Next Year's Holidays

The year 1911 will be perculiar because it will open on a Sunday and will close on a Sunday. It will also have its chief holidays, either the day before or the day after a Sunday. New Year's day will, of course, be celebrated on the Monday. Dominion Day will fall on a Saturday giving the benefit of the Sunday as an additional holiday, and as Christmas will be celebrated on a Monday, there also the workers will get an extra day's holidays. So that with Civic Holiday, Labor day and Thanksgiving Day all falling on a Monday it looks like a good year for the railways with their week end excursions.

A Liquor Case

John Fawcett, of South Mountain, appeared before Justice Bow, on Monday charged with selling liquor in a local option municipality on the 17th and 18th of September. Five witnesses were called, all of whom swore that they did not secure any liquor from Fawcett on the dates named. nor for thirty days following. In fact, most of the witnesses said they had scarcely seen Fawcett since he came back from the West. The case was dismissed. The witnesses were all quite indignant at being brought up and subjected to inconvenience with no grounds, as they alleged for being called.—Press.

You will get excellent wear, fashionable shape, comfortable fit, and reasonable priced Shoes, at The Shoe Store.

Races At Winchester.

The weather previous to the Thanksgiving Day was rather unpleasant and considerable rain fell so much so, that many of those who intended taking in the days races at Winchester did not attend, thus the crowd was rather small, but the day proved to be favorable, and two events were pulled off. The following is the result:—

Little Boy Burned To Death.

His seven year old son burned to death and the loss of his great barns, together with the season's crops and farming equipment, valued at $8,000, was the Thanksgiving Day loss suffered by Richard Justus, a prominent farmer, near Winchester.

The fire broke out in the morning. It was not known that the little boy was in the barn at the time, and he was not missed immediately, when the flames had entirely consumed the barns, the child's charred remains were found near one of the horses, in the stable where he had perished. It was evident he had been forcing his way to an exit, but was overcome by the flames.

No reason is known for the fire. It may have been that the child was playing with matches. But this has not been determined, all the season's crops were consumed with the fire. Several valuable horses and twenty pigs were also burned.

Fatal Shooting At Heckston

Mr. Pringle Smith of Heckston, near Kemptville, was accidently shot on Monday and died half an hour afterwards. He was a young man 27 years of age and was entertaining Mr. Albert E. Bullman a gasfitter living on Holland avenue of Ottawa. The two were out in the woods on Mr. Smith's farm hunting during the day and as they were returning in the afternoon they noticed a black squirrel about 60 yards from Mr. Smith's house. Mr. Smith handed the shotgun to Mr. Bullman telling him to shoot it while Mr. Smith kept track of the squirrel. When Mr. Bullman, after putting in the cartridges, closed up the gun, the firing pin must have struck the cap and the cartridgee exploded. Mr. Smith intent on watching the squirrel wandered in front of the gun just as the explosion took place and recieved the entire charge of shot in his side. He fell to the ground and Mr. Bullman carried him to the house and medical aid was summoned However it arrived too late for the unfortinute man died before the physician could drive 7 miles to his assistance. Before his death he told his mother that the shooting had been entirely accidental

Dr. Jones, the coroner, arrived shortly afterwards and after inquiring into the particulars of the accident decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Mr. Smith was unmarried and the only son of a widowed mother, who is prostrated with grief. The funeral was held on Wednesday at 1 p. m. from the family residence to North Gower.

Thanksgiving Concert

The general belief is that Thanksgiving ought to be a good time for the holding of a concert, but there seemed to be so many other attractions of a private nature, that the concert that was billed by Miss E. Maud Deeks was not as well patronized as it might have been in the Music Hall on Monday evening. Those taking part were Miss Deeks, of Ottawa, and formerly of this place; Miss Margaret E. Cross, of Ottawa, and Mr. W. Gaspard Arbique, of Otttawa.

The first on the program was Miss Deeks in a piano instrumental. She appeared to be master of the situation and pleased the audience so well that she was loudly encored to which she kindly responded. Her many friends in this district, no doubt, will be pleased to know of her accomplishments.

Miss Cross was the next to appear with her violin, and with the first number she certainly captured the audience. It is stated that you cannot get too much of a good thing, and in this instance it seemed to be the case for she was called and recalled, to which she made acknowledgments each time. We can assure Miss Cross, should she ever visit our town again, she will be warmly welcomed.

Mr. Arbique, tenor soloist, made his appearance. He has a sweet but not very strong voice, and although he was suffering from a cold, he executed his selections to very good effect.

The program, as a whole, seemed to please the audience.

The C. P. R. will build a big modern hotel in Calgary.

Must Carry out Contract or Pay the Penalty

Twenty years ago a man took out a policy in a life insurance company relying upon the statement of an agent that profits would amount to a certain sum in twenty years. The twenty years have passed and the man is looking for the promised profits which are not forthcoming. The matter was brought into the courts and a few days ago Hon. Justice Latchford gave out his decision in the case, which was to the effect that as the company had not carried out its contract the insured was to receive back all his payments with compound interest to date.

SAVED FROM THE KNIFE

Appendicitis Cured By "Fruit-a-tives"

NEWBURGH, ONT., Feb. 12th. 1910.

'Just about a year ago, our daughter Ella, (fourteen years), was taken with terrible pains in the right side. The pain was so severe that we had to carry her to bed. We at once put her under the care of a first-class doctor, who pronounced it a case of Appendicitis and advised an operation.

