30 unemployed after $400,000 fire guts Curry Hill truck stop, Friday

by James Risdon

CURRY HILL — Fire swept through the restaurant and offices of Real's Truck Stop in Curry Hill Friday, throwing between 25 and 30 people temporarily out of work. And causing an estimated $400,000 damage.

Truckstop owner Real Derome, who started the business in 1967, says he and his family are ready to start all over again. Until then, the Derome family will have to operate their fueling and repair business out of the garage next to the main building.

Neither it, nor the gas and propane tanks were affected by the fire. Firefighters from Lancaster, Williamstown, and Riviere Beaudette contained the blaze to the main building, but it wasn't easy.

"It was a stubborn fire," said Lancaster Fire Chief Roger Ménard. "We were there the most of the day, although most of that was on mopping up operations, but we didn't pick up the last man until about 5:30 p.m.

The fire started at about 9:45 a.m. in the frying oil used to cook the french fries, one shook-up waitress told The Glengarry News. The thermostat that regulates the temperature of the two 220-watt oil heating elements stopped working. The oil started heating up and smoking, even though the controls said "off."

The first element blew up and the fire broke out. Martin Derome, the owner's son, reacted quickly and put out the flames with "Safety First," a product especially made to extinguish fires.

But, then, the second element blew up, sending burning oil flying throughout the kitchen. After that there was no chance of putting out the fire despite the efforts of Martin, his brothers Julien and Pierre, or the firefighters.

Nonetheless the brothers still fought on to save what they could.

It was a devastating fire, with most of the damage done in the first two hours. Then, it refused to die despite the almost constant hosing down by the firefighters.

For Steve Riviere, the day had started like any other. He had just arrived at the office where he was setting up a computer system. He sat down, had a coffee, and got down to work when, suddenly, he heard the alarm.

"I just had time to pick up my briefcase and a few computer discs and run out to help," he said.

One waitress had lost her purse, filled with money she needed to buy things for her wedding. She was visibly shaken.

"I had lots of money inside to buy things for later, she told The Glengarry News afterwards," but the boss sent someone in to get it and they brought it back. Now, I'm alright. I'm not shaking anymore. I've got my purse," she said, holding it tightly.

Another waitress didn't have it as easy. She was planning to get married, too. But her fiance also works at the truckstop and so now they are both out of work until the truckstop is rebuilt.

Real Derome told The Glengarry News reconstruction should be within the next two to three months.

Once the building is rebuilt, employees will be recalled he said.

The Derome brothers are currently looking for a place to build on land next to the burned out building. Although it wasn't quite destroyed, the basement has suffered some heat and water damage and it may be cheaper to rebuild elsewhere rather than renovate.

Real Derome says he is very satisfied with the service the different fire departments provided. A total of 20 firefighters, three firetrucks and one hydro truck responded.

Alexandria must pay for OPP service

by James Risdon

ALEXANDRIA — Alexandria's long-standing request for an Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) detachment to take over its policing for free has been put on hold, Solicitor-General Ken Keyes said last Thursday. Further if the town still wants the detachment, it will have to pay for it.

"There are a number of municipalities, including Alexandria, that are interested in getting the OPP to take over and we will take under consideration any requests for costing," he said.

This means not only costs, but also more delays to a problem that has dragged on for more than five years. An aide to the solicitor-general referred to the costing as a "very extensive process" and would not say when Alexandria could know for sure how much the OPP detachment would cost.

One thing is certain, the delays are affecting the solicitor general's credibility on this issue.

"We'll just wait and see. It's been in the papers for the last six or seven years that they (OPP) are taking over, but we're still uncertain," Alexandria Constable Roger Levert told The Glengarry News. "As far as I'm concerned, I won't believe it until I see them standing right in this office."

SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve is also wondering what is going on.

"I quizzed him (Solicitor-General Ken Keyes) again on that last Friday and he said there is no way Alexandria and the other six municipalities that are requesting OPP policing will be on the same basis as the municipalities that are getting it free now," he said.

Mr. Villeneuve said the solicitor-general's office received a study done in 1982 on the problem but did not put its recommendations into practice.

"The solicitor-general did not like the recommendations of that report so he sent it back for adjustment to whoever made that report," Mr. Villeneuve said.

Mr. Villeneuve says he will not ask any more questions in public for now.

"I'd meet with him (Mr. Keyes) in two seconds if I thought it would do any good," he said, adding, "The more I hear, the more negative it becomes."

Alexandria Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette has also adopted a wait-and-see approach.

"I haven't received anything official yet," Mr. Touchette told The Glengarry News. "I'm very anxious to see what kind of deal we'll get."

The Town of Alexandria presently has to pay $185,000 per year to maintain its police force of five men.

It could be more, but the province pays the salary of the acting chief of police, OPP Corporal Don Eastop.

Mr. Touchette's main objection to paying for the OPP service until now has been because other towns of about the same size as Alexandria are getting it for free.

"I did expect to get it for free because that's what everyone was getting," he said, "but now that seems to have changed."

The mayor said he will be visiting the solicitor-general sometime in the next month to discuss the matter. He still favors bringing in the OPP because it would give the town's policemen better chances for advancement.

But Alexandria's Constable Levert is not as enthusiastic. He recognizes that there would be more opportunities for advancement in the larger force, but says local policemen have no guarantees yet that they would be taken on by the OPP.

"That's our main fear right now," he said. "Will they take us into the OPP? The mayor will help us out and all that, but he doesn't have the last word as to who gets hired and who doesn't."

Cst. Levert notes the age of the men on the force ranges from 39 to 47 and that many of them have served for over 10 years. This, he feels, would not make it easy for them to find other work should they not be hired on by the OPP.

Melissa Howes wins Terry Fox Award

ALEXANDRIA—Melissa Howes picks up awards the way some people collect stamps.

The 15-year old daughter of Dalkeith farming couple Carmen and Doreen Howes was presented with the Terry Fox Award by the SD&G County Board of Education, Monday in Cornwall.

The award, created five years ago, honors students who demonstrate particular courage and determination in overcoming adversity in their lives.

Melissa, a top Grade 9 student at GDHS, was seriously injured in a farm accident when she was a child. However, she has not let her physical handicap dampen her enthusiasm and zest for life.

The presentation of the award by board chairman Bill Fleming came "as a complete surprise," Melissa told The Glengarry News, Tuesday.

Board officials had earlier contacted her parents and persuaded them to bring Melissa to Cornwall on a pretense.

A board official later said Melissa is an outstanding example of the kind of student the Terry Fox Award is designated to recognize.

In recent years she has been instrumental in raising at least $21,000 for Ronald McDonald House, a child-oriented project sponsored by the McDonald restaurant chain. The houses are designed as accommodation for parents who wish to be near their chidlren when the youngsters undergo extensive medical treatment.

Melissa told The Glengarry News that the project is particularly close to her heart because when she made frequent and lengthy visits to hospitals, she wanted her mother around.

Melissa says she enjoys high school very much, but that it's still too early yet to have decided on the kind of career she would like to have. For the time being she does enjoy singing.

"I sing mostly country and western songs, but I prefer listening to rock and roll," she says,

Two years ago Melissa was named an Ontario Junior Citizen by the Ontario Community Newspapers Association.

SERGE TITTLEY

New editor

The new editor of The Glengarry News comes to us from Toronto but is no stranger to this area, and he is only slightly tarnished from his association with sophisticated city life.

A native of Chute à Blondeau, Serge Tittley grew up on a dairy farm—was a 4-Her no less—and completed high school in Hawkesbury before attending Carleton University in Ottawa.

Mr. Tittley first worked as a reporter with The Arnprior Guide, before moving to Cornwall where he reported for both the Standard-Freeholder and a local radio station.

Shortly afterwards he moved to Alberta where he worked as a staff writer for The Edmonton Journal, and as a researcher-interviewer for Radio-Canada television. Later in Toronto, he served as Ontario region information officer for Katimavik, the national program for volunteer youth, and as a freelance writer.

Mr. Tittley, 34, is married to Leslie Dack, a lawyer currently engaged in diaper changing rather than handling legal briefs. They have a nine-month-old daughter.

Mr. Tittley holds a degree in history from the University of Windsor and has avid interests in politics, religion, and the arts, particularly classical and traditional music.

Mischief

A Cornwall man was placed on probation for 18 months and ordered to perform 150 hours of community service work Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court.

George Williams, 20, was charged with mischief March 28 in Kenyon Township and pleaded guilty at an April 3 court appearance.

Mr. Williams' sentence was adjourned to Thursday after a presentence report was ordered on the accused.

The accused had walked down a street in Apple Hill and damaged 24 street lights and two light shades with an air rifle, causing an estimated $640 in damage.

Jewellery

Police are investigating the theft of more than $600 in jewellery from an Alexandria area home.

Maxville OPP report that the jewellery was reported missing Thursday from the RR3 Alexandria home of Raymond Trottier. The theft is believed to have occurred sometime between March 1 and 13, but wasn't noticed until last week.

Missing are a lady's gold necklace with several pearl-like beads, 18 inches in length; a lady's gold bracelet; a lady's silver charm bracelet with five charms; a lady's gold necklace with pendant watch; a man's wedding ring, and a man's ring with a red stone.

Jail for fraud

A Vaudreuil, Que. man was sentenced to one year in jail Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court after pleading guilty to charges of fraud and breach of probation.

Réal Bellefeuille, 26, was charged with two counts of fraud on April 17 and 18 and charged with a 1985 breach of probation in Alexandria.

In the first incident, the accused went to Alexandria IGA and cashed a $300 cheque. The cheque was later returned because of insufficient funds.

The following day, the accused opened an account at the Royal Bank in Alexandria by drawing a cheque on a non-existent account at a Lancaster bank.

The man was then placed on probation and ordered to pay $400 in restitution from the previous fraud charge. Mr. Bellefeuille was charged with breach of probation later after failing to pay restitution.

Local doctors expected to support rally and strike

by Joanne Stevenson

ALEXANDRIA — Nearly all of Glengarry's doctors are expected to take part in a protest rally at Queen's Park May 7 as the medical profession continues its battle against the provincial government's ban on extra-billing.

According to Dr. Ajay Varma, past-president of the Cornwall Academy of Medicine and an Alexandria doctor, 90 per cent of area doctors will be travelling to Toronto for the rally. He points out the rally will be held on Wednesday, to minimize disruption to patients. Other doctors surveyed by The Glengarry News say they plan to be in Toronto to add their voices to the opposition to the ban.

Dr. Varma notes the Ontario Medical Association's (OMA) rejection of the government's 10-point proposal last Friday "merely confirms what the doctors are saying. We are not interested in money. We are after our freedom."

Under the government proposal, doctors who extra-bill would be paid from a special $53 million-a-year fund, created from transfer payments now being withheld by Ottawa because the province allows extra-billing. The doctors flatly rejected the offer.

Dr. Varma assures Glengarrians quality health care will be available the day of the rally. A doctor will be in attendance at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Varma hopes Premier David Peterson, Opposition Leader Larry Grossman and NDP Leader Bob Rae will speak with physicians at the rally.

Dr. Varma realizes bargaining will be required and points out the OMA has agreed not to extra-bill seniors and welfare recipients and in cases of emergencies.

"We hope to settle amicably," he said, adding the doctors are taking "one step at a time." Thoughts about further action, including a strike, will depend on the outcome of the rally.

"For sure, I'll be at the rally!" said Dr. John Edgar of Alexandria. He wondered at the reason behind the ban.

"I don't understand the government's rationale. Where is the problem?" he asked. The marketplace, he explained, solves any difficulties extra-billing now causes.

Dr. Edgar said the government's desire to control doctors' incomes now will lead later to control of doctors themselves.

Dr. Edgar points to examples of countries with government-dominated socialized medicine. In Britain, for example, he says people over 65 are considered "too old" to be eligible for certain medical treatments, such as kidney dialysis.

Dr. Edgar feels the medical profession should not quietly submit to the government and compares the situation to rape.

"The profession will be raped," he said, "and we must scream to be believed."

He thinks doctors must force the government to listen by whatever means necessary, including strike action.

"We have no choice," he added.

Dr. Ghislain Marleau of Alexandria replied he would "most likely" go to the May 7 rally and pointed to the Quebec experience as an example of what can result from a ban of extra-billing.

He explained Quebec first disallowed extra-billing then, by a program of penalties and incentives, made it difficult for physicians to practice wherever they wanted.

