

Here & There

by Kay Kay

People in general are full of ideas and that's a good thing. It's the kind of ideas that really count though and we hate seeing mountains made of mole hills. Take for instance the rink. Complaints over the lack of skating facilities were going the rounds until the rink was built. And there it sits — a monument almost. The use it has been getting isn't worth the efforts it took to put it there that's for sure. Just where all our young people are is a big question.

We've often wished this community had a swimming pool (for summer) but if the rink is any indication of what use will be made of such a project, then the idea had better die down until more residents realize just what they're missing.

It costs a heap to build swimming pools big enough for a community our size, taking into consideration that we have 1,000 residents who might use it. A safe bet is that not more than 100 or so would take a dip too often.

Twenty will do the complaining, 1,000 will help pay for it and the hazardous guess of 100 may use it.

Might as well let those interested use the wading pool already in the park!

On the brighter side of life we like the way the snow plow boys time their trips to fill in our driveway two minutes after we shovel it out. All that bothers us, actually is the ear-to-ear grins they have as they swirl by!

That snow plow was one of the best investments made in the community in many a moon.

In this day of selling gimmicks we find $4.00 shoes still come at $2.00 a foot!

Seaway Authority Adopts New Symbol

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority is to have a new streamlined industrial design symbol of its own.

In royal blue and white—the Seaway colours—the symbol emphasizes the Seaway's main function, lockage of ships. The relationship of the Authority to the transiting vessel is illustrated by a circular line representing the Authority itself and an outline of the lock facility which it operates and in which the ship is an independent object.

The new insignia will be used to identify all Seaway Authority facilities and structures, land and floating equipment, on stationery, and as a crest on uniforms of Seaway operating and maintenance personnel.

The symbol was created by Montreal artist and industrial designer, Gilles Robert.

In adopting a distinctive identification of this type, the Authority is keeping pace with a developing trend in the industrial and commercial world, and seeks, through extensive use of the new design, to make the deep waterway better known to the commerce and shipping of all nations.

Tour Caldwell Mills

Thursday afternoon, February 15th twenty-five institute members and visitors were taken on a tour of Caldwell Linen Mills. The guests were received by Mr. J. Conger and were divided in groups of four and five and were shown through the yarn preparation department, weaving and the cloth inspection, bleaching and sewing and make up, boiler room and maintenance and shipping department. When the tour was completed, everyone returned to the cafeteria and was served doughnuts and coffee and Mr. Conger presented each one with a tea towel as a memento of their visit to Caldwell Linen Mills.

At 8 p.m. the monthly meeting of the Iroquois Women's Institute was held in the community centre. There were seventeen members present. The President, Mrs. Seeley presided assisted by the Secretary, Mrs. D. Hare. The meeting opened with the ode and Mary Stuart Collect.

It was moved and seconded that Mrs. Seeley attend a President's Conference in Guelph, May 8-9. Mrs. L. Merkley read a letter from the English Correspondent in Wrington, England.

Mrs. Seeley and Mrs. D. Hare offered to convene the Lions Dinner, March 19th. Mrs. B. Rabb gave a report on the district workshop, held at Riverside Heights, February 6th.

Mrs. Seeley read a story of Valentines and a song was enjoyed, accompanied by Mrs. J. Graham. Two contests were held and Mrs. J. Graham was the winner for the first and Mrs. Seeley presented a Valentine to each one present for the second.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by Mrs. L. Davis, Mrs. M. Hyslop and Miss Ruth Miller.

Legion Ladies Met

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Branch 370, Iroquois, held their regular monthly meeting in the Legion Hall on Wednesday, February 14th, with President, Evelyn Fawcett, presiding.

Due to illness of the Secretary, Edna Hagarty, the minutes of the last meeting and special meeting were read by Jean Miller, and the treasurer's report given by the Treasurer, Dorothy Hadley, were both approved as read.

During the meeting it was decided that the Auxiliary would add to the facilities of the kitchen in the hall and install a hot water tank.