We took her to a hospital in Kingston where she was again examined by an eminent specialist. He said she had Appendicitis and must be operated on at once if we wanted to save her life. As we had taken her to Kingston to have this done, we were ready, but our daughter was afraid and cried and begged so pitifully, that we postponed it for that day. Luckily for us and for her an uncle came in with some 'Fruit-a-tives' and insisted on Ella taking them. Good results were apparent almost from the first dose, and the continuous treatment cured her.

'Fruit-a-tives' saved our daughter from the surgeon's knife and to-day she is enjoying the best of health."

J. W. FOX, (Father).
LILLIAN FOX, (Mother).

Words cannot express the gratitude of Mr. and Mrs. Fox, And Miss Ella will always remember "Fruit-a-tives"—the discovery of an eminent physician, and the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Mr. James O'Neil Jr., left on Monday for Ottawa where he intends to spend some time.

Mrs. Hugh Carr entertained a large number of young people at her home on Tuesday evening.

Mr. G. L. McLeau Reeve of this Village attended the Counties' Council at Cornwall last week.

Mr. A. L. McLean and Master Basil Crawford spent Sunday with friends in Lunenburg and Dixon.

Misses Catherine Rutley and Maggie Flemming left on Tuesday for Ottawa where they have secured positions for the winter.

The annual Thank-offering of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of Finch, was held in St. Luke's Church on Wednesday evening October the 26th. The chair was occupied by Rev. W. D. Bell, pastor of the congregation. Missionary addresses were delivered by Rev. D. Stewart of Alexandria, and Rev. Mr. McPhee of Avonmore. Mr. Stewart spoke on "The Development of China," and contrasted conditions in Canada with what we find in China to-day. He said the development which has taken place during the past ten years in these countries is most remarked, and the Christian church must keep pace with the material development if these nations are to be won for Christ. Mr. McPhee in a very fervent appeal, urged the people to come to the aid of the W. F. M. S. and make the society a power in the life of the congregation and a means of doing much to send the gospel to the heathen world, The musical portion of the programme was furnished by Mr. John Hudson and the choir. The offering amounted to over $80.00.

NOW SOLD IN CANADA

In Less Than Three Years, Parisian Sage, the Splendid Hair Tonic, is Sold All Over Canada.

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of Parisian Sage in Canada during the past three years.

And the reason is plain to all Parisian Sage does just what it is advertised to do.

Ask W. G. Bolster about it, he will tell you that he rigidly guarantees it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

There is no reason whatever why any man or woman should fail to take advantage of the above generous offer.

But one thing that has made Parisian Sage so famous is its peculiar power to turn harsh, unattractive hair that many women posses into luxuriant and radient hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and is never disappointed.

Sold everywhere, and in Chesterville by W. G. Bolster for 50 cents a large bottle.

Heavy Damages.

At the session of High Court which opened in Ottawa yesterday the most important of the twelve cases entered is that of Thomas Hunt against the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. for $50.000 for the death of his wife who was killed by a C. P. R. train at Osgoode Station crossing on Dec. 17th. last year. The claim against the Comany is that the accident occured through neglect on the part of the officials who are charged with failing to ring the bell or to sound the whistle.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Chesterville People.

Too many Chesterville citizens are handcapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest, and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick Kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Chesterville's evidence?

Jacob, Beckstead of Water St., Chesterville, Ont. says:

For years I had been a sufferer with kidney and bladder trouble and found no relief in anything until on advice of our druggist Mr. Bolster I used Booths Kidney Pills. They have cured me and there is not the slighest sign of the disease after using only three boxes The urinary disorders were quickly corrected and I can sleep through the night without once being disturbed. The pains have left my back, the swelling has gone from my ankles and my appetite is better than in years previous. I feel like a different man. I cannot say too much for Booths Kidney Pills, for what they did for me.

Booths Kidney Pills have also cured me of rheumatic pains in my limbs which had bothered me for years.

HYOMEI

Canadian Verse

THE HEPATICA.

By Theodore Harding Rand.

[Theodore Harding Rand was born at Cornwallis, N.S., in 1835, and has been Principal of Woodstock College and Chancellor of McMaster University. He wrote "At Minas Basin and Other Poems." The selection that follows is a fair example of his exquisite blending of nature and mysticism.]

Hail, first of the spring,
Pearly sky-tinted thing
Touched with pencil of Him
Who rollest the year!
Lo, thy aureole rim
No painter may limn—
Vision thou hast, and no fear!

Fair child of the light,
What fixes thy sight?
Wide-open thy roll
From the seal of the clod,
And thy heaven-writ scroll
Glows, beautiful soul,
With the shining of God!

Thou look'st into heaven
As surely as Stephen,
So steadfast thy will is!
And from earth's inglenook
Seest Christ of the lilies
And daffadowndillies,
And catchest His look.

And a portion is mine,
Rapt gazer divine,
From thy countenance given—
Angel bliss in thy face!
I've looked into heaven
As surely as Stephen,
From out of my place!

KILLING THE UMPIRE.

It Is an Essential Part of the Great Game of Baseball.

According to bleacher law, there are three particularly justifiable motives for doing away with umpires. An umpire may be killed—first, if he sees fit to adhere to the rules and make a decision against the home team at a close point in the game; second, an umpire may be killed if he sends a member of the home team to the bench when the player in question has done absolutely nothing but call the umpire names and attempt to bite his ear off (an umpire has no business to be touchy); third (and this is a perfect defense against the charge of murder), an umpire may be killed if he calls any batter on the home team out on strikes when the player has not even struck at the balls pitched. That the balls go straight over the plate has nothing to do with the case.