Dr. Marleau said Quebec later imposed a ceiling on a doctor's monthly wage. This led some doctors to close their offices up to one week a month. Patients flocked to emergency rooms.

Dr. J. C. Nadeau of Alexandria will "absolutely" go to the Toronto rally, and reluctantly admitted he would go on strike, if necessary.

"I don't like strikes," he said. "I abhor them. There's nothing left to do. We've tried everything else."

He foresees no negotiated settlement with the government.

"There's no discussion, no argument allowed. How can you discuss something that is already finalized?" he asked.

He repeated the doctors' assertion the issue is not money, but freedom.

"Once you lose a liberty, you've lost part of your democratic rights. We're going to lose everything," Dr. Nadeau said.

HEAVY DAMAGE—An estimated $400,000 worth of damage to offices, motel rooms, and a restaurant was sustained Friday in a fire at Real's Truck Stop in Curry Hill. The fire is believed to have started because of a malfunctioning heating element in the restaurant's kitchen.

Maxville to get cable

MAXVILLE — Maxville residents will be able to choose from 18 television channels as early as September, Ottawa Cablevision systems manager John Armstrong said last week.

At a special meeting last week, Mr. Armstrong told council, once the groundwork is completed and the technical crews get in, it should only take two weeks to "turn the village on."

Earlier this month, Canadian Radio—television and Telecommunications Commission granted (CRTC) Cablevision firm a license to service seven Eastern Ontario communities. Alexandria and Lancaster will be serviced by the same company.

Becasue the firm's initial feasibility study was based on serving 14 communities, another study is under way to rework the engineering path.

Mr. Armstrong told a pleased council the village would have its own system, independent of the others. Tower site locations are now being considered, with an eye to the west of the village in Roxborough Township.

Besides local stations, residents will be able to take in more American programming. A community channel, as well as French programming from Montreal and Ottawa will be available.

Although still subject to change, application rates were established at $45 for installation and $16.95 for monthly charges.

Smaller communities like Dominionville and St. Elmo, north and south of the village will be out of luck says Mr. Armstrong. Cable lines estimated at $7,000 a mile make hook-up financially difficult. In any event, another application to CRTC would be necessary.

Education week a busy one

by Joanne Stevenson

Schools throughout Glengarry will be "refining our gold" during Education Week, which began Sunday. "Refining our gold" is this year's theme.

Sean Conway, Minister of Education, writes the theme "emphasizes the investment we have made in our most precious resource, our children.

"The education system's continuing efforts to 'refine our gold' will certainly result in the development in our children of knowledge and understanding that will shape a better future for Ontario," he adds.

Within Glengarry, each school in the public and separate school systems is holding special events in celebration. Parents have received notices outlining individual school's activities.

Most schools will host "open houses" to provide an opportunity for parents to see students and teachers "in action."

At Glengarry District High School (GDHS) in Alexandria, displays from different departments, Students Against Drunk Driving SADD, Student Council and the yearbook committee will be showcased at Wednesday's open house.

The science display features a greenhouse. The music department is organizing mini-concerts throughout the school.

Transportation will be provided for senior citizens wishing to attend the open house.

Also Wednesday, a talent performance starring 29 acts will take place at Maxville Junior School in Maxville. The students will be able to enjoy the entertainment during the afternoon. An evening show will be held for the parents.

Highlights of Education Week activities range from a magic show from "Dickie Dean and Marge" at the Laggan Public School and Maxville Junior Public School to various theatre offerings.

On Monday, Williamstown Public School hosted a presentation of "Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe" by Erewhon Theatre of Toronto. The play is a fantasy-adventure based on a work by C.S. Lewis, which pits good against evil.

Students from Lancaster Village and Township Public Schools will join the Williamstown students in the audience.

At Iona Academy in St. Raphael's, the play "Pinocchio" was presented on Monday "en français" by Ottawa's Cabano Theatre for students in Grades 4 to 8.

On Monday, at Lancaster Township Area Public School, Grade 8 students presented their version of "The Wizard of Oz." Stars included Christena Rogers as Dorothy, Kirk Wallace as Scarepigeon, Peter Dettwiler as Detective Tinny and Adam MacGregor as Ryan the Lion.

Concerts by school bands and multi-talented individual students will be presented throughout the week.

Students at Williamstown Public School will attend a concert in their school given by the Char-Lan High School Band, Wednesday.

A concert centering around the theme of peace will be offered on Thursday at Iona. More than 1000 peace buttons will be distributed. An exhibit by artist-in-residence Joan Levy Earle and students will follow the lunch hour concert.

Sacré Coeur Parish in Alexandria hosted the Spring Concert given by the school band of GDHS and Ecole Secondaire Régionale Glengarry held Monday and Tuesday.

Students will also venture beyond the confines of the classroom. Pupils from Perpetuel Secours in Alexandria will visit the post office, a veterinarian, the town hall and Sacré Coeur rectory.

At St. Therese school in North Lancaster, classes from pre-kindergarten to Grade 2 visit the Lancaster Village Fire Hall on Wednesday, while Grades 3 and 4 students bowl in Alexandria.

However, as the school's principal, Gilles Joanette, points out, "Every week is a special week."

"But there seems to be a little more going on this week," he added. Indeed, Glengarry is busy "refining our gold."

Parish concerned about deteriorating ruins

by Joanne Stevenson

WILLIAMSTOWN — St. Raphael's parishioners are worried and impatient with the deteriorating state of the St. Raphael's Ruins. Concern has been expressed about the safety of the structure and Charlottenburgh Township's delay in starting repairs.

Spokesman E.H. Tourangeau addressed council Monday and reminded them, "A couple of people sitting at this table made all kinds of promises about the St. Raphael's Ruins if elected."

Mr. Tourangeau noted a delegation from St. Raphael's had first approached council in October 1985 about funding to repair the ruins in preparation for the parish's bicentennial celebrations this year.

On October 28, council passed a motion instructing the clerk-administrator to apply for a heritage designation for the building and a $2,000 accompanying grant. The ruins had been budgeted $5,000 in 1985.

Mr. Tourangeau and council were surprised and upset to discover the Heritage designation had not yet been applied for, and that the $5,000 had already been spent elsewhere.

Reeve Morgan Major said the members of the new council "have growing pains like any other new organization, and it seems they are there every time we open a door."

Clerk-administrator Marcel Lapierre explained contractor John Entwistle has estimated total repairs at $154,500. The township applied for $82,700 under the provincial Community Facilities Improvement program to cover 50 per cent of final costs, as well as an Employment and Immigration grant of $95,000 to cover labor costs.

Decisions on these grant requests are expected within seven to 10 days.

Mr. Tourangeau urged all possible speed in making the most essential repairs. "We're concerned mostly with the topping and five feet below," he said.

A concert in the ruins is scheduled for June 8. Most of the bicentennial celebrations will take place in July.

Mr. Lapierre estimated the work would take 10 to 12 weeks to complete and could start once funding was assured.

"We won't mind the scaffolding," "There is no need to move anything for our events."

Council then considered if less time-consuming or costly methods of repairs could be found.

An exasperated Deputy-Reeve Bob Roth said, "We're going around in circles. I don't see any options before us. Let's not sit on our butts. We need time frames on options before we can make a decision."

He then referred to recent personnel problems and the staff's inaction regarding the Heritage designation and grant. "This is a classic example of the need for personnel re-organization. We can't even get provincial funding when it is available," he said.

Two resolutions were passed, instructing the clerk-administrator to apply for the heritage designation and grant and to furnish time and cost estimates on all feasible methods of making the ruins safe.

Mr. Tourangeau was not entirely satisfied and expressed the hope another delegation would not prove necessary.

Teachers discuss stress on the job in workshop

by James Risdon

ALEXANDRIA — Hundreds of teachers made a serious attempt at not taking their jobs too seriously last week at Ecole Elda Rouleau.

Concerned about the level of stress on the job, they held a professional development day, brought in speakers and attacked the problem of stress head on, before it attacked them.

"Teaching is probably the most stressful profession," Jacques Castonguay, a former VCI teacher and an authority on stress among teachers told The Glengarry News.

Due to the rapid social change in the last few years, family institutions haven't adapted and the role of the teacher has grown."

That increased role is often accompanied by an exaggerated sense of responsibility and resulting stress.

"Teachers think they are solely responsible if little Johnny, who comes from a disadvantaged home, doesn't come out like the others," said Mr. Castonguay. However, many other factors affect a student's abilities in school.

But, the teachers' self-inflicted stress results in ulcers, bad digestion, allergies, skin problems and other overwork sicknesses. The job of the lecturers, like Mr. Castonguay, is to teach teachers how to cope with the stress.

Castonguay approached his subject with jokes, tricks, and a few exaggerations on the symptoms of burnout.

"You get tired," he said, "You bend over to pull up your socks and realize you aren't wearing any. Or, you turn off your lights for economic reasons rather than romantic ones."

Mr. Castonguay told the audience to wake up in the morning without an objective and to relax instead for five minutes.

"Yes, but, if we do that," laughed one woman at the back of the class, "we won't get up for an extra 10 minutes."

The advice to relax and take things easy may not be revolutionary but, it works according to Lorraine Lanthier, the principal of Elda Rouleau.

"I have a teacher here that followed this program. Whenever she feels under stress, she does her exercises," said Mrs. Lanthier. And this makes the seminar worth the $600 price tag it costs to bring in the lecturers, says Mrs. Lanthier.

Well done

Lochiel Township can take pride in its ''new'' municipal hall, officially opened last week.

Constructed in 1912 as a public school, the building cannot really be called new, but in its renovated form it is an attractive and practical structure proudly housing the township's municipal offices and council chamber.

The building was purchased from the SD&G County Board of Education more than 15 years ago for next to nothing. Little money was spent on it over the years. The interior, though clean, was an embarrassment. Badly in need of repair and poorly designed for office use, the building was nearly abandoned in favor of a brand new township hall five or six years ago.

A protest from a number of taxpayers scuttled plans for a new building, however.

A few years later, nudged on by Reeve Ron MacDonell, township council began renovations of the old building piece by piece. First came a new front entrance and foyer in 1984, followed by major renovations to the general office a year later. Earlier this year work was completed on the new council chamber, which is used by a number of community groups.

As an end result, the township has a solid and attractive building that should serve the needs of the community for generations to come. The township has accomplished what most municipalities find impossible in such a project. It has provided a practical, attractive building that will allow for substantial growth, without needless luxury, at a cost less than half the price of a small bungalow.

For $30,000, it's a bargain. The reeve, council and others involved are allowed to boast a little about this one.

Served well

Dennis Timbrell's announcement last Friday that he intends to leave provincial politics at the end of his current term came as no surprise.

A veteran of political power at the relatively young age of 39, Mr. Timbrell must have found it difficult to settle back into the shadows as an opposition member of the Legislature. He longed for the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario, only to lose by a whisker twice in one year. We may never know what the man's potential really was.

Had the results been reversed last time around and Conservative leader Larry Grossman been narrowly defeated, it is likely he would have announced his departure by now. Defeat is hard to take once. Twice is virtually impossible.

With Premier David Peterson's Liberal government riding the crest of overwhelming popularity, it appears it will be a long time before the Conservatives can again hope to recapture the reins of power. The perks, power, prestige and enviable salary of a cabinet post may be out of reach for another five or 10 years.

Mr. Grossman has done nothing to make his Conservatives feel more confident. He lacks the obvious political skills and appeal of Mr. Peterson and may be looking for another job himself after the next election.

For his own sake, Mr. Timbrell is undoubtedly correct when he asserts now is the time for him to leave politics.

He can look back with pride on a number of accomplishments during his tenure at Queen's Park. First elected in 1971 at the age of 24, three years later he became the youngest cabinet minister in Ontario history when he was named minister without portfolio responsible for the youth secretariat. He went on to hold energy, agriculture, health and municipal affairs portfolios.

He made significant contributions as minister of health. In agriculture, mindful of his urban roots, the opposition dubbed him the asphalt farmer from Don Mills, but there are a good number of farm leaders who remember him fondly.

He will be missed. Most who know the vagaries of Queen's Park politics well, regardless of political stripe, will agree that the people of Ontario will be well served if this man returns to public life later.

Women who work, work and work and still adapt

A FEW THOUGHTS
Joanne Stevenson

by Joanne Stevenson

It's not easy working for a living. Sure, we all work and nothing angers me more than hearing a woman sheepishly say, ''No, I don't work, I'm just a housewife.''

