new suburban communities, expanding industrial centres—keeping pace with the country's population and business growth.

To take care of all these varied needs, 1,200 new branches have been opened by the chartered banks in the past ten years.

THE RECORD WORLD

Oldies and Newies - All Goodies

by Gary Parmeter

PICK OF THE WEEK

This is the third consecutive BOBBY DARIN release that has made the Pick Of The Week here, and although this one is the weakest of the three, it is a good record and a sure hit. The now-non-rock 'n' rolling songster has another item from his "That's All" LP, the swingin' set which "Mack The Knife" came from. "Beyond The Sea" is his new one, a light swinger on which he is backed up by RICHARD WESS. When the record is flipped another good sound turns up by the name of "That's The Way Love Is".

SURE SHOTS

A country artist named JIM REEVES who has a better voice than most of the current pop stars has a sure sure shot for the top ten. JIM, who had a big dual chart hit with "Four Walls" a few seasons back, has one called "He'll Have To Go" that I'm sure will gain popularity everywhere. It's a very fine ballad.

Man, I just flipped. Just prior to this writing I heard a new swinger that almost gassed me. JOE BENNET and THE SPARKLETONES do it and it's the evergreen—"Are You From Dixie". The group, who have clicked with "Black Slacks" and "Boys Do Cry", have given this oldie new meaning, a new beat, and new everything, and it's just too much. Like holy mackerel Andy, sounds like this make me wish I had more ears.

That "Waterloo" boy, STONEWALL JACKSON, has given us pop music fans another great waxing from Columbia. This time ol' STONEWALL'S singing "Mary Don't You Weep" and a plenty good tune it is too. It has a slight march beat to it and even though these things got rather monotonous last summer this one sounds okay. What with those sad lyrics and all it can't miss.

A good looking British lad named MARTY WILDE has an enticing ballad on Epic records that I think will become a big favourite. On his first American release Marty sings a song he wrote called "Bad Boy". The ballad has a very pretty tune and is supported by a simple but catchy guitar backdrop. The flip isMARTY'S version of Massena's KEN MCDONALD'S "Teenage Tears" Epic records claim that 100,00 copies of "Bad Boy" were sold in Britain in one week.

A few years back LITTLE BRENDA LEE came out with a rock version of "Jambalaya" and she sounded like a girl at least in her late teens. At the time no one could believe she was nine years old.

Now that sweet little bundle of talent has a rockin' record for Decca called "Sweet Nuthin's" that is beginning to climb. The tune was written by RONNIE SEIF, a great young rock 'n' roll singer who never got that all important 'big break'.

An instrumental that was featured in a TV production called "The Philadelphia Story" has been released as a single by SPENCER ROSS on Columbia records. The tune, entitled "Tracy's Theme", is a relaxing sound that seems headed high.

"Clemintine" is the latest entry for JAN and DEAN and it should be their biggest since "Baby Talk". It's a pretty good disk.

A few years ago, an ELVIS-sounding vocalist named RAY SMITH clicked in a big way in Ottawa with a tune called "So Young". Actually Ottawa was about the only place the tune did hit. Now the singer has his first big national hit with an upbeat thing called "Rockin' Little Angel" which is new in lyrics only; the tune is that of "Dance With A Dolly With A Hole In Her Stocking". RAY'S record is on the American Judd label, one of the labels owned by SAM and JUDD PHILLIPS. They are the brothers who were responsible for bringing to the public stars like ELVIS PRESLEY, JERRY LEE LEWIS, JOHNNY CASH, and CARL PERKINS. Now they're trying to do the same for RAY SMITH.

Unless I miss my guess, you probably like "Shimmy Shimmy "Ko-Ko Bop" by LITTLE ANTHONY and THE IMPERIALS. Personally, I don't so I'll leave it at that. Although I think I should mention that the tune is moving up the charts at a good pace. (That tiile is enough to finish me.)

SPOTLIGHT ALBUMS

"14 NEWIES BUT GOODIES" - VARIOUS ARTISTS—Mercury MG 20493. This album is the biggest bargain around right now—14 recent hits for $2.98 (time limit on low price.) In the current trend (see article below) Mercury has assembled hits like "Boogie Bear"—BOYD BENNETT, "So Many Ways"—BROOK BENTON, "Unforgettable"—DINAH WASHINGTON, and "Breakin' Up Is Hard To Do"—JIVIN GENE.

"FAITHFULLY"—JOHNNY MATHIS—Columbia CL 1422. The flawless voice of the popular warbler is featured on a dozen ballads. Includes "Blue Gardenia", "And This Is My Beloved", and "Secret Love". Columbia turns 'em out fast by this boy. No wonder though, they sell so well.

"THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF JONATHAN WINTERS"—Verve MG V15009. The hilarious comedian makes his disk debut with eight monologues on the label that has SHELLEY BERMAN and MORT SAHL. One listener, said about this LP "This album is the freshest, funniest, farthest out, ever to hit." The listener, of Course, was JONATHAN WINTERS so that opinion may be slightly biased.

PLATTER CHATTER

Record companies are going all out these days on collecting old hits and packaging them in LPs. This was started some time ago when the Original Sound label put out an LP called "Oldies But Goodies" comprised of old rock 'n' roll hits by various artists. The album virtually took off and other companies sat up and took notice. Then Warwick records put out an LP called "Goodies But Oldies—Volume 2". This resulted in a lawsuit by Original Sound for unfair competition which they won.

Then everybody got into the act, although refraining from using titles for which they could be used. Now there are countless albums on the markets using this gimmick, and with each week bringing a couple of new ones. Some of the titles they are using are "Bunch of Goodies", "Treasure Chest Of Hits" "Record Hop", "Goodies Old And New", Old Favourites", "Rock 'n' Roll Bandstand', and the new one reviewed in the Spotlight Album section, "Newies But Goodies".

