Fire Prevention Week

"Can you use the siren, can you use the siren," a boy asked an Ingleside firefighter hopefully last Wednesday afternoon at the department's open house. After quick tours of the department's vehicles and equipment, the children had a chance to play firefighter with the department's firehoses under the guidance of Captain Leonard O'Neil. Some 150 children attended the open house, held in conjunction with fire prevention week.

New ministry offer could avert next planned study session at DCAMR

MORRISBURG (Staff) - A new wage offer by the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Relations may have averted a strike by workers of the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Dave Stewart, representing the unionized workers, said last week he expected the new offer would contain an extra $24,000. That would be enough to make it close to what the union agreed to.

The workers and management agreed to a nine per cent wage packet which would still leave the DACMR workers as the lowest paid of their type in Ontario.

However, the ministry overruled the agreement, saying it would fund only four per cent.

The workers staged a work stoppage two weeks ago to protest their treatment by the ministry and offered an alternative wage agreement.

Mr. Stewart said last week he would be prepared to recommend the union members accept the new offer the ministry is making.

This would bring the total extra money offered by the ministry to within $3000 of what was formerly requested.

The 39 counsellors have received nothing in writing although based on the information they have received they cancelled a second planned study session.

They have been in a strike position since September 14.

Initially the ministry refused to provide the extra $90,000 needed to provide workers with the necessary wage increase.

Since that time they came up with an additional $40,000 to the first $30,000 increment offered by the ministry.

By last Thursday evening Mr. Stewart was informed the ministry had come up with a further $27,000, bringing the wage package to within $3,000 of what had been negotiated some months ago.

Mr. Stewart said he would recommend acceptance of that offer.

The union was asking for a minimum starting wage of $16,661, an increase from the current $13,500 and the current maximum would increase to $20,050 from $18,400.

A front page article in the Oct. 8 edition of the Chesterville Record unfairly implied that Patrick Kelly, 25, was involved in a hit and run accident Oct. 3. In fact, the accident was still under investigation at the time. The Record regrets the implication and the inconvenience caused to Mr. Kelly.

Mandatory rabies vaccination possible

CORNWALL (Staff) - The rabies outbreak in SDG and Prescott-Russell isn't serious enough yet to warrant the compulsory vacination of domestic pets, said Dr. Robert Bourdeau, executive director of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

"Here, we do not require it. When we looked at this possibility last year, rabies was on the decline," he said last week.

"It is on the increase (now) but it is still confined almost to wild animals. We're not having problems yet with domestic animals."

Last year, health units across the province were given the authority to demand that all domestic pets and-or livestock be vaccinated against the infectious disease that strikes the nervous system.

He said a couple of jurisdictions in Ontario particularly hard hit by the current rabies outbreak have used the power to make vaccinations compulsory in an effort to control the spread of the disease.

But in the five counties the health unit covers, he said only eight people have been exposed to the disease through contact with dogs or cats. He predicted up to 100 people would be exposed to rabies this year.

"It is usually from wild animals," he said. "They find a dead fox someplace and they pick up the animals without taking any precautions."

In the first seven and a half months of this year, there were 26 cases of rabies reported in Dundas. Last year, there were 19 throughout the counties of Dundas, Leeds and Grenville.

Dr. J.A. McKenzie, district veterinarian for the three counties, said all but three of the Dundas cases were reported in foxes.

He questioned the value of vaccinating all domestic animals and livestock in his jurisdiction when so few incidences of the disease are reported in them. He said the transfer of the disease from cattle to humans is "extremely rare".

Only six cattle in the three counties, he said, have been reported with the disease this year. With an estimated cattle population of 110,000, he said the incidence of rabies doesn't merit the exercise of the health unit's power.

Dr. Leo Kennedy, district veterinarian for Stormont, Glengarry and Prescott, said the drastic action isn't required in his jurisdiction.

He said the outbreak in the eastern counties has "abated somewhat" and noted it had never equalled the statistics reported in the Belleville, Peterborough and Barrie areas. Between October and April, he said veterinarian offices in those areas were reporting 60 confined cases each month.

Most of the cases in his area have been reported in wildlife.

Dr. McKenzie also questioned the practicality of enforcing the regulation. While pet-owners may have a dog or house cat vaccinated, he said barn cats are seldom given the shots.

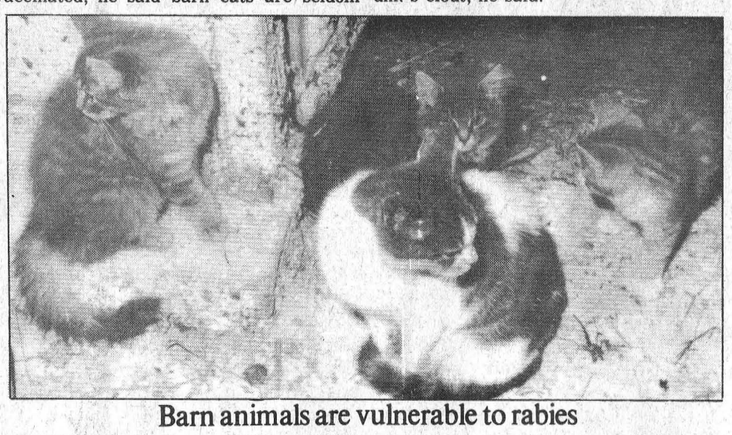
If questioned, he said a farmer may produce a certificate saying a brown cat was vaccinated, but there may be many cats similar in appearance at the barn. Rounding up such cats can also be difficult, he said.

Ironically, of all animals that routinely come into contact with humans, barn cats are the most likely to contract the disease through forays into surrounding bush areas.

Hunters are very conscientious about having their dogs vaccinated, he said. Owners of valuable cattle often have protect their animals as well, he said.

But at a cost of $5 per head, Dr. Bourdeau said having to vaccinate an entire herd of cattle would be too expensive for many farmers.

"If the problem faces us, we'll have to deal with it," he said. But the situation here is not serious enough to justify using the health unit's clout, he said.



Barn animals are vulnerable to rabies

Weather adds to problem of farm safety

(Staff) - This fall's abnormally heavy rain may cause farmers to forget safety and that can lead to tragedy, warns Ontario Farm Safety Association consultant Harold Morphy.