There is ample proof at hand to show that killing the umpire is a distinctively American sport. Other countries have tried baseball, but they have not tried killing the umpire. That is probably the reason why they have not waxed enthusiastic over baseball, for baseball without umpire killing is like football without girls in the grand stand. It simply can't be done. That foreign countries know nothing about our king of outdoor sports was indicated forcibly when in the fall of 1909 the Detroit team made a trip to Cuba under the management of Outfielder McIntyre. In the entire series of twelve games with the Havana and Almendares nines not one single objection was made by either the Cuban players or the silent Cuban spectators to a decision of the umpires. The Americans did not know what to think of it—until they counted up the gate receipts at the end of the series. Then they realized that in their own country it is the delight in killing the umpire rather than the pleasure in watching the game that draws the tremendous crowds through the turnstiles.—George Jean Nathan in Harper's Weekly.

For Baby's Comfort.

The baby's basket and the bassinet are things a young mother loves to have of the daintiest. The new basket, with movable parts on the order of drawers, is one of the most convenient styles. A plate warmer with metal bottom and porcelain top is useful for keeping the baby's dinner hot.

Other convenient accessories of a baby's outfit are tiny clothes racks and trees, ribbon covered coat hangers, miniature washstand sets and swinging hammocks for outdoor naps.

Advantage of Silage.

There are several points which every cow owner would do well to consider if he is to get the best milk yield and reap the greatest profits from his herd. In the first place, a cheap ration must be provided, one that can be raised on the farm; second, it must be well adapted to milk production and fed liberally.

As a rule, the greater portion of the feed can be raised at home, which always lessens the cost of production. For that reason corn silage has come to be recognized by nearly all stockmen as the most economical feed the farmer can raise.

The Asparagus Cure.

The latest is the asparagus cure taken in Switzerland. The natives find it profitable, as is the case with most cures. But then anything for an excuse to go to Switzerland.

THE COUNTIES' COUNCIL.

(From Cornwall Standard)

The closing session of the October meeting of the Counties Council was held on Friday evening last, when the generous offer made by Mr. W. A. Craig in connection with the proposed House of Industry and Refuge was accepted.

After some preliminary business the eport Special Committee re House of Industry and Refuge was presented by the chairman Mr. C. E. Cameron.

The report of the County Property Committee was presented by the Chairman Mr. Arch Denny, and was adopted without amendment. Its recommendations included the following:—That R. J. Dillon, Registrar for Dundas County be paid $55,50 as caretaker's fees for the office in place $117.00 asked for. Mr. Dillon's claim was for thirty-nine months from July 10, 1907, to Oct. 10th, 1909, at $3.00 per month, and asking $4.00 a month for the future. The committee decided that he was not entitled to anything for caretaking and cleaning prior to Sept. 1, 1910, as the Council were only liable from April 1907 for "heating" lighting and ventilation" Electric light is furnished and paid for by Council; ventilation is nil, and heating unnecessary in summer for five months at least so that the Council is only liable for making of fires for seven months of each of three years, and for cleaning for one month to Oct. 1. The committee further recommended that the Registrar be paid $3.00 per month the year round for these services, the same as paid at the Stormont office in Cornwall, that Messrs. Casselman and Gibson be authorized to procure someone to do the work at a renumeration not to exceed $36.00 per year. Other recommendations of the committee were the repairing of the gutters and the roof of the Counties' buildings, the repairing of the North-East corner of the Court room; the installation of two Pullman Automatic ventilators at a cost not to exceed $35.00 in all in the windows of Judge O'Reilly's office, and the purchase of 50 tons of egg coal and 20 tons of thereabouts of stove and chestnut coal from A. F. Mulhern & Co. The coal tenders received were W. C. McGuire $7.23; J. E. Chevrier. $7.20, and A. F. Mulhern & Co. $7.20. Another recommendation was that a hot water spstem and Gurney furnace be placed in the Glengarry Registry Office, tenders for the work to be asked from the plumber of Alexandria and Cornwall. In the jail the committee had found three male prisoners, confined on short terms. The physical condition of one of these is such that he should be in a hospital, instead of in prison on a charge of vagrancy for which he was sent dowu for four months. The chairman of the committee was anthorized to take the necessary steps to secure this man's removal to one of the hospitals, as it is contrary to regulations to have a sick or infirm person confined in jail as a vagrant merely. The Clerk was also authorized to procure 20 and 30 cords of stone for the jail yard this fall.

Finance Report.

The report of the Finance Committee was presented by the Chairman, Mr. John McQuaig, and adopted unanimously It recommended the payment of accounts as per schedule as $3918.25 as follows:—

|---|---|
| Printing, advertising and stationery | $ 194 30 |

| Industrial Schools | 81 79 |
| Miscellaneous | 161 35 |
| Lunatic refund | 327 55 |
| Total | $3,918 15 |

Other recommendations of the committee were;—

That the account of Fulton Bros., of Chesterville, for $36.20 part of expenses in pursuing, capturing and convicting a horse thief named Seymour or Hamilton, who had stolen their horse and killed it by overdriving be left over until the next session to permit them to make application for the statutory reward of $20, and thereby reduce their account.

That the following free licenses be granted after the expiration of present licenses :—Auctioneer's license for Glengarry to Lemuel D. Bathurst, of Glen Robertson ; a one-horse pedlar's license to Oscar Markell, Northfield.

That the Treasurer refund $11 to Fabian Dupuis, of St. Raphaels, for unexpired portion of his license.

That the usual grant of $100 be made to the 59th Regiment to assist in providing military outfit and camp comforts, etc.