The treasurer was authorized to send a $50.00 donation to the Royal Canadian and Ladies Auxiliary Bursary Fund.

A motion was passed to discontinue the bi-weekly Binges and Euchres until further notice. The last euchre will be held on February 26th. Plans will be made to hold a Monster Bingo in April. The date to be announced later.

The monthly draw was won by Dorothy Hadley.

A delicious lunch was served by convenor, Helen Marsters, and a social hour was enjoyed by the members.

Winter struck this area full force during the past few days leaving area roads in hazardous condition. Monday afternoon Iroquois High School was closed and many country schools decided to close early. Village streets were kept in excellent condition, the snow being removed as it fell.

United Church Women Units Prepare For Variety Concert

The United Church Women of Iroquois met on Tuesday, February 13th for their regular monthly meetings. The afternoon unit met in the church under leadership of Mrs. Ivan Seeley, and the evening units met with Mrs. J. L. Dean, Mrs. Lloyd Davis and Miss Doris Jamieson in charge.

The theme used for the worship service was "The Call to be Saints" and the scripture reading from Isaiah 6, vs. 1 to 8. The ladies were reminded of the vision of Isaiah and his call to the ministry, comparing it with ours of today. Hymn 196 "God Reveals His Presence" was sung.

In the business periods, the roll call, minutes and correspondence was dealt with. An interesting letter was read from the Victor Home in Toronto, who would appreciate donations to help them carry on their work. Reports were given by the Supply and Community Friendship Secretary. One unit made plans for a Lions dinner and proposed a summer social. All units spent time in preparing for the variety concert to be held on March 6th.

In the study period, the chapter entitled "Red Silk Dress" from the book, "Hasten The Day" was used. This is the story of Anna, a Polish immigrant, doing domestic work in a Canadian home. A closer tie between organizations of the Church and the immigration officers of our cities and towns would result in more effective work with newcomers who often enter our lives without any visible concern on our part for their adjustment to new ways of life. Even at best, the first year in a strange land presents many difficulties which we could help to solve through active Christian Neighbourliness. As a follow up of this story, the members are asked to take a special interest in the March edition of United Church Observer.

At the close of the meetings, a social time was enjoyed and a lunch served.

Support Your Heart

If the Ontario Heart Foundation is to continue to support 22 tireless research workers and further this vital research, the Canadian Heart Fund must not fall short of its $600,000 goal, Mr. Arthur H. Mingay, Ontario Campaign Chairman, said today.

In making the statement at a kickoff luncheon, Mr. Mingay stressed the absolute necessity of reaching the objective by pointing out that 86 per cent of this money is spent for this research program and medical education, and the balance goes towards public information, fund raising and administering its grants-in-aid program.

In addition to the 22 scientists doing research into diseases of the heart, the Ontario Heart Foundation maintains 51 research projects in teaching hospitals and universities. The combined program of Fellowships and Grants-In Aid investigates all aspects of heart disease, Mr. Mingay said. This assures the supporters of the campaign that their money is being wisely and intelligently used to help find the causes, better diagnoses and treatments for heart disease.

The Canadian Heart Fund is currently conducting its annual appeal for Funds during February, Heart Month, when Canadians in every province are asked to support medical research into the cause, prevention and treatment of heart disease.

Going To The Dogs

Council's intention to explore the possibility of having the dog by-law changed to force the canines to be tied up or on leash at all times during the year may not be an earth-shattering issue but it bears a passing thought.

Since the animals cannot speak for themselves it is only fitting someone should. Having invested considerable in such an animal, we don't hesitate in passing an opinion.

In the first place we never did like to see any animal chained or tied, if its nature was to be free. In the second place, many of these animals are as law abiding as a good many of our citizens—the only regret is they cannot speak for themselves. Adults can cut across lawns, trample flowers and do many things dogs do, but we say nary a word.

Being somewhat pleased to see nice flower beds and shrubs growing, we too agree with those who like the same things and hate to see them destroyed by dogs. But then, cats too, are quite destructive and we dare say, it would be impossible to regulate their freedom.

