Suffel—Shaver

A very quiet wedding took place on Wednesday, Jan. 6th. at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm Shaver, Vancamp, Ont., when their second daughter, Chritena, was united in marriage to Mr. R. Arnold Suffel of Inkerman Ont., the eldest son of G. E. Suffel. The marriage ceremony was conducted by Rev. Wm. Philp, B. A.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly gowned in pearl grey silk crepe de chene and carried a boquet of white roses and carnations. Mendelssohn's wedding march was ably rendered by Miss Nellie Shaver as the contracting parties entered the room.

The many pretty and useful presents received by the bride speak eloquently of the high esteem in which the young people are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the bride's sister, who acted as pianist, a gold necklace.

The best wishes of all the friends go with them as they go to their home at Inkerman station.

Real Estate Firm Raided by Police.

Toronto, Jan. 16—Arrests of a startling nature in the business world occurred last night when the local police took into custody Mr. Gordon D. McCutcheon, 35 Lonsdale road, Vice-President of McCutcheon Bros., Ltd., one of the largest real estate firms operating in the Dominion during the past ten years. While the local police were raining the Toronto offices of the firm in the Kent Building and arrested its manager, the police of Calgary, at the request of Inspector Kennedy of the local police, arrested David S. McCutcheon, Charles M. McCutcheon, Joseph M. McCutcheon and Marshall E. Cooke. The McCutcheon brothers are understood to have come from the United States during the western real estate boom.

The charge against the defendants is that of conspiring to defraud the public, and it is laid under section 444 of the code. Action was taken under instructions from the Attorney-General, Hon. I. B. Lucas. Mr. Edward Bayley, K. C., solicitor for the department, implemented the instructions by appearing before City Crown Attorney Corley during yesterday afternoon.

The warrant called for the arrest not only of Mr. Gordon McCutcheon of 35 Lonsdale road, but of his three brothers in Calgary, and of Mr. Cooke. Telegrams were at once despatched to the west asking for the apprehension of these men. Bail for $10,000 was granted last night for Mr. Gordon McCutcheon, furnished by his wife.

The transactions which are the basis of the proceedings against the McCutcheon brothers are said to be very widespread, as the firm had a number of branch offices in western Canada and have at times operated across the boundary in the United States. The specific complaint in the present instance was laid by Dr. Weaver of England, who claims to have suffered at the hands of the defendants.

McCutcheon Bros. dealt very extensively in real estate and exploited many subdivisions in western Canada. Their investors were numbered in the hundreds, if not thousands, and were drawn from all ranks throughout the Dominion during the closing years of the big real estate boom. Farmers in Ontario are understood to have been one of their best classes of clients.

The offices of the firm in Toronto were raided last night by Detectives Mitchell, Crooms and Montgomery. Practically all of the books of the firm were carried away by the police when they executed their search warrant. The sight of the patrol wagon at the doors of a prominent office building attracted many persons who anxiously awaited for sight of the prisoner. The papers were taken to the detective office and will be turned over to the Provincial Police.

C. P. R. Raises Rate On Freight To U.S.

Montreal, Jan, 18. Notice is being given by the C. P. R. to-day of increased freight charges for goods exported to the United States. This is in line with the recent announcement of an advance of 5 per cent to be made.

The domestic rate for grain to Boston and New York will be 18.3 cents and grain products 18.8 cents per hundred, instead of present rates, 17.5 and 18 cents. The rate on news print paper from the mills goes from 18 to 18.9 cents per hundred.

The new schedule will be effective about February 15. The rates for branch lines will range from 18.8 19.2 cents, according to location. Lumber rates will be raised later on the same basis of 5 per cent.

The new 5 per cent. increase in freight rates between points in Canada and the United States will go into effect thirty days from to-morrow if the Dominion Railway Commission gives its sanction within that time.

Mewa Singh, the Hindu who shot down immigration Inspector Wm. J. Hopkinson in Vaucouver Court House a few months ago, was hanged at New Westminister.

GUARANTEED RELIEF FROM ALL BOWEL ILLS

If your bowels are out of order, instead of using some harsh salt or other physic, take a Rexall Orderlie tonight, and tomorrow you will feel great. They taste good and act so easily that there isn't a particle of griping or purging, nor the excessive looseness that follows the taking of salts and most pills. They soothe and strengthen the bowels, promptly relieving the constipation, making it unlikely to occur again.

We don't believe there is any other bowel remedy anywhere near as good, and at the same time so easy and pleasant to take as Rexall Orderlies. We know you will agree with us and believe you will thank us for telling you about them. If they don't satisfy you in every way, come back and tell us and we will give back your money without a word or question. You have no reason to hesitate when we give you the opportunity, as we hereby do, to try them at our risk. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us.

Jno. W. Smith Attacks Wife Then Suicides

Ottawa, Jan, 15,—John W. Smith, a painter living on Alice street, Eastview, supposedly delirious or temporarily insane, attacked and seriously injured his wife with an axe about half past nine o'clock yesterday, in a bedroom of their home. He then took his own life by cutting his throat with a razor.