To enable the Treasurer to meet the large expenditure required for schools on Dec. 15, without having recourse to further borrowing, that each municipality make an effort to remit their county rates in whole or part before that date.

Roads and Bridges

The report of the roads and bridges committee was adopted without amendment. In brief, its recommendations were as follows :—The adoption of the progress report of the Commissioner on the River de Lisle county boundary bridge ; that as 11 municipalities had reported adversely towards the proposed amendments to the municipal act introduced by Mr. Hoyle, giving County Councils exclusive jurisdiction and making them responsible for the cost of construction of all bridges over 50 feet in length, and other amendments of a similar nature, and only 1 municipality has reported favorably, that the Clerk notify Mr. Wilkinson, law clerk, public and private bills, Toronto, advising him of the result, and that this Council considers the proposed amendments unnecessary and inadvisable ; that Thos. H. Dunn, of Winchester, be appointed to complete the survey of boundary line between Osnabruck and Cornwall townships, vice Geo. L. Brown, Morrisburg, resigned.

Genera. Business

The report of the committee on communications was presented by the chairman, Mr. Sangster.

The committee reported that the only matters referred to them were purely formal acknowledgments and required no recommendations.

The Warden, at this juncture, introduced J. W. Crewson, the newly appointed Public School Inspector for Glengarry, who took advantage of the occasion to thank the Council for the honor of his appointment, and expressed the hope that he might prove worthy of their confidence.

A resolution was passed requesting the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines (Surveys Branch), to appoint T. H. Dunn to survey the Cornwall and Osnabruck Township bonndary.

The following by-laws were passed :—No. 1563 for the payment of orders and accounts ; No 1594 to grant $100 to the 59th Regiment.

Upon motion of Mr. Cameron and Mr. Hamilton, the Warden vacated the chair, which was taken by G. L. McLean, the Reeve of Finch Village, who thanked the Council for the honor done him in the selection and hoped to see them all returned next year.

Messrs. Cameron and Groves moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring Warden, Murdock McRae, for the very able, efficient and impartial manner in which he has dischaaged his duties. Both mover and seconder, along with Messrs. Cain, Casselman, Hamilton, Denny and Welsh, spoke in most complimentary terms of the Warden's fair and impartial administration of his office. He had given no cause for complaint or unfairness, although his rulings were generally lenient. This resolution was carried by a standing vote, the members singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The Chairman then tendered the resolution to the retiring Warden, adding his own praise, and corroborating its sentiments.

Mr. McRae, who was visibly touched, replied briefly but feelingly. He said he was at a loss for words to express his appreciation of the kind expressions for this and the previous evening. He had found his duties easy by reason of the upright and honorable deportment of the members, whom he assured he would always remember with the most kindly feeling.

A resolution was passed conveying the customary vote of thanks to the County officials. This was spoken to by several members and briefly replied to.

After singing the National Anthem the Council rose.

NOISE OF THUNDER.

Due to Heating of Gases Along the Line of Electric Discharge.

To Professor Trowbridge we owe an experiment to explain the noise of thunder. It has usually been thought that the noise is caused by the closing up of the vacuum created by the passage of lightning, the air rushing in from all sides with a clap, but the intensity of the noise is rather disproportionate, and it is now supposed that the thunder is due to the intense heating of the gases, especially the gas of water vapor along the line of the electric discharge, and the consequent conversion of suspended moisture into steam at enormous pressure.

In this way the crackle with which a peal of thunder sometimes begins might be regarded as the sound of steam explosions on a small scale, caused by inductive discharges before the main flash. The rumble would be the overlapping steam explosions, and the final clap, which soundest loudest, would be the steam explosion nearest to the auditor. In the case of rumbling thunder the lightning is passing from cloud to cloud. When the flash passes from the earth to the clouds the clap is loudest at the beginning.

Professor Trowbridge gave substance to these suppositions by causing electric flashes to pass from point to point through terminals clothed in soaked cotton wool, and he succeeded in magnifying the crack of the electric spark to a terrifying extent.—London Graphic.

THE BIG DIPPER.

It is the Hour Hand of the Woodman's Celestial Clock.

The pole star is really the most important of the stars in our sky. It marks the north at all times. It alone is fixed in the heavens. All the other stars seem to swing around it once in twenty-four hours.

But the pole star of Polaris is not a very bright one, and it would be hard to identify but for the help of the so called pointers in the "Big Dipper," or "Great Bear." The outer rim of the dipper points nearly to Polaris at a distance equal to three times the space that separates the two stars of the dipper's outer side. Various Indians called the pole star the "Home Star" and the "Star That Never Moves," and the dipper they call the "Broken Back." The "Great Bear" is also to be remembered as the pointers for another reason. It is the hour hand of the woodman's clock. It goes once around the north star in about twenty-four hours, the reverse way of the hands of a watch—that is, it goes the same way as the sun—and for the same reason—that it is the earth that is going and leaving them behind.—Country Life in America.

A Blow Arrested.

An organist who on the eve of a festival was taken suddenly ill secured a deputy to take his place. The deputy, on the authority of St. James' Budget, was a gentleman who played a very full organ, playing full chords where his principal played only single notes, and consequently using a much larger quantity of wind.

When about three parts through with the "Hallelujah Chorus" the wind suddenly gave out. Going round to the back of the organ to ascertain the reason, the deputy found the blower in the act of putting on his coat preparatory to going home.

"What do you mean by such behavior?" the deputy angrily expostulated.

"Look here, sir," the blower returned with warmth, "if you think I don't know 'ow many puffs it takes to blow the 'Allelujah Chorus' you make a big mistake!"