"We as a safety association and I'm sure even farmers are more concerned about it this year because of the weather situation," Mr. Morphy, farm safety consultant for ten Eastern Ontario counties including Dundas and Stormont, said Monday.

In the drive to harvest corn and grains amid showers and mud, he said farmers are under great stress and fatigue. Farmers may be temped to take short-cuts that can lead to serious injury, loss of limbs and even death.

Low commodity prices add to the stress common at harvest time, he said. "The whole gambit of stress - the financial stress, the weather conditions - all add up to one basic problem, tragedy," he said.

Missing shields and guards and tractor roll-overs while drawing heavy equipment are leading causes of accidents at this time of the year, he said.

"Right now, we're dealing with mud and a lot of wet weather," he said. "But it hasn't got cold yet so the farmers haven't had to put on second or third layers of clothing," he said, adding that loose clothing that can become caught in moving machinery parts also contribute to accidents.

Ironically, he said, the weather may have helped reduce the number of farm accidents for the second consecutive year.

"We hope because everybody's so conscious of the weather conditions they take the extra special steps to protect themselves," he said.

He added that awareness of farm safety has increased since the release of the task force on occupational safety earlier this year.

Farm accidents may be down because the number of farmers has decreased, he said. The surviving farm operations are more financially secure, he said, and owners aren't under the same stress that can lead to accidents.

He urged farmers to check that slow-moving-vehicle signs are affixed

3 hospitalized

CRYSLER (Staff) - A Saturday morning car accident near Crysler sent three people to hospital.

Henry Herfkens, 18, and Dale Thompson, 29, were released from hospital but Wilhelmus Herfkens, 19, remains at Ottawa's Civic Hospital.

Police at Long Sault detachment of the OPP said the investigating officer is continuing the investigation and no charges have been laid pending further inquiries.

A collision about 1:50am on Saturday at the intersection of county road 13 (the Morewood Road) and nine-mile Road damaged the Herfkens vehicle, a Toyota Tercel, on the left side with damage to Mr. Thompson's vehicle in the front. Police said one car appeared to hit the other sideways.

Mr. Thompson is a resident of RR4, Crysler. Henry and Wilhelmus Herfkens are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Herfkens of RR3, Crysler.

Osnabruck Township dump problems solved by permanent disposal site

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - Osnabruck Township's five-year search for a permanent waste disposal site may soon be over.

The Ontario Ministry of the Environment has completed its review of the solid waste management plan prepared for the township. The study, prepared by Water and Earth Science Associates Ltd. of Carp, recommends that the Flegg Pit site in the township's northwest now operating under an emergency certificate of approval until the end of this year, become the township's permanent waste disposal site.

A Nov. 10 deadline has been set for anyone with comments to make on the study. If there are no requests for a public hearing, or if those requests are deemed "frivolous or vexations," said clerk-treasurer Warren Bethune, the ministry will probably approve the plan sometime next year.

The environmental assessment process has been a long and costly exercise for the township. Mr. Bethune said the township has spent more than $50,000 since the search for a new site began in 1981.

Five years ago, the township discovered it didn't own the four-hectare parcel of land on the fourth concession it had been using as a landfill. The township refused to pay the fees requested by the site's new owner and began looking for a new site.

After considering 15 sites, the Carp planning firm narrowed its choice to four.

The third concession parcel near both Ingleside and Osnabruck Centre was rejected because it was too close to Hwy. 401. Smoke from controlled burning could obscure the highway, leading to an accident, consultants warned.

A second site, on the eighth concession, was licensed for the extraction of sand and gravel. Its use as a landfill would end it as a source of low-cost aggregate for roads, they said.

A former dump site that the township shared with Finch Village in the 1970s until its closure in 1982 has remaining capacity, planners noted. But potential local opposition, drainage and its location in the northern part of the township were cited as drawbacks.

The Flegg Pit site, planners said, was bought by the township in 1956 and extraction of sand and gravel, dating back to 1821, ended in 1981.

The assessment said the site would be used by Osnabruck residents only. Wastes would be separated and paper and cardboard garbage would be burned and then buried, under the supervision of a municipal employee.

An education program, described in the assessment as "voluntary participation in a socially responsible program," would encourage the reduction of wastes through recycling and composting of household organic wastes.

The province was critical of the final assessment document. "The quality of the environmental assessment reflects the limitations of the study process. The municipality is small, with very limited resources, and this was the first study of its kind for the township and its consultant," said Paul Robertson, an environmental planner with the ministry.

"In the future, similar waste management environmental assessments are expected to build on this experience and exhibit a more thorough analysis and documentation."

Earlier drafts of the document had been criticized for failing to thoroughly justify the exclusion of other means of waste reduction and management, such as incineration and the use of private haulers.

VIA train shaves front off car of elderly Ingleside woman at Iroquois

MORRISBURG (Staff) - A 68-year old Ingleside woman, whose car was trapped between two railroad barriers near Iroquois, faces a charge of failing to obey a railroad traffic signal, said a spokesman for the OPP here.

May Serviss and her passengers, Nellie Stillson, Ingleside and Agnes Casselman, Dixon's Corners, were headed north on Brinston Road about 5:20pm last Saturday when she realized her car was on the train tracks with a train bearing down on them.

The VIA Rail passenger train shaved off the front end, bumper, light and grille of her 1985 Dodge Aries.

"The signal lights weren't working," Mrs. Serviss told The Record. "I was slowed down and I was looking. I go over the tracks slowly but there was no sign.

"Just as I got up on the track I saw the arm come down. When I saw it starting to drop I heard the train."

"I reversed the car fast," said Mrs. Serviss. "The arm behind me came down."

She said the three of the ladies didn't have time to think.

"By this time the train was going practically by. You didn't have time to think of anything."

The three women were returning from Iroquois where they had gone to see an apartment in a seniors' complex where Mrs. Casselman will soon be living.

Mrs. Serviss said the three were uninjured and did not require hospitalization. They were taken by the son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. Casselman to Dixon's Corners. They later returned to their own homes.

Heart to Heart program on stream

WINCHESTER (Staff) - When a heart attack strikes, the daily routine of the victim, from diet to work to social activities, can be turned upside down.

Local cardiac patients can now share their problems and experiences through Heart to Heart, an eight-week information course that doubles as a support group at Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

"It's nice to find out that others have the same problems, that you're not the only one," said program co-ordinator Dawn Erickson.