Looking at the issue head-on it appears that dogs are doomed to being tied up all year round whether we like it or not and it will no doubt result in a gradual decrease in the canine population here.

Dogs do damage, there's no getting around it. They also provide many residents with a great deal of pleasure and we're among the ones who will hate to see dogs tied 12 months of the year.

THE BIBLE TODAY!

A report from Cuba states that for the first six months of 1961, double the number of Scriptures were circulated than in the same period of the year before. The 605,000 volumes which were circulated is almost the total estimated distribution for all of 1961.

In Costa Rica, 150,000 houses were visited and over 100,000 Gospels distributed by the effort of the whole Protestant population. Tireless efforts in training laymen, publicity, local evangelistic meeting, Bible schools for children and the house-to-house visitation produced the above surprising results.

The institution of Bible Society work in Columbia as a separate agency of the British and Foreign Bible Society and the American Bible Society, rather than as a sub-agency of Venezuela, was celebrated by a special service in Bogota, at which the Reverend L. E. Holmgren, executive secretary of the American Bible Society was the special speaker. Members of the secular press were present and one of the leading papers published a full account of the service.

Scripture distribution in Columbia now ranks third in the Spanish speaking Latin American countries. Distribution in the month of May, 1961, totalled 117,500 copies of the Word of God.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

There's been quite a fracas recently in one Canadian town over its school policy toward repeaters. Bone of contention is the suspension from high school of seven pupils. Each was repeating his year, each was over 16, and all were given the gate "for habitual neglect of duty."

This particular incident occurred in Wiarton, Ont., and as a former editor of the best little old weekly newspaper in Wiarton and a present school teacher, I followed the clash with more than usual interest.

It began with a red herring, when the mother of one of the suspended pupils charged the principal with discrimination because the girl in question was an Indian. I knew this was poppycock, but held my peace.

Sure enough, the charge was vigorously countered in the next issue, not by the principal, but by his students. They claimed that Indian students took part in all school activities and were treated with equality and respect in the classrooms. The letter also pointed out that there were five non-Indian pupils suspended.

The chairman of the board backed the principal by quoting chapter and verse under which the youngsters were shown the door. A former clergyman in the parish, now teaching in a U.S. college, wrote a hot defense of the principal's action, claiming it was not only good for the students suspended but for the others as well. Still another letter roundly abused the principal for his stand.

Important thing to come out of the scuffle was not the discrimination charge, which was patent nonsense, but the fact that a principal and a school board had the nerve to penalize by suspension a number of pupils who were not pulling their weight.

It's no secret that there's a percentage of students in every school which falls into this category. For various reasons—parental indifference, psychological problems, or just plain lassitude—they refuse to work. Many of them have average, some above average intelligence.

Some of them are content to sit all day like vegetables, drowsing, dreaming, doodling. They are no trouble to anybody and no use to anybody. Others, more lively, but just as adamant in their rejection of work, spend their time in a running battle with authority. They have a compulsion to attract attention. These are the discipline problems, the people who disturb, other pupils, the people who push some teachers every year into nervous breakdowns.

What's to be done with these people? In my day, they drifted out of school by a natural process, and found a job. Most of them became reasonable useful members of society. Some did very well in business and industry, when they shook off the dust of the classroom.

But they're facing today a society that neither wants nor needs them. Heavy machinery and automation have gobbled laborers and factory jobs. Employers demand ever-higher educational standards.

Remember that we're speaking, not of slow learners, but of those with normal intelligence who won't work. I don't have the answers, but I do think some kind of drastic action should be taken if their abilities are not to be wasted, if they are not to become a permanent burden on society.

Should these young people, whatever the reason for their refusal to work, be allowed to disrupt the system, set a bad example to others, and generally act as a brake on the educational process? They would not be tolerated in business, industry or the armed forces. After high school, they are no longer babied. At university, technical school, nursing school, those who refuse to work are plowed under, and nobody weeps for them.