Mrs. Smith is in the Protestant General hospital, in a semi-conscious condition, and doctors hold out little hope for her recovery. She is severely wounded about the skull and face.

Six children, all of whom are under 10 years of age, were in the house at the time. None of the neighbors of the Smiths knew anything about what had happened until the eldest of the children ran into the home of Mr. A. Paquette, who lives next door, and gave the alarm.

When Mr. Paquette went into the Smith's home he found Mrs. Smith lying unconscious across the bed in a room upstairs, and Smith lying dead on the floor near the bed.

Mr. Paquette hurriedly called Dr. Parent from Ottawa, who rendered temporary medical aid to Mrs. Smith and then had her hurried to the Protestant hospital, where she was operated on in an effort to save her life.

The children have already been taken over by the Children's Aid Society. Chief of Police Prior of Eastview, had Smith's body taken to Gauthier's undertaking rooms, where Coroner Dr. Craig will open an inquest to-day.

For several weeks the unfortunate man had been ill with fever and ague. He was well known in Eastview and was regarded as an industrious and good citizen.

Baby Burned To Death In House At Alexandria

Alexandria, Ont. Jan. 14.—Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed a double tennement on Bishop street south, occupied by the families of Peter Kochon and Joseph St. John causing the death of Rochon's eight-months old baby, who was asleep in his cradle upstairs. The firemen could not rescue him owing to the dense smoke and uncertainty as to his exact whereabouts. Mrs. Rochon had left her three children alone in the house while she went to a grocery nearby.

Mrs. St. John succeeded in saving the other Rochon children and all her own family. There was practically no insurance on either the building or the contents, so the loss will be a serious one to all. The cause of the fire may have been the children playing with matches or an overheated stovepipe.

Date For Bye-Elections

Ottawa, Jan. 10—The dates for the London and Westmorland bye-elections were set by the Cabined on Saturday. As intimated last week, they are the same as were fixed in the case of Prince Albert February 1, nomination day, and February 8 election day. The other bye-elections will likely be held at the same time with the possible exception of South Waterloo, in which the vacancy has just occurred.

An Amazing Cure For Neuralgia
Magical Relief For Headache

The Most Effective Remedy Known is "Nerviline."

The reason Nerviline is infallibly a remedy for neuralgia resides in two very remarkable properties Nerviline possesses.

The first is its wonderful power of penetrating deeply into the tissue, which enables it to reach the very source of congestion.

Nerviline possesses another and not less important action—it equalizes the circulation in the painful parts, and thus affords a sure barrier to the re-establishment of congestion.

You see the reliet you get from Nerviline is permanent.

It doesn't matter whether the cause is spasm or congestion, external or internal; if it is pain—equally with its curative action upon neuralgia—Nerviline will relieve and quickly cure rheuamtism, sciatica, lumbago, strains, swellings or enlarged joints, and all other muscular aches.

Nerviline is a guaranteed remedy. Get the large 50 cent family size bottle; it is far more economical than the 25 cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere, or direct from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

MARION'S LEAP FOR LIFE.

One of the Thrilling Feats of the Famous "Swamp Fox."

General Marion was a native of South Carolina, and the theater of his military exploits was the coast region of that state. He was slender and not very tall, and he rode when in service an extremely swift footed and powerful horse. When in fair pursuit nothing could escape and when in flight nothing could overtake him. Once he was almost surrounded by a party of British dragoons and had to take refuge in a cornfield. The field, which lay several feet lower than the adjoining land, had formerly been part of the marsh. General Marion entered it at the upper side; the dragoons who were in chase of him leaped the fence also, and were only a short distance behind him. His only possible way of escape was to leap the fence at the lower side.

To drain the field of its superfluous water a trench had been cut round that part of the field four feet wide and four feet deep. The mud and clay removed in cutting the ditch made a bank on its inner side, and on the top of the bank was a fence. In all, the top of the fence was nearly eight feet above the level of the field, and the ditch, four feet wide, ran parallel with it on the farther side. The dragoons knew the nature of this obstacle, and believed that it was impossible for their enemy to pass it. Accordingly, they pushed forward with loud shouts of exultation, calling out to him to surrender or perish by the sword.

Marion, however, spurred his horse to the charge. The noble animal, as if conscious that his master's life was in danger, approached the barrier in his finest style and, with a bound that was almost supernatural, cleared the fence and ditch completely and recovered himself without loss of time on the other side. Marion instantly wheeled about, discharged his pistol at the astonished dragoons and then, turning his horse and bidding them good morning, departed.

If the height of the leap is authentic it must be the most remarkable performance ever made by a horse under saddle, for it is almost exactly the equal of the highest jump on record, made by the famous Heatherbloom, and that, of course, was made from the level and carefully prepared take off of a race track, which is a very different matter from the loose and heavy soil of a cornfield. The story may have grown a little in the mouths of General Marion's admiring men, but the incident was clearly enough one of the most remarkably narrow escapes ever made by that daring and resourceful soldier, who was famous for his cleverness in wriggling again and again out of the clutches of the enemy.—Youth's Companion.