The weekly meetings begin Oct. 15 and scheduled discussion topics include cardiology, nutrition, physical activity, stress and the psychological problems that may follow a heart attack.

Although the program is designed for couples, Mrs. Erickson said the spouses of victims who don't wish to attend are also welcome. She said male victims are sometimes reluctant to participate but their wives are eager to learn how to adjust to the constraints placed on their husbands' lives.

"I think it's an excellent program and I think there's a need for it," she said.

Introduction of the course to Winchester was first proposed more than a year ago. A survey late last year found 29 area residents had undergone cardiac surgery in Ottawa and a further 28 had been treated at Winchester for heart-related problems.

Heart to Heart is organized under the auspices of the Ontario Heart and Stroke Foundation, which Mrs. Erickson said has contributed $300 towards the program's expenses. The enrollment fee of $20 per couple may be waived if they can't afford it.

The program is now being run in Kingston and Brockville. "It's not in Ottawa because the cardiac unit at the Civic is so good they feel there's not a need for it," she said.

Brockville organizers, she said, have been particularly helpful in helping set up the Winchester program.

New clothing store opens in Winchester

WINCHESTER (Staff) - The shelves are stocked for the opening today (Wednesday) of Perley's, the latest addition to Winchester's business community.

"Everything looks great. We should be ready to go tomorrow, no problem," said Robin Perrin, part owner of the Winchester store.

The store here comes about a year after the opening of the first Perley's in Iroquois by Neil Morrison of Prescott.

"We took a drive through the town. It seemed like a nice little town," said Mr. Perrin, adding there seemed to be a need for a store like Perley's.

From its 502 St. Lawrence St. location, the store will sell clothing, footwear and some food products - "a little bit of everything," he said.

The store has a floorspace of about 1,200 square feet, he said, "and every inch is used. It's pretty tight in here."

Although the Iroquois operation bills itself as a discount store, he said the Winchester store isn't emphasizing the discount aspect because the word has negative connotations for some people. Perley's is advertising "super buys" on "fashions at discount prices".

Although the size of the staff isn't yet definite, he said the store will probably employ three people.

Van fire on highway 43

(Staff) - A routine television delivery turned into a long day for Ron Peters of Prescott Saturday.

Shortly after noon, the Chesterville fire department was called to respond to a fire in a delivery van owned by W.L. Peters Furniture store of Prescott.

Fireman Doug Hess was the first to arrive at the van, stopped on the south shoulder of Hwy. 43 northwest of Chesterville.

"The whole hood was on fire," he said. But he was able to put it out only a couple of minutes later with a fire extinguisher. He blamed the blaze on an electrical short.

A Camp Kagama letter expressed thanks for support to the Kagama program and the help given for the Kagama 50th birthday party. A thank-you note was received from Mr. and Mrs. Graham Gallinger for their 50th wedding anniversary celebration.

Reports were presented by Janet Milnes for the board of Stewards and by Lois Johnson for the manse committee.

The outreach program will be continued. Unit No. 1 will organize the first program to be held Oct. 23.

Our group is catering to the Gathering 86 Youth Conference Oct. 3 to 5, and to the Superannuated Teachers' Federation on Oct. 8.

Lois Johnson announced that the bazaar will be held Sat. Nov. 1 from 2 to 4pm, the theme will be White Christmas.

Muriel Eastwood will be guest speaker for the Nov. meeting. She will speak about her recent trip to China.

The Thanksgiving worship was under the direction of Unit No. 1, conducted by Freda Brownell and Muriel Dixon.

Joan Poapst introduced our guest speaker, Phyllis Noble, past Presbyterial president, and one of seven delegates selected to tour South Korea on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of Christianity in their land.

Mrs. Noble told of the Christian work in South Korea, through the churches, hospitals, in the education field, and the role of the United Church in this program. She spoke about the labor conditons, the governmental oppression, the desire for human rights, and the awareness that North Korea is just two hours away. She talked about the people, their charm and their friendliness. Slides were shown of interesting places and events. Some Korean crafts were displayed.

Mrs. Lee Hesson thanked Mrs. Noble for her fine presentation which made us feel we had been there.

Well water may be tested

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Eastern Ontario Health Unit may ask schools for advance notice of visits to farms to allow for testing of well water.

But Dr. Robert Bourdeau, medical officer of health and executive director of the unit, doubted the proposal, if implemented, would cause major changes in school board policy.

"I don't imagine it will cause a dramatic change in policy. I think they are taking what they feel are all necessary precautions right now."

The proposal was initiated last spring, when students from Immaculee Conception School in Cornwall became ill after drinking contaminated water during a visit to a farm which its owners used only for recreation.

Since the children's intestinal infection could be traced to bacteria in the drinking water, Dr. Bourdeau said the health unit considered it one hazard that could be eliminated.

The health unit posted the information in a circular mailed through the Ontario Ministry of Health all health units in the province.

At about the same time last year, he said the health unit mailed a warning to all principals not to accept unpasteurized milk while visiting farms.

Next spring, when Farm visits resume, he said the health unit will probably remind schools of the risks of drinking untested water.

If notified, he said an inspector for the health unit could pick up a sample of water for analysis. Property owners can also drop off well water samples. He said the water would be tested primarily for bacteria and the results known in about a week.

He advised owners of dug wells to have their water tested at least every six months. Drilled wells properly located and maintained, he said, need to be tested only once annually.

The health unit doesn't test for contamination by herbicides or pesticides "on a routine basis," he said, although it could be requested.

The health unit processes several hundred samples of rural well water each year, he said. But considering the number of farms in the counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell, he said only a fraction of all wells is tested.

Yet the extent of contamination warrants the health unit's concern, he said.

The health unit's warnings may have little effect on local schools. Because of the rural population base, few schools send students on field trips to farms.

Bill MacMillan, principal of Chesterville Public School, said only one class of young children visited a farm last year.

On previous visits to farms, he said no children have become ill after drinking either farm well water or unpasteurized milk. The school has never requested pasteurized milk or well water that's been approved.

Neither Finch Public School or St. Mary's in Chesterville visit farms.

Record Editorial / Opinion

Hollywood North

A super opportunity to observe the mysterious and glamorous world of movies is available to area residents.