Let's face it, only bionic women need apply for the position of housewife and there's no reason to be sheepish about being one.

After all, have you ever seen a sheephish brain surgeon, even one that extra bills?

Recently, though, I have been toiling away at The News in addition to providing for the care and feeding of Dave and the pets.

Boy, am I tired . . . can't even stay up late enough to catch The Journal. Do Barbara Frum and Mary-Lou Findlay ever host that show anymore? The Journal features more guest hosts than Johnny Carson used to.

Because I have been working a whole, totally exhausting, 10 days, I can sit back, just for a moment, and consider the situation of working women everywhere.

Last fall, I attended a conference in Chesterville about rural women organized by Women for the Survival of Agriculture. At one point, these women, most of whom operated dairy farms with their husbands, were asked to describe a typical day.

These ladies work inside and outside the house, cook at least three hearty, delicious meals a day and somehow they had managed to find time to attend the conference. While there, the women fidgeted and fretted because they had chores awaiting them on their return home.

By 9 a.m., when I'm normally sharing a cup of tea with Phil Donahue, the farm wife's day is half over. That's not entirely true because her work day usually stretches into evening.

Similarly, town workers have to juggle the demands of the family, the house and the job.

What puzzlement our society creates! Some women, without children, can afford to stay home and may find they have time on their hands. Yet harried and harassed mothers are often forced, by our economy, to fit a 40-hour work week into an already crammed schedule.

Pessimists view any such problem with gloom and doom, underestimating humankind's intelligence and resilience.

When they said, ''The sky is falling, the sky is falling,'' because of overwhelming pollution caused by mile-long gas guzzlers, we adapted.

Now they say, ''The sky is falling, the sky is falling,'' because all we baby-boomers will hit retirement age in one big demographic bulge.

We will adapt. Private retirement plans and long-term financial planning will, we hope, prevent this catastrophe.

Corpses, dead parties and Liberal-controlled Senate

SECOND LOOK
Phil Rutherford

In a week when good columm ideas are hard to find, I end up scouring the newspapers for items of interest. There's usually plenty to be found.

One newspaper report detailed a rather bizarre election in a northern California county, where it appears a dead man is going to be elected.

People are saying they would rather vote for a dead sheriff than elect his only opponent. Talk about insults!

The only living candidate, a former Texas deputy who was fired amid controversy several years ago, can't match the popularity of a corpse.

Jim White, 31, an unknown running against incumbent Sheriff Brendan Macguire in San Mateo, was catapulted into the spotlight last week when the 52-year-old Macguire died of a heart attack.

As news about Mr. White's stormy background in Dallas spread throughout the county, local officials said they felt compelled to back the deceased sheriff in the June 3 vote in hopes of forcing a special election or the chance to appoint a sheriff other than White.

It's easy to understand. We've all known elected politicians who stood little better than the pick of the local graveyard.

Still talking about elections, we move on to Alberta where the governing Conservatives are expected to return to power with another obscene majority. Alberta, aptly dubbed Texas North, is over-populated by right wing, wacko politicians and a myriad of political parties. The line-up for a recent leaders' debate leading up to next week's vote looked more like Reach for the Top.

In Alberta we're supposed to shed a tear for Mike Pawlus, who insists he is still leader of the province's right-wing Heritage Party, despite a unanimous vote by the party's five other candidates to oust him.

''They have no authority whatsoever,'' Mr. Pawlus said, as he swore to continue.

And we thought John Turner was having trouble keeping the boys in line. A week from now it won't matter, anyway.

Speaking of politics and corpses, we move on to the Senate in Ottawa, where a colorful battle is raging between the Grits and the Tories.

Soon after the Conservatives took office in 1984, Tory blue began replacing Liberal red on all kinds of government property, from stationery to executive jets.

But the Liberal-controlled Senate has taken revenge. The frames bearing portraits of past government house leaders in the Senate, most of them Liberals, have suddenly gone from black to true-Grit red.

We're getting there

Less than a decade ago, English speaking Quebeckers were rocked out of their complacency by the election of a separatist government.

The initial shock caused a wave of emigration. Those who remained found themselves in a most uncomfortable position. Almost overnight, it seemed, people who had been friends became as strangers. Clerks in stores and offices could no longer understand or speak English. Old signs came down, and apostrophes disappeared.

In short order came Bill 101—a law devised (or so it seemed to the anglophones) to put a muzzle on the English language. English was out. French was in. There is no need to recount the many ridiculous situations which resulted. (One example was the order that intercommunication in institutions and corporations must be in French, even between anglophone and anglophone.)

Many employers, especially large corporations, went overboard trying to comply with the law. Long time employees feared for their jobs, and there was a rush to learn French.

Amid all the confusion and frustration a number of English language groups began to appear. One or two have remained to this day, some fizzled out, but many of them got together and formed an ''umbrella'' group called Alliance Quebec.

Alliance Quebec's launching was not smooth. It floundered in storms of regional differences, suspicions and prejudices. But though the boat was rocky, it had good timber, some capable officers and a scattered but able crew.

Not everyone agreed with Alliance's methods, its means of financing (grants from the federal government) or even its aims.

Yet the organization grew—in numbers and in quality. Its record shows that it was a good and a necessary thing.

Five years ago a chapter was formed in Lachute. Of the hundreds who attended the first meeting, only a few dozen have continued as active members. Yet the influence of their work and achievements is seen all around us—in our schools, in our social services, etc.

Its work is far from finished, but already there are signs that its raison d'etre is changing. Those who attended the annual meeting last week could feel it in the atmosphere. The animosity, the feeling of ''us against them'' is gone.

In a workshop involving everyone present, there was almost unanimous agreement on what the next five years should bring: French taught in English schools from grade one—and vice versa for the French schools; a halt to the exodus of young anglophones, and the return of others (to jobs); and finally, full bilingualism throughout the province.

As one of the founding members said: ''I would like to see Alliance Quebec dissolved by 1990, because by then, I trust, there will no longer be need for it.''

Too complicated

It's that time of year—big T-time. Those who haven't thrown in the towel by lugging all the information they can lay their sweaty hands on into their accountant, or neighborhood tax form specialist, are turning to their telephones.

They believe Revenue Canada when it tells them assistance in making out their income tax forms is only a call away.

Don't believe it.

At least one newspaper, the Toronto Star, has proven what most Canadians have suspected for years to be the case.

When it comes to filling out the old tax form the experts at Revenue Canada are no smarter than the average John or Joan Canuck.

A reporter, identifying herself only as a taxpayer needing assistance, called the Revenue Canada line 14 times over a three-day period. She spoke to 12 people, asking each about four questions.

According to the Star, the reporter's questions were common straightforward queries—the kind of thing any taxpayer might ask. The questions were not designed to be tricky.

The answers received from Revenue Canada were checked by a panel of four chartered accountants who specialize in taxation. Canada Revenue scored 31.5 out of 55 for an error rate of 43 per cent.

Of the 55 questions, Revenue Canada correctly answered 25, incorrectly answered 25, incorrectly answered or did not answer 17 and gave partially correct answers to 13. A correct answer received one mark, a partially correct answer was worth half a mark, and a wrong answer got zero.

Informed of the newspaper survey, Revenue Minister Elmer MacKay said he is ''puzzled and disappointed'' by the results.

It isn't that the Revenue Canada experts are stupid, or ill-informed. The trouble lies with the tax form. It has become too complicated. Indeed it borders on being incomprehensible.

If the government has to take all that money from us, the least it can do is make the operation as painless as possible.

LETTERS

CBC reporter well received

Carleton Place, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I have just returned home after taping programs for my CBC radio show, Radio Noon, in Ottawa, having spent two full days in your area.

I cannot let the opportunity pass without making some comments on your town and the people in it. It was my first extended visit to Alexandria, but it most certainly won't be my last. And that is because so many people went out of their way to make my visit productive and enjoyable.

First of all, I was a virtual stranger to Agnes and Ewen McDonald at the Priest's Mill, yet the hospitality I was exposed to was the type reserved for long established friends. They are true community supporters, and with their help I was able to "story" some marvelous and interesting people for my program.

Agnes set up appointments, spent two days on her telephone making contacts, and generally searched out individuals who had stories to tell and were willing to share them with a radio audience. As well, Rosemary Cameron and Terry Connelly, busy as they were, went out of their way to make my "invasion" of their offices a pleasure. How fortunate for Alexandria that the Priest's Mill is there, and the people responsible for its smooth operation are such promoters of your town!

As well, through my rushing around to meet deadlines Agnes had set up for me, I broke the arm of my much needed glasses. I walked in, off the street, to Dr. R. C. Desroches' office for help. After spending much time repairing my glasses, and then giving them a badly needed adjustment from months of careless handling, the glasses were handed back, spotlessly clean and fitting better than they had for longer than I care to admit. There was no charge.

I had made previous arrangements to stay at Lancaster at a bed and breakfast home owned by Marjorie and Malcolm Highet, as I had hoped to do some stories in that area the next day. Again, I was exposed to the most wonderful hospitality and consideration. The Highets even invited a guest, Andrew Harkness, in for breakfast so that I could learn more about the community. Andrew spent the entire morning of his time driving me around the Lancaster area and I came away with five stories. And then going beyond the call of duty, Marjorie herself drove back into the country to a farm which I would never have been able to find on my own, for another interview.

And finally, a special thanks to those people who so willingly shared their stories, most of whom had never heard of me before. I am truly grateful. You have a wonderful warm community, filled with enthusiastic and caring people. And through your paper I would like to offer my sincere thanks and good wishes for the future.

Old cemetery neglected

Maxville Manor

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I first saw the MacDiarmid burying ground as a young boy in 1919. I was taken across the fields by an old gentleman by the name of John Sandy MacMartin. He was a great local historian and it is a pity that he and Rhodes Grant had not been able to get together on the History of Martintown.

The cemetery was on a tiny island in the Raisin River. Mr. MacMartin always maintained that the island had been made by the Indians. The land around the island is very stony, yet you will not find a stone larger than a small marble in the entire cemetery.

In 1919, a picket fence surrounding the cemetery was broken down and needed paint.

The main plot had a large granite monument, a MacDiarmid memorial, with an iron fence surrounding the plot. Also buried there are MacCallums, Christies, a Cameron and others.

A narrow stone causeway joined the island to the mainland. It was just wide enough for pallbearers to use with the casket.

My recollection is that there were four or five headstones and a number of wooden crosses which, of course, are long gone. Thousands of red roses grew over and around the graves. Most likely, a plant had been planted on one of the graves and they spread over the island.

Two MacDairmid brothers settled on a farm situated between the Raisin and North Branch Rivers. About one hundred and twenty years later, the farm was sold to John MacMartin. There were two children, Marjorie who still owns the farm and the late Ian.

After the dam in the village of Martintown was removed, the water level in the river dropped drastically and what had been a tiny island became part of the mainland. Water grass has grown around and over it. Now after 65 years, the stones have fallen and lie buried under two feet of rotten water grass and debris.

I am writing this letter with hopes that some organization will become sufficiently interested in this old cemetery that it will be cleaned up and the stones uncovered. Surely we owe this much to some of the early settlers of Martintown.

Yours sincerely,
James C. MacGregor

Trying to explain the change of color scheme immediately across the Conservative-dominated House of Commons, one Liberal Senator said, "This is one of the few things around here we can still control."

There was another item in weekend papers about a world-wide shortage of skeletons following India's decision last year to abolish the exportation of human bones. I had written half a column on the subject before reaching the conclusion the words were more nauseating than humorous.

We'll leave that kind of morbid humor to somebody else.

Women who work . . .

With the same optimistic spirit, I look forward to the day women can rest, because job-sharing, widespread daycare, a more prosperous economy, labor-saving devices and a fair shake from males will allow us some time to relax.

Meanwhile, I raise a tired arm in salute to all us members of "the exhausted generation" and assure you our day will come.

My day is coming even sooner because Dave and I will be off on vacation in two weeks!

New firm opens

by Joanne Stevenson

The site of the former Ouellette Lumber on Highway 34 south of Green Valley will be bustling with activity within the next four to six weeks.

According to new owner Antoinette Csanadi of La Scierie, the building is currently being used as a warehouse for storage and distribution of stair components and railings.