Taking Warning.

Zoroaster, the revealer, visited the place of eternal fires. There, in a group of kings, he saw one with a single foot.

He turned to the master.

"Why," he asked, "is the king mutilated?"

"In all his life," the mighty one replied, "he performed but one kind act. Seeing a camel tethered with so short a rope that it could not reach the trough in which its food was placed, this king kicked the vessel where the hungry one could feed from it. For this good deed his foot passed into heaven and the rest of him was thrown here."

They walked on.

"No good deed is wasted," said the master.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Only Told the Truth.

When he was a student at Heidelberg John Sharp Williams was regarded as having the most robust imagination in the student body. That truth is stranger than fiction, however, was proved one day at his boarding place, when the future United States senator chanced to describe the kind of potatoes he had been raised on in his native Mississippi. They were so unlike potatoes as the German people knew them that the whole proposition was beyond belief. Yet John Sharp had done nothing but describe the ordinary sweet potato of every day commerce. —New York Sun.

Food of the Barn Owl.

The barn owl is one of the most beneficial of the birds of prey, since it feeds almost exclusively on small mammals that injure farm produce, nursery and orchard stock. It eats pocket gophers, field mice, common rats, house mice, harvest mice, kangaroo rats and cotton rats. It occasionally captures a few birds and insects. This species of owl should be protected throughout its entire range.

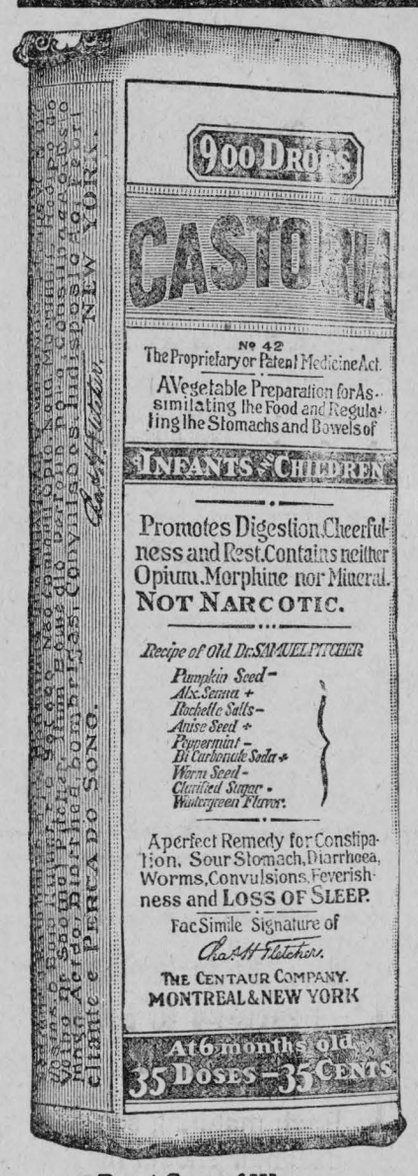

Affable Folks.

"Boston people are mighty nice to book agents."

"Good customers, eh?"

"Not so much that. They've read all the books in the world. But they're always willing to discuss 'em with you.' —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Thou must mount up or sink down, must rule and win or serve and lose, suffer, or triumph, be anvil or hammer. Goethe.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC NOTICE.

After a careful study of local conditions the Village Council has decided to take up the inside wiring and installation work in the Village of Chesterville. This, it is hoped, will be to the best interests of the village and consumers.

All material will be purchased through the purchasing department of the H. E. P. C., thus assuring the use of only such material as has been approved by the Board of Underwriters.

All work will be executed according to the plans and under the supervision of the superintendent and in strict compliance with the rules of the H. E. P. C. The charges will be as near actual cost as practicable and still protect the municipality against loss.

As the supervision of this work is being taken up by the superintendent of the Northern Branch of Eastern Lines along with his other duties throughout the district, it is not possible to fix more than two days of each week for him to be in Chesterville, but his services will be available upon shortest notice at any time.

Estimates and suggestions on lighting and power installation given free. Motors, heaters, cooking appliances, etc., furnished upon shortest notice at minimum prices.

Farmers along the route of the transmission line between Chesterville and Winchester sub-station should get particularly interested, as rates for power and light along this route are attractive.