Just between you and me, I flip over CONWAY TWITT'S "Lonely Blue Boy". However, the other day I heard the flip side "Star Spangled Heaven" and I think it's great also. It's a semi-religous, country-flavoured tribute to army chaplains who served during wartime, The Platter features a narration. a chorus, and a fine arrangement. It sounds very sincere and commercial. This record deserves to become a double barrelled hit.

Two tunes that gained local popularity some time ago—"Why Do I Love You So" by JOHNNY TILLOTSON, and "Southern Love" by RONNIE HAWKINS are just now begining to catch on nationally. Coincidentally, both tunes wound up in a tie for the number 100 spot on the Cash Box listings last week.

Sales on JOHNNY PRESTON'S "Running Bear" have reached the coveted million mark according to Mercury records. The record is still in its prime and should go much higher in sales.

When I reviewed "Running Bear" a few weeks ago, I mentioned that it had been written by the late J. P. (BIG BOPPER) RICHARDSON. I have since learned that the Indian chant on "Running Bear", which was cut in December 1958, was done by the BIG BOPPER. He was killed in a plane crash a couple of months later with RITCHIE VALENS and BUDDY HOLLY. J. P. was co-manager of JOHNNY PRESTON.

The last couple of weeks I've been talking about a disk I'm pretty enthused about. It, as you know, is "Settin' The Woods On Fire" and "Kentucky Waltz" by JOHNNY BURNETTE on Liberty records. I also intend to keep doing so until the tune reaches hitdom or oblivion. I was encouraged this week though when I looked in the trade papers and saw full page ads for the record including a picture of JOHNNY BURNETTE. Full page ads like these in the trade publications make a very big difference in the future of a disk. How about that D. C.?

IN MEMORIAMS

McCURDY—In loving remembrance of a dear son and brother Larry James McCurdy who passed away January 22nd, 1958.

Time rolls on and we are reminded
Or a day our hearts were crushed,
When God took you, oh, so quickly
And we all in gloom were thrust.
In the bloom of life, death claimed you
In the prime of boyhood days,
But we hope some day to meet you
And to be with you always.

United Church W.M.S. Enjoyed Good Attendance

The United Church W. M. S. had a good attendance at their first meeting of the New Year when they met on Tuesday January 12th. After opening the meeting with a hymn. he retiring president, Mrs. Fetterly, called for reports from all officers of the past year.

The Treasurer reported our allocation had been met. Miss E. Armstrong reported that her 94 associate members had contributed $172.00 through nite boxes. Three affiliated ofganizations—C. G. I. T., Mission Band and Baby Band were all reported to be quite active at present and under capable leadership.

Mrs. Lawrence Merkley led in prayer.

The installation of new officers was conducted by Rev. J. L. Dean and Mrs. A. W. Batchelor took the chair as new president.

A short report of Dominion Board refugee work was given by Mrs. H. VanAllen.

Rev. J. L. Dean gave a very interesting talk on the aims of the W.M.S.:

1. To unite all women of the church in a world mission of Christianity;
2. Christian education of teenage girls;
3. To encourage study, prayer and giving;

He stressed bringing out the latent potential in each individual.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

What's Going On At Legion Branch 370?

You will perhaps remember a column some time ago in which I stated that the Legion could run itself out of business. However, I have just read an article which states that membership is growing every day and we are assured that the future of the Legion is sound for the next fifty years.

Some old Vet's think of the soldier of W. W.2 as he did of the soldier of W. W. 1. This should not be, the soldier of to-day is alike in two ways, he has the same tradition of service and the same bonds of comradeship, but there the similarity ends.

The Canadian Legion is mainly responsible for this by introducing our war time educational services. What the officers had in mind was that the veteran of World War II would be able to return to civilian life better qualified to face the problems which were bound to confront him.

We must not condemn those in authority after World War I because they had little to guide them in regards to rehabilitation, while after the last war they had a world of knowledge at their fingertips, as well as being better prepared financially.

No doubt there are cases where it would seem there is gross inefficiency, but if these cases are brought to the attention of the proper persons they can and will be easily and quickly adjusted.

We suppose the greatest factor in drawing the veteran to organization was the rehabilitation program after World War I. The veteran of today has not the same incentive, but they are still joining the Legion in thousands.

Perhaps the main reason the veteran of the first war did not accomplish too much was the fact that there were too many veterans' organizations with the result that no one of them had a voice strong enough to be heard in the proper places. The veteran of today is not making that mistake; he is joining an association ready formed, capably staffed and with adequate funds. This is a very satisfactory situation as far as the veteran is concerned and also Canada as a whole. It was at first feared that too strong an organization would be a dangerous thing. However, this fear was unfounded. Wherever we go we meet branch officers who speak in glowing terms of increased membership and branches are competing to gain the most members.

Following World War I there were thousands of members of G.W.V.A. but in a few years this had dwindled to a few hundred. Why? Internal discord and faulty leadership had a lot to do with it, but the fundamental difficulty was that no means had been devised impressing on the vet. his responsibility or devise a means of maintaining individual interest. This has been partially overcome but there is still much to be desired.

Progress depends on new ideas, new viewpoints, tomorrow's leaders must come from the members of today. The more members the greater the choice.

So to all vet's in the district—why not become a part of a great organization that is working for you and also for the community in which you live. The cost is negligible and the results, while they may not be monetary to you will certainly give you a feeling of pride that you have helped someone less fortunate than yourself.

Don't delay, join the Legion today.