However, Mrs. Csanadi explains the manufacturing activity will be transferred from Montreal to the Green Valley location. La Scierie is a wholesale establishment selling to hardware stores and home improvement centres. The company's equipment, lathes and saws will be shipped to its new headquarters in about a month.

"We've hired seven new employees," Mrs. Csanadi said. She will announce further plans once the operation has relocated here.

The monthly meeting of the Kirk Hill UCW was held on April 22 at 8:15 p.m.

The president, Mrs. John MacCrimmon welcomed 13 members.

Mrs. John MacCrimmon, Mrs. Donald MacLeod and Mrs. Gordon MacNaughton were in charge of the worship and the theme was Native People.

A very interesting film As We See It, was shown. This film gave an impression of how some native people see their contact with Canadian society, as well as some of the ways in which the United Church of Canada relates to native people. It also gave some general information about native culture.

The roll call was answered by many varied and interesting facts about our native people.

The meeting proved to be very interesting and informative.

Senior citizens enjoy sugar camp

GLEN NORMAN
Mary Lacelle
525-1372

If you are 60 years plus and would like the chance to get out and enjoy yourself, then St. Marie's Parish in Green Valley can help you. There is an organization for senior citizens called La Vie Montante. It was started three years ago by Sister Rita and has since spread to other parishes.

During the past couple of weeks the Outreach program has been under way in our area. Mrs. Isidore Secours surveyed the west end of the village, while Mr. Lauzon did the east end. It was a nice opportunity for us to meet more members of the community.

Twenty-five area members of La Vie Montante spent a most enjoyable day recently at the sugar camp of Gilbert and Lorette Gauthier. Meembers brought food and a lovely table setting was prepared by Mrs. Gauthier, as well as heaping platters of delicious pancakes. A special celebration took place in the afternoon to mark the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gauthier and the 45th anniversary of Priva and Therese Lortie. A cake and wine was served in honor of the two couples. George Lajoie and Cecile Poirier entertained on the violin and the group danced to the lively old fiddle tunes. The celebrants may have been over 60 but that didn't stop them from kicking up their heels and twirling as they heartily danced the Highland Fling. Sister Rita and Cecile Poirier led the merrymakers in a sing-a-long of old Canadian songs. The afternoon ended reluctantly with a couple of appropriate songs, 'For they are jolly good fellows' and 'Aurevoir'.

The fashion show held a couple of weeks ago is still being talked about with a lot of enthusiasm. Mrs. Isidore Secours was telling me it was the loveliest display of garments she had ever seen, and was especially proud as her granddaughter Josée Secours and daughter Louise St. Pierre were among the models who contributed to its success.

Happy anniversary to my parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bergeron, who celebrated their 48th anniversary last week. Happy birthday to Wayne and Ricky Brunet, Cindy Seguin, Luc Riel, Donald Bergeron and Réal Vallee. Also a happy anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Quesnel.

Lisa Lacelle spent the weekend visiting with Christine Bridgeman in Montreal. It was the first train experience for Lisa and she thoroughly enjoyed the ride by rail.

Mr. and Mrs. Rene Lecot from Coteau Station had supper with us Sunday and we had a most enjoyable evening.

I apologize for not having my write-up in last week's edition. Due to an error at the News office it was not published.

Kids from Glen Nevis, North Lancaster and Glen Norman wishing to play soccer should call Brian Libbos at 525-3829. Groups are being formed for sprites, ages six to nine, and peewees, ages 10 to 13.

Volunteers honored

Ecole Elda Rouleau kicked off its entry into Education Week Monday by honoring some of its volunteers with commemorative plaques.

Jeanine Deschamps was rewarded for her work in taking care of the children's milk money and in giving fluoride treatments, while Collette Poirier was acknowledged for her help as a hostess during the school's special activities.

Pierre Brunet's sons, André and Eric, stood in for their father who received a plaque for his work in clearing and maintaining the school's two hockey rinks.

Almost 300 students attended the ceremony and listened attentively as SD&G Separate School Board Trustee Jeannine Séguin told them about Elda Rouleau, their school's founder.

To cap off the morning, some of the pupils came up to the microphone and told assembled guests about current activities at the school.

Annual arts and crafts show attracts many

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

Destination Williamstown seemed to be the plan for hundreds of travellers on the weekend. People of all shapes, colors and sizes headed to the village to participate in one or more activities as diverse as indoor soccer and arts and crafts.

Teams from Ontario, Quebec and New York State streamed to the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre in order to take part in Char-Lan United's fourth annual indoor soccer tournament.

Meanwhile, up at the museum, the annual Glengarry Arts and Crafts Association Spring Sales Fair attracted large crowds of browsers and buyers.

Added to this was the dozen or so out-of-town fishermen who came to spend a relaxing day on the banks of the Raisin.

It seemed strange, really, only knowing about one in five persons whom I met on a stroll to the post office. And though grateful to the organizers of these events for putting us on the map, I can honestly say that I'm glad we've shrunk back to normal size!

I guess no news this week can rival the story of the Rebels winning the Eastern Ontario Junior B championship in Ottawa Wednesday night. Congratulations to all involved with the victory, from all of your fans involved in the "Rebelmania" which has swept the village this season.

Speaking of the Rebels, I hear Neil Sandilands has become an uncle again recently. Congratulations to Ian and Barbara Sandilands on the birth of their son, Rory Alexander. The question now is, will he become a caber tosser or a hockey player?

Last Tuesday evening, at Char-Lan High School, a group of women met under the tutelage of Sally Blacker and Nancy Woollven, to learn the fine art of candlewicking as part of a Home Decor Planning project sponsored by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Though some fingers were more nimble than others, (Barbara Stones being particularly adept), all the ladies returned home with Ontario's floral emblem, the trillium, done in candlewicking.

This week's course is on balloon-shade making, while next week the ladies will learn how to make Roman blinds. The instructors are to be commended both for their teaching skills and for their patience in handling their somewhat, sometime unruly students!

I'm sure that the students in our local schools could never be pegged with labels like the above. For one thing, there is just too much going on which is interesting. On Monday, for example, pupils from Kindergarten to Grade 5 were treated to a performance by the Erewhon Theatre of "The Lion, the Witch and The Wardrobe."

One of the nice things about this performance was that, instead of the students going to a theatre to see it, the players came to Williamstown and performed right in the auditorium. I hope that parents of children who enjoyed the play will follow up their enthusiam by reading not just "The Lion, the Witch and The Wardrobe" to their youngsters, but also the whole Namia series by C.S. Lewis. They are definitely books worth knowing.

Grade 6 students have certainly not been left out of the action by any means. The class has been participating in the V.I.P. program under the direction of their teacher, Cheryl Lariviere and Cst. Gilles Ruest of the Lancaster O.P.P.

Guess who reached the BIG 50 Yesterday?
Happy Birthday
18-1p

According to Mrs. Lariviere, the program involves discussions, take-home assignments to be done with parents, role-playing, and field trips, to help students learn about "Values, Influences and Peers." One trip was to the Cornwall Police Station for a tour. Students then attended a session of sentencing in provincial court.

The V.I.P. program was developed by the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of the Solicitor-General for use in our schools. Topics they recommend for discussion include, Creating Impressions, Peer Pressure, Decision-making, Vandalism, Dangers of Drugs, and Youth and the Law.

From the fair board comes the news that our stalwart directors recently met at the fairgrounds and did a day's work. No less than 100 pine trees were planted around the cattle rings in order to replace the trees which burned several years ago. Apparently the trees are between four and six feet in height so you should be able to notice them, if you are taking a stroll through the grounds.

One new feature it is hoped will be added to the fair this year is a horse draw. Now, when Ruth Mowat mentioned this to me, I immediately thought that a horse draw must be some sort of raffle, with a brand new horse going to the lucky holder of the winning ticket. Scarcely had that thought a chance to be cleared from my brain when in popped an exciting vision of a "Horse Draw" which is, of course, a juried art contest for talented horses. Preferably drawing, en masse, in front of all of us at the fair.

As I was getting carried away, Ruth pulled me down to earth by explaining that a Horse Draw is the same as an "Old Fashioned Horse Pull". Oh! Horses pulling taffy? I'm off again . . .

The above is just an example of "having fun with writing" which is what Nick MacDonald-Wolochatiuk was telling me he has been doing recently.

Nick is very interested in seeing a proposed bicycle path from Cornwall to Ottawa along the old New York Central Railway bed become a reality, and, as a result, has been doing some writing on the subject. I'm sure Nick would like to hear from other bike entusiasts interested in similar ventures.

As I walked up the street this afternoon I happened to see that Bob Goudie was out cutting grass. Being so used to seeing Ken engaged in similar circumstances, I began to wonder whether Ken had hired his father to help him in this busy grass cutting season. I'm sure we all in Williasmtown appreciate the fine job Ken does in keeping so many of our village lawns, "neat as a pin," and would welcome this opportunity of telling him so.

BRIDGE

Williasmtown Bridge Club welcomes Bruno and Theresa Carriere who have recently moved to Tree Haven. The Carrieres and John McDonald, who is visiting from California, all placed in the top three in bridge scores this week: 1) Bruno and Theresa Carriere, 2) Susan Clark and Isobel Quail and 3) Audrey Blair and John McDonald.

Our friends, the Friendly Neighbors recently held an exceptionally successful pot luck dinner with 75 members and guests attending. People came out from Cornwall, Glen Walter, Green Valley, Alexandria and even North Gower in order to enjoy the delicious food and to socialize with old friends and meet new ones.

Nine people shared the 50/50 draw while Kay McDonald, Ed O'Brien, Germaine White, and Angus McDonell won special draws.

At the euchre held on April 24, Ruby Major and Florence Lussier were first and second, respectively and Theresa Beaudette was low for the ladies. She also won the skunk.

For the gentleman, first was George Beaudette, while Mac O'Byrne was second. Low was Bill McMath and the skunk went to Louis Thomas.

Emily MacDonald walked through the door at the right time to claim the door prize, while 50/50 winners were: Rena Major, Anna Verkuylen, Louis Thomas, Georgette Lavoie and Herbie O'Byrne. Daphne MacDonald also won, twice, having had the luck to draw her own name!

There are so many things about the new Accord that are making news, we're giving you a scorecard to keep track.

APPLE HILL
Aline Gormley

Following the ceremony, candidates, parents and friends joined with the bishop for a presentation of mementos and souvenirs made to each of the candidates.

I'm sure no one is complaining about the weather these days. Isn't it gorgeous and invigorating? Daffodils never looked so pretty and soon tulips will appear in all their radiant colors.

It's a great feeling to shed the heavy clothes and dare get the outdoor barbecue going. The extra hour in spring sure helps put us in tune with the season.

OFF TO EUROPE—GDHS student Betti MacLeod will be touring Europe this summer as a member of the Collegiate Wind Band. The tour has been organized by Purdue University in Indiana. Betti will spend approximately three weeks in Europe. The Alexandria Lions Club has given Betti a $200 donation to help with her expenses. Presenting the cheque to Betti is Yvon Menard, secretary of the Alexandria Lions Club.

Man placed on probation

A Lancaster Township man was placed on probation for one year and ordered to perform 100 hours of community service work Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court.

The man was found guilty of sexually assaulting a four-year-old boy, Jan. 7, in Lancaster Township. He pleaded guilty at an earlier court appearance.

The court ordered the man's name not be published in order to protect the identity of the victim.

Court was told the man was babysitting at the time of the incident, when the accused and the victim fondled each other's sexual organs. Later, the child told his father what had happened.

Judge Reginald Levesque also ordered the accused to stay away from youths under 16 years of age, unless accompanied by an adult family member or other responsible adult.

Grace was said by Jim Wightman.

Following the meal, there was a sing-song with Bessie MacLennan at the piano. Jane Wightman, Frank Hamilton and Albert Brewer led the sing-song.

St. Raphael's CWL honors four local girls

by Betty McDonald

ST. RAPHAEL'S — The role of women in the church is one of the hottest topics of our present day, stated Joan-Levy Earle of Cornwall, guest speaker at the St. Raphael's CWL annual meeting and banquet held, Thursday, April 24 at St. Raphael's. Mrs. Earle organized the Peace Rally at Cornwall Civic Complex last spring and has the 9 a.m. Sunday weekly program "Circle of Love" on Corwall's FM radio station.

It is her belief that there is nothing wrong with the role that women have had for the past 2,000 years. "God made man and woman equal . . . but he also made them different . . . on purpose," she said.