Celebrated Their Golden Wedding.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John J. McIntyre, of Berwick, was celebrated at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. O. Miller, Avonmore, on the evening of Monday, January 11th, dinner being served at six o'clock. The table was nicely decorated, the centre piece being the weddiag cake with fifty colored candles representing the fifty years of the married life of the bride and groom. Seated at the table with the bride and groom were their son, Mr. John McIntyre, jr., and Mrs. McIntyre; their daughter, Mrs. Donald Henry, and Mr. Henry; their daughter, Mrs. A. O. Miller, and Mr. Miller and their family, Miss Vera A. Miller, Mr. Earl M. Miller and Master Claude Miller; also Mrs. Donald J. McIntyre and her son, John, (Mr. McIntyre being unable to be present on account of being ill). The following were invited, but were obliged to tender their regrets at being unable to attend:—The groom's brother, Mr. George McIntyre and Mrs. McIntyre, and his sister, Mr. Mary Rutledge, Mount Eagle Valley; the bride's sister, Mrs. Margaret Jardine, of Montreal, and her brother, Mr. William Doran, of Newington. Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were married at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. William Johnstone, at Lunenburg, by the Rev. Alexandria Matheson, on the 11th of January, 1865, and after a short sojourn in the village of of Finch, moved to the woods, where they became "hewers of wood and drawers of water," until they finally erected their present very comfortable house. Many are the experiences Mr. McIntyre can gave of shanty life and the cutting and hauling of wood from his presont home, in the 5th Concession of Finch, to Wales, Diekinson's Landing and the Sand Bay.

They have in the last fifty years enjoyed many of their Heavenly Father's blessings, besprinkled with reverses here and there along their path, which no doubt gave them more courage to encounter their next difficulty.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre have never been called upon to mourn the loss of any of their children by the grim destroyer, but are happy in the fact that their son and daughters are comfortably married and settled within a few miles of their old homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. McItyre received a number of valuable presents suitable to the occasion, and from present appearances they are likely to be spared many years to enjoy them, enjoying excellent health at the present time for people of their age.

A very plesant evening was spent with vocal and instrumental music, speeches and games, and after expressing to their host and hostess their great apprecation of the evening's entertainment the guests departed for their several homes. The bride and groom remained until the next day.

Washing the Face Correctly.

If you wash your face in the wrong way every day for a year your skin will be coarsened and your color spoiled. If you look at yourself in a good light you will see many wrinkles.

This is the right way of washing your face:

Start by bathing it in clear hot water

Apply a little good pure soap to a soft flannel or your fingers and go over your face with this.

Rinse the soap off again with hot water.

Sponge your face lightly with cool—not cold—water.

Dry your face downward. By careless rubbing upward you can very soon spoil the shape of your nose.

Brush or comb your eyebrows, which will have become a little rumpled with the drying of your face. If you leave them as they are they will grow into bad lines.

It is not necessary to use soap on your face more than once a day. If you come home at night with a thoroughly soiled face and neck you can cleanse them best by rubbing a little pure toilet cream all over them and then taking this off again with a bit of soft rag. The grease will bring the dirt away wonderfully. After you have wiped it all off bathe your face in warm water.

If you are very pale it is a good thing to splash cold water up into your face when you have finished washing. Throw it up briskly with both hands from the basin.

Care of the Hands.

Almond meal used in place of soap beautifies the skin.

Instead of using soap when the hands have become grimed with dry soil or grease, try rubbing oil or vaseline to remove the dirt, then follow with soap and water. Dry thoroughly and sprinkle a little perfumed rice powder over the hands.

Cosmetic gloves hasten the beautifying effects and may be purchased ready to slip on.

A simple exercise to remove awkward movements of the hands is to open and close them ten times a day Do this work slowly and with as much grace as can be commanded.

Relaxing the hands, allowing them to remain idle from twenty minutes to half an hour, is excellent for nervous women who have difficulty in keeping them quiet or free from trembling.

Brittle Nails.

Gout in the family is often shown by an undue brittleness of the nails. Brittle nails are invariably harsh and ugly looking, too, with unsightly ridges down the middle. It is very difficult indeed to make them take any sort of polish.

Here is the remedy. Every night after washing and applying glycerin and rosewater to the hands rub some ordinary olive oil well into the nails Persevere in this treatment and you will find that the brittleness will very soon disappear.

Trim the nails with scissors as little as possible, but use the nail file instead, smoothing afterward with one of those little emery boards which may be bought quite cheaply in packets of a dozen or less at any druggist's.

Cultivating Expression.

The secret of beauty does not entirely lie in the art of massaging, nor is it due to the skill of the perfumer, the taste of the dressmaker or the cleverness of the milliner, but in the recognition of the fact that the human face and form change with every year of life and, knowing this, governing one's actions accordingly. If your face lacks intellectuality the only way to remedy it is by exercise of mind. Take up a course of reading and study beyond that which you have hitherto attained. To put it figuratively, cultivate the muscles of the brain as you would cultivate the muscles of the body. It is the action of the brain that will influence the expression.

Flowing Hair.

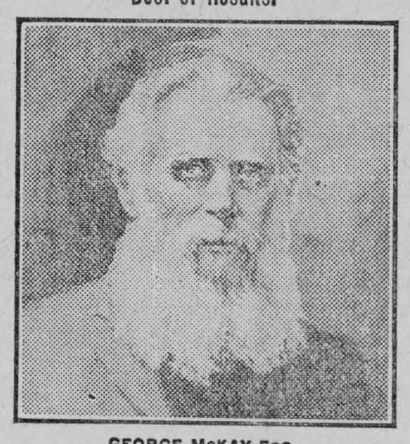

The beauty of the hair is improved by letting it flow every now and then, and as one is supposed to lounge on in the privacy of the bedroom the resting moment is an excellent time for this. Pass the comb through the locks once or twice to relieve the strain hairpins have given the scalp and then tie a ribbon loosely about the head to keep front strands from falling over the face. The more the fresh air blows through the hair while it is hanging down the better for it.