The public, for $1, will be able to watch filming of a part of a Walt Disney television movie at the area's premier tourist attraction, Upper Canada Village.

Hollywood of the North, as Canada increasingly is coming to be called, offers the movie moguls cheaper production costs and various locations in this country have been filmed of late in American movies.

With a full-scale production unit in residence locally there are bound to be some economic spin-offs to the area and everyone benefits from the publicity engendered by the presence of the film company nearby.

Parks Commission staff have achieved a coup in accommodating the needs of a major film company and should be congratulated.

Pension reform

One of the most bizarre incidents in the daily matters of the provincial legislature is the retirement of Rod Lewis, outgoing clerk of the Ontario legislature.

The manner of Mr. Lewis' passage on the road to retirement at the age of 74 draws attention to the question of his presence on the public pay roll. Most other public employees are forced to retire at the age of 65 whether they want to or not.

To sugar coat the pill of leaving his job the clerk, for years the bete noire of the opposition parties, will receive $118,000 severence pay and an annual pension of $60,000, up from the usual $38,400. To achieve that level taxpayers have had to cough up $408,000. There are other perks, too: an annual salary of $38,000 while he writes a history of the legislature, an office, secretary, expense account, chauffeur and car.

The manner of Mr. Lewis' tenure in his job is equally bizarre. He inherited the position from his father and the provincial Tories enacted legislation to allow him to keep the job for life.

This state of affairs was a constant irritation to the Liberals while they sat outside the arena of power. Now that they occupy the government side of the house they apparently found the best solution to get rid of Mr. Lewis finally. This was achieved, though, at great financial cost to the taxpayers.

Legislation is evidently being prepared to prevent such a stupid state of affairs from happening again. One wonders why the legislation could not have been enacted before Mr. Lewis was allowed to run to the bank, laughing all the way.

by Wyn Thompson

The new television season has begun and I, for one, am always excited about that. I recently remarked to a granddaughter of nine-years-old that I'd hate to go back to a time when there was no television.

"Wasn't there always television," she cried, in disbelief.

"Goodness, no," I replied. "You're too young to remember a world in which television wasn't right there at the centre of life. I used to think of that as a kind of Dark Ages out of which we'd just emerged"

She hadn't studied anything about the Dark Ages, either. I'm not at all sure she will under the new curriculum but, perhaps, television will help out there, too.

The first time I saw it I was a young woman and I felt as if I'd been given Aladdin's lamp, I told her. She grinned, ate her cookie, drank her glass of milk, and headed home to watch her favorite after-school television program.

I thought some more about television. I think it is fair to say that television changed the way people lived, the way we understood ourselves in relation to the larger world, what we saw of life and wanted from it.

We had the world opened up to us like no other generation so far. We were entertained at our own convenience and we got to see things we'd never seen before, and couldn't have ever hoped to see.

The coronations of queens and princes and the inauguration of presidents and the openings of Parliament. Big sports heros hitting home runs. John Kennedy's funeral. A man on the moon. We learned what war really looked like, first hand. Not much glory, just gore and guts. Ed Sullivan, Bob Hope, Billy Graham, Pierre Berton, Betty Kennedy, and every president, prime minister, king and dictator came into our living rooms to make us laugh, or celebrate, or think.

TV as a gift

Mind you, I think parents have to keep a pretty tight rein on television hours or the homework will suffer, but by and large, I think it's been a tremendous gift to the common man. Of course, I've spent thirty years listening to how our programming was dull, opportunistic, violent, indecent if not downright evil, too Americanized, but we people seem to still be lapping it up.

A lot of this, I feel, is so much mush from do-gooders. I'm not saying television couldn't stand a little reforming, mind you, but so could most things, I decided in this conversation with myself.

And televison can do so much more for us and will in the coming years, I pronounced. More than this, we the common people will never let go of our televison sets without a battle more gory and bloody than anything viewed on the magnificent tube, to date.

Come you dogs, shake your bones for a quick march to the back of the farm and up for this is the Golden Girls premiere performance. Lady groaned, reluctant to go back out again into the cold night air, as she was freshly groomed and a little short of her normal insulation.

The only thing most women I know find wrong with October television is that it is the month when a nice game, a form of powerful exercise, suddenly becomes a mind-enslaving form of madness, infecting the whole country.

They hate to see the men in their families go crazy before the television set. They complain about having no one to talk to and no one to be with. But this being October, they come to grips with this worthy adversary. What it is, of course, is football.

Now, I am one of those who doesn't really mind football. I don't understand the words, mind you, but the music is pleasant, the color and atmosphere fascinating. I like to look at the people and the costumes, the high-stepping little cheerleaders, the clever officials with their firm incomprehensible signals.

I love the bands and the music and the gay majorettes and the noisy involvement of the people in the stands. I love to see those big, burly gods interviewed, and hear them acclaimed for whatever feat they have pulled off during that game or another.

As I said before, I really don't mind football for I learned long ago, in order to be a survivor in an all-male household, one might as well join the fray in front of the television set come October of each year.

Once in a while I astound them by rhymning off under the opener of "Did you know...", some historical facts gleaned from the Guiness Book of Records. They didn't know...or couldn't reply because their mouths were full of the meal they kept waiting for a half-time break.

But at least I had my say and was free to go walk the dogs or rake the leaves or read a bit or whatever...

As I started out one day for my late afternoon walk a grey dark autumn rain licked at my rain slicker, but half-way back the lane the sun broke through the clouds, and I was amazed at how much better I felt.

In spite of all our man-made illumination, we still live by natural light. We are not sun-worshippers as the pagans were, but the sun measures our days all the same. We plan what to do before the sun goes down and as we have less light in autumn we shorten our activities correspondingly.

Modern lighting is a miracle, for any house can be made bright as day. Be that as it may, when the sun sets and nights closes down, most of us settle for quiet chores, putting off heavy chores with a "t'will be better in the morning."

Chesterville's Past

06 From the Record Thurs., Oct. 11, 1906

Local and District News: Mr. Giles Bogart has purchased the Gillespie property, and moved his household effects there yesterday.

The Methodist Conference has ordered that the salary of a married minister shall in future be not less than $800 per annum, exclusive of horse keep, parsonage, etc., a single minister not less than $500, and a probationer not less than $400, representing an increase of $50 in each case.