It is also her belief that women of the world should unite in prayer to bring about world peace.

A 6 p.m. mass in the church got the evening's program under way.

Following this service some 75 members and nine guest members from Glen Nevis crossed the road to the parish centre where a banquet was served by the parish center committee.

Membership fees of $6 were paid and the Penny-a-day and one per cent luxury tax were turned in.

Following the banquet there were several presentations.

Four young ladies of the parish, all members' daughters, were recognized for outstanding achievements in the community.

Denise Dorie, daughter of Marcella and Lionel, was chosen as one of six from 4-H calf clubs to attend Hay's Classic at the Toronto Winter Fair. She placed in the top 10 in her division for both showmanship and conformation.

Denise also plays the clarinet in the Glengarry District High School senior band. The senior band tied for first place in the five-band competition at the Ottawa Music Festival held at Ridgemont High School, Ottawa, recently. She also sings in St. Raphael's folk choir and is a faithful worker at the parish center.

Carmen Lajoie, a Grade 9 student at GDHS, is the daughter of Sue and Ron Lajoie. She plays the clarinet in the junior band, which also joined in the contest at the Ottawa Music Festival, placing first in the three-band competition. She was also on the 4x400 relay team that placed first at the Seaway Track and Field meet held in Iroquois last Thursday. In St. Raphael's she sings in the folk choir and is a willing worker at the parish centre.

Luanne MacDonald, daughter of Mary and Barry MacDonald, is a clarinet player. She, too, played in the winning junior band from GDHS. She was also a member of the GDHS soccer team which won the EOSSA championship.

Firma MacDonell, daughter of Karen and George MacDonell, is a Grade 11 student at GDHS. She is a member of the award winning gymnastic team which won the EOSSA championship.

Firma also entertains in the community as a dancer and teaches jazz, baton, tap and gymnastic dancing weekly.

Sue Lajoie, past president, presented each of these young ladies with a St. Raphael's bicentennial sweater.

Father Tom Villeneuve spoke briefly and urged all to be good listeners. Very often troubled people only need someone to listen to their tale of woe, he said.

President Claire Gougeon was presented with a filing kit and thanked by Donna MacDonald.

Anna Margaret MacDonald explained again our duty as members to support both the penny-a-day and one per cent luxury tax.

The CWL has taken on another bicentennial project—having a pictorial directory of all parish families made. Suzanne Groulx, representative of TGG Photographic Industries Ltd., explained the program.

Betty McDonald will be co-ordinator, with Simone O'Connor, June MacDonald and Judy Bryan as contact people.

Two door prizes of African violets were won by Lillian St. Onge and Helen MacDonald.

A very pleasant evening ended after Anna Margaret MacDonald took pictures of all present.

On behalf of the Ladies Auxiliary, Secretary Seger presented Mrs. Campeau with a silver spoon in appreciation of her visit.

Local Air Cadets fly to Centralia

by Janet Marr

Ten members of #379 Glengarry Air Cadet Squadron were the only representatives of the Eastern Region at the Lambeth, Ont. Squadron's Fly-in Breakfast held last Saturday at Centralia Airport.

They were accompanied by Squadron Commanding Officer Capt. Bruce Marr, Jerry Adams, chairman of the Squadron's sponsoring committee, and two other pilots, Pierre Giroux and Pierre Boucher, all of whom donated their aircraft for the 400-mile flight.

The Glengarry Squadron had travelled the farthest, according to mileage counts done at the breakfast, followed by a Civil Air Patron Squadron from Pennsylyvania, the U.S. equivalent to Canadian Air Cadets.

On the exercise, held to familiarize senior Cadets with a variety of aircraft and give some 'hands-on' experience to those keen on flying, were WO2's Mark Squelch, Roy McGillivray and Kris Marr; Flt/Sgts. Marc Schoenrank and Sean Cooke; Sgts. Mike Mayes, Sabastian Van Nooten and Jenny Marr; and Cpts. Sean Sliepenbeek and Jason Butler.

Capt. Marr with WO2 Marr left Alexandria on Friday and spent Saturday morning making arrangements for the cadets at London, Ont. where all spent Saturday evening. The others took off early Saturday morning and with stops at Peterborough and London arrived in good time at Centralia, 85 miles west of Toronto, and had the usual huge breakfast compliments of the Lambeth Air Cadet Squadron with rations provided by DND.

Following dinner at the home of Capt. Marr's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Al Marr of Dorchester, Ont., the Cadets did some sightseeing in downtown London Saturday evening.

The "Alexandria Airforce" landed back in Glengarry late Sunday afternoon, where all reported they had had a fine time.

POPULAR DISPLAY—Gwelda MacRae sits among handiwork at her display booth at the Glengarry Arts and Crafts Association Spring Sales Fair held last weekend at the Nor'westers and Loyalist Museum in Williamstown. Mrs. MacRae, of MacPine farms on the South Service Road, began as a hobbyist making candles and then rice paper lampshades. She later started to create the lovely silk flower arrangements and corsages that have proven so popular for Mother's Day and weddings.

Purcell residents may each have to pay $2,500 - $4,500 for services

by Joanne Stevenson

WILLIAMSTOWN — Purcell homeowners will be swallowing a bitter pill if preliminary costs for water and sewer remain unchanged.

Services for a lot with a 50-foot frontage will cost $1,219 and $1,202, for water and sewer respectively, and $2,137 and $2,107 for a 90-foot frontage, should the property owner opt to pay in one lump sum. A $45 one-time connection fee will be charged. Landowners will also be required to pay for connection from the street to the house, estimated at $1,200-$1,500. Maintenance costs of $180 and $228 for water and sewer respectively will be levied annually to each property owner regardless of frontage.

Homeowners wishing to spread the cost over 10 years would be levied a payment of $420 per 50-foot frontage each year on their tax bills.

These preliminary figures are based on December, 1984 dollars. An extra four per cent will probably be added because of inflation.

Moe Leger and Terry Hardy, of McNeely Engineering of Cornwall, the firm contracted for the project, stressed these were preliminary figures. Council could request alternative methods of payment.

However, they equally emphasized the system will cost over $4.7 million and the municipality will have to raise the more than $350,000 remaining after the 85% provincial subsidy.

Therefore council instructed the engineers to present tables showing cost estimates for payment spread over 10, 15 and 20 years at 8, 10, 12 and 14 per cent interest adjusted to 1987 dollars.

As well, council is looking into the possibility of not assessing beyond a maximum 100-foot frontage.

Mr. Hardy asked council and homeowners to compare the costs to other systems.

"In a house, a new well and septic tank would be more expensive," he said.

Reeve Morgan Major, himself a resident of the Purcell, feared homeowners would balk at the high costs.

"I'm afraid it will be turned down by the people," he said.

Residents will be invited to a public meeting in late May or early June to discuss the rates. McNeely Engineering will first present council with the alternatives requested.

Any outstanding objections by property owners will be forwarded to a Consolidated Board Hearing to be held in the fall.

Tenders for construction of the water and sewer treatment plants are expected to be submitted in early 1987 with completion of the project later the same year.

Mr. Leger and Mr. Hardy also presented drawings of the water and sewer plants to be located on the south side of Hwy. 2 on property previously part of the St. Lawrence Estates.

The plants, now designed to serve 600-700 people, will ultimately handle up to 2,250.

Mr. Hardy assured council the site would not be highly visible nor would any offensive odor emanate from the sewer treatment plant.

Council approved a rezoning and an Official Plan Amendment on the property to remove its current open park-holding designation and rezone it for special industrial waste disposal.

The councils of Lancaster and Charlottenburgh townships will hold a joint meeting to discuss the Green Valley sewage system May 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlottenburgh Township Hall in Williamstown.

Representatives from A. J. Graham Engineering of Ottawa, the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) and the Eastern Ontario Health Unit have been invited.

Lancaster Township Clerk Mike Samson, who is co-ordinating the project for the two councils, has received a letter from MOE indicating $144,000 has been made available for furthering the project.

Craft show successful

by Joanne Stevenson

WILLIAMSTOWN — Twice a year, a local tradition continues as the Glengarry Arts and Crafts Show ushers in spring and fall for craft-loving people everywhere.

This year's sunny summertime weather attracted fishermen to the Raisin River and craft lovers to the Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum for the Glengarry Association's Spring Sales Fair.

Wood sculptures, silk flowers, handmade wicker baskets, antique-looking signs and handicrafts of all shapes and sizes were for sale to eager customers from Glengarry, Cornwall, Hudson, Montreal and elsewhere.

Want to buy a MacDonald Duck? Brenda Leed of Ingelside has created a variety of stuffed animals sporting tartans and plaids, including a duck wearing the MacDonald tartan.

Ross and Norma Greer from Fassifern showed off the handpainted signs, folk art and decorated plant stands available through their business, Donnybrook Elves. The Greers have just completed a project for the Christmas Bells shop in Alexandria.

In addition to an array of wooden puzzles, spoons, wildlife and Inuit sculptures, Don Lucas, of Glen Robertson has recently designed a trophy for the Alexandria squadron of the Air Cadets.

The Association makes every effort to guarantee variety in its offerings. A jury assesses the work of prospective members to ensure high quality.

The 35-member association began in 1973. The museum started hosting the sales fairs in 1981. Publicity Director Gordon Lindsay of Apple Hill Pottery proudly noted sales were higher at this spring's show than in previous years.

The $20 voucher offered as a door prize was won by Margaret Emond of Cornwall.

OBITUARIES

Catherine MacQueen

A venerable life-time resident of Glengarry's historic Stewart's Glen, Skye and Dunvegan, Catharine ''Katie'' MacQueen died last Saturday in the Maxville Manor, just short of her 98th birthday.

Mrs. MacQueen was a daughter of Alexander and Annie Stewart of Stewart's Glen where she received her elementary education.

''Katie'' Stewart, as she was popularily known, married John A. MacQueen, a highly respected Kenyon township assessor. They resided on the MacQueen pioneer homestead farm, Skye Road.

Mrs. MacQueen is survived by three sons, Angus, Murray and Beverly, and by five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. She was predeceased by one son William.

A talented piano and organ player Mrs. MacQueen was a lover of Scottish heritage entertainment especially the violin and bagpipes. She inherited the family love of pipe music. Her brother ''Red'' Alex was a gifted piper, as well as next-of-kin Pipe Major Johnny Alex Stewart.

Mrs. MacQueen was always a valued community worker, active in her church, a point stressed by Rev. Donald MacMillan in a moving eulogy. Further evidence of appreciation took the form of honorary membership in the Kenyon Presbyterian Church Women's Missionary Society.

The funeral attended by many relatives and friends was held Monday afternoon at the Munro Funeral Home, Maxville and Kenyon Presbyterian Church in Dunvegan. Rev. Gordon Fresque officiated, assisted by Rev. Donald MacMillan, a former pastor.

Ian and Sander Stewart, Weldon MacIntosh, Robert Chisholm, W.A. ''Bud'' MacKinnon, and Allister Campbell acted as pallbearers.

Fittingly, as the remains of Dunvegan's Grand Old Lady were carried to the grave Pipe Major J.T. MacKenzie piped Going Home and at interment the lament, The Lord Is My Shepherd.

Isabella MacGregor

Isabella MacGregor died April 22 at the Maxville Manor. She was 97 years of age.

Mrs. MacGregor was born in 1888 in Cote St. George, Quebec daughter of Thomas MacCuaig and Sarah (MacLeod) of Ste. Justine de Newton, Quebec.

She is predeceased by husband William, daughter Hilda and two stepsons, John Robert and Stanley.

She is survived by son Roy of Pointe Claire, daughter Pearl (Durant) of Morrisburg, stepdaughter Maude (Mrs. N.H. Lawrence) of Woodstock, sisters Serena, Kenzie and brother John all of Ste. Justine, Quebec.

She is also survived by 13 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held April 25 at the Morris Funeral Home in Alexandria, Reverend Gordon Fresque and Reverend Bruce Kemp, officiating.

Burial took place at the St. Andrew's United Church cemetery in Dalhousie Mills.

Pallbearers were Millan and Roy MacDonald, Gordon Durant, Kenneth, Peter and Robert MacGregor.

John Amedee Sabourin

John (Medee) Sabourin, age 52 years, died accidently early Friday morning, April 18 when his truck left the road and struck a tree near Carlsbad Springs.