Faced with the same problems of over-crowding and staff shortage as our schools, even our hospitals meet them squarely. Beds are for sick people, not for those who feel like a rest. Out you go unless you need hospital care.

Would fear of being kicked out of school for failure to work have the desired effect on the lazy, the emotionally disturbed, and the others who make up this indigestible lump in our high schools? Or would it have no more effect on them than the constant cajoling, urging and threatening they now undergo, both at home and at school?

Should they all be turned out of school into the cold, cruel world at 16? Should they all be psychoanalyzed? Should their parents be fined or sent to jail if the kids don't achieve a passing mark? Or would any such drastic action leave a stigma upon them which they would never overcome?

Lots of questions. Who has the answers? Let's have a forum on it. Many intelligent, thoughtful people read this column. What do you think? Is suspension of non-workers in high school a positive or negative approach? What alternatives are there? Let's hear your opinions. Send them along to the editor of your local paper, and we'll thrash this thing around until we get everybody hopping mad.

Lions Deputy Governor Visits Iroquois Lions Club

District A-4 Deputy Governor Mark Goldhammer, of Cornwall, made his official visit to Iroquois Lions Club on Monday evening, delivering an address pointing out the meaning of brotherhood as it applies to Lionism in the world.

The guest noted that the Lions organization was the largest service club organization of its kind in the world and related the many fine projects undertaken by the service organization in helping the underprivileged of many countries. "Lionism will never die" he said, "for it is always fighting for the rights of people everywhere". "The greatest freedom we have is that which allows us to join with our fellow men in deeds and acts helping our society. We must accept the challenges that come before us" he stated.

Rapping those who practised discrimination and prejudice, the speaker said "We must build morally and spiritually in the battle against prejudice and discrimination". By working together and through cooperation a better brotherhood of man can be found he said.

The speaker was introduced by K. Kirkby and thanked by Gerald Conger, the latter presenting the deputy governor with a gift.

Being Transferred

Wayne Moore, local Beamish Stores manager, has been transferred to Pembroke and was presented with a gift by President Keith Beaupre.

Rev. J. L. Dean asked the blessing.

Bell Telephone Shows Increase In Iroquois

The expansion of telephone facilities in Iroquois during 1961 was typical of the situation across the territory served by The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, it was revealed in that company's 82nd annual report issued this week. Expenditures to extend, improve and mechanize service totalled $192,600,000, the report states. Telephones in service at the end of 1961 totalled 3,695,107, an increase of 180,100 during the year.

On the local scene, some 21 telephones were added, J. W. K. Blair, Bell manager for this region, said, bringing the total to 935 as of December 31.

According to the report, net income totalled $57,690,521 for the last year equivalent to $2.50 per share, or a return of six per cent on invested capital.

Operating revenues for 1961 were 7.1 per cent higher than in 1960. The report states this reflects an intensified marketing effort and an upturn in business conditions in the second half of the year.

Taxes totalled $73,483,000, or $8,752,000 more than in 1960.

Shareholders numbered 178, 126 at the end of 1961, an increase of 6,838 in 12 months. They received $50,786,210 in dividends at the rate of $2.20 per share.

At the end of 1961, the company had 34,302 employees. Wages and salaries totalled $161,859,420. A wage increase, averaging 2.8 per cent, went into effect at the end of November, 1961, following collective bargaining.

Extension telephones in homes now equal 17 per cent of residence main telephones; 20 per

MAXVILLE BANTAMS WIN SOUTH MOUNTAIN TOURNAMENT

In a game that had all the excitement of an N.H.L. play-off game the Maxville Bantams won a close 2-1 victory over Mountain Township to win the Bantam Hockey Tournament sponsored by the Mountain District Chamber of Commerce at the South Mountain rink Saturday, Feb. 10th.