Helped the Thief.

"A simple, honest Scotch farmer had taken a sack of meal to dispose of in Aberdeen castle market," says Mrs. Mayo in her "Recollections of Fifty Years." "It was in the days when people were hanged for any petty theft, and an execution was in progress, the culprit being a sheep stealer. The worthy countryman stood aghast when a stranger bustled up with the question:

"'What's a-do?'

"'A hanging,' said the other, awed, 'for stealing a sheep.'

"'Eh, what won't folks risk for gear!' cried the stranger. 'Will ye just give me a hand up with this sack?'

"The farmer promptly complied. It was only afterward that he discovered he had helped a thief to make off with the sack of meal he had brought to sell!"

Force of an Oil Well.

Oil has been ejected from the Baku wells with such force and accompanied with so much sand that steel blocks twelve inches thick placed over the mouth of the well to deflect the flow were perforated in a few hours and had to be replaced. The casing with which the wells were lined was often torn to shreds and eventually collapsed, and hundreds of thousands of tons of sand which accumulated in the vicinity necessitated the services of large bodies of workmen.—London Mail.

Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. ### $2000.00 In Prizes

The thousands of visitors who admired the magnificent collection of horses at the last winter show in Ottawa would not be surprised at the showing if they know of the large prizes offered in this department. The financial inducements are sufficient to make it worth while for exhibitors to bring out the best horses in the Province fitted to perfect show condition.

Classes are provided for Clydesdale, Shires, Hackneys, Thoroughbreds, Standard-Breds, Hunters, Ponies and Heavy-Draught Horses. In revising the list for the coming Show, which will be held in Ottawa, January 16-20, 1911, the Executive Committee added about $500.00 to the prizes for horses bringing the total amount up to $2000.00. The additional prizes were placed principally on breeders and emphasing the fact that this is not a fancy horse show but one for the breeders where they may show their horses without any equipment other than a halter and line.

A special prize which will attract a great deal of attention is one of $20.00 cash donated by Mr. Ambrose O'Brien, Renfrew, for the best 10 pure-bred horses, owned by exhibitor but not necessarily of the same breed. The complete prize list which also includes large prizes for Beef and Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Seeds and Poultry may be secured on application to D. T. Elderkin, Secretary, Ottawa.

Morrisburg's Hospital and Health Resort

This institution, so admirably situated in this picturesque town on the banks of the beautiful St. Lawrence river, forms an ideal spot for those desiring rest or treatment. For here the beauty of the scenery the quietness and the freshness and pureness of the air all combine to give the patient the best opportunity for rapid recovery.

The formal opening took place on Monday and the public were invited to pay a visit of inspection. A representative of The Herald was among the hundreds who took advantage of the invitation and had the pleasure of being ushered through the entire building and having the different machines and appliances explained by Dr. Chamberlain.

The doctor and his staff of eight or ten were kept extremely busy receiving their guests and demonstrating and explainig the uses of the different machines.

The large residence had been practically closed for years, but the careful observer could see that the entire building was completely renovated and most elaborately furnished throughout and that it had been newly supplied with the most modern system of heating, lighting ventilation and water supply. It would be hard to convince any of the visitors that architects could plan a building more suited for a sanitarium or that there could be found any place else so perfectly combining all the necessities and luxuries of an up-to-date hospital and the most home-like cosiness that was so evident wherever one might gaze. But all this did not happen by chance, for we all know that Dr. Chamberlain was for eighteen years inspector of all public hospitals in Ontario and no doubt it was the experience gained while performing his public duties that enables him to so perfectly plan for the treatment and comfort of his patients.

One of the attractive features of the building is the sun parlor. The medical profession has for years recognized sunshine as an important factor in the treatment of the disease and here we find that every arrangement is made to take advantage of the curative powers of the sun's heat and light.

The operating room which Dr. Chamberlain promised would be a featnre of the hospital when completely equipped in the most modern and costly manner and is not to be excelled in any city hospital in Canada. The operating table, for convenience, is placed in the middle of the room and for sanitary reasons is made almost of silver and glass.

Among the machines shown to him which the writer is able to recall are the appliances for the treatment of disease by superheated air, the static machine for the development of theropeutric electricity, the X-rays machine which in a short time has gained such a world-wide reputation and is used to great adadvantage in many cases of surgery, the ozone jars, the vibrator and the instruments for producing ultra violet light rays for the treatment of cancers and kinderd diseases. We under stand that an illustrated booklet will shortly be issued explaining all these machines and advertising the hospital, which will have at the same time the effect of advertising Morrisburg.

The demonstration of the static machine given by the superintendent, who is a graduate in electric-theropeutric work, was greatly appreciated by the visitors, while Dr. Chamberlain explained fully in a conversational way the use which is made of the different appliances in the treatment and cure of disease

Weeks previous to the opening many private patients from a distance received treatment, as well as a number residing in town.

Nothing but the greatest praise was heard from the lips of the patients and visitors to the institution on that day, and the citizens of Morrisburg certainly should congratulate themselves upon having in their own town an operating room in all respects as good as any in our cities; and an institution which for its size and kind is the best equipped and most up-to-date in Canada, if not in the world.—Herald.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

How Some Men Have Succeeded on the Farm.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

THERE are many millionaire farmers, but most of them have made their millions elsewhere and are spending them on rural estates merely to gratify a fancy. There are a number of men, however, who have made millions on the farm. It is not such an easy thing to do, but the success of these men shows some of the possibilities that the farm holds for the man who desires to make money in large amounts.