Formerly from Alexandria, he was the son of the late George Miron Sabourin and the late Adeline Willard. He was predeceased by a brother, George Alexander in 1959.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife, Eleanor Lefebvre, 9 children: Roxanne, Michael, Robin, John Jr., Jody, Billy, Marilyn, Pamela, Kimberly, 9 sisters and 3 brothers, Sarah Mae (Mrs. Toni Milnes), Dorothy (Mrs. Bill Eastman), Theresa (Mrs. James Malloy) all of Ottawa, Marie (Mrs. Paul Michaud) of Cornwall, Ruby (Mrs. Albert Michaud) of St. Catharines, Isobel (Mrs. Doug Eastman) of Avonmore, Amanda (Mrs. Thomas Malloy) and Muriel (Mrs. Brian Gurin) of Peterborough, Gisele (Mrs. Rene Lecôt). Brothers Donald Sabourin of Cornwall, Robert of Perry Sound and Bonniface of Hawkesbury.

He also leaves an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bergeron of Williamstown and an uncle, Hugh Angus Willard of Alexandria. He was waked at the Kelly Funeral Parlor on Sommerset Street, Ottawa. Burial was in Notre Dame Cemetery.

Harold Cameron

Relatives and friends were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Harold D. Cameron at his residence in Ottawa on Saturday, April 19, 1986. He was 68 years of age.

Mr. Cameron was born at Sandringham, a son of the late Daniel Cameron and Isabella Dashney, where he lived till he sold the farm and moved to Ottawa.

He leaves to mourn several cousins.

Funeral services were held in Munro Funeral Home, Maxville, on Monday, April 21, conducted by Rev. Bailey of the United Church, Maxville.

Fifth annual art exhibition will be held this weekend

by Joanne Stevenson

VANKLEEK HILL — A popular outing for Glengarrians is a trip to Vankleek Hill for the annual May Art Exhibition, to be held Saturday and Sunday. New activities will be added to the main event, and art show to be held at 44 Home Ave. and 151 Main St. East.

''It is expanding. There will be more of a festival atmosphere,'' says spokeswoman Michelle Landriault, a photographer whose works will form part of the display.

For the first time, a Sunday Craft Fair has been added, as well as a performance by the McGill Jazz Quartet on Saturday afternoon. Free carriage rides will spirit people to the exhibition.

On Friday, the Trinity United Church will host a musical recitation of the works of Béla Bartok, and Gary Geddes of Dunvegan will recite poetry from his book, The Terra-cotta Army.

On Saturday and Sunday, visitors can appreciate the paintings, sculpture, pottery and photographs of area artists, including Dr. Lionel Kirkwood, a consultant with the Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Kirkwood described his photos, saying, ''Basically, they are pictures that evoke in me a sense of the world's beauty, the passage of time and man's creative works.''

The outdoor garden at 44 Home Ave. will become the setting for sculpture by Donald Liardi, who had been commissioned to sculpt the Royal Canadian Ballet. His sculpture appears on the ballet's poster.

Sunday's Craft Show will be held in the Vankleek Hill Town Hall. Paintings, pottery, stained glass, jewellery and photos will be displayed for sale.

The jewellery of Werner Friedrich, who will participate in this year's craft show, has been featured at the Glengarry Arts and Crafts Show. His jewellery includes brooches of the Trottiers and of the Dunvegan Museum.

Craftspeople will take orders for custom-made items.

Miss Landriault estimates 1,500 will attend the exhibit, doubling the population of Vankleek Hill. ''We always have a great turnout from Glengarry,'' she added.

Honor roll students named at Char-Lan

CRUSADER NEWS
Mark Kannon

All the excitement and talk about you're a Good Man Charlie Brown wasn't just for making noise. After having the opportunity of seeing the play first hand, I now know that Charlie Brown was a series of skits with no connection. Each scene deals with some aspect of Charlie Brown's life, showing that Charlie Brown really is a good man.

John Vipond, who portrays Charlie Brown, does an extremely fine job. Never was there a moment that the audience lost confidence in Charlie and every moment was filled with compassion for the little fellow. But it was Diane Aubin's screaming portrayal of Lucie that truly added flair to the play. As well, all the other actors and actresses did a magnificent job at making the musical a rousing success.

As this year's prom fast approaches, Friday, May 30, students are picking out their new spring dresses or outfitting themselves in smart looking suits, not to mention purchasing tickets which went on sale April 14 for $20 a couple. The whole school is invited and tickets won't be on sale forever.

Recently Char-Lan was paid a visit by David Steeper. Between 1976 and 1981, Steeper was a member of the Canadian National Gymnastics Team. He now works for the Ontario Science Centre putting on science related gymnastic shows.

The show seen by Char-Lan and Williamstown Elementary students dealt with the interaction of body muscles and laws of natural physics. It was a very entertaining as well as informative show.

It is with great pleasure that I publically congratulate the Kastack sisters on their recent wins at the science fair in Cornwall. Our student body is justly proud that you are students at Char-Lan.

With the end of mid-term exams comes what some people consider one of the most dreaded parts of school life, the mid-term reports. Marks were distributed and students found out how much work will be required of them before they could make good with their parents again. For some though this won't be too hard. This term's honour roll is as follows:

Jailed five months for assault

A 22-year-old Alexandria man was sentenced to five months in jail and placed on probation for 18 months Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court.

The man was found guilty of two assault charges at an April 3 court appearance. He had been charged Jan. 28 in Lochiel Township.

Judge Reginald Levesque had reserved his sentence until Thursday pending completion of a pre-sentence report.

The two assaults involved the man and his 18-month-old son. In the first incident, the father bit the child on the cheek when he became frustrated with its crying.

A few days later, when the baby cried at length again the father took the child's hand and held the fingers over the burner of the stove. The boy suffered second and third degree burns.

The man's name is not being published in order to protect the victim.

GDHS air bands to compete in Cornwall

ALEXANDRIA — Two local "air bands" will face the competition next week in Cornwall. And they want to a walk away with the prize money.

The dozen students from Glengarry District High School (GDHS) are modeling themselves on two popular rock acts, Motley Crue and Whitney Houston. By the way, an air band is a group that mimics, dresses like, and lip-sings to someone else's tunes.

GDHS's Motley Crue is made up of Norman Pilon, Pierre Roman, Trudel Sauvé and Norm McDonald. Rachel Neild, Robbie and Michael Starkauskas, Steph Page, Leo Stewart, Michelle Gallant, Laurie McDonald and Richard Daniels take the stage as Whitney Houston. Jeff Comeau is special effects man for both groups.

This is the second year local high school students have staged an air band competition. Contestants are judged on synchronization, stage mannerisms, costumes, props, special effects and crowd appeal. But whoever gets the loudest applause wins.

The two groups will soon head for Cornwall where they will take part in a regional contest at the city's Civic Complex. First prize is $150.

Although the local kids have a proven track record of pleasing their public, they do face a big handicap while in Cornwall.

"This is judged by crowd appeal," says Les Newmann, the GDHS physical education teacher who acts as supervisor for the groups. "And there will be 150 kids from Cornwall there."

A panel of judges was drafted to assist in the local competition however. Judges were drawn from the ranks of regional entertainment personalities and included Dan Seguin of CJOH Televison, Neil McClung of CJSS radio, and disc jockeys Sylvain Lecompte and Marc-Elliot Pierre-Louis.

Two Glengarry County women will speak at a motivational workshop in Cornwall on Thursday

Two prominent Glengarry County women will speak to girls from Grades 4 to 8 at a motivational workshop in Cornwall, Thursday, May 1.

Rev. Karen Hincke and Bonnie Cappuccino have been invited by the SD&G Board of Education. Over 20 workshops are to be held under the theme, "It's your world" at St. Lawrence College's Aultsville Hall.

"They are asking me to discuss the changing roles of women in the church, said Rev. Hincke. "I'm a woman in the church and I don't think that any woman can hear what Jesus has said without being a feminist."

Rev. Hincke referred to the Gospel of Luke in which, she said, Jesus was always accepting of women and freeing them from oppression.

"Women have been stooped over for centuries and Jesus' message is: Enough already, stand up!" she said.

But Rev. Hincke stressed she is not out to win these girls into a group of 14-year-old feminists.

"I'm seeking to inform them so that when they leave school, it won't come as a shock to them," she said.

Her approach will come under the form of a history of women's roles within the church over the centuries.

Rev. Hincke has seen a lot of change in the way the church has behaved towards women. One example of this new openness is her election as chairman of the Glengarry Christian Council.

"Change is only possible when that kind of thing is tolerated by other priests," she said.

While Rev. Hincke is an experienced speaker, Mrs. Cappuccino is new to it, if not to children.

She has set up homes for children in Bhopal and North Gujarat, India. And she and her husband have adopted 23 children over the last 30 years.

"We got involved in this almost as soon as we got married, 33 years ago," she said. "The first one we adopted was a black Japanese child and we kept on adding children until we had 23."

Mrs. Cappuccino will talk to the girls about volunteer work with destitute children.

"If they have a dream, they can get together with a few other people and they can do things much larger than would ordinarily be possible if you just wait for things to happen," Mrs. Cappuccino said.

Other workshops will touch on color analysis stress, women in medicine, native women's concern, and personal worth.

The seminar is organized by Marian MacMaster, a teacher at Laggan Elementary School. Mrs. MacMaster said the sessions are being offered to present young women with worthwhile role models.

Man fined, prohibited from owning cattle

A 40-year-old Baltics Corners man was placed on probation for three years and fined $1,250 Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court after pleading guilty to breach of probation.

Stanley MacCaskill was charged in February in Kenyon Township.

The charge stems from Mr. MacCaskill's failure to follow the monitoring of his cattle through the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Last year the accused was convicted of failing to provide suitable care for his herd of purebred Holsteins. During his trial last November, Mr. MacCaskill told the court how he let 21 dairy cattle starve to death.

Mr. MacCaskill was then sentenced to one month in jail. At sentencing, Judge Reginald Levesque said Mr. MacCaskill would not start serving his jail term May 30, because he had started a beef cattle operation which required his immediate attention.

The accused was also told at the time that his cattle operation would be monitored weekly by a representative of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Sheila Slater-Pratt, an officer of the ministry, told the court Mr. MacCaskill knew a lot about farming, but had difficulty implementing his knowledge. She added that he would have to be under careful supervision in caring for cattle.

She said the accused failed to provide proper feed and water supplies for the animals during the monitoring period.

The accused's cattle have since been sold and he no longer operates a dairy operation.

Judge Reginald Levesque prohibited Mr. MacCaskill from owning livestock or having custody and control of livestock, unless he is directly supervised.

A new face at Ag and Food

by Joanne Stevenson

ALEXANDRIA — There's a new face in the offices of the Ministry of Agriculture and Food in Alexandria. It belongs to Sandra MacLeod, of Dalkeith, the new Rural Organization Specialist. Miss MacLeod is replacing Kathleen Ryan who will be working in Russell until January 1987.

Miss MacLeod will be co-ordinating local 4-H programs and act as resource person for other organizations, such as the Women's Institute.

This is her first week on the job and only one week since her graduation from the University of Guelph with a Bachelor of Science (B.Sc.) in Agriculture.

Although 4-H activities are already under way, Miss MacLeod will be working closely with club leaders to organize participation in achievement days and fairs.

Glengarry has five dairy, one beef and two horse clubs, one field crops and two or three seed-to-shelf clubs.

Miss MacLeod is the daughter of dairy farmers Alex D. and Helen MacLeod.

"I always helped out on the farm and agriculture has always been part of my life," she noted.

Miss MacLeod is also no stranger to 4-H. She was a member for eight years and completed 12 projects in a dairy club, a vet club and a livestock evaluation club.

She admits summer is particularly hectic for 4-H.

"Fair time is pretty busy," she says. The first fair of the season, in Maxville, features an Open 4-H show and the last fair, in Williamstown, an activity day.

She urges individuals and organizations interested in agriculture, gardening and hobby-farming to drop in anytime between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. for more information and helpful tips.

Although she is just in the first week in her chosen career, she knows where her future lies.

"I hope always to remain involved with agriculture to some extent," she stated.

Ceilidh attracts large crowd

by Angus H. McDonell

The spring Ceilidh featuring pipe band entertainment attracted an appreciative audience that taxed the seating capacity of the Bonnie Glen Saturday night. The sponsor was the Dunvegan Pipe Band of Ottawa.