What might have proved to be a serious accident occurred at Mr. Rae's grist mill on Thursday afternoon. While the grinder was running at full speed a smash occurred, and pieces of iron flew in all directions, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt. A stone in the grain is supposed to be the cause. A piece of iron weighing 36 pounds was hurled to the top of the mill and embedded in the timber several inches. Besides the delay the cost of the repair will amount to a nice sum.

Berwick: Manson Alguire and Joseph Dutt have the contract of building a house for John Graham.

F. Dubois has built an up-to-date fence in front of his place.

Among those who took in Avonmore fair last week were Mr. and Mrs. S. Hutt, Mrs. C. Grey and daughter Orpha, Misses Luella and Florence Hutt, Miss Christy Gray, Misses Grace Dingwall, Bella McLean, Nettie McIntyre and Miss Duff.

26 From the Record Thurs., Oct. 14, 1926

Friday night about ten thirty when a party of young people were coming into town from the north in a Dodge sedan driven by Henry Sauve, in an attempt to cross the tracks ahead of an approaching freight train which was travelling at slow speed preparatory to stopping at the local station, the sedan was struck at the rear fender and was thrown from in front of the locomotive but not upset. The car was considerably damaged but the occupants escaped injury.

Shortly before five o'clock this morning the alarm of fire was sounded for a small blaze at the home of Mrs. Dan Bogart, where smoke has aroused Mrs. Bogart to find a cupboard in the back kitchen burning, supposed to have been started by mice chewing matches. A few pails of water soon extinguished it without the necessity of attaching the hose. Chesterville's embryo fire fighters from the ranks of the Boy Scouts were on the job quickly but their services were not required.

Owing to sickness I will sell my general store and stock of mdse., about $5000 of stock, cash $2000.00, easy terms. Best stand in the village of Crysler -- call or write. J. Levert, Crysler.

Wednesday next, October 20th the dentists of Chesterville during regular office hours, will give free services to the pupils of Chesterville and district schools, in the campaign of the Ontario Department of Health for the prevention of dental diseases.

46 From the Record Thurs., Oct. 24, 1946

In the campaign for the vaccination of all calves in the county of Dundas carried on by the Federation of Agriculture more than five thousand have been treated of which there is record. No doubt many more were treated of which no record is kept.

Winchester Township showed the greatest response with 2050, Matilda with 1300, Williamsburg with 900 and Mountain township with 850.

The Life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

The situation was embarrassing but typical. My worn and flattened wallet, which I had opened with faint hope, contained nothing more than a crumpled receipt and an expired lottery ticket.

"Do you want coffee, Wayne?"

"Yes," I said without looking up from the wallet. It was an honest answer. The area where we were working, sandwiching advertising supplements and newspaper sections together, was directly across from the printing press and the air was as dry as the newsprint.

The question now was where I would come up with the necessary 40 cents.

In similar situations in the past I had simply smiled sheepishly and borrowed money from one of my colleagues with the promise that I would return the favor in the future.

But that was a tactic to be used sparingly and only as a last resort. Even at the coffee level you must maintain your credit rating.

With this in mind I dug a finger into the pockets of my wallet in a futile search for coins that might have fallen there. There were none. A quick search of my pockets led to the same conclusion.

There was one last untried source. I slipped out the door and went to my truck. I folded the seat forward, moved it up and looked down. There, along with two pencils and a chocolate bar wrapper, was a quarter and two dimes.

I hurried back with the coins in my hand and proudly paid for the purchase.

It pays sometimes not to be overly organized with money.

Time for change

In fact, I consider the world of finance as one long spectrum. Each division of light in this spectrum allows you to look at money in a particular way.

There was a report recently about $40 million sitting idly in forgotten bank accounts across this country. I consider this one end of the money-handling spectrum.

In my desk drawer at work I have a notebook that contains my wife's budget for 1978. In it are entries like "25 cents - orange" and "$2.11 - two Magic Markers, scotch tape". It is in my desk because I consider it a blueprint of sound financial management and because there were a few empty pages at the back that could be used for notes. I consider this book the other end of the spectrum.

In the middle, between the forgotten millions and remembered cents, is the place in which I do business.

The place where I do business works on a very simple supply and demand basis. I need supplies for which people demand money.

What I actually manage, however, is a small weekly income that I call my personal spending money. This is the money that is left, when I subtract the mortgage, groceries, bills and savings from my salary. This personal spending money generally ranges between $5 and $10.

The first major step in managing money at this level is breaking bills. This produces change or, as it is known in the business, pocket money.

Pocket money can make the difference between a hot cup of coffee and a cold glass of water.

The first step in managing pocket money is defining your long-term and short-term buying goals.

The shortest shortterm goal is that change which goes into pants soon destined for the wash. This is money you never see again. My wife, who considers pocket change tokens of appreciation, refers to it as laundered money.

To get more out of short-term change, coins should be pocketed in regularly worn jackets. This money, if properly managed, can last for days provided the lining holds out and you are not forced to make a long distance phone call at a pay phone.

Maximizing pocket money for long-term gain requires some redistribution. This is most easily accomplished by sitting in a car and letting the change roll behind the seat. When you decide to clean behind the seat, months or years later, the change will be there. Found money.

Similar results can be attained by breaking bills while wearing a suit reserved for special occasions. When my son was baptized I found 70 cents in the right pocket, a treasure that had been there undisturbed for nearly six months.

If there is one drawback to pocket money it is that it requires that your out of pocket expenses be low. While most garment pockets are large enough to hold enough change for a dinner for one at a moderately priced restaurant, the embarrassment caused by weighted clothing usually outweighs the joys of financial independance.

As in all financial management plans, a proper system of cheques and bank balances must be maintained in order for pocket money management to work. You can't break bills if bills are breaking you.

This management system has worked so well for me that I expanded it last spring by including a dresser drawer and the glove compartment of the car as holding compartments for any extra coins I might have on hand.

I just felt I needed the change.