Probably the most notable of the men who have made fortunes on the farm is David Rankin. When David Rankin was married he handed the preacher his last five dollar bill with the remark that now he could start square with the world. He bought land on time and borrowed money to buy cattle. His first purchases were in Illinois. Later he removed to Missouri, attracted by the cheap prairie land that needed only a little drainage to make it yield abundantly. Today David Rankin owns nearly 26,000 acres of this same Missouri land, and it would all sell for $100 an acre. Add to this his cattle and horses and machinery and a few incidentals, such as bank stock and the like, and he has a fortune approximating $4,000,000. This has all been made in farming. Corn has been his specialty, and it has always been marketed in the form of cattle. He has always used the most modern machinery and the best equipment that money can buy. It has been the same with help. His foremen are men who can get results. He furnishes them with automobiles to take them from farm to farm because he has found that it pays in the time saved. He attributes his success to close personal attention and the application of business methods to farming.

Another man who has made millions in farming is Colonel James M. Smith of Georgia. Colonel Smith started raising corn and cotton on a rundown quarter section in Oglethorpe county soon after the war. The first year he lost $400. Last year his net profits were $100,000. In the meantime his farm has increased to 23,000 acres. Colonel Smith was one of the first men to build cottonseed oil mills and make a profit from what formerly had been a waste product. His farm was twenty-five miles from the nearest railroad, but he solved the problem by building a railroad of his own. He has always been a personal friend of all his men, white and black alike. He has provided well equipped schools for both the negro and the white children of his employees. Unlike David Rankin, who never had even a common school education, Colonel Smith is a college graduate. He learned to handle men in the army, and he applied the same organization to his farm work with great results.

Colonel Smith's success has demonstrated what can be done on the farm land of the south. One of his 200 acre farms a year ago yielded 4,800 bushels of wheat and 200 bales of cotton. The wheat sold for $1 a bushel and the cotton for $50 a bale, making a total income from the farm of $14,800. After taking out the expenses there was a net profit of $51 an acre. This might well make even a Mississippi valley farmer envious.

The west has been heralded as the land of opportunity. In the early days, when land could be had almost for the asking and the cattle business was at its best, a young man of the name of Henry Miller started out to make a fortune in the ranch business. Today he is worth $20,000,000. He once announced that he hoped some day to own the whole state of California. In this he did not succeed, although his holdings in California amount to 600,000 acres. He also has large tracts of land in Nevada and Oregon.

The ranch business is on the decline in the west, and what was once one man's cattle ranch is now being cut up to make farms for the hundreds of thousands of land hungry settlers who are pouring into what is still "the land of opportunity." About twenty years ago an Iowa farmer sold a half section of land, paid his debts, and, with seven or eight thousand dollars in cash, a wife and four children, started for Arizona. He located in the Salt river valley, bought as much of the cheap land as his money would pay for and set out to learn irrigation farming. He learned it well and made money. The surplus went to buy more land. He joined the Water Users' association and was influential in getting congress to start the Salt river irrigation project. Government irrigation insured permanent prosperity for the Salt river valley, and today this pioneer farmer who set out to make a fortune in "the great American desert" is worth more than $200,000.

Success in the irrigated districts is not necessarily measured in extensive farms and large bank accounts. A few years ago a locomotive engineer, sixty years old and broken in health, moved from Minneapolis to the state of Washington. He bought an acre of irrigated land, paying $1,400 for it. It contained an apple orchard in poor condition, a house and a few dilapidated outbuildings. The purchase of the land took nearly all the old engineer's savings. He pruned the old apple trees and set out thirty new ones. He sold off a few mongrel chickens that were on the place and bought a pure bred rooster and three hens. After the first year's expenses were paid he had enough money left to put on many improvements. The next year he put money in the bank, and the year after. So well did the acre produce that at the Lewis and Clark exposition at Portland in 1905 it was awarded the prize for the second most productive and best managed farm in the west.

It is instances like this that really show the possibilities of the farm for the average man. Few men can become great cattle kings, and not many can repeat the success of David Rankin or Colonel Smith. But the success of the old engineer on his one acre of irrigated farm land ought not to be so hard to duplicate.

There are men who say land is so high that there is little chance for the man with small capital to get a start. Notwithstanding this more young men are buying farms every year. A dozen years or so ago a young German who had been working by the day in northern Iowa decided to get married. After the ceremony his chief possessions, in addition to a capable wife, were a horse and buggy and $150 in cash. He rented a farm and bought a grade Percheron mare. The prices he received for his first few colts opened his eyes to the profits of the horse business. He bought some more mares, pure breds this time. He made money from the start and has nearly enough money laid by to buy and pay for the farm he has been working.

Another young farmer in northern Iowa went into the dairy business six or seven years ago. Dairying was rather a new thing in his part of the country then. Most farmers preferred to raise corn, where they could do most of the work by machinery. Much of the land at that time was badly in need of drainage and was better suited to pasture than to corn growing. A few wet seasons reduced the profits of the corn growers almost to the vanishing point. The young fellow who had put his faith in dairy cows jingled milk pails and put money in the bank. After a few years of milking he bought the farm he was working and paid half cash. The mortgage cannot last long in the face of a prospering dairy business.

DAVID RANKIN OF TARKIO, MO., WHO HAS MADE MILLIONS BY FARMING.

The average farmer of the middle west doesn't like to think of farming anything less than a quarter section. An eighty or a forty he considers rather "small business." Nevertheless there are many advantages in the smaller farms. The hired help problem is solved, for the owner can do all the work himself. It is much easier for a man with limited capital to buy a small farm, and the cost of stocking and equipping is less.