Teams from Maxville, Cardinal, Williamsburg, Morrisburg, Winchester, Osgoode, Kemptonville and Mountain Township took part in the Tournament with each team playing 2 or more games. Mr. Delbert Fawcett, President of the local Chamber of Commerce, got the tournament underway as he officiated at the face-off of the opening game between Williamsburg and Mountain Township. After ten games, many of which were uncertain until the final whistle, the Maxville Bantams were declared the winners of the Tournament and the team was presented Championship Crests by Mr. Harold Graham. The Maxville players and their coach were also presented free passes to a home game of the Hull-Ottawa Canadians with the compliments of the Montreal Canadians who also made an autographed hockey stick available to one of the outstanding players of the tournament and this was presented to the Williamsburg goal tender, Jack Watson Sporting Goods of Toronto, also donated a pair of nice hockey gloves and these were presented to Ian McRae of Maxville who was judged as the outstanding player of the tournament by a panel of judges.

Through the generosity of the local people and under the direction of Mrs. Lorne Hoy and Mrs. Lloyd Hyndman with the assistance of the girls from the local high school, more than 200 lunches were served to the young players and their coaches.

The Mountain District Chamber of Commerce wishes to express their thanks to the growing people who helped make the tournament a success: Mr. Gordon Cumming for the use of his public address system; the South Mountain Odd Fellows for the use of their hall; Mr. Charles Keays; the Montreal Canadian Hockey Team and Jack Watson Sporting Goods for their donations of awards; Mr. Basil Dawley for his donation of chocolate milk; Parisien Beverages and Prescott Bev-

Variety New Books

(Mrs. O. Pigeon)

Following is a short resume of some of the books recently received at the Iroquois Public Library. Non-fiction is predominant in this group.

In "Before Igor" Svetlana Gouzenko tells her story of life in Russia following the revolution, when one's life, job, superiors and thought changed on the whim of the government.

"The Romantic World of Richard Haliburton" describes the earth's most fascinating spots as seen through the rose-coloured glasses of a famous traveller and writer.

The beautifully illustrated "Saturday Book 21" an annual miscellany, contains contributions by such famous authors as Sir Philip Gibbs and Beverly Nichols.

In "Beyond Our Selves" Catharine Marshall, author of "A Man Called Peter" and "To Live Again" describes her faith as a spiritual adventure.

by Ivan T. Sanderson, presents clearly and excitingly the whole of the American continent in a vivid narrative and in the most remarkable photographs ever gathered in one volume.

D. G. G. Kerr's modern "Historical Atlas of Canada" will attract all who are interested in Canadian history. Modern principles of map-making have been followed with emphasis on simplicity and clarity and elimination of unnecessary and cluttering detail.

"A Naturalist in Alaska" by Adolph Murie, concerns the domestic ways of the Grizzly Bear, Wolf, Lynx, Wolverine, Dall Sheep, Caribou, and Arctic Fox, complete with colourful photographs.

In "Imperial Peking", Seven Centuries of China, Lin Yutang conveys the sense of historical achievement which Peking represents and takes the reader through the various periods which contributed towards making the city what it is today.

M. Wylie Blanchet's "The Curve of Time", which ran as a serial on CBC Matinee in the Fall, tells of Mrs. Blanchet's summer cruises with her children through the island-studded waters that lie between Vancouver Island and the deeply indented coast of the mainland of British Columbia.

"Conan Doyle" by Hesketh Pearson, is a story which for colour excitement, and humour rivals some of Doyle's own fiction. It also answers many questions about Doyle's creation.

England is the setting for Neil Bell's dramatic "Village Casanova", the story of a painter who claimed to be a descendant of Sir Francis Drake.

Althea Urn takes her readers to France in her unusual satirical novel "The Head of Monsieur M".

"Green Holly" by Sue Kaufman, is the story of a sensitive attractive girl and her strange attraction for a man who ordinarily would have repelled her.

Mrs. Jean Casselman Reports

Reviews Statistics Since 1956

Total employment has improved by about half a million people since 1956 or an increase of 8 per cent. Personal incomes have increased 30 per cent in this period, with corresponding increases in consumer spending and total personal savings. We can see by the improved employment situation in our area of office at Prescott that the degree of improvement is very real indeed.