In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
MUNRO — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Harold, who passed away Oct. 16, 1984.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And secret tears still flow,
For what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know,
When we are sad and lonely,
And everything goes wrong,
We seem to hear you whisper cheer up and carry on.
Each time we see your photo
You seem to smile and say,
"Don't cry I'm only sleeping",
"We'll meet again some day."
No longer in our lives to share,
But in our hearts you're always there.
Sadly missed and always remembered by
Neita,
Marion and Gerry,
Dale and Trudy

In Memoriams

IN MEMORIAM
RUSSELL — In loving memory of a dear father, grandfather and great grandfather Arthur Russell who passed away Oct. 1, 1984.
In tears we saw you sinking,
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping,
So peacefully free from pain,
We would not wish you back,
To suffer so much again.
Sadly missed by
Keith, Anna Bell,
Thomas and Crowder families

IN MEMORIAM
MUNRO — In loving memory of a brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Harold Munro, who passed away Oct. 16, 1984.
Remembrance is a gold chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain
In some small way, every day
Memories of you come our way.
Sadly missed by
brothers, sisters and families

IN MEMORIAM
MUNRO — In loving memory of a dear brother Harold Thomas who passed away Oct. 16, 1984
Your end was very sudden,
You made us weep and cry.
But the saddest part dear Harold
You never said goodbye.
To be together in the same old way
Would be our only wish today.
No one knows the grief we share,
When we're all to gather and you're not there.
Sadly missed by
brothers and sisters

Loyalists hold annual banquet

IROQUOIS (Special) - The 1986 annual meeting of the St. Lawrence Branch of the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada will be held at 2pm in the Iroquois Civic Centre on Sunday, October 19. Registration will begin at 1pm. Loyalist information will be on display, followed by a pot luck supper. All members and interested people are urged to attend.

We take pride in being the largest of the 26 Branches across Canada, with members all across Canada, several of the states, and even extends to Puerto Rico. We welcome new and old members with enthusiasm to regular meetings held to celebrate our Loyalist heritage in various historical centres throughout the 3 United Counties.

The 8th annual charter night banquet was held recently in Salon B at the Cornwall Civic Complex. Members attended from as far away as Deep River and Peterborough area. Gerry Grant representing the Mayor of Cornwall, as well as Ralph McKenzie, Warden of the 3 United Counties brought greetings, with Mr. Grant telling about his Loyalist background.

Mrs. Gwen Smith of Picton, Past President of Dominion Headquarters also brought greetings and assisted the Genealogist, Lynne Cook as she presented certificates to new members.

President Bill Patterson also assisted in the presentation to the new members - Orville Utman of Orton; Douglas Zeran of Lunenburg; Patsy Ann Thompson of Brinston; Mary Ann Spratt of South Mountain; Nancy Beatson of Morrisburg; Norma Shaver of Ingleside, her daughter Claire Markell and niece Lorraine Eaman; Arthur Snetsinger of Cornwall; and Jean Grant of Deep River.

At the last meeting Marland Murray of Martintown received his certificate and there is 9 more certificates to be presented at the annual meeting October 19th.

If we consider that Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry (approximately 1200 square miles) had at least 213 lots along the St. Lawrence River and all the lots were settled by a Loyalist, we should have a lot more members.

UCW celebrates holiday

(Special) - On Thursday evening, Oct. 9 the United Church Women of Chesterville and Morewood held their annual autumn thankoffering meeting in Trinity United Church. They were joined by guests from the local Catholic, Pentecostal, Anglican and Presbyterian churches.

The worship service was conducted by Doris Cross who told the interesting story of the first Thanksgiving. She was assisted by Charlotte Craig and Isabel Forward.

The old piano favorite "In a Monastery Garden" was played by Helen Cross.

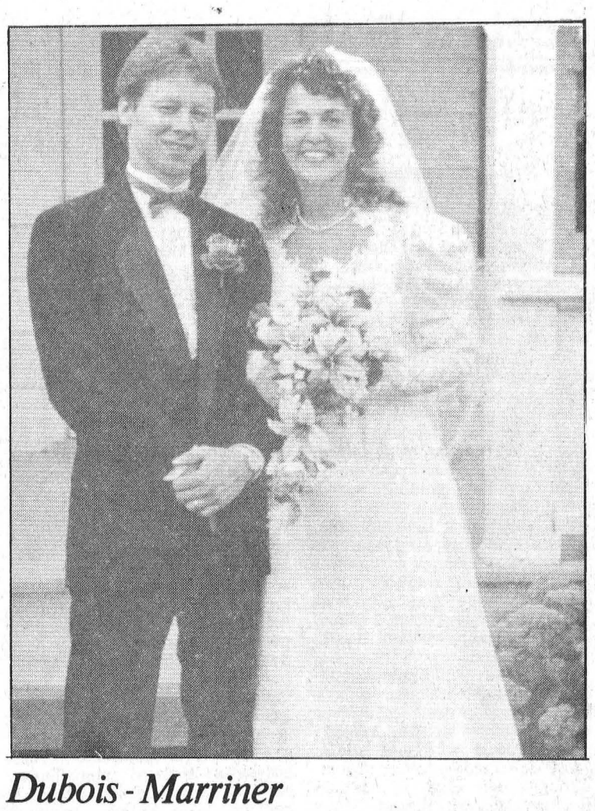
Isabel Forward introduced guest speaker Rev. Pat Johnston of Winchester, South Mountain and Chesterville Anglican churches, who spoke of Christian Education as a learning process which helps a child bridge the gap to maturity.

Charlotte Craig thanked her and presented her with flowers. A social hour followed.

Teachers sponsor blood clinic

CORNWALL (Staff) - A blood donor clinic will be sponsored by area teachers' unions as well as CUPE here October 28. The location will be 105 Second Street West from 2pm to 8pm.

Organizers say the objective is 180 units. The clinic is being held in cooperation with the Canadian Red Cross Society.



Dubois - Marriner

Lori Marriner (nee Dubois), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dubois of Chesterville and Peter Marriner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Marriner of Winchester were united in marriage on August 9, 1986 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Chesterville. The couple now reside in Winchester.

Thanksgiving

Needy families in the Chesterville area will be the beneficiaries of food donations at St. Mary's annual thanksgiving celebration last week. Father John Grainger, assisted by grade 5 student David Bradley, left, of Chesterville and Brendan Shane, also in grade 5, of Winchester Springs, offered mass in the school's auditorium last Wednesday morning to students, teachers and parents. North Dundas News

By Lindsay Rodger

The good times just keep on rolling at N.D.D.H.S., and this week certainly was a big one. Campaign posters covered the walls, as Thursday marked voting day for chosing this year's Head Boy and Head Girl. Nominees were Brian Carscadden, Dean Armstrong, Chris Lynch and Scott Johnston for Head Boy, and Terri Lightfoot, Debbie Coleman, Kelly Durant and Kerry Kennedy for Head Girl. After a unique and interesting campaign week the ballots were counted and Dean Armstrong and Debbie Coleman emerged victorious.