Tight Lacing and the Health.

It is quite true that tight lacing of the waist is responsible for many cases of indigestion. The necessity for tight lacing is an ill proportioned body, usually due to neglect or overindulgence. The stomach rebels at being confined when performing its labors and announces its displeasure by not taking proper care of the food ingested, which results in discomfort and eventually indigestion.

"I have been using "Fruit-a-tives" as a family remedy for many years. They are the best medicine I have ever tried. "Fruit-a-tives" do me the most good—they never gripe and their action is pleasant.

"I have used them for Indigestion and Constipation with the best results, and I heartily recommend them to anyone similarly afflicted.

These troubles have left me completely and I give "Fruit-a-tives" full credit for all this. A nicer pill a man cannot take."

GEORGE McKAY.

The enormous demand for "Fruit-a-tives" is steadily increasing, due to the fact that this wonderful fruit medicine gives prompt relief in all cases of Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Rheumatism, Chronic, Headaches, and Neuralgia, and all Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

The Last Look.

After dressing and when ready to go out place a hand mirror on the floor against the wall and turn slowly around. If the underskirt shows below the dress it will be readily seen and a slovenly look may be avoided.

To Make Them Smart.

"Mr. Pedagog is an old time teacher. He believes in the rod to brighten up dull boys."

"Well, isn't that the natural way to make them smart?"

CARLYLE ON WAR.

When Men Kill Men Between Whom There Was No Quarrel.

What, speaking in quite unofficial language, is the net purport and upshot of war? To my own knowledge, for example, there dwell and toil in the British village of Dumdredge usually some 500 souls. From these, by certain "natural enemies" of the French, there are successively selected during the French war, say, thirty able-bodied men. Dumdredge, at her own expense, has suckled and nursed them. She has, not without difficulty and sorrow, fed them up to manhood and even trained them to crafts, so that one can weave, another build, another hammer, and the weakest can stand under thirty stone avoirdupois.

Nevertheless, amid much weeping and swearing, they are selected, all dressed in red and shipped away at the public charges some 2,000 miles, or, say, only to the south of Spain, and fed there till wanted. And now to that same spot in the south of Spain are thirty similar French artisans from a French Dumdredge, in like manner wending, till at length, after infinite effort, the two parties come into actual juxtaposition, and thirty stands fronting thirty, each with a gun in its hand.

Straightway the word "fire" is given, and they blow the souls out of one another, and in place of some sixty brisk, useful craftsmen the world has sixty dead carcasses which it must bury and anew shed tears for. Had these men any quarrel? Busy as the devil is, not the smallest! They lived far enough apart; were the entirest strangers; nay, in so wide a universe there was even, unconsciously, by commerce, some mutual helpfulness between them. How then? Simpleton! Their governors had fallen out, and instead of shooting one another had the cunning to make these poor blockheads shoot. Alas, so it is in Deutschland, and hitherto in all other lands. Still, as of old, "What deviltry so ever kings do the Greeks must pay the piper!"—Thomas Carlyle.

LIFE AND ITS TENACITY.

Plant Germs That the Most Intense Cold Could Not Kill.

In reply to a number of questions regarding life and its tenacity, here are results of biological laboratory experiments made by Dr. Paul Becquerel of Paris university:

Seeds and spores of plants were sealed in glass tubes. All air was removed to the extreme modern vacuum limit, and then the tubes were submerged in liquid air during three weeks at the temperature of 310 degrees below zero F. and under liquid hydrogen at the temperature of 418 degrees during seventy-seven hours. After a year some of the spores, and after two years all of them, germinated and grew.

This is a remarkable fact—that is, some of the spores required two years to awaken from their sleep of apparent death in liquid hydrogen.

Life seems therefore, at least in the case of these seeds and germs, to be a chemical process—the activity of chemism was suspended or stopped by the intense cold.

Go put your finger into liquid air. The cold kills the flesh and the dead part must be amputated. But life in seeds and plants, whatever it may be, survived. Humans have no clew to the nature of life. Calling it a phase of chemism does not help, since none knows what that is.

My theory is that chemism is a motion of and readjustment in atomic states of electrons. These are electricity. But what electricity is is unknown.—Edgar Lucien Larken in New York American.

Karnak's Sculpture.

Of all the villages of Egypt, Karnak is most noted for its architectural antiques. It is situated on the bank of the Nile and built over the site of Thebes. The buildings date from 1500 B. C. and some contain mural decorations that give interesting views of those ancient times. Many interesting colored marbles were also used in the decoration of these huge temples and much sculpture is still to be seen.