This improvement did not happen by accident, but rather was the hard fought and hard won reversal of a frightening depression.

When the present Government took office in 1957 we inherited a $713 million Trade deficit. It is obvious in this unbalanced position, Canada was buying too much from other countries, thereby supplying them with employment, and that considerable change was necessary to employ more Canadians.

Several important steps were taken. The Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Hon. George Hees, immediately upon taking office, called back to Ottawa from all over the world the Canadian Trade Representatives, and invited Canadian businessmen to come and visit with them and to discuss markets that would be mutually beneficial. This was probably one of the most effective and most efficient steps ever taken by any Minister. The organization of such a meeting it was thought would take six months, but the dynamic optimism and plain hard work of the Minister and his Department, accomplished it in six weeks.

Since then the export trade promotion policy has expanded into regional meetings where teams of senior departmental officials meet and co-operate with provincial governments and local trade associations. There have now been twelve of these regional meetings in major manufacturing centres across Canada, from Vancouver, B.C. to St. John's Newfoundland.

These meetings have been highly successful with enthusiastic response and excellent co-operation between provincial and federal governments and businessmen.

Out of these regional Conferences, are developing Regional Offices which will establish and maintain close liaison with provincial government authorities and industry, as well as with business and industrial associations and organizations in order to acquaint them with the wide variety of services the Department has to offer.

This year there will be four times as many Trade Missions sent out to visit foreign markets and we will be participating in a greatly increased number of Trade Fairs.

Recently there have been all Canadian Trade Fairs in Lagos, Nigeria, and Accra, Ghana. These Fairs will exhibit the products of more than eighty different Canadian firms. Our popularity with the African countries through the United Nations and various assistance programs will have very direct bearing on the success of these shows.

Trade Minister Hees is optimistic. Last week he pointed out that Canada's total production of goods and services rose 4.7 per cent in the six months between the first and third quarters of 1961. This rate of growth in national output exceeded that achieved in like periods in fourteen of the last fifteen years.

In the 12 months up to last December, employment had risen by 180,000 new jobs, nearly double the rate of increase during the last five years.

Exports in January-November were 8 per cent higher than a year earlier, a growth rate more than double that of the previous five years. Industrial production in the 12 months up to November had also risen 8 per cent, three times the growth rate of the last five years.

Joke of the Week

"It was touch and go with this one . . ."

22 cards sent were reported. The by-laws and constitutions of the U.C.W. work were discussed. During the business period plans were made for a quilting in the near future. Offering was received and was dedicated by Mrs. Roy Leizert. The president presented the chapter on "Teenager" followed with a story on "Jeanie" by Mrs. Herbert Leizert. Meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Fred Taylor. The hostess served refreshments and a social hour followed.

EVERY SENSIBLE PERSON realizes the value of his fire or automobile insurance, but how many of us overlook our own personal income?

If you are sick or injured your income stops, and bills pile up. Could you continue to live on that $15 or $20 a week you would get from your present plan? Why not let Metropolitan carry the burden for you at a very low cost? For example a man aged 25 would pay a premium of only $62.50 annually and would receive a benefit of $100 monthly for 5 years in the event of accident and 2 years in the event of sickness.

IHS News Notes

by Wayne Jackson

Have you ever skimmed over the requirements needed for getting a job or the many articles written on the Canadian unemployment situation. If you have, probably the most significant sentence in the maze of statistics was the one in which the employer, social worker, or government official stated the need for higher educated workers.

Drop-out rates in some Canadian high schools are very high. The majority of "quitters" do so, not because of lack of ability, but for lack of desire. Many quit because they want to earn their own money. Others can't get the subjects no matter how hard they study or "cram" for the tests and examination. In such cases they would be better off taking technical training. But for those with the ability there are far more reasons that they should continue their education instead of quitting, taking the "easy way out", cheating themselves out of an education, and not fulfilling their duty to society, to their parents, and to themselves.