In sports, the girls' basketball teams are excelling as usual. On Monday, they travelled to Char-Lan and while the seniors took an easy 50-12 victory, the juniors lost a heartbreaker 37-35 after double overtime. On Tuesday, the junior boys soccer team shut-out La Citadelle 2-0. Wednesday saw the cross-country team travel to Guindon Park to participate in the SD&G warm-up meet, where our midget girls team placed first.

Lindsay Rodger, a grade 12 student has returned from Toronto after representing the Rotary Club of Chesterville at a week-long forum on Science and Technology along with 36 other students from across Canada and from Australia.

This week also marked the kick-off of the school's fruit-selling campaign. Delicious Florida oranges and grapefruit can be purchased from any North Dundas student.

The school participated in Fire Safety Week on Thursday by holding a routine practice fire drill. The one minute and 57 seconds that it took to evacuate the schools rates excellent.

Multicultural bazaar to help WDMH

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - With entertainment ranging from Polnesian dance to traditional Irish music, North Dundas District High School will be the scene of an international bazaar and festival Saturday.

Proceeds from the multicultural event, sponsored by the Winchester District Memorial Hospital auxiliary, will aid in the purchase of a $13,000 heart monitor for the emergency department.

Olive Cass, convenor of the fundraiser, said the event was inspired by the success of the Chesterville unit's multicultural bake sale last spring.

But this Saturday's event, she added, is not just a sale.

As crowds wander amid booths of the crafts and foods of cultural and national groups from around the world, they will be entertained by strolling musicians and dance performances.

The doors open at 1pm with an admission fee of $1.

At 1:30pm, the bazaar will be officially opened by Louise Sloan, president of the hospital auxiliary association of Ontario and a former resident of Morrisburg. Doreen Skorenky, chairman of the regional auxiliary association of which Winchester is part; Gail VanNoy, president of the Winchester auxiliary; Clare Brown, chairman of the hospital's board of governors, and Dr. Gerry Rosenquist will also be on hand.

From 1 to 1:30, Winchester accordionist Clara Edwardson will entertain. At 2:15, the Klompendans, a traditional Dutch dance, will be performed.

At 2:45, Chesterville resident Pene Arnold will perform a Polynesian dance. Laura Wong will present a Chinese solo at 3:15.

Irish music takes the stage at 3:30, to be followed at 4 by performances of two Scottish dances. The entertainment wraps up at 4:15 with the Bells of St. Mary's, a group of Guitarists and singers from Morrisburg.

Among the groups to be represented at craft and food booths are French Canadian, Dutch, East Indian, American, Danish, the Mediterranean, Mexican, German, Ukrainian and traditional Canadian.

If all the strolling leaves one hungry, a tearoom in a Chinese motif has been set up in the cafeteria. Admission is $2.

Crowds will also be able to view collections of dolls from around the world and handcrafted doll houses. Tickets for draws on a quilt, a Raggedy-Ann doll and Nick Nixon-built doll house, a Chinese doll, a basket of groceries, a turkey and a 50-50 draw will also be sold.

The Chesterville Girl Guides will provide babysitting from 12:45. The bazaar and festival closes at 5pm.

Mrs. Cass said a donations table will also be set up, with receipts available for contributions of $5 or more.

The Chesterville unit is also canvassing for new members, at a fee of $1 for two years' membership. She said volunteers are needed for hospital work and drivers for the meals-on-wheels program.

CPR demonstration at Moose Creek WI meeting

MOOSE CREEK (Special) - The September meeting was held in the Sunshine Room with Myrtle McDermid presiding in the absence of the President opening the meeting with the Ode, Collect and the Lord's prayer. Minutes were read by Vivian Valley and the correspondence and dealt with the treasurer's report.

The district director's report was given by Myrtle McDermid and reminded them of the area convention on October 27 and 28, the delegate will be Donalda McKay, alternate Myrtle McDermid. Plans were made to attend the fashion show in Berwick on Sept. 27. And the get-to-gether on Oct. 18 at Berwick for Stormont.

The motto for family and consumers was invest your time instead of wasting it.

Roll call - Name a bargain that wasn't a bargan. Lots of people were caught with Not A Bargain after they got it home. The convenors Stella Beauchamp and Leona Lafrance presented the following. Joan Lawson introduced the speaker Vicky Fortier of Cornwall a R.N. from the McDonell Memorial and is working on her Nursing Science degree through Ottawa University. She is a qualified instructor of C.P.R. She also works at the General Hospital in the I.C.U. All enjoyed her talk on C.P.R. using Joan Lawson as the patient. The speaker was thanked by Leona Lafrance and presented her with a gift.

The Oct. meeting is agriculture and Canadian industries under convenors Donalda McKay and Jacqueline Emburg who are planning a trip to tour the Hydro Power House at 10am, lunch at the Square and tour the Inverarden Museum at 1:30pm on Oct. 14. Note the change of the meeting.

Kid's stuff

Four Ontario scholars graduate from Rothwell-Osnabruck

INGLESIDE (Staff) - "R-O may be a small school, very small, actually, but it is very good school," concluded former grade 13 student Darcy Beckstead in his valedictory address to former classmates Friday night.

The auditorium of Rothwell-Osnabruck school was filled with parents, teachers and friends, who gathered to honor the school's 15 grade 13 graduates and 40 grade 12 grads.

In 1985-86, the school boasted four Ontario scholars (grade 13 graduates attaining an average of 80 per cent): Darcy Beckstead, Shawn Dafoe, Martha Jeacle and Kimberley Thompson.

Darcy Beckstead, now attending Carleton University, was also the winner of the first-place proficiency award among grade 13 students, a five-year honor award, the G.S. Hickey Senior History and English trophy, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus Canadian History trophy and bursary, a Rotary Club bursary and the Anne Baird Eadie Memorial scholarship.