Don't Oil Razor Strops.

"Never put oil on a razor strop," said one of the largest dealers in barbers' supplies in New York. "It spoils it for sharpening steel. A new strop should need no attention for a year at least. If it begins to get dry just take a little ordinary lather on your finger and rub it well in. This will soften it again and nothing more is necessary."—New York World.

A BETTER REMEDY THAN NASTY SALTS

Few people like to take physic, especially salts, because they are so disagreeable to take and because of the griping and pains they cause. Rexall Orderlies enable you to take less physic, and all without griping, purging or excessive looseness. Salts and harsh physics usually give only temporary relief and often leave the bowels worse off than before.

Rexall Orderlies move the bowels promptly, and soothe, tone and strengthen the intestinal muscles, leaving them healthy and regular in action. They taste like candy, and the movement they cause is as easy and natural as though your bowels were in perfect health and you never had to take any physic at all. We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies that we urge you to try them with the understanding that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, all you have to do to get your money back is to tell us. We honestly believe them to be the best bowel remedy made. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

Brockville Hero Honored.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 13 -At great personal risk, Cliff Dumbrille, in November of 1912, saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fox, when their home caught fire in the village of Maitland. Mr. Fox was in poor health and totally blind, while his wife was too advanced in years to save either herself or her husband from the flames when Dumbrille appeared on the scene. He carried Mrs. Fox to safety and then re-entered the burning building and saved her aged partner, lying helpless in a bed which had already been ignited. The roof fell in as the men emerged. For his act Mr. Dumbrille was awarded the medal of the Royal Humane Society which was presented to him here this afternoon by Judge McDonald, in the presence of a large gathering of citizens.

Black Foxes Poisoned.

Guelph, Jan. 15.—George Van Natter, who conducted a black fox farm on the 9th concession of Erin, had two black foxes, valued at $5.000 poisoned last week, When he was at the ranch in the evening the animals were all right, but when he went out in the morning two of them were dead from poison. The Provincial Police Department in Toronto was notified, and Inspector Reburn is now working on the case.

Grandby, Que., Jan. 19.—An alleged case of note raising was located here yesterday. The man who is now held on the charge of raising a $1 American bill to $10 is Albert Whiting, said to belong to Sherbrooke. The accused went into the bar of the Grandby Hotel when there was a rush on and tendered the bill to the bartender in payment of the drinks for himself and party. The barman, named Cadieux, noticed that the bill had a something-out-of-the-common appearance and drew Whiting's attention to this, but the latter replied that it was all wright. Later on it was found out that the bill had been raised. Whiting was located at 41 Gowee street. The police also found certain articles that would indscate that the raising of bills had been carried on. The work was clumsily done. Re Transient Traders License.

When we came to Chesterville, and that is many years ago, the license fee charged in the bylaw in existence at that time was $30.00, and a few years later a firm from Ottawa, known as Lang & Kemp, came to town and opened business in the small rooms below the opera house, near the C.P.R. station, owned by Mr. John Foster, and which has since been destroyed by fire. At once some of the merchants in town waited on the council board of that year and induced them to raise the license fee to $100.00. The firm of Lang & Kemp perused the bylaw and refused to pay the license fee, and a suit was instituted, in which the firm came out victorious. The town was put in for the costs of the suit—which was no small amount—and in the intervening time the bylaw has been so constructed that it is hard to evade the payment of the license fee, although the men here last summer selling ranges were successful in their efforts, and did not have to pay the license. If a man or firm wants to start business in our town and comes here and rents a building for a year or longer, why should a ban of a hundred dollars be put up against him? In the ordinary way of a small business the business tax would be about $100 a year, and at the rate of 30 mills on the dollar, which is a pretty stiff tax, he would pay $3.00 per year, and in this way he would have to live and do business in Chesterville for over thirty years to make up the amount that the bylaw calls for when he starts business. We certainly agree with the merchants of town that a license fee should be charged, for the reason that a party or firm could come to Chesterville, rent a place of business for say a month and slash and cut business and then take their departure, and we would receive no benefit of taxation from them. We also concede that a license fee of $25.00 would fill the bill nicely, and if a party so coming continues to reside permanently the license fee should be returned to him, when he is assessed for business tax and pays it. If we want Chesterviile to grow we certainly do not want to fence it in and allow nobody to come in town only those who want to purchase something. The more business places, the farther the people come to trade, and we venture to say that during the past year many hundreds of new customers has visited Chesterville, as it has been advertised as never before and we believe that every merchant as well as other business men in town has had increased business. As to the bylaw being changed to the lower amount it is up to the members of the present council. Will they do it?

The Late James McGowan.

On Monday. Jan. 18th, 1915, on the 9.30 train the body of James McGowan arrived.