The strongest and most realistic argument for staying in school is that the more education you have the more money you will be qualified to earn after graduation. Anyone can quit now and get a job with a salary of 40 dollars a week. But in 10 years the salary will be the same and 40 dollars just isn't quite enough to support a family. Lack of an education would surely cripple any chances for promotion. If you are thinking of quitting and looking for a job, stop and take a long look at the job you will be getting. Will you be satisfied with the labour, wages and conditions for the rest of your working days?

Pupils who can't get high grades due to lack of ability and learning capacity are few, and these are usually the ones who are working the hardest at their subjects and homework trying to raise their marks. The lazy pupils complain of the time and evenings "wasted" on homework and of the few free nights they have. Well, if they were able to secure a job, the vocation that they would be fitted for would require enough physical exertion that their free evenings would be spent in sleeping, massaging aching muscles and limbs and in trying to make "ends meet". They would be too tired to enjoy their "free hours".

School is just another job, in that you get out of it only what you put into it. The five or six years spent in getting that valued senior matriculation will pass quickly and, after graduating, you will admit that it was well worth the time and energy involved. You not only gain a formal education but life-long friends, the acquaintance and friendship of many fine teachers and a well-moulded character.

You will have fond memories of wins and defeats, football games, parties, dances and assemblies and will become a strong defender of "high school days are the best days of life".

Basketball

All three teams played high-calibre, fast-moving games against Kemptville here on Friday the 16th.

The close of our basketball season was marked by these three games and, because the boys teams had no desire to go out skunked, it was a "must" that they should win. Well, no one can say that our boys can't play under pressure for they won out over Kemptville in both games.

The first game was between the juniors; the second with the seniors and the third with the girls. The boys scores were, in favour of Iroquois, 43-33 for the seniors and 30-25 for the juniors.

The girls also ended the season with one victory-feather in their headdress. Their win was over Ingleside about three weeks ago, but as fate had it they suffered a relapse and fell back into defeat. The score of the girls game was 10-9 for Kemptville.

Congratulations

To team three of the Saturday morning basketball league. Team 3 defeated team 2 in the two for three type elimination held last Monday and Tuesday nights. The sum of the points scored during the two games was 83-59. The sums of the points scored by the players individually were: Team 3: A. Fader—35, W. Jackson—23, L.

HOW TO BOWL 5-PINS

How To Get Those Corner Pins

For a bowler who has just rolled that "nearly perfect" ball right into the "strike pocket", the most depressing sight in the world is to watch a left-over corner pin teeter tipsily for a moment, then stay standing upright amid the fallen pins.

Perhaps the most frustrating thing of all about a left-over corner pin is that, very often, it is the result of bowling a very good ball.

If you are bowling well, then suddenly find yourself leaving a series of corner pins—don't worry. And don't change your delivery. Keep rolling that "nearly perfect" ball, meanwhile repeating over and over, to convince yourself: "It can't leave them forever. . . It can't leave them forever." Eventually, it won't.

Usual reasons for a left-over corner pin are (1) the headpin was struck a shade too thinly; or (2) the ball lacked enough "spin" to mix the pins sufficiently. Either way, the margin of error between a strike and leaving a corner pin is usually so narrow it is more a matter of luck than of skill for most bowlers.

Shoot From Corner To Corner

But, picking up those corner pins, whenever they show up, can give you the edge that often wins

THE IROQUOIS POST—Page 7
THURS., FEBRUARY 22nd, 1962

the game.

Oddly, an exceptionally good "strike bowler" is frequently not a good "corner pin bowler". And, over the long run, the bowler who can pick off corner pins regularly is usually more valuable to a team than the "ace" who can run up a string of strikes, but can't pick up the extra pins when they don't all go down together.

Shooting for a left-over corner pin, you should start your approach from the opposite side of the lane. This way, if you err, the ball can still take the pin out while it is leaving the alley. By rolling down the edge of the lane, you cut a five-inch margin off your target area, and cut your chance of hitting the pin by one third. (See illustration).