Pipers from the Glengarry Pipe Band, led by Pipe Majors John T. MacKenzie and Andrew Buchan, accompanied the MacCulloch kilted lassies in their traditional dance formations, guided by the veteran instructor, Rae MacCulloch.

The climax of the entertainment was music by the Cornwall Police Band and the popularity of their varied numbers was evidenced by the crowded dance floor during their alotted time.

The relatively new Dunvegan Pipe Band, as one would expect, wear the MacLeod tartan. Judging by the generous applause awarded their Ceilidh playing, the band's success in the Grade 1 tier, especially at the Highland Games in Maxville next August 2, will be followed with keen interest by Glengarrians.

Some members of the Dunvegan band need no introduction to Glengarry pipe band fans. Among the founders is John Kerr, now of Cornwall, who has been instructing the art of drumming in Glengarry for the past 12 years.

Pipe Major Scott MacCauley is also a familiar personality here in the Glens. He was a colleague of McCrimmon's native son, Bobby MacCrimmon, when they were members of the St. Catharines, Ontario Clan MacFarlane Pipe Band, North American champions. Both John Kerr and Scott MacCauley were absent Saturday night as they were in Houston, Texas, in the role of piping and drumming judges.

Representing the lassies in the Dunvegan band is an attractive, skilled drummer of the fourth generation of a noted Alexandria family, Margaret St. John. Margaret's great grandfather was Alfred St. John, a pioneer barber in Alexandria in the 1880's. Her grandfather was Arthur St. John, who succeeded Lyman Graham as Alexandria Imperial Oil agent many years ago. Margaret's father was Howard St. John, Arthur's son. And by coincidence, Margaret's grand uncle, Leo St. John, was an occasional drummer when a pipe band of a half dozen members was mustered for an Alexandria social following World War One.

The Glengarry pipers and the MacCulloch dancers were in their usual professional class form that indicated they are adequately prepared for the lengthy summer entertainment schedule. There are times when bus travel to distant Highland Games becomes arduous, however, this hardy troup mainly of a younger generation always meets any such challenge.

In the Saturday step-dancing program number members of the Cornwall Police Band demonstrated their versatility as accompanists with violinist Len Caron, guitarists William Dorion, Darcy Dupuis and Don Degray. Gaye Leroux was the drummer. Constable Bob Burnie ably filled the entertaining vocalist role during the dance program.

The Dunvegan Pipe Major, Colin MacLellan, was introduced to the audience following the band's final march-off number. He graciously thanked the large crowd for their attendance and typical Glengarry hospitable welcome.

Alexandria takes over annexed land Thursday

The Town of Alexandria officially expands its borders Thursday, with completion of an annexation process involving 382 acres of land from neighboring Lochiel and Kenyon townships.

The town received official confirmation from the Ontario government Monday morning that the annexation was fully approved and would come into effect May 1, Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette announced Tuesday. Initially, the annexation was expected to come into effect one month earlier.

Nearly all of the expansion is in the town's north end, with the 147-acre Malcomson farm purchased by the town last year taken within the Alexandria boundaries for future expansion of the growing industrial park. Kenyon land acquired by the town includes all of Lot 2, running from the north side of Hwy. 43 to the Power Dam Road. The annexed land along the highway includes the former Graham Creamery building and several residential properties.

From Lochiel Township, Alexandria will be taking over 235 acres, including all of the land north of Linsley Street, the current town boundary, to the Power Dam Road, consisting of the northern sections of Lots 37 and 38 not already falling within the town limits.

In addition, Lochiel surrenders all of Lot 36, adjacent to the town's northeast boundary, from the McCormick Road to the Power Dam Road.

These areas include at least two businesses, RVA Steelworks and Glengarry Auto Parts, as well as prime residential properties on the east side of Sandfield Street, extending south to the north side of St. Paul Street, and on the north side of the McCormick Road, as far east as the Precious Blood Monastery, which will remain in the township.

From Lochiel the town also takes control of a small parcel of land just outside Alexandria's current southern boundary, west of Hwy. 34 and south of Front Street. The area includes the Super Save grocery store and the former Leroux furniture store. This was the only area west of Hwy. 34 that remained in Lochiel Township. The area is already receiving water and sewage services from Alexandria.

Alexandria officials have agreed property owners in the annexed area will continue to pay "township level" taxes for 10 years, with all of the tax revenue returned to the two townships for the same length of time.

Town officials did not have precise figures on the number of people affected by the annexation, but guessed the total would be less than 100.

Group visits Spain

A group of residents of Alexandria and Green Valley enjoyed a trip recently when they visited Spain and Portugal, They were Aline and Bruno Lalonde, Marguerite and Georges Massié, Lucille and Ubald Poirier, Lucille Desjardins, Laurette Viau, Estelle Brazeau, Cécile Cuerrier, Aimé Decoste, Rita Viau and Cécile and Emile Léger. Fern Drouin, acting as their tour guide, took them to a Corrida and to see the Flamenco dancers at La Scala in Madrid. Travelling by bus, they toured Spain and Portugal, visiting the Shrine at Fatima, the City of Lisbon, cathedrals, mosques, castles, palaces, Roman temples, and a museum of ancient royal stagecoaches. In Costa Del Sol, along the Atlantic Ocean, they soaked up the sun for four days before returning to Glengarry.

Bruno Lalonde, the eldest of the group, had a special treat in store for him when, on April 12, the group helped him celebrate his birthday.

Rebels capture junior hockey title

by Peter Conway

OTTAWA — After an early exit in the Alex English Division playoffs a year ago, the Charlottenburgh Rebels had a lot to prove to themselves and to their fans.

First proving they were the best club in the Alex English Division in the regular season and playoffs, the Rebels went on to show they were the best club in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League.

Last Wednesday night at the Canterbury Arena the Rebels capped an outstanding campaign by winning the Eastern Ontario championship in an exciting 6-4 triumph over South Ottawa Canadians.

The Rebels, who won their first-ever championship in the club's seven-year history, clinched the best-of-seven series 4-1.

Coach Ken MacDonald compared the championship to a previous title.

"In 1974-75 we won the divisional championship with the Alexandria Glens and then lost to Brockville in a best-of-five series. That Glens team was close to my heart and always will be," said MacDonald, after he was sprayed with champagne in the post-game celebrations. "This is a great feeling winning with the Rebels. I thought it might be anti-climactic after beating them in the fourth game. But, the game was close and the win felt good."

Although the Rebels polished off perennial powerhouse South Ottawa in five games, MacDonald was cautious prior to the championship series.

"I was a little apprehensive about this series with South Ottawa, because they've always had good teams in the past. We had a veteran team and we were patient throughout the series. That's what I preached to the players the past couple of seasons."

MacDonald's philosophy was never more evident than in Game 5 Wednesday night. The Rebels got off to a shaky start and trailed early. The Canadians held a slim 4-3 advantage after two periods.

The Rebels were patient and chipped away at the Canadians in the third period. Shawn Blanchard drew the Rebels even with six minutes left in regulation time. Two minutes later, Frank Sinfield tallied the winner and iced the championship with an empty net marker with just under a minute left.

Dwayne Spink, Norm Sauve and Mike Lapensee also scored for the Rebels.

South Ottawa Canadians' goals came off the sticks of John Poirier, Tim Featherstone, Glenn McDonald and Mike Bilyk.

MacDonald praised the work of the goaler Dave Carmody, who was surprise starter between the pipes. Daniel Brunet had played in the first four games.

Although Carmody struggled early in the contest, he was outstanding in the third period and kept the Canadians from increasing their 4-3 advantage.

"Dave is the type of goaler that doesn't panic. He played great in the third period and made three or four key saves for us. The defence also played a solid game," said MacDonald.

The best skater throughout the playoffs for the Rebels was forward Roddy McKenzie. McKenzie was outstanding killing penalties Wednesday night.

"Roddy is a super hockey player and he's got great puck sense. He's tough in the corners and does a great job for us penalty killing. He's a good kid to coach," said MacDonald.

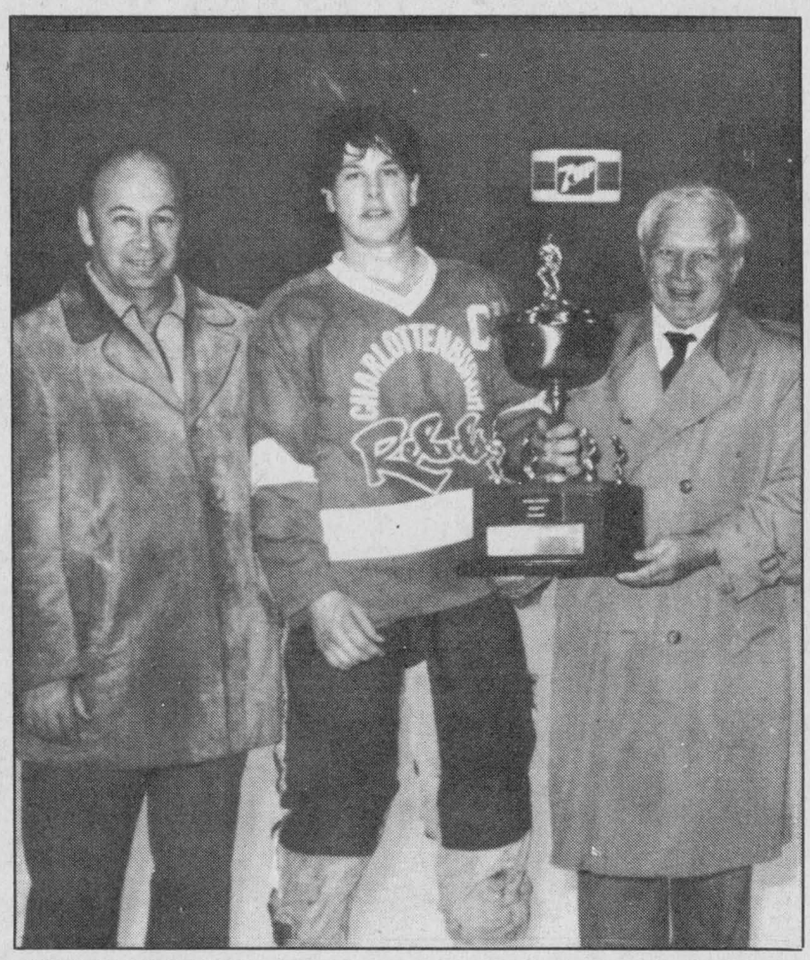
Assistant coach Marc Bissonnette praised the work of the players, but in particular the defence.

"The defence played well and I'm proud of them. They all worked hard for me. This is my fifth year with the organization and I'm just glad to be part of the team. I think my first year as a player we only won four games. It's taken five years to build towards this championship," Bissonnette said.

Don Bissonnette, chosen the Alex English Division's top defenceman this season, said the frustration was finally over for the Rebels.

"It feels good winning this championship after three years of frustration. I had a charley-horse injury tonight (Wednesday), but I don't have any pain right now," said Bissonnette.

The Rebels close out their season with their awards banquet Friday night at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.



JUNIOR B CHAMPS—The Charlottenburgh Rebels captured the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League championship last Wednesday night following a 6-4 win over South Ottawa Canadians. Rebels' Captain Murray MacDonald is presented the league championship trophy from John Ritskies, far right, Commissioner of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League and Bob Ramsay, President of the Alex English Division.

WINNING GOAL—Charlottenburgh Rebels' Kennedy MacDonald celebrates Frank Sinfield's winning goal last Wednesday night in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League championship. The Rebels won the best-of-seven series 4-1. The Rebels won the clincher 6-4 as Sinfield scored twice.

St. Raphael's wins Cup

by Sue Sloan

The series went the complete best-of-seven stretch and when it was all over, St. Raphael's had won the 1986 edition of the Glengarry News Cup, defeating Glen Nevis 9-3 Sunday.

St. Raphael's and Glen Nevis played a close six-game series that provoked an expected intense final shootout between the two teams. St. Raphael's performance Sunday overwhelmed Glen Nevis, whose three-goal effort was far short of their ultimate goal.

In their struggle to win, St. Raphael's only obstacle came Wednesday when Glen Nevis took the fifth game 7-5.

Chris MacDonald's four-goal effort was padded by Marc Laperle's two and Joey McRae's single.