Mr. McGowan was born in Connaught, Ont., was 55 years old and son of the late Peter McGowan. His entire life was spent in that neighborhood where he lived on a farm He was a man of genial, quiet habits and had many friends. Four years ago his general health was impaired, and being advised by home physicians, he was removed to Brockville Hospital for treatment, where he received the best of care, every kindness and attention that could be given, was freely exercised by physicians and staff. On Saturday his wife received word he was dying and was with him when his spirit took its flight. Rev. Dean Murray of R. C. Church, Brockville, administered the last rights of the church on Saturday morning and at midnight he succumbed.

Mr. L. Jordan went to Brockville, and with Mrs. McGowan accompanied the remains home, and was met at the depot by a number of neigbbors and members of Court 247 C.O.F., Chesterville, to which deceased belonged. The body was brought to Mrs. McGowan's residence, Chesterville, and on Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. to St. Mary's Church, a large number accompanying the procession. The members and officers of C.O.F. in large numbers formed in solemn parade, preceded the hearse in splendid uniform, and their fine manly physiques could not fail but be admired as they entered the church in silent respectful march.

A Requiem Mass, Mrs. Shiels sang most beautifully the favorite funeral solos, "My Heavenly Home" and "Flee, Weary Soul."

The sermon given by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Fleming, whose text was "Dust thou art, and to dust thou shalt return," was one long to be remembered. The natural free delivery, the beautiful comparisons drawn from the life of Jesus Christ, and the pathetic appeal to all to make one peace with God before the silence of death comes upon us, when the lips are sealed forever to beg mercy and pardon, could not fail but to impress all who heard him.

After mass the body was interred in the upper cemetery. The funeral was largely attended. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. Hamilton, T. McGee, H. Hummel, J. T. Kearns, T. Blacklock and Thos. McCloskey.

He leaves to mourn a wife, Ellen, daughter of the late Patrick Jordan, two children, Patrick and Elizabeth; also four brothers and two sisters. Mr. Anthony McGowan of Government Works, Cornwall, attended the funeral. The other members of the family are in various parts of the U. S.

Chesterville High School.

The Colorado River.

The Colorado river was named by the Spaniards from a word in their language, meaning ruddy or red, an allusion to the tint of the water. La Salle first named the river Maligne, which means "misfortune," one of two of his party having been drowned in its current.—Exchange.

A Sure Guide.

"Waiter, give the menu."

"We have none, but I can tell you what we have."

"You must have a remarkably good memory."

"Not at all. I simply look at the tablecloth."—Pele Mele.

She Was Wise.

The young man carefully removed the cigars from his vest pocket and placed them on the piano. Then he opened his arms. But the young girl did not flutter to them. "You," she said coldly, "have loved before."—Argonaut.

Appreciation.

"I gave Charley a beautiful new alarm clock for a birthday present," said young Mrs. Torkins.

"Did he appreciate it?"

"Yes, indeed. He thought so much of it that he took it down to his office and locked it in the safe."—Washington Star.

Good Bait!

Her Mother—You say your husband has been cruel to you. What has he done? Young Mrs. Snops—He keeps bare fishhooks in all his pockets.—London Telegraph.

A Natural Question.

Our small daughter is very fond of her bath, writes a contributor to Harper's Magazine, but she objects vigorously to the drying process.

One day, while we were remonstrating with her, she said: "Why, what would happen, mamma, if you didn't wipe me dry? Would I get rusty?"

Natural Animosity.

"I saw a most unusual sight of harmony at the dock this morning."

"What was it?"

"And old seadog getting on finely with a catboat."—Baltimore American.

Quite a Difference.

The Serious Girl—I always work to be engaged at a higher salary than the year before. The Frivolous Girl—And I always try to be engaged to a higher salary than the year before.—Judge.

Many a winner at evening was almost beaten at noon.—Detroit Free Press.

The Element of Difficulty.

"Is it hard to learn the use of a telescope?" asked the student.

"Not very," replied the candid professor. "The hardest thing about astronomy is guessing what something is after you manage to see it."—Washington Star.

Diplomacy In the Home.

Mrs. Henpeckke—You never did anything really clever in your life. Mr. Henpeckke—You seem to forget, my dear, that I married you.—Judge.

Confidence in another man's virtue is no slight evidence of one's own.

QUEER UNITS OF MEASURE.

Those In Use Among Some of the Barbaric Tribes of India.

The inhabitants of the Lushai hills, like other barbaric and savage peoples, have standards of weight and measure that they find simple and intelligible, but that are very confusing to the stranger who encounters them for the first time. In his book on the Lushai-Kuki clans Lieutenant Colonel J. Shakespear tells about their units of measure.

In every village there is a small flat basket, the size of which is fixed by the chief, which is used for all retail dealings in rice and the like, but they measure large quantities in loads, a load being about fifty pounds After the harvest the unhusked rice is piled in a conical heap A Lushai will tell you his crop is chip zawn, meaning that the heap is level with the top of his head, or silai zawn, when it is level with the end of the gun held up perpendicularly over his head. That is about the record crop; lesser quantities are denoted by the height of his hand or hoe or ax held up. He measures time by the cooking of a pot of rice—about an hour—or by the time he can hold a sip of nocotine in his mouth He has names for each period of the day, denoting his usual occupation at that hour; he also divides the year according to the agricultural occupation proper to the different seasons.