C. E. Beadle of Nebraska is one of the corn belt farmers who is making a living on forty acres of land. His average net income is $800 a year. He has a very comfortable house. To rent such a house in the city and live as well there as he and his family do on the farm would cost him $1,500 a year. Considered in that light, his little farm is really paying him a salary of $2,300 a year.

In the east the greatest opportunities are in truck farming. Only a few acres are required, and the returns are large. A certain truck farmer in the vicinity of Boston is making a small fortune on ten acres of ground. He has intensive cultivation down to a science. No sooner is one plant taken from the soil than another is ready to take its place. He has part of his truck farm under glass, so that he can grow crops in winter as well as in summer. Last year his net profits were $1,000 per acre.

On a Hunt For Himself.

Mr. Rodolphe Forget, M.P., the well-known Montreal financier, is telling a story of Murray Williams, the financial editor of The Star of that city, which is convulsing St. Francis Xavier street. Mr. Williams came over from Liverpool recently on the Laurentic, on which Chief Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, was traveling in order to reach Father Point ahead of the Montrose, which had on board Dr. Crippen and Miss Le Neve. No one but Captain Hayes, of the big White Star liner, knew that the quiet unassuming man who joined heartily in the deck games and saloon concerts was the well-known London sleuth. Naturally the conversation of the passengers frequently turned to the crime which had set England by the ears, and the Liverpool papers which came on board the day the Laurentic sailed intimated that Inspector Dew was to be a passenger. There was much speculation as to which passenger was the Scotland Yard man, and Mr. Forget says that Mr. Williams was quite unaware that his stateroom mate was the well-known detective.

One day when bridge had palled and there was not enough energy in the smoking-room to get up a pool on the day's run, Murray Williams said to Hurst, his room mate, "Say, old man, let's go all through the ship and try and find that fellow Dew."

And for two hours after that Inspector Dew engaged in an exciting hunt to find himself.

Looks Bad For Lizzie.

The Elk Lake Prospector of a recent day contains the following advertisement:—

WARNING!

Miss Lizzie McKinley is warned that in future she must take her company to home or some place other than my house and opening same by making an entrance through the window, which is virtually house-breaking, nor to bother the neighbors by asking for food to refresh her company. Some of my clothes were seen in her possession and if she is in need of clothes she is requested to come and ask for them.

Should this outrage again occur, action will be taken.

Mrs. J. H. McKinley.

Given His Choice.

A man who had been pressed into carrying golf clubs and knew absolutely nothing about the game was asked by his employer:

"What should I take for this shot—an iron, mashie or cleek?"

"Any you like, sir," was the reply—"any you like. They all belong to you."—Tit-Bits.

The Fate of Genius.

"Sir," began the poet impressively, "I am seeking an outlet for my pen.

"Have you ever tried the kitchen sink?" asked the busy editor as he blue penciled all but one paragraph of a column story turned in by a cub reporter.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Socially Inclined.

"Your number," said the warden to the prisoner, "is 390."

"I soi, gov'nor, can't you put me in de 400?"

Working the Boys.

"I can't get my boy to do anything around the house."

"We have settled that problem. My son runs errands for my neighbor, and her boy runs errands for me."—Kansas City Journal.

LOTTERY IN ITALY

Gambling Under the Auspices of the Government.

THE DRAWING IN PUBLIC.

An Eager, Excited, Turbulent Crowd Watches This Ceremony With Intense Interest—The Prizes and the Chances of the Players.

King Humbert I. made the rules for the public lottery of Italy:

First.—The public lottery is temporarily maintained by the favor of the state under the following laws.

Second.—It is administered by the minister of finance, under whom the chiefs are chosen for their respective functions.

Third.—The lotto is formed by ninety, numbered from 1 to 90, inclusive, five of which drawn by chance determine the successful.

Fourth.—One can "play the lotto" in the following manner:

On one number (very rarely played).

On all five numbers (very rarely played).

On two numbers—the "ambo."

On three numbers, which is known as the "terno."

On four numbers, which is known as the "quaterno."

Fifth.—When one number is played the winner is paid ten times and a half his output; when two numbers are played the winner is paid 350 times his output; when three numbers are played the winner is paid 5,250 times his output; when four numbers are played the winner is paid 60,000 times his output. Therefore if one has by any chance bought a No. 1 ticket and wins the four numbers (quaterno) he wins $60,000.

At 5 o'clock on every Saturday afternoon throughout all Italy the drawing of the lotto takes place. In Naples the ceremony is held at the end of a foul, filthy alley known as the Impresa, back in a great courtyard, in full view of the people on the balcony of an old palace. From early in the afternoon until the fatal hour the streets of Santa Chiara and the alley fill up with the crowd whose hope on this day is to be deceived. The streets are always so full of life that for this extra crowd, jostling, pushing and eager, there would seem to be no place. It is comprised of the very poor. The better classes watch for the telephone or the showing of the numbers in the various banks in the city to discover their fate, but in the Impresa the crowd of people is as dense as a shadow. There are many here who have paid their last cent for a ticket. There are many here who are in debt for the shoes they wear and will never be able to pay for them. But at the stroke of the church clock the blinds of the balcony open and the paraphernalia of the lotto are brought out—a long green table, on which is placed a crystal ball bound with silver, and an iron box containing ninety other little boxes, in which the ninety numbers are locked by the state. The officers of this performance are coolly indifferent, and the only figure deserving of note is that of the little orphan child, dressed in snowy white, chosen by law from the orphan asylum to draw up from the crystal ball the five magic numbers.