Jeff Johnson tallied two while Paul Seguin, Jim Wightman and Leonard Seguin scored singles.

Friday's competition was full of suspense as St. Raphael's rebounded to take game six and tie the series 3-3 when they downed Glen Nevis 5-3.

Jeff Johnson tallied a hat trick while Carter MacDonald and Paul Seguin netted singles.

Mike McDougall tallied two for Glen Nevis while Glen Campbell netted one.

The final decision, of which their was little argument, went in St. Raphael's favor as they ousted Glen Nevis 9-3.

Bill deWit and Leo Seguin scored a hat trick each while Frank St. Pierre scored two and Leonard Seguin one.

Glen Nevis' three-goal effort came off the sticks of Dean Cameron, Mike McDougall and Glen Campbell.

MacDonald ends career with a winning season

by Peter Conway

OTTAWA — Kennedy MacDonald was no stranger this season around rinks in the Alex English Division.

In fact, after playing six seasons in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League, it's a wonder he hasn't applied for some type of pension.

But after toiling five seasons for the Alexandria Junior B Glens and this season for the Charlottenburgh Rebels, MacDonald concluded his junior hockey career on a high note last Wednesday night.

MacDonald leaves the junior hockey scene a winner. While there have been memorable and not-so-memorable moments for him throughout his career, he still stressed "team effort" as the main factor to the Rebels' championship.

"Six years is certainly a long time to wait for a championship. It's nice to see a team like the Rebels win the title. South Ottawa has won the championship before and it's great to see a team from Glengarry win," said MacDonald.

"The Rebels have a great organization. They have a lot of people who work hard for the club. It's just like when I played for the Glens, Gaetan Giroux (ex-Glens' manager) worked hard for the team," he added.

MacDonald says this year's Rebels' squad is one of the strongest teams he's seen in his six-year career in the league.

"It's one of the best junior teams I've ever seen in this league. We had three balanced lines and our defence was solid," said MacDonald.

He also praised the work of Daniel Brunet between the pipes.

"We didn't have Kevin Cameron and Daniel came in and did the job for us between the pipes. Dave played super for us tonight (last Wednesday night). It was a team effort from everyone."

MacDonald joined the Rebels last December after the Alexandria Glens showed little interest in the veteran.

"I wouldn't have played for any other club in the league for the sake of playing and finishing my career," he said. "I know most of the players with the Rebels and the first night I walked into the dressing room they made me feel at home. The players accepted me right away," said MacDonald.

MacDonald has always been one of the top scorers in the league. But although he still enjoyed a good season offensively, considering he missed the first two months of the campaign, he played a different role with the Rebels.

On the powerplay, he was used to screen the goaler and he used his strength to jockey for position with opposing defencemen.

"Everyone had a job to do on the powerplay. Frank (Sinfield) had good wheels and he could score around the net. We filled the net a lot on our powerplay. On the powerplay everyone had a role."

While the Rebels won the championship in five games, MacDonald knew it would be a tough series.

"South Ottawa has always had good clubs. They've been in the final before and they know what winning is all about. The Rebels have a lot of dedicated fans, just like the Glens, and it was great winning the championship for them," said MacDonald.

Not once, but twice for Brunet on championship clubs

by Peter Conway

OTTAWA—Some junior players go through three or four seasons without winning a championship.

But Daniel Brunet has had a junior hockey career most people can only dream about.

Last Wednesday night as the Charlottenburgh Rebels skated off with the Eastern Ontario Junior B championship, it was Brunet's second title in three seasons of junior hockey.

Two years ago, Brunet backstopped the Alexandria Junior C Glens to the Eastern Ontario Junior C championship.

"Not bad eh?," said Brunet, with a grin, caught up in the post-game celebrations. "Two championships in three years is a great feeling."

Although he cherishes his first championship with the Alexandria Junior C Glens, nothing can match the feeling of winning the title with the Rebels.

"I always followed the Junior B Glens in this league when I was young. It was nice to win the Junior C title, but the Junior B title is more prestigious," said Brunet.

Brunet was asked to play for the Rebels in the playoffs after Kevin Cameron found out he had mononucleosis. Brunet played most of the playoffs between the pipes and was replaced on a couple of occasions by Dave Carmody.

"I'm so thankful Ken (MacDonald) and John (Chafee) asked me to play for the Rebels. They could have asked a lot of other goalers. The Rebels are a first-class organization on and off the ice," said Brunet.

Brunet said he never played with such a talented club as this year's Rebels' edition.

"I've never played with such an awesome club. There was a couple of close games in the series, but I thought we dominated them. South Ottawa had a good team and we had to play well to beat them."

Boxing Day tourney turned season around for champs

SPORTS

Peter Conway

Charlottenburgh Rebels' officials won't say it, but they had high hopes for the club when the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League season opened last October.

Manager John Chafee and Coach Ken MacDonald had good reason to be optimistic about the club's chances of winning a pennant in the Alex English Division.

The Rebels had a veteran club and there didn't appear to be any weak links on this club, which had been bounced early the previous playoff season against the Metcalfe Jets.

Ken MacDonald's club battled defending champion Navan Grads most of the campaign for first place in the seven-team loop. But, perhaps what got the Rebels finally over the hump towards top spot was the Boxing Day tournament in Ottawa, which saw the Rebels humiliate Navan in the championship game.

It seemed that no matter how hard or well the Rebels played Navan in the past, they always came up short against the Grads.

Winning the Boxing Day tourney, however, gave the Rebels a much-needed shot in the arm—a confidence booster. The players finally realized they could beat the Grads. The Rebels carried that momentum into the second half of the schedule en route to winning top spot.

There are some spectators around the league who sarcastically say, the club should have been called the Cornwall Rebels, because of the number of players on the roster from the Seaway city.

But, there were no less than nine home-grown players in the victory skate last Wednesday night when the club captured its first ever Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League championship over the South Ottawa Canadians.

Sure, the rest of the roster was made up of Cornwall talent. But, guys like Don Bissonnette, Kevin Renwick, Mike Lapensee and Shawn Blanchard had been with the club for three or four years. These guys had been through the rough times a few years back, when the wins were few and far between for the Rebels. These guys just didn't jump on the bandwagon this season.

While the Rebels were a powerhouse on the ice this season, they were just as strong off the ice.

Manager John Chafee, along with the remainder of the executive did a lot of work off the ice. Chafee deserves much of the credit for the club's success this season. His no-nonsense approach and business-like character enabled the club to run efficiently.

But most of all, there was excellent communication between Chafee and Coach Ken MacDonald on and off the ice.

"John did a great job managing the club," said MacDonald, following the championship clincher last Wednesday night. "I got along great with John. If I needed something, John got it for me."

For a number of these players, it was their final year in junior hockey. Going out a winner is what all hockey players dream of, but very few finish careers having won a major title.

The last Glengarry Junior B team to win a championship was the Alexandria Glens, who then lost to Brockville in a fifth and deciding game. The Glens were coached by Ken MacDonald that year.

It was only two years ago that the Junior C Glens, coached by Chris McDonell, skated off with the Eastern Ontario Junior C title.

So, all of Glengarry, whether you support the colors of the Alexandria Glens or Junior C Glens, should be proud of the Rebels' accomplishment this season.

Everyone in sports strives to be the best. There's no doubt that the Rebels were indeed, the best Junior B club the past season.

LUCKY DATE

You can't blame Daniel Brunet if the date April 23 is one he remembers the rest of his life. Brunet was a member of the Charlottenburgh Rebels in their recent championship win.

He also tended goal for the champion Alexandria Junior C Glens two years ago.

What's so special about the date? Both championships he was part of were won April 23.

GETTING SOME RESPECT

The Toronto Maple Leafs have been the laughing stock of the National Hockey League for a number of years. I'm sure there have been times over the years when Leaf fans were embarrassed to say they rooted for Harold Ballard's club.

Well no matter what happens to the Leafs tonight (Wednesday) in the seventh game with the St. Louis Blues, the Leafs have earned the respect of a lot of hockey fans.

The youthful Leafs have played with a lot of heart and desire throughout the playoffs. Leaf fans are enjoying hockey again at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Should management stick it out with the young talent, the Leafs in the near future could contend for the Stanley Cup.

Off to Winnipeg

The eighth annual meeting of the Canadian Association for Sports Heritage will be held in the Holiday Inn, at Winnipeg, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The chairman, Angus H. McDonell, of the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame will be in attendance and leaves tomorrow from Dorval Airport.

Although Glengarry County by population measurement is in no comparison to other member groups like the Canada Sports Hall of Fame and Museum, Toronto and provincial representatives, however, Glengarry has been part of this prestigious heritage organization from its beginning.

The Manitoba Hall of Fame executive will be the convention hosts. Among special events scheduled are the delegates' reception Thursday evening, the noon luncheon Friday, sponsored by Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Labatts Breweries.

A Saturday noon luncheon and the convention closing dinner that evening will be held in the Holiday Inn.

In Memoriam

PROULX—In loving memory of a dear daughter, Marcelle, who passed away July 15, 1973.
To know her was to love her
Both for family and friend,
And the sweetness of her memory
Time can neither dim nor end.
—Always remembered by parents Jean-Paul and Bernadette Leger and family and friends. 18-1p

GARREAU—In loving memory of a dear brother, Luc, who passed away on May 1, 1985.
It is hard when our loved ones have reached their day,
When they say goodbye to all;
But harder by far when they pass away
With no goodbye at all.
Could we have been there at the hour of death
To catch the last sigh of his parting breath,
His last faint whisper we might have heard,
And breathed in his ear one loving word.
—Sadly missed by sister Gisele, brother-in-law Jean and two nieces Melanie and Melissa. 18-1p

GARREAU—In loving memory of a dear son, Luc, who passed away on May 1, 1985.
One year has passed, dear son,
Since you were called away;
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day;
You suffered much, you murmured not
We cried and prayed that your life, dear son,
Would not have been taken away.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by Mom and Dad. 18-1p

RIGBY—In loving memory of a dear son Donald, who passed away April 29, 1983.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just in all his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Lovingly remembered by Mom and Dad. 18-1p

OH Holy Spirit, Thou who art all knowing, who brightens every path, that I may reach my ideal, Thou who giveth me the divine gifts of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instance of my life art with me. I like in this short dialogue to affirm gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from Thee, though the illusion of material things abound. My desire is to be with Thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine. M.W. 18-1p

HOLY Spirit, You made me see everything and show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the divine gift to forgive the wrong that is done to me and You are in all institutes of my life with me, I in the dialogue, want to thank You for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You no matter how great material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Say this prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish. After the third day your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this dialogue as soon as your favor has been granted. J.B. 18-1p

One man jailed, another fined

One man was sentenced to four months in jail and another was fined Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court after both pleaded guilty to unrelated charges of impaired driving.

Reikus Wensink, 25, of Glen Robertson, was charged Dec. 1 in Alexandria. He pleaded guilty to a third impaired driving conviction at an earlier court appearance, but had the sentence postponed to last Thursday.

Court was told Mr. Wensink was driving on Main Street in Alexandria, when a police officer followed the vehicle, suspecting a defective muffler. The vehicle continued up Main St. North, swerving on a couple of occasions.

The accused had difficulty turning on to William Street and was stopped by the officer. While walking to the police cruiser, Mr. Wensink staggered and stumbled a number of times.

Lancaster OPP administered a breathalyzer test and his readings were 205 and 200 mgs. of alcohol in 100 mls. of blood.

The accused's licence was also suspended for three years.

Marcel Richard, 42, of Maxville, was charged April 11 in Kenyon Township.

While a police officer was travelling on Athol Road, near Maxville, he observed an eastbound vehicle swaying back and forth.

The officer stopped the vehicle. The driver's speech was slurred and an alcoholic odor came from the man, police said.

The accused was taken to Maxville OPP for a breathalyzer test.

HYDROSTATIC DIESEL LAWN & GARDEN TRACTOR.

The top of Kubota's line of diesel lawn and garden tractors is the G5200 with its 3 cylinder 14 hp engine that runs smooth and quiet.
Its hydrostatic transmission provides ease of operation with one foot pedal control for forward and reverse, as well as speed. Maneuvering around trees and bushes is no problem.
The mower is operated off the front drive shaft, not by a belt system. This eliminates the mower belt related problems of many lawn and garden tractors. Other implements and attachments will put this machine to work all year tilling, snow clearing, and towing.

Available in 10, 12 and 14 h.p.