Shawn Dafoe received the second-place standing for the grade 13 proficiency award, the Norm Warner MP award, a five-year honor award and a student council bursary.

Martha Jeacle, also a five-year honors winner, was presented with the S.G. Wells and Sons Ltd. Music award and bursaries from the teaching staff and the Ingleside Ladies' Bridge Club.

A five-year honor award, University Women's Club scholarship and Osnabruck Education Fund bursary went to Kim Thompson.

Brent Donnelly, a five-year honors students, won the Rohm-Haas Canada Ltd. scholarship.

Peter Pontbriant was also a five-year honors student.

Coach satisfied with tie as Flyers perform '200% better'

WINCHESTER (Staff) - The Chesterville Junior "C" Flyers first game jitters are beginning to fade as they tied the North Stormont 86s in exhibition play here on Thursday 7-7.

After losing their first exhibition match to the St. Isidore Eagles 8-1, Armstrong felt a 7-7 tie with North Stormont 86s was a refreshing change.

"Our effort was 200 per cent better," said Armstrong. "Over all I was impressed with their effort. John Guy, Mark Guy and Chris Lynch's line played good together and Jerrold Boulanger, Mike Harper and Jamie Cheney's line was the hardest working line. Brad Droppo also made some key saves at the end of the match and the goalie is over half of your team."

As for the 86s Armstrong feels that Bernard Grady is the team's top player. "He's a smart puck handler. The 86s are going to have a good club this year," said Armstrong, "they're big, strong and physical."

The Flyers' first season game at home is coming up on Tuesday where they will meet St. Isidore. Armstrong is certain that St. Isidore won't drub us 8-1 again." A couple more tune up games and we'll be ready when the challenge comes," said Armstrong.

Twice the 86s held a two-goal lead over the Flyers and twice the Flyers came back to tie the match in Thursday's exhibition game.

Opening up the scoring in the match was Kevin Moore with a goal at 10:19 in the first period for the Flyers on a pass from Jamie Cheney and Jerrold Boulanger. The North Stormong 86s quickly came back with goals as Denis Landry replied for the first goal at 9:57 on a power play line with Mike Van Delst and Bernard Grady teaming for the assists. Twenty seconds later the 86's Greg Messich added to the team's score to take a 2-1 lead as Courtney Wheeler and Pat Sullivan collected on the assists.

Then in a one-minute time span starting at 5:31 in the first the Flyers rallied with two goals. Mark Guy scored the tying goal and John Guy scored a goal to give the Flyers a 3-2 lead. Chris Lynch assisted on both goals while John Guy helped out on the first and Chris Williams on the second.

Before the first frame ended the 86's Marc Beehler tied the match up 3-3 on a power-play goal with Elliott Lefave and Wheeler replying for the assists.

The 86's Paul Beehler scored the opening goal in the second period at 11:10 as George Michels and Van Delst made the assists to lead 4-3.

Paul Beehler added to the 86s' 4-3 lead with a goal two minutes later as Lefave and Michels powered for the assists.

The Flyer's Lynch narrowed the 86's lead to 5-4 at 6:47 in the second frame on a pass from John and Mark Guy.

But again at 4:11 the 86's Raymond Grady scored to increase the team's lead to 6-4 with an unassisted goal.

Starting off the third period with a power-play goal was the Flyer's Jerrold Boulanger at 9:58 on a pass from Harper and Todd Blaine.

At the five-minute mark the Flyers' Kevin Byers replied for a tying goal in the third to make it 6-6. Ken Byers and Sam Gibson combined for the assists.

Bernard Grady regained the 86's lead at 4:30 in the third as Wheeler and Steve Tait answered for the assists to lead 7-6.

Seconds later the Flyer's Jerrold Boulanger tied the match 7-7 on a power-play goal assisted by Harper and Cheney which resulted in the game's final score.

Moose Creek new team on the block as NSIMHL gets ready to start season

(Staff) - Despite a delay the North Stormont Intermediate Men's Hockey League will begin on Fri. Oct. 24.

Making their debut will be a new entry into the league, Moose Creek.

In pre-season meetings it was thought that Lunenburg was going to be the new addition to the league but instead Moose Creek will fill the space after a representative showed up at the league's latest meeting held last Tuesday.

League president Brian Holland was pleased that Moose Creek was entering the league. "It's always good to get new teams," said Holland. "They'll be the new kids on the block, I don't know how competitive they'll be yet though I haven't seen their list."

Because Moose Creek decided to join so close to the season's start, they have been given a week's grace before having to enter the team list of at least 12 players that all the other teams were required to have at Tuesday's meeting.

Moose Creek will be sponsored by the Red Door Lounge in Moose Creek and mostly local players will fill the list.

With the addition of Moose Creek to the league, there will be six teams: Moose Creek, Crysler, Newington, Lakeside, Avonmore, Finch.

Fridays there will be two games, each approximately one and a half hours long (two 20 minute stop time periods;. The first game will begin at 7pm on Friday and the second at 8:30pm Sundays there will be three games: 6:30pm for the first, 8pm for the second and 9:30pm for the third. (All matches are held at the Finch Arena.)

The schedule hasn't been drawn up yet but Holland expects to have approximately 28 league games. Holland also hopes to have the play-offs begin arond Feb. 20 instead of last year's March start. The semi-finals and finals will be the best-of-seven.

The new card system introduced into the league after the first league meeting is "going excellent" said Holland.

Ringette practice draws 21 players

(Staff) - On Sunday here in Chesterville 21 girls showed up for the town's newest sports practice, ringette.

Chesterville's recreation director, Tom Lee, who is heading up the ringette association in Chesterville, felt there was a good turnout considering the practice was competing with the holiday weekend.

31 register

Donna Laramee, of the Gloucester Ringette Association, was on hand to instruct the girls who showed up for the practice in the basic rules. They also had a scrimmage.

Although 21 attended the practice clinic, 31 have registered for the sport and Lee welcomes anyone else wishing to join.

There will be another practice held this Sunday at the Chesterville arena from 1-2pm and anyone from Chesterville and the surrounding area who wishes to play can attend.

At the practice on Sunday Lee hopes to have the teams divided up into what he thinks will be three age groups: 13 and under, 14-18, and 18 and over. Also to be discussed will be the cost for each player to join.

Anyone wishing to coach or referee ringette can call Lee at 448-3285.