Short distances are measured by parts of the human body, as we speak of a span; but the Lushai has sixteen or seventeen of these, extending from chang khat—that is, the distance from the tip to the first joint of the first finger—to hlam, which is the distance a man can stretch with both arms extended. Longer distances the Lushai describes by such terms as the distance of the nearest jhum, the distance of the farthest jhum, the distance a mithan will wander during the day, the distance a man can travel before his midday meal, terms that perplex strangers, although they are well understood by the people.

There are few measures of weight. One is chuai—as much as a man can support hung from the tip of the first finger, palm downward. Many of the stars and constellations have names; most of them have some story attached to them. The months are lunar months and some have names, but these are not widely known or used.

SLANG IN ENGLAND.

Expressions Used Here Have a Different Meaning Over There.

If a man meets another man is Piccadilly and says, "Jack is pulling your leg," he means quite a different thing from what a man meeting another man on Broadway would mean. In London he means that Jack is telling his friend some sort of marvelous stories that are not true, but are designed to deceive not for the purpose of profit but for the purpose of making the man appear ridiculous. An American attempting to express the same thought would say: "Jack is kidding you." On the American side of the Atlantic, leg pulling means to exchange a counterfeit fairy tale for some real money.

In the United States, to call a man a "nut" is to imply that he is afflicted with wheels in his cranium, bats in his belfry, or, in other words, to imply that there is nobody home upstairs. In this land of the free and home of the brave a "nut" is a lunatic.

Not so in Britain. Over there to call a man a "nut," especially if he be a young man, is very likely to be a high compliment, for an English "nut" is a young gentleman who knows what the latest styles in dress are and wears them, who knows the latest steps in the dance and dances them and who is in every respect an all around, up to date sport. If such a "nut" owns a racing motorcar or perhaps has his own aeroplane he is automatically promoted to be a "super nut."

"Nut" in Britain has completely taken the place one finds in old English books represented by such words as "dandy," "buck" and "beau," a word that we Americans formerly rendered "dude."—Boston Herald.

Vampire Bats.

Fairly large bats are the vampires of New Guinea, which alight on any projecting part of the body, in preference the toes, into which they bite a small hole, from which they proceed to suck the blood. They fan the wound with their wings—to deaden the pain, the natives say—and the victim seldom awakens before much harm is done. These horrible creatures suck as much blood as they can, fly away and disgorge it and then return for more.

Her System.

"It takes my wife so long to dress when we want to go to the city that we always miss the train," complained the first suburbanite. "How is your wife? I don't hear you kick much."

"My wife has a system that isn't so bad," said the second suburbanite. "She's so late for one train that she's generally on time for the next."—Pittsburgh Post.

Fifteen Year Old Boy Shot

Pembroke, Jan. 15.—Fifteen-year-old John Allan Valliant, who resided with his mother, Mrs. Geo. Valliant, in Pembroke township a short distance from town, was fatally injured by a shot from a gun in the hands of his little brother.

Young Valliant had left a loaded Snider rifle in the kitchen of his home. His young brother picked up the gun and unaware that it was loaded pulled the trigger. The elder boy was only a few feet away and the shot lodged in his side.

The injured youth was removed to the Cottage hospital here where everything possible was done to save his life but to no avail. He died Monday evening

The deceased was the youngest son of Mrs. Valliant. Her husband died a few months ago and there is much sympathy for the woman in her second bereavement. The funeral of the boy took place Wednesday, Rev. Mr. MacOdeum officiating.

Two Presbyterian Leaders Are Gone

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—The Presbyterian Church in Canada lost two of its most distinguished members in the deaths this afternoon, within one hour of each other, of Rev. Dr. W. D. Armstrong, pastor emeritus of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and of Rev. Dr. William Moore, pastor emeritus of Chalmers Presbyterian Church. Both were ex-Moderators of the General Assembly and both for more than a quarter of a century had held high positions of trust and honor in the Church organizations.

Toronto House Will Meet Feb. 16

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Hon. W. H. Hearst last night officially announced that the Ontario Legislature would meet on Feb. 16. The formal proclamation calling the members together has been signed by the Lieutenant-Govonor, Hon. J. S. Hendrie, and will be made public at once.

By announcing the decision of the government so promptly after it was reached, the Prime Minister is giving ample opportunity to all municipalities, companies, and individuals contemplating applications for legislation to get their notices in early.

Hon. Mr. Hearst intimates that the rules of the House in regard to private bills will be stricsly enforced, and the notice of a month now given of the calling of the House will shut out room for complaints on the score of time

The opening of the Legislature this session will have an added interest in the election of a new speaker. While Dr. David Jamieson of South Grey has been selected by the government and has for weeks been busy with the affairs of the speakership, he will not be officially regarded as speaker until his nomination is made in the House at the opening session.

One Victim Of the Weak Ice