At the sight of these familiar, looked for objects the crowd begins to cry and chant, to beseech and evoke. It begs the little orphan child to draw well. And the child in his white robe, his innocent eyes on the mass of people, looks down on the beggars with their yellow locks and on the appealing mass. One by one the balls are taken out from their sealed boxes, displayed to the people and dropped into the big bowl.

They have blindfolded the little bambino, and he stands on a chair, for he is only eight years of age and is small, in full sight of the people. The balls having been shaken around for the last time, the child puts his hand in and draws. The first number that he pulls out is called forth—"No. 5." Now, every Italian who has bought No. 5 for place has either won or lost. No one holds this number in this crowd, however, and there is a murmur—and a fresh adjuration for the child to draw well. The people who have drawn for the terno and the quaterno still have their chance. The child draws again, this time No. 47, and the holders of the terno are now the interested ones, for the next will be their last chance. The enthusiasm breaks forth again with murmurs and cries and prayers, and the quiet child before the urn in his white dress hears them and trembles, for he knows that he is menaced. Before the people there is a blackboard, and a man posts up the numbers as they are drawn—5, 47, 11, 10 and 80. And this series of five is discussed, yelled at, challenged, cursed, for not one in the crowd has drawn a fortunate number. The child's eyes are unbound, and he is put down and set free. The balls are returned into their boxes sealed up and carried away under the eyes of the crowd, which after waiting for a moment, unable to believe its ill fortune, breaks up and disrupts. Apathy is thrown upon the majority as much as such a state of mind is possible to a Neapolitan mass as they begin in groups to discuss the failure of their schemes and their combinations.—Marie Van Vorst in Harper's Magazine.

Joy is more divine than sorrow, for joy is bread and sorrow is medicine.—Beecher.

MEASURES OF LENGTH.

Light Waves and the Wonderfully Accurate Interferometer.

At the bureau of weights and measures at Sevres, France, the standard meter of metal, which is the standard length of the world, is kept carefully in an underground vault and is inspected only at long intervals. In Great Britain similar care is exercised in guarding the standard yard measurement. As it was possible for these metal standards to be destroyed or damaged in the course of time, it was decided a number of years ago to determine the exact length of the standards in wave lengths of light, which would be a basis of value unalterable and indestructible. For this purpose the instrument known as the interferometer was invented. This instrument represented the highest order of workmanship and the greatest skill of the best opticians of the world. A series of refracting plates were made, the surfaces of which were flat within one-twentieth of a wave length of light, with sides parallel within one second, representing the utmost refinement of optical surfaces ever attempted.

With the interferometer perfected, the attempt was made to make the wave length of some definite light an actual and practical standard of length. For over a year scientists worked to secure this result, and experiments finally showed that there were 1,553,164½ wave lengths of red cadmium light in the French standard meter at 15 degrees centigrade. So great is the accuracy of these experiments that they can be repeated within one part in two millions. So inconceivably small is such a possibility of error that should the material standard of length be damaged or destroyed the standard wave length of light would remain unaltered as a basis from which an exact duplicate of the original standard could be made.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Buttons.

The Elizabethan era gave vogue to the button and buttonhole, two inventions which may fairly be regarded as important, since they did much to revolutionize dress. The original button was wholly a product of needlework, which was soon improved by the use of a wooden mold. The brass button is said to have been introduced by a Birmingham merchant in 1680. It took 200 years to improve on the method of sewing the cloth upon the covered button. Then an ingenious Dane hit upon the idea of making the button in two parts and clamping them together with the cloth between.

Dissatisfied.

The haughty looking woman upon whose features the dermatologist had been working for more than two hours sneered when she glanced in the mirror. "I certainly thought you knew your business," she snapped, "but you have not even given me fair treatment."

The man shrugged his shoulders. "If you had wanted fair treatment you should have been more explicit," he retorted. "I thought from what you told me that you wanted brunette."—Chicago News.

Brave as a Boy.

Weigler—I see that Gausler has been given a medal for bravery. Matchleyette—Well, he probably deserved it. He always was brave. I remember when he was a boy that he was the only one in the neighborhood who would go to his mother when she beckoned with one hand and held the other behind her back.—Chicago News.

A Conscientious Declaration.

Drummer—Will you be mine? All my life I will worship you from February until April and from August until December. The rest of the time I am on the road.—Fliegende Blatter.

The Fashionable Camp.

"And how did you like rough life in the Adirondacks, Cholly?"

"It wasn't bad fun. We drank the champagne out of tin cups."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Before and After.

"They had a runaway marriage, didn't they."

"Yes, and walkahome return."

Ottawa, Jan. 16-20 '11

The purpose of the show is to give to the farmers of Eastern Ontario the results of the practical experience of those who have made a close study of the breeding, feeding, rearing and marketing of the classes of live stock and poultry most profitable to the farmers. This is accomplished by having at the show high class exhibits of Horses, Beef Cattle, Dairy Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultsy and Seeds, and by supplementing these object lessons with addresses by experts in which they tell how the best can be produced profitably.

Many who have attended past Shows say they got pointers worth many times the money and time expended in attending.

Letter of Sympathy

To Brother James Myers:

The officers and members of Court Chesterville, No. 247, wish to extend to you their heartfelt sympathy for the loss of your beloved daughter, Eva Della Myers.

The call came to her as it must to us. We believe in the words of the poet, who said, "Dust thou art, to dust returneth, was not spoken of the soul." We know that in the last great day her body shall arise and be united with loved ones in that Holy Temple, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens. Let us bow submissively to the decree of an allwise Father, and say, "Not my will but Thine, be done," and know that He doeth all things well.