Roll for a corner pin with the same motion, speed and delivery as if you were rolling for a headpin. The only thing you change is your point of aim.

The one slight adjustment you may make is in the position of your feet. When rolling for a headpin, your toes should be pointed perpendicular to the foul line. For corner pins, they should be pointing toward the corner pin, in the direction you'll be making your approach. This will help prevent your arm crossing in front of your body during delivery, a common mistake of many bowlers.

The Peculiarities of Winter

Winter, of course, brings its own peculiarities and varied activities to our Department. These changes provide welcomed variety which makes the overall job more interesting.

Our Timber Branch, in various locations, is involved in various forms of woods operations. Larose Forest has practically completed its annual pulpwood harvest which this year amounted to 1,200 cords. This wood has been removed from plantations 20-35 years of age as a thinning and also from naturally grown hardwood trees. In Limerick Forest, small amounts of pulpwood are being cut from older plantations and improvement work and pruning are being carried out in young plantations. In Lanark County Forest and in the National Capital Commission Forest, improvement work of various types is being carried out. Our winter bush work in the forests under management by this Department

The left side corner pin (counter pin) should be easiest for a right-handed bowler to hit. The right corner pin is a trifle easier for southpaws. In the past, left-handed bowlers sometimes elected to use the right corner pin as the counter pin, but under the National Rules this is no longer permitted.

If you leave two corner pins, don't try to spare them up. Take them one by one. The only way to spare this "leave" is to speed your delivery up, and give the ball tremendous "spin" so the counter pin bounces off the backstop and takes out the other corner pin. Trying to achieve this can throw your delivery off so completely that you "blow" the frame instead.

If you succeed in regularly getting the counter pin, occasionally Lady Luck may tap you, and accidentally score the spare for you with a lucky kickback. Luck is always a grand team-mate.

Next: How To Make Spares

has employed, to date, fifty men.

Our woods work, thinning, improvement cutting, pruning and even clear cutting is all aimed at improving the productivity of these forests. By providing more growing space, or clearing a site for planting of different species, we are both reaping a harvest and making preparation for better and bigger forests.

Our Fish and Wildlife Branch is currently dealing with a vastly different type of work than that which they do in summer and fall. For most of the staff, the order of the day is report writing. Reports on deer, ducks, ruffed grouse, Hungarian partridge have been the most urgent business for the last few weeks. Our biologists have been busy compiling reports of summer fish studies in various parts of the district and all Department's activity in the fish and wildlife management area in co-operation with the Ontario-St. Lawrence Development Commission. As soon as the reports are all finalized, plans will be completed for the coming summer season. Fish stocking lists will be prepared, survey plans formulated, and equipment needs reviewed.

Of particular annoyance to our Fish and Wildlife staff during the past month has been the trouble caused to our deer herd by free roaming dogs. Snow conditions have been such as to allow dogs to travel on the crusts while the deer break through—this decreases the deer's speed, cuts their legs on the crusts and allows to make all to frequent killings. Dog owners are reminded that it is illegal to allow their dogs to run at large in deer inhabited areas. Hunters should be concerned about the well-being of the deer herd for next year's hunt, and can co-operate by restraining their dogs and convincing their neighbours to do likewise.

Our Parks staff are busy in three of our parks. At Rideau River Provincial Camp Grounds, beach improvement and picnic ground improvement is underway. At Silver Lake Provincial Camp Grounds fuelwood is being cut and moved to camp site areas and tables are being refinished for next season's use. At Fitzroy Provincial Park, the park office is nearing completion, camp site roads are being gravelled, camp sites are being cleared, and improvement work on the beaches and boat docking area will commence shortly. We propose to construct a sand beach on the west side of the park, principally for use of campers. In all our parks activities, approximately twenty men have been employed for the past month.

At the G. Howard Ferguson Forest Station, at Kemptville, a small amount of fuelwood is being cut and a few logs for sawing into crate material. Here four men are employed cutting on a piece-work basis.
